NO. 6

Charged With Criminal Assault

Wilkie Gott, a young man living in the Cone community, was arrested Sunday night on the serious charge of criminally assault upon the person of Miss Onie Hughes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hughes of the same community. When first arrested it was understood that he only attempted criminal assault, and after being examined in justice court here, his bond was placed at $1000, but later, when it was learned that the young lady had suffered actual assault, he was re-arrested, and his bond fixed at $10,000, which we understand was made.

The particulars of the assault, as related to us, are about as follows: *****

Since the above was put in type, Gott's bondsmen have given him up and he was placed in jail at Lubbock.

Reports from Cone are to the effect that considerable excitement prevails there, and only the counsel of the cooler heads is preventing trouble.—Ralls Banner.

R. O. Wilson, of Seagraves, shipped two cars of cattle from here on Saturday last for the Ft. Worth market, consisting of cows and heifers, that he had purchased from Bert Shepherd and J. A. Blankenship. He also became a reader of the Herald, as he says he is going to make this his home after Jan. 1st.

A deal was consummated last week, where in L. H. Plain, owner and the manager of the South Plains Phone Co., became the possessor of the six lots about three blocks east of the square on Harden street, and belonging to Judge Spencer, of Lubbock. Consideration $1000.00.

Government to Investigate the Potash Possibilities Here

That the potash business is attracting more than local attention, is confirmed by a dispatch from Washington to the effect that our Congressman, Hon. Marvin Jones, has just had an interview with Director Smith of the geological survey, and as a result of that interview, Mr. Smith promised to send Mr. R. M. Wheeler, an expert to Texas at once. He will visit this and adjoining counties, and make an extensive survey.

And while we are on the subject, one of our local citizens who has just returned from Cisco, and that part of the oil fields, says the people are talking the potash possibilities there even more than we, or more than we ever talked oil here.

He further stated that the geologist down there say that Armour & Co. control the potash beds in Germany, and that he is doing all he can to suppress the fact that these rich beds have been found, as it will to a great extent ruin his little play house in ex-Kaiser land.

Anyway, we wish that something definite would turn up, and so much talk would stop. And we believe one or the two will happen. Certain.

FALL Millinery Coming. Our new Fall hats will be here in a few weeks and we ask you to see them before you buy. Opening ad in these columns later. Mesdames Faucett & Camble.

Mrs. Edith Smith, of Littlefield, Texas, is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Shields.

Another Good Rain

Yes, the most of old Terry got a good rain Tuesday night of this week that will insure a heavy yield of all the late feed crops, and put grass on the ranges to carry the cattle almost through the winter.

As has been usual this spring and summer, Brownfield and vicinity got the lion's share of the precipitation, but the rain was unusually well divided over the county. It seemed a great deal lighter in the extreme west and northwest portions, but it is reported that most of them got a good shower, and they have been skipped most of the time heretofore. The Union neighborhood just southeast of town, has also been in the dry belt, and we understand that they are at last blessed with good showers.

The government gauge in Brownfield showed a precipitation of 1.81 inches. Things are looking good in old Terry as sure as you are born.

To Raise $75,000.00

The $16,000,000 will be raised by the Baptist of Texas for the five year program of the Southern Baptist $75,000,000 drive, has been appointed by the campaign directors through the 18 State districts, 120 Baptist associations and counties. Individual church appropriations will be made from the county quotas.

John Waltrip is now running a light service truck in and around Brownfield.

Gus Foreman, employed as a boot maker for Martin & Son, came in this week from Lubbock, where he has been having his ears treated.

Of course we are in a hurry for the United States Senate to ratify the Covenant of the League of Nations and pass on the Peace Treaty, and have the thing over, but sometimes we almost wish that before we sign anything that would cause us to have to keep the peace, that Uncle Sam would go down into the land of Satan and whip the hell out of the blame Greasers. Don't you?

Not long since we heard one of our prominent ranchmen remark when told that cotton seed cake was around ninety dollars per ton, that "he would worry, for he had a lot stored from last year, and besides that, he was making hay every day the sun shined on the ranch." There is no use to say that this ranchman knows his business from A to Z, for the fact that he is now preparing for winter puts him out of the "grass hopper" class into the "ant" class, according to the old fable. We believe that with the abundant crops that are even now being harvested all over West Texas, and together with the scarcity of cattle on the ranges on account of the long drouth that has just come to an end, that cotton seed products are not going to have the ready sale that they have had heretofore, and must drop way down before snow flies. However, on the other hand, should they take a turn upward instead, the ranchman has at hand the stuffed graineries of the neighboring farmer, and great big stacks of roughness, and he should by all means help his neighbor before going into market for other high priced feeds, and we believe he has enough sense of justice to do so. Let the ranchman that has the cattle, buy from his neighbor the feed for them, if he like the ranchman quoted above, has not already made his own provisions on his fertile ranch lands.

Appropus the much and varied discussion of the high cost of living, officially and otherwise, they don't seem to get any where with the matter, and the question has become a real worry to the poor man in any walk of life, and they have got to the point where they don't believe that any one can remedy matters very much. They have become resigned to their fate, it seems. This has been suggested and that has been investigated, and still the prices keep up or a little higher. Of course all deny that they are responsible; the farmers says he can't live with less, and the big packers and distributors say their margin of profits are so small that if it were not for them the price of food stuff would be much higher, and the retailer has got a good plea too. Yet it would seem that in the cities at least, investigations have found that the retailer is the guilty party, but in some instances big jobbers have been found with immense quantities of food stored, as for instance in Chattanooga, Tenn. But in Ft. Worth, nearer home, it was found that melons that were produced in the adjoining county of Parker, were being sold at a profit of more than 200 per cent. There is something radically wrong in our way of distributing food, and there must be a great change, or there will have to be established exchanges to put the producer and consumer together and eliminate the middleman, but the middle man thinks no such condition will ever come about. And it must be acknowledged that he is a very essential person, if he but uses a little discretion, and is satisfied with a reasonable profit. But the producer also must learn a lesson, also. For instance only recently a case came under our observation that out of one dozen eggs four of them were unfit for consumption. Three of them were spoiled to almost the decay stage, and one actually had a half matured chicken in it. No doubt that farmer sold those eggs as fresh, and some one must lose, and he is the one that loses in the long run, for the local dealer always figures a price that will cover losses from bad eggs. Why will the farmer never learn to produce infertile eggs for the market. We personally know one lady that coops her roosters' along about May 1st, and the dealers willingly give her 10 cents per dozen advance over the neighbors that let their roosters run at large. Farmers you must either pen the roosters or cut off their heads in summer months if you want to get the real market price for your eggs. This may be plain talk but if it takes that to bring you to a realization of your own good, then we feel that we have accomplished something for our country.

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

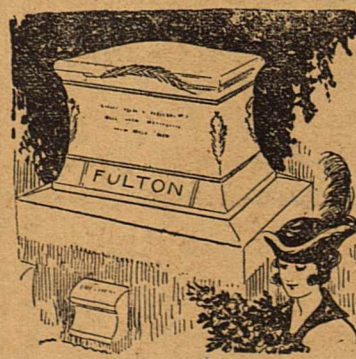

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs. in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Thedford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Thedford's Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it! NC-131

Mrs. Mary Martha Crews.

(The following article taken from the Childress, Texas, Post, is being published by request, as a number of people in Terry county are or were acquainted with Grandma Crews, the mother of our esteemed citizen, A. M. Crews, of southwest Terry.

'Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning of the bar

When I put out to sea.
But such a tide as moving, seems asleep,

Too ful of sound and foam,
When that which dew from the boundless deep,
Turns again home."

Like Enoch of old, Grandmother Crews, as we loved to call her, truly walked and talked with God, and in her communion with Him she asked that when the time for her translation came that there might be the "one clear call," no lingering illness, no sad farewells. Her prayer was granted; suddenly the summons came and softly crossing the bar she met her Pilot "face to face" and heard His "Welcome home, faithful servant, enter into the joys of thy Lord.

In many ways Grandmother Crews was a remarkable woman. A widow with seven small children, she came to the Panhandle in its earliest days and settled on a ranch not far from town. Years of drouth and hardship followed, but she never lost her faith that the Lord would take care of her and hers, and she lived to see all her children grown and settled in comfortable homes of their own.

During these days of hardship she never failed to pay her little mite unto the Lord, and a "free-will" offering besides. She said she did not include what she paid on her pastor's salary as part of her tithe, for she received full value for that. Would that there were more like her.

She was rightly named Mary Martha. As Martha, her life was filled with toil and cares; as Mary, she sat daily at her Master's feet. While Marth's hands and feet were busy in serving, Mary's heart and lips were singing praises. As she went about her daily tasks, she told her children Bible stories, taught them scripture verses and the Catechism, and if a dozen neighbor children came in, she was only the happier.

No one was ever more faithful to attend all the church services, and if the roads were too bad for vehicles, she rode horseback, literally piling her babies on both before and behind. She went through a terrible blizzard to help organize the First Presbyterian church, of Childress in a dugout, and there was no name she loved better than "Mother of Her Church." She was a member of the church for sixty eight years.

She helped organize a union Sabbath School, was given the infant class to teach and continued to teach babies and mothers, through the babies till she touched thousands of lives, and the good she did will run on into the ages.

Like her Master, she lived to serve and where there were sickness, sorrow or distress, there you would find Grandmother Crews. Her daily prayer was,

"Others, Lord, yes others;
Let me live from day to day,
In such a self forgetful way,
That even when I kneel to pray,
My prayer shall be for others."

Though we miss her, we know the beautiful influence of her life will never die.

We take up the work she laid down, and will try in all things, like her, to be faithful unto the end.

—By Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church, of Childress, consisting of Mesdames E. R. Alexander, C. E. B. Denny, and E. E. Diggs.

Harris Happenings.

The editor has persuaded us to return again. We are glad to help our home paper if we can, but personally we can't see that our few items help much.

Of course they would make better showing if we were a good reporter.

Some parts of our neighborhood was visited by a good rain last Sunday. We need a good general rain for our crops, which need nothing else to make them fine, as they have been well worked.

Glen Harris came in from overseas last week. He is the last of our Harris boys to come in and word can't express our appreciation in having our boys home again.

Misses Jewell and Thelma Latham from Bronco Texas came over for the Brownfield barbecue and spent several days visiting at Harris last week.

Mrs. F. M. Ellington writes that that she would not live in Pennsylvania again, but that it was a fine place to visit, and that she wouldn't be ready to come home for six weeks.

Mrs. Clare and children spent the week following the picnic in Brownfield, with her sister, Mrs. J. C. Patterson, of Seagraves. Little Thelma and Thad Paterson, accompanied them home for a visit at Harris.

Prof. and Mrs. Harrison's son, of Plainview, is visiting at the home of J. E. Fitzgerald. The Harrison's at one time lived at Gomez.

Revs. Hughes and Hicks are holding a protracted meeting at Harris this week. We consider Bro. Hughes an able preacher, and hope much good has been accomplished by his sermons here.

Mr. Editor, because of our mail service, our items must be written the week before in order to get

Be Loyal--Be Faithful!

OUR BOYS were loyal to the Stars and Stripes, and faithful unto Victory. OUR PATRONS have been loyal to this bank (we appreciate it) and hope they will remain faithful to the bank that has stood by them in past years of distressing hours. We should be conservative in our business as well as loyal and faithful.

(Well, Sand Bur, it is needless for us to say that we are pleased to be able to put your familiar hand write into type again. We are simply tickled. Owing to the fact that you will be greatly handicapped in having bad mail connections, we are going to give your letter to Wed. to get to Brownfield, and we believe the other correspondents will see the justice, and accede to this grant of extra time to your letter. We certainly appreciate your letters, and indeed all the letters, as it takes 'em to make a real, live country weekly, and that is all we have ever tried to make of the Herald. Drops of water make oceans, and cents make dollars you understand, and your items add-

Seagraves Items

By Reporter.

Seagraves is a thriving little town and seems to be on the boom lately, as there were several strangers stirring Monday.

Crops are looking fine now, but if there isn't rain pretty soon, there will not be much made.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sams, of near Lovington, N.M., was in town Monday on business.

There has been several new Ford cars shipped in lately.

Mrs. Jim Whitaker returned Monday from Lubbock, where she has been in a sanitarium for the past week or ten days.

Work is now being done on a dipping vat here, and it will soon be completed and ready to dip the cattle.

Mrs. E. B. Johnson, of the Loop neighborhood has been seriously ill but is reported better at present.

Mrs. Rodgers of Seagraves, was called to Lamesa, Saturday, to see her sick daughter, Mrs. Roy Simpson.

There has been several cars of cattle shipped in and out of Seagraves right lately.

Land is changing hands around here now. Mr. J. C. Sartin sold one section to a couple of east Texas people, and Mr. J. D. Autrey sold his place to a man from Breckinridge, and will move down close to Snyder, Texas soon.

Sam Tinker and Mr. Millhollan, left last week for Breckenridge to work in the oil fields.

Our protracted meeting will begin Friday night, Aug. 15th and will run two weeks. Brother Williams from Matador will be in charge of the meeting, and we are in hopes we will have a god one.

Mrs. Bean was called to Snyder, last week to see her sick daughter.

Mr. Lee Walker and family, who have been quarantined for the past month, are up and about again, with the quarantine raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland returned on last Saturday from Young county, where they have been with their son for some time.

(Come again and often, Reporter, your items are highly appreciated.—Editor.)

Let 'Em Rant.

Why should we worry when some little gimlet editor down in the sticks devotes his energy to knocking the Panhandle. The little editor isn't acquainted with the Panhandle and he doesn't know any better. He has never traveled and is no informed. He has perhaps never seen over the hill into the next county yet he considers it his conscientious and christian duty to warn his constituency against the drouths the coyotes and centipedes of West Texas, hundreds of miles away from his door yard. Some wall eyed fellow who came out here, got home sick for the lick logs of his old home place, and stampeded back without giving the country a fair chance, and has been knocking the Panhandle to cover his real trouble, homesickness. Let 'em rant and rave.

The more you talk about a thing, the more you arouse people's curiosity. When a person's curiosity is aroused he is going to come out here and see the "wild and wooley west" and then he will learn different and locate here. The destiny of the Panhandle is written in the stars and all the knocking in the kingdom come can't stop the wonderful development that is rapidly coming to this wonderful commonwealth. Considered in its intirety and not merely as a local incident, the knocking dosen't hurt the Panhandle. You can't hurt a sound value by abusing its worth. The Panhandle will come just the same whether the narrow gauge fellows knock it or not.

When we were a tender foot we were just a little nervous for fear that some of the knocking of the Panhandle might be true, and we were very zealous in peeling Down East Editor's hides for blaspheming our adopted home land, but since we have lived here long enough to realy know the Panhandle the knocking against the fairest country under God's foot-stool doesn't worry us in the least.

Let the ravers rave.—Canadian Record.

We have it pretty straight that at least four and possibly five more costly residences are planned for the town, and are to be built in the near future, but it is a little previous to give out anything.

In giving the account of the Hall-ey-Longbrake deal last week, we stated that the tract contained five acres, which should have been ten acres.

Uncle Billie Howard was in one day last week, and showed us a letter he had just received from the State Fair Association saying that a place in the agricultural exhibit hall of the State Fair would be reserved for Terry county if application was made, and that the stall would be free of all charge. If we are going to place our products on exhibit at the fair this year we had better be about the matter, as the sooner we speak, the more desirable will be the location we get.

Joe H. Payne and family, of Knox City, Texas are here the guests of his brother-in-law, J. E. Shelton. Mr. Payne is one of the stockholders as well as manager of the large firm of Baker Bryant & Co., of that city. He paid the Herald office a pleasant call and saw his first linotype in action.

WINDMILL Wrenches, tools, post-hole diggers, Dehorn saw, one wash pot, etc., for sale. See Mrs. John Raymer, City.

We had a letter this week from M. A. Smith, wanting his Herald address changed to his residence, as he says it sometimes gets lost at the office, and then he has war at home when he gets there. Well, we will do most anything to prevent war, M. A., after what we have gone thru with for the past year or two.

Mr. J. W. Neill, of Austin, representative of the State Department of Agriculture, was here this week visiting with the family of his son, Geo. W. Neill and his daughter and family, Mrs. Stewart. He says the battle royal is on between the Southern Cotton Raisers and the Wall street gamblers for a fair and just price for cotton this fall, and that the said gamblers have found them so well organized that they are trying to induce the Federal Government to take steps to suppress them under anti-trust laws. And we might add that there is an element right here in old Texas that are trying to discredit the State Department of Agriculture and have it put under the direction of the A. & M. College. While we have not a word to say against the above college—it is doing a great work—we know that it is partly supported by the Federal Government, Clyde Frost, of O'Donnell, shipped one car of calves and one of cows out of Seagraves this week, to the Kansas City market.

R. W. Boyd, of San Angelo, a recently discharged soldier, has been here this week visiting the family of his uncle, M. S. Dumas.

and to a certain extent is probably controlled. Lets keep the State Department of Agriculture; it is making a noble fight for the farmers, and it should be perpetuated. Under the direction of Mr. Neill, the Terry County Farmers Institute was revived, and will get to work. Another meeting is called for tomorrow week.

There is absolutely no need for you to go further than the Auto Service Station right here in Brownfield to have your welding done, for Curley is well prepared and knows his business. Read his ad.

The Methodist ladies entertained the ladies of the other churches of the town, very pleasantly, Wednesday afternoon of this week, at the Methodist church building.
