Kahlich, a Wilson resident, had 387 in Tahoka, 148 at Wilson, 99 at New Home, 111 at O'Donnell, for a total of 745. Doss was elected with a total of 591 votes, 204 of which he received in his home town of O'Donnell. He also had 286 in Tahoka, 53 at Wilson and 48 at New Home.

Federal Court Order Gives County New Precinct Lines

By DALTON WOOD

Federal Judge Halbert O. Woodward of the U.S. District Court in Lubbock last Friday ordered Lynn County commissioner precinct boundaries redrawn effective immediately and opened up a new five-day period for filing for commissioner which few people had any way of knowing about until the five-day period ended Wednesday afternoon.

In making the order to re-draw the districts, Judge Woodward was ruling in a suit filed against Lynn County by a group called the "Southwest Voter Registration and Education Project" and another Mexican-American group headquartered in San Antonio. The South Texas group had sued Lynn and several other counties in the state alleging that the way commissioner precincts were drawn up discriminated against Mexican-Americans and did not meet state requirements which say precincts must be equal in population within a county, with a 10 per cent variance allowed.

Draw New Lines

Lynn County commissioners and County Judge Melvin Burks, agreeing that the precincts were unevenly drawn according to population, proposed new boundary lines somewhat different from a set proposed by the plaintiffs in the federal suit, but the county-proposed boundaries were accepted by the groups who filed the suit and by the court.

Basically, the new boundaries mean that Precinct 3, including O'Donnell, the southwest portion of Lynn County, and now also including the southwest section of Tahoka, is primarily Mexican-American. All precincts also are now within the prescribed population limits, with Precinct 1 giving up 1,087 voters 730 to Precinct 2 and 367 to Precinct 4.

Precinct 2 gains a net of 343 residents, after giving up 387 to Precinct 3. The end result is that the new total population in each precinct is as follows: 2199 in 1, 2203 in 2, 2193 in 3 and 2205 in 4, for a total of 8,800 in the county.

Commission seats in Precinct 1 and 3 are up for election, and about 530 registered voters in Precinct 1 who may have been figuring on voting in a five-man race for commissioner now will not get to vote on any commission race this year.

Gains Some Precinct 3, on the other hand, where there is a two-man race for commissioner, will gain a couple of hundred registered voters from Precinct 2, where no commission race is scheduled this year.

In both Precinct 1 and 3, new candidates could have filed by Wednesday afternoon, but as of Tuesday morning, no additional candidates had filed. Judge Woodward's order stipulated a five-day filing period starting last Friday, disregarding the fact that the county had no newspaper published during that period to announce the reopening of a filing period.

Bart Anderson, commissioner of Precinct 3, is seeking re-election and is opposed by David Massey. In Precinct 1, the candidates for the expiring term of Ed Stone, who is not running, are Melvin Edwards, George Wright, Eldon Gattis, J.L. Hyde and Lawrence Harvick.

In an effort to keep all the candidates living in the precincts where they have filed for election, the commissioners drew some unusual boundary lines to border the new precincts, and these were accepted by the judge. Outside of Tahoka the boundaries are mostly the same as they were before, but in the city of Tahoka there were some major changes. The accompanying map gives some idea of the new boundary lines as they are now joined in the city. The boundary lines run down the center of the streets. For example, the residents on the north side of N. 8th now are in Precinct 4, and those living on the south side of N. 8th are still in Precinct 1, if they live west of U.S. 87.

Dividing Lines

Out in the county Precinct 4, the northwest section, and Precinct 1, the northeast part, are divided by a north-south line starting at the north edge of the county and going south down FM 2192, continuing south past FM 211 on a dirt road to a point where Earl Cummings lives southwest of Wilson. At that point the line goes east to FM 400, and then follows 400 south into Tahoka.

The dividing line running east and west designating the south boundaries of 4 and 1 and north boundaries of 3 and 2 is U.S. 380, except in the city of Tahoka as indicated by the map.

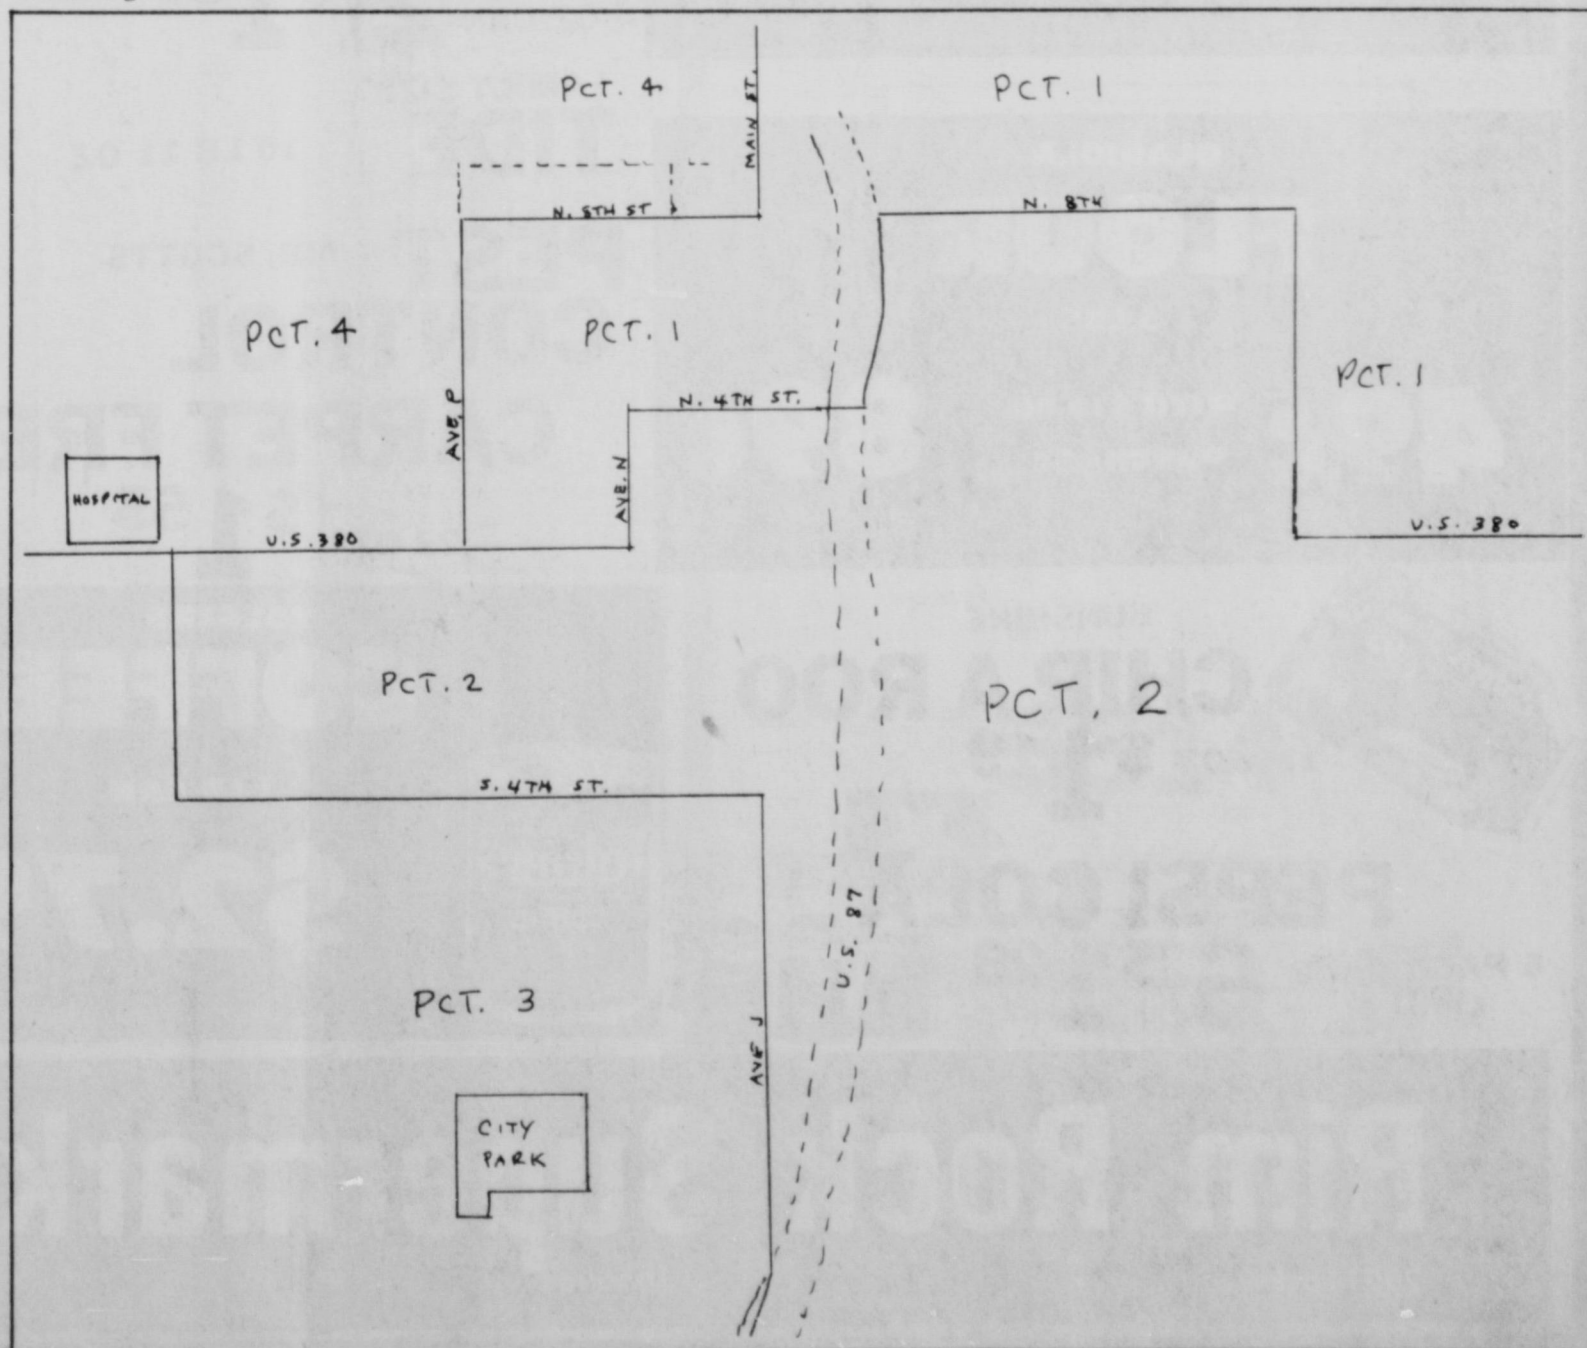

The north-south line separating Precincts 3 and 2 outside of Tahoka and on south to the Dawson line is unchanged.

Anyone understandably confused about which precinct he is in may see the full county map at the courthouse, either in the office of county clerk or county tax assessor.

Also, Judge Burks said, persons in Tahoka who have been put into a new precinct will vote where they always did before, but will be given the proper ballot for their new precinct when they vote on May 3 in the Democratic primary. He also said people in north Tahoka would vote at the school cafeteria instead of the old Poka-Lambro building.

PLAY THIS WEEKEND--These Little Dribbler All-Stars, the younger of two all-star groups here, will play this weekend in a tournament. They are coached by the three at back, Rance House, Jimmy Woodard and Dru Ann Meeks. The players, from left to right, standing, are Michael Isbell, Jody Woodard, Kenneth Gwinn, Thomas Glisson, Ricky Saldana and Rusty Lawson. Kneeling from left are Rusty Jennings, Chris Mims, Glen Hardin, Ricky Barrientez, Bruce Lehman and Jim Patterson. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS PHOTO)

Organization, but there are many other opportunities offered besides education and the immeasurable social aspect. It is hard to measure self-growth. Leadership growth and self-confidence are products of being a member of an E.H. Club.

Membership is open to all persons regardless of race, color, creed, sex, religion, or national origin. If you have any questions, call the Extension office at 998-4650.

5-AA Track, Net Events Scheduled

Tahoka High School's track team didn't fare too well at Dumas last weekend, but Coach Budd Todd expects his crew to do better this weekend in the district track meet at Denver City. THS tennis players, coached by Mike Williamson, also will go to DC Friday for district competition. Finals in both track and tennis are scheduled Saturday.

Three fourth place finishes were the best for the Bulldogs at Dumas, with Danny Thompson placing in the 440, Clifford Oages in long jump, and Tracy White in high jump. The relay teams, given the best shot at winning honors in district, had handoff problems. Preliminaries will begin at 10 a.m. Friday and finals at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Junior Randall Stotts, who came in second in district last year and qualified for the regional tennis meet, where he was defeated, is rated as one of the top singles players in district and will be trying to earn another trip to regional this weekend.

Other varsity tennis players who will represent THS at Denver City will be:

Boys singles--Stotts and Ralph Huffaker. Doubles--Jacky Jolly and Ronald Lusk. Girls singles--Lisa Perkins and Melanie Tekell. Doubles--Lani Brown and Cindy Lawson; Connie Chambers and Sherry Tomlinson.

Tahoka also will enter some junior varsity players in district. Bryan Simpson and Greg Curry will play boys singles. Jhoni Caswell and Rajeania House will play girls singles. Girls doubles teams will be Melanie Terry and Barbara Williamson and Pam Ashcraft-Lisa Huckaby.

It's easy to see where many of our priorities are.

The children of today are looking to us for ways they can prepare for their own style of life... families... and job opportunities.

To help, we'll need more electricity. It's true, electricity will play a big role toward helping expand the job market to include these adults of tomorrow. The modern use of electricity has contributed to a better educational system to prepare our young people for the new experiences yet to come.

Almost 10 years ago, the folks at Southwestern Public Service wanted to make sure there was enough electricity to keep today's wage earner working. They decided that the fuel used in their power plants should be coal because, coal would be more abundant and cheaper to use than the conventional fuel... natural gas. Now, Southwestern Public Service has a new coal plant in operation and more on the way. Yes, coal plants will help stabilize fuel costs while providing a long-term, reliable, energy source to provide electricity.

It's good to be able to tell someone what they can depend on.

Crawfish Farming Boosted by Demand

AUSTIN--Crawfish, crayfish, crawdads, creekcrabs. Everyone has a name for these ten-legged crustaceans that like to burrow in the mud. But whatever you call them, according to Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, the fact that they make mighty good eating is leading a growing number of Texas farmers into their production.

Aficionados will suck out the glob of yellow fat that rests in the animal's thorax but most people stick to the tail meat. A little like shrimp or lobster, crawfish meat is grainier and sweeter than either one.

About five million pounds of the shellfish will be sold in Texas this year, most of it hauled in from Louisiana since Texas currently can fill only a small fraction of the demand. Crawfish farmers such as Southeast Texan Boyce Ward view this void as potential for a profitable business and they want to be in on the ground floor.

Ward is a rice farmer who double crops with crawfish. He has 150 acres in production and has seen his yield rise from 35 pounds an acre the first year to 100 the second. Texas Agricultural Extension Service people believe Texas farmers can eventually pull in 1,000 pounds per acre or more with proper management techniques.

Crawfish are raised in flat-bottomed open bodies of water with a recommended size of no more than 20 acres each and a depth of 15-24 inches. Outside levees should be three feet high and wide enough to accommodate vehicular traffic to the ponds on at least two sides.

Crawfish farmers seed their ponds with rice to provide food for the crawfish that graze on a mold growing on the rice plants. Crawfish farming, therefore, is a logical

Sherry Etheredge Says....

Are eggs getting smaller? If it seems like broken-out eggs do not cover as large an area in the frying pan, you're right.

Eggs aren't covering as large an area as they used to because quality has improved, say marketing specialist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Eggs appear smaller because the thick white stands high and firm around the yolk rather than spreading out. These eggs may carry the U.S. Grade AA federal grade of quality. As the egg is stored, the amount of thick white decreases and the egg tends to spread and cover more surface.

Egg supplies are plentiful this spring, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, and wholesale prices will likely fall after Easter, five cents or more per dozen below break-even levels for producers.

"The egg is the cement that holds the castle of cookery together," say egg marketing specialists. The leavening of stiffly beaten egg whites imparts an airy lightness and tender goodness to many popular items—omelets, souffles, meringues, popovers, muffins, angel food, sponge and chiffon cakes.

As the whites are beaten they literally fill up with tiny air bubbles. When gentle heat is applied to the mixture, the air bubbles increase in size, the product rises, and the albumen of the whites becomes firm causing the product to hold its lofty shape.

Separate eggs as soon as you remove them from the refrigerator since cold yolks are less likely to break. To store the yolks, cover with a small amount of water and return to the refrigerator.

Let the whites stand at room temperature about 45 min. before whipping. Egg whites whip to a larger volume when at room temperature.

The leavening power of egg whites depends on the amount of air beaten and retained when preparing the food. For best results, beat the egg whites until they are just stiff enough to stand in peaks that fold over ever so slightly when the beaters are removed. They should appear moist and glossy, not dry.

The leavening power of egg whites depends on the amount of air beaten in and retained when preparing the food. Over-beating beats out some of the air bubbles and creates a product with less volume, which may also divide into layers with the heavier ingredients settling to the bottom. Under-beating produces a coarse, uneven texture, and the whites will lack strength to billow up and hold any added ingredients.

Combine beaten egg whites and other ingredients with a folding, not a stirring motion. Mix thoroughly, but only enough to blend ingredients well.

Cooking temperature is critical. If it's too high, the protein thickens and coagulates before the air bubbles have fully expanded and the product will be heavy. It may also be overdone on the outside before the interior is set.

Lemon Chiffon Pie

3 large egg yolks
6 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup unstrained lemon juice
1/2 cup boiling water
4 tablespoons lemon-flavored gelatin
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 large egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar
One 9-inch baked pastry shell

Mix the egg yolks, sugar, and salt together in a saucepan. Then add the lemon juice. Cook over low heat, stirring the mixture until it boils. Remove from heat. Stir the boiling water into the gelatin. Add the grated lemon rind. Then, with a rotary beater, beat in the hot custard. Cool. When mixture is partially set, beat until smooth. Beat the egg whites with cream of tartar until frothy. Gradually beat in the sugar, a little at a time. Continue beating until stiff and glossy. Carefully fold the lemon custard mixture into the meringue. Pile into a cooled baked pie shell. Chill until set (about 2 hours). Serve cold.

Census '80 Information

Returning 1980 census questionnaires are flooding the mail boxes of the Census Bureau's district offices, according to the local district manager, Mitzi Jordan.

The "mail-back" method, historically a relatively new census-taking technique, will save taxpayers at least $180 million if all households that were asked to do so return properly completed questionnaires by mail.

Census takers will have to go out looking for any questionnaires that do not come back within a reasonable time. Those who forgot to drop their filled-out questionnaires in the mail on Tuesday can still save tax money—and the time they will otherwise have to spend when the census taker calls—by mailing them now.

Another time and money saver is to make sure all questions that apply to the household members and to the house have been answered. Referring to the yellow instruction guide enclosed with the questionnaire will be helpful, but if you're still puzzled, call the census assistance telephone number which is printed on the address label of your questionnaire. Operators are standing by to help you.

"Each of us has a substantial stake in making the population count complete," the manager said. "There have been significant changes in this area since the last nationwide population count in 1970, and this is our chance to bring the record up to date. It is vitally important for several reasons.

"First, census results determine our representation in government at all levels. From the U.S. House of Representatives, State, county, and city governments right down to the local school board, seats in elected governing bodies are apportioned according to census population figures."

"In dollars and cents, a complete count is important, too. Census figures count heavily in the allotment of money for a great many local government programs. The census results influence the distribution of some $50 billion a year in Federal revenue sharing programs in which Federal funds are provided directly to local and State governments for their use."

There is no good reason for any of us to leave ourselves out of the census, the manager stressed. Answers provided to the Census

Nursing Pre-test At SPC

A vocational nursing pre-test is scheduled at 9 a.m. April 21 in the South Plains College guidance and counseling center, located in the Administration Building. Persons planning to enroll in the fall 1980 vocational nursing program at SPC are required to take the exam, which is offered through July.

Examinees should come prepared to submit three complete references, a G.E.D. certificate or high school transcript and pay a $3 test fee and attend a personal interview that afternoon, according to Keith Bratton, guidance associate.

Other exam dates are May 19, June 9, June 23, July 7 and July 21, 1980. For more information, contact Helen Brown, R.N., coordinator of SPC's one-year vocational nursing program, or guidance and counseling personnel at 894-9611.

Cooler attics mean cooler houses.

An attic-ventilating fan installed near the roof peak—with air intakes in the eaves or in the gable sidewall—will reduce attic temperatures and ultimately the interior of the home, says Sue Young.

Better Business Bureau Report

warnings concerning the chain letters.

The BBB is concerned over the fact that people usually lose all of the money they "invest" in such schemes.

The chain letters violate several laws including Texas Penal Code 32.48 called the "Endless Chain Scheme." Postal laws are also violated even if the letter itself is hand delivered. Some of the letters instruct the purchaser to send money thru the mails, which is legal, but when it furthers a scheme to defraud, it is illegal.

Present indications are that Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene are experiencing a great deal of chain letter schemes.

If you are approached by someone wanting you to join a chain scheme, the BBB advises that you contact either your local district attorney or the BBB, because just becoming involved makes you, the participant, subject to prosecution by all the authorities mentioned above.

Presently, the following agencies are seeking information that would lead then to the authors of these letters--Attorney General's office, Postal Inspector, Securities and Exchange, local district Attorney's offices and the Federal Trade Commission.

Texas History Rotary Topic

A lesson in early Texas history was given Rotarians last Thursday by Rev. Newton Starnes.

Migration of U.S. citizens to Texas began in the 1820's on invitation of the Mexican government. But, when Mexican rule became despotic in the 1830's, General Santa Anna was sent across the Rio Grande to suppress the uprisings and threats of rebellion by the settlers.

There followed the battle of the Alamo, then the surprise attack by Sam Houston's army at San Jacinto that annihilated Santa Anna's army and took the Mexican General captive.

Texas became a nation in 1836, and for nearly ten years was recognized as such by the U.S. and other major nations of the world. Texas exchanged ambassadors with these countries. Land grants were awarded to Americans to encourage further development of the new nation, and after, 1845, when Texas was admitted to the United States union.

He said Texas' judicial system was modeled after that of Tennessee, and also related facts on the development of churches and colleges.

Incidentally, he reminded his audience that Texas leads all states in raising of cattle, production of oil and cotton. Also, he declared Texas has more Baptist, Church of Christ, and Methodist church members than any other state.

Clint Walker introduced the speaker.

Postmaster Jim Lummus announced there is a strong possibility Tahoka can receive city delivery of mail if it so desires.

Sherry Etheredge Says....

Are eggs getting smaller? If it seems like broken-out eggs do not cover as large an area in the frying pan, you're right.

Eggs aren't covering as large an area as they used to because quality has improved, say marketing specialist with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Eggs appear smaller because the thick white stands high and firm around the yolk rather than spreading out. These eggs may carry the U.S. Grade AA federal grade of quality. As the egg is stored, the amount of thick white decreases and the egg tends to spread and cover more surface.

Egg supplies are plentiful this spring, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, and wholesale prices will likely fall after Easter, five cents or more per dozen below break-even levels for producers.

"The egg is the cement that holds the castle of cookery together," say egg marketing specialists. The leavening of stiffly beaten egg whites imparts an airy lightness and tender goodness to many popular items—omelets, souffles, meringues, popovers, muffins, angel food, sponge and chiffon cakes.

As the whites are beaten they literally fill up with tiny air bubbles. When gentle heat is applied to the mixture, the air bubbles increase in size, the product rises, and the albumen of the whites becomes firm causing the product to hold its lofty shape.

Separate eggs as soon as you remove them from the refrigerator since cold yolks are less likely to break. To store the yolks, cover with a small amount of water and return to the refrigerator.

Let the whites stand at room temperature about 45 min. before whipping. Egg whites whip to a larger volume when at room temperature.

The leavening power of egg whites depends on the amount of air beaten and retained when preparing the food. For best results, beat the egg whites until they are just stiff enough to stand in peaks that fold over ever so slightly when the beaters are removed. They should appear moist and glossy, not dry.

The leavening power of egg whites depends on the amount of air beaten in and retained when preparing the food. Over-beating beats out some of the air bubbles and creates a product with less volume, which may also divide into layers with the heavier ingredients settling to the bottom. Under-beating produces a coarse, uneven texture, and the whites will lack strength to billow up and hold any added ingredients.

Combine beaten egg whites and other ingredients with a folding, not a stirring motion. Mix thoroughly, but only enough to blend ingredients well.

Cooking temperature is critical. If it's too high, the protein thickens and coagulates before the air bubbles have fully expanded and the product will be heavy. It may also be overdone on the outside before the interior is set.

Lemon Chiffon Pie

3 large egg yolks
6 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup unstrained lemon juice
1/2 cup boiling water
4 tablespoons lemon-flavored gelatin
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
3 large egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
6 tablespoons sugar
One 9-inch baked pastry shell

Mix the egg yolks, sugar, and salt together in a saucepan. Then add the lemon juice. Cook over low heat, stirring the mixture until it boils. Remove from heat. Stir the boiling water into the gelatin. Add the grated lemon rind. Then, with a rotary beater, beat in the hot custard. Cool. When mixture is partially set, beat until smooth. Beat the egg whites with cream of tartar until frothy. Gradually beat in the sugar, a little at a time. Continue beating until stiff and glossy. Carefully fold the lemon custard mixture into the meringue. Pile into a cooled baked pie shell. Chill until set (about 2 hours). Serve cold.

Census '80 Information

Returning 1980 census questionnaires are flooding the mail boxes of the Census Bureau's district offices, according to the local district manager, Mitzi Jordan.

The "mail-back" method, historically a relatively new census-taking technique, will save taxpayers at least $180 million if all households that were asked to do so return properly completed questionnaires by mail.

Census takers will have to go out looking for any questionnaires that do not come back within a reasonable time. Those who forgot to drop their filled-out questionnaires in the mail on Tuesday can still save tax money—and the time they will otherwise have to spend when the census taker calls—by mailing them now.

Another time and money saver is to make sure all questions that apply to the household members and to the house have been answered. Referring to the yellow instruction guide enclosed with the questionnaire will be helpful, but if you're still puzzled, call the census assistance telephone number which is printed on the address label of your questionnaire. Operators are standing by to help you.

"Each of us has a substantial stake in making the population count complete," the manager said. "There have been significant changes in this area since the last nationwide population count in 1970, and this is our chance to bring the record up to date. It is vitally important for several reasons.

"First, census results determine our representation in government at all levels. From the U.S. House of Representatives, State, county, and city governments right down to the local school board, seats in elected governing bodies are apportioned according to census population figures."

"In dollars and cents, a complete count is important, too. Census figures count heavily in the allotment of money for a great many local government programs. The census results influence the distribution of some $50 billion a year in Federal revenue sharing programs in which Federal funds are provided directly to local and State governments for their use."

There is no good reason for any of us to leave ourselves out of the census, the manager stressed. Answers provided to the Census important implications for individual cotton producers, ginners, and others who are presently subject to registration provisions of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act (FLCRA). The court upheld a lower court ruling that corporations can act personally and therefore are exempt from FLCRA requirements.

Although the act specifically exempts farmers, ginners, and other agricultural employers who "personally" engage in hiring and recruiting, the Labor Department has said corporations, including family farms and cotton gins, cannot act personally and are therefore not exempt. The agency continues to hold to the narrow view that anyone employed in agriculture is a migrant worker.

BIBLE Answers for BIBLE Questions:
By DOUG CARTER

Question: What is the purpose of baptism?

Answer: Different religious groups will answer this question in many different ways. Some say, "It is an outward sign of an inward grace." Another group will teach that baptism is to make one a member of that denomination. Another says "We should be baptized because we are saved." Some will say you don't need to be baptized, while others declare you can't be saved without it.

Is God's teaching so vague that we are left in darkness on the subject? Certainly not! If we are going to look to God for salvation, then we had better trust and accept His word for the answer to all our questions. I hope you accept God's word totally and do not discard some parts of it. (Read 2 Tim. 3:16-17) Our answer to this question will take several parts.

It is strange indeed that man, in all of his discussion of the necessity of baptism, seems to have forgotten that the Lord Jesus Christ has commanded it. When He told the apostles to go preach the gospel to every creature, He added, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" (Mk. 16:16). This has never been taught as an "optional way" for mankind. Jesus still asks, "Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" (Luke 6:46). How can one seriously refer to Jesus as "Lord" while rejecting His commands?

When the apostles went forth preaching the gospel of Christ, they preached baptism in the name of Christ. When the people believed their preaching and asked what to do, their answer was that given by the Lord: "Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of your sins." (Acts 2:38). Notice, that was a command. Again in Acts 10:48, "He commanded them to be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord." (Acts 22:16) If a person desires to obey Christ, he will be baptized, because the Lord has commanded it. (More next week)

Rabies cases continue to increase at an alarming rate in Texas.

Laboratory confirmed positive cases of rabies in Texas showed a 115 percent increase in 1979 over 1978. The number of cases of rabid dogs took the biggest jump with an 811 percent increase. A total of 82 dogs were found rabid in 1979 compared to only 9 in 1978. More rabid skunks were confirmed than any other animal with 857 skunks reported rabid compared to 447 in 1978.

A large number of foxes, raccoons, horses, cattle, cats and bats also made the rabid list. Reports so far for 1980 indicate the incidence of rabies in wild animals, especially the skunk, are still high.

Young recommends the following steps when animals are exposed to rabies.

Dogs and cats bitten by a known animal should be destroyed immediately. If the owner is unwilling to have this done, the unvaccinated animal should be vaccinated immediately with a modified live virus vaccine against rabies and placed in strict isolation for six months. If the animal has a record of current vaccination, it should be revaccinated immediately and restrained for at least 60 days.

Livestock bitten by rabid animals should be destroyed immediately. If the owner is unwilling to have this done, the animal should be placed in quarantine for six months.

Exposed livestock can be safely killed and its tissues eaten without risk of infection if the animal is slaughtered within three days after being bitten.

Persons who slaughter and skin an exposed animal should wear gloves and perform their duties with care to prevent possible exposure from the wound area. Liberal portions of the tissues in the bite area should be discarded. The remaining muscle tissues of the animal are considered safe to eat.

Certain precautions should be taken when seemingly healthy pets bite a person for no reason.

In this case the animal should either be confined and observed by a veterinarian for 10 days or killed immediately and examined by the fluorescent antibody technique. If the owner opts for observation and signs suggestive of rabies develop, the animal should be humanely killed immediately and its head submitted for rabies examination.

Signs of rabies in wild animals cannot be interpreted reliably. Therefore, any wild animal that bites or scratches a person should be killed at once and examined for evidence of rabies.

If the fluorescent microscopy examination for rabies is negative, the saliva contains no virus and the bitten person need not be treated.

House Bill 1323, which required dog and cat owners to have their pets vaccinated against rabies at four months of age and at regular intervals thereafter, becomes effective April 1.

Use fabric to inspire appropriate pattern designs by considering weight, texture, drape, color and print, says Becky Saunders, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Joe D. Unfred of New Home April 2 was elected to a second one-year term as President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Prior to his election as President in 1979, Unfred had served two years as Vice President, two years as Secretary-Treasurer and a total of 15 years as the Lynn County producer director to PCG.

Incumbents Gary Ivey of Ralls, Vice President, and Charles Axtell of Springlake, Secretary-Treasurer, were also re-elected. Ivey has been a producer director from Crosby County since 1972 while Axtell, a relative newcomer, was first elected to the Board from Castro County in 1977.

The Board meeting and election came after the 25-county organization's annual membership meeting in the Lubbock Civic Center. An estimated 300 farmers and cotton-related businessmen were in attendance.

Speakers at the annual affair included Murray Williams of Altus, Oklahoma, Chairman of the Cotton Board; P.R. "Bobby" Smith, Assistant USDA Secretary for Marketing and Transportation, and Nick Hahn, Cotton Incorporated (CI) Vice President for Sales and Marketing.

Smith and Williams used the occasion to assure producers that USDA and the Cotton Board are each determined to fulfill their respective oversight roles in CI affairs.

The Cotton Board takes very seriously the criticism heard in the past several months, Williams said, "and I can assure you that we are totally dedicated to correcting the concerns cited."

Hahn used his time on the program to expound on some of CI's major accomplishments since its inception in 1967, including 100 percent cotton no-iron shirts, easy care cotton blouses and sheets, flame retardant fabrics and others.

In the President's annual address, Unfred reviewed some of PCG's 1979-80 activities on behalf of area producers and stressed the need for maintaining a strong and effective regional organization. Among major problems facing area producers in 1980-81 he listed U.S. Department of Labor interpretations of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act, a pending Internal Revenue Service ruling that could greatly increase the producer's tax load, and the need to develop and pass a more acceptable cotton program for the years succeeding 1981.

PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson reported an increase in PCG dues revenue over the past two years as a result of larger crops and a higher level of participation. However he cautioned that as inflation roars ahead it is becoming more and more difficult each year to "stretch the dollars."

ASCS News

1980 Farm Program - Legislation has passed that extends the disaster program for 1980. It also increases target prices for 1980. Cotton is 58.4 cents per pound. Producers who stay within the Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) will qualify for program benefits based upon the new target prices for feed grains. Producers who exceed their NCA will receive benefits based on the target formula used in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977.

1980 Final Target Prices and National Average Loan Rates: (See ASCS Newsletter April 2, 1980)

Wind Blown Wheat - The past weeks of blowing sand and high winds has caused extensive damage to wheat. Producers that need to plow wind blown wheat should sign a disaster application prior to destroying the damaged acreage. The entire wheat acreage must be reported on each farm that a disaster application is filed on, so please be prepared to accurately report all acres.

Small Grain Certification - The deadline for reporting acreage of small grains such as wheat, oats, barley is May 1, 1980. This includes any small grain used for cover, grazing, harvest, or whatever. Failure to report these acreages will result in the ineligibility to participate in any ASCS Programs for 1980.

Measurement Service - This service will be offered again in 1980. The rate is $16 per farm and 15 cents per acre. If you need help before you certify your wheat or small grain, contact this office so we can complete the work in time for you to certify.

Final date to graze wheat for harvest - April 1st is the final date to graze wheat that will be harvested. Grazing after this date will require production be assigned to off-set this loss.

Notices will be sent producers - Notices of established yields and NCA will be mailed all producers very shortly. Remember proven yields and appeals must be made within 15 days of the date on the notice.

Small Business Loans - SBA has announced that the deadline for filing application on disaster loans will be April 10, 1980 for Hockley County and June 26, 1980 for Garza County. Lynn County producers are eligible for SBA loans due to Lynn County adjoining these counties. For more information call the Lubbock Office at 1205 Texas Avenue, Room 214, phone 806-762-7627.

Eligibility for participating in all programs administered by the ASCS is established under law without regard to Criticism can be a hindrance for personal growth when it is appropriately communicated and reminds Diane West life education specialist the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The A&M University System.

Lockett 77

made $42 more per acre

On-farm tests proved it...

In 56 comparisons over the three years, certified Lockett 77 from Pioneer produced an average gross income of $309* per acre giving it a $42 per acre advantage over competitive varieties.

Why such an advantage? Lockett 77's outstanding seedling vigor with excellent cold tolerance and seedling ease escape help Lockett 77 make a good stand. Added to that are multiple disease tolerance, hardy characteristics, and early maturity... a combination that helps Lockett 77 deliver outstanding performance.

Farmers who've grown certified Lockett 77 are well pleased with results. Jack and Paul Hopper Knott recorded a lint yield of 11.5 lbs./planted acre in 1979. Roming at Lariat got 830 lbs./A over the last four years at Texas, Clinton Halford averaged 11.5 lbs. of lint per acre with certified Lockett 77.
