

War Story Told in Phases of Life

Galyon Returns From Vietnam

RECOVERY CRAFT--This Chinook 47 is used for recovery work. When going into the jungles to pick up planes which have been shot down, the Chinook is made to sling the crafts beneath the belly and bring them back to base inside, jeeps and other equipment is placed for use in this work.

It is quiet some distance from the Galyon farm in the Pleasant Valley community to the jungle bases in Vietnam where the ghosts of "Charlie" and "Charlie" in person lurks in the dense undergrowth.

Sp/5 Joe Galyon knows something of both the instilled fear of the war and the courage required to press onward in the Vietnam effort.

Galyon received his honorable discharge from the service June 23 at Oakland, Calif., upon arrival from Long Binh, Vietnam where his experiences were many, varied and above all, memorable.

Leaving the States, the serviceman first went to Vung Tau, located 35 miles south of Saigon and after a short time there, was sent to the Long Binh base some 25 miles north-east of Saigon and remained there until he completed his military tour of duty in June.

It was at Long Binh where Galyon, a helicopter mechanic, had his first brush with "Charlie," the military name for the Viet Cong forces.

"The first night I pulled guard duty at this base was when I was officially introduced to the sneaky tactics of the VC. The Infantry was set up just across the runway from my guard station. Peering into the night was no easy task and spotting snipers moving in was almost an impossibility . . . but that night, 14 Viet Cong were killed at the fence as they were attempting to gain unobserved entry to the base.

"Another closer call came while flying in a helicopter along a route from Vung Tau to Saigon. Ground fire hit the Huey in two places and caused damage and concern for our safety on this mission. The flight path had been closed due to convoys ambushes on the ground below.

"I was not out with the fighting forces, but there is no doubt of what the Vietnam war is like to any man who is stationed over there. The unloading of the mutilated bodies tells the story of the battles of this jungle war. Some were . . . in, living, but barely, other draped with sheets and many just never returned.

"Another war story is told in the recovery missions of crafts which have gone down in the war-torn countryside. The bodies of the crafts are sometimes riddled and as we flew out to pick them up to salvage parts, or repair them if they were in repairable condition, the evidence was there of the situation which could only be created by war.

"Then there was the men, the United States Forces and the South Vietnamese soldiers returning from their missions, the story, oft times sealed on their lips, showed vividly in the etching of grim faces, the cold set of the eyes and weariness of body."

"There is another type war in Vietnam. This one is found on the streets in the cities. Although, the war there is different, it can end in death for our servicemen the same as on the battlefield. A gang called "The Cowboys" roam the streets. They find a small group of American servicemen together and beat them, rob them and many times they do not survive the beatings.

"It takes some time to adjust to living conditions, mixing with the Vietnamese people and understanding their customs and most of the time you don't actually adjust, you just learn to accept these situations for the duration of your assignment," Galyon said.

"The majority of the people have what we would call low class ways of living and are, for the most part, immoral according to our standards of living. Of course, there are some who are educated and live respectable lives.

"They have opportunity to learn, both education-wise and FARM SAFETY WEEK--Farm Safety Week has been proclaimed here as well as on the state and national level. Representatives of three groups are pictured looking on a County Judge Don Cihak, seated, signs the proclamation. They are Jerry Redwine, FFA; Val Moore, FHA; James Warren, Farm Bureau president and Morris McKillip, Farm Bureau secretary-treasurer.

Farm Safety Week Officially Proclaimed

County Judge Don Cihak officially proclaimed July 23-29 as FARM SAFETY WEEK in Bailey County, James Warren, president of the county Farm Bureau said.

President Johnson and Governor Connally have designated this week on national and state levels as a period to call attention to worthwhile safety practices that can reduce disabling injuries and death through farm accidents.

The county officials proclamation, Judge Cihak said "All citizens of Bailey County are deeply concerned about the safety and well-being of farm families from whom we receive our abundance of food and other essential agricultural commodities."

"Farm and ranch accidents reap a grim harvest of approximately 150 fatalities and thousands more suffer painful disabling injuries each year in Texas plus the great economic loss, causes profound physical and psychological damage suffered by members of farm families that are involved.

"During this special week, a statewide farm accident prevention education program will be undertaken by the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, the Texas Safety Association, 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, Young Farmers and Young Homemakers of Texas and the Bailey County Farm Bureau with the theme "Think and Act Safely."

"I think such a campaign can do much to call to the attention of our rural citizens the need for observing safety practices which would reduce the tragic toll inflicted by accidents," the Judge concluded.

Classified as one of the most hazardous occupations in the nation today, farm leader James Warren said accidents kill some 8,000 residents each year and an additional 750,000 are victims of disabling injuries. The economic loss to the nation is some $2 billion, and we as farm leader feel this can be reduced through the dedicated efforts of the individual and combined constructive attention of groups.

Preston Home Fire Damaged

The Robert Preston home and furnishings were extensively damaged by fire, smoke and water at 7:15 p.m. Thursday. Origin of the fire is said to have been in one of the bedrooms of the home where a child was playing with matches. Only one room of the home was not badly damaged.

Midge Emergence Showing Increase

Midge emergence from Johnson grass is still occurring in the South Plains area about the same rate as last week, Don R. Rummel, area entomologist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Donnie Arnold, research assistant, South Plains Research and Extension Center said.

Adult midge are beginning to emerge from grain sorghum samples. Emergence is light at present and appears to follow the same pattern observed in 1965 and 1966.

"We are just now reaching the point where early planted sorghum is suitable for sampling and within the next two weeks the survey will shift from Johnson grass to sorghum only," the specialists said.

Producers who have grain sorghum which will bloom in August should begin to watch nearby fields of earlier planted sorghum for midge activity.

"A great deal of sorghum in the area will bloom in August or September, when midge populations may have reached damaging levels. Producers who have late planted sorghum should become familiar with control recommendations should chemical control become necessary in this area," they stated.

Average adult emergence from 25-head sample shows Lamb county with the highest rate of midge with the figure standing at 22. This is in Johnson grass. Lynn county shows the highest rate of midge per sample with five on the average. Lynn county is followed in emergence by Crosby and Garza counties. The Johnson grass test ran nine in the second rating county of Lubbock followed by Floyd and Hale counties each with eight midge per sample.

Superintendent Attends 105th NEA Convention

Neal Dillman, Superintendent of the Muleshoe Schools, attended the 105th annual convention of the NEA which was held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, July 2-7. As president of District XIII of T.S.T.A., he was an official delegate to this meeting.

Mrs. Irvamae Applegate, president, National Education Association, dean, College of Education, St. Cloud State College, Minnesota, presided at the first general session and set the theme for the convention, "Individual Commitments to Professional Excellence". The second general session was in honor of Dr. William G. Carr, retiring NEA Executive Secretary who has served 15 years in this capacity. Dr. Carr, in reviewing the achievements of the nation's largest professional organization, said "As for the NEA itself, at the 1953 meeting, the first which I served as Executive Secretary, the convention hailed the achievement of enrolling 500,000 members. This year, in 1967, the Association celebrates the enrollment of more than 1 million members." He continued, "The schools and colleges have expanded their scope, modified their objectives to meet new needs, and develop-

But not the Charlie who steals through the night on sniper attacks. morally, but those of the low-slung cult do not take advantage of the opportunity. "One would be impressed that they never had it so good over there. The war seems to scoundious of opinion is that should the war end, the country would resolve to poverty. Cities are building in modern fashion and thriving. This modernizing trend has shown marked increase since 1964." Galyon learned from the people there. "All Vietnamese look alike, you can never tell the North Vietnamese from South Vietnamese on the streets," he said. At Long Binh, aside from working on helicopters, Galyon had many duties. One of the biggest jobs was hauling water for his company and keeping the water tanks full. The nearest water point was one mile away and the farthest was six miles. Numerous trucks were serviced at the water points and the job was time consuming, both in driving the distance and waiting in line to fill the truck. Other jobs to which he was assigned were unit supply clerk, alternate mail clerk and was in charge of the weapons room and Connex boxes (extra gear room). Most of the repair work on helicopters was done at the base hanger. About 600 Huey helicopters, 40-50 Chinooks, 200-300 Mohawks and a number of Cessnas and Beavers are based at Long Binh along with many other types of planes, bombers, fighters and others. "We have one craft "Puff, the Magic Dragon" which are DC-6's converted to fighters equipped with mini-guns and gatling guns operated electronically. ed methods of instruction and organization to use new technology and new knowledge of human development." A unique three-way slide-film presentation of "A Child Is To Teach" was shown and narrated by Douglas Edwards. This film gave the highlights of Dr. Carr's life. Dr. Sam Lambert will succeed Dr. Carr on August 1 as the new NEA Executive Secretary. The National Education Association exists to advance the cause of education. One of the principles of the NEA is that the commitment of education to the student and to the nation's future implies a commitment of the educator to the teaching profession. The teaching profession is responsible for identifying the knowledge necessary to teaching and for the competence of those who teach. The educator therefore seeks to improve the quality and elevate the character of his profession. He seeks to earn and hold that public confidence which makes professional service possible. Aware that these ends can be achieved only by united effort, he contributes actively to the programs of his professional associations. The NEA seeks the following policies and goals: (1) Educational opportunity for all (2) A competent educator in every professional position (3) Time to teach (4) Curricula adapted to individual and social needs (5) Adequate facilities, equipment and materials. (6) Adequate financial support (7) Effective services to schools (8) Professional autonomy and freedom (9) Public guidance and understanding (10) Active participation in public affairs (11) Employment policies and standards that ensure competence (12) Strong professional Associations.

Braulio Alonso of Florida will become the new president for the 1967-68 school year. Mrs. Elizabeth D. Kooz, the 47-year-old teacher from Salisbury, N.C., was elected for the 1968-69 term. She is the first Negro elected to the post. Mrs. Kooz said, "We need to look at the whole and total approach to education - pre-school to adult, because schools more and more have become responsible for areas left in the past to social agencies and to the home and family". The Texas Breakfast was held on Thursday, July 6, in the Radisson Hotel, Mr. John Borden, President Elect, District VI, T.S.T.A. was in charge and other Texas District presidents served as hosts. Included in the "special events" were two top editor-writers whose work appears in such magazines as Reader's Digest, Harpers, Saturday Review and others. Paul Friggens, veteran journalist whose travels take him around the world, discussed "The Miracle of Israel." Mr. Friggens spent one month there in May 1967 traveling from one end of the country to another, interviewing the people absorbing the atmosphere and gathering material for an article in The Digest. Delegates were privileged to see the screen adaptation of the best-selling book "Up the Down Staircase". Chandler said: "The American Junior Rodeo Association is patterned after the Rodeo Cowboys Association of America, having its own board of directors, its function is to promote the sport of rodeo and to make for better boys and girls by keeping them interested in clean ever day living.

"The president of this Association for the year has from our own neighboring town of Clovis. He is Lester Harrelson, 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harrelson, Clovis. Unfortunately Lester has been called to service and has been unable to serve in this capacity this year.

While Lester is serving his country, the duties of president are being handled for him by Miss Karla MacCashan, Hope. We also have Miss Linday Blackburn, St. Vrain, and Guy Horney, Ft. Sumner serving on the Junior Board of Directors." he said.

First Methodist Church Revival Scheduled Here

A revival will be held at First Methodist Church July 30 through August 3.

Evangelist is to be Bishop W. McFerrin Stowe, Topeka, Kan., and directing the singing will be Bill Mann, Dallas.

Services have been set for 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily with a nursery provided.

Bishop Stowe is well educated in the field of theology with a Bachelors Degree from Hendrix College in Arkansas and from Duke University. He also has a PhD from Boston University and two other Honorary Doctorate of Divinity Degrees.

Bishop Stowe has served seven churches through his career. His list of special services including being a member of the Board of Trustees of five colleges and universities. He is a member of the Commission of Ecumenical Consultation and a 32nd degree Mason.

His election to the position of Bishop of the Methodist Church was conferred at the South Central Jurisdictional Conference held in Dallas June 29 - July 2, 1964.

He has traveled extensively in foreign countries and his experiences have been many which have proven to be an aid to spiritually enlighten his congregation.

Gospel singer Bill Mann has been singing for many years, and during this time has gained the reputation of being one of America's greatest singers of hymns, gospel songs and religious music. He is said to be famous in England, Scotland and Ireland through his singing.

First Methodist Church Revival Scheduled Here

His work in this field began in 1943 when Paul Moon heard him sing in the chapel at Williams Field Air Force Base near Chandler, Ariz. Moon urged him to consider going into Christian Service as a gospel singer. This was the beginning of his work. While serving as Director of Youth Activities at the First Methodist Church, Baton Rouge, La., he organized one of the most outstanding teenage programs in the nation.

Man is now Director of Evangelistic Music at First Methodist Church in Dallas.

Draft Policy Sets Possible Deferment Plan

AUSTIN -- Under new draft board policy, students taking commercial or vocational courses not leading to a baccalaureate degree may still be deferred for their activity, but this deferment is not mandatory.

Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Thursday that he is continuing to recommend that local boards give "serious consideration" to deferment if these students are "receiving instruction a minimum of 25 clock hours a week, either day or night classes."

The state director said "deferment will be by local board judgment of the merits in each individual case and may be denied on the basis that it is not in the national interest."

Colonel Schwartz said he had advised local boards that, under present policy, the commercial college or vocational school student would now be classified in Class 2-A instead of Class 2-S, if deferred.

The reason for this change, he explained, is that Class 2-S now deals with the deferment only of students working toward a degree. Class 2-A deals with deferment because

Stacy Lackey Is Texas A & M Vet Graduate

Stacy Homer Lackey of Muleshoe is one of 83 veterinary medicine students scheduled to graduate August 4 from Texas A&M University.

In receiving his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree, Lackey will have completed the equivalent of a seven-and-one-half-year college program covering all phases of applied sciences as they relate to veterinary medicine.

Dr. Alvin Price, dean of Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine, said the August graduating class will be the largest in the university's history. The largest previous class was last year's which totaled 69 students.

The College of Veterinary Medicine conducts graduation separately from other units of the university because it operates on a trimester basis, rather than the standard semester.

Graduation ceremonies are set for 8 p.m. in Bryan Civic Auditorium.

FLORIDA TOURISTS--Tourist of the week stopped here Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wester and sons, Port St. Joe, Fla. They are pictured left to right, Tommy, Jerry, Bernie, Mark and Mr. and Mrs. Wester. Seems the family were looking forward to stopping in Muleshoe as the children's grandfather had mentioned to them "Don't forget to see the Mule Memorial." "We never expected this nice treatment," Mrs. Wester said and I tell you, although I am still shaking from that policeman (City Patrolman Larry Hensley) pulling us over with his loud noise sirens, we have never been treated so well... even noticed you have the cleanest rest rooms here and we've traveled over 1,000 miles to find it here at Brantley's Chevron Station." The family were enroute to Albuquerque.

North Carolina Cropping Practice

Where small grain is being harvested in North Carolina, soybeans will soon be popping through the topsoil -- in many fields within one week of small grain harvest.

The key to the close cropping is a strict schedule of practices recommended by North Carolina State University for doubling up on cropland. Beans are being planted almost before harvest machines leave the fields, comments Dr. Howard Small, extension soybean specialist.

Small says soybeans respond well to fertilization following a small grain crop. Recommended fertilization ranges around 300 pounds per acre of an 0-10-20 fertilizer banded three to four inches on each side of the seed. If fertilizer is broadcast, the specialist advises about 400 pounds per acre of 0-10-20 mixed fertilizer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunk Williamson of Shallowater were visiting friends in Earth this week.

Alice Faye Adrian is one of several children who are at Baptist Camp this week.

Trustees of Cotton Producers Institute, operating this year for the first time under the producer-approved dollar-a-bale Cotton Research and Promotion Act, met in Memphis, Tennessee July 11 and 12 and approved two possible budgets for 1968.

A "conservative" budget for both research and promotion activities was set at $7,998,333. This takes into account the smallest anticipated collections under the new program from the 1967 crop.

Should C Should collections exceed these minimum expectations, the group laid plans for expanding activities up to $10,834,463.

Following the formula used in the past by CPI, about one-third of the funds were applied to research and two-thirds to promotion.

At the lower budget level, research would take up $2,665,000, and $5,333,333 would go into promotion. If collections permit the more liberal budget, the two figures for research and promotion would be split $4,300,000 and $6,534,463, respectively.

J.D. Smith of Littlefield, president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and one of six CPI trustees from the Plains area, said the larger budget was adopted, but that the smaller budget was designated as the priority program.

"Preparation for the program at the lower level is to be started immediately, and additional authorizations can be made by the CPI trustee officers or executive committee if and when it is seen that funds will be available," Smith explained.

Other trustees from the High Plains include Howard Alford, who is vice chairman of the group, Roy Forkner and Joe B. Pate, Jr., all of Lubbock; L.C. Unfred of New Home and Aubrey Lockett of Ropesville and Vernon.

The budget adopted by the trustees will be submitted to the Cotton Board at its meeting in Dallas on July 25 and 26, after which it will go to the Secretary of Agriculture for final approval.

The $8 million level will virtually double the industry's 1967 program of research and promotion on a national scale, Smith reported, and is expected to attract funds from other sources that will bring the total effort up to several times that amount.

Recommendations of the trustees under the $2.66 million budget for research were broken down into 10 major problem categories, including insects, weeds, diseases, yield-quality, mechanization, processing - handling - marketing, mill processing-finishing, consumer quality improvement, product development and cottonseed.

Out of the $5.33 million allocated to promotion activities, will come funds for advertising, fashion shows, movies, fabric libraries, market press week projects, retail sales training and fabric development.

Much of the advertising that will be done is planned on a cooperative basis with either manufacturers or retailers, considerably enhancing the opportunity for benefit to cotton from its advertising dollars.

The remainder of July and virtually all of August will be used by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., to hold meetings in 21 of its 23 counties on the High Plains for the election of businessmen directors to serve two-year terms through 1968-69.

Two counties, Hale and Swisher, have already held election meetings this year. Producer directors from each of the organization's counties were elected for two-year terms in 1966.

Ed Dean, Field Service Director for PCG has contacted current directors in each of the 21 counties and asked them to arrange times and places for meetings, emphasizing that both businessmen and

The $8 million level will virtually double the industry's 1967 program of research and promotion on a national scale, Smith reported, and is expected to attract funds from other sources that will bring the total effort up to several times that amount.

Recommendations of the trustees under the $2.66 million budget for research were broken down into 10 major problem categories, including insects, weeds, diseases, yield-quality, mechanization, processing - handling - marketing, mill processing-finishing, consumer quality improvement, product development and cottonseed.

Deferment Amendment

Producer members of PCG are eligible to vote in the elections. "PCG is run on a strictly democratic basis," Dean said, "and the election of its directors is an important part of the process -- a part in which every producer and businessman should be represented."

Under PCG by-laws, producer-directors are elected on even years and businessman directors are elected on odd years, each for a two year term. Directors must be elected at least 10 days prior to the PCG Annual meeting in September, Dean said.

He said an interesting and informative program is being arranged for each of the meetings, and that news media will carry details on programs, safety, or interest upon the advice of the National Security Council, "Colonel Schwartz said, "deferment for advanced study in these subjects also will be mandatory."

The deferment of graduate students in medicine, dentistry, veterinary, medicine, osteopathy, or optometry is mandatory under new amendments to the Selective Service regulations, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Wednesday.

"When the Director of Selective Service identifies other studies necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest upon the advice of the National Security Council," Colonel Schwartz said, "deferment for advanced study in these subjects also will be mandatory."

Post-graduate study in other fields may be allowed under the new regulations, within certain limitations, the state Selective Service director said; but deferment is not mandatory in these cases.

"Consideration can be given by local boards to any case," Colonel Schwartz said, "regardless of class standing or Selective Service test score; but there is a limit to the time the student can be deferred."

The new regulations provide that a student who is entering, on October 1, 1967, his second or subsequent year of post-baccalaureate study without interruption--outside the field of medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, optometry, or field that may be identified by the Director of Selective Service upon the advice of the National Security Council--may be deferred in Class II-S if his school certifies that he is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction leading to his degree.

"The regulations say he may be, not he shall be," Colonel Schwartz pointed out. "This means that if it is up to the local board in each case outside the fields covered by mandatory deferment."

This student entering his second or subsequent year next fall can not be deferred under the new regulations for more than one additional year in the case of a course toward the master's degree.

He can not be deferred for more than five years for a doctoral or professional degree or the equivalent, or a combination of master's and doctoral degrees, including the years already used in the course of study, except that, if he already has spent five years in such study on October 1, 1967, he may be deferred for one additional year to complete his degree.

The state Selective Service director pointed out that these time limitations are mandatory. A graduate student outside the mandatory fields who is enrolled for his first year of study October 1, 1967, or accepted for admission on that date, may be deferred if he has entered the first class commencing after the date he completed the requirements for admission, the new regulations provide. But his deferment is not mandatory. It is up to his local board.

The graduate student outside the mandatory fields who begins, or is accepted to begin, his study next fall, can be deferred for one academic year only, and this limitation is mandatory, the state Selective Service director pointed out.

Six Accidents Reported in June For Bailey County

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated six accidents on rural highways in Bailey County during the month of June, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in three persons injured and an estimated property damage of $7,950.00.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first six months of 1967 shows a total of 16 accidents resulting in one persons killed, six persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $18,254.00.

The number of traffic deaths in Texas continues to rise. For the first six months of 1967 there have been 1,476 traffic deaths compared to 1,396 traffic deaths for the first six months of 1966. This six percent increase is very alarming, and chances are it will become very critical because of vacation months and holiday periods still ahead to intensify the magnitude of the accident picture.

This alarming increase of accidents can be reduced by drivers knowing and obeying traffic laws, being a defensive driver and being a courteous driver. The Sergeant stated, "Courtesy is contagious--try it."

Attitude... OF PRAYER

"Give ear to my words. O Lord, consider my meditation. Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray."

Psalms 5:1-2

God hears and answers prayers, but not everyone knows how to pray. Even the Lord's disciples asked that he teach them how to pray.

Attitude of the individual is important in prayer. Prayer is the opportunity that we have to tell God of our blessings and give thanks. It is an opportunity to petition for help, but above all, our hearts should be willing that God's will be done.

Prayer should be offered individually and in groups.

ATTEND CHURCH AND PRAY WITH OTHERS

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, -- Texas Railroad Commission has turned up the oil allowable to a record high 48 per cent of potential -- retroactive to July 1 -- to meet demands created by the Middle East shoot-out.

Commission's extraordinary mid-month emergency order was the third of the kind since the Arabian oil cutoff. It boosted the allowable to 3,830,560 barrels a day -- higher than during latter part of the 1957 Suez oil crisis and probably the highest since wide-open production days of 1948 when producers were encouraged to build up war-drained crude supplies.

New increase adds 131,000 barrels a day to July allowable, which was raised to 42.9 per cent on the first of the month. Major purchasers told the Commission added production was necessary.

Allowable was 33.9 per cent when the Arab-Israeli shooting started in June. Commission raised it slightly -- to 35.9 per cent -- in mid-June, retroactive to June 1, and on July 1 announced the 42.9 per cent order.

August allowable is due to be set this week.

Since the percentage factor was first used in 1963, the 37.5 per cent-of-potential production was the highest adjustment used until the present Middle East crisis erupted.

In addition to the major effect on the state's general economy, a steadily climbing allowable appears likely to increase Texas' governmental tax income substantially. It has been estimated that the July 1 order would mean a $53,617 a day increase in state tax income -- or a total of $1,800,000 through this month. Obviously, the increase now will be greater.

If the crisis continues for several months, the added income will be a major factor in shaping special session tax needs next year.

Meanwhile, Chairman Jim C. Langdon emphasized that the Commission is determined to avoid repetition of the situation that followed the Suez emergency when oil industry suffered for two and a half years working off surplus stocks which piled up as a result of the big allowable boost a decade ago.

Nation Observes National Farm Safety Week

The week of July 23-29 has been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President in signing the proclamation emphasized "Agriculture remains America's first and most important industry. It supplies food for our people and many millions throughout the world, and a vast measure of the raw materials used in the making of other products."

"Therefore, whatever diminishes or impedes the efficiency and productivity of our farmers is detrimental to men and women everywhere."

The objective of the National Farm Safety Week is to draw attention to the safety problems of farm and rural people and suggest ways to prevent accidents on the farm, in the home, and on the highways.

"Disabling injuries and the resultant economic losses are at an all-time high. Not only is a personal hardship involved, but we as a nation cannot tolerate the drain on our rural manpower and economic vitality in this time of critical world food needs," Leon J. Urben, manager of the National Safety Council Farm Department, points out.

In view of this costly loss of economy and the tragic loss of life, President Johnson makes this plea to America's farmers and their families: "I urge all persons who live on farms, and those persons or groups allied with agriculture, to respond to applying full energy to the ongoing task of reducing accidents at work, in homes, at recreation, and on the highways."

FARM MARKET EXPANSION -- Agriculture Commissioner John White announced the initiation of what he called "the most aggressive market expansion campaign in the history of Texas agriculture."

White said the marketing drive will include efforts to present the true quality image of all Texas food and fiber products as well as specific programs to bolster markets for Texas-produced and processed commodities.

HURRICANE "WARNINGS" OUT -- The 1967 hurricane season has arrived, and coastal residents had better not forget it, warns Department of Public Safety Director Col. Homer Garrison Jr.

Pamphlets on hurricane precautions are being distributed to local civil defense offices in coastal counties.

Garrison said too many people "develop a false sense of security" after small hurricane experience or having been "on the fringes" of a major storm, and this attitude can be fatal.

Three major hurricanes have hit the Texas coast this century, including Carla in 1961.
