Cemetery Upkeep Proves Expensive

Seeking to give new impetus to a continuing fund drive and faced with some unexpected expenses because of a recent heavy rain, the Tahoka Cemetery Commission is issuing new appeals for financial help.

Organized for the purpose of giving the cemetery a new and better appearance and for keeping it beautiful, the group recently mailed out letters to persons they feel should be interested in the project.

The letter seeks donations, which are tax deductible, and also memorial funds. Commission Secretary Nadine Dunlap said the letters went out along with a notice of a Memorial Service scheduled Sunday, May 25, at noon.

She also noted that some letters may have been addressed to persons now deceased, since the mailing list used by the commission had not been adequately updated in recent years. "If so, we apologize," she said. "But we do want to reach everyone we can, because this is an important project which needs everyone's help."

Commission Chairman Billie White said the commission has been out some extra expense in filling in about 200 graves after the last hard rain, and also said several headstones will have to be reset. Also, the group is paying outside help to try to control gophers at the cemetery.

"We appreciate all the financial help we have received and all we can get on these extra expenses," Mrs. White said.

Checks may be made out to the Tahoka Cemetery Commission and turned in to any member, or at the city hall.

Pioneer Program Set By Museum

Tahoka Pioneer Museum directors at their monthly meeting Monday evening completed plans for a program open to the public on Friday evening, June 20, preceding the annual Lynn County Pioneer Reunion on Saturday, June 21.

A program in front of the museum will feature a talk by Bob Nash of Channel 28 TV, Lubbock, a Plains history buff; a square dance exhibition; and appearance of a "mystery guest". The program is being arranged by Mrs. Pete (Madeline) Hegi, and Mayor Meldon Leslie will be master of ceremonies. Coffee, lemonade and cookies will be served.

Some charter member present will win a gold charm valued at $200 donated by Dr. K.R. Durham, Museum president. All people of the area are invited, but only members will be eligible for the award.

Latest important acquisition by the Museum is a collection of about 65 pioneer pictures of early days in the county given by Mrs. Warren (Oleta) Smith of O'Donnell, whose father, Ben Moore, was an early day Tahoka photographer, and whose mother was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Baldrige, among the first Lynn County settlers. These pictures will be on exhibit soon.

Mrs. Macky Turner, secretary, announced 16 people have contributed $100 for life memberships. In addition, nearly 20 people have been designated benefactors as a result of at least $500 in cash or work contributions.

People from 25 states and six foreign countries are among the 1,600 people who

WEEK I made a reference to "The Book" but I didn't really explore the volume much. I figure this unusual publication is just a bit more comment, but I'm not going to remark on one of the more remarkable things I ran across. You'll just have to get your copy, or maybe ask Mike Cotter after church to ask him OUTSIDE the building, please).

One reason you could ask him is that the book is dedicated to his wife. And the reason I figured I'd go ahead and make any comments I'd make now is that Neil just loaned me the book and I know she's going to ask for it back any day. I very pointedly wrote her name on the cover of it before she let me have it.

One person who makes several lists a day, and one master list to tell me where I put all my lists. By the time I get my lists all made, I can only do a couple of things on the lists. I have to allow another half hour to transfer the things I was going to do today to my master list.

I've lost all my lists and couldn't think of how to do all day.

There are so many interesting lists in this book, with some pretty dumb ones, that I wish I had a copy (this is undoubtedly why she wrote the book inside the cover). However, I didn't see any lists like the ones I compile daily. If I had to keep mine, I would, in about a year or so, be bound into a volume. It would be the best-seller, though. Who would want to read over things like "see Hershel Wade, get your cleaners, pay bills today or else, get your name on note, school board, pix of scouts, and Carl Reynolds" and such as that?

Mrs. Laverne McAllister of New Home will lead Bellringer workers in a house-to-house drive during May, Mental Health Month. "Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas," said John Stevens, state President of the voluntary citizens' association.

As a non-governmental agency the association can and does speak for the consumer -- the person who needs professional help for an emotional disturbance.

The number one goal of the association for 1980 is to improve the care for discharged long term mentally disabled persons. The association is promoting self-help groups for families of patients and for former mental health clients.

The association is a moving force to get services established where there are none. It also serves as a monitoring agency to see that treatment services are doing what they were set up to do," said Stevens.

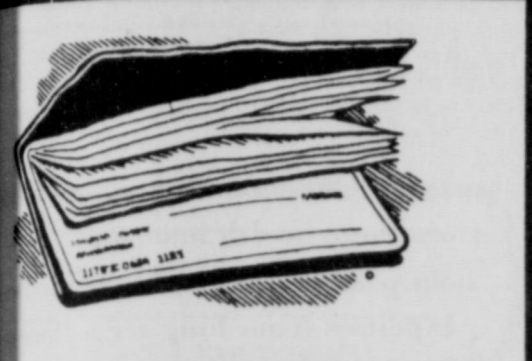

The Mental Health Association strongly promotes more community-based care as well as more research into the causes of mental illness. Seeking to prevent mental health problems through education, the association, in cooperation with the Governor's Office of Volunteer Services, sends out the newsletter series "Pierre the Pelican" to first-time parents in the state.

Additionally, the association offers literature to the public on a variety of topics including depression, alcoholism, and positive mental health concepts. For free information write to the Mental Health Association in Texas, 103 Lantern Lane, Austin, Texas, 512-459-6584.

Better Business Bureau

Several weeks ago, your Better Business Bureau released an alert to the South Plains area concerning a company called Vegas International. This company, according to the BBB was using unethical practices centered around two points: 1) The company was phoning South Plains residents and claiming they had "won" a vacation trip (This is entirely false, since it appears that everyone that signed up or registered for a "free" trip at the South Plains Fair, received a phone call); and 2) Several consumers complained that upon receiving a phone call, they were asked for a credit card number and although not authorizing its use, Vegas International used that number to charge their (customer) credit card for the vacation plan.

As a result of the BBB inquiries and consumer complaints, the local Attorney General's office filed an Assurance of Voluntary Compliance Order in 72nd District Court, Lubbock, TX on May 1, 1980. Vegas International thereby agrees to cease their unethical practices and also are being assessed a $1500 fine. The company also agreed to refund any persons, the fee for the trip if they were not satisfied.

Attorney General's office and the Better Business Bureau are requesting any information from consumers receiving literature from Vegas International following the May 1st date of voluntary compliance. Consumers that receive such contact, either by mail or by phone, should call the Better Business Bureau office at 763-0459 (toll-free 1/800/692-4466).

Jon Roy Ramsour, Educational Director of The First Baptist Church, has accepted the position of Salvation Army Service unit chairman for north Lynn County. He succeeds Harold Roberts who has held the position for several years. Harold will remain on the committee. At a kickoff meeting Tuesday at Tahoka Cafeteria both Ramsour and Roberts praised Grace Huffaker, campaign chairman for the past several years, for her work for the Salvation Army.

Other members of the committee are: Betty Johnston, treasurer, Ed Hamilton, welfare officer; Grace Huffaker, campaign chairman; Jack Miller, W.T. Kidwell, Wanita Kelley, Florine McCracken, Rev. Newton Starnes, Dixie Coleman and Ramsour and Roberts. Mrs. Huffaker, Chairman for the annual Salvation Army 1980 fund drive, announced that 41 captains and workers participated in the kickoff. Workers will be canvassing Tahoka, Grassland, West Point and Wilson in the next few weeks.

Anyone wishing to make a donation may send it directly to the First National Bank or Community Public Service. Mrs. Huffaker said funds will be used to help in local emergencies and the Salvation Army's State Programs.

ACCORDING TO THE BIBLE

BIBLE Answers for BIBLE Questions:
 By DOUG CARTER

Question: What is the purpose of baptism?
Answer: (Part 6) In our final part of the purpose of baptism, I want to point out that the Bible says we are baptized to be cleansed by the blood of Christ.
 How important is His blood? In Heb. 9:22, "Apart from the shedding of blood there is no remission." In Eph. 1:7, "In whom we have our redemption through His blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses." Christ died on the cross, and shed His blood, that we might be cleansed from sin. A great throne is pictured in Rev. 7:14, "They washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."
 Paul writes of the cleansing of the blood of Christ (in Rom. 5:8-10 & 6:3,4) in this way: "While we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Much more then, being now justified by His blood, shall we be saved from the wrath of God through Him... We were reconciled to God through the death of His Son... Or are ye ignorant that all we who were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into His death?" The Lord died on the cross. His blood in that death and we are baptized into His death. How important in His blood? That is exactly how important baptism is!
 When we are led by faith in the Lord to be baptized (Mt. 16:16), notice the results: "Let us draw near with a true heart in fulness of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience; and having our body washed with pure water." (Heb. 10:22) How and when the blood of Christ cleanse our heart? That verse is the answer! When our body is "washed with water" (baptism) our hearts are "sprinkled from an evil conscience" (cleansed by the blood of Christ).
 Why is one baptized into the death of Christ, he has not been cleansed by the blood of Christ.
 Why be baptized - what's the purpose? To obey Christ, to be IN Christ, to be a child of God, to be born of water and the Spirit, to be a new creature, to be saved from sin, to be cleansed by the blood of Jesus. If these reasons are important to you, I hope you will arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord." (Acts 22:16).
 If you have studied this subject along with us, without prejudice, but with an open heart and mind, along with your open Bible, then I know that you can come to only one conclusion. If you desire further study, please contact us.

Who's Who, Top THS Pair Named

Highlight of the annual Awards Day assembly at THS last Thursday, was the announcement that Senior Brad White and Amy McNeil were Mr. and Miss THS, respectively. Mr. and Miss THS are selected by popular vote kept secret until the Awards Day assembly.

Brad, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Binie White, was also named Best All-Around Boy.

Mary Ann Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wes Owen was named Best All-Around Girl. Best All-Around is the top of the coveted Who's Who in THS selected by the faculty. "Scholarship is the first consideration in selection to Who's Who," said yearbook sponsor Leah Taylor. "Teachers also consider character and school activities. There are other qualified students who do not make it, however, we are limited to 8 students because of our school size, the limit being set by National Who's Who," said Mrs. Taylor.

Others named to Who's Who were Seniors Suzy Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Lawson; Ronnie Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Craig; Alma Hallmark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P.B. Hallmark; Brad Hammonds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edger Hammonds Jr. and Amy McNeil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis McNeil.

One Junior, Bryan Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Simpson, was also named.

A student must have an over-all 90 or above average to be on the Who's Who ballot.

And Cotton Yesterday: Cotton literally went west with America's pioneers, providing the protective canvas topping for covered wagons.

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed, and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

Dear Sir:

In reference to a letter in the Lynn County News May 8, I would like to tell what really happened. It seems that Virginia House, Jerry Brown and Jim Bob Porterfield did not know exactly what happened. It is no hearsay. I have witnesses and I also have the litter. I have kept it in case I needed it.

If parents cannot control youngsters who litter and make noise and are "restless" and need to expel their energy, they should not turn them loose on the citizens and merchants to control. That should be done at the home.

If it should happen again I will file on anybody, for we do not allow this, and I will not ask the judge to defer the fine next time, not fine them next time.

W.T. Kidwell

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In order to avoid being a forum for a continuing debate, the Lynn County News will accept no more letters on this specific incident. An unsigned letter also was received on this matter, but as we have pointed out before, we do not print unsigned letters, and we do not withhold the names, feeling that anyone having an opinion on any topic should be willing to accept responsibility for that opinion when presented in a public letter.)

Eagle Scout Reunion Set

Ten former Eagle Scout members of Troop 721, B.S.A. of Tahoka, Texas, joined by a former Eagle from another troop, accompanied by their families, met at the Lyntegar Meeting Room, Saturday, May 10 at 6:30 p.m. for a dinner reunion. This has been a project which Mr. Scouting of Tahoka, E.B. Gaither, had encouraged for the past several years. The program was reminiscences by each of the former Eagles. Gaither mentioned that he had completed 39 years of scouting at all levels of scouting through the council.

Guy Witt is the present Scoutmaster and was the first Junior Assistant Scoutmaster when that Boy Scout official was added to the Troop Roster. He told those present how scouting differed at the present time, and how much of it was still the same. Former Scoutmasters present were Gaither, Rush Dudgeon, John Ed Redwine and Jacquie Jaquess. Scouters present were Jack B. Jaquess, Bill Stewart, some former den mothers and several scout widows, the wives who had surrendered their husbands to scouting.

Eagles present (by times when they became Eagles) were: Rush Dudgeon, Bentley Gaither, Eldon Akin, Kenneth Farr, Jimmy Williams, Guy Witt, John Ed Redwine, Denver Ford, Jackie Jaquess, Curtis Stewart and Randy Redwine, who was the first U.S. Eagle during the Bicentennial year. Everyone present agreed to make this reunion an annual affair.

Elected To Angus Assn.

Tol, Jo Anna and T.J. Thomas, all of Tahoka, have been elected to membership in the American Angus Assn., reports Dr. C.K. Allen, executive vice-president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The American Angus Assn. with some 38,000 active life and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 10 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

VISTA Workers Provide Help For County Residents

What is VISTA? The initials stand for "Volunteers In Service To America". VISTA is the umbrella organization over VISTA programs other than VISTA. The administration of VISTA programs include: Peace Corps, Foster Grandparents, Retired Senior Volunteers Program, University Year For Action and a volunteer program for High School students. The role of a VISTA participant is to help the people help themselves. A VISTA trains people in the community to be able to do things on their own. He or she puts the resources of the community in reach of the people and encourages them to use those resources to their maximum advantage.

A community organization which is committed to help solving problems of the disadvantaged acts as a sponsor to the VISTA participant. The South Plains Community Action Association is currently sponsoring seven locally recruited volunteers (LRVs), and six nationally recruited volunteers (NRVs). The LRVs include: Jo Jo Chester in Olton, Patricia Trejo in Morton, Vivienne Kisner, Clifford Potts, and Angela Hernandez in Levelland, Judy Noland in O'Donnell and Bennie Nance in Tahoka. The NRVs include: Abby Polin based in Littlefield, Mary Santoro, Maureen Ward, Les Judd and Bill Byrnes all based in Levelland and Marcia Bechtold in Tahoka.

The LRVs will generally be working on helping migrants and seasonal farmworkers in their respective communities. The NRVs are assigned a specific area of concentration. The NRVs are from several states and all generally requested to be placed in the Southwest and preferably in a rural area. West Texas is a lot different than what any of the NRVs are accustomed to, but they say they are enjoying the challenge to better serve the people who need their services the most. The current VISTA project will continue for three years.

The VISTAs will be forming advisory committees in each of the counties they work in to serve as sources of advice and guidance.

May Is Older Americans Month

President Carter has proclaimed it, just as each President has done every year since John F. Kennedy's first national proclamation of Senior Citizens Month in 1963. Even before that, as early as 1950, many state and localities have been honoring their senior citizens with special activities in May.

May has been designated "Older Americans Month", to honor senior citizens for their continuing and past achievements and to raise public awareness of their particular concerns.

"Significant changes are taking place in our population which raises new issues," said the President, "and highlight new aspects of existing issues. A decline in the birth rate, along with improvements in health care, are moving us toward a society in which more Americans, and a higher proportion of Americans, will be older. The implications of this will be felt by all segments of society."

The needs of older people are as varied as those of any age group. Their needs are recreational, social, cultural and educational. Most need productive activity - paid work, work at home, or volunteer service outside. Urgent needs for some older persons are health care, homemaker services and well-balanced meals.

A comprehensive network of aging services has been established in the South Plains. Many of the programs are funded by the Governor's Committee on Aging, through the Area Agency, currently there are 17 multipurpose senior centers open in the fifteen county area. Twenty minibuses operate to transport senior citizens. One hot meal is served daily, or three times a week, by fifteen federally funded nutrition sites, and six privately funded projects. Information and referral services are available in fourteen counties, and the Retired Senior Volunteer and Green Thumb programs are active in the South Plains.

4-H Clothing Project Begins

The 4-H Clothing Project will begin on Saturday, May 17, 3:30 to 5 p.m. at Lyntegar; May 24, 3:30 to 5 p.m., Lyntegar and Wednes-

A 4-H'er must learn 6 activities to complete the project. These lessons should be fun. All persons are welcome to come. The project is free and is open to anyone regardless of race, color, creed, sex, religion or national origin.

Old Settlers Reunion To Be Planned

Mike Huffaker, president of the Lynn Co. Old Settlers, has announced that a meeting to plan the 1980 Reunion will be held Friday (May 16) at 7:30 p.m. in the Lyntegar Meeting Room.

The reunion this year will be Saturday, June 21.

Testing Program Benefits Pupils

The testing-evaluation program being carried out in South Elementary School enables teachers to determine the skills and needs of each individual student and thereby enables the teacher to evaluate and make her plans to help each individual.

Furthermore, these test results are carried on to the teacher when each individual reaches higher grades, after the skill, learning abilities and knowledge are determined. In other words, results of these tests enable the school to improve the educational process. The program also tends to encourage students to try harder.

These facts about the program and its benefits were brought to Rotary Club members in talks and illustrations last Thursday noon by principal Tom Cooper and six school classroom teachers, Nelwyn Brady, Minnie Lou Ash, Nancy Williams, Vivian McAfee, and Suzanne Franklin.

The teachers gave some illustrations of the tests being used, and passed out sheets of paper bearing some of the tests, which some of the Rotarians were unable to make a perfect grade.

Harold Roberts arranged the program, and Joe Hays introduced the program conductor, Principal Cooper.

EARNs DEGREE--Pauline Antu Romero of Tahoka is among 209 persons scheduled to receive baccalaureate degrees in May and August from Wayland Baptist College. She will be awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education.

COTTON TODAY

Propst Testifies: At a recent hearing on farm structure, National Cotton Council President Herman Propst, Anson, Tex., said that breaking up or severely

handicapping commercial farms to achieve so-called social goals would reduce agricultural food and fiber production, lower farm income, and drive consumer prices higher. "We must recognize that there are efficient operations of every size -- from several acres to several tens of thousands of acres -- depending on soil, climate, management capability, and other factors," he said. Propst emphasized that the greatest over-all production efficiency is obtained by allowing each farm operation to develop resources to its maximum benefit.

Sampling Procedures May Be Revised: The U.S. Department of Agriculture proposes to revise sampling procedures for cotton submitted for official classification. The proposal would allow each segment of a sample to be split lengthwise along layers, making two samples. However, only the sample containing the two outside portions will be eligible for USDA classification. This means samples received for official USDA classification will be unchanged. The change was recommended as a result of a recommendation of the Joint Industry Bale Packaging Committee to limit the number of sample cuts made on a bale when initially received at a warehouse.

Exports Rise: Exports of 217,100 running bales of upland cotton during the week ended April 20 brought the season's total to 6,356,800, compared with 4,226,300 a year ago. New sales for the current marketing year delivery were 21,900 bales. The major buyer was Canada, 15,200. Sales of 134,700 bales for 1980-81 delivery included 40,000 to China, bringing its total commitment for 1980-81 to 902,000 bales. Other buyers were Korea, 31,200 bales, and the Philippines, 27,000.

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Three-striped blister beetle suspected of causing livestock poisoning.

An old, familiar problem has been recently recognized in commercial horse feed. The problem is not a crisis and, "we do not want people to panic."

Blister beetle poisoning in livestock has been a widespread problem in the southwest for years, but frequency of toxic poisoning is low. Cantharidin is a toxic substance produced in the glands of blister beetles.

Livestock poisoning occurs when animals eat fresh-cut forages or hay which was harvested while blister beetles were feeding. Beetles feed in swarms in small areas of a field so generally only a small fraction of the forage is contaminated. Adults should not occur in significant numbers until late July.

Cantharidin is highly toxic to horses and they may develop colic by eating only two to five beetles. Blister beetles can be found in any type of forage if weeds or other blooming plants are located in the fields. However, beetles are more attracted to alfalfa because of flowering at harvest. Alfalfa is an excellent horse feed, and the agent does not discourage its use as a livestock feed.

The blister beetle problem is not unique to Texas, and purchasing hay from other states will not solve the problem. The level of toxic cantharidin will vary between individual insects of the same species, and animal reaction depends on the number of beetles consumed.

A good understanding of the beetle's life cycle and feeding habits will help plan management strategies to reduce financial losses. The female beetle deposits up to 1,000 eggs in the ground where the larvae live and feed on insect eggs. Grasshopper eggs are the main host for developing immatures, and this close association causes concern for the 1980 production season since grasshopper numbers are expected to be up from 1979.

Following emergence, adult beetles congregate in swarms and feed on the pollen of flowering plants. Common host plants are potatoes, tomatoes, alfalfa and weed species like nightshade and pigweed.

Blister beetles suspected of causing most cantharidin poisoning are the three-striped blister beetle, Epicauta temexa and E. occidentalis. The critical problem develops when large swarms of adult beetles are physically incorporated in feed during the harvesting process.

Adult beetles range in size from about 1/2 to 3/4 inch long. General body color is black with longitudinal yellow stripes on the elytra. The bodies are cylindrical, elongated and fairly soft to touch.

Inspection of baled hay for beetles is impractical. Detection of infested feed is difficult because the pest is small and may be found in only a few portions of a given lot of feed. Previous specimen collections and field observations indicate that hay cut before June 1 should be relatively free from adult blister beetles.

Adults are mobile and can be found in pockets throughout a field. When inspecting a field, two days before harvest, giving extra attention to field margins. Adults will be migrating into the field from larval development areas and will be located in the field margins first.

Beetle-infested areas should be left unharvested or sprayed with an insecticide. This approach will not guarantee absence of beetles, but will reduce higher populations in harvested hay. Low-level populations are not as important as abundant adult populations which are suspected of causing the serious problems.

Sunflower Seed Plan Comments Are Sought

Sunflower seed farmers could become eligible for government price supports--beginning with the 1980 crop--if the U.S. Department of Agriculture determines there is a need for such a program, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Bergland said USDA is asking the public to comment on whether the department should start a price support program for sunflower seed and will evaluate the responses before making specific proposals.

He also said USDA studied the feasibility of enacting a sunflower seed support program for the 1979 crop but decided that starting a program in the middle of the marketing year would be unfair to some sunflower farmers.

Nearly three-fourths of U.S. sunflower seed production is exported, primarily to Western Europe. A support program could provide interim financing for producers from mid-December to April when the St. Lawrence Seaway, the main U.S. sunflower export route, is closed by ice, Bergland said.

North Dakota is the major producer of sunflower seed, followed by Minnesota and South Dakota. Production of U.S. sunflower seed for 1979 was almost double the previous year. Although 1980 acreage is expected to decline moderately, USDA officials forecast a long-term increase in sunflower seed production.

decline moderately, officials forecast a long-term increase in sunflower production.

Public comment on the proposal is sought by the deadline of June 2, Bergland said. Written comments should be sent to the Production Adjustment Administration, ASCA-USDA, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013. A full outlining details will be published in the Federal Register.

COTTON TODAY

Propst Testifies: At a recent hearing on farm structure, National Cotton Council President Herman Propst, Anson, Tex., said that breaking up or severely

handicapping commercial farms to achieve so-called social goals would reduce agricultural food and fiber production, lower farm income, and drive consumer prices higher. "We must recognize that there are efficient operations of every size --from several acres to several tens of thousands of acres-- depending on soil, climate, management capability, and other factors," he said. Propst emphasized that the greatest over-all production efficiency is obtained by allowing each farm operation to develop resources to its maximum benefit.

Sampling Procedures May Be Revised: The U.S. Department of Agriculture proposes to revise sampling procedures for cotton submitted for official classification. The proposal would allow each segment of a sample to be split lengthwise along layers, making two samples. However, only the sample containing the two outside portions will be eligible for USDA classification. This means samples received for official USDA classification will be unchanged. The change was recommended as a result of a recommendation of the Joint Industry Bale Packaging Committee to limit the number of sample cuts made on a bale when initially received at a warehouse.

Exports Rise: Exports of 217,100 running bales of upland cotton during the week ended April 20 brought the season's total to 6,356,800, compared with 4,226,300 a year ago. New sales for the current marketing year delivery were 21,900 bales. The major buyer was Canada, 15,200. Sales of 134,700 bales for 1980-81 delivery included 40,000 to China, bringing its total commitment for 1980-81 to 902,000 bales. Other buyers were Korea, 31,200 bales, and the Philippines, 27,000.

A Visit With Your County Agent

Three-striped blister beetle suspected of causing livestock poisoning.

An old, familiar problem has been recently recognized in commercial horse feed. The problem is not a crisis and, "we do not want people to panic."

Blister beetle poisoning in livestock has been a widespread problem in the southwest for years, but frequency of toxic poisoning is low. Cantharidin is a toxic substance produced in the glands of blister beetles.

Livestock poisoning occurs when animals eat fresh-cut forages or hay which was harvested while blister beetles were feeding. Beetles feed in swarms in small areas of a field so generally only a small fraction of the forage is contaminated. Adults should not occur in significant numbers until late July.

Cantharidin is highly toxic to horses and they may develop colic by eating only two to five beetles. Blister beetles can be found in any type of forage if weeds or other blooming plants are located in the fields. However, beetles are more attracted to alfalfa because of flowering at harvest. Alfalfa is an excellent horse feed, and the agent does not discourage its use as a livestock feed.

The blister beetle problem is not unique to Texas, and purchasing hay from other states will not solve the problem. The level of toxic cantharidin will vary between individual insects of the same species, and animal reaction depends on the number of beetles consumed.

A good understanding of the beetle's life cycle and feeding habits will help plan management strategies to reduce financial losses. The female beetle deposits up to 1,000 eggs in the ground where the larvae live and feed on insect eggs. Grasshopper eggs are the main host for developing immatures, and this close association causes concern for the 1980 production season since grasshopper numbers are expected to be up from 1979.

Following emergence, adult beetles congregate in swarms and feed on the pollen of flowering plants. Common host plants are potatoes, tomatoes, alfalfa and weed species like nightshade and pigweed.

Blister beetles suspected of causing most cantharidin poisoning are the three-striped blister beetle, Epicauta texana and E. occidentalis. The critical problem develops when large swarms of adult beetles are physically incorporated in feed during the harvesting process.

Adult beetles range in size from about 1/2 to 3/4 inch long. General body color is black with longitudinal yellow stripes on the elytra. The bodies are cylindrical, elongated and fairly soft to touch.

Inspection of baled hay for beetles is impractical. Detection of infested feed is difficult because the pest is small and may be found in only a few portions of a given lot of feed. Previous specimen collections and field observations indicate that hay cut before June 1 should be relatively free from adult blister beetles.

Adults are mobile and can be found in pockets throughout a field. When inspecting a field, two days before harvest, giving extra attention to field margins. Adults will be migrating into the field from larval development areas and will be located in the field margins first.

Beetle-infested areas should be left unharvested or sprayed with an insecticide. This approach will not guarantee absence of beetles, but will reduce higher populations in harvested hay. Low-level populations are not as important as abundant adult populations which are suspected of causing the serious problems.

Sunflower Seed Plan Comments Are Sought

Sunflower seed farmers could become eligible for government price supports--beginning with the 1980 crop--if the U.S. Department of Agriculture determines there is a need for such a program, according to Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland.

Bergland said USDA is asking the public to comment on whether the department should start a price support program for sunflower seed and will evaluate the responses before making specific proposals.

He also said USDA studied the feasibility of enacting a sunflower seed support program for the 1979 crop but decided that starting a program in the middle of the marketing year would be unfair to some sunflower farmers.

Nearly three-fourths of U.S. sunflower seed production is exported, primarily to Western Europe. A support program could provide interim financing for producers from mid-December to April when the St. Lawrence Seaway, the main U.S. sunflower export route, is closed by ice, Bergland said.

North Dakota is the major producer of sunflower seed, followed by Minnesota and South Dakota. Production of U.S. sunflower seed for 1979 was almost double the previous year. Although 1980 acreage is expected to decline moderately, USDA officials forecast a long-term increase in sunflower seed production.

We want to express our appreciation to our many friends, relatives and neighbors for their concern, prayers, cards, visits, flowers, telephone calls, food and many other acts of kindness shown us because of the automobile accident in which we were involved.
It is great to have friends, neighbors and loved ones who have so diligently stood by us in this time of need, for which we thank you from the bottom of our hearts.
May God richly bless each of you.
Myrl and Walter Mathis

Call me 7:30 a.m. your time and make an appointment. I will pay you for the call from your phone bill when I get there. (collect calls are too expensive) Phone me, Raymond Griffin (209) 632-4672 or call locally 628-2278 and ask for Ruby. 18-9tc

Don't wear those "highest" heels too long.
Vary heel heights daily to exercise all muscles in leg and foot, says Nancy Brown, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
Also, the higher the heel, the farther forward your body center of gravity shifts--and the greater the tendency to fall.
+++
Large, economy-size is no bargain if you cannot store it properly, or if food is left over and you risk the chance of spoilage, reminds Linda McCormack, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
Planning a backpacking trip? Due to limited space and no refrigeration, it's wise to include more non-perishable dried foods in the meal plan, advises Mary K. Sweeten on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Always include a water bottle to prevent possible dehydration, too--especially on hot days, says the foods and nutrition specialist.
