HERALD TO INSTALL LINO TYPE MACHINE

Some two weeks ago, before the Herald man ever got able to come to town, Mr. Ira Bacon, representing the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., spent the afternoon with us, and sold us a Model L Linotype machine, with two magazines, carrying each two sets of letters.

To those that have never saw one of these machines or saw them work, will get a good likeness of the machine from the accompanying cut.

The machines are great labor and time savers, and many small papers are now installing them in self defense, on account of the scarcity and high cost of labor, as they can be paid for at something like the monthly wages of an ordinary printer. In the hands of an expert, they are equal to the hand composition of four men, when distributing of type in the old way is considered, as there is no distribution with the machine—merely recasting the same metal each week. These machines cast a line at a time, from which they get the name, (Linotype.) Of course, the Herald man don't expect to be an expert for several months after the machine is installed, but most any good hand with a typewriter can set as much type the first day as one as they can by hand.

Now reader, this machine is being installed at a great sacrifice to us, in order to give you a better paper, one that you will be proud of, and is going to cost lots of money, and quite a big initial payment has to be made, but we have great confidence in the future of the town and county, as well as every subscriber on our books; in our business men and in our county officials, therefore we feel no hesitancy in making the purchase.

Our subscribers can be of great assistance to us in making the first payment, the rest being in easy monthly installments, by paying their papers in advance; some are proposing to pay several years in advance in order to help us. The business men can order stationery to be delivered in future and help materially. Of course we are not asking any one to do this, unless it is absolutely satisfactory to them, as we will try to care for it otherwise, but the help will be more than appreciated.

No matter where you live, we welcome your co-operation. Who will be the first to respond in a big advance payment, or who will send in one or more new subscribers.

Frank Martin Jr., volunteered his services last Friday to lift the heavy forms for the editor in doing the press work, and he proved a good hand. A friend in need is a friend indeed.

NOTICE, Farmers and Stock men: We are giving away to friends and customers, a farm book. It is full of valuable information, call and get yours. R. H. Kemp Lumber Co.

Last week a pretty wealthy man of this county stopped his paper because we got down with the flu, and could not issue. The same day a dray man, having compassion on us, donated a load of freight. "Which of these is my friend and brother."

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of expressing our sincere gratitude to the friends who came so readily to our help in the hour of need in the sickness and death of our loved one. To those who ministered with loving hands to her last wants. For the many expressions of love for her and of sympathy for we who are left. For the many tokens of love from the children who loved her dearly and she was happy in that love. For the precious tribute to her memory from the dear "Ladies Aid" May these "Roses of Love" ever bloom in our hearts, and may the Heavenly Father, who always rules in love, reward you, all.

Miller and King Families.

CARD OF THANKS.

To my neighbors and friends, allow me to express my feelings of gratitude and thankfulness to you for your loving kindness shown me while I was away at the bedside of my dear wife who died at Quanah, Tex., Jan. 26th 1919. May Gods richest blessings rest upon you is my prayer. C. C. Williams.

TEXAS HIGHWAYS TO BE SUPERINTENDED BY R. R. C.

Some surprise was occasioned in the halls of the Texas capitol building Monday afternoon when it became known that the house committee on roads and bridges had reached a practically unanimous decision to recommend that the Sentell bill consolidating the Texas state highway department with the Texas railroad commission for favorable action in the house.

This bill provides several features that are favored by many, including the close accounting for all highway funds, the employment of a stipulated number of workers at wages fixed by appropriations, and the accurate audit of all accounts.

COKE COUNTY CITIZENS ASK THAT SHERIFF BE REINSTATED

San Angelo, Texas, —Many citizens of Robert Lee have signed a petition asking that Louis J. Cowart be restored to the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector of Coke County, which the County Commissioners last week declared vacant on the ground that he had failed to file proper official bond for approval. W. B. Hamilton, who was a deputy under Mr. Cowart and who was named by the Commissioners to fill out his term, has not yet qualified and is one of the signers of the petition.

Uncle Horace Adams returned this week from the north where he has been taking treatment. He reports being much improved in health.

Jot Smith, of Lubbock, has been here the past week buying several cars of corn.

Dr. Wagoner, of Lubbock, was here Thursday on professional business, being called to consult with Dr. Richards concerning the condition of James Dow, who has been critically ill for several days. —Seminole Sentinel.

FOR SALE or trade, the N. W. 160 Acres, located in Sec. 159 Block T, six miles northwest of Brownfield; all nice and smooth; price $11.00 per A. $736.00 cash or trade; balance very easy. Would consider good team of mules. Address Route 2, Box 41, Rale, Texas.

O. A. Sanstorm of the western states, especially prominent in Texas and New Mexico, passed through here Wednesday enroute to eastern states. Sandstorm, altho moving at a rapid speed was in town long enough to visit old acquaintances. —Lubbock Avalanche.

He was flirting with Brownfield, too, and you know the old man seemed as vigorous as ever, and the papers state that he executed the nose dive and tail spin among the plate glass windows in Fort Worth, and acted real ugly in Okla., Kans. and Nebraska. They do say, also, that a newcomer at Seagraves so disliked the old bo's call, that he began packing the same hour to leave the county.

A team ran away in Slaton one day last week and knocked over a friendly lamp post that Editor Lomis used to hang onto to rehearse in the wee small hours, excuses for friend wife, before the Santa Fe quit bringing anything stronger than bevo to that city. Probably the post isn't needed now to light the path of the weary nocturnal wayfarer, but a fellow hates to have old land marks moved.

DO YOUR BIT by using more corn meal made by J. T. Hamilton & Son.

The flu got hold of Editor Harry Stone, and held up publication of the Seminole Sentinel two issues. A small town editor can not step out and get just anyone to run his business. Printing is one of the arts and takes time to learn, though few seem to realize the fact.

When You Can't Sleep

and you get up as tired as when you went to bed, it is a sure sign that your nerves are out of tune. If this continues long, a nervous breakdown and a train of ills are bound to follow.

The experience of Mrs. H. L. Redman, of New Haven, Conn., will interest you. She says:

"For several months I suffered from extreme nervousness and sleeplessness. My nerves were completely unstrung. After doing light housework I was completely fatigued, and loss of sleep made the nights long and tiresome. I began taking DR. MILES' NERVINE and the first night I slept soundly all night. I can truthfully say DR. MILES' NERVINE completely cured me."

DR. MILES' NERVINE is a safe, reliable medicine for all nervous disorders, such as sleeplessness, nervousness, hysteria, headaches, neuralgia, etc. It is non-alcoholic and contains no harmful drugs. It has been helping nervous, distracted, discouraged sufferers back to health for 30 years. Ask your druggist about it.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs. in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be ascribed as torture.

I sent and bought Thedford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Thedford's Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it! NC-131

TEACHERS ARE NOT PAID ADEQUATE SALARIES

Few teachers anywhere are paid anything like the salaries teachers ought to be paid. Still worse, those teachers who ought to be paid the best salaries—teachers of very young children—are, as a rule, the most scandalously underpaid.

This doubtless is the result of a singularly myopic view common among school authorities. They say to themselves in effect:

"The younger the child, the easier it is to handle. The younger the child, the less the knowledge that has to be imparted to it. Therefore, the younger the child the less the teaching experience required, and the lower the teacher's pay should be."

One tremendously important thing these school authorities forget.

They forget that lasting mental habits are formed early, and that their formation depends chiefly on the influences with which the young child is surrounded. Among such influences the teacher of the young child has a foremost place.

Often—I might truthfully say, usually—the child comes to its teacher from home surroundings adverse to the forming of right mental habits.

No effort has been made in the home to train the child to use its own all its thinking for it. They have allowed it to "run wild", or at all events to spend its time in play that makes no systematic demands on its mental powers.

As a result the child has already acquired habits of mental inertia, looseness, hastiness, dissipation of energy. These have to be broken down, and in their stead habits of effort, accuracy, thoroughness, concentration, have to be established.

Suppose now, the child falls into the hands of a teacher, not merely inexperienced and unskillful, but further handicapped in giving her best by personal worries due to poverty. What is the outlook of the child?

Will it be adequately inspired and helped to form the new and better mental habits it needs?

Or will it rather be confirmed in its old habits and pass from childhood into youth with its mind sealed against later corrective action?

Common sense and the experience of many generations leave no doubt as to how the questions must be answered. Yet school authorities continue to be content with "inexperienced" teachers for the very young and to keep their pay more than proportionately low.

Then they wonder why teachers of higher grades find it difficult to get good results from their pupils.

Some day all this will be changed. Some day more will be demanded of teachers of the young than of any other teacher, and their pay will be at the top instead of at the bottom of the salary scale.

Then things will be as they ought to be, and our educational system will be infinitely more effective than it is at the present time.

Considering the fact that our children are now taught in our public schools not only lessons from books, but how to live useful lives, how to eat, how to cook and many other things that help to equip them for the battles of life.

If it were left to the Journal to say what our school teachers should be paid they would at least receive double what they are now paid, and probably more.

Children of today will be citizens in the near future and they should be given every advantage that can be possibly given them, and we depend on our teachers to do this for us. They should be well paid.—Cloviss Journal.

Washington. —In a message today solemnly urging Congress to appropriate the $100,000,000 requested for European food relief, President Wilson said Bolshevism, steadily advancing westward, could not be stopped by force, but could be stopped by food. Food relief, he said was the key to the whole European situation and to the solutions of it.

A message from Henry White, member of the American peace delegation, to the State Department, said the "startling westward advance of Bolshevism" dominated the entire European situation above all else and that it was of the utmost importance that the President's request be granted at once.

Bolshevism, White said, "now completely controls Russia and Poland, and is spreading through Germany," and apparently the only effective barrier is food relief. He added that it was impossible to inaugurate the peace conferences under the proper auspices without previous adequate provisions to cope with this situation.

The President's message, addressed to Senator Martin of Virginia and Representative Sherley of Kentucky, chairman of the Congressional appropriations committee, and that of White were read on the floor of the House by Sherley during debate on a special rule to give immediate consideration to the appropriation bill.

A. J. WHITTINGTON GETS FIFTEEN YEAR SENTENCE

Fort Worth, Texas, —Almost forty-eight hours after the case had been given into their hands, a jury in the Criminal District Court for Tarrant County brought in a verdict of guilty and assessed the punishment of A. J. Whittington, charged by indictment with the killing of Mrs. Lydia Wadley, at fifteen years in the State penitentiary. The jury had been out since 9 o'clock Friday night, when the attorneys concluded their arguments, the State asking for the extreme penalty and the defense urging a suspended sentence on a conviction of manslaughter. The verdict was brought in at 6:45 o'clock last night. Mrs. Wadley was killed in front of her home on South Adams street on Aug. 20, 1918.

Though the verdict was belated, Judge George E. Hosey, in whose court the case was tried, was confident an agreement would be reached. Not once during the long deliberation did the jury ask for enlightenment on a point of law or for a construction of any part of the Judge's charge.

COKE'S SHERIFF CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

San Angelo. —L. J. Cowart, sheriff of Coke County, was in the Tom Green County jail here last night awaiting arrival of Constable E. W. Esves, for the present Coke County's only acting officer. A complaint charging embezzlement was filed against Cowart at Robert Lee yesterday, after the County Commissioners on Tuesday had declared his office vacant. Almost $4,000 is said to be missing.

Cowart will be taken to Robert Lee today. He has lived there ten years and in November was re-elected sheriff. W. B. Hamilton, a deputy, was named his successor.

ICE ACCIDENTS IN HEREFORD LAST WEEK

Hereford Brand. Dr. F. E. Bowe of Hereford was brought to the city Thursday morning for medical treatment, after suffering a severe and painful accident on a ranch, 16 miles from Endee, N. M., where he has been wintering some cattle.

Last Friday afternoon the Doctor went out to feed his cattle and his foot slipped on the thick ice covering the ground. In falling his temple struck a stick projecting from the ground, and he was rendered unconscious, remaining in that condition 41 hours. Prompt medical aid was given and upon regaining consciousness he began to mend. Mrs. Bowe stated Thursday to the Brand that he was slowly improving and doing as well as could be expected.

C. H. Barrett, who resides on his ranch north of Hereford, is carrying his left arm in a sling, with the bone broken at the elbow. He slipped on the ice during the recent storm and sustained a very painful and costly fracture.

We have recently had to change R. C. Graves' paper to Brownfield from Roswell. We have said all along that Mr. and Mrs. Graves would move to a good town some day, and we welcome them home.

Noah Bell, one of our popular northside ranchmen, was in one day this week and ordered a pair of boots from Martin & Son to go to his brother-in-law, Chas. Raymer, of Arizona. Martin & Son are sending boots wherever there are any cowboys now.

The market does not really justify the prices we are making on staples for while there has been a decline with the JOBBER of some staples yet the decline is simply with him—in some cases simply to stimulate Spring Business and possibly in some instances because he has big supplies of these goods and because of the recent decline in cotton is afraid the market will decline and catch him overloaded. The Spinner has not as yet made a reduction in these staples, and fact is the TRADE is yet looking for very much HIGHER prices for cotton as soon as the WORLD'S SHIPPING can be adjusted—we really feel that you now have a chance to buy STAPLE DRY GOODS at prices that will not again be repeated in 12 months. These prices for CASH.

A HUGE GUN PASSED OVER SANTA FE LAST WEEK

Hereford Brand.

Last Sunday the Santa Fe railroad carried a real gun through the city of Hereford. It was about sixty odd feet long, and it required about four or five cars to handle the weapon. It was a regular whale of a gun.

From the best information obtainable, the big fellow was enroute from the factory in the East to the coast fortifications on the Pacific Coast. From the size of it, this gun must have been a twin brother to the one the Huns used in shelling Paris.

LETTER FROM HOMER WINSTON

Berncastel, Germany.
Jan. 8, 1919.

Mr. J. F. Winston,
Brownfield,
Texas.

Dear Father and Homefolks:-
As the censor is about raised on letters I thought I had better give you a little of the history about where I have been, etc.

On Wed., June 12, 1918, at 11 a. m., we left Camp Travis in a first class Pullman car. Passed through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. Here we boarded the Long Island R. R. for Camp Mills, Long Island. Every foot of the way was very enjoyable. Duncan and Enid Okla., are two towns that I will never forget. They are so kind to the soldiers, giving them many cigarettes and cigars. Gee, at the girls and good looking ones too.

On Tuesday, June 18th, arrived at Jersey City, got on a boat and crossed over to Long Island, boarded the L. I. R. R., and went to Camp Mills near Garden City and Hempstead. During my stay there I took two trips to New York City and Coney Island which was very interesting and amusing.

On Saturday, June, 28th about 3 p. m. boarded the L. I. R. R. for L. I. City, and got on a small boat for Hoboken, N. J. Was in charge of 28 men to unload 2 box cars of baggage. Some job. Had to handle it twice. About 5 p. m. the next day we boarded the British steamship, Demosthenes and sailed about 6 p. m. Got in the Hammock about 8 p. m., stayed till 5:30 a. m. got up but my stomach was trying to crawl out of my mouth so went back to the hammock at 5:40 a. m. sharp and stayed there the remainder of that day and night. July 3rd anchored at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and left there July 4th for Somewhere in France. There were 13 transports and one battleship in the convoy. Then for 11 long days we sailed over the deep blue ocean. Go one way five minutes then change to the other. The ship was crowded, dirty and had to sleep anywhere you could. I slept on the deck. Went hungry every inch of the way, the chow being put out by the bloody English.

On Saturday, July 13, the submarine chasers met us. Much delight to everyone as we had been in the danger zone for some days. On Sunday the 14th I was enjoying a nice talk with a friend by the name of Florey when I heard an awful explosion, looked to the left and saw the big ship give the distress signal. Then business picked up. The chasers did "To the rear, March" and talk about small boats running they certainly layed down their leg. They reminded me of four dogs after a cotton tail rabbit and then the rabbit hiding in the grass. They must have dropped some twenty or twenty-five depth bombs and when we reached land one of the boats passed us like a streak and had half of a sub on her right rear side. They had fished this up after sinking her. There were two subs but they didn't know for sure whether they got the other one or not, but I am willing, no give them credit for it just the same.

Oh! Joy! On Monday July 15th when I got up I saw land. Never did dirt look so good to me in all my life. Now I am in Liverpool, England got off old Demosthenes and hope I never see her again. Walked about five miles to a camp. Tuesday, July 16th boarded the train and went to Winchester England to what they call a rest camp but I don't see why they gave it that name. I sure liked that place because the chow was being put out by the Americans. The trains are very peculiar in this part of the world but travel very fast. The next day went to Southampton crossed the English Channel that night landing at La Harve, France. Talk about a running boat that was one of them. Ride over one wave and go through the next one. If you stayed in the hull you would smother and if you got on deck the waves would wash you off I got into a condition that you call sea sickness and believe me I wouldn't have given a darn if we had ran into a whole fleet of subs. Stayed at La Harve three days another one of those rest camps. Oh Joy! Box cars, "40 hommes et huit chevaux," (forty men and eight horses) for two days and nights. Very small cars crowded until we couldn't all sit down at the same time. Some trip. That sure made us think of the Pullman's we left good old Texas in. Landed at La Pollice. From there we went to a camp near Rochfort. This is the town that La Fayette sailed from. We spent seven days here and then boarded the train for "Somewhere." After three days and nights travel we got off at a small place by the name of Racey-sur Ource. We were billeted here on a hill in a huge stone barn. This reminded us of the barracks back in camp. Aug. 12th went to Lijon and got about two hundred trucks. On the 15th we left Racey-sur-Ource and drove through the country in trucks to a small town by the name of Choloy near Toul. Here we witnessed air raids every night. Was rather exciting as this was our first sight of the war.

From here our company moved to French Barracks at Jeanne D'Arc. The other five small companies moved to another small town by the name of Moncourt. While at the French Barracks I made several visits to the city of Toul, which was very interesting, the old Cathedrals, etc., which are hundreds of years old, show the very finest of arts. From the French Barracks we moved to a small town called Gezencourt and were billeted here in an old barn. Now we are only five miles from the front line trenches and things are getting exciting. We take supplies right up the second line every night and Gee! how they shell every time we start our motors. Some life. Raining to beat the band and dark as pitch. No lights and mud shoe mouth deep on the road and if you get off in the ditch it takes two trucks to pull you out for you
