Personalized Checks Being Stolen Here

Police and banking officials here this week warned residents to take care about where they leave personalized checks. Bank officials said in recent weeks a number of thefts of personalized checks from vehicles, purses and other places have been reported to them.

"Please keep checkbooks, bank statements and cancelled checks in a safe place," said a representative of First National Bank. "It is especially important to safeguard your blank personalized checks which can be misused by someone with dishonest intentions."

Law enforcement agencies here apparently had a light week, as few incidents were reported at the Tahoka Police Dept. and Lynn County Sheriff's office.

Tahoka Police did investigate one auto accident late Tuesday afternoon at 4th and Ave. R, but no details were immediately available.

Bray Chevrolet reported Saturday that windshields on two vehicles had been broken out by vandals.

Fair Housing Law In Effect

The City of Tahoka announced last week that it has enacted and currently is enforcing a local Fair Housing Ordinance prohibiting discrimination in sale, rental, financing and brokerage of housing.

The ordinance provides specific procedures for taking and investigating complaints alleging housing discrimination. Anyone with any questions is asked to contact the city hall.

Multi-family, owner-occupied units of four units or less are exempt from coverage under the ordinance.

Bulldogs Bite Mustangs Gently, 14-13

The Tahoka Bulldogs boosted their season record to 5 wins against just 2 losses last Friday as they scored early and then hung on desperately in the last quarter to barely beat Denver City 14-13. The visitors elected to go for two points and a win after a last-minute touchdown, but couldn't make it.

Coach A.D. Shaver's crew dominated things in the first half, when Denver City's only first downs--four of them--came on penalties, and it really appeared that the Blue and White had things in control at that point. But DC came back strong in the second half and again aided by penalties, plus some good running and passing, scared the stuffing out of the Bulldog fans.

Tahoka drew 114 yards in penalties, a couple of which were pretty much judgmental in nature.

Scoring Pass

Tahoka drove 63 yards to score the first time the home team had the ball. Running by Fullback Clifford Oages and Quarterback Todd Brown moved it down to the DC 32. After that the drive stuttered, and Tahoka faced fourth and 7 at the Mustang 19. Brown went back, tossed a good pass to End Brad White, and the tall man caught it about the 6 or 7 and turned to fight his way into the end zone for the touchdown. Kevin Elmore kicked the point and it was 7-0 Tahoka with 5:06 left in the first period.

Early in the second quarter, Tackle Luchion Thompson fell on a Mustang fumble at the DC 38. On the next play, Oages broke through the left side to run 38 yards for a touchdown. Elmore kicked again--a point that eventually made the difference--and Tahoka led 14-0, at 9:31 left.

DC put on a drive that saw three straight first downs by penalties--one of them a 29-yard pass interference ruling--but Tackle Doug Barham stopped that one at the Tahoka 21 by recovering a fumble.

In the third period, the Mustangs scored as Tailback Bruce Speights spun out of a tackle and ran 30 yards. Kimy Roberts kicked and it was 14-7, with 9:10 left in the third.

Tahoka then cranked up a drive, featuring a 22-yard run by Brown, but it stopped when Brown's pass was intercepted by Mustang Kenny Joplin and returned to the DC 25.

Tracy White recovered a fumble for Tahoka after a punt by the Bulldogs late in the third quarter out to the Bulldog 33, and Tahoka started another drive which died in the fourth period on an incomplete pass at the DC 18. From there Denver City put on a drive which took about 8 minutes, twice making first downs on fourth down passes from Quarterback John Milligan to Speights and End Mark Ivie. With 1:05 left, Speights lurched into the end zone from the S. Coach Bill O'Neil decided to go for a victory, and Speights ran hard on the 2-point try, but was halted just short of the goal line by several Bulldogs, led by middle linebacker Jacky Jolly, and Tahoka had it won after Johnny McKibben fell on the onside kick which followed.

Oages gained 95 yards in 16 carries and Tracy White had 84 yards in 18 trips, including runs of 23 and 19 yards. Brown gained 55 yards in 11 efforts.

Jolly, Luchion Thompson and Brad White led the Tahoka defense, and linebackers Jerry Netherlin and Joe Galvan were strong on defense for the Mustangs. This week Tahoka plays host to Frenship, a team capable of playing excellent football, but which has fallen into bad times in the last two games. Last week Seminole beat Frenship 46-0, but a few weeks ago Frenship barely lost to unbeaten Slaton 8-6.

THE AUTOMOBILE, of course, still is a status symbol among people in our society, but this is especially true of teenagers. I've known for years how much importance youngsters put on their cars, but the importance of this had really not been brought to my attention recently until the other day. A teenage girl we know was asked to bring something a block away to a business on the side of Main Street, and she objected to having to walk because she didn't want to be seen walking across the drag.

The drag, as most of you know, is the sacred way of honking cars and pickups and squealing horns north and south on Main. And anyone seen walking certainly would lose face among his or her friends, possibly forever.

It's not just the drag, either. We suddenly realized that we never see teenagers walking anywhere, except from the car to the front door of whatever place they are going to. The girl explained it to us this way:

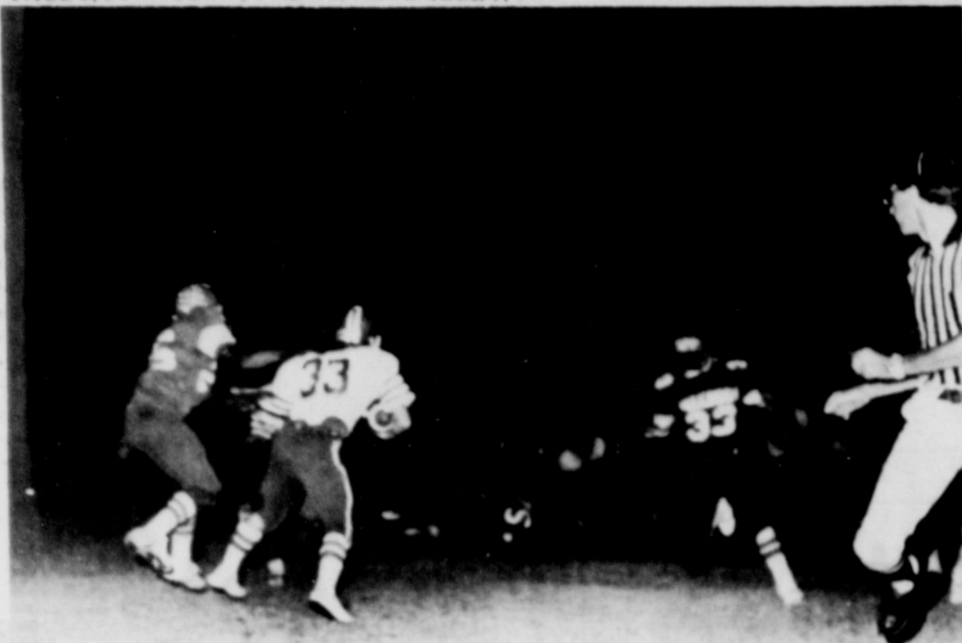

"Old people walk. They need to do it for their health. Young people drive."

That's why, when a teenager goes into Tahoka and then needs to go to the Fabric Place next door, they get in the car and move down a space, and if they have to drive around the block 11 times. It would be a terrible blow to their prestige to be seen walking those few feet.

I remember now that when our kids were in high school, they were just as status-conscious, probably the kids that age still are. I know that I couldn't take a kid to school in your old work clothes. It had to be the new one, or else you had to let it out a block away, so nobody would see them coming out of the old heap.

All of this shouldn't be interpreted as meaning that we older people like to walk, although some of us there are many of us who don't like walking at all. It's just very few whom it would bother to be seen walking on a street.

INFLATION has driven some folks to desperate measures. Just last week we read about a man in Lubbock or someplace who went to a restaurant and ordered a meal, apologized for not having the money to pay for it, and asked them to call police to take him in jail where he'd get fed and have a shower. And a man in Lubbock reportedly pulled a gun on a motel clerk and demanded a room for a night.

Rep. Jim Rudd Appointed To Jail Standards Commission

State Rep. Jim D. Rudd (D-Brownfield) has been appointed chairman of a subcommittee looking into operations of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, it was announced.

"Jim Rudd is the ideal man to direct this subcommittee's interim study of the Jail Standards Commission," said State Rep. Jimmie C. Edwards III, chairman of the House Committee on Security and Sanctions. Serving with Rudd on the subcommittee are State Reps. Bill Blanton (R-Farmer's Branch) and Matt Garcia (D-San Antonio).

Keep a card file of fabric bought as a quick inventory reference for color, fiber content, yardage, care and other information, suggests Becky Culp, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"During the Spring legislative session, there was some talk that the Commission was nitpicking local authorities and that perhaps its operations are duplicated by other agencies," Chairman Edwards said. "Rudd followed these matters closely and offered several constructive solutions."

For many families, inheritance brings not only intergenerational transmission of wealth but also misunderstanding and conflict, says a family life education specialist, Diane Welch, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The commission was established by the Texas Legislature four years ago to develop and enforce minimum standards for county jails.

Driving at 55 mph gives 20 percent more miles per gallon than driving at 70 mph--for most cars, reports Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

House Speaker Bill Clayton (D-Spring Lake) directed the Security and Sanctions Committee to "Determine the extent which the state should assist local jails in court cases involving jail standards." Also, the subcommittee will perform "oversight functions...for all appropriations-related actions."

"I'm looking forward to conducting this study as

Electricity Rates Lower In Winter

The base rate for electricity for most of Southwestern Public Service Company's customers in Texas went down one-half cent per kilowatt hour Oct. 1.

The reason is that SPS's winter rates went into effect at that time. During the summer months--June, July, August and September--the base rate for residential service is 2.75 cents per kilowatt hour for all KWH after the first 30. The rest of the year, or during the winter months, the base rate after 30 kilowatt hours is 2.25 cents per KWH.

Lamesa Man Relates Trip To Europe

Impressions gained on a recent trip to Europe were related in a talk at Tahoka Rotary Club last Thursday noon by Perry Roberts of Lamesa Savings & Loan Association.

He made the trip to England, France, Switzerland, and Russia along with a group of savings and loan officials from Texas.

Europeans in the free countries, he said, expressed concern in Washington leadership, our foreign policy, energy, inflation, etc.

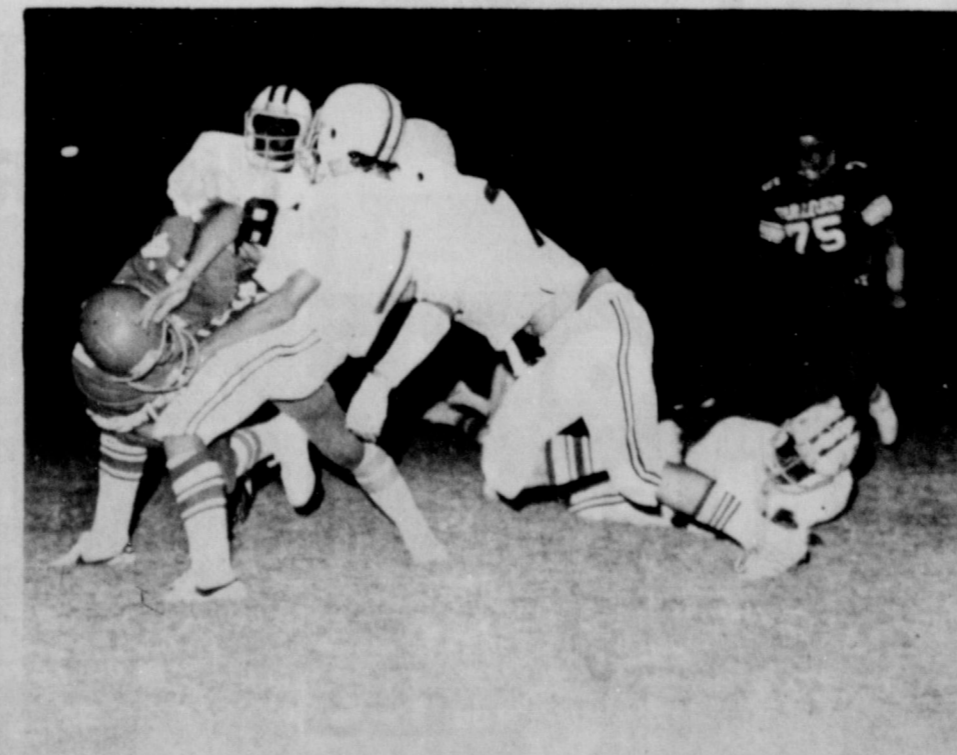

Europeans, he continued, look to the U.S. as a stabilizing factor in world economy and other fields. He found European countries have no government insurance on savings funds, and there is little regulation of financial institutions such as banks and savings and loan associations.

Most of his talk, however, was on his impressions of Russia, where "most of the people merely exist, regulations on their lives are controlled by the government, and the people have almost no idea of the free enterprise system or what life in the U.S. is like. There are no churches, and children are obviously regimented and indoctrinated with Communist theories."

Although the group was told they were free to go any place, he noted that their trip was pre-arranged. They were virtually herded to the places the Communists wanted them to go, and they were prevented as individuals or small groups from leaving the sight of guides.

Binie White was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

The Wilson High School Band is going to sell pecans from Las Cruces, N.M. The pecans will be sold in 1 lb. packages for $3.50. For special savings, you may purchase a case, which is 12-lb. packages, for $36. This will amount to $3 a lb. They will also have whole pecans for sale.

The high school girls' first scheduled game is against Sands, Tuesday, Nov. 6 at home.

Captains were recently elected for the varsity teams. Those chosen were Laurie Ross, Cindy Stone, and Debra Hagens. Laurie and Cindy are both seniors while Debra is a junior. The varsity girls are coached by Coach Danny Chisum and the JV by Coach Mike Carroll.

The junior high Mustangs kept their record perfect as they defeated Klondike 20-6 last Thursday afternoon. The hometown Cougars took their first possession of the game and marched down to score missing their after points. In the second quarter, Mustang Sammy Nava ran 45 yards to paydirt but the extra points failed taking the two teams in at half tied 6-6.

In the third quarter the Mustangs came alive. Nava scored twice, first on a 35 yard run and then ran the two extra points also. He later had a 40 yard touchdown run to end the scoring 20-6. Besides Nava, named as an outstanding player was Ricky Morales.

The Mustangs are now 6-0 for the season. They will face New Home junior high there Thursday afternoon at 5:30. No JV game is scheduled.

Saturday, Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. the senior class will present their senior play entitled "Just What You Always Wanted," a comedy in two acts.

Mustangs Fall To Hungry Cougars

The Wilson Mustangs took their first district loss last Friday night from a 24-8 decision going to the undefeated Klondike Cougars. The Cougars scored late in the first quarter with a 79-yard touchdown run and then in the second quarter with a 2-yard run to go in at half leading 12-0.

In the third quarter Klondike had an 18-0 advantage after a 13 yard touchdown pass completion. Their final score came in the fourth with a 43-yard run. All four of Klondike's extra point attempts failed.

The Mustangs only touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Randy Hall carried 16 yards for a touchdown ending a 64-yard drive. Jon Cox ran the two point conversion for the Mustangs.

The Mustang defense did an outstanding job - despite the indications from the score. The Mustangs held the Cougars to 36 yards on their first 20 plays from scrimmage except for the 79 yard touchdown run. Wilson had five consecutive turnovers inside their own 30 yard line yet Klondike only scored 12 points from them. The turnovers were Wilson's downfall. They lost 5 fumbles and had 3 passes intercepted.

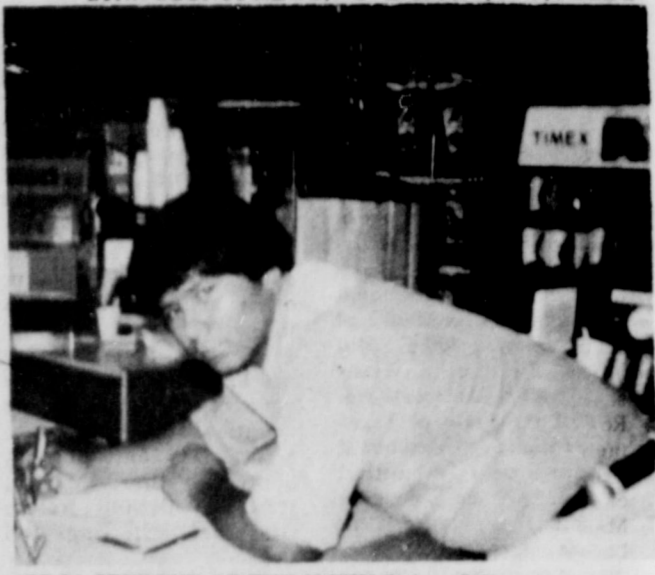

Statistics showed 11 first downs for Klondike, 228 yards rushing, and 84 yards passing. The Mustangs had 7 first downs, 142 yards rushing, and 12 yards passing. Individually Randy Hall was leading rusher for the Mustangs. Quintin Talkmitt led his teammates with 22 tackles and was named Defensive Player of the Week by the Lubbock Avalanche Journal.

The Mustangs are now 5-3 for the season and 2-1 in district play. They will face New Home at Wilson this Friday kicking off at 7:30 p.m.

Dear Dalton,
"Wow", our "Brusin' Blue" Bulldog defense rose to the challenge Friday night and stopped a highly inspired group of Mustangs from a 2 point conversion attempt that would have spelled defeat rather than victory. This goal line stand in the last minute of play was a sight to behold and, to say the least, was very nerve shattering.

Another big one this Friday--the Frenship Tigers are coming to town. The Tigers have taken it on the chin the last couple of weeks, but you can bet your grocery money that they will be ready for Tahoka. Our young men will never quit and the fan support should never quit also. I urge everyone to be in the stands Friday night and support the Bulldogs.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Farmers can cut fuel consumption considerably by operating equipment and storing fuel efficiently.

One of the easiest practices to adopt is "gearing up and throttling down" when operating a tractor. Studies have shown that reducing engine speed and lightening loads can reduce fuel consumption as much as 20 percent.

This practice doesn't apply to power take-off (PTO) operations. PTO work, such as using a hay baler, requires a constant speed and throttling down cuts back the PTO.

Proper maintenance of gasoline engines can also save fuel. Correct ignition timing, replacing worn-out spark plugs, servicing air cleaners and making necessary carburetor and governor adjustments can increase horsepower as much as 11 percent and reduce fuel consumption almost 14 percent.

Fuel storage is another area where farmers can become more efficient. Up to 10 gallons of fuel per month can be lost from an above-ground fuel tank due to evaporation. Painting the tank white can reduce the loss to only six gallons per month.

Placing the tank in the shade and installing a pressure vacuum relief valve can reduce evaporation even more. The most fuel-efficient storage system is the underground tank, which loses less than one gallon of fuel per month.

Transportation and cultural operations account jointly for almost 40 percent of the fuel used on the farm. Any relief in these areas will be a big help to the farmer in view of the present fuel situation.

USE HARVEST-AID CHEMICALS PROPERLY
Delaying cotton harvest after the crop is ready can result in lower grades, shorter staple and possibly a loss in yield. In early maturing fields, harvest-aid chemicals can be used to prepare a crop for timely harvest. But used improperly, these chemicals can lower profits by reducing lint quality and yield, the area cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service cautions.

The most common and costly error is applying harvest-aid chemicals before the cotton crop is mature. Dr. James R. Supak, the Extension agronomist, said, "Sometimes there is a mistaken notion that these chemicals somehow speed-up maturity of the crop. But just the opposite is true--all fiber development stops when plant growth stops or leaves are removed. Only time and warm, sunny weather will promote maturity of cotton. So harvest-aid chemicals should be used only on mature cotton. The chemicals are only what their name implies--a chemical to aid in the harvesting of a naturally matured crop." Supak said.

There are two types of harvest-aid chemicals--defoliant and desiccants. True defoliants are milk materials that act slowly and cause leaves to drop off. In contrast, desiccants kill the entire plant rapidly--so rapidly that most leaves "freeze" or stick on the stalk.

Before a defoliant is applied, 65 percent or more of the bolls should be open, Supak said. And before applying a desiccant, 80 percent or more of the bolls should be open. At those stages, the remaining unopened bolls are mature enough to open later. But if chemicals are sprayed too soon, smaller or immature bolls may never open and yields drop off sharply.

"This year, as in most years on the South Plains, we need all the time before frost to mature our crop. So as long as bolls are closed and are still producing fiber, increasing mike, and yield, the maturity process should not be stopped with harvest-aid chemicals," Supak said.

Materials such as sodium chlorate (Shed-a-leaf) and organic phosphates (Def, Folex) are defoliants, the agronomist said. These chemicals are normally used to prepare cotton for picker harvesting; generally, the defoliants do not provide adequate defoliation and plant drying for stripper harvest, he noted.

Desiccants, on the other hand, kill plant tissue and cause rapid loss of moisture from foliage, stems, and unopened (mature) bolls. Desiccated plants can usually be stripper harvested within five to ten days after treatment.

Proper application is essential for good results regardless of the chemical used, Supak said. Coverage is highly important. On cotton less than two feet tall, use three cone-type nozzles per row, he advised. Use five nozzles per row if cotton is taller than two feet.

"Before application check the weather reports. If a cold front is moving in, hold off application until the weather settles or some prolonged warm period can follow application. Poor results usually occur if harvest-aid chemicals are applied during or just ahead of a cool, wet spell."

Normally, desiccated plants will be ready for stripping eight to 10 days after chemical application. Before starting the stripper, check the crop, Supak urged. Leaves and stems should break and crumble easily.

"Remember, high lint grades and seed quality come from cotton that is harvested when it is dry. Cotton should be harvested at approximately eight percent moisture."

Every producer is well aware of the high costs in producing a crop from start to finish, the agronomist said. "So when we get a crop to this point, let's don't cut our profits short by starting too early with an application of harvest-aid chemicals or apply these chemicals when they are not necessary."

Supak said a good rule of thumb is: If the crop is not ready for a freeze, it is not ready for harvest-aid chemicals. "After all, Mother Nature's method of killing cotton is still the cheapest method."

Further information can be obtained by visiting your county Extension agent and requesting L-145 cotton defoliation guide, the agronomist said.

George Given Water Import Assignment

State Senator E.L. Short announced today that his administrative assistant, Jesse T. George, Lubbock, will soon assume fulltime duties in Austin as Executive Director of the Senate Subcommittee on Water. Senator Short, Chairman of the Water Subcommittee, said that the committee has begun to initiate the work which lies ahead in the next legislative session and to implement and coordinate efforts to import water to West Texas. Short, sponsor of the Water Importation Authority Act passed during the recent legislative session and affecting forty-six West Texas counties, stated that "Jesse George worked very closely with me on water and agriculture-related legislation, and I know he will be a conscientious director of the committee."

George stated, "I can think of no greater challenge than being a part of the monumental task of bringing water to an area that could well become water-starved without it."

George will participate in a State Democratic Party Agricultural Issues Conference in Lubbock on Nov. 3, as a member of the conference's water committee.

Pork producers are eyeing Asia as a vast potential market for exports. Pork is widely consumed and may be the primary choice in countries like China, Korea, Taiwan, Singapore, the Philippines, Indonesia and Malaysia.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Court Decides Cotton Dust Suits: The District of Columbia Court of Appeals has sustained the general industry cotton dust standard for all sectors except cottonseed oil mills.

Commenting on the decision to remand the cottonseed oil section to OSHA is encouraging. But the court's approval of the balance of the standard is a bitter disappointment. The unfortunate thing is that the interest of workers, consumers, and the industry alike could have been better served by issuance of a less costly but equally effective standard. It's just another case, Mr. Leggett added, "where the country's already critical inflation problem is aggravated by regulatory irresponsibility."

The D.C. Court's decision does not directly affect cotton gins. The dust standard for gins remains under review in the New Orleans Fifth Circuit.

Two of agriculture's ageless enemies, pestilence and disease, are estimated to cut the world's food supply by up to 40 percent.

In 1967, half the food produced in India was lost to rats, rot, birds and insects. Three years later 50 percent losses in developing countries were not unusual. It's estimated modern pest control could save enough food for 40 million people.

Cotton Exports Soar: Sales of 385,300 running bales during the week ended October 14 propelled the current season's total commitments to $5,367,900, second highest on record. China purchased 212,600 running bales to bring the total commitment for the year to 915,600. Other principal cotton buyers were Hong Kong, 34,000; Japan, 33,300; and Indonesia, 28,700. The week's exports totaled 96,100 bales.

Group Recommends Bale

The use of scouts to build up insects in cotton fields was initiated by Arkansas farmer in 1926.

Label Rules: The subcommittee of the National Cotton Council's Cotton Flow-Management Committee has developed recommendations to standardize data processing codes for bale documents recommended that: (1) cards, warehouse tags, sample coupons be bar coded by the 1982-83 crop year; (2) a standard format deypunching information warehouse receipts be implemented by the 1981 year by firms using equipment. The recommendations will be considered by the full committee of the NCC at its 1980 meeting.
