Catholic Edict Against Dancing

Many church people, particularly adherents of the Methodist and Baptist churches, among the most aggressive of the Protestant denominations, are opposed to dancing because they consider its effects evil, demoralizing and inimical to the work of the church. The discipline of the Methodist church contains an express prohibition against the amusement and at a general conference of Methodist some time ago it was voted to retain this prohibition, although a decidedly liberal tendency is generally in evidence at present.

A papal decree issued from Rome recently orders the Catholic church in all parts of the world under severe penalty to prohibit dancing of any kind at church entertainments, whether arranged for already or planned for the future. The decree recites that "in the last century in the United States the custom sprang up of gathering Catholic families to balls which used to be protracted to a late hour at night by entertainments and other forms of amusements" that "the perils and losses caused by the growing customs considered it their duty to forbid them" and accordingly issued an order for priests to "take care to remove entirely that abuse in which entertainments and balls are held for the purpose of promoting pious projects."

In time however this order was forgotten, it is recalled, and the balls again became common "and even spread into the neighboring Dominion of Canada." High officials of the church after counseling together and studying the matter, decided that the order should be restored and obedience to it enforced and with the approbation of the pope "decreed that all priests, secular and regular, and other clerks are absolutely forbidden to promote or foster the said balls, even though if in aid of and in support of pious end; moreover all clerks are forbidden to be present at these balls if they happen to be promoted by lay men. This decree the sovereign pontiff ordered to become a part of public law and to be observed religiously by all, everything to the contrary notwithstanding.

The decree has occasioned considerable discussion. Some believe that it will materially curtail the revenue of the Catholic church, as the balls are employed in many quarters to raise money for church purpose. In Chicago alone it is said, the enforcement of the edict will cut off hundreds of thousands of dollars a year from the church's income. Others believe that the effect on the finances as a whole will scarcely be appreciable.—Ex.

Survey In Texas

The United States Geological Survey of the Interior Department has carried on map work in Texas since 1884. For four years the work was done in cooperation with the State and in 1915 in cooperation with Harris County. More than a quarter of the area of the State has now been topographically surveyed and nearly a hundred of the resulting maps have been published and are for sale at nominal prices.

In Texas up to 1915 the Survey had run more than 10,000 miles of level lines and marked 4,600 points with metal tablets or posts showing their heights above sea level. The elevations of these points are given in Bulletin 637 just issued by the Survey for free distribution.

Nancy Hall and yellow yam
Fat and happy sure I am.
We a turnip patch did sow,
Plum up to the okry roe.

For those turnips we are fiens,
And now and then for turnip greens.
When those turnips all play out,
Then we'll open a keg of kraut.

Whed that kraut it ceases to be,
Pickled beets are good for me.
Beets exhausted I'll be tickled,
Then I'll get cucumber pickies.

Next thing the cook will serve
Will be them wonder berry preserves.
In February when winters stout,
With spoon we'll chase those beans about.

We have fresh and canned tomatoes,
And they're good as yellow taters.
And we have them garden lemons,
A taste would make you hit Fitz Simmons.

Those grapes and peaches are finest too,
We got them from the J. C. Lew.
And high grade melons things I love,
I got my seed from the Lewis above.

Corn to gather, cotton to pick,
Some money in the bank to stick.
Whats the use ye Texans worry,
You can make a living. Come to Terry.

Railroad Movements

Messrs. M. V. Brownfield, Judge Neill and R. H. Banowsky went to Lubbock last Friday to see how every thing was coming up there concerning our mutual railroad, and found every thing up there optimistic concerning early construction.

Mr. Ross, head of the construction department, took them over to the material yards, where a mile or two of tract has been layed to accomodate material, and showed them huge piles of steel and ties, and informed them that they were looking for a train of steel and 250,000 ties in this week, and found instead of light steel that it was 85 pound steel which just likes 5 pounds being the heaviest.

Mr. Ross further informed them that the road to Terry can be put up in twenty days with elevator graders, and that just a few men and teams will be required to follow to make culverts places. Trains will be tooting in Brownfield before we hardly know it, and we will then be lined up with the commerse of the world.

This second meeting should be attended by a representative bunch of citizens from all over the county, so that all parts of the county will have an equal show, and besides that, if we are going to give any premiums we should know it as soon as possible as we want to get them published at least a week before the fair comes off. Let us all attend the meeting.

bulletin is in the western part of the State and is described as follows:

"Alpine, 10 miles southeast of, at summit in gap, 26 feet north of road in volcanic rock; bronze tablet stamped, 5,404.225 feet

This is by no means the highest point in Texas. In an appendix to the bulletin the elevation for over 50 well known summits are given. The highest of these is El Captain, a prominent peak of El Paso County, whose elevation 9,020 feet. This is the highest point in the State thus far determined. The bulletin also gives elevations determined by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey for over 1,600 miles of precise level lines, run a cross the State from east to west and from north to south.

A copy of the report will be sent free to engineers and others who have occasion to use accurate elevations. Requests for copies should be addressd to the Director of the Survey at Washington, D. C.

Farmer's Bulletin Table

An innovation of its kind is the new reading room writing table, characterized as the farmers Bulletin Table, established by the Rosenberg Lumber Company at their office in this city. This hustling company has made arrangements with the State Department of Agriculture to furnish it with a copy of every bulletin issued by the department. These are kept in handy form in a room provided for them, and stationery for the use of the general public added to "Bulletin Table."

The company has now extended an invitation to the general public, and especially the farmers visiting town, to make their Bulletin Room their headquarters; to come there to read up on all the department bulletin and to use the stationery provided for them in writing their business letters.

The Rosenberg Lumber Company is under direct management of Mr. R. C. Clampitt, who recently came to this city from El Campo. Since coming here Mr. Clampitt has made many business and social friends and his success in the lumber business is practically assured. He is up to the minute on business methods, and, like all modern business men, is firm believer in printers ink.—Rosenberg News Herald.

Commissoner Fred W. Davis of the Department of Agriculture at Austin has expressed a willingness to furnish reading material for other such Farmers Bulletin Tables and there will likely soon be many such opportunities presented. The idea is a good one and should be widely patterned after.

In conversation with the Peirce Fordyce oil man at Lubbock the other day, he informed us that all the big oil companies, he understood would put in stations at Brownfield, including the Peirce Fordyce, Gulf Refining Co, Magnolia and the Texas Co.

BOBOLINK

Dolichonyx oryzivorus

Length, about seven inches.

Range: Breeds from Ohio northeast to Nova Scotia, north to Manitoba, and northwest to British Columbia; winters in South America.

Habits and economic status: When American writers awoke to the beauty and attractiveness of our native birds, among the first to be enshrined in song and story was the bobolink. Few species show such striking contrasts in the color of the sexes, and few have songs more unique and whimsical. In its northern home the bird is loved for its beauty and its rich melody; in the South it earns deserved hatred by its destructiveness. Bobolinks reach the southeastern coast of the United States the last half of April just as rice is sprouting and at once begin to pull up and devour the sprouting kernels. Soon they move on to their northern breeding grounds, where they feed upon insects, weed seeds, and a little grain. When the young are well on the wing, they gather in flocks with the parent birds and gradually move southward, being then generally known as reed birds. They reach the rice fields of the Carolinas about August 20, when the rice is in the milk. Then until the birds depart for South America planters and birds fight for the crop, and in spite of constant watchfulness and innumerable devices for scaring the birds a loss of 10 per cent of the rice is the usual result.

No Fear of Error.

Rev. Alfred Noon, patriarch of the Sons of Temperance, said in Lunenburg:

"I'm glad to see that England, as regards her beer, has followed the example of Russia with her vodka and France with her absinthe.

"English beer—over here we call it porter, stout or ale—is very strong and insidious. It makes men slaves. There's a story on this head—a story about a young man who used to take his beer out of his own pewter mug. He said to the barmaid one day:

"Always give me my beer in my own mug. Never any other. Make no mistake."

"Oh, no fear of making any mistake about your mug, sir," said the barmaid.

"No?" said the young man.

"No," said she. "The handle's always warm."

Brilliant Art Clerk.

Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois is a connoisseur of art, and has the walls of his office covered with etchings and engravings. Not long ago he went to a little art shop and left an order for a small engraving of "Apollo and the Muses." The clerk said they would order it. In a week Madden went back and the clerk informed him that there wasn't any such picture.

"Why, 'Apollo and the Muses' is well known the world over," said Madden; "of course there's such a picture."

"What's the title again?" asked the clerk. "Apollo and the Muses?" Oh-h, I thought you ordered a picture called Paul in the Museum."

March of Public Ownership.

Between 40 and 50 of the largest cities in Russia have publicly owned drug stores, and in Italy there are more than thirty.

In the latter country the publicly owned drug stores must furnish the poor and indigent with any needful drug. The publicly owned drug stores insure pure drugs at low rates.

In Prussia the state each year fixes the price to be paid for drugs.

DRY FARMING CONGRESS TO MEET AT EL PASO

GREATEST GATHERING THAT HAS BEEN HELD IN THE HISTORY OF THE PREMIER FARMERS ORGANIZATION.

ELEPHANT BUTTE DAM WILL BE DEDICATED

By President Wilson as Opening Event of the Meeting.—International Soil Products Exhibition Will Be Held At El Paso At the Same Time.

The International Farm Congress (the Dry-Farming Congress) is scheduled to meet at El Paso, Texas, October 19, 20 and 21, 1916.

The International Soil-Products Exposition, which is conducted by and under the management of the Congress, will also meet in El Paso, the dates for the latter being October 14 to 24, inclusive.

Beginning with an attendance of a few hundred earnest delegates from a dozen western states at Denver ten years ago, the International Dry-Farming Congress has advanced rapidly to the position of the largest and most influential organization in the world of men interested in the advancement of agriculture and allied pursuits. Its membership is composed of leading farmers in every western state and in the Canadian provinces, representatives of twenty or more countries in both hemispheres, and of the majority of the department heads and workers of all the state and federal agricultural colleges and experiment stations in the United States and Canada. In addition, many business men and others interested in the work of the Congress, and a number of commercial organizations hold memberships.

The permanency and steady growth of this Farm Congress at once distinguishes it from the passing throng of congresses and organizations of various natures which spring up, only to subside when the local or temporary reason for their existence disappears. "Education" is the keynote of the International Farm Congress, and in its annual programs and in the exhibits assembled at the Soil-Products Exposition this feature is most apparent.

Last year, at Denver, the Congress and Exposition had exhibits from practically every western state, from several of the Canadian provinces, and from nine federal and state experiment stations; government exhibits from Australia, Canada and the United States; thirty-two county exhibits; twenty-five club exhibits of boys and girls; hundreds of exhibits by individual farmers from every western state, and from Canada.

The Congress program will comprise lectures, addresses and reports covering the various divisions of scientific achievement in agricultural and allied progress, with ample time for open discussion of the same. The subjects of rural credits, distribution and marketing, farm tenancy, rural education, conservation of moisture, irrigation, drainage, forestry, dairying, soil tillage, feeding, soil fertility, good roads, etc., will receive full attention. Many of the world's highest authorities will be heard from the Congress platform.

Present indications are that the number of exhibits and exhibitors at El Paso will considerably exceed the record of last year or any previous year.

See Rip Van Winkle Sept. 30th at the Queen.

A. M. Crews was in on business this week, trying to find out how close a switch would be to him. He was awfully well pleased when he found one would be in one mile. He says he is going to ship cream and pork out.

E. D. Hurd, of Lubbock an old friend of Murt Judd was down last week looking over the situation with the intention of locating here and we learn that he will likely put in a business here before a great while.

Messrs. Winn and McCaleb passed through Monday on their way to Tahoka to bring back lumber for a new corner, who will build a nice house near them.

Dr. C. G. Ross arrived this week from Paluxey, to make this his home and practise his profession as an M. D. Dr. Ross is a young man of fine appearance, and while don't look it; has been married sixteen years, and has two children old enough to go to school. He informed us that his family would arrive as soon as he could find a place to put them, as he wanted the children in school. As soon the train comes in he will build an office of either brick or concrete. Welcome to our little city.

Dr. Treadaway traded his interest in four business lots on the square including some cash to Jim Burnett, this week, for equity in r half section of land one mile east of Gomez.

Dr. M. C. Bell has traded his Winters property for four fine sections of land in Gaines county, and seems to be well pleased with the deal.

ELEPHANT BUTTE DAM COMPLETE

WILL DEDICATE GREATEST IRRIGATION DAM.

President Wilson to Officiate at Dedicatory Ceremonies at Elephant Butte.

As a preliminary event to the Eleventh International Soil-Products Exposition and the annual session of the International Dry-Farming and Irrigation Congresses at El Paso, Texas, in October, the greatest dam in the world, impounding the largest artificial body of water in the world, will be dedicated at Elephant Butte, New Mexico, by President Woodrow Wilson.

The date for the dedication of this dam is set for October 14. This event will be immediately followed by the opening of the Soil-Products Exposition at El Paso, where it is expected that the president will also speak.

The products now growing throughout the Rio Grande Valley below the dam will be thoroughly represented at the Exposition, where they may be compared with similar products grown in many parts of the world.

Delegates to the Congresses and visitors to the Exposition will have ample opportunity of visiting and inspecting this great structure, as well as the vast and fertile valley which the water it impounds is designed to irrigate.

The dimensions of this dam, the quantity of water it will impound, and the area which will finally be irrigated from it, are set forth in stupendous figures. Nevertheless, a full understanding and appreciation of this immense proposition, which appears to have been so capably designed and executed, is not possible without a personal inspection.

The dam is 1,200 feet long at the top; the height from the deepest excavation is 304.5 feet; the width or thickness of the roadway at the top is 16 feet; the structure contains 610,000 cubic yards of masonry.

The reservoir, when full, will contain 2,642,292 acre-feet of water. This is 115,093,000,000 cubic feet, or 802,200,000,000 gallons. It would cover to a depth of one foot an area of 4,285 square miles. The depth of water near the dam will be 192 feet; average depth over the entire reservoir, 64 feet; the average width of the reservoir will be 13 miles; its maximum length 45 miles; shore line 200 miles, and area of water surface 42,000 acres.

The total cost of this dam and accompanying work will be in the neighborhood of ten million dollars. Annual payments to the government will finally reimburse it for this expense.

Modern dam designing and construction has reached such a stage of scientific perfection that one man, or two at the most, will be able to absolutely control the entire operation of this one, including the exact regulation of the amount of water released and the application where needed of the hydro-electric power developed which may reach 35,000 horse-power or more. Thus one man's hand, on a valve-wheel or switch, can withhold from or supply to two hundred miles of a great and fertile valley, the life-giving water to transform it from a desert into a panorama of green fields, orchards, gardens and prosperous homes; flood a dozen towns with electric light, or cast them all into darkness; apply the energy to operate a thousand industrial plants, or stop every wheel; make the river lift itself by its bootstraps, by using the energy developed by the rush of water to the lower valley to raise other water from the reservoir over the mountains, and out onto the very mesa.

School opened here Monday morning with an unusually large attendance. We did not ascertain the enrollment. Most of the older people here attended and almost all the parents of the surrounding country were present. Our future County Judge, Word Price, made an interesting opening address, then our Principal "Mr" Bishop, (he says he is just a teacher and not Prof.) gave a talk that was listened to with interest and pleasure, for he is a stranger to most of us and this first impression was unusually pleasant. Dr. Maddux gave a short and interesting talk. Rev. Loftin must have been taking an active interest in the political campaign this summer for he gave a stirring speech on politics and preparedness winding up with an original selection of poetry against Republicanism and Graft. His ideas were good.

Mr. Jones told the children how they went to school in his day and brought out one point that ought to be seriously considered by the young of the present, "If they would improve their opportunities, of good comfortable buildings, and seats for school rooms, excellent instructors, plenty of books and six to eight months attendance at school every year for eight or ten years, as their parents did the log cabin, puncheon bench, blue backed speller, three months a year term, for three or four years of their lives, and the rest of the time all hard work; there would be little ignorance in our country. The older people are giving the children all needful chance for a good education and Mr. Jones, remarks were certainly to the point. The Expression teacher from Brownfield gave a much appreciated selection and the lady teachers, Misses Harrison, Hudson and Sanford each spoke a few words; also Tom Glover and quite a number of others gave words of cheer and good wishes, but we had to leave before the exercises were over, so cannot name them all. Good will and harmony seems to prevail and prospects are now for one of the most profitable schools to the children that we have ever had. Our trustees deserve the thanks of the community for the special efforts they have made to secure teachers who would be in every way satisfactory and we think they have succeeded. Later: There were 109 pupils present the first day.

Mr. Miller moved into the house vacated by Prof. Henderson.

Ben Hurst has rented rooms from J. W. Speer and moved in from Lynn county.

Mr. Renfro moved to the West place, last week. They will stay here while school lasts.

Mr. Bishop occupies the Harrison house here.

I. H. Hudson's family will move in next week.

Mrs. Edgar Stapp has purchased Grandma Stapp's home place here and moved in last week. She has rented the farm to Mr. Troupe.

Messrs. Bedford Masburn, Robert Holgate and Oral Adams went to Harris and on up in the sand hills last Saturday in an auto. They got back all right but we heard one of them say they had to run ten miles on low and they "aint in a hurry to go into the sandhills again in an auto."

All the young folks of the Jones family went to Dunn, Scurry county, last week to visit a sister and Miss Annie will spend the winter there.

Mrs. Mashburn and Mary Zozo visited out at Mr. Rambo's last week. Mrs. Mashburn informs us that they have moved into their new home in Brownfield.

Easton Wolfarth has been quite sick for several days and on Tuesday was carried to Brownfield to be near a doctor. He has slow fever.

Clint Rambo is now at Sweetwater taking another course of treatment at a sanitarium. His many friends sincerely hope that it may prove successful so that he may walk again.

Jay McPhaul was here from Lubbock last Saturday.

Gomez is quite a busy little village now. There is one hardware store, two grocery stores, two stocks of dry goods, one drug store, one millinery, one blacksmith shop, one hotel, two church buildings and last but not least a real good school house.

Messrs. Powell and Green finished installing the heating system at the school house Tuesday. Our school building now comes up to all state requirements for a rural high school.

Mrs. I. H. Hudson came in to the school opening Monday and paid ye scribe a much appreciated visit in the afternoon.

Notice

The Conference year will soon come to a close. The time is here when we must push things and finish up the year's work, and be ready to greet the new year with a clean sheet.

The Charge is behind with its Conference Collection and the preacher's salary. It is only a little more than thirty days until the Annual Conference and not one half of the pastors salary is paid. Let everybody work and pull together for the next few weeks and get everything in full. When the preacher and stewards ask you for your part of the assessment, do all you can in helping to make a full report.

The last Quarterly Conference will be held at Brownfield Sept 30 and Oct. 1, hence the time is short but lets do our best to to make this the best conference year. The Lord has abundantly blessed us with showers of rain, so let us return unto Him His portion of the grain. * J. M. Fryar, Pastor.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell."

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.
