GOMEZ DOTS

Our town had more people in it last Saturday than we have had before in some time.

The Gomez auxiliary of the Brownfield B. W. A., has been having some long session for the past two weeks, and judging by the eager, anxious tone of voice of some of the speakers, matters of great importance was under discussion.

The goods left from the spring sale at the Gainer Store, were loaded on wagons, Wednesday and carried to Plains. So now for the first time since Gomez was settled over two years before the county was organized, Gomez has no dry goods store. —LATTER Yes, we have a dry goods store too, for the freight wagons came in and unloaded dry goods at the old Adams-Holgate building, and the Holgate Brothers will sell dry goods.

Say Mr. Editor, everybody has had plenty of rain except the two towns in the center of the county and a small area near them. My! the weather here is the hottest ever. What have we done, or not done that we get no rain?

Oral Adams came in this week after two month's absence traveling west and southwest. He says the country where he has been is in good shape, but wound up this statement by declaring that he hadn't seen any place that looked or was any better than Old Terry. Mr. Arthur Moore did not return with him.

Mrs. Bragg, who had the misfortune to sprain one of her ankles last week is improving and will soon be able to be about.

Mr. Ed Williams and wife left this week for Fort Worth where they will make their home in the future.

Mr. J. W. Jenkins from twelve miles Southwest was in Wednesday and reports everything fine down there

The motion picture show last Saturday night was well attended.

The only solid comfort that can be gotten out of this hot weather is in going to the ice cream parlor; and judging from the crowds around the entrance as well as inside, it is a comfort that our citizens enjoy hugely.

Mrs. Arthur Moore is on the sick list this week, but is reported to be improving.

Well that much talked of picnic is to be an actual fact; so come one and all and join us on the Fourth of July at the grounds around the Baptist church at Gomez where prohibition speaking in the morning and a program gotten up by the people in and around Gomez, in the afternoon; will be the entertainment. It is not a barbecue, but an old time picnic. All are invited to come and bring a box or basket dinner along.

Mr. and Mrs. George Snodgrass were visiting in town Wednesday.

Ted Pore left Monday afternoon for Lubbock where he took the train for Dallas, where he expects make his home. We regret to lose Ted from our town as he was a pleasant boy whose pleasant disposition made him a favorite with all.

Mrs. Milton Goode from the South side of the county was in trading Thursday and bought one of those nice steel ranges from the Gomez Hardware Co.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Duke on the 23rd inst., a son. Mother and baby doing well.

Mrs. Ben Broughton was in this week with some fine peaches but they sold so fast that the most of us only looked at them.

Mr. Raymond Greathouse made a trip to Lubbock and back this week and brought back a load of groceries for A. P. Moore.

Mr. Pruitt came in from the railroad Thursday with a load of freight, most of which was coal. Well, some citizen had the good judgment to take advantage of low prices and good roads of the summer to lay in winter fuel.

Terry County Fair

Directors Meet.

The Directors of the Terry County Fair Association met in regular session at Gomez, Saturday, June 24th, 1911, with W. D. Winn, Vice-President, in the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

The motion that the next Fair be held in Brownfield and thereafter alternate between the two places and set for special business for this meeting, was then called for discussion. A motion to allow votes on this question by proxy, was carried. On roll call the original motion was lost and then Gomez was unanimously chosen for the meeting place for 1911 and Brownfield for 1912.

By motion the time for holding the Fair was set for Friday and Saturday one week before the opening of the Dallas Fair in October, the exact date to be promulgated later.

A motion to appoint a finance committee carried, and W. H. Gist, W. H. Black and R. H. Banowsky were appointed on this committee. S. A. Shepherd, Sam Funderburk and Bob Holgate were appointed as committee on arrangements. J. T. Gainer was made Ex-Officio member of this committee.

A motion that hereafter Premiums be paid on the best exhibits and that the finance committee and General Manager prepare plans for same and submit them at the next meeting of the directors was carried.

After setting Saturday, September 2nd, as the next date for meeting, motion to adjourn was unanimously carried.

R. H. Banowsky, Sec'y.

Attorney General's Opinion.

Austin, Texas.—Scores of letters are being received at the Attorney General's Department asking if it is a fact that if the prohibition amendment is defeated the whole State will be wet; that is, the counties and precincts now dry will become wet. Special Council C. E. Mead who makes a specialty of the liquor question, says that it is absurd to think that such would be the effect.

Mr. Mead points out that if the amendment should carry it would necessarily make the license laws inoperative besides deranging other statutes built upon the regulation of the liquor traffic, necessitating extensive revision of the statutes to bring them to cover the new conditions of affairs. It would furnish plenty of opportunity for legislative scraps. The injunction law against selling liquor, etc, would be enlarged, probably. Thus in the event the amendment carried an entirely new condition would result.

On the other hand, if the amendment is defeated conditions will be identical as they were prior to the election, says Mr. Mead. The amendment, he points out, does not undertake to put but the one question, a change in section 20 of article 16 of the Constitution. It proposes a substitute for the present section 20, which is the local option provision of the statutes. The substitute is absolute prohibition. Therefore, if it fails the present section 20 is not changed, but stands as it does now. The statutes are not effected at all, and the Fitzhugh-Robertson law remains as it is. The wet counties will stay wet and the dry counties and dry precincts will still be dry.

Mrs. W. H. Gist left last week for Harper, Mo., where she went to visit her parents who have been sick for some time. She will be away indefinitely.

Cotton in Terry county is looking well, but is on a standstill for want of moisture.

Corn, maize and kaffir and feed stuff are still looking green and glossy, but a good rain would make them move at a lively clip.

It will not be long until Terry county will be noted for her good roads. Good roads are real-estate builders besides being the most useful and valuable of assets, and yet, the tax increase is not at all noticable.

Senator Paynter, of Kentucky, has withdrawn from the Senatorial race in that State because he could not face his constituents on a pro-Lorimer record. Strange that public men will do things one day they are ashamed of the next.

There is some talk of building an absolute fire proof vault and a jail near the Court house. As to the former we need it to protect valuable records, but as to the later, we seriously object; not that the Herald is afraid of being the first occupant, but we dont need it and lets do without one as long as possible. The interest on our money is some consideration.

When we imagine that we can change the vote of certain people by calling them thieves, liars and scoundrels, we are certainly looking through the wrong end of the horn, for the one so called will not only vote the opposite himself but will do all he can to change those about him by means foul or fair. Let us at least have a clean campaign in Terry county so that when it is over we all will still be friends and neighbors and not moral enemies. The most of us have got to live together after this contest is over. Think before you speak and do not say a lot of things that will keep you busy explaining that you did not mean after the election is over.

It is indeed strange just how citizens will become so disagreed over a question and see it through so many different aspects.

But that is what caused the world to stand.

If all had like King George, we might still be English subjects. If everybody had cared less about electricity than Franklin, we would not have our telegraphs, telephones and trolley cars. In fact if we had all been borned with the same mind, same feeling and same inclination, we might still be sleeping back in the stone age. We even see the coming contest through several different mirrows. One says it is a moral question while another just as strongly asserts that it is strictly a political one. Both have probably good grounds to base their opinions.

The Prohibitionist says it is a moral one because there are so many crimes, so many wrecked families and so many prison cells filled, caused directly or indirectly by the licenced saloon or attendant evils. The Anti State-wider contends just as hard that it is strictly a political one for the reason that we are to vote on whether or not we change an article of our State constitution, and that is no more of a moral question than the amendment voted on at the last general election as to whether we would or would not build a home for the wives and widows of Confederate veterans.

Probably both have and can advance good reasons for their views, and the views of either should be sacredly respected. We are all human and subject to err. Time only will tell who is right and who is wrong.

The good sound corn you are feeding those pigs to get them in shape for market will produce far better growth and larger financial return if you add to it one-tenth as much tankage or oil meal. This will balance the ration and give most economical gains.

Not only is it true in the case of the farm animals, but of the poultry as well that fresh air during the winter season when they are closely confined is far more important from the standpoint of health and growth than warm air. Many a farmer shortsightedly stuffs up every crack and cranny to keep out the cold when if he but knew it he is dollars behind as a result.

Southern and western corn growers will have to look to their laurels if reports from Massachusetts are correct touching a yield of 125 bushels of corn in a contest which was concluded in the Bay State a few weeks ago. If we remember correctly, the corn grown was a long cobbled flint type, and the yield was due to excellent tillage and a generous application of a commercial fertilizer.

That pigs as well as some smaller animals have a considerable capacity for multiplying was shown in the case of a Duroc sow belonging to a corn belt farmer of which we read the other day. She had a litter of nine pigs in October, raising all of them. In the June following she had nine more pigs, of which number eight lived. There were six sows in the first litter, and before the year was up they had forty-five healthy growing pigs. This meant an increase from one to sixty-three in less than twelve months' time. No wonder there's money in pigs.

It is passing strange how many farmers seem to have a native prejudice against any device or method that that can by hook or crook be called newfangled. We know many men, and our readers know a great many more, who are pulling teats of cows twice a day through the whole of their milking period who actually don't give enough milk, raise a good enough calf or make enough manure, all told, to pay their annual feed bill. Yet these fellows will shy at a four dollar Babcock tester worse than a green heifer at a red automobile, and they will doubtless console themselves with the reflection that the good old way is good enough for them. Where a fellow is absolutely blind and stubborn the only thing that can be done is to let him plod along in the "good old way" and take what comes.

As showing that it is a far more difficult matter to control the supply of a product like grain or potatoes where many are engaged in producing it than in the case of coal, oil or similar product where the producers are few and quite likely united is shown in the disaster which befell those who tried to hold up potato prices last winter. It was decided by a group having Indianapolis as a center of operation to hang on to a big lot of potatoes until $1 per bushel should be reached. The price not advancing as was anticipated, several hundred cars were dumped on central markets in January and February and brought the munificent price of 18 cents per bushel, this not taking into account the expense of holding and storing. The men who had a hand in this deal are wiser if poorer this year and will speculate in something more enduring than "praties."

Primrose Notes.

Dear Editor:
I'll call again and let you know we are all still alive up in this part of the world, but a good rain would be appreciated. Crops all look fine, corn needs rain, but cotton can do without it.

We had a nice crowd at singing Sunday, with several visitors from Needmore, who seem to enjoy themselves hugely. There will be preaching next first Sunday; every body come.

Miss Ida Dickenson returned Tuesday from Lockney, where she has been visiting her sister for several weeks.

Mr. Julius Baker left Saturday for Arizona.

Mrs. Frank Jackson, of Roswell, is visiting her father, Mr. Marcy. She will stay about two weeks.

Mrs. A. L. Baber is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Shelboren. Mrs. Baber has been sick for about two weeks.

Mr. Baker's family has been on the sick list this week, so much so he could not attend court at Plainview.

Mrs. and Mrs. Pyeatt spent Sunday week with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Copeland.

Mr. Walter Scudday of Brownfield, was at singing Sunday.

Miss Lurah Smith is visiting in this vicinity.

A. W. Blankenship, Lee Cowan and Hope Timmons, attended court at Plainview this week.

Well I will call again some time soon.

Cricket.

Married.

Dr. Jno. R. May, of Roland, Arkansas, was married on the 12th day of May, to Miss Nora Porter, of Ronoak, Arkansas. Dr. May is the son of J. T. May, now of Brownfield, but formerly of this place and a brother of Mesdames W. W. Royalty and W. B. Downing of this city. He will be very pleasantly remembered by a number of young folks, having visited here sometime since, and formed the acquaintance of a number of our people.

The Avalanche extends to the happy couple, congratulations.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Dr. and Mrs. May will likely visit Brownfield a little latter at which time there will be a big family reunion of the Mays.

The First Bale of Cotton.

The first bale of Cotton raised in the world, 1911, was produced at San Benito, and sold on the Houston market, June 9th for over a Thousand Dollars. This beats the world record for early production, at least since the records have been kept.

King Cotton has pinned all the blue ribbons on Texas and each year we break our own record.

Employee's Club House.

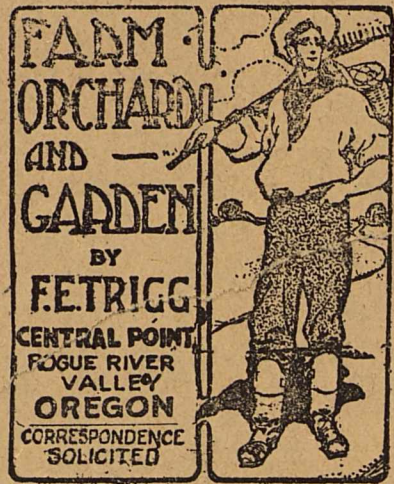

The Gulf Refining Company at Port Arthur has erected a handsome Club house, elegantly furnished with all modern appliances and convenience for use of their employes.

This sort of philanthropy is soul material for corporations and has in it a touch of human nature that make employer and employe kin.

Texas Pastures.

Uncle Sam has just completed an inspection of his pastures and he finds the Texas grass in better condition than that of any other agricultural State in the Union. Grass is the cheapest of all animal foods and we have more pastures and better pastures than any other State in the Union.

[This matter must not be reprinted without special permission.]

MONEY IN QUACK GRASS LANDS.

About the last section of the country which one would think might be boomed by the real estate agent would seem to be a locality in which quack grass had gained a foothold, and yet the experience of one Minnesota farmer, whose case was related to us directly the other day, would seem to indicate that here was an opening for some energetic as well as patriotic real estate agent. The man in question lives in the vicinity of New Richland, Minn., a section which has been afflicted with quack, more or less—quite likely more—severely for the past fifteen or eighteen years. He cleared one eighty of the pest several years ago, and by dint of much vigilance has succeeded in keeping it clean. A year ago last August he bought another eighty adjoining the home place, which had been given over to quack grass for the preceding ten years. He paid $2,000 for it, or $25.75 per acre. Although it was late in the season before he could get at it, he plowed forty acres of it early in October, raked it with a special quack rake and burned the roots. Next he went over the piece with a quack root digger, gathering and burning all the roots which it was possible to reach. The next spring he planted corn on about twelve acres, oats on a third and wheat on the remainder. This fall he husked 300 bushels of fine corn from this twelve acres, and we know he did because we got the figures straight and have a sample of the corn before us. It is better corn than that raised on land which has been free from quack for years. He will tackle the other forty acres infested with the grass next season, and he figures that when he has given it the same treatment as he has the first forty he will not care to sell the eighty for less than $5,000, and if it is free from the pest it ought to be worth this price. It goes without saying that a fellow with flabby muscles, short in red blood or lacking in courage will hardly want to tackle the redemption of this quack grass land, yet we believe there is a first class opportunity for the fellow who is made of the right stuff to get a good farm land at a low price. If he redeemed the land he will not only have added to his bank account, but served his neighborhood and country in a praiseworthy way.

SHOULD NOT BE STAMPEDED.

Straightway following election the big packers have announced that there is going to be a gradual decline in live stock prices. Since the wish in this case is father to the suggestion, because it will enable them to buy heavily on a declining market and thus enlarge their profits—and they seem abundantly able to carry out their wishes—it is fair to assume that the decline in prices will follow. Yet the less the feeders of the country are stampeded by the announcement and the less they yield to a very natural impulse to rush their stuff to a demoralized market the more money they will save in the end and the less will the packers profit by the coup which they have sprung. There can be a decline of $1.50 per hundredweight from present prices ($6 to $7) and yet be left a very satisfactory profit in feeding corn worth 35 to 40 cents per bushel. The man who is so fixed that he can do so would far better hold his hogs and steers, especially if they are unfinished, and sell them a few weeks later, when there is reason to believe that the market will have steadied from the present flurry. There are just as many hungry mouths to feed now as before election, and there is every reason to believe that the legitimate demands for meat products will be just as strong as they have been during the past two years.

THE VALUE OF OILMEAL.

While it is high priced as compared with other cereal feeds, oilmeal is the most valuable of the whole list as a means of furnishing stock with protein in condensed form. The best grades contain 30 per cent or slightly better of digestible protein, and it is because of this fact that it is worth the high price asked for it. Of the two brands of kinds of meal—old and new process—the former is cheaper at the same price because 94 per cent of the protein content is digestible, while in new process meal but 84 per cent is digestible. Mature fattening cattle may be given from two to two and a half pounds per day, while with growing young stock and pigs it may constitute one-tenth by weight of the grain ration. Dairy cows will handle from one to two pounds daily, depending upon their milk flow. It is the opinion of animal husbandry experts that there is no other feed which has so beneficial an effect on the animals eating it as does oilmeal. Fed in proper balance with other grains, it is the most economical ration which can be fed.

It is an interesting fact of natural history that white horses are always black as young colts. Did you ever note an exception?

Notwithstanding the fact that it is entirely feasible, we nevertheless have neither seen nor heard of any serious effort being made to utilize the grass and weeds that annually go to waste on tens of thousands of acres of country highways by herding over them neighborhood flocks of sheep, which could be looked after by some of the grandfathers of the community whose days of active farm work are past. Not only would the grazing of the highways in the manner suggested turn into dollars a lot of roughage that annually goes to waste, but it would greatly improve the appearance of the highways and prevent their being weed seed manufacturing for the fouling of the adjoining fields. Of course the carrying of such a co-operative plan into effect presupposes that the folks in the community are on good terms, which is one of the essentials of good farming.

Quite a good deal has been appearing of late in the culinary columns of the daily papers about churnless butter. As near as we can make it out, the cream is put in a brown calico (English for cotton and maybe white would do just as well as brown) bag and put in a hole in the ground for about twenty-four hours, at the end of which time it will or ought to be converted to butter. The philosophy of the business seems to lie in the buttermilk seeping out of the sack, while it is said that contact with the earth "brings" the butter and adds a delicious flavor. It is maybe a confession of ignorance, but we would think that when the good housewife had dug the hole in the ground and filled it up and washed that cotton bag she would have expended about as much energy as in putting the cream in a basin or crock and giving it a few stirs with a spoon.

A gentleman from Oklahoma passed through town last week and remarked to a local citizen that crops were better and grass is in a better condition right here than any place he had seen. He reported that hot winds had ruined crops in his country. Dry up Mr. Knocker of Terry. You have a good home and country, but probably do not know it.

The editor and wife, among other guest were invited, to eat the infare dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ellis at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Randal, last Sunday. Mrs. Randal sustained her usual reputation as a splendid cook and a rare hostess. It was noticed with local pride that lots of the viands on this occasion came from her own orchard and garden.

We are in receipt of a circular from the Texas Sunday School Association announcing that there will be a County Association at Brownfield Monday and Tuesday, July 8th and 9th. The local pastors and superintendents will get together some time this week and make arrangements. It is to be hoped that there will be delegates from every Sunday school in the county. More about this will be published next week.

Wedded

Two of the most popular young people of Brownfield were united in marriage last Wednesday night, June the 21st at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Farrar, of Maryneal, Nolan county Texas, at 8:30 p. m. sharp.

This couple, Mr. Ed Ellis and Miss Mabel Farrar, have held mutual affection toward each other for some three years, and terminated at last as most every one expected.

Mr Ellis is a member of the firm of the Randal Drug Co., and is recognized as one of our leading business men. He has a host of friends and well wishers who heartily congratulate him in capturing such a lovely young lady.

Mrs. Ellis, has taught in the Brownfield High school for three terms and has given general satisfaction. She is a polished, high toned lady, of gentle and affectionate disposition, making friends with all with whom she came in contact. She possesses rare beauty which is not entirely outward, but comes from a heart full of love for God and his creatures. We are sure she will make a very crpable companion. She has lived so long in Brownfield that we almost claim her as a Brownfield lady.

In the presence of a large assemblage of friends and relatives, Rev. C. Wright, the brides pastor, spoke the beautiful words that made them man and wife. Among those who attend were, Dock Powell, of this city and T. J. O'Donnell of Tahoka.

Herald joins friends and relatives in wishing them all kinds of happiness and good luck through life.

S. S. INSTITUTE

The pastors and superintendents of the Sunday School in Brownfield have decided to hold the County Sunday School Institute at the methodist Church in Brownfield on Monday and Tuesday July 10 and 11th enclusive.

It is very important that each and every Sunday School in Terry county send delegates to this Institute as it is very desirable to have a good showing in the State convention. So if you do not read this notice in time to elect delegates Sunday, be sure and do So Sunday week.

Let everybody attend who possibly can, no matter whether you are a delegate or not your presence is very much desired, and an effort will be put forth for your comfort and entertainment. Come and bring all the children for they all like Sunday School.

The Honey Bee

The honey bee is nature's factory, and this family of insects is the only one which completely manufactures and stores a product ready for the market without the aid of man and the ingenuity of the human race has never been able to imitate its products. So completely does it monopolize the manufacture of honey that in all probability it operates in direct violation of our anti-trust laws.

Like the human race, there are many drones in the colony, but as a whole the bee is the highest type of energy, thrift, and enterprise in the animal kingdom and it leads in intelligence, foresight and business persistency.

They are the most orderly and best governed of any class of animals, not excepting the human race. Their methods of government form the basis of the constitution of every civilized nation on the globe, and so perfect is this primitive system of government that no changes in or additions to their laws have been necessary since the beginning of creation and they have fewer and better laws than any other organized form of animal society. The "spirit of the hive" is oftentimes more conducive to peace and industrial activity than public sentiment of civic communities.

The Texas Almanac of 1910 estimates that we have 600,000 swarms valued at $9.17 each, making a total value of $5,500,000, and last year the output of honey and wax sold for $3,500,000. This is a return of 58 per cent on the investment. No banker or broker will undertake to compete with them in dividends and money invested in an apiary is as safe as in a bank vault. No domestic animal or insect has been able to approach the honey bee as a revenue producer and none can compare with it in popularity of product.

The climate of Texas permits the bee to work 365 days in the year and the soil produces blossoms, buds and flowers for these little harvesters to reap the entire year. The natural vegetable growth of Texas is rich in honey products and no country on the globe is better adapted by nature to apiculture than Texas.

PRIDE DOTS

Say Mr. Editor; is this weather hot enough for you? We are sure needing rain in this part of the county. Stock water is getting scarce on account of there being so little wind to turn the windmills, lately.

Messrs. Harve Martin and Box Cathey are moving 175 head of their cattle this week to Mr. Leatherwood's pasture near Lou for water and grass.

Uncle Lon Medoral has gone to New Mexico on a business trip. Messrs. J. P. Simmons, W. F. and Box Cathey went to Tahoka last week; on business.
