George Washington

As we promised when we printed the prize winners on this subject, we are going to print the four next best compositions, and are taking them as they were graded, the highest first and on down—Editor

George Washington was an American statesman, and the hero of American Independence. He was born Feb. 22nd 1732 in Westmorland Va. His education was limited, but he had a very good knowledge of mathematics and studied surveying. At the age of sixteen he began surveying in the Alleghanies and the work he did has never been corrected.

His military career began when he was only 19 years old when he fought in the French and Indian wars. Gen. Washington was the soul of the Revolution as his advice and judgment was worth as much or more than a whole army. Through his influence the Revolution was brought to a successful close.

When peace was signed, he retired to Mt. Vernon, where he devoted himself to the care of his property, but he had not been there long before he was called to the Convention of 1787, when he was unanimously chosen president. Again in 1889, he was chosen president of the United States, and during his administrations many differences had to be settled that required a strong mind and a clear head, and he had them. In short Washington met every difficulty, wisely and well, just as he had met and overcome them when a surveyor on the Virginia frontier. A soldier in the French war and a general in the Revolution.

Washington died in 1799, and the whole civilized world mourned his departure. He was the first president of the United States, and is called the "Father of our Country." He is remembered as the great American, who was "First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen. He was a sincere Christian; a gentleman without reproach, and as a great general, he holds a secure place among the world's heroes.

Homer Winston

Washington was born Feb. 22, 1732 in Virginia. His parents were descendants of the cavalier family, of England and his father immigrated to America during Cromwell's rule.

His boyhood was simple, and as his parents were wealthy, he didn't work very hard. Left fatherless at the age of eleven, his education was directed by his mother. Of her, Washington learned his first lesson in self-command. He graduated at West Point.

His favorite amusements were of a military character; he made soldiers of his playmates, and officered all the mock parades. He was more solid than brilliant, and had more judgment than genius.

Washington married Mrs. Mary Custis, and they lived happily together for many years. He had great dread of public life; cared little for books and possessed no library.

Washington was appointed Commander of the American Army in 1775. As an officer he was brave, enterprising and cautious. His campaigns were rarely startling, but always judicious. He was capable of endurance; calm in defeat; sober in victory; commanding at all times and irritable when aroused. He exercised equal authority over himself and his army.

After the Revolution, when the time came to elect a president all eyes were turned to him. He was elected the second term and was nominated for the third but declined.

His last illness was brief and his closing hours were marked by his usual calmness and dignity. "I die hard" said he, "but I am not afraid to go. Until time shall be no more, a test of the progress our nation has made in wisdom and virtue, will be derived from the veneration paid to the immortal name of Washington.

He died December 14th 1799 and left no children. It has been said "Province left him childless that his country might call him father.

To Be a Daily Service From Lubbock to Plains.

Chas. Copeland came into the Herald office last Saturday afternoon and asked us if we wanted to hear some good news, and being informed that we did, he told us that he had just been in plane communication with his father, Judge Copeland, of Lubbock, who said the mail route from Lubbock to Bronco had been approved by the officials and the contract would be let the first of April.

This is indeed good news as it will put us in direct daily communication with the railroad and open quick mail service with our neighboring county to the West, a thing we have long for many years.

Harris Happenings.

March 6th

Oral Adams, of Gomez, and Jay McPhaul, went down near Knowles, M. M. last week to receive 120 head of cows and calves they had bought. Glenn Harris went with them and will probably get some experience in modern cow punching.

T. C. Ivey attended a cattlemen's convention in Oklahoma City last week.

Last week we failed to hear of the party at Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cotten's on Friday night. We have since heard there was quite a crowd there and all spent a very enjoyable evening. They are desirous of having Mrs. Cotten entertain them again soon.

Brit Clare sold Jay McPhaul 500 lbs. of maize at $15, per ton. There is lots of maize for sale around Harris yet.

Stock are doing well in this part of the country. We notice some range cattle are beginning to look sleek.

Oral Adams, of Gomsz, was up looking after his stock here last Wednesday.

Miss McDowell went over to her brother's last Sunday afternoon. She will spend a few days with him and then return to Mrs. Harris' and continue teaching the Misses Harris.

Judging from present appearances there is going to be some farming done around Harris this year.

Many people in Brownfield are showing signs of civic pride lately in that they are putting out shade trees, shrubbery and other ornaments beautiful to both the optic and nasal powers.

A week or so ago, the Lubbock Avalanche was reprinted an article from the Wise County Messenger, wherein it said that while the good people of Wise county were sloshing around in black mud, the Panhandle people were gathered in little school houses praying for rain. Just why a Texan can lie about Texas is more than we can understand, and if we were as strong as Frank Gotch, we would go right down to old Wise and soak the Messenger's head in some of that black mud. However the Avalanche did him good and plenty and we'll just keep mum and heap coals of fire on our Wise county contemporary's head.

We have a notice from the Texas Industrial Congress that there had not as yet registered an applicant from Terry county for the $10,000 in gold offered by that body in crop contests. Now we can't see why this is, for there is a $500 prize on kaffir and maize that are made, for every purpose. Prices right too. Don't forget the old reliable Eclipse windmill and John Deere implements. They have stood the test of time and we can stand behind them. We are the ones who think it will pay us to charge you only a fair price for our goods, and we give you value received for every dollar you spend with us.

Make our store your headquarters when in Lubbock, whether you buy or not. We will be glad to see you.

You may get a copy of conditions at the Brownfield State Bank.

V. H. TRAMMELL

The above gentleman located in Brownfield nearly three years ago, coming here as pastor of the Methodist church, which position he has held ever since, with credit to himself, his church and the public at large. Being desirous of becoming a permanent fixture in our town and county he now formerly and respectfully asks the Democratic voters of Terry county to support his candidacy for the office of Tax-Assessor in the July primaries. There is no question in our mind whatever as to his qualification, as his education and practical knowledge of stock and land values in the West is extensive, having spent most of his life in West Texas and in all positions from cow-boy to preacher, and he is a gentleman in every sense of the word. Give his candidacy serious consideration.

Mr. R. G. Wood was in from the Meador county Thursday, on business and handed us another $ to keep 'er coming as the Lubbock Avalanche says.

Birthday Party

Last Monday night Mr. and Mrs. J. T. May entertained quiet crowd of Brownfield's young folks in honor of their Son Tom's birthday. The young people first entered into guessing what the different pictures advertised that were pinned about on the curtains, getting few of them right but causing lots of fun and merriment. Miss Brownfield and Miller charmed the crowd with several piano solos; next Miss Miller and Mrs. Downing of Lubbock, Sung a duet "when you and I were young Maggie"; next they had an Ice contest, in which Miss Dean Low won first prize, Edgingfellow poems, and Myrtis Walker won booty" then they all (in no) were ushered into the dining room where 22 candles were burning and were served to sandwiches, pickles, chocolate, ambrosia with whipped cream and cake; then the birthday cake was cut. Henry French got the ring, Tom May the dime, Howard James the needle. All departed assuring the hostess of a very enjoyable evening.

Uncle Bill McMinn was right sick last week, but is better at this writing.

Mrs. J. C. Preston was very ill with stomach trouble, but is up again.

Mr. Pate Youngblood returned last week from the east where he had shipped horses.

We learn that Geo. E. Tiernan won the free dollar at May & Son's last week. The sale on shoes will continue next week, thus giving you another chance at a rare shoe bargain.

Dr. Ellis came in from I. H. Hudson's yesterday afternoon and reports a fine boy up there. It is thought that I. H. will begin to notice common people again some time the latter part of 1901.

Increased facilities for exhibitors, and more and better amusements for visitors. The faster this institution grows, the more rapidly will grow the livestock industry in this section, so let every man, woman and child in the southwest attend the 1912 show in March, and by so doing, not only make this event the most successful ever held but enjoy one solid week of pleasure and education.

RAILROADS, HOTELS AND STREET CAR SERVICE.

All railroads leading into Fort Worth will put on unusually low rates during the National Feeders' and Breeders' Show to be held at Fort Worth, March 18-23, inclusive; this rate to be in effect not only from all points in Texas, but from interstate points as well. This was agreed upon at a joint meeting of the general freight and passenger agents, which was held in Galveston, January 10. Persons desiring to attend the Fat Stock Show this year, no matter where they live, may go to Fort Worth at very nominal expense. The Fat Stock Show this year will be held on Homeseekers' Week, and the show management has arranged with all the roads putting on homeseekers' rates to have all trains stopped at Fort Worth, in order that the passengers may visit the show before continuing to their various destinations.

Since the 1911 Fat Stock Show, a number of new first-class hotels have been erected in Fort Worth, and with these others already open, the city is now prepared to comfortably take care of the increased crowds which will attend this year. There will be no increase in rates at any of the hostleries and special preparation will be made to accommodate the visitors. Street car service between the depots and the show grounds will be more efficient than ever before, and, in fact, every thing possible will be done for the convenience and accommodation of visitors.

Fort Worth will entertain between fifty thousand and one hundred thousand visitors during the week, and all organizations in the city have combined to entertain them most royally.

LAND SHOW.

Exhibits to Be Secured From Every Portion of the State.

In order to make the National Feeders' and Breeders' Show, which will be held at Fort Worth, March 18-23, 1912, more attractive to a greater number of people, the management is adding many new features of entertainment, amusement and education. One of the most important of these new features will be a Land or Agriculture Show. In preparing for this attraction the management is being given the hearty assistance of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, the Fort Worth Real Estate Exchange and live business men throughout the state of Texas, and exhibits will be secured from all parts of the state, especially the northern, western and central sections. A space in the big Coliseum, more than 200 feet in length and fifteen feet in width, will be reserved for agricultural exhibits and the aisles and ceiling of the entire west side of the building will be elaborately decorated for the occasion. This display will be a beautiful and instructive demonstration of the agricultural possibilities of the state and patrons will be enabled to get a glance, a concrete look, of the agricultural products raised by the several sections of imperial Texas.

As the Fat Stock Show will be held during "Homeseekers' Week," in March, there will be thousands of visitors from the North and East, and those who are looking for a location in the great and promising Southwest the Land Show will be a valuable and interesting source of accurate information.

Messrs. Hargetts, Johnson and Underdown have returned from an extended wagon trip to the "Tongue River country and Mr. V. H. Hargett went on to the North Plains by car. We haven't heard them talk much, but have reason to believe they will remain in Terry for some time yet.

Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Lindsey dropped in to see us last Friday afternoon and gave us another lift. They have been in Brownfield the past five months sending their children to school, but have moved back to their farm near Meadow. We hope to have them with us again next Sept.

Mr. J. L. Crawford of Bridgeport came down from Lubbock this week with his two sons who have been out here some ten days. Mr. Crawford informed us that he did not know just when he would get his family out as his wife was in a hospital at Waco. We are very sorry of this, and hope she will soon recover her health.

J. T. May says advertising is the thing and fully believes in it. He advertised his Bank cottonseed in just one issue of the Herald and sold the lot to D. Y. Blanton for $1 per bushel. D. Y. is a good cotton farmer and the base of his success lies mainly in seed selection. We don't say this because he renewed his subscription this week, either.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hughes and Son, and Lee Almon left last Saturday for Tahoka, where they purchased tickets for San Diego, Calif. Mr. Hughes and family will make this their future home providing they like, but Mr. Almon is just on a prospecting tour. This is an excellent family and we regret to lose them.

There were two parties in town last Friday night. One at Chas. Copeland's at which Miss Frankie Mabry was hostess for the 14 years old and older children and the other at Mrs. J. L. "Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do thirty minutes work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade, I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured."

By Far Outclasses Like Affairs
In This Section.

ANIMALS ARE PURE BRED

Practically All of the Blue-Ribbon
Equines in the United States Are to Be Found Competing For the Temple Prizes.

The Night Horse Show, which is held regularly in connection with the annual Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth, is by far the leading amusement feature of the entire event. The grand display of pure-bred animals far outclasses all other horse shows of this section of the country, and it is properly placed in a class with the three other horse exhibitions of National reputation: The Madison Square Garden at New York City, The International at Chicago and the Royal at Kansas City. These three and the Fort Worth Horse Show are looked upon as the four largest and best events of their kind in America. The National Feeders' and Breeders' Association, Fort Worth and Texas in general are proud of this fact, and they always exert their best efforts to make each succeeding show outshine all previous ones. Their success will be proven by the coming Horse Show, which will be held each night during the next National Feeders' and Breeders' Show at Fort Worth, March 18-23, 1912. At this show practically all of the blue-ribbon horses of the United States will be entered for competition and the contests for the big prizes in all classes will be exciting and interesting. Premiums will be offered in virtually all of the classes heretofore provided and many new classes will be added to include some novel and unique exhibits.

The gait, carriage and manners of the horses will be taken more strictly into account this year and it will be interesting to note the contrasting characteristics of these aristocratic and beautiful animals.

All of the largest and most noted stables of America will be represented and there will be many exhibitors who have never before shown their horses at Fort Worth.

Like the day show, the Horse Show is a great educational exhibition, and with the official program as a guide, patrons can learn many interesting things about the horse family. This, at first, may seem unimportant to the average individual, but if you attend this horse show, you will want to learn all you can about the many breeds and individuals on exhibition. From time immemorial the horse has been more admired and more in demand than all other domestic animals combined, and as far as usefulness and beauty are concerned, no other member of the animal kingdom can compare with him.

A collection of the purest bred prize-winners, such as will be shown at the 1912 horse show, will be a rare and pleasing sight and whether one is directly interested in horses or not, one will be repaid a hundred times for attending. Not only horsemen and stockmen, but thousands of other citizens, representing all walks of life, turn out each night to see this grand display of thorough-bred animals, and to hear the musical selections which are rendered at each performance. Just as the day show has long been recognized by stockmen as the greatest sale show in America, so the night horse show is known throughout the country as the one real horse show of the south and southwest, and the leading society event of the year. The big coliseum, the largest enclosure of its kind south of Kansas City, seating seven thousand five hundred people, is always packed each night.

SWINE DEPARTMENT.

Meat or Market Hogs Will Be Elaborately Featured.

By the classifications in the preliminary catalogue it can be seen that meat or market hogs will be featured in the Swine Department of the coming National Feeders' and Breeders' Show at Fort Worth, March 18-23, 1912. Big premiums are offered for hogs in ear lots, hogs in pens or five and single barrows, including the following breeds: Tamworth, Berkshire, Poland China, Essex, Duroc-Jersey, Hampshire and Yorkshire. Special prizes are also offered by the American Berkshire Association, American Poland China Record, National Duroc Association, Armour and Swift and others. Such inducements as these will undoubtedly attract the largest and most comprehensive collection of swine ever exhibited in this section of the country.

The Fat Stock Show management is offering special inducements to junior hog raisers and they have been urgently invited to enter their pigs for competition in the 1912 show. Several clubs in Texas and Louisiana have already signified their intentions of participating in the contest in the regular men's classes, and they will also compete for the special premiums offered to them exclusively. This being the first year the future farmers have shown stock at the Fat Stock Show, their exhibits will be a big drawing card for the show. The Swine Department, as a whole, will be much larger and better than last year and should attract a far greater number of visitors.

HORSE DEPARTMENT.

Of all the attractions at the coming National Feeders' and Breeders' Show, at Fort Worth, March 18-23, 1912, none will prove more interesting and entertaining than the Horse Department. To this department is due more credit than probably to any other the credit for the enormous attendance each year and as the Horse Exhibits of the 1912 Show will be far more numerous than at any previous exhibition at Fort Worth, they will accordingly attract a much larger crowd of visitors.

TEXAS CATTLE RAISERS.

Leading Feature During the National Feeders' and Breeders' Show.

The most important event which will take place during the National Feeders' and Breeders' Show, to be held in Fort Worth, March 18-23, inclusive, is the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association, which will be held in Fort Worth, March 19, 20 and 21. The convention will be presided over by President Ed. C. Lasater, and interesting addresses will be delivered each day by well known cattle men and other men of prominence in the state. Short sessions will be held each morning and the delegation in a body will attend the Fat Stock Show each afternoon and the Horse Show each night. All who have been keeping in touch with the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association know that hundreds of new members are added every year, and that the organization is one of the strongest and most influential in the West. Its membership comprises some of the most highly esteemed citizens of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, and its influence extends throughout the cattle regions of the United States. Fort Worth and the National Feeders' and Breeders' Association feel highly honored that this great organization has again chosen this city as its place of meeting, and especially at the time the Fat Stock Show is held, and in honor of their coming, special features of amusement and education will be put on at the Fat Stock Show; and the visitors will also be elaborately entertained by the citizens of the city. According to Secretary E. B. Spiller, there will be between five and six thousand people at this convention, representing the cattle interests of every section of the Southwest and West.

LARGEST AND FINEST.

Nothing South of Chicago Compares
With the Mighty Coliseum.

From the time the first Fat Stock Show was held at Fort Worth, (sixteen years ago,) in a little grove near where the big packing plants are now located, the exhibition has grown and expanded until it now ranks well with the largest live stock shows in America. The magnificent coliseum building, which was erected in 1908, is the largest and finest structure of its kind south of Chicago. It is a solid reinforced concrete building 300 by 200 feet, with a seating capacity of 7500 people. The arena in the center, in which all stock is judged during the day, and in which the brilliant horse show is held each night, is 200 feet in length and 100 feet in breadth and is one of the largest and most attractive show rings in the country. This mammoth building was erected at a cost of $250,000.00 and stands as a fitting monument to the live stock interests of the Southwest. For the 1912 show, which will be held March 18th to 23rd inclusive, hundreds of dollars will be spent in decorating the entire structure, both inside and out, the color scheme of green and white prevailing throughout. During the Night Horse Show myriads of electric lights of all sizes and colors will throw out a soft glow, turning night into day, and, blended with a profusion of artistic draperies, will create an effect elaborate in the extreme. The scene will be well worth going hundreds of miles to see.

MUSICAL FEATURE.

Band of Thirty Pieces Will Render
Most Popular Selections.

While the primary object of the National Feeders and Breeders Show is to encourage the raising of better live stock throughout Texas and the southwest by showing specimens of the best animals that exist in the country, the management realizes the necessity for entertainment and amusement features. With this in mind and with a view of providing high-class music for the thousands of visitors at the 1912 show, which will be held at Fort Worth March 18th to 23rd, inclusive, the management has again engaged Prof. W. T. Cox, of Fort Worth, and his excellent band of thirty pieces. To those who have ever attended the Fat Stock Show in the past, Prof. Cox needs no introduction, nevertheless it might be well to state that his band is one of the very finest musical aggregations in the southwest. This band fills more prominent engagements than probably any other in this section of the country. Prof. Cox has just written a march expressly for the 1912 show, which will be dedicated to Manager J. ... and which will be one of the most beautiful selections rendered during the entire exposition. An appropriate musical program will be rendered each day during the judging of Fat Stock in the Coliseum Arena, and at the Horse Show each night a concert, consisting of solos, classical selections and military pieces intermingled with the latest popular airs will be given. These musical programs are within themselves worth the price of admission, and should insure a large attendance at both the day and night shows.

SHEEP DEPARTMENT

At the 1912 National Feeders' and Breeders' Show, which will be held at Fort Worth March 18-23, inclusive, West Texas and Oklahoms will doubtless be the largest contributors to the Sheep Department, although many entries are expected from states farther north and west. In point of variety and quality there is no question but that the exhibits in this department will far exceed those of any previous show, for there has, within the past year, been a decided boom in the sheep industry throughout the southwest. Consequently the Sheep Department, which has never failed to be of interest, will be unusually attractive to the thousands of visitors at the 1912 show. Special attention this year will be paid to muttons. No patron of the show should fail to visit this department sometime during the week, and be acquainted with the fine quality of sheep raised in this section.

MAMMOTH PREMIUM LIST.

Attracting Exhibitors Never Before Entering.

The preliminary catalogue, which has been issued by the National Feeders' and Breeders' Association for the 1912 show to be held at Fort Worth, March 18-23, inclusive, contains about 1500 premiums valued at approximately $30,000, and is one of the most creditable classifications booklets ever published by this association. It covers practically all breeds of livestock common to the southwest, and also admits many foreign breeds. Prizes are offered for virtually all classes of breeding and beef cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules, and valuable special premiums are also offered by the various horse, cattle and swine associations, packing houses and individuals. This enormous premium list is attracting exhibitors who have never before shown stock at Fort Worth, and the number of exhibits at the 1912 show will reach the eight thousand mark, or an increase of two thousand over last year. With the advent of the Fat Stock Show sixteen years ago, southwestern stockmen realized that something must be done to improve their stock, in order that they might more successfully compete with their northern neighbors, consequently thousands of dollars were expended in importing pure-bred bulls, stallions and boars, which were scattered all over the country; and with this new blood, southwestern stock has been raised to such a standard that it not only carries off some of the best prizes at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, but figures prominently in the livestock exhibitions throughout the country.

Such an institution at the National Feeders' and Breeders' Show, which has done and is still doing so much for the country, should be given the moral and financial support of not only the stockmen and farmers, but of the entire population of the southwest, for the success of this exposition means a larger premium each year, more build

West Wind

Agricultural Contest

The Texas Industrial Congress desires to call particular attention to Class A of its 1912 contest, in which prizes aggregating $5,000 are offered for the best yields of certain crops grown on a ten-acre model demonstration farm. The crops specified represent important products of a properly-conducted farm, and it is hoped that the results will afford a convincing object lesson of the advantages of intensive farming and illustrate the three cardinal principles of scientific culture—conservation, rotation and diversification.

Nature has so richly endowed the great state of Texas with fertile soil that we have grown heedless of the fact that even a large store of any product must in time become exhausted if it is not in some way conserved or renewed, and as a consequence of our reckless waste and continuous cultivation of the same crop on a given tract, much of our Texas land has lost heavily in essential organic and mineral elements and is actually deficient in humus and phosphoric acid. It is therefore of the utmost importance that we begin at once to repair, in so far as we can, the damage already done, and see to it that the devastation is permanently checked.

The Congress is laying special stress on the raising and plowing under of a leguminous crop, as the legumes have the peculiar property of assimilating free nitrogen in the air, and when plowed under return this element to the soil. As nitrogen is the most expensive ingredient in commerial fertilizers, this fact alone should induce every farmer in the State to cultivate a crop of this nature. A leguminous crop however not only restores nitrogen and in a less degree phosphorus and potash to depleted land, but it also renews the humus, or organic matter, which in many cases has been washed away or lost through careless cultural methods.

It is stipulated that cowpeas shall be planted on the first plot in class A, and are to be plowed under at maturity. This is for the purpose of conserving the natural fertility of the soil and to return to it the life-giving substances extracted from it by crops previously grown on the land.

For the purpose of demonstrating the value of diversification as well as of rotation and conservation, the Congress has provided that kaffir corn or milo maize shall be grown on the second plot, cotton on the third, and corn on the fourth, these being the most profitable of all crops marketed in the South.

Entry blanks and futher particulars regarding this and the other classes of the contest will be gladly furnished to anyone applying to the Texas Industrial Congress at Dallas.
