SANBORN & WARNER,
Manufacturers' Agents for GLIDDEN'S PATENT STEEL
BARBED WIRE for the State of Texas.
Manufactured only by Washburn & Moen Mfg. Co. for the Eastern and Southern States.
It is made from two No. 12 steel wires, full size, evenly twisted, uniform tensile strength 1500 pounds. Genuinely galvanized bars at right angles with main wire, and uniformly 2 1/2 or 3 inches apart, as desired, the superiority of which is universally acknowledged. In consequence of these and other advantages we have good reason to believe that its sales are five times greater than the united sales of all others. In view of the above statement of facts, can purchasers afford to make a series of experiments with other cheaper and less widely known styles and grades of wire, especially wire which is manufactured without a license, and by this course subjecting themselves to assessments for damages by the United States courts. It is possible that the manufacturers of and dealers in unlicensed barb wire may offer to protect their patrons, but when this protection is offered, we respectfully suggest that you investigate the responsibility of such guarantors. While we disclaim any intention of monopolizing the barb wire business, our readers will please remember that there are few, if any, articles of merchandise manufactured which leave so small a margin between first cost and the price at which legitimate barb wire can be purchased. There are several styles of barb wire duly licensed by the owners of all the patents governing the manufacture of barb wire and bearing their license stamp and we would recommend their use if after a thorough investigation of the true merits of our wire and the present low prices you find you can afford to purchase any other style or inferior grade of wire. Inquire for the genuine Glidden, sold only by us or our appointed agencies throughout the state, our schedule of prices never exceeding that of our manufacturers. For samples, price lists and Glidden Barb Wire Pocket Compendium, address

BRANCH OFFICE,
TEXAS LIVE STOCK JOURNAL,

San Antonio, April 17, 1885.

The Near Future.

Whether or not these ominous rumors of wars will ultimately result in something serious to benefit Texas cattle interests is a matter much thought over by those concerned in the live stock industry; but the event of actual war is not to be the criterion of a certain extent of prosperity to Texas stockmen, however such war might largely hasten an advance in prices and consequent activity in cattle. Without such unusual demand there promises to be an early improvement in cattle prices and Texas, especially South Texas, are not so nearly forlorn and bankrupt as their dear friends of Kansas could hope for.
The best single evidence of confidence in the eventual value or market price of Texas cattle is found in the much quiet trading now going on throughout the state. Perhaps never before was there a similar degree of security maintained by livestock handlers than now characterizes all transactions. For a herd to be bought, means enquiry to be made by the ever watchful newspaper man and it is by no means always desirable that the outside world be acquainted with the new market found by some purchaser, nor is that purchaser at all anxious that his personal designs and intent become known.
In the course of his "round-ups" the JOURNAL man daily becomes cognizant of matters of interest, but if given publicity would benefit the public none. So there remains for the public naught but the suggestive expression, "We shall see what we shall see."
A well known stockman of South Texas, an authority on cattle matters, predicts a great activity for Texas stock within the next sixty days and he has an abiding confidence in the value of this state as a breeding ground and believes that all the Western and Northwestern states and territories will need the Texas breeding grounds in their business. It may be that Texas cattle will yet come high, but those same upper-country folks will find they must have them.

It Makes a Difference.

In that standard work dear to our childhood, Webster's Spelling-book, there is recited a live stock story which introduces a conversation between a farmer and a lawyer, and in the distance through the window of the illustration two bulls are ripping out each other's immortal soul. The beautiful moral tied on to this exciting tale is that it makes a difference as to whose bull is gored. So with Missouri. Some years ago that very commonwealth took an active hand in passing ineffective quarantine laws against Texas cattle, which laws the federal supreme court very speedily annulled when called to pass upon them. But of late, Missouri papers have given their moral support to Kansas in passing unconstitutional quarantine laws. Quite recently disease of such definite virulence, extent and location having broken out in Missouri, that great state is quarantined against by Colorado and it again makes a difference as to whose bull is gored.
Among other papers which have kindly patrolled little Texas on the back and soothingly asked her to take her Kansas quarantine medicine "like a little man," was the Kansas City Record. But now as Colorado is lading out some of the same brand of medicine to Missouri the Record moralizes thus:
"There has been a good deal of live-stock legislation in the West the past year and some important measures adopted in the interest of the cattle trade. Good laws rightly used are a blessing, but laws abused become a curse. There is such a thing as being too free with the laws. And with live-stock laws, this especially may become hurtful, as the cattle interests of the Western states and territories are so closely interwoven that what concerns one concerns another. This should be remembered by the various live-stock sanitary boards and we remind them that a conservative policy in such matters is the wise one. In not haste last week, without thoroughly investigating the matter, the Colorado Live Stock Sanitary Board, at its first meeting, recommended a quarantine against Missouri and other Eastern states on account of the supposed presence of pleuro-pneumonia in their borders. This hasty action without investigation is ill-timed and may result in harm both to Missouri and Colorado."
It is the board of commissioners had recommended that Calloway county, Mo., be quarantined against, this would perhaps have been well enough, but to take in the whole of the state of Missouri, as large as it is, because there were a few sick cattle in one corner seems unjust and looks as if it was prompted by the interest of a few western bull breeders so as to give them a monopoly of the bull market of the 'Centennial state.'"

The Cattle Market.

It is difficult to find head, tall or middle to the cattle market in any portion of the state just now, as sales are made constantly and prices are not given. It is evident, however, that there is money in the hands of Texas men to purchase all the cattle below certain figures. For round lots of one thousand or more, picked up here and there by local buyers, there are none for sale now at less than $10.00 for yearlings and $14.00 for two raised in Central Texas—delivery to be made on the ground where gathered, or at convenient points. The country is full of would-be buyers after the cheaper yearlings and twos which were offered during the uncertain period when it was not known if the grass would grow this spring, and before there was head that at the cost of 20 cents per head on the first thousand and 10 cents per head on the balance whatever the number might be, healthy cattle, (healthy, mind you, ranchers of New Mexico,) could be passed into New Mexico or Arizona, the latter territory charging 20 cents on the first five hundred, and 10 cents on the balance. And buyers (so called) there are in plenty who will pay the price for round lots, that local buyers pay for churn dasher yearlings in numbers of ten up, but don't understand it takes money to gather them.
Well, the situation is, that there is a regular, steady, upward tendency in the range cattle market, which will result in the restoration of the prices of last year for all cattle admissible to other states and territories, and the facts plainly evident that buyers will soon have to pay more and have a shorter time to move the stock than is necessary for the proper driving and locating on new ranges.
The lowest figures of last week's transactions were $9.00 and $9.50 for two lots of 1000 yearlings raised and delivered in Brown and Comanche counties, and we are informed that there are no more round lots to be had at the price.
Cattle above the quarantine line are not quotable, neither are the located stocks of Western Texas, except at figures so far above the prices of gathered bunches from overstocked ranges as not to cut any figure on the market.

Died.

On Tuesday evening last at 6:30 o'clock, Capt. Richard King died at the Menger Hotel, San Antonio, of cancer of the stomach. He was surrounded by all his family except Mrs. Major Atwood, his daughter. In the afternoon his remains were interred in the San Antonio cemetery and the funeral was very large, attended as it was by every stockman and prominent citizen in the city.
