car stalled in deep water at the north underpass, and another couple and their son were stranded under the south overpass in water that reached the seats of the car. They narrowly missed being hit by a truck, but later were pulled out of the deep water by another truck. Weather observer Frank Hill said the rain measured 3.56 inches, and was one of the biggest rains ever window of their recorded in the city.

Water got into some homes and buildings, including the rest home and a few businesses, and most of the streets were running currents all the way across, in some places an estimated nearly three feet deep.

Leedy Lake, between U.S. 87 and Tahoka Cemetery, was said by oldtimers here to have more water in it Wednesday morning than in possibly 50 years.

Wednesday said they had several vehicles brought in which had been waterdamaged, where the water had been up to dashboard height, and one Camaro reportedly had been completely under water in an overpass. The heavy rains went west from Tahoka 8 or 9 miles, but only a very light rain was listed at West Point. To the Car dealers in Tahoka east, it was heavy for 5 or 6 miles, and deep across U.S. 380 at that point. To the north totals ranged down to an inch 8 miles out on U.S. 87, and the good rains went south just a few miles. Totals reported included:

Hospital Auxiliary Needs More Help

The Lynn County Hospital Auxiliary, organized just over a year ago and consisting of volunteers with the humanitarian objective of helping others, is actively seeking more members so they can increase their help to patients and their families. Joy Bragg, president of the organization, explained that the members usually work about 45 minutes each in either morning or afternoon at the hospital, distributing fruit juice, flowers and doing any other things they can to make things easier for patients and those who are staying with them.

We now have 15 active

She said the group needs both people and funds. but added that the biggest need is for more members, either male or female. Of the 15 active members, one is from Wilson, and none at present from New Home or O'Donnell, she said.

Dues to the organization are only $5 per year, and current members were reminded that it is time for those to be paid, if they have not been paid already. Dues should be paid to Pam Womack. secretary.

Hospital board members and administrator John Brooks have been appreciative of the work of the auxiliary, and have given them encouragement, Mrs. Bragg said. The auxiliary

MONUMENT TO THE PAST--Everton Nevill, right, and his son, Joe Don, left, built this Eclipse windmill next to the Pioneer Museum in Tahoka, a project of several years' undertaking. Some of the parts date back to 1888, and the authentic windmill is exactly like many which played a major role in development of agriculture in the area. The windmill would pump water if there were any water beneath it to pump, and there are tentative plans to add a recirculating tank below. The project was completed last week

Leasing Lynn No Saturday County Lands

Leasing activity of several major oil companies has gained impetus in recent weeks, prospects are bright for at least some new production discoveries, and land-leasing is putting a lot of money into the pockets of Lynn County land owners. The current energy crisis and the $40 per barrel price of crude, spurred by the new 300-barrel per day discovery two miles west of Wilson and the 140-barrel per day just over in Garza County near Storie Gin, have caused more oil activity by major producers than ever before in the county's history. Calloway Huffaker spoke on the subject at last Thursday's Rotary meeting, and declared the hottest areas are west and southwest of Wilson, north from Central Church. around New Lynn and Tahoka, and in fact most all of the county.

Huffaker said most $35 per acre, in the "hot" areas more, on five-year-leases and $1 acre annual rental and instead of one-eighth production participation they are offering three-sixteenths. Agents, he said, are leasing for such companies as Diamond-Shamrock, Amaco, Shell and Exxon. He had a few words of advise, principally that land owners signing leases should take into consideration possible damages to land by drilling, slush pit, road, pipelines, etc. He also explained some of the oil structures of this area, their depths, and a little of the geology of the oil business. Charles Lourder arranged the program and introduced the speaker.

Livestock, Crop Data Is Needed

During late May and June, many Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop and livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service will be personally interviewed by the service's field staff. The information gathered through the questionnaires and interviews provides the basis for determining the acreage devoted to the various crops and midyear livestock numbers for the state of Texas and for each county.

The estimates in these reports are tools to help emphysema, bronchitis, farmers and ranchers work out their planting, breeding, feeding, storing, producing, ind marketing plans, accord size, Propst said the issue threatens cotton as well as all of agriculture.

'Those who preach the gospel that 'big is bad' have turned their attention on the American farm." he stated, 'and unfortunately, their message seems to be falling on receptive ears in Washington. The Council president cited moves on in Congress to put an arbitrary limit on the amount of land a farmer receiving water from a federal reclamation project can not only own but also lease. Propst said this would amount to a limit on farm size in the West since irrigation is essential to agriculture there.

In addition to reclamation bills, he pointed to the recent hearings held by Agriculture Secretary Bergland on farm structure and size.

The Secretary says that, based on these hearings, he expects to make recommendations for changes in basic farm legislation when it comes up for renewal, Propst said, adding that the farm size issue will apparently continue to be raised for some time.

The Council president praised warehousemen for their role this season in handling "the biggest crop in 15 years and the biggest export order in 50 years.

You've done a tremendous job ... and you've done it with fewer facilities and less manpower than you had two decades ago," he said. Propst also commended warehousemen for their efforts to improve bale conditions, reduce contamination, and shape bales that better conform to equipment

In 56 comparisons over the last three years, certified Lockett 77 from Pioneer produced an average gross income of $309* per acre ... giving it a $42 per acre advantage over competitive varieties.

Why such an advantage? Outstanding seedling vigor with excellent cold tolerance and seedling disease escape help Lockett 77 make a good stand. Added to that are multiple disease tolerance, hardy plant characteristics, and early maturity ... a combination that helps Lockett 77 deliver outstanding performance.

Farmers who've grown certified Lockett 77 are well pleased with results. Jack and Paul Hopper at Knott recorded a lint yield of 1,553 lbs./planted acre in 1979. Ben Roming at Lariat got 830 lbs./A. And over the last four years at Tell, Texas, Clinton Halford averaged 975 lbs. of lint per acre with certified Lockett 77.
