SORUB AND PURE BREED.

An Object Lesson From the Kansas Experiment Station.

Professor Georgeron of the Kansas experiment station decided to open up by actual test whether pure bred steers were more profitable than scrub steers in the Hopper state.

November 1, 1894, the steers were taken from pasture to yard, where they were kept all winter and fed on corn, corn-stalks and coarse hay.

April 12 they were sold, and here was where the pure blood had got in its work in the final fattening.

HOW THE SWINE AND CATTLE DEPARTMENTS OF THE FAIR FLOURISHED.

Guy Sumpter, vice president of the Texas state fair yesterday remarked to a News reporter: "During our last year's fair I was very forcibly impressed with the improvement in our swine exhibit."

Some four or five years ago there were only twenty-eight head of hogs exhibited at our fair.

Table with 2 columns: Exhibitor Name and Number of Hogs. Includes Harris & Hardin, Terrell, J. D. Gray, etc.

The excess number sold over number exhibited by Sunny Slope farm were shipped from Kansas. The amount received for these hogs was $12,000.

HOW TO DEVELOP DAIRYING.

Out on the big prairies of Western Minnesota the farmers of Graceville, without the aid of a "promoter," organized a creamery.

TOO MANY RABBITS.

Jack rabbits have become so numerous and troublesome this fall in Cassia county, Idaho, that the farmers are organizing round-up hunts.

HORSES AND MULES.

Mike Dwyer has made no entries at Coney Island on account of his intention to race in the West.

William Astor Chanler, the latest acquisition to the turf, is a grandson of the late John Jacob Astor.

Arthur White, the crack amateur jockey of 1892 in the East, will race a string of two-year-olds this season.

Fred Gebhard's thoroughbred stallion, St. Saviour, has been transferred to C. J. Enright's stud in Kentucky.

The latest reports from Frisco are to the effect that Harry Griffin will hardly ride again until next spring.

"Curly" Brown is at New Orleans, after evidence to substantiate his charges against Clem Cravelling of St. Louis.

Among the entries to this year's suburban are Clifford, Frisco and Senator Grady, Henry of Navarre and Domino.

There was a "hot tip" on Hubert in the local pool rooms yesterday, but the "good thing" did not materialize at the finish.

ORGANIZING A SPRING CIRCUIT.

Dan Stuart, having failed to treat Dallas to a pugilistic carnival, proposes now to make a new racing circuit, with Dallas as the starting point.

MAID MARIAN IS DEAD.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 11.—Chris Smith's race mare, Maid Marian, died at the world's five-eighths mile and twenty yards records, died at Montgomery park today.

GALVESTON RACES.

A BIT OF DAIRY TRUTH.

How much milk should a cow give? There are records as high as 18,000 pounds of milk per cow in a year, but the farmer can get a dairy which will average 6,000 pounds per cow.

LAMINITIS, OR FOUNDER.

Laminitis, or founder, as it is commonly called, is an inflammation of the sensitive laminae or soft structure between the hoof and bones of the foot.

Now that Direct's record of 2:1-1/4 has been rejected, the 2:08 1-4 of Carbonate of Terre Haute, Oct. 1900, will stand as the best mile to the credit of a three-year-old pacer.

The brown stallion Pilgrim, by Aclyte, with a trotting record of 2:20 3-4, was set to pacing and obtained a record of 2:10 1-2 at that way of going and it is reported that he could show a mile in 2:06 late in the season.

Mr. Ed Throckmorton, of Whit, Tex., recently lost one of his valuable brood mares, by Clipper, sired by Norman D., by Norman 25, etc. She was a full sister to Silver Heat (p), 2:27 1-2, and Lady Clipper, dam of Reno Clipper, 2:17 1-2.

Mr. E. D. Gould, of Fullerton, Neb., has had great success in raising and developing colts. His system is this: The mares are watched close and just before foaling they are placed in doxy stall nights and turned in yard day times. No grain until after colt comes.

The Horse World, Buffalo, says: For the past two weeks the horse business in this country has been in a state of depression. European horse dealers, who are the "rough riders" of Europe, in every instance the horse comes in for a good share of the praise bestowed on the great importation matter for the reader to decide upon which he admires the most, the docility or the courage of the riders.

The proposed circuit will probably include Waco, Fort Worth, Houston and Galveston. A new track has just been built at Galveston, and it has been given out that a spring meeting will be attempted there.

A recent statement that only 100,000 Mexican cattle were imported into this country in 1935 is slightly at variance with the official figures, which are 238,663.

The Amarillo Live Stock Champion, which has been a rather irregular victor of late, is before us this week. The Champion is an able exponent of the stock-farming interests of the state, and its editors speak from every-day, practical experience.

The offices of the Texas Stock and Farm Journal have been removed to larger and more commodious quarters in the new Scott-Harold building, corner Fifth and Main streets, where the management will be pleased to greet its friends.

The Journal acknowledges receipt of "The World's Almanac and Encyclopedia for 1936," containing 554 pages and treating of over 1,500 topics. It is in fact as well as in name an encyclopedia, and as a ready reference book on almost any subject, invaluable. Price 25 cents, from "The World," Pulitzer building, New York.

The space usually allotted to the various departments of the Journal is somewhat curtailed this week, owing to insertion of the proceedings of the Live Stock convention. This, however, bears upon live issues of the day and are of special interest and importance to every reader who is connected, even remotely, with stock and stock farming interests.

Attention is directed to the proposed meeting of the Texas State Swine Breeders' association to be held Jan. 21 at Waco, Tex. Announcement of same will be found elsewhere in this issue. The meeting of the American Cotton Growers' Protective association in Texas will also be held on the same day at Waco. These meetings are of great importance to all agriculturists.

The labored and strenuous efforts being made during the past couple of weeks by a certain few to show that the importation of Mexican cattle is the bugbear Texas raisers claimed are a little suggestive, coming as they do on the eve of the San Antonio convention.

Investigation will develop the fact that there is in these cases "an axe to grind." A security-of-cattle is now claimed in Mexico, but the importations will continue all the same unless further restrictions are imposed.

A thoughtful or narrowminded reader might disparage the paper that gives prominence to these topics or industry in which he is not specially interested. He forgets the fact that he is not the only patron of the paper and that the article which interests him least may be just what a reader in another section of the country and pursuing a different avocation is looking for, and a live journal caters to the wants of all. It is part of human nature, though, to look upon a man's own country as the center of the world, and the more limited his opportunities for the acquisition of knowledge are the stronger does this view of things generally become.

Timber.—This is the title of bulletin 19 of the division of forestry of the United States department of agriculture, which is further described by Prof. B. E. Fernow, chief of that division in his letter of transmittal as "a brief but comprehensive discussion of the characteristics and properties of wood in general and of our American timbers in particular, which it is hoped may be useful to engineers, architects, carpenters, lumbermen and all wood workers." The bulletin consists of eighty-eight pages, illustrated by forty-nine figures, and may be obtained upon application to the superintendent of documents, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., for the sum of 10 cents per copy.

That ably edited journal, "Shoe and Leather Review," in discussing trade conditions generally, says: "In hides there is great vitality. Old experienced dealers say they never knew hides to be so scarce at country points. The conviction is gradually growing upon the leather and shoe trade that a limit has been reached in the supply of hides. Meanwhile new uses for leather are constantly being opened. Leather is being employed extensively for bicycle saddles, upholstery, cobbler seats, umbrella covers and piano covers.

There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the future of hides and leather. Some of the most conservative tanners appear to think that values will neither advance or decline greatly during 1936. The changes during the last year were too sudden and dangerous. It is hoped more steady conditions will prevail this year.

JURIES AND JURY COMMISSIONS. Hon. D. L. Orr, county judge of Jones county, Texas, inaugurated something of a new feature upon opening court at Anson last week. The action in question, which caused a decided sensation, was no less than the discharging of the entire jury panel selected for the week, immediately after the opening of court. His reasons were set forth in the following statement:

"In the revised statutes of the state of Texas plain rules are laid down for the selection of jurors in the county and district courts. They may be selected by a jury commission appointed by the court, or by the sheriff of the county under the order and direction of the court. The jury summoned to appear here this morning was selected by a jury commission appointed at the July term, 1935, of the county court.

"I find on examination that said commission was composed of the following persons, viz: C. Tompkins, B. F. Martin and Sam Ford. I find further that C. Tompkins also served as a jury commissioner at the January term, 1935.

"I find further that at the October term, 1935, C. Tompkins, one of the commissioners who selected the jury, was one of the twelve jurors selected to serve at that term.

"I find further that Sam P. Ford, one of the commissioners who selected the jury, is one of the twelve jurors selected to serve at the present term.

"Article 3017, Revised Statutes, in stating the qualifications of jury commissioners, reads as follows: 'They shall be residents of different portions of the county.' The commissioners appointed at the January and July terms, 1935, all lived in Anson.

"Article 3018, Revised Statutes, reads as follows: 'The same person shall not act as jury commissioner more than once in the same year.' C. Tompkins served twice during the year 1935.

"I see on examination of the list of jurors selected for the present term that five of the twelve selected live in the town of Anson, and I further find that two are from the same business house.

"It is rather a remarkable coincidence that in the county of Jones, having a voting population of over one thousand, a jury commission in order to select a jury of twelve men had to select five of the twelve from citizens living in the town of Anson, selecting two from the same house, and also putting in one of their own body.

"When the liberty and the property rights of citizens are to be passed on by a jury the selection of the jury should be free from irregularities and if loose and careless methods are allowed and indulged in there is danger that a prostitution of our jury system will be the result.

"It has also come to the ears of this court that men have been selected with reference to their political views. When such reports circulate, whether they be true or false, it is the duty of the court and the officers of the court to see that the acting under the order of the court, to exercise the utmost care, and so follow the requirements of the law in the selection of jurors that no cause can exist for such charges and rumors.

"The jury selected for this term I shall set aside and discharge, not because I object to the men selected, but for the irregularities in the selection.

"The sheriff will therefore summons twelve men to serve as regular jurors for this term and in a few days to attend here at the courthouse tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock. I want none summoned who are disqualified or exempt under the law, neither will you select those who can claim exemption as a privilege.

"I want no prejudiced, rampant, third party men.

"I want no rampant, prejudiced Democrats, but men free as far as possible from political prejudices.

"They are known to the court and should be known to the sheriff. And if any such should be selected I will have no hesitancy in discharging them.

"You will therefore make the selection as here instructed and in accordance with the oath administered to you and select impartial, sensible and sober men, having the qualifications of jurors under the law, and when this is done the county court of Jones county will be in truth and in fact a court of justice and not a judicial farce.

Flax Culture. It will pay farmers in the Texas grain belt to direct their attention to the flax, which sooner or later is destined to occupy an important place here as in some of the north central states. In Minnesota, the Dakotas, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska it has largely taken the place of wheat culture from the fact that the yield on the same soils is about equal, whilst the price generally ranges from 50 to 100 per cent higher. It can be sown in fall or early spring, the latter being preferable in our northwestern counties. In Wilbarger and Wichita counties it has already been demonstrated that flax can be successfully raised.

Parties who have experimented with it were well pleased with results, the chief drawback being the lack of an established market at home and high freight rates to Eastern markets incurred by shipping in small lots. But there appears no doubt but that the Texas oil mills would readily purchase flaxseed if offered in quantities sufficient to justify its home manufacture.

"It is unnecessary for the court to comment on the facts above stated. They speak for themselves. Complaints based upon the facts above have been made to this court, and at the last term, in October, 1935, the array was twice challenged.

"When the liberty and the property rights of citizens are to be passed on by a jury the selection of the jury should be free from irregularities and if loose and careless methods are allowed and indulged in there is danger that a prostitution of our jury system will be the result.

"It has also come to the ears of this court that men have been selected with reference to their political views. When such reports circulate, whether they be true or false, it is the duty of the court and the officers of the court to see that the acting under the order of the court, to exercise the utmost care, and so follow the requirements of the law in the selection of jurors that no cause can exist for such charges and rumors.

MARKETS.

FORT WORTH MARKETS.

During the week over 500 hogs were killed at the packing house every day. This is reported to be the best record for any week during the last two years.

The demand for packing house products has been very good during the week. On Friday orders for six carloads were filled, one each for the Rusk and Huntsville penitentiaries and one each to Dallas, Dublin, Bryan and Belmont.

The news of a decline in markets to 15 cents in the Northern cattle markets is very unwelcome news to the cattlemen, and while it had to be endured, it somewhat checked the enthusiastic hopes that a permanent and much better market would be afforded in the near future.

Table with columns: Hogs, Cattle, Sheep, Pigs, etc. and rows listing various grades and prices.

Corn was active and strong. The news was no more bullish than before but the receipts were again moderate. This, with the bulge in provisions, the rise in wheat and oats and the rumors of a bull combination among the larger dealers developed strength which was maintained to the close.

A LEAP YEAR POEM.

Galveston Tribune. The spirit of the new year—likewise of the new woman—is actually reflected in the following lines by a young lady of this city: "Dearest Jack: I can scarcely believe tomorrow's day we are to receive. I'll await your coming at the foot of the stairs. I tell you I'm sure, of course, you'll be there."

Now, please, don't say: "What means this rhyme?" For I've something important to say you this way. Something on which your whole life may depend; (Now read through the rhyme; don't look at the end.) I think you might help me and try to guess; No, 'tisn't anything about a new dress. 'Tis something I haven't the courage to say; So, I thought I would write and tell you this way. Now, this is what you will please try to do—

Go ask your mamma if I can have you; You know I'm her cherisher and obey you through life. And I'll promise to make you an excellent wife. Dad will furnish cash, and I'll swear to be true. If you'll ask your mamma if I can have you.

WILD DUCKS IN OREGON. Curious Ways the Planters Have of Baiting Them. Portland Oregonian. The carp have in many places destroyed the waterfowl, widgeon and other vegetable growths on which the wild ducks visiting this region were wont to feed and fatten, sportsmen are obliged to furnish something in the way of food which will induce the ducks to visit those lakes. It has been mentioned several times that parties who brought home big bags of ducks were "feeding"—that is, were scattering wheat in the shoal parts of these lakes for the ducks to feed on. Few probably have any idea to what an extent and in what a systematic manner this is carried out in some places. It must be borne in mind that the object is to feed the ducks and not the carp, which are also fond of wheat, and of which there are now enough in the ponds, sloughs and lakes along the Columbia to eat up a ship-load of wheat in a short time. Some of these fish have already attained a weight of over twenty pounds and have the appetite and capacity of a goat.

One lake down the river, where there are arrangements for keeping the water at a desirable level all the time, wooden troughs are placed out in the water and baited with wheat. The troughs being fastened to stakes driven in the mud, so that they are just below the surface and keep filled with water, while the carp can not reach over into them, having no necks to speak of. A number of these troughs are ranged along each side of the shores, and are kept supplied with wheat. When the owners of the lake go down to shoot they find ducks of all kinds ranged along the troughs. They scare the ducks out as usual in order to shoot them as they come flying back two or three or half a dozen at a time. As soon as the ducks are gone the hunters proceed to put out their decoys. These are no wooden or tin, or inflated deerskin, but genuine live mallards and a whole flock of them at that. The ducks are anchored to stakes under water by a sort of harness which goes over their heads and under their wings, and is fastened behind their backs with a button. This enables the chinks to be around and about the troughs, and their wings and squawk all they like. There are a number of ducks which belong to the drakes and will not leave, but swim around them. This sort of live decoys is placed midway where the wild ducks feed, and wheat is put around them and they begin feeding. The hunters get into the water among the troughs on each side of the lake, which is not wide at this point, and the ducks driven out begin coming back after their breakfast. They know the good soaked wheat is there in the troughs, and they see the live decoys busy feeding and hear them gabbling, and there is one duck among them which is a daisy, and sets up a great quacking whenever a duck flying comes in sight, so even the most cautious ducks must be convinced that everything is lovely, and down they sail, and hang goes a gun loaded with snappers powder, and the drama of life is played out for that duck, or for half a dozen, if so many come in.

Then the rest of the ducks keep coming in, and the shooting goes on, and finally a big bag is made and the day's sport is over.

ORCHARDING FOR HOME AND MARKET. (Written for the Farmers' Institute at Granbury, Texas.) That every owner of a home, either in town or country, should plant and maintain an orchard will be denied by few, if any, both for the home supply of fruit, with its effects of health, luxury and refinement, and also for the sake of the money which it brings. A home look like be it ever so costly without the orchard background, now fragrant with the blossoms of spring water alive and musical with the birds, and now laden with the luscious fruits, altogether conducing to contentment, purity, and health. For the home orchard there are few if any of the good soils of Texas, whether the rich black waxy lands, the red sandy, or the various others, but that will grow peaches, plums, Japan persimmons, grapes, blackberries, and many of them grow apples and pears. In the North, usually, the few homes in Texas but may easily have a good supply of fruit.

For the average home orchard of 200 trees it would plant seventy-five peach varieties in succession; Sneed, Alexander, Mamie Rosa, Family Favorite, Chinese and General Lee, Bessie Kerr, Elberta, Milton Cling, Ringgold, and others.

An American Watch Sent Post paid, for $1.50 and Guaranteed to Keep Perfect Time.

Among the events which have marked an era in the perfection of mechanical art, the making of a stem winding watch, warranted to keep as good time as anybody's watch at the price of $1.50, is most prominent. About a year ago the Scientific American devoted a page to a description of the Premium Watch, which it was claimed was a perfect time-piece.

At that time it was believed that that almost infallible Journal had been "taken in." The sale and use of 100,000 of these watches during the past year has demonstrated the fact that any claim then made, was founded in fact.

The watch is American make. It has open case so fitted as to exclude dust and moisture. The case is nickel silver and is fitted with chain and charm. It is regular size and short wind. There is nothing fakey or "jakey" about the watch.

We will send you one postpaid for $1.50, or watch and Journal 12 months for $2.00; or watch free for three subscribers to the Journal for 12 months.

lost butter fat was found in the butter-milk. Another noticeable fact is that there was an extremely large proportion of the cow present whose milk showed less than a dozen per cent butter fat. Of these nine were Shorthorns out of seventeen in this position, two Jerseys, one Guernsey, four Red Polks and two cross breeds.

The Live Stock Journal says: "In view of the fact that all these animals were brought up by their owners, the belief that they were good cows, this large proportion is noteworthy." Weather in the region set all day every time cow owners set about testing their herds they strike the same amazement those Englishmen did; everybody wakes up to the fact that they own altogether too many poor cows. Yet it may be fairly said that about the most difficult matter in the world is to get a dairyman to give his cows a fair Babcock test for even a month.—Hoard's Dairyman.

THE UNION STOCK YARDS, CHICAGO.

The Largest Live Stock Market in the World.

CAPACITY, 50,000 Cattle, 200,000 Hogs, 30,000 Sheep, 5,000 Horses.

The entire railway system of middle and Western America centers here, making it the most accessible yard to reach in the country. The facilities for loading, feeding and shipping are unlimited. Over sixty packing houses are located in close proximity to the yards. There are over two hundred buyers found here at all times, sixty-one buyers for slaughtering of Chicago and near by cattle, twelve for export on the hoof, twenty-seven for New York, twenty-eight for Philadelphia, other cities have eighty. The various needs of these buyers cause a market for all kinds and grades of stock.

The shortage of cattle this season makes it more than ever to the shipper's interest to bill his cattle through to this great market center. Do not listen to agents of railroads whose lines terminate at Missouri river points, but bill through to Chicago. This will not deprive you from the privilege of trying other markets en route. THIS IS STRICTLY A CASH MARKET.

THE GREATEST HORSE MARKET IN AMERICA.

THE DEXTER PARK HORSE EXCHANGE, with its dome lighted amphitheater, with a semi-circular driveway through the center an eighth of a mile long and a seating capacity of 6000 people, is the greatest horse show arena in the country for the sale or exhibition of "trappy" turnouts, coaches, drivers or speedy horses. Besides this, there are daily auction sales established here which are claiming the attention of buyers and sellers from all parts of the country. This is the best point in the West for the sale of blooded stock. Stock growers and shippers of TEXAS, KANSAS AND THE WESTERN TERRITORIES cannot do better than bill to the active and quick market at Chicago.

Ing timber adjacent furnishes material needed for building purposes and fuel. One cannot but notice at a glance the poor aspect of the soil, and it suffers badly when compared to the black land belt of Texas. We who are used to farming a hundred or so acres enclosed, wonder how a Tennessee farmer expects to raise a crop on 30 and 40 acre farms. We see farms that are so small that they are not worth the necessity for small acres is apparent. A friend asked us to go and see his wheat raised this year, and we went and saw not exceeding 150 bushels. I told him we in Texas would consider a crop that size a failure, his reply was that it is all I will use. There lies the way by which the people find it possible to live in these parts, and they do live, you find no pauper at home in order to send to market only the surplus is sold. Enough corn, wheat and kindred cereals are raised to cover the family, and the time and land is used for strawberries, tomatoes and garden truck, that find ready sales in Northern markets. These people live at home, they have no Northern smoke houses; the merchants do not own their crops by the times it is made, as so frequently the case in Texas. There is a man, who at the close of the year had to pay in cash to his grocery 65 cents, that being all the money paid out during the year, his remaining supplies were paid for in barter. Where I am staying I find upon asking that the following articles are made at home: All meats, flour, meal, canned goods, fruits and pickles. Think what a meal this would make for the average Texas farmer who is compelled to go to town for every delicacy he wants. There are lots of Tennesseans in Texas, and raised up by them by the people who know well how to live. It is passing strange that Texas farmers as a rule live so hard, in such a hand to mouth fashion. The people here say it is a heavy fever peculiar to Texas which strikes them as they cross the state line. There is an inscurable something and until it is removed Texas will never reach that agricultural standing which her fertile plains so richly merit. We Texans have yet to learn and live up to a mode of modern invention—live at home.
