Good Rains Boost Lynn County Crop Prospects

High Percentage Of County Jobs Related To Cotton

Cotton-producing jobs on the South Plains, percent of all jobs are related -- and Lynn tops the list of all counties with 92 per cent employment cotton-local members of the NCC and to set up a new information program to be implemented through a regular column called "Cotton Today" which will appear in the Lynn County News.

Pete Brown, field representative of the cotton council, and Emmett Robinson, public relations and promotion director for the organization, met with J. O. Reed, manager of Tahoka Co-Op Gin, and with a newspaper representative in the co-op board meeting room Tuesday morning.

Brown and Robinson are based at the National Cotton Council's home office in Memphis, Tennessee.

The information regarding the role of cotton in Lynn County was included in statistics gathered by the NCC's researchers using data from the 1977 crop year on the South Plains. It was designed for incorporation into the first of the weekly columns which are intended to give the area residents a wide range of information about cotton and cotton products as they have a bearing on the individual farmer or worker in any cotton-related job.

According to the NCC report, there were 505 cotton-related farms and businesses in the county in 1977, compared to a low of 59 in Borden County and 1,022 in Lubbock County. Garza had 111 and Dawson 384.

The chart lists 2,946 cotton-related jobs in the county and attributed annual revenue of $78.1 million to these jobs.

The NCC research indicated that in the 20-county area cotton provides more than 48,000 jobs, supplies some $1.1 billion in products and services, and contributes better than $36 million in sales and income taxes.

That $1.1 billion revenue attributable to cotton "becomes even more impressive when you consider the federal government's estimate that every cotton dollar creates an additional $2.50 to $3.00 in economic activity," Robinson said.

Cotton is the mainstay of 8,783 businesses in the 20 counties--including farms, gins, cottonseed oil mills, warehouses, and raw cotton merchandising firms.

First of the "Cotton Today" columns is scheduled to appear in next week's issue of the News.

Session On Attracting New Industry Planned

Announcement of new Chamber of Commerce committees and discussion of plans for a group of Industrial Foundation members to attend a training session in Austin highlighted the monthly meeting of the Tahoka C-C board of directors Tuesday morning.

Chamber President Dr. Richard White announced the new committees at the noon meeting of the board in Tahoka Cafeteria. Twelve members of the board were present, plus secretary Betsy Adams and three new members of the chamber who were guests of the board.

New chamber members introduced were Sudqi Alayan, Jenny Halford and Dalton Wood.

Dr. White reminded board members that Jim Chambers, new head of the Industrial Foundation, is working on plans to lead a group of chamber members to a one-day training seminar at Austin July 30, and stressed the importance of a large delegation of Tahoka citizens making the trip.

"We're hoping at least 20 persons will make the trip," Chambers said later. "We believe the training we will get down there will be very valuable to us when we contact any industrial prospect...industries considering locating in Tahoka will have all kinds of questions, and we need to have done our homework."

The training session will be conducted by the Texas Industrial Commission, and only the Tahoka group will be in the seminar that day.

Dr. White appointed a

Rains this past weekend covered most of Lynn County and greatly improved prospects for starting the 1979 crop. With the deep-season hold-over from last fall the crop outlook is far better than last year.

The rains have ranged all the way from very light up to two and a half inches, and the damp, misty weather even where the fall was very light helped the moisture penetrate seed beds. One cotton man estimated about 80 percent of the county received enough rain to help.

Tahoka received a total of 1.23 inches, according to the local National Weather Service observer, .12 being measured Sunday morning, .20 Monday, .83 Tuesday, and .08 Wednesday.

The heaviest fall was reported from Grassland west to north of Six-Mile Store, where up to 2.3 inches fell. Rain was lighter at Central Church and from Grassland east, but along Hwy. 380 west from Central to Tahoka rainfall was reported up to 1.5 or more and some lakes were filled.

Draw and Redwine areas reported one half to an inch. New Lynn a half to .8 inch, and lighter to the northeast, and also at Wilson. Lakeview had a heavy rain.

From Tahoka north up U.S. 87 from .6 to an inch and a half or more was reported. New Home area reported about one inch total, lighter at Petty. West Point farmers reported about .4 inch, and further south Wells had from .4 to an inch, and at O'Donnell the fall was very light.

Some farmers told The News they would start planting in the next week to ten days, but many were hopeful more rain will come to insure sufficient planting moisture. Due to a dry spring, many need more rain to plant.

The nominating committee to report back with suggestions on a vice president for the chamber. The vice president automatically assumes the duties of president the following year, it was noted.

New chamber committees, with the chairman listed first, were announced as follows:

- Agri-Business--Her s h e l Wade, Tommy Lawson and Guy Witt.
- Membership--Eual Davis, Lionel Miller and Jeanette Roseberry.
- Promotion--Joy Brookshire and Chloe Jan Wells.
- City Development--Jim Chambers, Dan Curry and Jimmy Wright.
- City Beautification--Winston Wharton, Larry Phillips and Ronald Roberts.
- Program--Dayton Parker and Arlys Askew, co-chairman.

Tahoka Lions Plan To Host Fundraising Carnival In July

Tahoka Lions have set July 16-20 as the week they will host a week-long fundraising carnival for all service clubs and charitable organizations.

Every organization is encouraged to participate in the carnival by setting up booths for concessions, games or amusement.

The Lions will sponsor the Jest Amusement Company. This company has been sponsored by the Lions Club for 7 years and should not be confused with other "fly-by-night" operations. Jest Amusement is a family owned and operated company with Mrs. Wright demanding the utmost of courtesy and integrity of her employees.

The company requires the sponsoring club to have its members and law enforcement personnel at the event until after closing time.

Jest Amusement has always provided a good, clean, wholesome atmosphere and the Lions are again proud to provide this amusement for their friends and neighbors.

For more information call Jackie Jaquess at 998-4975.

Wreck Investigated Here

Tahoka Police Dept. investigated one wreck in the city, answered some disturbance calls and issued three traffic tickets during the last week.

Although the number of traffic tickets issued last week was low, Police Chief Jack Miller announced that the department will start immediately stricter enforcement of traffic laws in the city, particularly in the area of speeding and reckless driving. And youngsters who have been paying their tickets without telling their parents are in for some problems, too. Miller said that starting this month, parents of any teenagers who are issued traffic tickets will be mailed a copy of their youngster's ticket.

The chief also said there will be a crackdown on littering in the city, noting that many beer cans and bottles and paper cups from drive-ins are being thrown out on the streets and yards. He pointed out that such litter is covered by city ordinance which provides for fines, and warned that citations will be issued for violators.

During the last week police officers issued tickets in the city for running a red light, illegal parking and no drivers license.

On Sunday night four Mexican males were arrested for disorderly conduct after a fight which began in the park and later was resumed in the cemetery. All four pleaded guilty and were fined $50 plus court costs each in the city court of judge and mayor Mel Leslie.

On Sunday in the 2000-block of N. Main St. a collision involved a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Greg Curry of Rt. 4, Tahoka, and a 1979 Pontiac driven by A. W. Marshall Jr. of Rt. 2, Slaton.

Officers Tuesday night answered one disturbance call involving a marital problem in the city.

And one man called the department late Saturday night to ask which way he was supposed to reset his clock as daylight time went into effect.

WOODWORK

By DALTON

ULAR readers of the Lynn County probably will notice some changes in appearance and content of the News week as this first issue is published under new ownership. Whenever there is a change in ownership of a newspaper, there are some things which the new management does which are different. We hope the changes are acceptable. The only promise we can make in the direction of the News is that we will do our best to publish a newspaper which will be an asset to the community.

IF YOU fans of Carolyn's Clatter, printed on page one of the News, do not be upset. Carolyn will be writing on the inside of the paper as she wants to write her column and it isn't more than once a week. Although new to most of you, columns of the "Woodwork" heading have been in for more than 20 years, appearing early in newspapers and trash cans in Slaton, Amherst, Anton, Shallowater and elsewhere for various periods of time. In more than seven years of publication in Slaton, the column has built up a large list of about 100 readers, mostly relatives.

THE COMMENT we have heard recently from our friends in Slaton since moving about two months ago that we were moving to Tahoka has been "there are good people in Tahoka."

From the people we have met already and whom we already knew in Tahoka, we have no reason to question the statement, "I'm impressed Lenda and me to hear the talk made so often. It's good that there is a natural rivalry that exists between athletic teams in the same district. Still have that much good will. Of course, we have discovered that many people over in the Slaton area have close friends and relatives in Tahoka. We have them not to rat on us.

PLEASE BEAR WITH ME, all of you I meet for the second or third time will don't recognize. I have a terrible time remembering names--as well as things else. It's not just advancing either; I've always had this problem. One of my most embarrassing moments was the first week I lived in Slaton and I introduced myself three times to the same Wayne Moses. The second time he reminded me we had met the day before, but the third time was kind of bad, though he was nice about it. The poor memory bothered me so much that I went to a psychiatrist and he said "I gotta have some help, doctor, because I can't seem to remember anything one minute to the next." He said, "How long has this been going on?" he asked.

"How long has what been going on?" I asked. "I know--it's an old joke. But maybe you hadn't heard it."

THE WAY, I have a red windbreaker I need to trade for a blue one. Blue is better with my eyes anyway.

Mrs. Wharton took on a project to refinish and decorate the upstairs meeting room and to buy carpet for the entire building.

The city of Tahoka, headed by Mayor Meldon Leslie, spear-headed the entire project, bought the building and financed much of its renovation, all without dipping into Tahoka City tax funds.

YOUR ELECTRIC BILL IS HIGHER

IT'S COSTING US MORE TO PRODUCE ELECTRICITY

Electric bills are higher these days, and even though the cost of almost everything else is higher too, you are still concerned about your cost of electricity. We're concerned too.

The cost of the fuels necessary to operate generating plants is increasing by leaps and bounds. To counter the shortage and spiraling costs of natural gas and fuel oil, SPS has built new plants which use lower-cost coal. But building these plants costs money, too — three times as much as gas-fired plants. Even so, fuel is the largest single expense we have. About 51% of every dollar SPS received from its customers in 1978 went for fuel. Fuel always has been, and always will be part of your electric bill. It's higher today than it was yesterday, and tomorrow it will be higher still, and always will be part of your electric bill, as low as possible, but as the cost of producing electricity goes up, SPS is working to keep the price of electricity as low as possible. It's the only way we can maintain the adequate supply of power and the dependable service you expect.

CAROLYN'S CLATTER

by Carolyn Klaus

"There ought to be a law," is a statement used frequently by many people for various reasons. Mostly the reason is that something does not suit them and the statement slips out without thinking. Probably the statement began when people would never think of disobeying a law. The logical thing to do was make a law prohibiting any questionable action and then people would be more ready to refrain from the act.

This idea has survived for many generations and apparently even in modern times it has its appeal. Legislators, often referred to as lawmakers, have evidently agreed with the American public and reinforced the process. During every session of Congress there are so many laws passed that even the most conscientious lawyer must spend many hours keeping himself informed and up to date.

Even though we continue to cry, "there ought to be a law," we seemingly direct it more and more to our legislators. The public has felt for years that government has passed so many laws, rules, and regulations that it is a near impossibility to keep up with all the paper work. This bureaucracy of paper is costing the average taxpayer more and more to hire people to keep up with the files. Finally a few legislators are realizing their preoccupation with lawmaking and are questioning the validity of making so many laws.

Each time a law is passed more money must be appropriated for enforcement of that law and one thing leads to another until the financing for a single law becomes gigantic.

Rep. Craig Washington of Houston noted recently that making laws isn't always the best way to go about handling problems. He is advocating that other methods of handling problems be considered, such as solving problems administratively.

More and more legislators are beginning to see the light and if enough people think the idea is sound additional public servants could be swayed to that way of thinking. When we are all asked to tighten our belts and cut out unnecessary expenses it seems those people representing us should be willing to do the same.

A look into some of the methods in the past and clearing out of some of the massive paperwork could be an easy way of balancing the budget. Just think, we could cut down on manpower hours, electricity for "burning the midnight oil", money for paper, not to mention all the environmentalists we could pacify by saving all those trees.

Sherry Etheredge Says

FOOD SAFETY BEGINS WITH PROPER PRESERVATION

With a little extra time and care, you can stretch the wonderful flavor of home-grown fruits and vegetables throughout the year with home canning.

But, all your time, labor and money required for home canning may be lost if these foods are not properly processed, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Since 1925 some 700 deaths in the United States were traced to botulism poisoning caused by improper home canning, reports USDA's Food Safety and Quality Service (FSQS).

Yet, successful home canning requires only proper sterilization and the exclusion of air. This is accomplished by heat. Undercooking is the real culprit in home canning.

Organisms that cause food spoilage--molds, yeasts, and bacteria--are always present in the air, water and soil. Enzymes that may cause undesirable changes in flavor, color, and textures are present in raw fruits and vegetables.

When food is heated hot enough and long enough, spoilage organisms are destroyed and the action of enzymes is destroyed. Heat drives out air and seals containers from outside contamination during storage.

When you can fruits, tomatoes or pickled vegetables the naturally high acid content of these foods will keep them safe when heated at the temperature of boiling water (212 degrees F.) for the time period recommended for the specific food.

For low-acid foods, such as meat and poultry, fish, string beans, beets, corn and some fruits, higher temperatures attained only by pressure-cooking (240 degrees F.) are required to kill potentially harmful spores.

To keep food safe you also must store it properly. Use jars and lids manufactured specifically for use in home canning. That way you can be assured of a correct seal, and that containers will be strong enough to withstand high temperatures and pressure during processing and cooling. Do not use very old canning jars, jars with nicks, dents, cracks, or rust. It is better not to use half-gallon size jars. With larger sizes, it is difficult to reach the recommended temperature in the center of the jar.

Botulism deaths from home canning could almost be eliminated by simply heating home canned meat and vegetable foods for 10 minutes at 212 degrees F. before serving.

Never taste questionable foods: foods in containers that leak, bulge, have cracks or some type of damage; canned foods that spurt liquid when opened.

Follow canning instructions closely to make sure you are canning in a safe manner, and you can enjoy good eating all year.

When toxin produced by bacteria in ingested, signs of botulism may occur in a few hours or as long as eight days but usually in 18 to 36 hours. Symptoms include general weakness, constipation, some headache followed by double vision, impaired speech and difficulty in chewing and swallowing. Unless treatment is initiated promptly, the disease may result in death within three to seven days.

VA Payments Are Reported

Recent statistics indicate that the economy of Lynn County has received a significant boost as a result of Veterans Administration payments to veterans, their dependents and their survivors.

According to Sid A. Lowery, Veterans County Service Officer for Lynn County, VA payments for fiscal year 1978 totaled $481,112. Of this amount, $329,657 was paid in the form of compensation and pension; $126,362 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation, and $25,093 for insurance and indemnities.

All of these amounts were paid directly to the residents of Lynn County. According to the County Service Officer, in addition to materially adding to the economic health of the county, these benefits have alleviated many hardships for veterans and their families in time of need. Lowery added that his office was ready to assist any county residents who believe they have a claim for veterans benefits.

Wilson All-Sports Banquet Honors Athletes

By Carolyn Klaus
The practice gym at Wilson was decorated with blue and white and the community filled the building Monday night, April 30, to show their support of the young athletes representing Wilson Schools and to watch them receive their awards. The Wilson Booster Club, with Tom Freitag as president, Billy Weaver as vice-president, and Linda Slone as secretary, hosted the annual banquet.

Floyd Heck, Wilson football announcer, served as master of ceremonies, and introduced Sam Robertson, defensive coordinator at Texas Tech University, as the featured speaker.

In his presentation Coach Robertson outlined the ABC's of a winner, champion and positive person.

A-Admit! "It's hard to admit your weaknesses," he said, "but it's also a necessity to becoming a more positive person."

B-Believe! "You have to believe in yourself," he explained, "not have a false confidence, but really believe."

C-Commitment! "You have to motivate yourself and keep yourself going," Coach Robertson told the group of young athletes and parents. "It is necessary," he said, "to realize what you are, your weaknesses, and your strengths, and then you have to put it all into action."

Following the address of the speaker, Danny Chisum, head coach at Wilson, introduced the coaching staff and presented monogrammed stadium blankets to L. F. Jacobs, superintendent of schools; Gary Cox, high school principal; and Ted Dockery, elementary principal, recognizing their support throughout the year.

Chisum, Pat Mouser, assistant coach, and Mike Carroll, assistant coach, then recognized each athlete from each grade along with the sports in which they participated.

Outstanding honors were given to the following students. Most valuable player in girls track was given to Cindy Slone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Slone.

Donald Freitag, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Freitag, received the most valuable player in boys track.

Kathleen Bednarz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bednarz, received the most valuable player award in girls basketball.

Mike Nettles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Nettles, received the most valuable player award in boys basketball.

Quintin Talkmitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Talkmitt, received the football lineman award.

Calvin Wilke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wilke, was named the most valuable back in football.

The "Fighting Heart" award was shared by two young men who tied in the voting. They were Lucio Trevino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Romulo Trevino, and David Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Weaver.

These awards were voted

Stenholm Approves $10,000 Grant

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announces the approval of a $10,000 grant to the South Plains Community Action Association, Inc., with headquarters at Levelland, by the Community Services Administration.

The funds will be made available to eligible recipients who were not previously served in the Fiscal Year 1978 Emergency Energy Assistance Program. Assistance will be provided only in cases where an emergency energy need existed during the 1977-78 winter. This grant is an extension of the 1978 Emergency Energy Assistance Program only.

The South Plains Community Action Association, Inc. serves Lynn and Garza Counties of the 17th Congressional District.

Lynn Students Receive SPC Awards

South Plains College (SPC) in Levelland held an awards banquet to honor their students and three from Lynn County were recognized.

Sherri Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Read, was cited as presidential hostess.

Jona Valentine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Valentine, was given the philosophy award.

Roy Ussery, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ussery, of Tahoka was the recipient of the Jimmy Carroll Agri-Business Scholarship.

Senior Citizen Health Fair

Tuesday, May 15, from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m., senior citizens in the 15-county South Plains area will have the opportunity to participate in a Health Fair at the South Plains Fair Park Coliseum. The Health Fair is part of Senior Round-up 1979, a celebration by area seniors of Older Americans and Older Texans Month. The Round-up will take place on the 15th and 16th of May at the Fair Park Coliseum and will include recognition of 1979's Outstanding Senior Citizens, music and dancing, and the Senior Olympics, as well as the Health Fair.

At the Health Fair, area seniors will have the opportunity to receive health services at several booths arranged at Fair Park Coliseum. These services include checks on blood pressure, sight, hearing, and respiration, as well as other health-screening services. At each participant's discretion, a health-check card may be used to record health data.

In addition to health service booths, many stations will give educational information on health items of special interest to senior citizens. Also, an on-going film festival from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. will present information on nutrition, exercising, and safety.

The Health Fair, as part of Senior Round-up 1979, is presented by the South Plains Area Agency on Aging. Assisting in the coordination of the Health Fair are the ACTION agencies: RSVP chapters of Levelland, Plainview, Tulla, Wellington, and Amarillo, and the Foster Grandparents, as well as Texas Tech University's Center for Studies on Aging. All South Plains senior citizens are urged to attend this event.

The Lynn County Pioneer Club van will be available for rides for seniors both days of the fair.

Rotarians Honor Secretaries

Tahoka Rotary Club members honored their secretaries in observance of National Secretaries Week last Thursday noon.

School Superintendent Jim Coulston had the program, and he and Mrs. Fredda Jeffcoat, for 15 years the school administration's secretary, presented a dual talk.

Mrs. Jeffcoat told what she thought an employer should be, and Mr. Coulston retaliated with his idea of what should be expected from a secretary. Most of the two talks were humorous in nature and ended on a more serious note.

President Monte Dodson inducted two new Rotary members, Jimmy Huckabee, new Higginbotham-Bartlett manager, and S. H. Alayyan, owner of the new electronics business on Main Street.

Dalton Wood, new editor-publisher of the Lynn County News, was introduced by Gerald Moore, hospital administrator, who grew up with him at Jacksboro. Mr. Wood is former publisher of the Slaton Slatonic.

Herd Management Important To Screwworm Program Success

Rancher cooperation in herd management practices still holds the key to success in the screwworm eradication program for Texas this spring.

Recent widespread rains over much of the state—and warmer spring temperatures—could provide an ideal environment for the spread of screwworm cases, he reminds.

To date in 1979, six screwworm cases have been confirmed at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Screwworm Laboratory. While Hidalgo and Starr Counties—in the Rio Grande Valley—each have one confirmed case, individual cases also have been confirmed in Jim Wells and Kinney Counties, situated much to the west of the traditional problem areas. Medina County recorded its second case on April 23, with both cases originating in navels of new-born calves. Last year, Medina County did not record its first case until July, records show.

The USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service field staff, along with field testing units of the Texas Animal Health Commission, are conducting trapping activities to determine location and movement of native fertile wild flies and sterile female flies, in an effort to monitor potential problem areas. Results of the trapping programs will be made available to livestock producers and related industry representatives to aid them in planning herd management practices.

The new Aricruz strain of flies is progressing well, and results of the fly distributions also are being monitored. Tests with marked flies help to determine dispersion of the flies after boxed release in the field. Screwworm eradication program officials also are using insecticide treated pellets this year in selected counties, along with the sterile fly releases.

Livestock producers, can still aid the screwworm eradication program by continuing the "basic three" practices of examining their herds on a regular basis, collecting samples of any larvae found in wounds and sending the samples to the Mission Lab for identification; and treating the wound to reduce host sites for the screwworm fly.

Anyone having any of these items or knowing where they may be obtained is requested to contact Mrs. Norvell (Linnie) Redwine, phone 998-4319, Mrs. Ivan McWhirter, Mrs. Frances E. Dunagan, or Mrs. F. A. Wyatt.

A Look At The Texas 4-H Center

4-H youth and their adult volunteer leaders have a home away from home called the Texas 4-H Center.

Located on Lake Brownwood in North Central Texas, the center serves as a 4-H training, recreation and camping site for several thousand 4-H youngsters and the adults who work with them each year. From September through May, the 4-H center hosts boys and girls and men and women from all parts of Texas. They come on weekends to learn more about their 4-H projects, such as foods, horses, clothing, sheep, personal leadership skills, opportunity and awards programs; rabbits, poultry, recreation ideas, and many other topics.

Since last September, 900 persons have received weekend 4-H training and have enjoyed a relaxed informal atmosphere including food, fun, and fellowship at the center. Upon returning to their homes, members and adults share what they gained through local 4-H club programs and activities.
