FRUIT GROWING ON PLAINS

THREE ARTICLES BY L. N. DALMONT

Article 2.

Wrong system in pruning is the cause of the destruction of many good trees. We have more sunshine and hard winds here than most anywhere else, and we must learn to prune our trees to suit the climate. This must first be done by getting trees that have been shaped up in the nursery row. We would recommend, preferably, good two or three year old trees which have not been pruned more than from 12 to 16 inches in the nursery.

The accompanying illustration shows the method for pruning roots so as to make a cut that will be turned down when the trees are set.

We do not advise root pruning with the view of shortening the roots, but just to cut the roots back to where they are sound and sappy, so they will callous and start new roots as if they had never been dug up. Then set in holes inclining them very slightly to the southwest, with the lowest and best limbs turned to the southwest. The tree may be set a little deeper in the orchard than it stood in the nursery. Great care should be taken in shaping the frame for the top of the tree, so as to grow a tree that will keep balanced against the hard southwest winds, and shade itself. The sun should never shine on the body of a fruit tree, and the shade should always be around the roots, in order that the soil might be kept moist and cool in hot dry weather.

This can be done by first pruning the northeast side of the tree anywhere from six to eight inches higher than the south and west. Have your best and lowest limb on the southwest, about 12 or 14 inches above the ground; your second limb about two or three inches higher on the south side of the tree; your third limb two or three inches higher on the southeast; your fourth limb two or three inches higher on the northeast; your fifth limb two or three inches higher back to the northwest; your sixth limb two or three inches higher back to the south west; your seventh limb two or three inches higher back to the south. Then cut the body above the seventh limb cutting from the north to the south, having all limbs cut back to stubs anywhere from three to five inches long. Cut from the north to the south side when there is a bud on the south. The bud at the top of the limb will continue the growth, and being on the south side, will naturally be inclined that way and resist the force of the wind better.

Never start a forked tree; neither start all your limbs in a bunch or close together, but let the body of the tree come up above all the limbs. Alternate the limbs from the southwest around the body of the tree, each time having the limb a little higher and further around the tree. If you grow a forked tree, or the limbs come out in a bunch they will be so near of equal size that when they are loaded with fruit the weight of the fruit will pull in opposite directions to each other, and when it comes a storm your tree is liable to split and be badly damaged.

Typhoid Fever Controlled.

Three years ago the field men of the Geological Survey, as well as some of the office force, took advantage of the offer of the War Department to supply official antityphoid serum, and practically the entire force of men was inoculated. Since that time, as far as reported, there has been no serious case of typhoid fever among those inoculated. Two cases of typhoid among the topographic engineers indicate the great effectiveness of this inoculation. In both these cases the men simply felt "of feed" for a couple or three days and refused to go on the sick list; in fact typhoid would not have been suspected in either case except that in one of them somebody suggested the possibility, and an exhaustive hospital examination, blood test, etc., showed that the engineer had a theoretically well developed case of typhoid, the practical results of which, however, failed to incapacitate him for duty, so that he did not even go to bed for one day. —U. S. G. S. Press Bulletin.

M. V. Brownfield informed us this week that he made a man in Lubbock an offer on three sections in Yoakum county, and he believed the man would take him up. Mr. Brownfield says this and other things show that this country is coming to the front.

W. E. Humphries, Prop. Brownfield, Te as

Be sure to read these series of articles we are now running on fruit growing on the Plains, by Mr. Dalmont, of Plainview. Mr. Dalmont is not only a good nurseryman, but has had years of experience in growing all kinds of trees here and elsewhere, and his opinion is worth something to every man who is starting a new orchard, or has an old one in bearing state. If we were to write a long article on fruit growing, it would not be worth much to our readers, as it would all be theory, and probably not the least practical, as our ideas—we all have them—might be at variance with practicability. Neither would an article on the newspaper business from Mr. Delmont be very acceptable for the readers, we imagine. Every man to his line, and if he masters that line, and can successfully put his experiment in print, he is doing his fellow man good, and doing his duty.

In conversation with one of our farmers, this week, he remarked that he was willing to show a man the country free of charge, if the prospectors were hunting a home, but if they were hunting a bargain and an investment, he always told them there was nothing doing, as he did not propose to take up his time with them, unless they were aiming to become real settlers and home builders. This is nothing but right and just, and every farmer in the county should take the same position, and show those who will become citizens every courtesy in helping them to locate, and get their land reasonable. On the other hand, those who are looking for an investment, should be willing to pay for such service, and we have land agents for that purpose, though the land men had rather sell an actual settler. Let the good work of settling our splendid county go on, and let all the old timers who hanged and rattled through time of depression, help in the work, all they can.

Pork is away off on the Fort Worth market, and some think this an indication of a hog overproduction, but those who have watched the markets closest, disprove this theory. This is the time of year when practically every farmer is supplying his own table with pork, and therefore the demand for packery products is at the lowest ebb of the year, and will be until April or May, when the country smokehouses become depleted and the farmer begins again to buy of the packer, his own production. These old guys, the packers, are not in business for health—they already enjoy that—so when the first snow falls pork goes down with the thermometer, and when the roses bloom again, pork takes an airoplane voyage. If you have any hogs for sale, keep them until spring, if possible

Aunt Lou DeShazo had the misfortune to lose her youngest sister, who resides in Ft. Smith Ark., Saturday Oct. 20th. Aunt Lou received a telegram and Uncle Tom started, but only got to Amarillo, and owing to bad train connections, returned home, as he knew she would be buried before he could get there.

W. D. Winn and Mr. Johnson were in from the west side after windmill supplies for the later, who is a new comer. Mr. Winn said he had just received a letter from Mr. Durrberry, of Haskell county, saying he was about ready to load his car to "Come to Terry."

Again the editor's home has been broken into, and a supply of choice pork left, but we will catch them yet. We have our suspicions this time however, and they naturally fall on that old Confederate neighbor and his good wife, who live close in. But don't tell them our suspicion.

This editor had a letter this week from his Johnson county brother saying he had 'possum and pumpkin yam 'taters on tap at his house. Thanksgiving. It made us plum mad, him telling us after the feast was all over. Why mention the fact anyway, this late.

Go into one of our stores now on Saturday afternoon, and you would think a cyclone had hit town, for you can hear nothing for the hurry, scurry of clerks, and the numble of female shopping voices. And money is just pouring over the counters, too.

Walter Gracey is delivering 500 or 600 bushels of his corn crop to Uncle Jack Coble, this week, at 40c per bushel.

L. McDaniel went out to Chas. Boone's this week to help harvest corn. Charley's crop will run around 1200 bushels, besides other feed crops, and he is a one man farmer.

Elder S. D. Lofton delivered a little better than 20 bushels of corn to the editor this week. Bro Lofton said his crop would average about 35 bushels per acre.

A large and attentive audience greeted Rev Fryar last Sunday morning. His subject was interesting and the theme was full of good thoughts. We believe Bro Fryar is going to prove very acceptable to this charge.

A. B. Bynum is delivering a large consignment of his corn to the Abernathy ranch. Mr. Bynum has a fine crop of corn.

M. V. Brownfield and family and Mr. Youngblood and family, returned this week from Temple, where Mr. Youngblood went to undergo an operation, but as he was much better when he got there, the physicians thought the operations unnecessary.

FOR SALE: Good team of match mules. See Thos. E. Brooks.

Mr. Mike Young of Matador, was here this week looking for a location.

In an interview with John S. Powell, the town optimist, this week, he disposed and said, "This country is going to come, and that mighty fast, and he believed the financial outlook better here than it ever has been, and looked for railroads and hosts of home builders in the next few years." John always looks to the bright side, but we generally agree with him, as his optimism is always in line, and conservative.

Mr. Bert Shepherd from S. W. Georgia left last week after spending some time here visiting his cousin Bert, of Gomez. Mr. Shepherd was well pleased and will no doubt settle here, and bring other families with him. He said: "Why you people don't know how to appreciate this pretty, level prairie that needs no fertilizing. You can make money here raising cotton at $50. per bale, but we can't, as it costs us nearly that much to produce. And this country is so near alike, I'd as leave as not be boundfolded to pick a home."

PLAINS

By Carl Forkel

Thursday, the 25th. inst., was a day of pleasure and thanksgiving for the good people of Plains and vicinity, and not withstanding the inclemency of the weather during a part of the day, a representative gathering was present to assist in and enjoy the entire program.

In sympathy with the time honored custom of our State and Nation and with a feeling of thankfulness and appreciation for the well doing of our community as well as for the peace and security of our common country, the day was indeed an enjoyable one.

The program began at eleven o'clock in the morning where a service was held at the Baptist church and which consisted in prayers, sacred and patriotic songs and in the reading of the President's Proclamation; dedicating the day to the nations observance; also some recitations by the primary grades of the public school. Elder Fryar of the Methodist church was on the program also, but much to the regret of friends, his presence was needed in a stricken home in a neighboring community so could not be present. Following the close of the services at the church, all were invited to the Johnson cafe where a most delightful dinner was served by the good ladies of the community under the auspices of the Baptist Ladies Aid Society. To adequately portray the unstinted delight of this hour of the program would be impossible and could only be approached by one of the imagery of a Stricklin and the appetite of a Tingle.

Just a few of the many good things were turkey (not the ordinary kind) sauces, salads and celery, puddings, pies and pickles and with all sorts of fruits including wine soaked peaches, and with pretty girls to serve them. During the afternoon the time was pleasantly spent in conversation, and as eve approached the said cafe again became the center of attraction and a supper equal to the dinner was enjoyed.

Next on the program was a call to the amusement hall, for such may the airdome now be styled, since for this particular occasion it had been enclosed and covered, a permanent stage erected, a large heater installed and the enclosure brilliantly lighted with electricity, thus making it cozy and well as comfortable for the occasion. Probably the largest audience that has ever been assembled in Plains on an occasion of this kind was present to enjoy a program rendered by members of the New Century Club.

For pleasure and unalloyed mirth this was the crowning feature of the day and many were the expressions heard in appreciation of the event. The program consisted in music and songs, and in two comedies, the one provoking the highest degree of merriment being styled "Georgadna's Wedding gown." Another feature of the program which was much appreciated by the audience was a song by three young members of the club entitled "When you wore a tulip and I wore a big red rose." To the ladies of this community belongs the praise for the pleasures that day enjoyed, and the writer is sure they have the gratitude of all.

We simply haven't heard much news this week. We have been too much occupied with home duties.

Thanksgiving was almost, but not quite, blown over and snowed under. A regular gale blew all the morning from the northwest and about noon it began to rain, sleet and snow. Well we were thankful we didn't live farther north.

Robert Griffith and wife, Miss Esther Simms and Ben Whitla came out from Gomez Thursday for the Thanksgiving exercises at our school house but they only got as far as W. H. Harris'. The weather was so bad no one went to the school house and the teacher and pupils returned to their homes for their Thanksgiving dinners since it had been left for their home folk to bring to them. We certainly hope their next effort to entertain the patrons will be more successful.

The visitors from Gomez returned home that evening.

F. M. Ellington and wife gave a party Thursday night. All who were present report a very pleasant evening.

One of the U— hands, Ola Copeland, spent this past week at Brit Clare's helping Brit with his work.

Nick Beal of Lubbock, and Mr. Fields of Bronco, passed Friday with a herd of cattle. Mr. Beal was taking his back to Lubbock to feed this winter and Mr. Fields intended to ship his.

We have a little pink announcement in a little pink envelope from Ralls Texas, announcing the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Y. Blanton, erstwhile Terryites, on Nov. 23. Congratulations.

Owing to the fact that Rev. Durham phoned that he could not be here, quite a small crowd attended Thanksgiving service here.

Joe Lane and family and Joe Griffith and family took Thanksgiving dinner at A. Seitz'.

Ben Hurst and wife came in from Lynn county and spent Thanksgiving here at R. W. Glovers.

Tom Glover and wife came in from the French community for Thanksgiving and visited here until Sunday.

Mrs. Simon Holgate gave a dinner last Sunday for her father, Rev. Knox, who has been visiting out here for several months; but will this week return to his home in Erath county. Those present from Brownfield were, Mr. and Mrs. Word Price, Misses Dealva and Cleo Whisenant and Mr. Souter and Jim Burnett and family. The old people of Gomez were invited. An excellent dinner and a real pleasant time was the verdict of all present.

Rev. Fryar preached here at the Methodist church last Sunday night and "an excellent sermon" is the report of all present. Bro. Fryar will give the Gomez church the same attention he does his other appointments, one Sunday in the month; preaching at eleven a. m. and at night. The members of the church as well as others are thankful for the change. When a preacher only goes among or preaches to a congregation when there isn't anywhere else to go, they soon realize the fact and small congregations and little interest in church affairs is the result.

Jim Burnett has bought the Moore farm, two miles east of Gomez, from Billie Crowder. We are informed that Mr. Crowder will move to the old Morris homestead now occupied by O. B. Curlin.

Rev. Durham did not come to fill his regular appointment at the Baptist church here last Sunday.

Addie Bell and Hilliard Ware went home last week and will not complete this term of school here. We understand they will attend a school near home for the rest of the term.

A. P. Moore has the nicest white enameled kitchen cabinet that we have ever seen, at his store. He says he is going to give it to one of his customers in the near future. You may be that one, call and see what the terms are. He says he will not select the one who gets the cabinet.

T. H. Green is off to Tahoka for freight this week.

Geo. Snodgrass has moved to the Grandpa Bridge's homestead five miles west of here. He has purchased the place. Alvin Key who lived there has moved to the place vacated by George.

Mrs. Geo. Snodgrass and little Mattie Bell were in trading Tuesday.

FAMILY AVOIDS SERIOUS SICKNESS

By Being Constantly Supplied With Thedford's Black-Draught.

McDuff, Va.—"I suffered for several years," says Mrs. J. B. Whitaker, of this place, "with sick headache, and stomach trouble.

Ten years ago a friend told me to try Thedford's Black-Draught, which I did, and I found it to be the best family medicine for young and old.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

It has been in constant use for more than 70 years, and has benefited more than a million people.
