FAIR ASSOCIATION MEETS

At Gomez. New Officers and Directors Elected.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the officers and directors of the Terry County Fair Association met at Gomez last Saturday and transacted some important business, among which was the election of new officers and directors.

Some good talks were made, and everyone is now moving along as if great things are to be launched in the future, and there will be. It is the consensus of opinion that next year's program will be more elaborate than usual, and will greatly distance anything yet undertaken in this county, and that will be going some, as everyone is agreed that each of the preceding ones have abounded in success. So let the good work continue. The Association adjourned to meet the 1st Saturday in April, 1911.

The newly elected secretary is going after the work in real earnest, and will devote time and money to make the Fair a blooming success. Below is a list of officers and directors as given us by the secretary:

OFFICERS.

J. T. Gainer, President
W. D. Winn, Vice President
T. M. Biles, Secretary
W. H. Black, Treasurer
W. H. Gist, General Manager

DIRECTORS.

Dr. Maddux, W. H. Gist, W. B. Snodgrass, Booth Hays, S. A. Shepherd, Walter Groves, Jno. Burnett, W. M. Howard, Tom Taylor, R. W. Glover, Sam Funderburk, J. C. Lewis, N. N. Ross, I. H. Hudson, Bill Fulton, E. A. White, Bob Snodgrass, Bart McPherson, W. F. Adams and Jack Stricklin.

Two Tenderfeet in Kansas.

They slept in the stable that night. So did twenty other harvesters. A calf in process of weaning and its sympathizing mother bawled through the night. Horses and mules kicked and restive laborers cursed, but Waddingham and Duchesne heard nothing. They were into the hay at 8 o'clock, clothed as they were when they left Kansas City, and sleeping as men sleep after a long battle—a dreamless and quiet sleep.

At 4 o'clock next morning the chantecler chorus was working overtime, but the sophomores slept on. Hi! there! a stern voice said, and a rough hand shook Waddingham. Awake and to breakfast and on the golden field or words to that effect, the same voice cried, and presently sitting up and rubbing their tired, bleary eyes, the sophomores faced the day.

A hasty breakfast of bacon, eggs and biscuits were served on platters, with coffee strong enough to move a binder. And then the beautiful fields of wheat. There are times in the lives of most men that are better forgotten, experience it were wise to tuck away in some closet along with unrealized ambitions and the dreams that never came true.

That morning in the wheat will be so catalogued by Waddingham and Duchesne. A noon dinner—which they called luncheon, a word that aroused laughter—was taken to the field, but they were too sore to eat much. Pride at first held them up, but after a bit they saw others with signs of weakening under the torrid rays of that Kansas sun. The beards and the dust filled their clothes, filled their eyes and ears and hair. The sweat rolled from them black with the dirt that they had been unable to erase after their box car ride.

At 5 o'clock the sophomores announced to the farmer that they'd like their pay for the day and if he pleased they'd quit the job. Mr. Farmer exclaimed. Why, its only 5 o'clock. I'll give you three quarters of a day. The most work is done from now on. Better stick and try it again tomorrow.

Not if the preservation of the Republican party depended on it would we stay another day, Waddingham exclaimed, a half choke in his voice. Not if the whole dratted union went to pieces because we quit. All of which explains why two fond fathers in New York received identical telegrams one day in late June to this effect: In deep need. Must come home. Wire money for tickets.—Harper's Weekly.

Texas Industrial College.

Mr. R. J. Kleberg, of Kingsville, President of the Texas Industrial Congress, has issued the following address to the people of Texas urging their interest in and attendance upon the next convention of the Congress, which will be held at Houston beginning November 15th.

"The Texas Industrial Congress urgently requests that every broadguaged patriotic citizen of Texas, who can possibly do so, attend its next session which will be held in Houston commencing November 15th and at which matters of vital and far reaching and general importance will be considered.

THE REASON.

The real condition that old methods must be discarded and new ones adopted, inspired the organization of the Texas Industrial Congress. The new era of industrial development into which our State is entering brings with it great possibilities for industrial progress and it is intended that the next meeting of the Congress shall be in reality a common council of our people to devise ways and means for making the most of our opportunities. The purpose is to make it intensely practical and the plans resulting therefrom economically sound and adapted to existing conditions.

THE PURPOSE.

In this State our whole industrial structure rests upon agriculture. The prosperity of every other business profession and vocation is exactly proportionate to the prosperity of the farmer. It requires only a casual study of our economic relations and conditions to determine this fact. It follows, therefore, that an organization, like the Texas Industrial Congress which represents all vocations and is interested alike in them, should first exert itself to improve the condition of this basic vocation.

GOOD ROADS.

The economic loss caused by the necessity of hauling light loads, the loss of time, and the injury to animals and vehicles resulting from bad roads over which farm products must be hauled to market, demand that attention be given to this subject.

But the greatest economic loss associated with the business of farming results from the "dumping" methods of selling farm products, a method which violates every law of business and annually deprives Texas business and industries of many millions of dollars. Chief considerations will therefore be given to this, the greatest of all causes of economic loss and the greatest retarding influence to the industrial development of our State. Too little attention has hitherto been given to this tremendous loss to industrial Texas as a whole by our financiers and business men. This Congress hopes not only to forcefully direct their attention to it but to procure their counsel and enlist their co-operation in stopping it.

At the next convention we especially desire the attendance of a large number of actual farmers and a large number of bankers and merchants in order that every phase of crop marketing may be considered by men who speak from actual knowledge based on actual experience, and in order that the knowledge which comes from that experience may be drawn upon in the formation of plans to better conditions.

Let us at least make an honest, earnest effort to get together and pull together for a greater and better Texas. Never was the time so auspicious and never was the need so great. The date of the convention is November 15th. The railroads will make special low rates from all quarters of the State and we urge all patriotic and progressive Texans to be present and bring others with them. Get to work now and help us have a great meeting. If you desire any further information address our Secretary, Mr. Roy Miller, Corpus Christi, Texas.

A Snyder minister was recently caught kissing a married lady who was a member of his church. It was his wife.—Rotan Advance.

A few more weeks until election time, and then we poor people can once again show our authority.

Dan Patch, the king of pacers is on exhibition at the Dallas Fair again this season and seems to be in very good trim yet. Though some day, he like Jeffries, can't come back.

The dailies gave the conviction of Dr. Crippin. of London, as large and prominent headlines as they did any of the recent disasters. Now, we suppose the criminal of moderate means will take down his signs and come to Texas.

You have seen what can be done here irrigating small patches on a small scale. It only remains for some enterprising farmer to demonstrate what can be done on a large scale. We would also like to see some one give the dry farming process a good trial.

Nearly every one of our farmers are taking the Semi-Weekly Farm News or some other good farm paper, and most of them have imbibed the great spirit of diversification more or less, and there is now more talk of a variety crop than we have ever heard. Next year is going to develop wonders in Terry county. Watch our prediction.

We have often wondered just why the last batch of tomatoes, the last head of cabbage, or the last mess of potatoes were so much better than when we had plenty. Also, why the last rose smells so much sweeter and why we see the best points of man when he is breathing the last. These are deep, dark mysteries which remain unsolved.

Terry county lands are on the standstill now, and the wise man with money should seize the opportunity to corner some land, though only a few acres. Only a few more years and the Plains land will soar out of reach of the man of moderate means. Why? Because we have the soil, the water and the climate, with slopes so gentle they will never wash, and yet enough to drain well. Be wise and secure a home now that will make a home for generations yet unborn.

And every now and then some fellow bobs up and declares there is nothing in blood. The very idea! People better quit trying to breed a perfect horse, cow or hog and spend more time in putting grub to them. But the best of them have long since learned that a new strain of blood in their flocks or herds marks a new epoch of their success and they now not only spend time but mints of money to obtain a credible new strain.

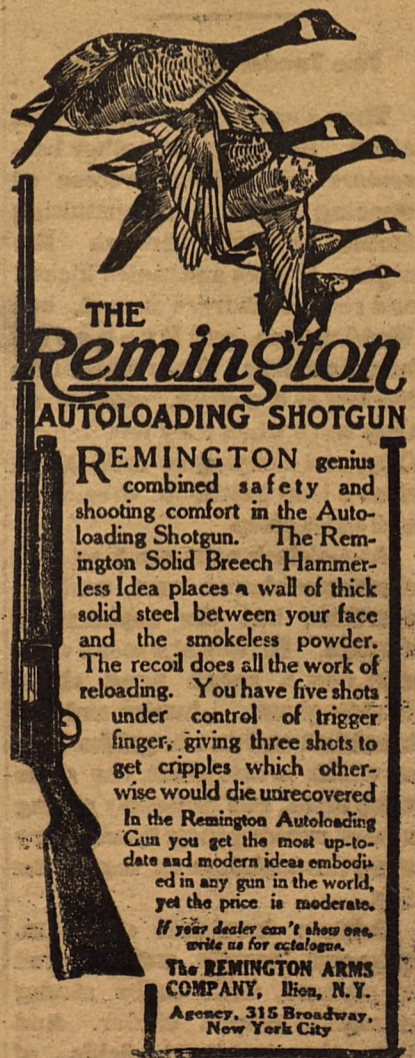

We can remember when a small boy, our brother, found a wild turkey's nest over in old Tennessee and brought the eggs home, thinking, perhaps, that he could produce a hardy set of tame youngsters from them that would make his farm yard famous; but lo! just as soon as old biddy finished the hatch, every one of her babies took to the woods and that was the last of them. So blood counted in that instance. One can't easily have a tame wild turkey.

Same way with the human race. Possibly one might take a babe from the slums and keep him constantly with good people until maturity and he will possibly turn out all o. k., but should he be let loose during his childish career, he would easily fall back into the ruts of the ancestor. But a child with generations of good blood behind him has too much pride to stoop and is therefore much harder to corrupt.

We have many instances on record where Indians captured white children in infancy and afterwards the real parents had hard work if they ever succeeded in keeping their children in the white settlement. Most any object will easily roll down hill, but a climb is a different proposition. They have to have the right kind of blood bred in their veins.

I have a few prospective cash buyers, and some trading propositions. If you want to trade or sell, see or write me.

The Sunday edition of the Atlanta Constitution contains a splendid picture of Joel Chandler Harris'—better known as "Uncle Remus"—last resting place. It is rugged and simple, but handsome, being simply a large boulder of Georgia granite, just as it was taken from mother earth, on which is placed a bronze tablet.

For nearly a half century this great Southern writer has scattered sunshine into the hearts of millions, from the tiny tot to the venerable grand father, and most always causing for his subject the things of "nature" which most of us see but comprehend not, until his animated pen had disclosed their simplicity to our view. No wonder the Georgians caused to be erected at his last resting place a pure relic of nature, undefiled by the chisel of man.

On the bronze slab are printed these beautiful lines from his own pen:

"I seem to see before me the smiling faces of thousands of children—some young and fresh, and some wearing the friendly marks of age, but all children at heart—and not an unfriendly face among them. And while I am trying to speak the right word, I seem to hear a voice lifted above the rest saying: 'You have made some of us happy.' And so I feel my heart fluttering and my lips trembling, and I have to bow silently and turn away, and hurry back into the obscurity that fits me best."

The Greenville Banner says: "An example worthy of emulation is that of Lawrence Looney, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Looney of this city. Lawrence entered the A. & M. College a few years ago. His tastes led to experiments in agriculture and at the recent graduation exercises he graduated in scientific agriculture. Upon returning to this city, he decided that he would put into practice what he learned at the A. & M. and as a consequence he went to his father's farm near Commerce where he is busy at farm duties. He purchased a crop and is now gathering corn and cotton. The action of Lawrence Looney should be an example to others who go to that school. The farm needs leaders, men who know the new agriculture and can put to use the knowledge they have. This splendid young man loved the work and will be valuable to the farmers of his vicinity as a leader in things which mean the up-building of agricultural pursuits. We would delight in seeing more young men take the view Lawrence Looney has of the farm. He was reared in the city but his inclinations took him to the farm, led him to the soil and there he will be useful, not alone to himself but to the farmers of Hunt county. Let the good work go on. Let others follow the example of young Looney. It will be good for agriculture and for the state.

EXERCISE CARE IN SELECTING BOAR.

The selection of the boar is very important, and it is the opinion of the writer that some farmers do not have as much success as they should and could have in raising hogs simply because they do not exercise the care necessary in selecting the male to be used in their herds.

The boar should be selected with greater care than the sows, for his influence equals the combined influence of all the sows of the herd. A superior boar may be used on a superior herd of sows with good results, but the use of an inferior boar on sows of high quality will have a disastrous outcome. The one method raises the standard of the herd; the other invariably lowers it.

A boar with male characteristics strongly developed should be selected, preferably as a yearling or else as a pig that has been purchased at the same time as the sows and allowed to come to maturity before being used. He should have a well erected neck and a strong masculine head. His shoulders should be developed according to his age. However, strong shoulder development in pigs under a year or eighteen months old is objectionable.

The boar should be selected to correct any defects that may be common to the sows. For example, if the sows are rather coarse in bone and loosely built the boar should have high quality and fine bones, skin and hair. If the sows tend toward overrefinement and delicacy the boar should be rather rangy and strong boned.

The same indications of a good pork producing carcass that the sows require should be seen in the boar a broad, straight, deeply fleshed back, much depth and length of sides and well developed hind quarters. The visible organs of the reproductive system should be well developed and clearly defined.

The boar should stand upon his toes, and there should not be the slightest indication of weakness in the pasterns of the young ones. In a matured boar (two or three years of age) that has seen hard service it may be expected that he will be a little down on his pasterns, but a six or eight months old pig that does not carry himself on upright pasterns is not a safe animal to select for a herd boar.

Potter County "Wet."

Austin, Texas, Oct. 17.—The Appellate Court now holds that the 1907 election was a nullity and void. Saloon keepers of Amarillo telegraphed the comptroller, asking if he would now issue liquor permits, after the decision of the Fort Worth Court of Criminal Appeals.

The comptroller replied that he would as soon as the mandate from that court is received. The State will then recognize Potter county as a "wet" county and liquor permits will be issued in a few days.

Conferring with Gail.

A special from Gail to the Dallas News of the 17th says:

Morgan Jones, the builder of the Denver road and who is now building the road from Abilene into King county, and who has had a branch of his road chartered into Snyder, Scurry county, Texas, is in Gail figuring with the Commercial Club on extending the road into this town and county (Borden). It is believed that in a short while Mr. Jones will submit the club a proposition which will be accepted if the proposition is reasonable.

Col. Jones and his chief engineer, Pierce Jones, were in Snyder a few days returning from Gail and while they had but little to say it is believed that their trip over the route at this time meant vastly more than they were willing to tell for publication.

The Andrews County News is the name of the newspaper that made its appearance at Andrews last week. It is edited by T. M. Smith, County Clerk of Andrews county, and former editor of the Shafter Lake Herald. Mr. Smith is a newspaper man of considerable experience and with proper support will give the people of Andrews a good, clean sheet.—Seminole Sentinel.

Stories at Less than a Cent Apiece.

In the fifty-two issues of a year's volume The Youths Companion prints fully two hundred and fifty stories. The subscription price of the paper is but $1.75 so that the stories cost less than one cent apiece, without reckoning in all the rest of the contents— anecdotes, humorous sketches, the doctor's weekly article, paper on popular topics by famous men and women.

Although the two hundred and fifty stories cost so little, they are not cheap stories. In variety of scene, diversity of incident, skill and truth in character depicting, they cannot be excelled.

The Ten Cent Oleomargarine Tax.

Why did the Congress of the United States enact the present oleomargarine law which provides for an internal revenue tax of ten cents per pound on artificially colored oleomargarine? Was it to permit the butter producers of the country to exact a high price for butter as has been claimed? To make such a claim is a pretty serious indictment of our federal law making body. Of course butter is higher in price than it was ten years ago but so are other necessities of life. The percentage of oleomargarine now being put upon the market bears a higher ratio to the amount of butter consumed than it did ten years ago. This coupled with the fact that less than three per cent of the oleomargarine sold is taxed at ten cents per pound proves that the oleomargarine law has absolutely nothing to do with the price of butter.

Congress enacted this law to prevent fraud in the sale of oleomargarine. The law was never intended to prevent the honest sale of oleomargarine or to enhance the interests of the butter producers of the country, but rather to protect the one against fraud in the purchase of butter or oleomargarine and the other against fraudulent competition.

Congress intended to compel the sale of oleomargarine in its natural color (which is white or nearly so) instead of in the natural color of butter (which is yellow). Congress at the same time reduced the former tax of two cents per pound on oleomargarine to one-fourth of a cent per pound when the product is not artificially colored to look like butter.

Congress used its taxing power to prevent fraud in the sale of oleomargarine because it had no other effective means of accomplishing that result. When oleomargarine is put upon the market in its natural color, thus making it impossible to commit fraud, the tax is one and three fourths cents less per pound than under any previous oleomargarine law.

The butter producers of the country are benefitted by the oleomargarine legislation only in so far as the integrity of the dairy industry is sustained—a benefit which is shared by every other citizen. It is a most important branch of agriculture and it is quite as essential to prevent the destruction of an agricultural industry by fraud as it is to prevent the destruction of our banking industry or any of the other industries in which every good citizen is interested.

240 Texas Counties.

There are now 240 organized counties in Texas and five unorganized counties. The youngest county is Winkler, whose officers have just received their commissions.

The five unorganized counties are Bailey, Cochran, Crane, Hockley and Loving, and when these are organized it will bring the total up to 245 counties in the state. However, it is quite likely that some of the larger counties, such as El Paso and Pecos will ultimately be subdivided into smaller counties and the total number of counties will probably go to 250.—Santa Anna News.

FURNITURE

From Factory to Home at Factory Prices

We can save you more money on furniture this year than ever before and that means we can save you more money than anyone else can save you at home or elsewhere.

The largest, the best factories in this country supply us with furniture and we ship the goods to you at factory cost with just one small margin of profit added. This makes our prices just about the prices the average retailer pays when he buys from the wholesaler or manufacturer, because our quantity purchases are so large that in many cases we take the entire output of the factory, which gives us a price reduction which we pass along to you in the form of lower prices. Our stocks are very large, our varieties are greater than ever and our qualities and prices unequalled. The manager of our furniture department, who has spent a lifetime in this business, is in close touch with the best markets, and as a result we offer you the newest patterns, the finest materials, the best possible cabinet work. Retail furniture dealers with their small sales and large expenses cannot begin to give you such values as we give you. Their methods of handling furniture make it necessary for them to ask more than our low prices on goods of equal quality. Then, too, they do not carry the complete stock we show.

You can get anything for any room in the house from us, and at a price which you will be willing to pay. All furniture carefully packed with safe delivery guaranteed to your nearest railway station.

Furniture Catalogue Free

We have just printed a new furniture, carpet and rug catalogue showing our complete lines for 1910-11. All the newest things from all the best factories and wonderfully low priced. We have a copy of this book ready to mail to you and you can't afford to buy anything in the way of furniture, carpets, rugs, lace curtains or furnishing goods of any sort until you have first written us a letter or a postal card and asked for a free copy of this book. From its pages you can buy as satisfactorily and much more economically than if you were to visit the nearest furniture stores in the great cities. Every article is fully illustrated and accurately described, and with this book before you you can make comparison of qualities, styles, prices, etc. which will enable you to buy just what you want. Remember we guarantee our quality, we guarantee prompt service and that we will save you money over the usual retail prices. ### Long Fence to Divide United States and Mexico.

The government will soon begin the construction of the longest fence in the world. It will extend from El Paso to the Pacific coast, a distance of more than 1,000 miles, and will divide the United States and Mexico. The fence will be built of barbed wire.

We hardly know what the fence is for. We don't think a barbed wire fence is any obstacle for a Mexican.—Garden City Gazette.

Easily Satisfied.

An old dorky, sent to a hospital, upon his arrival was placed in a ward, says Harper's, and one of the nurses put a thermometer in his mouth to take his temperature.

When the house doctor made his rounds he said:

"Well, my man, how do you feel?"

"I feels right tol-able, sur."

"Have you had anything to eat yet?"

"Yessah, I had a little."

"What did you have?"

"A lady done gimme a piece of glass ter suck, sah."
