Mr. Thomas Marshall of Troy, Kansas, writes me: "For 26 years I have dealt with you. I have lived in Iowa, Missouri, Colorado, and Kansas, and no matter what the soil or climate, the result was always the same, to wit—religiously honest and good." This is the kind of seed I raise and sell. SANBORN & WARNER,

Manufacturers, Exclusive Dealers in GLIDDEN'S PATENT
STEEL BARB WIRE FOR THE STATE OF TEXAS.
Washburn & Moen Mfg. Co., Worcester, Mass., Sole Manufacturers for the Eastern and Southern States.
Made from two No. 12 steel wires, Full Size, Barbs at Right Angles with Main Wire, and uniformly 2 1/2 or 5 inches apart, as desired. It is evenly twisted, genuinely galvanized, and its strength is unequalled, the superiority of which is universally acknowledged. From the extensive use of Glidden's Patent Steel Barb Fence Wire, it has fully demonstrated the fact, both to consumers and dealers, of its superiority over any other style of wire. In consequence thereof it is constantly growing in demand for it. Hence, it being so generally called for, dealers in other styles of wire, we notice, have very generally fallen into the habit of representing to their customers that they could actually furnish them "Glidden four pointed," "Improved Glidden," etc. While this practice is an admission of the superior quality of the genuine Glidden, and all such dealers knowing themselves the Glidden would afford their customers better satisfaction, it is a fraud and well calculated to deceive and injure the reputation of the Glidden barb wire has so justly earned and maintained. To avoid being thus deceived we would suggest to purchasers of barb wire that they thoroughly investigate the merits of the Glidden wire over any other, and through placing orders, from which you will find you cannot well afford to purchase any other style. Sold only by us and through exclusive agents throughout the state. Send for samples and our exceedingly low prices now in effect.

BRANCH OFFICE,
TEXAS LIVE STOCK JOURNAL,
220 DOLOROSA ST., SAN ANTONIO, TEX.
Association Meeting
On Tuesday, the 6th instant, the Southern Texas Live Stock association will hold its first annual meeting in San Antonio, its headquarters. This association was formed a year ago, now has 127 members and is in a prosperous condition. A large number of stockmen are expected to join at the forthcoming meeting.
Election of officers and other interesting matters will be acted upon and a good number will be present. All will receive every courtesy at the hands of the able officers and executive committee and San Antonio's other citizens. Come!

New Orleans Exposition.

Our good friend, Cuartle E. Petrie of San Antonio, having safely arrived in the Crescent City with his family, writes back to the JOURNAL branch office, under date of December 28, as follows:
"The World's Exposition is far beyond my expectations and also of everyone who has so far visited it. I think it an outrage to advertise the opening of the exposition and get people to visit it when all that is unpacked may be seen in two days.
"They have not as yet begun to lay out the grounds which are in such condition from recent rains as to render it impossible to go ahead with the work. The cattle buildings are about half completed and but few cattle and horses have arrived, but they are fine."
"Denison, Texas, is the only Texas place which is unpacking her exhibits, the necessary stands and show cases for other Texas exhibits not being completed. There is great dissatisfaction on the part of many exhibitors, owing to the delay, and they say it would not take much to induce them to return with all they have brought. The directors have been a little afraid of this and are now doing better work in trying to get things ready, and we are in hopes of seeing the exposition in full bloom in two months. Hold your crowd back and start a dime museum (if they must see something) until the real opening of the exposition, and not come now only to see a lot of box-d up exhibits.
In the government building, Mexico and Nebraska make fine exhibits, and have everything ready and in fine order, but the Mexican buildings and grounds are far from being completed. Notwithstanding the overcast sky, there was a good attendance on Christmas day. The most interesting feature of the day was the greeting to the children by Santa Claus and the distribution of presents from the immense Christmas tree in the main building. Hon. T. R. Pickering, the commissioner from Connecticut, personated Santa Claus and did well.
The thieves are getting in their work; a painter was arrested yesterday for stealing bottles of wine from the California exhibit. The car drivers struck again yesterday and in consequence there is but one line running to the exposition. The trouble grows out of the car companies not adhering to their contract made upon the first strike some time ago. The weather has been very bad of late; raining every day."

Horses.

Market still inactive. Demand for good cow ponies and saddle horses continues, but no supply as owners are holding off for better prices for spring trade. About 200 good mules on hand; little demand. No change in quotations.
John P. Campbell, the affable inspector of animals reports to the JOURNAL the following shipments:
J. P. Griffin, two cars mares and horses; J. Moffat, one car horses; J. W. Falk, one car horses; Ambler & Shipley, one car horses to New Orleans; N. Underwood, one car horses and mares; Meyers & Cullin, two cars horses and mares to Fort Worth; B. S. Worthington, one car horses to New Orleans; J. W. Montgomery, sixty head of horses to Lov-khart.

Cattle.

The stock market for the past two weeks has been very dull. There is now a fair supply on hand of reasonably good cattle with demand about equal. Cows are quoted at $17@20; heaves, $20@25. Sales light.

HORNS AND HOOF.

T. L. Culpepper is here.
P. F. Corey of Refugio is doing the city.
A. P. Rachal of Nueces county is in San Antonio.
F. J. R. Nutree and bride, of Ohio, are in San Antonio.
D. N. Clark, a Colorado stockman is tarrying at San'tone.
Lloyd Johnson sold a small bunch of cattle to Lampkin & Hardin.

James H. Campbell, of the popular live stock commission firm of Campbell, Lancaster & Co., Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, is in San Antonio, and honored the JOURNAL branch office with a call. Mr. Campbell is an old time friend of the JOURNAL representative, and grows in grace and good looks steadily.

C. T. Cannon of Pearland and his nephew W. H. Cannon of Plymouth, Ills. spent a couple of days in San Antonio, W. H. being on his way home.

News comes from Corpus Christi of the death of James W. Kennedy, son of Capt. M. Kennedy of that city. The young man was only 29 years old and died of consumption.

P. Coughlan an extensive cattle owner of New Mexico is visiting San Antonio accompanied by his wife. He is now coming through on his way to the Alamo City.

J. P. Hickman, Jr., proprietor of the Southern Hotel, was last week presented by his many friends with an elegant dime and pin. The dime was of recent coinage and splendidly mounted with a pure silver pin. It was a costly affair.

John O. Dewess, the well known stockman of this city has been seriously sick for two weeks past and much concern was felt for his welfare; but he is now coming through all right and it is hoped will very soon be on his feet.

Ed. English and G. H. Ainsworth, of Dimmitt county, have made a trade. Ainsworth buys a half interest in 2500 head of cattle from English, the stock to be given in parture in Ainsworth's hands for three years. The sale was on a basis of $15.50 all around.

Jim F. Crum, (best looking of the family), was recently married at New Mexico to Miss Edwards, daughter of Dr. Edwards who is a prominent physician there. Mr. and Mrs. Crum stopped over at San Antonio and then went on to Austin to spend the holidays. Of course "best wishes" are in order.

G. P. Comstock, a stockman well known as a visitor to San Antonio, is reported in the Miles City (Montana) Stock Growers' Journal to have met with a serious injury from a horse kicking off a fence rail which struck Comstock in the head and rendered him insensible for some hours. Is improving.

Last Monday John Mackey of Leon sold his ranch of 2300 acres, improvements, etc., to J. A. and T. H. Pitts, brothers, for $26,000. The sale was made through Russ & Stevens, of San Antonio. Messrs. Pitts were formerly of the West Indies, and are reputed with ample means.

Texas Wool Grower. Established June, 1882. CONSOLIDATED WITH Texas Live Stock Journal

ISSUED EVERY SATURDAY BY THE TEXAS PUBLISHING COMPANY, Fort Worth, Texas.

Subscription $2.00 per Annum. BUSINESS in the woolen trade is improving.

A LINCOLN sheep in England dressed 268 pounds. THE wool market of 1885 commences with the decline upward.

THE year 1884 lost a goodly number of sheep to the United States. AN effort for double decks and a strong effort, too, will be made in the legislature.

AN early spring will be worth many dollars to sheepmen, as the only markets offering any money for Texas sheep are the spring markets.

THERE will be, and has been some loss of sheep in Texas during the present winter, but we may hope that the better class of sheep have been well cared for.

BETWEEN December 24, 1882, and November 24, 1883, the English markets handled nearly five hundred million pounds of Australian and Cape wool.

THE Angora clip of Texas will cut a very respectable figure in the market during the year 1885. We know of several flocks which have increased in numbers of fleece-bearing goats very largely.

ME CHAS G. BURBANK, of Menard county, writes as follows: "Sheep are doing well in this section and the prospect of a good clip of wool next spring is excellent."

Feeding Sheep. A few days before Christmas we asked several wool growers known to us to be careful, intelligent, and experienced stockmen, to give us their opinions in answer to the following inquiries, viz: Will it pay to feed sheep in Texas in the winter? And if so, when would you begin feeding, what would you feed, how much and in what way?

To date we have four replies which we give in substance as follows: A gentleman writing from Tom Green county, says: "I always feed my ewe flocks through the winter. The tupping season begins in this section by the 15th to 20th of October. I make it a point to get my ewes in good condition to receive the rams, and to that end I begin to feed them a pint of grain each per day about the middle of September. I keep up this daily ration of grain through the winter, and until the young grass starts in the spring. I find it cheaper to feed oats, but I am satisfied corn will do as well. I never feed my wethers grain. I feed my stock rams, beginning by the 15th of September, and I keep them on grain sixty to ninety days. The last season was the first I fed my ewes. The experiment was a success, so I am feeding now, and I think I will adopt the plan as a rule. I put the grain in little hills on the ground, and the sheep eat every grain. This is not a very cleanly way, but I adopt it from necessity. Lumber crates so much here that I can't afford troughs. If I was on the railroad I would use troughs made of six inch stuff, raised ten to twelve inches from the ground."

A Taylor county wool grower writes: "I am certain it would pay big to feed all sheep through the winter. But I have been hard run for money since I began wool growing, and have never felt able to carry out my views on this point. Ewes should be fed by all means, and when I can afford to pay for grain I will feed mine. I say say 'when I can afford,' by which I mean when I can get the cash to pay for grain. The fact is, I can afford to feed now, and another year I will afford it. That is to say I will pay for grain to feed part of my flock if I have to sell the balance to buy grain. I always feed my rams one month before the breeding season, and from one to two months after, or until the rams are in good flesh and strong. I keep an invalid flock, consisting of weak ewes and lambs, to which I feed grain through the winter. I feed oats to this flock, but I give corn to my rams. They prefer it, and the difference in the cost is trifling. My plan is to sow the corn broadcast over about one-fourth of an acre of ground; so that the rams have to exercise to find the grains. They do find the grains, though, wonderfully. My sheep all look well, and I hope to get them into the spring all right."

An old California sheepman writing from Crockett county says: "A man is a fool to keep more sheep on his place than he can feed; and he should feed at least three months in the year, say from the 1st of December to the 1st of March. Oats or wheat, I think are better than corn. They are more readily digested. I am sure, than corn. After saying this much I ought to add that I keep more sheep on my place than I can feed, hence I am a fool. I know better, and next winter I will do better. But I took charge this time on a short winter. So far I am getting on all right, but every time the wind whips around to the north, I begin to quake in my boots, and I don't quit quaking until it gets in the south again. This "Sunny South" business is all stuff when it comes to sheep. This is the third winter I have spent in Texas, and I tell you it takes grain to put tallow on a sheep's kidneys that a Texas norther won't blow off. Grass will keep sheep alive and in tolerable order, but ewes especially ought to begin the spring fat, and grain is the only thing I know of that will do the business. I always fed wheat in California, and I find Texas winters are not much lighter on sheep than California winters. Since you want my advice, I give it. Tell your readers to feed grain if they have to sell half their sheep to pay for grain for the other half. A few sheep kept big-fat on grain during the winter are worth more in the spring than many that barely manage to pull through."

The fourth letter is from Duval county. The writer says: "I have never made a rule of feeding my sheep in the winter, except my invalids and my rams. I think it would pay to feed everything, however, and another year I will keep on my ranch only such sheep as I am willing to feed from the first cold spell until spring fairly opens."

All of this but confirms us in the view we have long entertained, that there is money far those who feed well through the winter every animal on their ranches. Grass is very well in its place, and we can keep stock hog-fat in Texas on grass alone, longer than the states and territories north and east of us. But for all that, in our opinion, the safest, indeed the only safe rule is to keep no stock on the ranch that cannot be fed on grain while the winter lasts.

We have recently had occasion to visit a number of the counties of Texas on the line of the T. & P. railroad, and everywhere we went, we were pointed to evidences of the fact that the prairie dog is fast taking the country. Not that he has so far gotten it, but he is increasing, and if not squelched will ere long have gotten in his work where it will do the most good—for him and his crowd. He is a prolific cuss and no mistake, and while our state authorities are quiescent as to his movements he is marching on, to the no small detriment of Western Texas land owners. In view of this fact we are disposed to ask, what is going to be done about it? The trouble seems to be that on the principle, "what is everybody's business is nobody's business," nobody is buying himself in the premises, while Mr. Prairie Dog is buying himself, in season and out of season, "gobbling up" grass roots that ought to be saved from his far reaching influence. Possibly he has fixed for himself limits, where he proposes to stop over for a perpetual camp. But the probabilities are all the other way, according to our way of figuring on results. Something may be done to stop him, and he may in the dim and distant future be notified by powers that can make good his notice, that "thus far shalt thou go and no farther." But it looks very much now, as if he is to be left to consult his own sweet will in the premises. Not that there is no way to do otherwise, but we strongly fear that no one is going to make it his special business to work up legislation on the subject.

The next session of the Texas legislature will assemble in Austin this month, and it is in view of this fact that we mention this subject at all. In a recent article in these columns, we sought to influence Texas wool growers to organize with the view to bringing their needs to the attention of our law-makers. So far we have seen no evidences pointing to any movement in the direction we indicated. But possibly something in the way of organization may yet be undertaken and accomplished in time to get in some effective work at Austin. If so, why not ask an appropriation for the purpose of putting a stop to the ravages of the prairie dog?

In California many years ago, the ground squirrels were quite as numerous and quite as destructive as are the prairie dogs in our state to-day. We are informed that the state legislature took up the matter of ridding the state of the pests, and practically accomplished the purpose. So in Australia, where the rabbits were as pestiferous as the dogs here, the colonial government offered rewards for the killing of them by fixing a price on their scalps, and the result has been that millions of them have been killed. And still the good work goes on, and every day large numbers of them are sent to the happy hunting grounds, where rabbits are hunted—no more forever.

FROM COLEMAN COUNTY. The Weather and Stock—If Sulphur Will Prevent, it will Cure the Scab.

LOHN BACHELOR'S RANCH. December, 21, 1884. Editor Texas Live Stock Journal: Horses, cattle and sheep are all in pretty poor condition for December in this county. The range is not good and if this should prove a hard winter, there will be some long faces in the spring. The cold rain we had in October was very severe on some herds of sheep—but only those that were in poor fix. There is some scab here yet. This disease will remain to cure the sheepmen of Texas until the end of time, I guess.

I see in some letters to your paper that some persons think feeding sulphur will prevent but not cure scab. How can this be? I would like to ask. To prevent; it must either kill or drive away a few scab bites and if I will do this, why scab it not kill or drive off an unlimited number? Let those who know answer.

Remember I am no advocate of feeding sulphur either as cure or preventive of scab. But believe it will cure if it will prevent. ME.

FROM KERR COUNTY. Quiet Christmas—The Difference in Times. Wintering in the Banner County.

Regular Correspondence Texas Live Stock Journal. KERRVILLE, KERR CO., Dec 27. Christmas is over, and with the holidays warm, pleasant weather, the salvation of sheep and shepherds. On account of the general depression of business, Christmas is, so far as amusement is concerned, a failure. Most of the stockmen drank a glass or two of egg nog to the future of stock interests, but have all returned to their posts, and will try by diligence to make sheep and cattle pay a living dividend. Heretofore nature has done so much for us by giving us the finest stock country in the world; that all necessary was to buy stock and turn them loose on the range, go to the round-up, cut out yearlings, turn them over to the buyer and receipt for the money, but now they must turn their attention to the grading and keeping of them in order to make success out of the business, and all who give it their attention will reap a reward for their labors, but all that follow the old order of things are bound to fail, as they would at anything else.

Unless we have a very severe winter and late spring, stock, and especially sheep, will go through all right in the banner county of Western Texas—old Kerr. More anon. W. E. STEWART.

Buy Gold Leaf Only. There is nothing bought or sold that offers so many temptations to wilful or ignorant fraud as a tobacco extract. It is simply a dark colored liquid, of the strength and reliability of which you must depend upon the maker and seller. We therefore caution you to buy only unbroken packages of the Gold Leaf Dip. J. H. BROWN, State Agent, Fort Worth.

Windbreaks and Fences. The Curo Star says: Windbreaks for the protection of stock from northers is becoming a subject of importance with stockmen whose herds are confined in prairies. In some instances these windbreaks are constructed of lumber, in others of rock or brush, but these articles are not always accessible, and extending thousands of acres are left unprotected. What is needed, therefore, is something that will prove a permanent shelter, and at the same time as inexpensive as possible. In this connection the Star would call the attention of farmers and stockmen to a new and valuable invention, a good windbreak to the McCartney rose hedges to be found in this section. These hedges require some cultivation at first, but in the course of a few years grow to a height of ten or twelve feet, and so dense that nothing can pass through them. It is said that a hedge of this rose after the second or third year with proper care will afford an excellent windbreak. Perhaps their adoption as pasture fence will also in a great measure put a stop to fence cutting.

Silver Leaf. Is properly named. Bread made with this baking powder is as light and nutritious as it is possible to be made. It never fails when the directions are followed, hence there is never a word of complaint heard against it. The inexperienced cook is able to make as good bread with it as the professional baker, simply because its ingredients are so compounded as to make failure impossible when the directions are followed; a trial is all that is necessary to make it indispensable to all well regulated households. J. H. BROWN guarantees this.
