Four Tahoka High School students were arrested and questioned after three tractors belonging to Mrs. Othell Wilson west of Tahoka were damaged Sunday night.

According to the sheriff's department the four teenagers started up two of the tractors and were driving on a dirt road near the airport, in fields and on U.S. 380, causing damage to some of the tractor mechanisms. Two Tahoka men saw the boys on the tractor and stopped them.

freeze and two cases of oil. On Tuesday Gary Houchin of Wilson reported that a tool box and tools had been stolen 6 miles north of Wilson. A day earlier, Bertha reported theft of a birthstone ring from her home in west Tahoka while she was away.

Tahoka Police Dept. last Thursday investigated a wreck in the 1600-block Ave. J, where a 1974 Chevrolet pickup driven by Reid Parker, 2000 N. 5th, and a 1977 Pontiac driven by Florence Reid Stone, Rt. 5, Tahoka, were involved in a collision.

LYNN COUNTY HOSPITAL: PART I

Hospital Can Meet Most Needs

[This is the first of a two-part series on Lynn County Hospital, what it offers to the county in medical service, the economic impact, qualifications of the staff, some of the problems facing the institution and how citizens of the county can help].

By DALTON WOOD

About nine out of ten of the physical ailments of Lynn County residents can be adequately treated at Lynn County Hospital, but many of the county's citizens still fail to take advantage of the modern services and facilities available.

A lot of people do use the hospital, however, with 959 patients hospitalized during the last fiscal year ending in September, and with 1,377 persons getting emergency treatment. The patients hospitalized in the 24-bed facility stayed an average of four days (those under age 65), with those 65 and over averaging a six-day stay.

Tax-Supported

Residents of the county pay either $1.45 or $1.50 per $100 valuation on a 38-percent assessment ratio, depending on the precinct they live in.

Cemetery Meet Set

The Cemetery Commission will meet Jan. 29 at 8 a.m. at the City Hall. The agenda will include mailing list, weed control, fertilizing, and gopher control. The public is invited to attend.

Snowfall Welcome

Snow, mist and freezing rain brought a total of .36 inch of water registered in the National Weather Service gauge here from Friday through Tuesday. The snow was estimated at three inches, but heavier in some parts of Lynn County.

Coupled with the 1.66 inches of rain received in mid-December, this latest precipitation has put the soil in good condition for plowing and improves the outlook for spring planting, farmers say. Average precipitation here for December and January is about 1.2 inches total.

At least, no one was complaining that ginning of the remaining cotton on gin yards and in field modules was delaying the packaging of the 1979 cotton crop another week or two.

and 50 cents of this goes to the hospital. These taxes raised $270,000 last year, according to hospital authorities, which was only a small portion of the hospital's total budget of $1,130,056. The rest of the money was supposed to come from patient revenue, but with an occupancy rate of just 56 per cent and with collection percentages down from the previous year, the hospital lost about $82,000 in the last fiscal year.

This picture, although not good, is not a lot different from most other hospitals around the country, and the hospital board, administrator and other supporters believe they now have all the services, equipment and qualified physicians and staff to cause a higher percentage of persons with medical needs to utilize the hospital in Tahoka. This, of course, could put the facility on a paying basis.

"I believe we are equipped to care for 85 to 90 per cent of all ailments, and our medical staff is qualified to treat about this percentage," said Administrator Gerald Moore, who has been in charge of the facility since 1974.

Belongs To People

Why should everyone in the county use the Lynn County Hospital? The board and administrator answer this by saying "because it's here, it is adequate to meet the needs, and because it belongs to the people in the county since they help pay its support." Also, it is pointed out that using the county hospital can save patients money in almost every instance, and still provide just as good treatment as they could get elsewhere. Said Hospital Board President Larry Hagood:

"I don't think we can overemphasize the economic importance of the hospital to the county. It's not just the approximately 60 persons employed at the hospital and all the ramifications of what they earn, but also one must consider other savings to those who use the facility. A major item, for example, would be the cost of gasoline to those who would have to drive outside the county for treatment, and the fuel costs to those friends and relatives who visit the patients."

Moore said the annual payroll during the last year, with the equivalent of 53 full time employees, totaled $513,795, and he also had a comment about the importance of the hospital to the area.

"It would be difficult to measure, but you have to consider that, without a hospital, there would be no doctors here, the pharmacies would suffer, and there would be other effects... we've heard everything from 3 to 7 times the amount of dollars paid in salaries are recirculated in a community."

Built In 1970

Lynn County Hospital was built in 1970, following a

County's Bale Total More Than 230,000

The number of bales ginned in Lynn County this season should just about double the total ginned last year, it was indicated this week as a survey of gins in the county showed at least 230,000 bales, with possibly another 10,000 bales either not reported or not estimated.

In the 1978 crop year, the total number of bales counted when the season ended early in 1979 was 112,679 by the Lynn County News survey of gins, and 119,183 was the final total recorded at the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service office in Tahoka.

The newspaper this week contacted 23 gins which process virtually all of the county's cotton and arrived at the 230,000-bale total. Some estimated the number of bales still to be ginned and these are included in the totals, but one gin's representative said no estimate of the remaining bales could be made, and no totals at all were available from one gin.

Four gins in Tahoka recorded 41,392 bales, with some more to be processed. By contrast, four gins in and near O'Donnell listed a total of 74,846 bales ginned, indicative of the good quantity of cotton harvested in the south part of the county.

Three of the four Wilson gins listed a total of 23,398 bales, with one gin not reporting. Gins in the New Home community listed 34,730 bales. The rest of the county's gins, in the West Point, Grassland, New Lynn, New Moore and other communities made up the rest of the county total.

Since some of the gins just inside or outside the county process from more than one county, the News' totals are not as accurate as those of the ASCS, compiled about April each year from each farmer in the county. The ASCS total number of bales recorded for 1977 was 214,066.

Quantity-wise, the 1979 season winding up now in 1980 appears to be very good, especially compared to the previous year, but the quality and price of cotton has not been outstanding.

Museum Plans New Projects During 1980

Several new projects were discussed at a meeting of Tahoka Pioneer Museum board last week, some of which may be announced later.

Plans are underway for a special program during the annual Lynn County Pioneer Reunion in June. Mrs. Pete (Madeline) Hegi is in charge. Consideration is also being given to establishing a Life Membership for persons contributing $100 or more. The Museum is operated strictly on donations from interested people.

Attorney Harold Green reported the Internal Revenue Service has approved the Museum as a non-profit organization, and gifts to it are tax deductible. Mrs. Oscar (Bernice) Roberts is in charge of memberships.

The Museum is now open for convenience of visitors on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 5 p.m., with different civic organizations of the town furnishing people to serve as hosts. This month, January, Tahoka Lions Club is the Sunday host organization. Mrs. Kenneth Turner is in charge of this phase.

One project already underway is the securing of names of all families who settled in Lynn County prior to 1920, more especially those who came in 1910 and before. A card file on these families is being made.

Also, the Museum desires the biographies of all families who were early day settlers, and a file is being compiled on these. Recent such family histories have been received from the Singleton, Floyd, and Slover families. Frank Hill has many more such family histories in his files. Lynn County people are asked to submit such family histories to the Museum.

Dr. K.R. Durham is the Museum board president.

GENERAL PEOPLE we know have eaten at a place called "The Road House" in Lubbock, and we've told us that it is a good place to eat if you like to eat in Lubbock. We went out there one night, but we probably will never know if it's a good place to eat or not.

This place is located about three miles out into the boonies somewhere on the north side of Lubbock. It is in the former location of the La Onda del Sol (which means "we like the sun," or something--I went by there once because I thought was a nudist colony).

The Road House is spending a bunch of money in television advertising, and the only thing I really have noticed about their TV ads is a juke box playing "Take the A Train" as background music. That made me wonder if they played that kind of music out at the place, and if so, were there enough oldies like me around to enjoy the meal with that kind of music.

Some of the younger people I know probably would react to the swing era music the same way I would if I had to eat to the tunes of their favorites--by barfing all over the place.

Well, the reason we don't know if the Road House serves good food is that we couldn't get into the place, except for just a few feet inside. When we finally found it and parked a quarter of a mile from the front door and walked in, we learned that our estimated waiting time to be seated would be 45 minutes. This was on Friday night, and since we would have to wait awhile to get served, we thought we'd best go elsewhere.

Most of the elsewhere also were crowded, but we finally did get to eat. (And what the heck--if you're hungry enough, Fay's Grill just south of the Ropesville Duroc Farm isn't half bad.)

I do have a suggestion for those planning to eat at the Road House: fix a big picnic lunch and eat it on the way to Lubbock about 4:30 p.m. By the time you find the Road House and get to eat, you'll be hungry again.

KNOTHOLES: We have a new microwave oven at our house and I made some cookies the other night after the chief cookiemaker had gone to bed. They didn't turn out so good. Even the dogs wouldn't eat them...I really didn't need any cookies, anyway. Harold Roberts over at Southwestern Public Service gave me several potholders this week, but even after I pinned them all together, they still wouldn't go around me... The Tycoon on 380 says a tax accountant is a person who solves a problem you didn't know you had in a way you don't understand.

DOUBLY BLESSED--Rev. and Mrs. Tom Moore of Grassland Nazarene Church are parents of twin boys born Dec. 30 at Lynn County Hospital. Here Mrs. Moore holds Jeremy, who weighed 4 pounds 2 1/2 ounces when born and was up to 5-1 when the twins went home Tuesday. Rev. Moore holds Jeffrey, who was born at 4-5 and was up to 5-3. The babies were delivered by Dr. Lawrence Jones. The Moores have two other boys. Ninety-three babies were delivered at Lynn County Hospital in 1979. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

ELECTRICITY FROM COAL...

It's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Almost all of us depend on electricity in our homes, factories, and offices to provide for more jobs... greater productivity... and a higher standard of living. Yes, electricity plays a big roll in the scientific and technological developments that make these things possible.

The constant striving for these innovative and advanced ideas and achievements of tomorrow means we will need more electricity. That's why Southwestern Public Service is continuing the building program of new electric generating plants that use coal as fuel. Because it's good to know there's something we can depend on.

A party was held at the home of Virginia Loucill and Marion Inklebarger. Some of those attending were Hubert Edwards, Erlene Norman, Rose Simmons, R.M. Thomas, Gene Lawson, Starlon Yeary, Irene Dempsey, Huston Hoover, Lura Edwards, Ray Norman, Ollie Dean Jones, Jess Gregg, Pauline Thompson, Dove Burk, Stella Yeary, Erlene Bosworth, Douglas Jones, Roy LeMond and Mildred Edwards Games and Music was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. V.E. Cook went to the Lubbock fair and Smith Lawson, Stella Yeary, Ruby Odom, Starlon Yeary went with them. That was their first time to ride a farris wheel. Miss Silvy Cunningham gave her friends a dinner and party on her birthday Sunday, Forrest Chapman, R.R. Thomas, Stella Mae Yeary, Erlene Norman went to Tahoka to a talkie.

A candy breaking was given by Miss Georgie Mae Langsford.

We had a nice rain in this part last week which was gladly received though it was too late to do the parched crops much good.

B.J. Emanuel, Jr. has gone back to school in Oklahoma. Mr. Earl Odom who underwent an operation at Lubbock a few days ago, has returned home and is reported to be doing fine.

There has been some cotton picking started in this part and oh how it makes our backs hurt to even look down the row! Our cotton failed to do any good this year as it was shaded with a bloom which spread over the top of the stalk. I don't believe we can use any of those five thousand pickers which was reported we would need on the South Plains to harvest the average crop of the country. Yes, we failed to make a crop as the rains failed to come, but still we believe we are in the best part of Texas. Let us try to adjust ourselves to the present conditions and it will be a great help to us when the tide changes.

Short Sees Gasohol As Fuel For Farm, Ranch Use

State Sen. E.L. Short of the 28th senatorial district wants "gasohol" production for farmers and ranchers in the High Plains area.

The Special Senate Committee on Gasohol, of which Short is a member, will hear testimony on subjects such as how to get permits to produce fuel alcohol and what specific plans are now being made to construct alcohol plants in Texas.

The committee will meet in Lubbock Tuesday, Feb. 5 at the Koko Inn at 9:30 a.m.

"During the last legislative session we amended the law relating to the production of alcohol for fuel in this state," said Sen. Short.

"We did that to try and remove obstacles from the process. Now the whole country, and this area in particular, are hurting for fuel and we need to get information out to the people. We really need to get this process going," said Short.

"We are also trying, in this committee, to unravel the nest of bureaucratic regulations which are found in this area," said Sen. Short. "We want this committee to hear testimony on how existing laws in Texas relate to the production of alcohol. But also what an individual farmer or rancher or small businessman needs to know to get into it."

A previous meeting of the committee held in South Texas, Jan. 10, brought out testimony from several state agencies, the attorney general's office and persons who are now working to get fuel alcohol plants on stream in several areas of the state.

"As a company we have been working on our Gasohol project at Dimmitt for almost a year," said Douglas Lapins, general manager of the Amstar Corporation, who testified at the hearing.

"We estimate a construction time of 18 to 24 months and a plant cost in the range of $11 million for an annual production of ten million gallons...Many of the unknowns are behind us now and I believe that the gasohol program and our plant will move ahead," said Lapins.

Sen. Short said he was informed by W.S. McBeath, administrator of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission which issues permits for the production of alcohol, that more than twenty permits have been issued since the new legislation was passed and that "no one has been turned down (for fuel alcohol) so far."

"But I'm still getting a lot of questions from people," said Short.

"I hope this hearing will give our people some specific answers on where to get the permits, some procedures they can follow, all those kinds of things that are particularly frustrating to a man who is sitting out there on a tractor trying to make plans for the next crop," said Sen. Short.

Senator Short is chairman of the special Senate Subcommittee on Diesel Fuel Shortages and Agriculture. The previous meeting of the gasohol committee in January, he said, also helped point out that many people don't know that "gasohol" is a common term given to a mixture of ninety percent gasoline and ten percent fuel alcohol at the service station pump.

"The state of the art in this industry is evolving quickly," said Short. "People who are unfamiliar with it might not understand that we will be able to use many agricultural waste products as fuel to make the alcohol, while deriving cattle feed supplements as a by-product."

Other members of the committee include Senator Raul Longoria of Edinburg, chairman; Sen. John Traeger of Seguin, Sen. Bob Price of Pampa and Sen. Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio.

The hearing will be open to the public and interested citizens are invited to attend, said Short.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has announced the appointment of four new members to his Washington staff.

"Two of the positions are filling vacancies created on my staff," Stenholm said, "while two additional people have been added due to the increased workload we have experienced during the past year. We have continually been trying to increase our services to constituents and are pleased to be able to offer a broader range of services to the 17th District.

Included are Brent Bolding, Lisa Brachman, Paige Parker and Debbie Schwertner.

Bolding is a December graduate of the University of Texas with a B.S. in advertising. The son of Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Bolding of Stamford, he will serve as staff assistant for Small Business. Stenholm was recently named to the Small Business Committee and said Bolding will work primarily with the small Business Administration. In addition, Bolding will assist local governments and non-profit agencies with applications for federal grants and loans. He will also be assisting with casework in energy-related areas.

Brachman, a native of Dallas, is a staff assistant, handling legislative research, correspondence and special projects. She graduated from Yale University in 1979, receiving her B.A. in Diplomatic History. Prior to joining the Stenholm staff, she served as an intern with Senator John A. Durkin of New Hampshire, covering the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Also working in the legislative research area and on energy problems, Parker is currently attending George Washington University. He studied government history and economics at the University of Texas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker of Abilene and is a graduate of Cooper High School.

Schwertner will handle all types of casework, with specialties in veteran's affairs, military and academies. She is a native of Schwertner in Central Texas and worked with the State Soil Conservation Service office in Temple prior to joining former Congressman Bob Poage's Washington staff as a caseworker in 1976. Upon Poage's retirement, she became a general caseworker for his successor, Congressman Marvin Leath, before coming to work for Stenholm.

"I am pleased to have these new staff members," Stenholm said. "The variety and depth of their experience will undoubtedly prove beneficial as we try to fully meet the needs of the people of the 17th District."

4-H for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 helps youth work toward individual and group goals through a community-based club directed by trained volunteers. But where there are no community 4-H clubs, 4-H enrichment programs have been developed for use in schools.

These programs have met with great acceptance by teachers, pupils, parents and administrators. Programs such as embroidery are now available to youngsters through the "4-H - From Egg to Chick" program. Recent reports from Sacred Heart Catholic School in Uvalde reflect the general praise of this educational experience which helps elementary age pupils understand the miracle of life.

The "4-H Minigardens" program has helped thousands of Texas youngsters study plant growth and environmental relationships.

Such low- or no-cost projects provide teachers with training and teaching resources which enable them to enrich their standard classroom curriculum with interesting and informative approaches.

The value of these programs in terms of educational impact is apparent in the level of knowledge transfer. However, the impact of applied knowledge is also immeasurable. Consider the "4-H Fire Prevention and Safety" project which reached almost 800 Texas City School children last March. One participant, whose clothing caught fire in an incident in her home shortly after she took part in the program, used what she had learned to save herself.

The 4-H school enrichment program has provided worthwhile experiences. More information is available from the county Extension office.

Telcot Set New Record

With nearly half of its marketing year remaining, the electronic selling service called Telcot is continuing to set new trading records and on Jan. 14 passed the one-million-bale mark.

A new single day's record was achieved on the same date when 43,764 bales traded. The previous record for one day's trading was set on Jan. 10 of this year with 41,423 bales. Prior to that, the record was 40,300 bales set on Dec. 3, 1979.

Developed by Plains Cotton Cooperative Association in 1975, Telcot provides marketing and information services to producers in Texas and Oklahoma, most of whose local cotton gins have electronic video display terminals in their offices. Cotton is offered through PCCA's Lubbock-based computer to over 50 cotton buyers whose offices are located throughout the buying centers and are also equipped with Telcot terminals.

Bert Kyle, sales manager of PCCA, commented the Telcot staff is highly pleased with the performance of the electronic service. "It has been under intensive trading for the past six weeks and has performed well."

Telcot handled over 235,000 bales in the first two weeks of the new year, following an intensive trading period of 447,000 bales handled in December.

"Quality Service At A Fair Price"

The Board of Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. January 16 began preparations for what some think is the inevitable day when the U.S. Department of Agriculture seeks to institute a cotton reserve program.

But after almost two hours of discussion the Board declined to take a firm stand pro or con. Instead, following the advice of an ad hoc study committee chaired by Vice President Gary Ivey of Ralls, the group approved a motion to "take no firm position at this time, retain and enlarge the study committee, and be ready to act when more details of Administration thinking on a reserve program become known."

Although it is uncertain what an Administration cotton reserve proposal would involve, PCG's deliberations were based on the assumption that such a program would be structured along the same lines as the current feed and food grain reserve.

Eligible producers of those commodities who put grain into the reserve at Commodity Credit Corporation loan prices sign an agreement not to take it out until the market price reaches a specified level above the CCC loan. That level is called the "release price."

There is also a stated "call price", higher than the release price, at which level producers are required to take grain out of the reserve or forfeit ownership. CCC agrees to pay all or part of interest and storage charges.

The release price on corn and grain sorghum is now set at 125 percent of the loan and the call price is 140 percent of the loan. The respective release and call prices for wheat are 150 percent and 185 percent of the loan.

"The release and call prices that would apply in a cotton reserve program are only two of the many things we will need to know before we can realistically assess the impact on High Plains cotton producers," Ivey said.

Other prime considerations, according to Ivey, will include program interest rates, storage payments, the circumstances under which the initial terms of the program could be changed, whether price determination procedures would be equitable to High Plains cotton types, and whether there would be a set-aside requirement to guard against a multi-year buildup of stocks.

Favorable comment from Board members centered around the possibility that a properly administered reserve program could offer producers a less costly way to hold cotton for higher prices in times of oversupply.

On the other side of the question were those who fear that the existence of a reserve program would be used by the Administration as an excuse for not preventing surplus production, and that consumer interests and other political considerations ultimately would supersede producer interests in the making of program decisions.

family that practices theirs in the event of a serious or fatal accident. These suggestions are offered for making safety a family affair: Discuss safety with your family. Note articles on safety and ask family members to read them. If someone has an accident or a near-miss, discuss how and why it happened and what should be done to prevent a recurrence.

Teach youngsters the safe way of doing things from the beginning. Then they will more likely make safety a habit.

Assign chores to children that are within their ability to perform safely. Reserve running farm machinery for well-prepared, able teenagers.

Encourage family members to note and report hazards. Periodic "hazard hunts" can be fun, instructive and possibly prevent a serious accident or fire.

Prepare for emergencies. Develop and practice a home fire escape plan. Make sure everyone knows what to do and, if necessary, how to get help in case of sudden illness, injury and severe weather.

Build a library of safety information and have an up-to-date home medical guide with a good first-aid section.

Encourage family workers to attend showings and other educational programs to improve safety knowledge and job skills. Young people could take part in 4-H and FFA safety programs, and family drivers should enroll in a Defensive Driving Course.

Cotton Prices Set Season Highs

Prices paid growers for mixed lots of grades 42 and higher, staples 30 - 33, mikes 35 - 49 advanced $10 per bale during the week ended January 17, according to Paul R. Dickson, Area Director for USDA's High Plains Cotton Division. Mixed lots of grades 43 and 53, staples 30 and 31, mikes 35 - 49 moved up about $9 per bale.

Demand was good during the week and growers offered freely in active trading, Dickson said.

High Plains offices graded 147,000 samples during the week, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. This brought the season's total to 2,140,000.

Predominant grades for the week were grade 32 at 27 percent and grade 42 amounted to 41 percent. About three percent were white grades while 24 percent were spotted.

Predominant staples were staple 30 at 37 percent, staple 31 - 36 percent and staple 32 - 12 percent.

Micronaire 35 - 49 accounted for six percent, 33 - 34 was seven percent, 30 - 32 amounted to 31 percent, 27 - 29 was 44 percent while 26 and below accounted for 12 percent.

Average fiber breaking strength was 84,000 pounds per square inch.

Gins paid growers $95 to $120 per ton for cottonseed.

High Plains Water District Election

James Mitchell, Malvin Jarboe and Mack Hicks were elected to the Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 according to complete but unofficial returns from balloting conducted last Saturday. Also elected this year were 24 county committeemen.

Mitchell, the serving board president, was re-elected from director's Precinct One which includes Lubbock, Crosby and Lynn Counties. This will be Mitchell's third term on the board. He farms irrigated acres outside Wolf-orth.

Among the 24 committeemen elected were Lynn County representatives David Wied, Wendell Morrow and Leland Zant all of Wilson.

PCA Holds Annual Meeting

U.S. Congressman Kent will highlight Lubbock Production Credit Association's annual stockholders' meeting January 26 (Saturday) in Lubbock's Civic Center. Registration begins at 9 a.m., followed by the business session and catered meal.

According to Alton Strickland, the association's president, Hance represents the 19th District of Texas which includes Lubbock PCA's territory. Because he represents one of the nation's leading agricultural areas, Hance was named to the major House Committee on Agriculture soon after his election to office. Prior to joining Congress, Hance served four years in the Texas Senate.

Main business item is election of a director by stockholders. Nominees include T.A. Elmore, incumbent of Tokio, and Lewis Chambliss of Seagraves.

Other business items are the directors' report by Dewey E. Wells, Jr. board vice chairman of Ralls, the association's financial report by Strickland and election of 1981 Nominating Committee members conducted by Dallas Brewer, chairman of Plains. Board chairman Cleve Littlepage of Tahoka will preside.

More than 600 farmer-rancher members and guest from Cochran, Crosby, Gaines, Garza, Hockley, Lubbock, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum counties are expected to attend. Nell Oldham, accomplished organist, will render musical selections prior to the meeting.

Bullock Announces Tax Rebates

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday said Texas cities would receive $23.4 million in rebates from the one-percent city sales tax during January.

The city sales tax allocation is about $5.2 million more than cities received in January of 1979, Bullock said.

He said the increase is due more to changes in book-keeping systems and late sales tax returns from taxpayers than significant increases in sales in the state.

His office reported that a substantial number of taxpayers filed 1979 third quarter returns late and the rebates were included in this January's allocation instead of last December's figures.

The optional one-percent city sales tax is collected by merchants and businesses along with the state sales tax and is rebated monthly by the Comptroller's office to the cities where it is collected.

Tahoka's net payment this period and net payments to date is $1,322,677.

Dust Petitions Denied: The District of Columbia Court of Appeals has denied the cotton industry's petitions for a rehearing of the cotton dust suits. The National Cotton Council and other industry organizations have filed motions asking the same court to stay the mandate pending the review and final disposition of petitions for writs of certiorari (calling up records) which will be filed in the Supreme Court. Barring a stay by the appeals or the Supreme Court, the standard for the general cotton industry will become effective March 26.

FLCRA Problems Discussed: Cotton industry leaders, National Cotton Council staff members, and Assistant Labor Secretary Ellisburg last week discussed problems resulting from the agency's administration of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act. Ellisburg agreed to review the problem-causing areas and promised specific clarifications for the cotton industry. In addition, an informal liaison committee was established to assist in dealing with problems that may arise in the future. Last year, the Labor Department began citing farmers, ginners, and others for failing to register as labor contractors.

NCC Annual Meeting Set: Some 1,800 cotton industry leaders from across the Belt will arrive in New Orleans this week for the National Cotton Council's 42nd annual meeting. Committees will convene January 25 at the Hyatt Regency to hear a special report on cotton's economic outlook, and then will meet separately the following day to review Council programs and draft recommendations for 1980.

Exports Reported: Sales of upland cotton for the week ended January 6 totaled 44,500 running bales. This brought the season's total to 7,895,200. The major buyers were Taiwan, 22,100 bales; Hungary, 7,200; and the Philippines, 5,500. The week's exports of 188,100 running bales pushed the total for the current marketing year to 2,940,300, compared with 2,114,800 a year ago.

And Cotton Yesterday: Columbus found cotton growing in the Bahamas in 1492.

Of the nine million living armed forces veterans who served during the Vietnam Era, 32 percent had duty in the Vietnam theatre of operations.
