MAKING BUTTER IN HOT WEATHER.

Hot weather is what tries the butter maker's metal. It is well nigh impossible to succeed in making a really fine article without ice. The next best thing is a spring of cold water running through the milk room. Next to this is a wind mill attached to the well in such a manner as to have a tank of fresh water in which to set the milk and cream. Next is the cool cellar and milk set in open pans.

Eternal vigilance is indeed the price of success in making good butter when the thermometer registers up in the nineties or even the eighties.

In the first place the milk, if set in a creamery or in cans of any kind deeper than the common milk pan, must be quickly cooled. With plenty of ice this is an easy matter. Without it fresh water from the well must be poured into the tank surrounding the milk after that which cooled the milk has been drawn off say half an hour after straining, or as soon as the water becomes as warm as the milk. A neglect to do this will result in a great loss of cream and consequently of butter.

The cream must be kept as cool as possible until sufficient has accumulated for a churning. If there is an extra can in the creamery this is a good place to keep it. Exposure to the open air in the milk room—covered of course—will sour it sufficiently in 24 hours. It should be stirred frequently during the time to ensure its ripening evenly the same as in winter. There is danger of its getting too sour, which must be guarded against.

The churning in summer time should always be done early in the morning, so as to get it over the while it is cool. It is a good plan to start it before breakfast. If one of the men can be spared from the chores to do this job it should be so arranged, as with most churns it is pretty heavy work for a woman.

If the churn is not filled too full, three-quarters of an hour ought to bring the butter to granules. Then add a pint of salt to facilitate its separation from the buttermilk, turn a few times or until the buttermilk will draw off nicely and wash in plenty of cold water. Churn at 58 degrees if possible in summer.

It is an undecided question as to whether the thorough washing of the butter detracts from its flavor. Old-time butter makers often omitted the washing entirely, and some of the finest flavored butter I ever tasted was not washed at all. This was years ago, and since making butter for myself I always wash it until the water runs off nearly clear. Butter that is thoroughly washed needs less working. Overworked butter quickly spoils. Butter should be hard enough to resist the ladle or worker or it is not in fit condition to be worked.

When years ago, ice was not obtainable, and the churning a small one, the writer used to hang the butter down the well (which had an open curb) until sufficiently cold and hard to work nicely. A good cellar if properly managed, keeping it closed during the middle of the day and open when cooler, will keep the butter hard if there is no ice. It should be perfectly sweet and clean, with no vegetables, old boards, or trash of any kind around. Scents at door and windows are a necessity.

The care of all milk utensils, as well as those for the butter, must have special attention in hot weather. Never put hot water upon milk pails until they have first been rinsed with cold. Never use soap around dairy utensils of any kind. Hot water, pure and simple, is by far the best cleanser and destroyer of microbes. Let all pails, cans, strainers, etc., be given a good scalding every day. Look out for any cloths in use about the dairy. See that they are exchanged very frequently for fresh ones. Rinse and scald them and shake out well before hanging up to dry each time they are used. Make strainer cloths of new bleached butter cloth and have them large enough to double twice over the lower part of the wire strainer. Don't leave off the cloth strainer. If you do not think it necessary, just try it once, no matter how clean your cows may be. If there is nothing on it but milk, you may not need it. If there is anything on it, you will be convinced of its usefulness.

RAISING CALVES.

The following advice concerning the raising of heifer calves for the dairy taken from the Farm Stock and Home is to the point and if heeded as it should be would make success almost sure. Regular feeding with milk of the right temperature are the two most important points.

"Heifers are about the best property a farmer can have, and no one should allow one to be slaughtered. The cost of raising them is exceedingly small compared with their value as money makers.

"Dairy calves can be raised on skim milk; in fact, it is better than whole milk, as the latter is likely to give them scours, or if it does not affect them in this way it will give them a tendency to lay on flesh. Our best workers in the dairy are the ones that remain 'skin poor' under high feeding. To raise a calf economically, it should have the dam's milk from five to ten days. Give it fresh, so the milk will be near the normal temperature, 98 degrees.

"There is mere danger in overfeeding than in feeding too little. There is greater danger in feeding from a dirty pail than in changing from whole to skim milk. It is difficult, in fact impossible, to tell exactly how much milk a calf should have. It is only by close observation that the capacity in each can be learned. Feed only twice a day. Feeding three or four times a day may be very nice in theory, but in practice it will not compensate for the extra trouble.

"The second week give half-whole and half-skim milk. The mixture should feel warm to the finger. The third week give 10 to 12 pounds skim milk per day; each mess of milk should be added to it a heaping teaspoonful of ground flax. Gradually increase until a heaping tablespoonful of ground flax is given. Also increase the quantity of skim milk to 30 or 40 pounds a day, according to the capacity of the calf. Give a little early cut hay when six weeks old. Good calves can, however, be raised without roughage. It is much easier to raise calves that come in the fall than those that come in the spring, as it is easier to protect them from cold than flies."

Volume 43 of the Herd Register, containing the entries of 7000 animals, is now ready for distribution and can be had by applying to J. J. Hemmingway, Secretary American Jersey Cattle Club, No. 8, West Seventeenth street, New York. Free to members on application. Sent postpaid—non-subscribers for $1. Every Jersey owner should have this number.

ONCE IN A LIFETIME.

Sometimes the chance never comes to take advantage of such an opportunity as will be afforded the people of Fort Worth on Friday, May 31, when Dr. R. C. Flower, the most eminent specialist of his time, will see visitors at Hotel Worth this city until noon, and in the afternoon will at the opera house deliver a free lecture to ladies only. Dr. Flower has visited Fort Worth on several occasions, and each succeeding time has been met with increased throngs of suffering humanity, attracted by the reputation of this great physician. By a change in arrangements Dr. Flower will be able to see patients in the forenoon of Friday, May 31, which will give more people a chance to see him.

But probably nothing that Dr. Flower has ever done, not even the wonderful cures of obstinate diseases effected will attract the attention his lecture to ladies will. In the large cities of the East where he has lectured the press and the people have been loud in praise, not only of the skill and knowledge displayed, but of his eloquence and oratory as well. There are few ladies who would not like to know their true physical condition and how to remedy any ills with which they may be afflicted, and by attending this lecture they will learn of much they never before knew. There need be no hesitancy of attending this lecture, as the best people of the larger cities, who know Dr. Flower better than he is known here, turn out in great numbers to hear him. It seems that the Fort Worth opera house should be crowded Friday afternoon, when he appears. In another part of the paper will be found what is said of Dr. Flower by some of the leading newspapers of the United States, in whose cities he has delivered his famous lecture.

HE DIDN'T THINK!

Some very good men buy 4-1-2 foot mowers because they think their teams not able to pull a 6 foot machine. These men do not take the trouble to convince themselves or let others convince them they are wrong. It seems to us that if it be true as claimed by Emerson, Talcott & Co., makers of the Standard wide-cut mowers, that one man and one team of 6 feet Standard mower will go over 15 acres of ground and the mower costing, say $50, that it is a great gain over two 4-1-2 foot mowers, costing each about $35 and requiring two men and two teams to do the work in the same time. Testimonials are generally taken to be mere buncombe, but readers of Emerson, Talcott & Co.'s advertisement will notice that the proposition is to prove the claims to be true.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

Realizing that a large number of visitors to the Confederate Reunion will want to see more of the country than in the vicinity of Houston, has made a round trip rate to the City of Mexico and return of $27.50. Tickets on sale May 24, 25 and 26, 1895, and good at any time within 30 days from date of sale.

Tickets reading to Houston will be extended 15 days on depositing with the joint agent at 207 Main street, allowing sufficient time to make side trips without sacrificing the return portion of the excursion tickets.

Stop overs allowed at any point in Mexico en route on notice to the train conductor. Excursionists wishing to go via Eagle Pass and return via Laredo, or vice versa, can secure tickets at rate of $32.50.

Descriptive matter, maps and literature pertaining to Mexico will be furnished on application at the city ticket office, 207 Main street, Houston, Texas. A choice of berth in sleepers can be secured by applying early and registering names.

Impogant item. Mexican money being worth about 51 cents, expenses in Mexico will be about half of those in the United States, or in other words, an American's capital almost doubles after crossing the border.

TEXAS NEEDS DEVELOPMENT.

In the Dallas News of recent date, in answer to the question: "What does Texas need to put her to the front and keep her there?" editors of Texas papers were nearly unanimous in declaring for the need of education along industrial lines, and a surcease from political agitation.

The agricultural classes of Texas not only furnish the basis for two-thirds of the taxable valuation from which the government derives its revenues, but are the mainstay for the existence of the nearly four hundred weekly papers published in Texas, and it is but just in considering any question of public policy to view it from a standpoint of its relation to their interests.

While the need for a campaign of education with industrial development as its central figure is very great, it is to be feared that environments and former practice will keep the editors along the beaten path of political agitation to the entire exclusion of industrial discussion.

Of the many fields in which this required work can be done, nothing need be said, every editor's surroundings being a sufficient object lesson for all purposes, and if he will talk as earnestly of "debtor neighborhoods and their relief," as he has in the past if nations in similar circumstances, he will have begun an era of prosperity for himself and his people greater than to now enjoys.

It is often wondered if the agricultural editor got out of a job, would he go to work on a farm and put into practice the doctrines he preached so glibly.

CURIOSITY OF MAN AND BEAST. Is not this the distinctive feature of the curiosity of animals compared with that of man—animals fear and resent change, disliking what is new, while to man the unexpected is often a source of wonder and delight?

The meeting of the State Horticultural association at Bowie, beginning July 31st, right in lay-by time, should be attended by every farmer who can possibly get there.

shipment, and taken altogether the expected rush and consequent drop in prices when the grass movement begins bids fair not to materialize.

If the farmers of Texas would take lessons from the bankers instead of hurrying vituperation at them they would do better. At their recent convention at Galveston the bankers listened with grave attention to papers on live stock, irrigation and kindred subjects, politics coming in for a very minor consideration.

Dairying, with its adjuncts, is the hope of the Southern farmer, as natural conditions are decidedly in his favor. The advantage of temperature experienced by the Northern dairyman is overcome by the extra expenses of feed and shelter, which in the South are provided at minimum cost.

The census of opinion estimates the Texas cotton acreage reduction at seventeen per cent. This with the extreme unlikelihood of the yield per acre being as great as last year, will cut the state's production materially.

In their communications to the Dallas News, the editors of Texas were practically unanimous in declaring that that state's greatest need is industrial education and development, but a resolution committing them to this policy until next year was very promptly voted down at their meeting in Waco.

What has cost the people of this country many thousands of dollars—the income tax—is dead. Experimental legislation comes high, but if the politicians confined themselves to what laws the country actually needs, they would soon be compelled to resign for lack of material.

While all this talk about cattle shortage is going the rounds, shortage in hogs is growing on the country, and if ever on earth the time was ripe for Texas farmers to embark in hog raising that time is now.

WHOSE WILLING, WORKING WIFE.

Elia Wheeler Wilcox. Up with the birds in the early morning. The dewdrop glows like a precious gem.

Oh, glorious colors and clouds are turning. If she would but look over hills and trees; But here are the dishes and there is the churning.

Those things must always yield to these. The world is filled with the wine of beauty.

If she would pause and drink it in; But pleasure, she says, must wait for duty— Neglected work is committed sin.

The day grows hot and her hands grow weary. Oh, for an hour to cool her head, Out with the birds and wind so cheery;

But she must get dinner and make her bread. The busy men in the hayfield working, If they saw her sitting with idle hand,

Would think her lazy and call her shirking. And she never could make them understand.

They do not know that the heart within her Hungers for beauty and things sublime.

They only know that they want their dinner. Plenty of it and just "on time."

And after the sweeping and churning and baking And dinner dishes are all put by, She sits and sews, though her head is aching,

Till time for supper and "chores" draws nigh. Her boys at school must look like others.

She says, as she patches their frocks and hose, For the world is quick to censure mothers

For the least neglect of their children's clothes. Her husband comes from the field of labor;

He gives no praise to his weary wife, She's done no more than has her neighbor;

'Tis the lot of many in country life. But after the strife and weary tussle, When life is done and she lies at rest, The nation's brain, and heart and muscles,

Her sons and daughters—shall call her blest. And I think the sweetest joy of heaven, The rarest bliss of eternal life, And the fairest crown of all will be given Unto the wayworn farmer's wife. Isabelle asks if I know anything about the silver question. I can frankly answer no! I hear it discussed also, and tried to keep up with it that I might be able to talk about it intelligently, but it has proven too much for me, and I think will for you, my dear Isabelle.

My Dear Mrs. B.—Not a letter in our department last week. That will never do. Well, we have had rain, and everything is flourishing in our neighborhood. I am much obliged for Tess of Duberville—we are reading it in our club. I want every reader of the Journal to know that a country club for women can be a success, for ours is a "howling success."

Do you know anything about the silver question? If you do, please tell me all you know. Our men get off in groups and talk and talk about silver. They talk it at the table and in fact all the time. I never was as tired of anything in my life. I think maybe if I knew more about it I would have more patience with all this talk. I have heard all my life if certain things came to pass we would all starve to death, and if certain other things came to pass we would all be rich. But when they come to pass I have never noticed any difference in our condition—none whatever. So I don't get excited over all this talk.

Please give me a good recipe for lettuce dressing. We have the finest lettuce this year I ever saw. But I do not like it without a dressing. But please give me a recipe that does not call for olive oil. I do not know what I would do without our page in the Journal. I have tried some of the recipes and found them excellent. Some of them we can't try because we can't get the things they call for. I wish you would give more recipes for good common, everyday dishes. ISABELLE.

TWO DARK CAKES. These cakes, having molasses in their composition, must be baked in a slow oven.

Spice Cake—One cup of brown sugar, one-half cup of molasses, one tablespoonful of cinnamon, one cup of thick sour cream, one tablespoonful of soda, one tablespoonful of allspice, three and one-half cups of flour, one pound of raisins. Seed and chop the raisins, dissolve the soda in a tablespoonful of water, add it to the molasses, then add the cream, sugar and flour. Beat well, add spices and the raisins, well floured. Bake in a moderate oven one hour.

Coffee Cake—One-half cup of butter, one cup brown sugar, one cup molasses, one cup strong coffee (boiled), one beaten egg, four cups flour, one heaping teaspoonful baking powder, one tablespoonful cinnamon, one teaspoonful of cloves, two pounds of seedless raisins, one quarter of a pound of sliced citron. Dredge the fruit and add last. Bake one hour.

HOME MADE BROWN BREAD. Three cups Indian meal, two cups flour, two cups sweet milk, one cup sour milk, one teaspoonful soda dissolved in a little sweet milk, 1-4 cup molasses. Steam three hours. VIDE.

SARATOGA POTATOES. Pare and cut into very thin slices, four large potatoes, let them stand a few minutes in cold salt water, then take a handful of the potatoes, squeeze the water from them, dry in a napkin and separating the slices, drop into a skillet of boiling lard, taking care that they do not stick together. Stir till they are of a light brown color, take out with a wire spoon, drain well and serve. —A Sullivan County Woman.

LEMON PIE. One lemon (grated rind and juice), two cups sugar, one cup water, cook and thicken with one tablespoonful of flour. Whisk cool with two beaten eggs, a little salt. This is for two pies, with two crusts each.—S. J. Thomas.

WOMAN AS FARMERS. Farmers who find the business profitable owe much of their success to the good management of their wives. It is conceded that a farmer without a wife that is a good home manager, cannot expect to make money. As a rule farmers' wives are as skillful managers as their husbands, and share, or should, almost equally the burdens and privations of farm life.

Physicians

prescribe Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites because they find their patients can tolerate it for a long time, as it does not upset the stomach nor derange the digestion like the plain oil.

Scott's Emulsion is as much easier to digest than the plain oil as milk is easier to digest than butter. Besides, the fish-fat taste is taken out of the oil, and it is almost palatable. The way sickly children, emaciated, anemic and consumptive adults, gain flesh on Scott's Emulsion is very remarkable.

Don't be persuaded to accept a substitute! Scott & Bowne, N. Y. All Druggists. 50c. and $1.

ments, there is not much occasion for amusements, at least beyond what can be found in the family, amusing one's country clubs and the children. Life was intended more for useful labors, for self-improvement and benefiting society than for mere recreations. There is more care and anxiety in playing the ordinary games, probably, than is usually required for study.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Bowie, Tex., May 19, 1894. Dear Mrs. B.—Kindly address me through the Journal to thank "M. K." for her valuable recipes. I have tried the bed bug remedy and find it very effective. I see "Isabelle" thinks the "country clubs" can be made a success. Well, they may be, but they do seem to me to be very far fetched for country people. By the way, can "M. K." tell us how to prevent our cows milk from being bitter, without keeping the cows up and feeding them? Can some one tell me how to prevent glass jars from breaking when hot preserves are put in them. Yours, MRS. I. E. W.

FREE LECTURE TO WOMEN.

Dr. R. C. Flower, of Boston, will deliver his new lecture, entitled "Health, Happiness and Beauty," at Fort Worth, Tex., opera house, at 2:30 Friday afternoon, May 31.

This lecture will be delivered under the auspices of the "Woman's Health Association" of New England, which has arranged with Dr. Flower to deliver this lecture (free) to the women of twenty cities.

If you would know how to regain lost health and preserve your health, if you have it; if you would know how to get the greatest amount of happiness out of both the single and married life; if you would know how to preserve your beauty and youthful looks far into the evening of life, then go and hear Dr. Flower.

Dr. Flower's friends claim, that as a lecturer, he has no superior, if equal, upon the American platform, and for wit, sarcasm, pathos and beauty of speech he has no equal. Dr. Flower lectured yesterday afternoon in Assembly Hall to over 1200 women, representing largely the wealth, culture and brains of the city. Never was an audience more enthusiastic in praise and applause than this vast assembly of women. They laughed, cried and laughed at the same time.—Philadelphia Times.

Dr. R. C. Flower's lecture at Assembly hall yesterday afternoon, to women, was attended by nearly 1500 ladies. The doctor had the sympathy of his large audience from the opening to the close of his lecture. The enthusiasm of his audience at times knew no bounds. No higher compliment could be paid the doctor than the remark of the president of the Chester club—"A finer lecture was never delivered by man."—Philadelphia Press.

Dr. R. C. Flower lectured last night to nearly 3000 people in Tremont hall. His audience went wild over his eloquence, keen thrusts, pathetic appeals and quick sallies.—Boston Globe. Never was a lecture better received nor an audience more highly entertained than at Tremont Temple last night. The lecturer was Dr. R. C. Flower.—Boston Journal.

Dr. R. C. Flower's lecture to the ladies in Columbian hall yesterday afternoon was the finest entertainment ever given the women of this city. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance, while those who did enjoy for an hour and forty minutes, and tears, the richest treat of the season. The doctor's tribute to the married life and home, and his closing tribute to women for eloquence, pathos and beauty of speech can never be outdone.—Courier (Lafayette, Ind.)

A SPLENDID INSTITUTION.

The attention of the Journal readers is directed to the advertisement of Mahan's Commercial college to be found in another column.

This honorable and meritorious college was established in 1870, incorporated and chartered in 1879, and is a shining link in the golden chain of educational advancement in Texas, and is well known throughout the South.

Mahan's college is a household word throughout Texas. Its ex-students have won favor throughout the South, thousands of them are at the head of successful businesses or holding positions in all the honorable vocations of life.

This institution has the most thorough and eminently practical course of business training in America. Its president has been in business and in the school room for thirty years, and was the first educator in Texas to discontinue the use of text-books on book-keeping and financial statement writing, by having him actually do it from start to finish. Prof. Mahan has had twenty-three years' experience as a Texas educator.

Mahan's Commercial college, Sherman, is the place to go to fit yourself for a successful business career. The money spent here is capital invested that will pay you every year of your life the capital back again with a liberal interest.

PERSONAL.

A. G. Ligertwood of Matador was here Monday.
A. R. Jones, live stock agent for the "Katy," left for St. Louis Wednesday.

J. W. Overton, an East Texas cattle dealer, was in Fort Worth Wednesday.

Sam Davidson of Henrietta, a prominent cattleman, was in this city Sunday.

Captain Charles Goodnight came in from his ranch Monday, and reports the country dry.

John Belcher of Henrietta, a wealthy cattleman, was a visitor to Fort Worth Wednesday.

Jack Hittson of Mineral Wells, son of Colonel Wm. Hittson, was in Fort Worth Wednesday.

C. W. Merchant and Don Bell, two well known Abilene cattlemen, were visitors to Fort Worth Sunday.

Jerry Barbee, live stock agent of the Cotton Belt, returned Sunday from the week's absence in St. Louis and Chicago.

W. K. Bell of Palo Pinto county cattleman, farmer and stock raiser, was in the live stock center Wednesday extending the "glad hand" to his numerous friends.

A Waco young man who is able and willing wants work on a ranch or farm and ranch combined. A letter addressed to lock box 204 Waco, Tex., will reach him.

Murdo Mackenzie of Trinidad, Col., a well-to-do cattleman and member of the executive committee of the Texas Cattle Raisers' association, was in Fort Worth Monday.

Jno. Gamel, the Mason county cattleman, was in this city Tuesday. Said that grass was finer in his section than ever before, and cattle-putting on big lawn fast.

Ray Wheatley, a prominent young business man of Amarillo, was in Fort Worth Tuesday en route to Houston, and paid the Journal a pleasant call. In common with the people of his section, he reported the need of rain.

M. C. Gates of Kansas City has an advertisement in the Journal in which he makes an offer which should interest every man who intends putting up hay. His offers more for the money than is usual.

Emerson, Talcott & Co. have done a phenomenal business with their outfit of mowers in Texas. The testimonials show that their merits are appreciated by those who have used them. They have an advertisement elsewhere that should be carefully read.

D. G. Galbraith and J. D. Mitchell of the Square and Compass ranch, were here Monday on their way home from Amarillo, where they delivered a big string of 200 to a Dakota buyer. They report the Amarillo country as distressingly dry, and cattle beginning to look thin in consequence.

Charley Coppinger of Securry county was in Fort Worth Monday, having come in from Panhandle City, where he delivered the 3-year-old steers he recently sold to E. Coghlan of Montana. The cattle were shipped to their destination from that point.

A. G. Anderson of Colorado, Texas, has an offer to pasture any number of horses or cattle up to 2000 head at three cents per head per month. This is cheap enough, especially, as he says he has good grass and everlasting water.

Journal readers have noticed the big screw which adorns the advertisement of J. C. Lyon at the bottom of the big string of 200 to a unique idea, but not more unique than his screw worm ointment is efficacious. This week the screw is bigger than ever.

Jeff Justin of Snyder, Tex., writes the Journal as follows: "Fine rains and good grass, stock in splendid shape and a bright future before us. We can not get along without the Journal as it keeps us better posted in the cattle business than any other paper."

Frank Brown of Childress, Tex., was in the Texas cattle mart Monday. Mr. Brown went out of the cattle business during the depression, but caught the infection when prosperous times returned, and has recently bought quite a number of steers. He reported the country around Childress as fearfully dry.

T. J. McCarthy, a well-known Palo Pinto county cattleman, was here Monday on his way to Catoosa, I. T., where he has a herd of cattle on the grass. He said it came in from Eastland today, and from Strawn this way a splendid rain fell. The ditches on both sides of the railroad were full of water."

Sid Webb of Bellville, a well-known cattleman, was a visitor to Fort Worth Sunday. Said that rain was badly needed in his section, and that if it did not come soon grass would all die. The condition, Mr. Webb spoke of prevails at this writing nearly all the way up the Denver, and unless a rain comes before long cattle will show the results.

Hand books of finance are getting to be as numerous as the "leaves in Valambrosa," some good, some bad, but the "Finance Manual of Farmville," issued by the Currency Pub. House, 173 Michigan street, Chicago, is said to be the best one of the lot. The small sum of 25 cents gets this popular work, at which price no one should be without it. It is advertised in another column.

John T. Hargrove of Sulphur Springs, bank cashier and stockman, was in this city Wednesday. He said: "The general rain which has fallen nearly all over the state our immediate section has been left out and every thing is very dry. I look for rain before long, though, as our country generally gets its share."

The Journal takes pleasure in acknowledging receipt of a very handsome and complete catalogue issued by the Kansas City Hay Press Co., of Kansas City, Mo. An advertisement of their "Lightning" hay press is now running in this paper. Besides manufacturing the best hay press on the market, this well-known firm manufactures hay presses, rakes and stacks.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN FRUIT AND TRUCK FARMING.

Not for many years past has the general prospect for the various fruits been so favorable as at the present time. The continued cold weather of January and February kept the bloom well back until the proper time for safely opening. Some damage, however, in certain sections has been sustained by severe wind and sand storms, and no further misfortunes the country generally will be blessed with an abundance of fruit. Gardens also, though late, are doing well.

This means a great deal to our people in the way of health, profit, comfort and luxury. It may not be fully understood how much of health, wealth and pleasure depends upon the abundance of fruit and vegetables, and what a luxury they afford is not fully appreciated until deprived of them in some degree.

And just on this point, hold that the masses of the people of the South and West at least do not use the proper diligence to have a good supply of fruit and vegetables, but go about orchard and garden work in a very thoughtless way, not exercising the same judicious care that insures success in any other undertaking.

Major C. R. Breedlove of Kansas City, formerly a resident of Texas, and one of the best known and most popular citizens the state ever had, was in Fort Worth Wednesday, from where he went to Waco. He said: "I think the prospects in every line of business are better than they have been for years. Our way down from Kansas City noticed all crops in fine condition, and the recent rains insure splendid yields. It would be a good thing for the country if political agitation could be barred for about eight months. The people would all be better off."

W. A. Sansom, the general manager of the Standard Live Stock Commission company of Chicago, in discussing the general condition of business, says that he can convince any one who patronizes Chicago that the market at Chicago is the market of the country; there are many signs of improvement and the outlook for Texas shippers is good and that should the cattlemen of Texas make the strides in the next few years that they have during the past that the buyers will be looking for the tops on all grades of cattle in the quarantine division.

E. P. Maddox of Fort Worth, a breeder of registered Jersey cattle and Berkshire hogs has an advertisement in the Journal which should attract the attention of those who contemplate purchasing stock of the kind he has for sale. Mr. Maddox was in the Journal on Monday and said he would be surprised to know how much separated and skim milk is sold in this and other cities. People are made to pay for it just the same as if it was the straight article. There should be some kind of a law against this imposition, not only for the swindle perpetrated on the consumers, but for the honest competition. The farmers of Texas are turning their attention more to raising good stock these days and if every one of them who milks more than five cows would buy a separator, he would find it a paying investment."

S. P. Myer of Louisville, Ky., a member of the Louisville Land and Cattle Co., has an advertisement in the Journal which should attract the attention of those who contemplate purchasing stock of the kind he has for sale. Mr. Myer was in the Journal on Monday and said he would be surprised to know how much separated and skim milk is sold in this and other cities. People are made to pay for it just the same as if it was the straight article. There should be some kind of a law against this imposition, not only for the swindle perpetrated on the consumers, but for the honest competition. The farmers of Texas are turning their attention more to raising good stock these days and if every one of them who milks more than five cows would buy a separator, he would find it a paying investment."

W. A. Johnson of Memphis, Tenn., editor of the Memphis Herald, was in Fort Worth Sunday, en route home from attending the press association meeting at Waco. He reported "Hall county will make a good average crop of wheat and oats this year, and it is the only county in the Panhandle that will. In Wilbarger, Hardeman and Wichita counties, most of the wheat has been plowed up and other crops are at a standstill for want of rain. For the time of year I have not seen that part of the northwest as dry in a good many years. The people of my section are taking hold of irrigation to some extent, not with the hopes of making a success out of farming, but for advancing the stock farming interests."

Sometime last year the Journal published an advertisement for one T. G. Nankin of Kaufman, Tex., a breeder of registered hogs. As a customary upon the first insertion of the ad, Mr. Nankin was given a nice personal mention, which was not amiss, as at that time he had some good stock, having made a creditable display at the Dallas fair. Acting on the Journal's recommendation, Mr. J. T. Dupre of Burnet, Tex., sent Mr. Nankin $300 more for different kinds of stock, but up to this time has never received any of the stock ordered or his money back, hence reasonably concludes Nankin to be a fraud. Mr. Dupre wrote the Journal a letter telling of his treatment, and the matter was taken up with Nankin, who has written several plausible letters promising to square accounts. Both the Journal and Mr. Dupre, neither of which has been done. It is the Journal's rule to refuse advertisements from irresponsible concerns, but in this instance was made an exception. Readers of this paper are warned to steer clear of T. G. Nankin of Kaufman as from his actions in this instance he is wholly unreliable.

Unfortunately much of the spraying which is done is of little value owing to improper mixing of materials, lateness of application and lack of thoroughness in the work.

It is not good economy, says an experienced cook, to cook the same things day after day. HORSES AND MULES.

DIAGNOSIS OF GLANDERS.

Every horseman and horse-owner should exercise the greatest caution in handling horses affected with glanders, or suspected to be so, not only because it is fatal to the horse, but because the life of the owner or attendant, when once infected, is almost invariably doomed to a pitiable termination.

One of the peculiarities of glanders is its chronic, insidious course. It may exist in a horse for years without showing any apparent external symptoms.

Such obscure cases can now be recognized by the use of mallein, a product similar to tuberculin, used in diagnosing tuberculosis.

The technique of the operation, too difficult for the layman, should only be entrusted to a professional man or to one well versed in such matters.

THE LOCO WEED.

Loco is growing on the plains in great abundance again this year. The loco plant grows in a bunch about the size of the crown of an ordinary hat and is rank, green and tender.

OIL HARNESS WITH COAL OIL.

I have now for years been using the clear, refined coal oil to oil my harness with, and find it cheaper and better than any other harness grease I ever used.

HORSE REPORTS.

A brisk trade in the exportation of American horses to various European ports has sprung up recently and reached considerable proportions.

It is essential that diseased animals are not allowed to run with the healthy young hogs, as eggs are being constantly excreted by the worms in the kidney of the deceased animals.

AN AUTHORITY. One of the very richest books in the way of genuine humor that has been published for many years is "Samantha at Saratoga," by Miss Marietta Holley.

Rev. Dr. Newman, the distinguished bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, in writing to a friend, says of this book:

"I commend 'Samantha at Saratoga' as an antidote for the blues, a recreation for mental taxation, a provocation for wholesome laughter, and an inspiration to godliness. It is the bitter-sweet sugar coated with the sweetness of exhilarating fun; it is irony laughing at fashionable folly; it is exalted wit with the scalpel in one hand and the Balm of Gilead in the other.
