Man Fined $500 On Marijuana Charge

A 27-year-old man was fined a fine of $500 and given a 90-day probation jail term for leading guilty in court Tuesday morning on a charge of possession of marijuana.

The man and a juvenile son, age 16, were arrested by Tahoka city police. County Judge Burks assessed the fine for the older man and the case against the juvenile was still pending Wednesday.

The man who broke into the Dog Drive In on N. Sunday took potato chips and aspirin.

Patrolmen were called "several times" to the scene of a dance at the Tahoka Community Center Saturday night to handle disturbances outside the building, officers said. There were no arrests in connection with the calls.

Tools reported stolen from a pickup were recovered and no charges filed.

Hail Hits Grassland Area Crop

Blowing sand preceding and following showers and a hail storm in the Grassland area had destroyed or damaged a lot of young cotton over Lynn County this week. Otherwise, cotton is up or coming up over much of the county and looks good for a crop.

Late Sunday, a severe wind carrying a brown dust duster blew across the South Plains preceding a shower of .18 inch measured in Tahoka. Again Monday evening, the wind blew and .10 inch of rain came. Tahoka then measured .06 Tuesday morning, and there was more wind. In spite of farmers running sand-fighters where they could, the winds have burned and in some cases destroyed young cotton just up.

But, hardest hit Sunday night were a number of farmers at Grassland, where at about 7 p.m. Sunday a hail storm wiped out or badly damaged possibly 3,000 to 5,000 acres.

The hail extended from about two miles southwest of Grassland to about two miles northeast. Among

Chamber To Meet

The monthly directors meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, June 5 at 11:30 in the backroom of Tahoka Cafeteria.

County Tax Raise Gets Final Okay

Lynn County Commissioners Tuesday morning made it official: the county's taxpayers will be paying 66 per cent higher taxes on statements to be sent out this fall.

Commissioners voted unanimously on the motion by E. R. Blakney to increase the percentage of assessment from 22 per cent of actual value to 38 per cent. But, as Blakney commented, "None of us are really favorable...but it has to be done." The county has been looking a deficit in operations this year as costs of all services continue to rise, along with new costs brought on by items newly required by law.

Also discussed at Tuesday's meeting was a proposal to charge cities in the county for handling city prisoners in the county jail, but action was delayed until the next meeting June 11.

A motion to authorize calling for bids on a new car for the sheriff's department

Red Raider Club Tourney Barbecue Set

The annual barbecue, golf tournament and meeting of the Tahoka branch of the Red Raider Club is scheduled June 14, when members from Lubbock and other area towns will join with the Tahoka group for festivities.

The barbecue will be at Mel Leslie's Tahoka Lake Ranch north of town, with Leslie, president of the Tahoka branch, as host. The Tahoka club has about 50 members, Leslie said, and is seeking other members who want to support Texas Tech athletics.

A donation of $20 or more to the club treasurer, Monte Dodson, qualifies a person to become a member and take part in the activities here. There is no charge to members and special guests at the barbecue.

"We try to raise enough was passed after discussion of the need for a new car. Sheriff Norvel Redwine said a 1976 Chevrolet which will be traded in on the new vehicle has about 75,000 miles on it.

In the discussion, some of the commissioners indicated they would favor a plan to charge the cities on a cost basis each time a city prisoner is jailed, rather than charging a flat monthly fee regardless of whether any prisoners are processed.

All commissioners, Ed Stone, J. C. Gandy, Bart Anderson and Blakney, were present, with County Judge Melvin Burks presiding.

funds every year to buy one athletic scholarship," Leslie said.

Jimmy Bragg is chairman of the golf tournament which will precede the barbecue here. Each year the tournament attracts about 125 participants.

The golf tournament will start at 1 p.m. on June 14, a Thursday, with the barbecue to follow when the golfers finish.

WOODWORK

by dalton

THERE ARE SEVERAL disadvantages to a column on Sunday, especially if it is today before a holiday like last Monday's Memorial Day.

One main problem is that your mind wanders more than usual, and you keep thinking you should be in church, even if it is in the middle of the afternoon. And if not being in church doesn't bother you, you think about golf or tennis or even yard work, because to some folks that we suppose.

Anyway, we suppose it wouldn't be so much of a problem if the writer had a good topic. I remember telling a friend once that I just couldn't seem to get my column written that day because I couldn't think of anything good and he commented, "That never seemed to happen before."

Well, I should have said "ex-friend."

Probably by the time this gets into print, you will have told how many gallons of gasoline were burned up during last Sunday's Dallas Speedway 500-mile race. However, it was too much. So far as I personally am concerned, they could outlaw this and all other races to help save gasoline, although most persons would violently disagree.

Another way to save fuel would be to make it mandatory to drive motor homes, but this would probably make more folks unhappy. And although I probably aren't too many of them left, I would be against the law to drive 1965 Pontiacs. My son once had one that got about a gallon on good days.

Letter To Editor

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

Dear Editor:

We had a beautiful German Shepherd dog, but last Sunday morning we found her dead in our front yard. There was no evidence of being run over or hit by a car. The only other possibility was poison. We have tried to rule out poison, but when I found out two other dogs on our block have been poisoned, I'm not so quick to rule it out. These other two dogs were poisoned by some meat and pancake thrown over the back fence. I have never seen a dog that was going through the stages after being poisoned, but from what I've been told I would father not see a poor animal go through such agony and pain. Mr. Editor, who ever is doing this is also making people very unhappy. These are or were family dogs. One little dog had been with it's family a long time. Our dog had been with us a little over a year, but she was a member of our family. I'm not saying these dogs never did anything wrong, but if someone was angry with our dog, why didn't that someone come talk to us? This poisoning will go on if something isn't done. I hope the person who is poisoning these dogs will read this. PLEASE STOP DESTROYING THESE FAMILY MEMBERS.

Sir, recently it was printed in the News that the dog catcher would be picking up all dogs that were loose and the owners would be fined. However, I have noticed that the dog catcher is a little slack in his (her) work. I have heard a number of reports that family dogs were being called out of their yards so the dog catcher could catch them. It is my opinion that if the dog catcher would pick up the poor, mangy dogs that wander around town, and barely able to do that, the poor creatures are so pitiful, he wouldn't have to resort to calling dogs out of their own yards. I know of two dogs that stay downtown all the time. We do need laws to protect our animals and other property, but those laws need to be enforced. Maybe if everyone obeyed these laws, then this business of poisoning these beloved pets would stop. This person, if that's what they can be called, wouldn't feel like they have to take the law into their own hands.

I hope this letter causes the person doing the poisoning of these dogs to STOP AND THINK about what they're doing not only to a family, but how they are torturing a helpless animal. But, if the poisoning continues I hope this letter warns the pet lovers of Tahoka and all of Lynn County.

Thank You,
Kendyl Wright

Dear Editor:

In regards to the gas shortage I would like to report that on May 11th we left Abilene, Texas to drive to our resort in South Fork, Colorado.

We made stops in most of the towns to check with the service station owners in regards to their gas supply and they all said they had plenty of gas and was not planning to cut their hours.

Since May 11th, we have had 20 employees from different parts of Texas drive up and they all reported they had no problem getting gas at night or Sundays. After checking with our Colorado friends in the gas business as of now they have plenty of gas and are reasonably sure they will have for the summer.

Gas prices here are 75.9 to 79.9 and some full service stations above 80 cents.

Prescribed Reading

By DAYTON PARKER PHARMACY

The best cure for "swimmer's ear" is to prevent before it has a chance to begin. This is accomplished by carefully drying the ear canal immediately after swimming. Without this precaution, infected organisms multiply in the ear that is still damp and could cause an earache. Some over-the-counter medications contain alcohol that help dry the ear canal but once an earache begins it's likely that prescription drugs will be necessary. Your doctor may prescribe a regime of antibiotics and steroids to clear the infection. The antibiotic tacks the infecting bacteria and the steroid relieves inflammation and pain. Sometimes, a local anesthetic may be necessary to relieve the pain. Anytime you get your ears thoroughly wet, whether swimming or in some other situation, it's far better to dry your ear canal than it is to suffer the problems of swimmer's ear.

DAMAGES RAISES QUESTIONS FOR COTTON FARMER

"Twenty Questions" has been a popular game for many years. But when Nature dumps hail on the South Plains, there are four big questions in the mind of the cotton farmer, and they are posed seriously, not in fun. "Where, how much, and how badly was the crop damaged by the hail storm? And how much of the crop will I have to replant?" You don't make snap decisions when it comes to hail damage. It will appear much worse than the actual damage immediately after the storm. In the case of cotton, the plants have a remarkable capacity to recover. Already this year crops have been hit by hail, and no doubt more will be hit as the season progresses. If a producer's crop suffers hail damage, he will have to consider several factors in determining whether to replant. Among these are growth stage, type and extent of injury and seasonal conditions. A First point to consider is how much of the field was damaged. A hail storm can reduce the plant population to only two seedlings per row foot in 40-inch rows, or about 25,000 plants per acre, and the crop can still produce a normal yield, unless the crop is poorly distributed or has long skips.

Another point in determining whether to replant is how much damage there was to plants. Plants having only traces of leaves will recover better than those with no leaves. But a seedling with no leaves can still make a crop.

If the stem is intact, free of large breaks and the seedling has sound buds, recovery is still possible, although it will be slower than plants having at least some leaves.

However, if the stem is shattered and the bark loosened or broken at points below the leaf buds, then recovery is impossible.

After a hail storm, a sandfighter should be run as soon as possible to prevent sand injury to vital buds on stubs left in the field. Quite often, sand damage after a hail can do as much or more hard to young seedlings than the hail.

Any regrowth hinges either on the sound terminal bud (the growing point) or auxiliary bud located at the point of leaf attachment.

Because of the young seedling's ability to recover, hail injury in May or June cause less yield loss than in July and August when the plants are more mature and replanting becomes impossible.

If the damage is suffered early, a crop can recover to the point that the injured plants are difficult to distinguish from undamaged plants. Also, young cotton that survives early hail damage is often more mature at first frost than a crop that has been replanted.

When a cotton field is destroyed the producer has no choice but to replant, especially if the damage occurs early in the season. But in most hail storms, the crop is usually only partially injured, making the decision more difficult.

FEVER HITS CALVES

Shipping fever costs U. S. cattle raisers a hefty 100 million dollars per year. For every four calves that are shipped, one gets the disease. Eight percent of those contacting the disease die. Finding a cure for this disease would cut production costs and supply a lot more beef for consumers.

Donald is a graduate of Abilene Cooper High School and Tarleton State University.

Farm Census Data Sought

A drive to round up reports that have not yet been returned from farm households in the 1978 Census of Agriculture has been launched by the Bureau of the Census.

Bureau officials called the drive a "special effort" to provide statistical results to the nation's farmers and other users of census data as early as possible.

Most farm operators first received report forms last January, and most have, by now, completed and returned them. Although the rate at which reports have been returned has exceeded the pace of the last farm census, some farmers and ranchers have not sent in their reports.

"The completeness and accuracy of this important agricultural census depend upon each individual filling out the report form received," said Orvin Wilhite, Chief of the Bureau's Agriculture Division.

The farm census is the only government or private method for gathering and reporting agriculture information on a county-by-county basis for the entire nation, Wilhite noted.

Important decisions will be made by farmer organizations, marketing associations and co-ops on the basis of information in the farm census, he said. Census figures also are widely used by many other organizations, both public and private, on which farmers depend for services, supplies, and equipment.

It was noted that some farmers and ranchers need reassurance that their report is confidential. "By law," Wilhite said, "the report may be seen only by sworn census employees, and used only to tabulate totals for your country, state and the nation."

Land Bank Increases Billing Rate

Jay Dee House, Manager of The Lubbock-Tahoka Federal Land Bank Association of Lubbock, announced today that The Federal Land Bank of Houston's billing rate on farm and ranch loans will be increased from 8 1/2% to 9% effective June 1, 1979.

In making this announcement, Mr. House stated that the increase in the billing rate became necessary because of continued high cost of funds to finance the Bank's lending operation and no substantial decline is anticipated in the near future.

He further stated that in today's economic climate the 9% rate is very competitive. The Land Bank in Houston introduced a variable rate plan in 1969 which allows the billing rate to increase or decrease with variations in the money market.

The Lubbock-Tahoka Federal Land Bank Association of Lubbock makes long-term real estate loans on farm and ranch land and rural residences throughout this area.

Tractor Maintenance Short Course Planned

A tractor maintenance short course for adult farmers will be held June 11 under the sponsorship of the Wilson High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to Bobby Lee, teacher of vocational agriculture.

Richard Pivonka, tractor maintenance specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A&M University, will do the instructing. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Pivonka received his B.S. degree in Mechanized Agriculture from Texas A&M University in 1975. From June, 1975 to April, 1977 he has worked for the Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers, Inc. as a Mechanical Equipment Foreman. He was responsible for the maintenance of a wide variety of shop and field equipment.

The short course at Wilson is scheduled to begin June 11 at 8:00 in the vocational agriculture building. Other meets in the series will be held June 12, 13, and 14.

During the dates the short course is in progress, Mr. Pivonka will be available to assist farmers with individual tractor problems and to provide "on-the-farm" instruction, according to Lee.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call Lee. An entry fee of $5 will be charged. Tractor Maintenance Short Course certificates will be presented to each individual who attends all the training sessions.

Pivonka said the key to longer tractor life comes from a full knowledge of the fundamentals of an engine and the application of the proper maintenance skills involving lubrication, fuels, carburetion, air cleaners, cooling systems, valves and ignition.

He plans to cover the proper adjustments and maintenance of the above, with emphasis on the importance of each in obtaining a longer tractor life, and improved performance. Throughout the short course, emphasis will be placed on "learning to do by doing" through the use of several demonstration tractors. All enrollees will have the opportunity to perform actual adjustments and maintenance on their own tractors. Safety and operating techniques will also be stressed. "Short courses in tractor maintenance, as well as other subjects, are now available to farmers throughout the state under a cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," stated Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.
