BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1911

NO 30

WILL MAKE $1,000 FARMING THIS YEAR.

How is this For a Bachelor Man? No Irrigation.

In conversation with C. L. Williams one day this week, we learned that he would probably make the above amount this year by himself as he is one of our marriagable bachelors and did not hire any help. Right here we want to say that Cleve is a conservative estimator, as every body who knows him will tell you.

In the first place, he is not a crank on any one crop, but is broad enough to put systematic diversification to test for all there is in it. He worked several years in the broom corn belt of Oklahoma, both as a producer and also as a manufacturer, and knows something on broom corn, especially when it is going about the $100. per ton mark. He will have something like six or seven tons of this commodity to sell, but will keep back about one and one half tons which he will manufacture into brooms, machinery for the manufacture of which has already been ordered. He has also ordered a gasoline engine to run his thresher and will have a baler made in Brownfield to his order to make hauling to the railroad and shipping handy.

Many of our farmers have stood back on planting this crop for the simple reason that they thought threshing, baling and marketing would be items of considerable expense, but as these have been eliminated by the introduction of machinery, there is no doubt but a large acreage will be planted to broom corn in Terry county next year; large enough in fact to pay buyers to go to our fields. Cleve informed us that he would move his baling and threshing machinery to any crop containing twenty acres or more.

Experts tell us that the Plains country produces the finest corn in the world, the climate being such as to reduce mildew to a minimum, and at the same time the straw is cured so pliant that a straw may be tied in a hard knot without breaking them. We know that the Plains country gets the top notch price and this alone is proof enough that we produce the best corn.

Cleve not only raises broom corn, but he has plenty of corn, maize, kaffir and cane for home consumption and oodles for sale. His broom corn was harrowed once, dragged once and never hoed; so also in like manner was the other crops worked. He said when people began to work in this country, that there was no telling what the results would be.

Show us the single handed farmer in the cotton belt that has beat this record this year, and we will sight you to a white-black-bird.

Bring your eggs to the Hill Hotel and get 20c per dozen.

OVER HALF BALE TO THE ACRE.

Just three years ago, when the editor first landed in Terry, it was frequently asserted and by our leading farmers that this was not and never would be a cotton country. The reason generally given were that the altitude was too high and the seasons too short. We believe the theory has been exploded and the most vehement in making such declarations, are successfully cultivating the plant now.

Only this week Bille Bryant, of the Groves Chapel country informed us that his father had out nine bales and expected to get three or four more on just twenty acres. This is their first experience with cotton in Terry county but are gladly surprised with results obtained and will likely plant more cotton next year than this.

Mr. Bryant raised cotton for twenty years on the black lands Johnson county and say he believes that one year with another the South Plains will produce as much cotton as that and with half the labor. He has raised as much feed this year as he ever made in two years down there. Yes he is satisfied with Terry.

Same Here.

Just how much Dawson county cotton was ginned at the Riley gin, across the line in Lynn county, we are not prepared to state, but it is considerable—Dawson County News.

Just how much Terry county cotton has been ginned by Dawson, Lynn and Lubbock county gins, we are not prepared to state, but it is considerable.

Did any ghosts visit you last Tuesday night? They visited us and left a big road grader on the Herald's front gallery.

COMING BACK.

A letter from South East Hamilton to J. E. Bryant, states that he left South Texas on October 10th and will arrive in Terry county about Nov. 10th, and on his arrival he will build a nice home on his place and will stay with it.

This news will be a source of much pleasure to Terry county people, as he is not only a splendid farmer, but an A1 citizen and a neighbor, away above par.

He came to Terry county as many others have; a poor man. He reached Terry county four years ago with a wagon and team and enough money to run him one year, and purchased a half section of land for something like $3,000 dollars on a credit. He made three crops paid for his land, bough good teams, and left last year for South Texas with $1500 in cash.

S. E. did not leave Terry county because he could not make money, but because he had rheumatism and concluded a change of climate would do him good and we are glad to report that the change made the desired effect.

We are glad to welcome such a citizen back to Terry; yea, we want a thousand such.

Jack Head sold the City Barber Shop this week to Bert French, who has recently come in from Dallas where he took a course at a tonsorial college. Bert is a good boy and gives every promise of an efficient barber. We wish him a full measure of success.

OLD LIQUOR LICENSE FOUND

In the Old Saloon Building During Renovation.

Recently while carpenters W. J. Byrd and Jack Drinkard were remodeling the old Holden building, or better known as the old saloon building, in tearing away old wall and newspapers, many of which were old Terry County Voices, the parent of the present Herald, they found an old liquor license, issued in 1904 to E. E. Craig by the Federal Government to legalize booze selling in Brownfield, Texas. There are a few grown people here now, all old timers, and mighty few children, who remember the brief reign of red-eye in Terry county, but it is generally understood that those were days when it was almost dangerous to be safe and ladies were seldom seen on the streets.

Be it understood, however, that the people soon took the matter to the polls and by an overwhelming ballot said the saloon must go. With it not only went the liquor and those who sold it, but also those staunch advocates of the open saloon, seeking more favorable companions.

The digging up of this old document brought back memories to many an old timer that were better forgotten. These were days when prosperity spread its shiny wings and Terry was soaring at hazy heights. Money and whiskey flowed like branch water. Therin lies a tale; almost tragedy, for the panic of 1907 came along and those spent dollars began to loom up like wagon wheels. There is no saloon here now, and if the present citizenship holds sway, there will never be another.

Another Snow.

When clouds began boiling up in the North Wednesday morning, the inhabitants of Terry county were little surprised when a fresh norther reached them an hour latter; nor were they very much surprised when sleet began falling shortly after dark that night. A drizzle of rain and sleet fell off and on all night, but it waited until yesterday morning to begin snowing in earnest and was kept up until noon, when there was near an inch on the ground.

This morning (Friday) the wind has changed to the Southeast and the weather has moderated considerably causing the show to begin melting. We are glad to see these little snows falling as they always leave a good season and the ground in good shape for plowing.

WE WOULD SAY TO THE TERRY CO. TRADE

That our stock of coal is complete, and we are ready to fill you bins while the weather is warm and roads are good. It is a recognized fact that our woven, barb and slick wires are the best money can buy. A full line of Post and stays, stock salt, grain and hay. Come; let us reason together and trade some. through the coming years. It is already one of the strong pillars in the temple of justice of the Great Southern Commonwealth.

Terry county people believe in political evolution not political revolution. They believe that ethics more than towering intellect or genius is the crying need of American politics to-day. They believe in state-wide prohibition as their votes showed in the recent prohibition election. In fact, they believe in any plan that makes for sounder, broader government, and best of all they believe in themselves.—Contributed.

Generally speaking, we have a splendid set of boys in Brownfield, in fact there are no real mean boys here, but a few are very, very mischevious and the Grand Jury has been busy this week prying into this mischeviousness. Probably there would not have been any enquiry at this term of Distiaict Court, had the boys confined their disturbances to their home town, but during the fair at Gomez, some of them created such a disturbance at the play in the school auditorium that a peace officer had to be called in to quell the noise. Now that is damaging to your character boys, to go just a little way from home and a peace officer had to be called in before other people could see and here peacefully. What would you think of the Gomez boys were they to come here and disturb you? It is bad enough to disturb home folks and ten times worse to do so abroad. Even public worship is sometimes interrupted in Brownfield and parties have to be called down from the pulpit about their talking and giggling, and the authorities are ready to put such manevvers up against the strong arm of the law. The Grand Jury report that they have enough evidence, sworn to and signed, to convict several boys, but on account of their youth, deferred returning indictment, and asked District Judge W. R. Spencer to lecture them. He did so in a kind but firm way, admonishing the boys to refrain from any repetition of any such conduct. He also told them that the Grand Jury had shown abundant mercy on account of their youth, but that all evidence collected would be used against them should there be any further disturbances and that they were merely put on probation and not turned entirely loose.

It is sincerely hoped that will end any further bad behavior of our boys, and if not the law will be strictly enforced and if some of our girls are not careful they may be summoned to appear with the boys.

In the death of Joseph Pulitzer the world loses a great man; America a faithful citizen, and newspaperdom a champion, a master and a benefactor. In his greatness he made two struggling newspapers as colossal as himself. The New York World and the Post-Dispatch, of St. Louis are among America's very best papers regardless of the fact that their rivals are wont to call them yellow.

The 26th annual meet of the great State Fair is history and everybody connected with it are well pleased. The management is optimistic: the exhibitors are delighted; the gaudy shows along amusement row are tickled and the 833,000 people who entered the gates are pleased and tickled, because they received as much education and amusement in one day at this great institution as they would have received in a whole year in the ordinary way. The beams of the Dallas Fair are penetrating the uttermost parts of the world.

Discerning visitors at the Fair were impressed with the reputation that the western counties have throughout the State. Not only are they not laughed at, but they are actually praised, and this praise has been well earned. The western counties have come into their own. Consider Terry county, for instance. It is no longer a big ranch, but it is settled up by stockman and farmers. It is not a block of land thirty miles square, bounded by four straight lines. It is not a small, red, square on the great checker board of Texas. It is a community of friendly, patriotic Americans. It is in Texas, of Texas, and for Texas, and its influence for good morals and sound government will grow

Needmore Items.

Jim Smith is attending court Brownfield this week.

Rev. Gibson, of Bastrop, is visiting at the McPhaul ranch.

Frank Howard returned from Dallas last Thursday where he attended the Fair.

Will and Arch McPhaul and Jewel Bell drove a herd of fat cattle to Tahoka, shipping them to Kansas City from there.

Walter Raymer took a bale of cotton to Lubbock, Monday.

Noah Bell killed a "fatted calf" last week. Having given the venison away, he takes this opportunity of inviting those of his friends who did not get any meat to come and eat soup with him, as he reserved the backbone for himself.

Brock Gist says he has his cotton out—still out in the field. He picked 101 pounds in one day, and came in at sunset, "one vast substantial smile." Brock says when cotton is worth only seven cents a pound, it does not pay to work hard.

Fifth Sunday Meeting

The fifth Sunday meeting of the Brownfield association met with the Brownfield church Oct. 26-29

The meeting was a spiritual uplift to those who attended. Owing to the bad weather the attendance was small. There were present: Rev. J. R. Milier and Rev. A. L. Estes, of Lynn county; Rev. Robt. Balch pastor at Tahoka; Rev. Gibson of Bastrop, Texas, besides several brethren and sisters from the adjacent communities.

Those present expressed themselves as enjoying the meeting very much. All the preachers present preached excellent sermons. The one by Bro. Miller on Justification by Faith was worth going many miles to hear.

On Saturday afternoon the ladies rendered a short but interesting program. At the 11 o'clock hour on Sunday, Rev. Robt. Balch preached an excellent sermon and an offering was taken for State Missions amounting to $30.05.

The next meeting will be held in Dec., with the saints at Slaton.

The big national apple show which was held at Spokane, Wash., a few weeks since was more of a success than either of its two predecessors. It is estimated that 2,000,000 apples were on display, while it is conceded by the judges who had the laborious task of awarding the prizes that the quality of the fruit exhibited was the finest that has ever been shown. The grand sweepstakes prize was won by C. H. Sproat of Hood River for a carload of Spitzenburgs, which were given a rating of 997 points out of a possible 1,000; the second prize also went to a Hood river grower on a carload of Newtown pippins, while third prize was awarded a carload of Spitzenburgs from the Yakima valley. The prize winning exhibits were taken by special express to Chicago, where they were exhibited at the land show and were admired by thousands of visitors in the coliseum.

Jack is selling out to leave Terry county on account of the bad health of his father, in order that he may manage his father's business. Jack is a good man and a good citizen and we hate to see him leave.

"Dr. Miles' Nervine Raised Me From the Grave"—Mrs. Taylor

This is a strong statement to make, but it is exactly what Mrs. Thomas Taylor, of Blum, Texas, said in expressing her opinion of this remedy.

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine raised me from the grave and I have much confidence in it. I can never say enough for your grand medicines. If anyone had offered me $100.00 for the second bottle of Nervine that I used I would have said 'no indeed.'" MRS. THOMAS TAYLOR, Blum, Tex.

Dairy Doings.

While bran can be used with a decided advantage in making up the rations of the dairy cows, it should not be used to excess, as it will make the cream hard to churn, while the butter will be pale rather than a golden yellow.

The purchaser of a bull should select an animal that is a good individual and whose dam and grandam on his sire's side have good butter fat records. His sire must, of course, show the characteristics of the good dairy type.

Many of the Maine farmers who gave up cows and went into potato growing a few years ago are coming back to cow keeping.

A testing outfit does not cost much, and it pays dividends. A cow that is merely boarding will eat as much as one producing a profit, and the only way to distinguish between the two is through the use of the Babcock test and the scales.

A farmer who has been traveling in Switzerland and Germany noticed that cows were used quite commonly for drawing loads or plowing on the little farms of those countries. He found that the cows could be worked to a moderate extent without much reducing their milk yield, and he suggests that the idea might be practical for small farmers in other countries.

The rule for feeding grain in the University of Wisconsin experiment station dairy herd is to give as many pounds of grain as the cow produces pounds of butter fat per week.

Underfeeding is as wasteful as over-feeding.

Our Cotton Money.

Our cotton crop last year sold for approximately $220,000,000 and many of our citizens are under the impression that this money is available for building railroads, factories, opening mines, etc. It is true we exchange our cotton for gold but while producing the cotton, we consume all our cereals and ship in $75,000,000 worth of feed stuff from other States. The Texas Grain Dealer's Association conducted especially for this article, an exhaustive investigation into our cereal consumption. The production column is taken from the Federal Agricultural Department reports and the figures in the consumed column were furnished by the Grain Dealer's Association:

Grain.	Pro. Bu.	Cons. Bu.
Corn	181,389,000	250,000,000
Wheat	18,780,000	25,000,000
Oats	24,325,000	25,000,000
Hay—Tons	711,000	3,000,000

The average price of corn is sixty-five cents; wheat one dollar; oats forty-six cents and hay twelve dollars. When these extensions are made to the figures in the consumption column, we find our cotton crop has entirely disappeared.

Of course all these products are not consumed on the farms as our cities are composed of exclusive consumers but, as a whole, we are an agricultural State and in its last analysis, the banker and the merchant is as much a farm laborer as the hired hand that follows the plow and to get our net gain, we must deduct total consumption from total production. The money to develop Texas cannot be found by searching our cotton fields. We must get it from other sources and our principal supply must come from outside the State.

Experimental Farms.

One of the wise laws enacted by the 32nd, or any other legislature, was the one which authorized the Commissioner's Court of any county to make an appropriation of not to exceed a thousand dollars per annum to be used in farm experiment and demonstration work.

The Commissioner's Court can make no better investment than to appropriate the entire sum and place it in the hands of a competent demonstrator. A number of our commissioners have joined hands with the Federal Government, thereby securing expert supervision without cost.
