TEXAS

Need 27,500 Miles Of New Railroad.

B. F. Yoakum Chairman Of 'Frisco Board, Says This Section Requires Average Annual Expenditure Of 82,560,000.

A railroad president remarked recently that railroad mileage in the Southwest had increased 50 per cent faster than the population. A study of mileage of railroads in five southwestern states, together with population, as compared with five typical middle western states, confirms this view.

Oklahoma with 6,000 miles of line, has about 63 miles for each 10,000 inhabitants, while the most sparsely settled of middle population. The average for the five southwestern states—Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas—is 35 miles of line per 10,000 population, while the five middle western states—Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana—show an acreage of less than 30 miles of line per group of 10,000 inhabitants.

Nevertheless, the southwestern group's territory is nowhere nearly so well covered by railroads as is the case in the middle West. Side by side the average number of square miles of territory served by one mile of railroad is more than twice as large in the Southwest as in the longer settled region of the middle West. The average number of square miles of Territory to 1 mile of railroad in the the five southwestern states is 11.7, while in corresponding middle western states the average is less than six.

Illinois has about 100 people to the square mile, while Texas has less than 15; Arkansas has 30 and Iowa 40; Missouri 47 and Michigan 48; Kansas 20 and Wisconsin 42; Oklahoma 24 and Indiana 75.

B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of St. Louis & San Francisco, says regarding southwestern railroad development:

In acreage under irrigation projects has increased to 1,253,000 acres, of which only 451,000 are yet being tilled. 'Frisco' now has expert engineers in the gulf coast country investigating the underground water supply in the vicinity of Kingsville, Tex., to be used for irrigating by electric power pumping.

Response of the Southwest in population and development to the building of a railroad is summarized in the Gulf Coast Country of Texas by Mr. Yoakum as follows:

"When the Frisco system started its line five years ago from New Orleans to Brownsville, the land was owned by cattlemen. These cattle barons owned domains some of them equal in size to an entire New England state. Today these great ranches are being cut up into small farms; verdant fields are beginning to occupy the acres where cattle roamed but a short while ago; factories are arising along the railroad.

"Immense irrigation projects have been and are now being developed; 1,150 miles of main irrigation canals, which over a thousand miles of laterals, representing an investment of $20,000,000, have been constructed; cotton gins, sugar mills, canning factories and industries of all descriptions are going up, and settlers are pouring in from all over the United States, and many from other countries.

"In the last five years the assessed taxable value of the property traversed by the 'Frisco's' gulf line has increased more $62,000,000, and the population has increased over 48 per cent.—Wall Street Journal.

W. H. Gist Withdraws.

To the Democratic voters of Terry County: I hereby publicly announce my withdrawal from the race for County Judge. To my friends who have given me their support and encouragement since I entered the race, I desire to express my appreciation and thanks. In the future as in the past, I shall to the best of my ability continue to work for those principles which will help to advance the interest of our country.

Parks And Shade Trees.

A press report from Harlingen announcing that six car-loads of ornamental palms had been shipped out to west Texas points during one week indicates, in a general measure, the esthetic tastes of the people of our state.

Nature has endowed us with a soil and climate that is peculiarly adapted to the growing of shade and ornamental trees and this, together with our cultured and refined citizenship, makes Texas an ideal state to live in.

Harris Happenings.

June 19th,
Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Simms and little Miss Naomi, are out on the farm this week.

Millard Ellington, came down from Lubbock last week to spend some time with his brothers here.

Brit Clare is moving his new star mill from his home section to his unimproved section south of him. As soon as he gets his watering place ready he will pasture some cattle for Jno. B. Slaughter.

Sunday school at Harris has been changed from the afternoon to the morning. A good many were out last Sunday.

Raymond Simms is working for Brit Clare this week and probably will for some weeks.

Since his sister married George McDowell says he is looking out for him a housekeeper. We hope his next housekeeper will hold the position permanently.

W. H. Harris sold Roy Fitzgerald two cows and two steer yearlings last week all for $95.

Mr. Yates sold two pigs to W. H. Harris and three to Brit Clare at $3.00 per head. It seems like hogs are scarce and high in this part of the country just now.

McPhaul Bros. brought in a herd of steer yearlings from New Mexico last week. Some of them were fine ones.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Ellington returned from Lubbock last week and are now at home to their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Christainson called on Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris last Saturday afternoon. Sand Bur.

Keeping The Peace.

It has been authoritatively estimated that ninety-five per cent of the taxes collected by the state and its subdivision are used in keeping the peace, adjusting disputes and performing the clerical functions of Government, leaving less than five per cent to be used in the development of its resources.

There was a time in Texas when policing the state was perhaps the most important function of government but new and larger responsibilities are now upon us and if we are to become a metropolitan state, we must give attention to the progressive element of our population as well as to the turbulent and dangerous.

even send copy gratis to incert in their papers, telling the dear people as how they or native sons and have never held office (probably because they never got enough voters.) They finish by asking that a marked copy or two be sent them postpaid. Yes ye editoris a terrible influential (?) personage, he is.

Of course its none of our business, we being neither a director or a pay roll official of the organization, but it seems to us somebody ought to be saying or doing something about our coming fair, or some of the older citizens will forget we ever had one. Our understanding was that a meeting was to have been held in April or May at which time the management were to ask certain farmers to specialize on certain products, but if any such meeting was ever held, it was strictly under the auspices of the Quaker association, as no minutes ever came to this office. We write these few lines for a little information about one of the greatest organization in Terry county, and we hope some one will come to life sufficient to give same. Come alive men and lets stir up the embers and have a roaring fire by October. Gomez has given two good fairs. Shall Brownfield fall down on its first?

Talking about superstition, but people, all of them, are as full of it as a chestnut is of meat; though they will strenuously deny the fact. Now dont you remember way back in February how people talked about the big rains and snows and fine seasons, and as how they were bound to make a splendid crop if they just got a few showers? Why yes you remember all that, and then you remember when it begin to get dry toward May how they, the same February optimist, had suddenly become the May pessimist. Though they had the showers, still nothing but a general gully-washer would be able to produce an ear of corn or a head of maize on the whole ding ranch. All signs pointed to naught by dry weather. Every snake that crossed the road; a big crop of mesquite beans; pink around the western horizon at night; the peculiar cheep of native and migratory birds; the way the leaves hung and the door screeched, all pointed to drouth and pestilence.

But such is human and to be human is devine.

The House Turtled.

Three gentlemen, Grandpa Slock, M. V. Brownfield and M. D. Williams were discussing moon signs in the printing office one day this week and Mr. Williams was defending the old theory about killing hogs on certain moons to make plenty of lard and planting corn at certain moons to make little stalks and big ears, but finally wound up by saying that old timers understood that they must lay fence worms and house foundations at certain moons or the worm or foundation would sink.

Where upon Mr. Brownfield said a house raising was just what convinced him of the moon's great power. He knew a fellow who laid one foundation log one afternoon and the other side next day. During the night the moon changed and one side of the house begin to sink and the other to rise and the house finally turned turtle.

Bro. Williams told him to come get the gun and the subject was changed.

The country editor is made to feel that he is about the most influential personage on the whole ranch this year, if perchance he is not onto the old racket. Politics State and National, fat and lean, rich and poor, passive or indifferent have all appealed to him "as the most prominent man of his county," to help him in his campaign against grafters, richcrafts and witchcrafts. They

We are glad to announce that Dr. R. G. Anderson, dentist, of Snyder, Texas, will be in Brownfield on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 24, 25 and 26th prepared for all dental work. Those needing such work will do well to see him on those dates.

Married.

A quiet home wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert French last Thursday afternoon at 4:30 p. m., when Mr. Gus Foreman led to hymen's altar, Miss Ida James, thus consummating a long standing love affair. Rev. Victor Trammell, pastor of the M. E. church, said the words that made them one. Immediately after the ceremony they left for Lubbock, where they took the train for San Antonio, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Miss Ida is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. James, of Tatum, N. M. She first came to Terry county seven years ago, and has been teaching most of the time since. She taught this last term in the Lamesa public school. Mrs. Foreman possesses all the graceful charms peculiar to her sex and bears the many traits of character that will make her an ideal life companion.

Mr. Foreman, with his father, came to Terry county many years ago, and took a great hand in bringing the baby county to its present greatness. They still hold some property here, but he now lives at San Benito in Cameron county, near the gulf coast. He is a young man of wealth and refinement and splendid habits and we are sure he will make a devoted husband.

Herald joins their many friends in wishing them smooth sailing across the sea of life.

District Atty. J. E. Vickers was here awhile last Thursday in the interest of his candidacy. He said he would be back and stay longer before election time.

Cotton Goods And Civilization.

The prospect for a bumper cotton crop should not cause the Texas farmers to despair, for the uses of cotton are increasing far more rapidly than production.

Press reports from Manila announce that Uncle Sam is putting trousers on the Filipinos and when our fellow citizens on the islands take to full dress, it will open up a new market for cotton goods; likewise the awakening in China will call for more clothing.

The Stars and Stripes and Christianity are the two best friends of the cotton farmer and while the bulls and bears are tearing at the fleecy staple, the Flag and the Cross light the way to prosperity.

Rabbit Plague.

Gentlemen, shall we have a rabbit plague in Terry county? We are on the brink; the die is cast; the scales are on a balance. We can plunge head long over the black presiepece or retreat in safety, or we may trip the beams our way or let brother rabbit trip them. It is simply up to us. Farmers are losing thousands of dollars every day in sweet potato vines, fruit trees, corn, maize and vegetables, and yet he is powerless within himself. He may shoot till his shoulders are sore and his head aches from concussion and the smell of gunpowder, but if his friends and neighbors don't do the same, his relief is only tempoary.

One farmer informed us this week that he counted 90 odd rabbits, mostly jacks, on the road from Brownfield to the Walker place, four miles North of here. Another farmer said he carried his target on his planter and killed over a dozen in one day. Now these farmers are property owners and tax payers and are willing to vote to pay a bounty of 5 cents each for jacks, and 3 cents each for cotton-tails scalps, and every other farmer and ranchman you strike is of the same notion, till the rabbits are thinned out at least.

Gentlemen there has got to be something done and that right away. We have not tried to make this ultra-gloomy but believe that nine tenths of our farmers will back us up in our contention. The proper way to do is to have a talk with your Commissioners on the subject. Lets Salivate the rabbit.

The Dallas News approves the effect of the Texas industrial congress to induce the farmers of Texas to plant more kaffir corn and milo maize as will be seen from the following: "Appropos crops and such things' not the least service being rendered by Col. Exall and his industrial congress is the effect to cultivate a more deserved esteem for kaffir corn and milo maize, if the two are sufficiently dissimilar to junctive associations. A planting of jectivel association. A planting of either alongside the Indian corn is somewhat an insurance against the loss of the last named, or at leased a compensation for it. These, kaffir corn and milo maize, were brought to us from Africa, and from those parts of Africa where the normal rain fall is not much more than is vouch safe to us during a drouth year. They are trained, or in other words, to flourish on dry weather, and are well nigh total abstainers, even as to water. Even when, after a long dry spell they twist and seem to dry up, a rain within ten days or two weeks will reanimate them and make them straighten up with their youthful vigor. In nutrient ontent they are only fractionally inferior to corn. Col. Exall says, somewhere in the literature he emits by the ton, that if nutrient value of corn be regarded as 100, that of kaffir or milo maize is 97. The greater yield of these last named ordinarily, and their more varied uses as feed stuffs, more than compensate for this slight display in nutrient ontent. Col. Exall's argument is that we don't plant enough kaffir corn and milo maize, and to our innocent understanding he seems to prove his thesis irrefutably.— Stockman & Farmer.

DESTROYING WEEVIL IN SEED

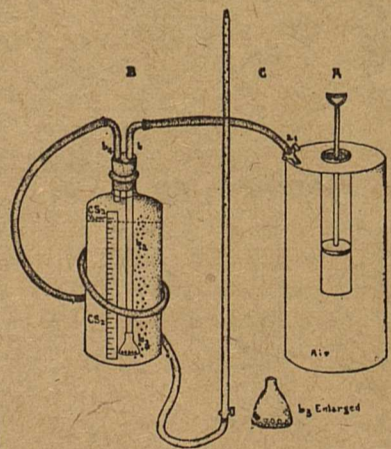

Proper Precautions Can Be Taken to Eradicate All of Insects by Fumigation.

(By W. D. HUNTER.)
For several years the boll weevil has caused a loss of about 400,000 bales of cotton annually. Although farmers in some regions, in many cases, are increasing their production, there is a loss in newly infested regions which almost, if not quite, offsets that gain.

A conservative estimate shows that since the weevil has invaded this country it has caused a loss of 2,550,000 bales of cotton at a value of about $125,000,000.

It has been abundantly shown that cotton seed is of importance as a medium through which the weevil may be carried. Many individuals that happen to be carried to the gin on the cotton pass uninjured through the gins to the seed houses. Consequently every seed house connected with a gin in the infested territory harbors more or less weevils, depending upon the amount of cleaning the staple is given. Of course such seed is exceedingly dangerous when taken into uninfested regions. Undoubtedly the present absolute embargos against cotton seed from the infested region are wise. In general, they should be strictly construed. In some special cases, however, when, for instance, it is desired to obtain special improved seed, proper precautions can be taken to destroy all weevils by means of fumigation with carbon bisulphid.

The following plan for this work is proposed: A tight matched-board box should be provided having sides four feet high, open on top, and of other dimensions to accommodate 12 or more 100-pound sacks of cotton seed placed upright upon the bottom.

Apparatus for Fumigating Cotton Seed in the Sack.

Another tier of sacks could be added if desired. Into each one of these sacks about one ounce of carbon bisulphid should be forced by an apparatus for volatizing the liquid and mixing the vapor with air.

This should consist of three essential parts as shown in the illustration. A is an air pump having sufficient capacity to enable it to maintain a steady discharge of air for several minutes without continuous pumping. The stopcock at a1 regulates or prevents the escape of air, as may be desired. B is an ordinary two-quart bottle fitted at b1 with a tight stopper of good length, having two openings, through which the inlet and outlet pipes pass. These pipes may be of glass or metal and should be as large as can be used. The inlet pipe, b2, reaches nearly to the bottom of the bottle and is provided at the lower end with a perforated metal cap as large as will pass through the neck of the bottle. This allows the escape of the air in small bubbles and insures rapid evaporation. The outlet pipe, b4, reaches only through the stopper.

THE HERALD

GOMEZ DOTS

June 16th.
Mr. John Garrison, a former Gomez citizen, but now of Mator, is in Terry county now looking after some residence property he owns in Gomez. He is accompanied by his son-in-law, Mr. Jones. Mr. Garrison was one of the early settlers of Gomez and his many friends here are glad to welcome him back.

Say, Mr. Herald why didn't you write up that Foreman-James wedding last week? If they had married here we certainly would have told it for Mr. Foreman is a man of brains, honor and wealth and Miss Ida first came to Gomez seven years ago; we have known her well since then and she has all the qualities that make a true and woman and was loved by all who knew her for her sweet disposition.

Do you report deaths, birth and marriages before they occur? We dont. The ceremony in this wedding occurred about four o'clock Thursday afternoon, after our forms were closed for printing and therefore the wedding report had to go over till this week. Please think a little in the future before you offer criticism.—Editor.

A right good rain fell here Sunday night but say where did Monday evenings and night, also Tuesday norther come from—Oh no, there wasnt any ice but the thermometer stood at 60 here Monday at 8:30 p. m. and this (Tuesday) morning is cold enough to sit by a fire in comfort.

Say everybody come to the old fashioned experience prayer-meeting at the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 4 o'clock.

There will be a picnic at Gomez on the 4th of July. A program will be rendered at the Baptist church in the morning, a basket dinner on the square at noon; with ice-cream, lemonade, candies, chewing gum and all the other side trimmings that go to make up a good time for the junior population will be on hand; and we hope some of the candidates will favor us with their presence. Come everybody and bring well filled baskets and lets have an old fashioned good time.

Mr. Carter from the West was in Gomez Tuesday.

Mr. Gardin, Neill, Price and a few other candidates have been circulating among the Gomez voters this week.

Mr. Copeland was in town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. West, were both on the sick list this week but are up now.

Mesdames Spear and Hammond went to Brownfield Sunday to carry Mrs. Hammond's little child to Dr. Ellis for treatment and stopped over in Gomez Monday enroute home.

Miss Nora Wolfarth and brother, were trading in Gomez Monday.

Quite a crowd of young folks and our Gomez candidates went out to the Winn school house Sunday.

Mr. Tom Taylor is in from his claim in New Mexico.

Mr. Oral Adams and Willie came in from the ranch Saturday night and are still here.

TEXAS PEACH CROP SELLS FOR $7,000,000

OVER 4500 SOLID CAR LOADS SHIPPED FROM STATE

TEXAS PEACH IS A WINNER

The Texas peach is the King of Fruits and the fruit of kings. It is invited into the parlors of the great and is welcomed in the hovel of the poor of both hemispheres. It has met its rival at home and abroad on most every table on the globe and by its natural beauty and delightful personality it has conquered all competitors and today its appearance in the market is an annual event of importance in every household in America and its disappearance is the consumer's regret. Public interest is so deeply centered in its arrival at the market that it travels in special trains running at full speed in order to relieve the anxiety of the waiting public and its welcome is so cordial that cold storage plants have been erected in order to prolong its stay in the community. Canneries and evaporating plants are run day and night during the peach season in order to preserve its eating qualities for the table of the nation during the entire year.

The family peach tree can be found in most every county in the State, but the commercial peach belt is confined largely to East Texas. The exact number of bearing peach trees in the State is not of record but competent authority estimates it at seven millions. During the peach season of 1910 we shipped to the market 4500 cars of peaches and supplied our local wants as well as run our canneries during the peach season.

The peach industry has been pouring into the channels of trade a golden stream of wealth. The farm value of the peach production in 1910 is estimated as high as $7,000,000. The rapid growth of the industry during the past decade and the wide extension of the commercial peach belt has been one of the marvels of our development.

At first the Texas peach entered the market under an assumed name, masquerading as a California product, but it soon threw off its disguise and like all native Texans, outstripped its competitors and today it is master of the world's trade.

TEXAS NEEDS

GREAT MEN

XIX. PROCRASTINATION

NAPOLEON lost the battle of Waterloo because a division of his army was behind time and he died a prisoner at St. Helena, and France lost her place in civilization. The pages of history are replete with stories of nations that have withered and decayed because their leaders were behind time and the stream of progress is lined with the wrecks of nations that lost their opportunity because their leaders procrastinated. There can be no greater tragedy than that of an overtaken horizon.

NAPOLEON A PRISONER AT ST. HELENA

Let those who would light the signal fires of progress start the road grader on the 140,000 miles of unimproved public highways in the State; plan the construction of 50,000 miles of railroad; lay the foundation for a million factories, and make the wheels of industry spin. Texas needs great men.

Duet—Misses Clemmie Adams and Grace Kinard
 Where and what are the B. W. M. W. doing—Mesdames J. R. Balch and McDaniel

 Closing Exercise.

Lenard Tow who was so severely cut on the wire last week is getting on fine. He was riding down a fence in a high lope one rainy night last week and struck a fence which cut the calf muscle almost into; taking about fifteen stitches to sew up the place. He is staying at Aunt Lou DeShazo's boarding house.
