A Bumper Crop on Hand— Terry Has Her Sunday Clothes On

There are three or four things in this word that man loves to look at above all things; pretty women, good stock and fine crops, and he is always ready and anxious to strain his optics looking at either.

When M. B. Sawyer asked us last Sunday afternoon to go look at his crop, there was not one objection offered, and together with Mr. Sawyer and son, Oscar, O. T. Halley, Dock Powell, Curley Gamble and Mr. Crump, we saw one of the best all round crops we ever saw, and we expect nothing, not even the river valley crops either east or west of the Mississippi river. Now that is saying a great deal, understand, but the crop is there to show for itself, and any and all have the privilege of viewing it.

Let it first be remembered that Mr. Sawyer has been primarily a ranchman since he came to Terry county about fifteen years ago, but he was raised on the farm, and made his first money raising cotton down in Williamson county Texas. Another thing, let it be understood from the jump go that Mr. Sawyer doesn't have to farm, for he has something the rise of forty sections of old Terry dirt, and indeed he does not have to do anything unless he wants to. But to put it in his own words 'there are some wise ones here that say that Terry county is not a farming country, and after leasing my ranch and selling my cattle, I moved on my half section farm near town, and I have tried for the past four or five years to show people that this is a farmers country. And he has succeeded well. Many a time we have heard Mr. Sawyer say that any country where the crops will hold up after the grass withers up, like Terry, that is a farming country according to all reason; but on the other hand if the crops wither and the grass is green like for instance the San Angelo country, that is a stockman's paradise out and out. Well, if that isn't good reasoning, we want some one versed in crop making to put us right.

But back to the crop now under consideration, will say that he has in the neighborhood of 140 acres of corn, and the stalks which are large and around ten to twelve feet tall, contain from one to four good, well developed ears of corn. Some of the figguring fiends in the crowd got busy with pencil and paper, and the land was stepped, the ears of corn in an acre length was counted and averaged, and seventy ears was then counted to the bushel, and the estimate ran well around 60 bushels to the acre, but the editor was conservative, and allowed for everthing and placed the estimated yield at 50 bushels per acre, and we will have to see it weighed and measured at the harvest time before we will believe it is not there. Any school boy can now tell you that this means 7000 bushels of corn on 140 acres, and will very likely be worth $1.00 per bushel when gathered.

Oh! Boy! No, corn is not all he raised, for there is kafir corn that will cause a binder to tie so fast that one can't count them and it is going to take some team to pull the binder, and if he don't lose his team in there it will be a wonder. It looks like the picture of an African jungle. Fact folks. And his cane is as good as any we ever saw grow.

Then there is that old reliable of all the west Texas grains—Maize—and it will head well on toward two tons per acre. The heads are large, well matured, and fished out as deep as any we ever saw, and they are going to weigh something when put on the scales. We saw some cotton in his field that belonged to his neighbor, Mr. I. M. Smith, that has a half bale on it now, and no signs of any insects.

Now, reader, if any land agent or anyone else has told you that you can make a good crop here without work, they either lied to you, or are so confounded lazy that they have led themselves to believe this bull-rot. Mr. Sawyer's field is and was as well cultivated as you generally ever see, with one exception, and the exception was in his old maize—it being glowed only once and harrowed once—and you can tell the difference to the row. All his crop with this exception will average well, and gives one a chance to estimate the yield very accurately.

No longer than this spring we sat one morning at the depot and heard two fellows discussing this country, and in the presence of a fellow that had just purchased a home here, and they came to their own conclusion that no man can make a living here farming, and we fully agree to that to, providing the farmer (?) sets at home or on the streets discussing the best means of saving the country. No one is going to make anything, anywhere, with "country saving" cultivation. It won't work. The man that makes the success at anything must work it, and not let it work him.

After a delightful hour spent over this model farm, we returned to the splendid orchard and eats some fine peaches and apples, and they were so large that two or three of them filled one to capacity. We then went to the hog barn, and found some pigs that will already weigh in the neighborhood of 250 pounds gross, and fat enough for pork now.

If you come to Terry county to look for a good home, and want to see what you can do here of ordinary years with sufficient cultivation, don't fail to see the Sawyer farm.

Labor—Town and Country.

There is evidence of late in Texas, a tendency to play the labor of the country against the labor of the labor of the town and vice versa; all of which is wrong. It should be noted that the same gilded element in politics and business, which would place the wage scale of the town on a pre-war basis, is the same element which would place cotton and other form values upon a pre-war basis.

It could also be observed that this same attitudinous element manifests no anxiety to place upon a pre-war basis the price of cotton goods and other things, the value of which do touch vitally and alike the interests of labor in both town and country. From which it would appear that a wise thing for the city laborer to do would be to learn right away, that if anybody is profiteering on him, as he has been told, it is not the farmer.

Meantime the farmer should learn that the city laborer is not getting more than is owing to him, nor is liable to do that for some time to come; also that placing the labor scale on a pre-war basis, would by decreasing the purchasing power of labor, play into the hands of the men who desire to place the value of farm production on a pre-war basis, and with no apparent desire to place the value of what labor, whether in town or country buys, on a pre-war basis.

Finally, rather than to swallow the naked anti-labor hook thrown to them by fishermen unfriendly alike to our farm and labor interests, it would be infinitely wiser for the farmers to study more closely the organization scheme by which organized labor gets what it goes after and then adopt the scheme.

Is there danger that the farmer will get more than is due him? Should he ever do that, would he be likely to survive the shock?—Joe E. Ed-

Introducing Mr. Unknown

There has been much newspaper discussion about Mr. "Unknown" in the delinquent tax lists which have just been published over the state. There are many more Mr. "Unknown" than all others together. We believe we can tell you why there are so many Unknown tracts or real estate. There are so many people who when they buy a lot or some land, stick the deed away in their trunk without filing it with the county clerk and when the tax collector goes to the last recorded owner for the taxes he says: "No, I sold that land to John Doe and am not interested any more." Maybe John Doe has sold it again, and instead of giving an abstract to date he has just turned over the old abstract and unrecorded deed, and it has passed intirely away from any means the tax collector has in finding the owner. In the case of town lots, often purchased for a few dollars or secured in a trade as "boot" the new owner moves to another state and forgets about the deed stuck away in the trunk somewhere, and the lot goes on the list as "Unknown."—Canadian Record.

C. G. Hudson, of the west side, one of our hustling young stock farmers, came in this week and had us add his name to our growing mailing list.

Charley Raymer left last week for his home in Arizona, after nearly a month spent here with relatives, he having come to attend his brother, John's funeral.

No Enemies?

How often do we hear the boast, "I have not an enemy in the world." Yet, how significant of a fence-straddling life; how revealing of the side-tracked issues; of occasions when right faced wrong and called in vain for assistance. An unnamed poet says:

"You have no enemies you say;
My friend, your boast is poor,
He who has mingled in the fray
Of duty that the brave endure,
Must need make foes.
If you have none, mayhap,
Small is the work you have done.
You put no grafter down and out,
Or put no traitoring wretch to rout
You've never turned wrong into right,

You've been a coward in the fight.
Some men have been loved for the enemies they made! Some causes have been victorious because of their opposition! Glory in an enemy honorably made for the sake of faith or the principle involved. Hate not on your own part, but heed not angry criticisms and false reports which envious and contentious opponents heap upon you. Remember the Pharisees, who considered themselves as holier than all the others.—Ex.

Of the people who get pneumonia many out of 100 die, but out of 100 who have been total abstainers 13 will die, while out of 100 who have taken alcohol, 53 will die. To force home the thought that we are not sacrificing anything in the struggle with disease in giving up this wonderful cure-all, once again compare the figures 53-13.—Captain Arthur Evans, F. R. C. S., R. A. M. C.

Graduates of the medical schools in 1919 and thereafter will be required to furnish evidence of having completed one year's internship in an acceptable hospital after graduation before being granted license to practice in the State, it was decided at a recent meeting of the State Board of Medical Examiners at Austin, states Dean W. S. Carter of the Medical Department of the University of Texas. He says that this law is already in operation in many states. Of the 51 graduates of the Medical Department of the University this year, 46 voluntarily accepted internships.

Judging from the ominous roar of a whole "passle" of press agents, Ex-Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey is incubating a new party which will begin in Texas and which he hopes will encircle the environs of the entire United States. As far as we are able to tell from the dope of the dopesters, Joseph intends to hark back to the fundamental principles of the simon pure Jeffersonian brand of democracy, which according to his modern interpretation means that his new party will be against the three greatest successes of the age—the Policies of President Woodrow Wilson, Prohibition and Woman Suffrage. Come on Joseph, Texas still admires your brilliant intellect and the most of us will bear patiently with your frailties and delusions. If you are taken to a cleaning, which we have no doubt you will, it may be good for your sense and proportion of things—Brandon's Weekly.

It is now alleged that the W. C. T. U. is operating its munition factories over time preparing for an assault on tobacco and cigarette users by eliminating the production, sale, use, or export of the weed. It is claimed that the effort launched last March by the white ribbon bunch to Panhandle $1,000,000, will, to a certain extent, be used to bring about legislation to swat tobacco users. Let's all get ready for the blue laws.—Taylor County Times.

Don't rock the boat so, Thomas, you have been reading too much National Retail Lignor Dealers Literature, and you are unsteady on your props. Didn't you read just the other day, over the signature of the President of the W. C. T. U. that no anti-tobacco campaign had ever been contemplated? Rest easy, your "chawing and spittin'" is still safe.

The Lamesa Reporter came to our exchange table this week dated Thursday June 8, 1919, and minus the number of the belated arrival. Wake up Smith and set your date line up a month or so. Ben Smith of the Lockney Beacon is apt to notice the blunder and give you a column write up on how to run the Reporter.—Tahoka News.

We were not drunk when we changed the date, but we did have our daughter and two little one visiting us and had just received word that our married son, wife and baby were coming to see us and it "kinder" turned the old man's head. I don't think Ben Smith reads the Reporter. It isn't any paper, don't you know? At least that is what he said about us. But then Bro. Smith is so busy with the Plainview paper he hasn't time to read the others. If the Plainview paper should suspend publication the Beacon would be out of editorial dope.—Lamesa Reporter.

Well, the other married offspring and progen' must have arrived o.k., for while Bro. Smith changed the date of his next paper on Bro. Haynes' suggestion, he forgot to put the number of that journal back into circulation, and how is he to know when he completes a volume. But we have quit correcting folks, for we called a young lady editor's attention to the fact once, that her New Mexico journal had number 61 in a certain volume, and we had always been used to just 52 issues in a volume. Well, we got cut of her exchange list for our trouble. But not long since we got 72 days in one month by transposing a 2 and 7. We all make 'em.

JUST received a car of White Face Flour.—Brothers & Brothers.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic.

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.

The Nerve of the Turkish People

One step has been taken by the allied council toward the solution of the Turkish problem by refusing the Turk's plea that their territorial integrity may not be impaired.

In giving the answer the allied council has not minced words. Cognizant of the Turkish crown prince's confession that the Turks are incapable of self government, it has added the flat declaration that they are incapable of ruling over alien races. The experiment, it declares, has been tried too long and too often for there to be the least doubt as to the result.

This brings the domination of the Turk over other nationalities definitely to an end. Greek, Jews, Armenians mastery. The opportunity for them and all other non-Turanian people are rid of their fears that they will have to suffer again the cruelty, injustice and blighting effect of the Otto. The world has long waited the time for the Turk to be deprived of his power.

In the last lines of its note, the allied council presents an arraignment which the Turks will not soon forget. It recites a passage in the Turkish plea, in which they declare it to be their country's mission to devote itself to "an intensive economic and intellectual culture." To this the allied reply says: No change could be more startling or impressive; none could be more beneficial. If your Ex-lency is able to initiate this great progress of development in men of the Turkish race, you will deserve, and certainly will receive all the assistance we are able to give you.

The effrontery of the Turkish plea goes almost beyond the limits of the imagination. The request specifically not only that they shall be allowed to remain in Constantinople and in Europe, but that a frontier shall be drawn for them of such a nature that they can defend Andrainople and Constantinople. Such a request could be based only on the assumption that the allies would permit the Turks to remain as gate keepers of the historic 160 miles of water way through the Bosphorus and Dardanelles, and to fortify themselves at Gallipoli. Even Germany has not made such an exhibition of consummate nerve.—Newark News.

We want to see the farmer get every dollar he can for his products. It is more than past time when he should have it, but we are not willing to sit by and see the trusts set their profits so high that they will swindle him out of every dollar he makes. It is up to the Democratic party to put a ban on this highway robbery. Some one says that they can't do it. Then if they can't, we favor some one who can. They told the individual how much he could consume during the war and made it go, and we all said amen. Now do they tell us that our boys fought for liberty on foreign soil to come home to financial slavery? That is the exact size of it, and if they do not find a remedy the Republicans will get the chance.—Lamesa Reporter.

We might also add that the government did set the amount of profit one could make during the war, that included the steel, beer, sugar and all other trusts, and why can't it be done now? Yes, the Democratic party is now in the balances, and it remains to be seen what they do with the high cost of living to see what party occupies the White House the next term. While we do not believe that any preceptable difference will be seen, just the same the people will change parties just on these grounds alone.

Give Sheep More Important Place

By the use of the best methods of breeding, management, and planting the sheep industry where it will flourish best, it should become amore vital part of American national life than it is today.

The sheep is inherently an efficient creature which has won for itself a place in the history of civilization. When the Armenian refugees returned to their homes in the Near East those oppressed people were furnished with sheep to help reestablish the country and enable them to become self supporting. If sheep are so valuable in the Old World they should be a true inspiration to every American because of the extensive industrial development in this country.

Sheep, which serve mankind, embody democracy. And possibly in these gentle creatures there may be a fulfillment of the promise that the meek shall inherit the earth. In any case they should be given the opportunity to do so.

Who Does the Buying For Your Family

There is some one in your family who has the family responsibilities. Food to buy for the table; clothes for the children and grownups; new household utensils, linen, furniture, books and all the hundred little things for which the family income is spent. In most families one person does the bulk of the buying, and it is that person's job to see that the money is well spent; that you all get full value for every cent that goes out. The success of every family depends on wise buying just as the success of a business does. Wise buying means intelligent buying. It is necessary to have knowledge of goods. The best way to get this knowledge is by reading advertisements. It is the duty of all the others to help the one who does the buying by pointing out advertisements of new goods and giving all the information possible as to the tastes, styles and values. The advertisements tell you what is new and good. Not only the member who does the buying, but every member of the family should read the advertisements. Advertisements are published for your benefit. Make use of them by reading them.—Ex.

We are sorry to report that it will now be some time before the Brownfield water work system will be in operation, as it was found that the big concrete tank leaked very bad at the bottom when filled with water. Mr. Brownfield announced that he would have it worked over from top to ottom, and the water was let out of it Wednesday morning, which literally flooded the streets as if a big rain had just fallen.

Political Notes

Washington—It is understood here that Arthur Henderson, British Labor leader is coming to America to aid in the formation of a labor party in this country.

Galveston—The local internal revenue collector is making demands on fishing boats in the vicinity for taxes alleged to be due the government on boats used in their business. Almost a year ago the treasury department at Washington ruled that the fishing boats were not subject to taxation, and the fishermen are not quite clear as to their course. It is understood that a test case will be made of the matter.

Washington—The Association of Railway Executives has made recommendation to Congress for a return of the railroads to private ownership under a plan which would direct the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve rates which will enable the railroads to be self-sustaining. The rate regulating authority would be vested exclusively in a central commission and regional sub-commissions and would do away with conflicting state commissions.

New York—The largest campaign fund ever raised in the history of the nation is to be attempted by the Democrats in the coming presidential election, according to Wm. D. Jamieson, director of finance of the National Democratic Committee, who announces that five million dollars will be raised for that purpose. A large part of the money will be spent in educating women in the art of voting, Mr. Jamieson states. Among those mentioned by Mr. Jamieson as presidential timber are: President Wilson, Wm. G. McAdoo, Attorney General Mitchel W. Palmer, Governor Cox of Ohio, John W. Davis, Ambassador to Great Britain, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and

Made to meet your taste, Camels never tire it, no matter how liberally you smoke them! The expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos makes Camels delightful—so full-bodied, yet so fascinatingly smooth and mellow-mild. Every time you light one you get new and keener enjoyment!

Freedom from any unpleasant cigarette after taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor makes Camels as unusual as they are enjoyable.

In fact, Camels appeal to the most fastidious smoker in so many new ways you never will miss the absence of coupons, premiums or gifts. You'll prefer Camel Quality!

Fort Worth—The local division of the American Legion at a recent meeting adopted resolutions urging vigorous prosecution of all army officers alleged to have brutally treated American soldiers who served court martial sentences in American military prisons in France.

Desdemona—Drillers and tool dressers in this and other oil towns of Texas have threatened to strike if enforcement of the Sunday closing law is continued. The oil field workers put in twelve hours daily including Sunday and when they have an occasional Sunday off, are demanding that the stores be open in order that they may do their shopping.

Washington—The repeal of the daylight saving law, which was passed over the President's veto, is one of the few measures in history that has twice been vetoed by a president and still became a law.

BROWNFIELD, TEXAS

Obituary.

John Raymer was born May 26th, 38 years ago and died at Lubbock, Texas, July 30th, 1919. He was a native Texan and spent his life in this growing and romantic west. Being a sturdy son of the west, he chose as his occupation the ranch business in which he continued until his death. Few people fail to note the happy care free spirit of the men of the wide flung prairies and the vast grazing herds. To men of this calling attaches a spirit of large hearted freedom and big fellowship known only to the sons of the southwest. In the camps, in the saddle, on the roundups or shipping to the great markets these men are a distinct type of royal good fellows the like of which we cannot find elsewhere.

Our departed brother was happily married to Miss Annie Good, herself a western girl, November 20th, 1912. Joyously they spent these few flying years that all too soon have hurried by. To them was born a darling daughter, who with his wife survive the father and husband. The sacred kingdom of the home is broken by death and only the sustaining love and blessing of God can support and comfort all that mourn. This family of widow and orphan call most tenderly for our love and sympathy at this trying hour.

Our departed friend is survived also by a loving father and three brothers and sisters. They too, are bereaved by this separation from a dear loved one. To them also this is a trying ordeal. To each of them, all the sweet memories of all the departed years come to mind. Their deepest hearts are torn now and to them we would bring our warmest sympathy. May the blessed Father sustain them with his spirit and to cause them to look to Him who promises to bring all his children finally to an eternal reunion in the blessed home above there to be forever at home free from all sorrow and care.

About four years ago our friend attended a gracious meeting here and was happily converted. He told sister George Arnetv and his wife that he had found the Savior. This confession was made when Locket Adair asked all who had trusted Jesus for their salvation to go to the one who had led them to be saved, and give them their hand. How precious today is this one act to this bereaved and stricken family and how much good and glorious work we all may do with just a word for Jesus in the eternal interest of the souls of those who love and confide in us!

A good husband has gone home to await his family on the other side and we walk on by faith ever trusting our Father and looking and listening for his loving call to go home from life's cares and crosses. As we move on let us keep step with all of life's opportunities and do all the good we can. Here are the widow and orphan on every hand as well as the hosts of those we may help and comfort.

Today our hearts are touched with the plight of those that suffer, tomorrow we may be called to go down into the valley with them and meet as they meet today the largest and last enemy. Let us hold fast to our faith in every promise made to us in our good Bible and follow Him in every good word and work.

Dear bereaved ones may you look not to human help, but to the great

Devine Helper who will lead you in paths of peace and at last take you home to your loved and lost awhile. There you will know no more sickness, sorrow or parting, but will be forever at home with your friends, loved ones and with our dear Savior. May peace as tender as the falling dew and as healing as the softest sunshine and as lasting as eternity be yours until we meet at Jesus' feet. Yours in Christian love,
J. B. Cole in Lubbock Avalanche
