Heavy Rains Douse Area

Mother Nature delivered another heavy dose of rain to Lynn County Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday, especially in the north and northwest parts of the county, where totals went over four inches. It was still raining in Tahoka late Wednesday morning.

In the city, rainfall was measured at 1.7 inches in the eastern part of town after Tuesday's downpour, and rains began again early Wednesday. Tuesday's rain at one spot seven miles north of Tahoka was measured at 3.9, and more rain was falling there Wednesday morning also.

Texas Highway Dept. officials had flagged out at a spot on U.S. 87 about five miles north of Tahoka where water was across the highway. Highway Dept. workers were called out during the night to this and other places where water was a hazard to traffic. Farm roads 400 between Wilson and Slaton was under water spots, and water and mud were reported over many farm-market roads, especially near Draw and Draw communities. Early Wednesday no water was on U.S. 380, Highway Dept. officials said.

Agricultural observers here figured the rainfall to be "just right—a real boost to the crops," as one man put it. No hail had been reported early Wednesday and the rains were needed to help the young cotton over the county.

Rainfall in the south and east parts of the county was not as heavy as north and west Tuesday, but all areas were getting more rain Wednesday morning. An early measurement at Midway showed just a half inch, but that was not counting what fell Wednesday. West Point community had a heavy rain.

Cleanup Set At O'Donnell

Mayor Truett Hodnett has proclaimed Saturday, July 28, as Cleanup Day in O'Donnell, when residents are urged to cooperate in cleaning up in every way to make the community more attractive.

Rotary Club President David Smith reminded members of that organization at Tuesday's noon meeting to make plans to assist the cleanup, noting that other civic clubs in O'Donnell also will be active in the project.

SPLASH TIME—A car at the intersection of Ave. K and Lockwood goes through a good deal of water after Tuesday afternoon's heavy rain in Tahoka.

LIKE A RIVER—This scene on S. Ave. J during the rain Tuesday shows how water builds up in the streets here at times, but most folks didn't mind.

Cable TV Operation Planned In Tahoka

Negotiations for use of overhead utility poles to bring cable television service to Tahoka are underway and a Dallas-based company has indicated that installation of a receiving station and other construction should be started within two to three months. No target date has been announced for actual operation of the service.

Beta Communications, Inc., which includes Tahoka and Lubbock stockholders, told the News this week that an 11-channel lineup of programming is planned for Tahoka. This would include the four Lubbock channels, WTCG in Atlanta, Ga., WGN in Chicago, Christian Broadcasting Network (CBN) and Praise The Lord (PTL) network and special channels for time and weather, Madison Square Garden and "C-SPAN and Calliope," and a city channel which may be used on special occasion as a "community bulletin board."

"C-SPAN" stands for Cable Satellite Public Affairs Network, and is a non-profit news and public affairs network which carries live daily full and uncut proceedings of the U.S. House of Representatives.

In addition to all these, Home Box Office (HBO) programs of movies will be available at extra charge, according to Beta official Bill Strange of Dallas.

City Councilmen recently granted Beta a cable TV franchise for Tahoka, and at that time proposed rates to the customers in Tahoka were indicated to be $25 for initial connection, plus $8 per month for cable TV. No mention was made of the additional charge for HBO, but in nearby communities other cable companies charge $8 more per month for that service.

Cable TV, which gets its name from the use of a coaxial cable that is capable of delivering many channels of video, was first introduced in the late 1940s and early 1950s in Pennsylvania and Oregon. Its primary use was to deliver signals where the reception was either non-existent or very hard to view because of obstructions. Today, Strange said, many additional services are possible for the cable TV viewer.

Tahoka has not had cable TV in the past, he said, because of FCC restrictions and the good reception of the Lubbock TV stations. But with the advent of the satellite that can deliver additional automated and outside TV stations (eliminating the high cost of microwave), cable TV has become plausible for Tahoka.

"Since receiving the franchise for Tahoka, many things have begun, although nothing is visible," Strange said. "Plans and maps have been given to our contractor. They must schedule the work and provide a strand (the wire that hold cable in place) map for the entire city."

"In addition, FCC permits as well as a scientific survey must be received for the satellite earth receiving station. In order for the cable to be installed using overhead utility poles, an agreement must be received from the utility company. (In the case of Tahoka, it is Southwestern Public Service.)"

"Negotiations have been underway since the granting of the franchise by the City Council, and we expect to receive an agreement soon. The maps, the survey and all plans necessary for construction should be received within 60 to 90 days."

"Once all items are approved and received, when you see the construction crew in town it will only be a short while until pictures are available."

Beta Communications recently purchased and is operating the cable TV system at O'Donnell, and will soon install Channel 17 from Atlanta and Home Box Office there.

Strange said an experienced cable TV manager will be hired and will be responsible for the operations of both the O'Donnell and Tahoka systems. An announcement is expected to be made soon introducing the manager to Lynn County.

Stockholders of Beta Communications are Hilton and Gerald Deane Wood of Tahoka, Jim Strange of Lubbock and Marjorie and Bill Strange of Dallas, formerly of Tahoka.

Cleanup Will Start Monday

Tahoka residents were reminded this week that a citywide cleanup campaign starts Monday and will continue through Friday, with all residents urged to make a special effort to clean up debris and weeds and other eyesores around businesses and homes in the city.

During the week, the city will provide special pickup of trash and items too heavy, too large or of material which would damage the compacting equipment if placed in a dumpster. Residents with such items to be picked up should call city hall during the week to arrange pickup service.

COLUMNIST ART BUCHWALD recently wrote about a recent action of the antitrust division of the Justice Department in which the justice people are attacking the television networks because they don't show enough commercials on the air during prime time.

The brilliant federal agency has decided that if television networks would allow more TV commercials during prime time, the cost of the advertised products would be less because they wouldn't have to spend so much for each commercial, and then the public would have to pay less for the products.

As Buchwald says, this is the stupidest idea I have ever heard of. TV is so cluttered up with commercials now that it frustrates viewers.

Maybe it would be a good thing, though, for newspapers. More people would just give up on watching TV at all except for sports events, and the advertisers would spend more on newspapers, where advertising is not stuck between paragraphs of a story, but is still there to get the message across.

THE TEEN-AGER on 10th St. slammed his car together and headed for the door to leave, declaring, "I'm looking for adventure, excitement and beautiful women." And as his father approached, the youth shouted, "Don't try to stop me—I'm on my way!" "Who's trying to stop you?" his father barked. "I'm going with you!"

SOME OF THE BUSINESSES around town are warmer inside than usual this week as they comply with the President's guidelines of setting thermostats at 78 degrees. It gives some who have been wearing coats and long sleeves a good excuse to shed them in the name of patriotism.

They have worn short sleeves for years, summer and winter, even when it was frowned on by those who thought proper attire at all times. People used to tell you shouldn't wear short sleeve shirts in the fall or winter, but I did it anyway, remembering that the matter who doesn't like it, the Constitution says every American the right to bare arms.

Burglaries, Thefts Are Investigated

Several burglaries, thefts and vandalism were investigated during the last week by Tahoka Police Dept. and Rimrock Supermarket building, recently struck by a vehicle on the west side, was struck again, this time on the north.

A 1974 Chevrolet pickup driven by Duwella Ann Scott of Tahoka struck a column in front of the supermarket Sunday evening. The driver was not seriously hurt, according to investigating police.

A closed Conoco station on N. Main was vandalized over the weekend, reported Steve Payne, who said doors to a restroom were broken in Sunday night.

A storage building near Jif-E-Mart again was struck by thieves, with more soft drinks stolen, it was reported Saturday.

Danny Martinez, owner of The Pit, Tuesday reported firewood stolen from outside that building.

On Sunday a fruit stand operated by Shorty McKee was burglarized, with chewing gum and a box of candy stolen. The Dixie Dog Drive-In also lost a small quantity of candy and potato chips to burglars Monday night.

Sheriff's deputies investigated theft of three head of cattle and a trailer from James F. Roberts last Wednesday. The theft was north of West Point community.

78-Degree Settings In Offices Backed

Tahoka Chamber of Commerce Tuesday went on record as endorsing President Carter's guidelines for setting thermostats no lower than 78 degrees in the summer and no higher than 65 in the winter, noting reports that such action would save huge amounts of energy if enough businesses in the nation would follow suit.

Chamber President Richard White presided over the meeting attended by 22 persons and called on two committee chairmen for reports on activities of importance to the community.

Winston Wharton, beautification committee chairman, urged all members to "get behind this cleanup and

No School Tax Increase Seen

Tahoka School Board looked at preliminary proposed school budget figures for the coming year at last Thursday night's meeting and then generally agreed that no tax increase would be needed at this time.

The good news for taxpayers in the school district came after considerable discussion of the money situation, and will not actually be nailed down until the board sets the tax rate at next month's meeting. Prior to that meeting on Aug. 9, a public hearing on the budget has been scheduled from 7 to 8 p.m. in the board room at the high school. The regular board meeting will follow at 8 p.m.

Tom Cooper, currently serving as assistant junior high and high school principal, was reassigned as principal of Tubb Elementary for the coming year.

Budd Todd, former athletic director at Fort Davis public schools, was hired to teach junior high science and serve as an assistant football and track coach. Mike Dills, formerly a teacher and coach at Flour Bluff, was hired as teacher of elementary and high school physical education and assistant coach.

A bid of $2725.75 from Nagle Air Conditioning and Heating for repair and enlargement of lunchroom air conditioning was accepted by the trustees.

Use Proper Methods for Home Canning

Canning is in season. The prediction is that canning will be done this year. This is very much helped by the availability of quality products, and the desire for better quality meals, special and gift ideas. Canners want to can. Canning can be a rewarding experience. However, is to use equipment, have a good updated canning manual and apply good common sense. Pressure gauges on pressure canners should be checked for accuracy. Clean counties have a trained person or a free lance person that lives in the county to check pressure cookers and replace parts if needed. If your county doesn't have someone, write Vivian Limer, Home Service Advisor, Box 631, Lubbock, Texas, 79408.

Know that pressure cookers with gauges must be used for processing low acid foods. This includes all vegetables except tomatoes and sauerkraut. For altitude 3,000 - 4,000 feet, processing 12 to 12½ lbs. pressure. For pressure cookers with automatic pressure weight control, use 15 pounds pressure. This type has no springs and doesn't need calibration or testing for accuracy. Be sure to follow instructions for use and care of your particular canner.

Water bath canners are available on the market and should be used to process tomatoes and acid vegetables as sauerkraut. For altitude 4,000 feet increase processing time four (4) minutes, for vegetables requiring 20 minutes or less. For more than 20 minutes increase processing time eight (8) minutes. Good recipe instruction books should be used as constant guides; good reliable information can be the best assurance for top quality canned products.

Use standard size jars and match lids and bands and jars. Obtain a good pair of tongs and jar lifters. If salt is specified in recipe, add ½ teaspoon to each quart and ¼ teaspoon to each pint.

Make sure your storage area is dry. Dampness may corrode metal lids and cause leakage. This can cause spoilage.

If in doubt about any canned goods, watch for these signs: squirting liquid, air bubbles, strange odor, leaky jars, bulging caps, and overly soft food.

If any signs are evident, destroy at once and make sure dogs or other animals do not eat any part.

If you'd like copies on "How to Estimate Quantities of Food for Canning and Preserving", "How Many Jars are Needed" and "The Correct Way to Process Various Foods", write: Vivian Limer, Home Service Advisor, Southwestern Public Service, Box 631, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Ask for "Ready Reference Chart for Canning."

Canning books are available on the news stands or you may write to: Ball Corporation, Direct Marketing Products, Dept. IQ, Muncie, Indiana 47302. Edition 29 cost $1. Blue Book Edition 30 is $2.50. Spanish Edition is $2.25. Enclose payment and allow 3 to 5 weeks for delivery.

Kerr Canning Book may be obtained by writing Kerr Glass Manufacturing Company, Consumer Products Division, Sand Springs, Oklahoma 74063. Cost is $1. Copies are mailed every week.

If soft water is needed - boil hard water, let stand 24 hours. Then skim top. Dip; don't pour the water from container. Add 1 tablespoon of vinegar to each gallon of boiled hard water.

Have an enjoyable canning season.

Girl Scouts Tell Projects

Six Tahoka Girl Scouts from the local troop under direction of Mrs. Jerry Brown and Mrs. Billy Tomlinson presented the program at the Rotary Club last Thursday noon.

Cindy Lawson told of Girl Scouting in Tahoka, Marcy Raindl revealed some facts about attendance, Lani Brown emphasized some of their many projects for good of the community, Elena Del Toro listed outings and fun programs, Denise Dodson told of their many trips, and Sheri Tomlinson outlined some plans for the future.

Eight of the girls in the troop have been in Scouting nine years, since the second grade. They have never made an extensive drive for funds, but have worked at many projects even to hoeing cotton, cleaning up the cemetery, park, alleys and collecting beer cans to finance their trips and projects.

In addition to camping trips, one year they went to Six Flags Over Texas, and last year they flew to California to visit Disneyland, Marineland, and other attractions. This trip cost $4,000, most of which the girls had raised by work projects.

But, the girls said they were mostly proud of the many community projects that have been of benefit to the general public.

Don Boydston arranged the program.

President Jim Solomon announced the District Governor, Dr. J. Davis Armistead of Lubbock, will hold Club Assembly here on the night of August 8th, which will be preceded by a fish fry for all Rotarians and their wives at 7 p.m. in the Lyntegar community room. The Governor will speak at the club the next day.

Sherry Etheredge Says . . .

With homemade "Master Mix" that's made ahead of time, any kitchen is a bakery in minutes--and the homemaker saves time and money, says Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Master Mix" can create numerous breakfast and dessert items--from luscious chocolate cake to light, fluffy pancakes and biscuits, or even gingerbread squares, because each recipe calls for just a few extra ingredients without extra time-consuming steps, the specialist says.

3/4 cup double-acting baking powder
3 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar
2 lbs. vegetable shortening (approx. 4 1/2 cups)

South Plains EMS Receives Grant

Emergency Medical Services (EMS) in fifteen South Plains counties have been awarded a federal grant for $220,000 to help improve emergency medical care throughout this region during the next 12 months.

Giles C. McCrary, Mayor of Post and Chairman of the South Plains EMS Committee, says the grant will help counties and towns develop a system of emergency care that can respond to medical emergencies anywhere in this 15-county area.

South Plains EMS, a private, non-profit association that will administer the grant, is composed of consumers, elected officials and providers of health services.

"Competition for this funding was intense," Mayor McCrary said, "because only about 20 such grants were to be awarded nationwide. Fortunately, we had regionwide support that was effectively demonstrated in Washington by South Plains EMS representatives and Congressmen Kent Hance, (D) Lubbock, and Charles A. Stenholm, (D) Stamford.

"This grant will help us buy communications equipment and provide training for ambulance personnel," he said. "We'll be able to support the coordination and planning that will help the accomplishments of individual communities combine into a regionwide EMS system. All this will assure the best in emergency medical care for every person in our 15-county area."

Mayor McCrary emphasized that these improvements won't take place overnight. He said this first year of funding will make such improvements possible in the near future, especially if federal funding continues.

Funds from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are available for development of EMS systems because of the EMS Systems Act of 1973. The Act provides grants for up to four years of system development. The grant is channeled through the Texas Department of Health, which helps coordinate several other EMS grants statewide.

Counties that will benefit from the grant are Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum.

Swimming Rules Set

Swimming, one of the most popular of summer sports, can be a healthful, stimulating part of the summer vacation. On the other hand, swimming can be one of the most dangerous of outdoor pastimes.

The American Medical Association reminds that healthful swimming begins with clean, sanitary water. Water is an easy and quick means of transmission for many disease organisms, and inevitably swimmers will swallow some water. Swim only in approved areas where the water is clean and free from pollution.

Swimming can be dangerous. Deaths from drowning can occur at any age. Inability to swim, inexperience, carelessness, poor judgment or lack of supervision are causes of most water accidents. Infants and toddlers need constant supervision by adults who themselves practice good water safety rules.

Swimmers must know their limitations. The depth of the water should be checked and hidden rocks and stumps located before diving. Swimmers should always have someone else along, and preferably swim where a lifeguard is near. Remember that salt water and surf can be more tiring than swimming in a quiet pool or lake.

The swimmer in trouble often can survive if he or she stays calm. Assume a face-up floating position, keeping hands under the water, and move hands and feet slowly. It is possible to stay afloat for hours with relatively little effort. But thrashing the water in panic will exhaust the endangered swimmer quickly.

Each member of the family should be coached in the fundamentals of swimming safety, and especially mouth-to-mouth resuscitation procedures.

An implantable insulin pump may soon be available to help diabetics control their blood-sugar levels. About the size of a large pocketwatch, the implantable device uses an external, battery-powered pump that releases a pre-programmed dose of insulin which keeps blood sugar levels lower and more steady than injections. A four month supply of the hormone which allows the body to use sugar and other carbohydrates is contained in the pump. The pump also allows the patient to increase the dose during stress or when need for the drug increases. The most likely sites for the implant are the thigh or just below the collarbone. If further tests prove the worth of the new device, the insulin pump could be on the market as early as four years.

Monday, July 9th, the Explorers and 6 advisors gathered at the Tahoka City Swimming Pool for a party. Despite the threat of rain all went swimming (on their own or with help from other explorers). Activities included chicken fights, swimming races, and diving competition.

Those attending were: Ronnie and Pam Vaughan, Rudy and Betty Johnston, Carl Reynolds, Nita Perkins, Richard and Bill Cranford, Cal and Ralph Huffaker, Thomas Young, Lee Richard Holdon, Rajeania, Rance and Reggie House, Kim Bass, Sarah Marez, Todd Henry, Otis Pendleton, Gerald Craig, Melanie Terry, Jhoni Caswell, Andra Draper, Terry Botkin, and Lisa Perkins.

New Explorers Welcomed

Do you believe in ghosts? Well the Tahoka Explorers do after they visited an old deserted school house Saturday night, July 7th. The Explorers gathered at a ranch near Tahoka to have a one night camp out in honor of the new Explorers. After tents were set up and supper cooked, all Explorers sat around the fire telling ghost stories while they popped popcorn and roasted marshmallows. The ghost stories ended in a visit to the old deserted school house which the Explorers were told was "haunted". The school house had been previously rigged to give all Explorers a hair raising experience...one they will never forget. The following day they cooked breakfast and returned home to tell tales of the night before. Those attending were: Ronny and Pam Vaughan, Sandy Oliver, Cal and Ralph Huffaker, Melinda and Melanie Terry, Richard and Bill Cranford, Reggie and Rajeania House, Dustie Cook, Andra Draper, Jhoni Caswell, Denise Ehlers, Lisa Perkins, Kim Bass, Sarah Marez, Otis Pendleton, Terry Botkin, Todd Henry, Thomas Young, Lee Richard Holdon, Jim Cawman and Gerald Craig.

Caution Urged In Irrigating Cotton

LUBBOCK--South Plains cotton farmers should think twice before irrigating or fertilizing cotton planted in May and early June, a specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service cautions.

The advisability of irrigating at this time is questionable, Dr. James R. Supak, Extension area cotton agronomist, said. Application of nitrogen fertilizers could provide a little stimulus to plant growth, but rates used should be light, he added.

"Most farmers who are irrigating are doing so in hopes of stimulating more plant growth and faster fruiting," Supak said. "In reality, they may be doing just the opposite."

Irrigation at this time tends to cool the soil temperatures and discourages deep root development, he explained. Although irrigation water may initially promote some growth, it could ultimately delay fruiting.

Irrigation is not wrong in all cases, Supak noted.

"There are areas where rainfall was sparse and cotton is approaching the growth stages where it requires some water," he said. Also, some farmers are using their center pivot irrigation systems as a means of applying nitrogen.

But he urged cotton producers to look carefully at their situation and to weigh carefully the time and expense of irrigating against the possible effect it might have on crop yield.

Due to the late crop, there is some question about the profitability of applying fertilizers. At this time, nitrogen is the main fertilizer element farmers should be concerned with, the Extension specialist said.

Generally, the sandy soils will be most deficient in nitrogen because of the low organic content and leaching of this element by the spring rains. Nitrogen applications on these soils would tend to provide the greatest returns, Supak said.

For the mixed and hardlands, leaching was less severe and applications of nitrogen will tend to be less profitable, especially in June-planted cotton. Soil tests can be used to determine nitrogen levels in these soils.

If fertilizer is applied, the agronomist said, he would recommend no more than 20 to 40 units of nitrogen on May-planted or, in some cases, early June cotton. For best results, nitrogen should be applied prior to or during the early stages. He said.

Rebates Run Ahead Of Last Year

AUSTIN, Tex.--State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said rebates to Texas cities of the one-percent optional city sales tax during 1979 is running about 10 percent ahead of payments for the same period last year.

Bullock said Texas cities have received $241.5 million in rebates during the first seven months of this year compared to $216.3 million through July of 1978.

Bullock said the July allocations for the more than 900 Texas cities who share in the rebates will amount to $23.5 million.

City sales taxes are collected along with state sales taxes by merchants and other permit holders and are rebated monthly by the Comptroller's office.

O'Donnell has received $5,369.75 as opposed to $6,385.78 for the same period last year.

Tahoka has received $24,036.15 as opposed to $23,717.25 for the same period last year.

Mrs. Little To Head CF Campaign

Mrs. Maebell Little has accepted the Chairmanship of the Annual Fall Campaign on behalf of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. She will be recruiting volunteers within the Community to plan a "Breath of Life Campaign" to take place this Fall in Wilson. The purpose of this Fall Campaign will be to provide the Community with information about Cystic Fibrosis and to raise funds to support research, education and care programs for children affected by cystic fibrosis, and other lung-damaging diseases like severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children. Approximately one in every twenty Americans is a symptomless carrier of the recessive CF gene. Cystic Fibrosis is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene. At the present time, no cure for Cystic Fibrosis is known.

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE
Texan Works Overseas: Harry Arthur, spinning technologist with the Texas Tech Textile Research Center, Lubbock, and John Maguire, Cotton Council International Far Eastern director, are giving on-the-scene technical assistance to mill customers of U.S. cotton in the Philippines, Indonesia, Thailand, and Bangladesh. During the period of July 11-24, Arthur and Maguire will conduct textile seminars and visit mills to assist spinners and weavers make better cotton products to compete more strongly with man-made fiber products in their domestic markets. The visit is one of CCI's trade servicing activities to build good customer relations with foreign buyers and increase consumption of U.S. cotton abroad.

Cotton Sleepy Time: According to the Washington Post, the children of Environmental Defense Fund (EDF) spokesman Dr. Robert Harris sleep in pure cotton nightclothes made by his mother-in-law. EDF is the consumer group that led the fight to get Tris-treated children's sleepwear taken off the market. Tris, a chemical once used to treat man-made fabrics for flame retardance, was banned because of its cancer-causing properties.

Gas May Be Shifted From Rural Areas: The Energy Department has ruled gasoline supplies may be redirected within states or from state to state to solve the problem of severe shortages. The ruling may result in possible movement of gasoline supplies from rural areas to cities and urban areas. The National Cotton Council states cotton farmers should not be affected since the agriculture priority for gasoline remains in effect.

Exports Rise: Exports of 146,500 running bales during the week ended July 1 brought the season's total to 5,521,000, compared with 4,854,200 a year ago. The week's new sales of 15,200 bales pushed total commitments for the current marketing year to 6,864,500, compared with 6,496,800 a year ago. New sales of 177,800 running bales for 1979-80 delivery brought the total to 2,051,200 thus far. China was the principal buyer with 107,500 running bales, raising the total commitment for next year to 113,500.

World Production To Rise: The U.S. Department of Agriculture has estimated the 1979-80 world cotton crop at 62.7 to 64.9 million bales, up 3.0 to 5.2 million from the 1978-79 crop of 59.7 million. This season's production in the U.S. was estimated at 12.0 to 14.2 million bales, compared with 10.9 million produced in 1978. The total foreign crop for 1979-78 was placed at 50.7 million bales, up 1.9 million from 1978-79. The report indicated that Russia, People's Republic of China, Pakistan, and Brazil are expected to account for most of the estimated increase in the foreign crop.

And Cotton Yesterday: Apollo II astronauts donned all-cotton biological-isolation suits after their trip to the moon in 1969.

The Scientists Tell Me...

Drug-Resistant Disease Organisms Are a Growing Health Problem

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Disease organisms that show increasing resistance to many drugs are of growing concern to health officials, doctors, and veterinarians.

The widespread use of antibiotics for treating or preventing disease in both humans and animals has contributed to the buildup of drug-resistant strains of bacteria and viruses.

In addition, the low-level use of antibiotics in feeds to promote growth of livestock and poultry has been found to cause some bacteria to develop a resistance that persists long after the antibiotic pressure is discontinued.

A variety of antibiotics have been used in animal feeds during the past 25 years. And they have had a tremendous economic impact on the animal industries by enabling them to produce increasing amounts of high-quality protein on less feed.

But all the gains made in disease control and increased food production have been at the expense of having a growing number of disease-causing organisms resistant to a number of drugs. "Resistance that is transferred by R-plasmids (cell fragments) is of great concern because there is convincing evidence that multiple drug resistance can be transferred from resistant to susceptible bacteria," according to Dr. L. C. Grumbles, with the College of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

"Antibacterials, primarily antibiotics and sulfonamides, have been used at relatively low levels for 25 years in livestock and poultry feed," says Grumbles who has conducted extensive veterinary research for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"They have been used to increase the rate of growth and reduce both disease and the total feed required per pound of meat produced.

"It has been estimated that the use of antibiotics in livestock and poultry production has an annual value of $3,200 million. In the U.S. alone the value to the U.S. consumer was estimated at $2,100 million.

"If antibiotics could not be used in feed, it is further estimated that 103 million bushels of corn equivalent or an additional 2 million acres would be required to maintain beef and pork production, based on 1975 average yields."

So, it's easy to see that such use has resulted in larger supplies of meat at lower prices than would have been possible without antibiotics.

And, thus far, there have been very few incidents in which danger to human health has resulted from bacterial resistance in animals.

Following the ban in the United Kingdom on the use of antibiotics in feed, scientists

Cub Scouts Have Outing

Cub Scouts enjoy summer fun time activities. Cub Scouts from Dens 2 and 3, Pack 782 went to the Riding Stables at Buffalo Springs Lake June 28th. Everyone enjoyed horseback riding at the stables followed by a picnic at the lake campgrounds. The Scouts were accompanied by Joe and Cindy Bryan, Jimmy and Judy Woodard and Marlene Patterson, Den Leader.

On June 30th John Barrientez and Joe Bryan took the Cub Scouts to Post to participate in the Camp Post Fun Day. The Cubs enjoyed activities such as Indian Lore, Archery, Nature Trail, Swimming, Plaster Casting, Hiking and Obstacle Course.

and the ability to transfer resistance to other organisms are additional complications.

Grumbles stresses that he is not advocating discontinuing use of antibiotics where needed and effective. He is cautioning that in view of present knowledge added care should be exercised in their use.

One possibility is the development of parallel antibiotic usage—those used in animal feeds would not be used in treatment of disease.

Two such antibiotics are presently coming into use for swine and poultry feed.

the 11 drugs tested. Resistance was more frequent to penicillin (60%) followed by streptomycin (34.7%) and tetracycline (32.8%) in treated animals.

Two especially significant discoveries were 1) the high prevalence of resistance to penicillin, streptomycin, and tetracycline regardless of the host of origin, and 2) the low to negligible prevalence of resistance to the other antimicrobial agents among isolates from dogs and horses.

Other organisms of equal concern are E. coli, which are normal inhabitants of most animal intestines. It, under certain conditions, may attack its host with serious or fatal results. Resistance in this organism complicates treatment.

Its widespread presence and the ability to transfer resistance to other organisms are additional complications. Workers in a penicillin factory had 100 percent of nasal staphylococci carriers with resistant organisms while in the general public 88 percent of carriers had penicillin susceptible organisms.

In another study, the sensitivity pattern of Staph. aureus isolated from animals was checked. Of 621 samples about two-thirds were resistant to at least one of

DRIVELINE

It Only Hurts When We Laugh Department. Here are some statements filed by dazed motorists in actual car insurance claims:

"My car was legally parked as it backed into the other vehicle."
"The pedestrian had no idea which direction to go, so I ran over him."
"I collided with a stationary truck coming the other way."

"One of my friends refuses to wear his seatbelt because he says he's afraid of being trapped in the car if it catches fire after a wreck or goes off a bridge into some water." —R.A. — Rockport

That's one of the poorest excuses we've ever heard. Statistics show that motorists are five times more likely to be killed if they are thrown out of a car in an accident. As for fires and submersions, seatbelts can help keep you conscious and uninjured so you can escape. It takes only a split second to release the safety belt.

Barroom Bets Department. . . . How many miles do Texans drive every year? Five billion? Well, it's probably more than you think. The Department of Public Safety estimates there were over 102 billion vehicle miles traveled in Texas in 1978, more than any other state except California.

GAS SAVERS

Looking for ways to save gas and money? One of the simplest solutions is to drive your car a little less. Here are six ideas you can use to keep your foot off the gas and more money in your pocket.

1. can save at least $100 worth of gas every year.
2. Call ahead to be sure you aren't wasting gas on an unnecessary trip. On the average, a wasted trip costs you a dollar's worth of gas. Shop, bank and pay your bills by mail. A 15¢ stamp is a lot cheaper than a gallon of gas.
3. Take public transportation as often as you can. You'll save gas and help reduce air pollution, too.
4. Ride a bike or take a hike. You'll feel more fit, and you'll have more money to spend when you get where you're going—since you didn't waste it on gasoline.
5. Ride to work with a friend or neighbor just one day a week and you
