

FORMER COUNTY JUDGE ON DIVISION OF TEXAS

Brownfield, Oct. 20, 1919

Editor Herald:

For the past several years I have favored dividing the State of Texas into two separate States, and noticing an occasional item in your paper about it, gives me new heart in this serious but quiet matter which moves me to offer a few suggestions:

To follow the line that nature itself has run, north and south thru the center of the State, from approximately Wichita Falls to Laredo, would not only divide the State geographically, but as to topography, and practically as to climate, industries, agriculture, including livestock, and with all due respect as to class, character, color, manners and customs of its inhabitants.

The area of the State amply justifies the division. Each division in size, wealth and population would surpass some and equal many of the States now in the union. Our increasing industries, wealth and population especially in West Texas, entitles us to Statehood, not only for our own good, but entitles us to the representation, of the two additional Senators, who, if there at present might help to "Make the world safe." It is really unfair and unequal to this section of the Nation to limit us, like it is now. For instance, the great Packer question, involving the cattle industry, now before Congress, finds Texas the chief cattle State with two Senators from the pine woods, two Senators from West Texas, would not only protect our local interests; those of this section of the Nation, but could furnish first hand information, best for us all. No other area in the Nation, this size has as little representation as West Texas. Sure the Nation could offer no just cause against the Division.

The principal reasons for favoring it, of course are local; foremost of which is to lift the unusual and unjust burdens West Texas bears in the State maintenance. Except the Assylum at Abilene, the Normal at Canyon, and some kind of Mining department at El Paso, West Texas has no State institutions. Well do we remember our efforts to get an A. & M. College for West Texas, and having it snatched from us and the money given to the Austin University. Other than our present State Treasurer, West Texas has hardly ever had a State official in its long past history, and but few appointments of any importance. Our U. S. Senators have all been from East Texas; the Congress at large were from there. The redistricting of the State is unfair. A large majority of the Legislature, State Officials and appointees are from the east half, and the honest they be, naturally would be influenced by, and think with, their homelands, the result of which is not always pleasing to West Texas. We don't feel like we are given credit for our worth, or receive proper consideration, account of our minority. In fact the State is so large and varied in its industries, products and ideals of its people, it is difficult to pass a law, rule or regulation that will fit all of us. Even the leaders and headquarters of the religious, fraternal and social organizations are in East Texas. All conventions (except a few of the cattlemen's) are held over the line. Of course West Texans are partly responsible for this by indolently permitting political disensions, empty "reforms" and purposely made pretensions to gull them into acquiescence. In fact I sometimes fear, that permitting ourselves to be unwittingly handled and taken to such unanimous cleanings may be urged against capacity for self government. But if West Texas can endure what it has so amiably and then prosper, it is evidence there is more to us than ability and finances.

In last weeks paper you pointed out that Terry County paid over $9000.00 in State Taxes and received back little over $4000.00, this has been the fact for several years, and I might add that we also pay into the State school fund some $18,000.00 interest on school lands, and receive back less than $5,000.00, which may be covered by your last mentioned item. Both items are true to all West Texas. It is also true that several counties in East Texas receive more out of the State funds than they pay in Taxes.

The cost of maintaining a separate State would be no more on us than at present, the benefits many; have real self government, one closer to the people here. Further the trend seem to be now to take every function to faraway Austin and still further. West Texas has but few scattering negroes, that could soon be eliminated, and then we could be the only all white race in the Nation, avoid the race riots and other unseemly troubles with them, and present a State nearer like Texas was when the Alamo fell than its ever been since.

As to sentiment and illustrious history, West Texas could cherish the memory of the peerless heroes of the Texas Revolution just as well. We can celebrate San Jacinta Day with just as much consistency, as all Texas and the Western half of the Union can honor the heroes of Bunker Hill and Valley Forge or celebrate the Glorious fourth, for we, nor they, were no part of the United States at the time. In fact we believe we embody what is left of the real Texans. As to the size, but few people out of the State can realize our present size anyway, and after it is divided either half would surpass in magnitude, the credit now given to the whole.

It would be called "The State of West Texas," we would all take pride in both syllables.

TWENTY-ONE PRIZES AT DALLAS FAIR

Uncle Bill Howard Said All He Needed to Compete For Better Position Was Little Grain.

Uncle Billie Howard returned on Wednesday from the Texas State Fair at Dallas, and the first thing he requested of us was to urge the farmers of Terry county to get busy and plant some of the little grains for the display at the fair next year if for no other reason. He says that was all that kept Terry county out of the third or fourth place in the county prizes, and he has been our representative down there long enough now that he is on to all the ropes, and he means to put this one next year, and he calls on the good farmers of the county to assist him, beginning right now. He says that there is no reason on earth why old Terry can't get the top prize, which means $1000.00.

He gave the display to the Buckner Orphan's Home, and he said that they appreciated it very much. He says that if we wanted a display at Waco, we ought to have sent something fresh anyway, as this Dallas Fair exhibit was getting old and a little mused up.

Below we give a list of the prizes, and the names of those that we are certain that their products was the ones that got the prize at Dallas. It is understood that it was their stuff, also, that took the first prize at our county exhibition. These names are put in parenthesis as Uncle Bill is anxious that all know what their efforts to put Terry to the front amounts to:

First Prizes; ten articles, as follows: White Corn (Tom Bingham); Cotton, (I. M. Smith); Red Kaffir, (Arthur Sawyer); Baled Sudan, (Burnett Bros.); Kershaw Pumpkins, also (Burnett Bros.); Black Twig Apples, (M. B. Sawyer) Wine Sap Apples, (Jno. Gracey); Banna Jennett and Kennard Apples, both to (Wm. Howard). Uncle Bill said he had to compete with one of the largest apple growers in the State who had twenty-one varieties of apples, but Uncle Bill said he held him on an equal footing as long as our varieties held out.

Second Prizes or Red Ribbons: Five plates of apples got the red ribbons, mostly Uncle Bill's apples; Threshed Maize, (Tom Bingham);

The same party's Pumpkin and White Kaffir got second prizes; Squash, (Jack Stricklin)—that's us, the editor of this great weekly—By the way Uncle Bill says he will have to have more threshed stuff next year, as his fall down was due partly to this negligence.

Our one white ribbon was on the broom corn, and Uncle Bill could not remember whose it was, but may be have belonged to S. L. Greathouse, as he won 1st prize here, and N. W. Jones, second.

We have been claiming this as one of the best corn counties in the State for a long time, and again it has been proven beyond a doubt. It you don't think so, why don't you lead out some county at the Dallas Fair some time that can show anything to the contrary.

Again: We have never claimed to be anything but just a good cotton county. Texas is the biggest and the best cotton growing State in the Union, and that means the world, and Terry county got the first prize on COTTON at the State Fair, and that means that this is the best COTTON COUNTY in the WORLD.

The amount of money taken at the fair amounted to $250.00, but we was not there to get money—it was for a "rep"—and we got it.

OIL MAN AT BROWNFIELD

A. L. Gurley of Clovis, New Mexico, accompanied by a Mr. White of Chicago, were here the first of the week, and Mr. Gurley paid the Herald a short call while here. Mr. Gurley is interested with Messrs. Ainesworth and Lindsley in one of the proposed potash plants for Brownfield. He informed us that the report of the expert sent here by the Government to determine the extent of the potash beds in this country, was pleasing to he and his associates, and that they felt sure now that Congress would act favorably in the matter.

The gentleman accompanying him is a representative of a big oil development concern, and was here to see M. V. Brownfield about putting down a well in or near town. We understand that no agreement was reached in the matter.

THE IRON TEST

(Synopsis)

Bert Forde, adventurer, who is heir to the Bresford millions, is a performer in the Jenkins circus, in which his cousin, Lewis Craven, is manager. Both are in love with Edith Paige, a beautiful rider. Craven learns that old Beresford is dead and that ten millions await Bert. If Bert dies he (Craven) gets the fortune. Craven keeps the news from Bert, who becomes the victim of mysterious "accidents" bringing him almost daily near death. A stranger wearing a red mask figures in the accidents. One night a knife is thrust between a rope and a horizontal bar. When Bert and Edith are in mid air the rope parts and they are plunged into almost certain death.

Chapter 8—The "Man-Eater"

Bert's van, with the Beresford heir inside, loosed from its fastenings through the villainy of Craven and Peaky plunged down the embankment but almost by a miracle, Bert caught between his bunk and a wall escaped serious injuries, although unconscious when Edith and Jenkins, O'Doherty and others reached him. Early on the scene, also, offering their sympathy, were the conspirators.

The detective gave his attention to the upturned van and the flat car. He carefully examined the blocks and lashings. He smelled a peice of rope and called to Jenkins:

"Eaten away with acid. That was no accident."

Everybody agreed that it was more worke of the Red Mask, but Bert's condition demanded immediate consideration and it was Edith who, seeing a little bungalow in the distance, suggested that Bert be taken there until an afternoon local came along when he would overtake the show in time for the night performance. Jenkins agreed and Bert was placed on a temporary stretcher and taken to the bungalow, which was untenanted, and made comfortable on a bed. Edith insisted on remaining with him and O'Doherty said he too, would stay behind.

"It isn't safe to leave them here alone," said the detective. They are the objects of all the attacks."

Edith expressed relief that the detective was to stay and although Bert scoffed at the idea of any danger in the bungalow from the Red Mask or his accomplices, Jenkins decided that O'Doherty should stay and stand guard all night.

It was planned that were Bert able they would rejoin the circus in the next town in time for the afternoon performance, and with this understanding Jenkins left to oversee the getting away of the train.

Detective O'Doherty spoke more wisely than he knew, when he said he might be needed behind for as Bert was being taken from the van a train passed and slowed down and two villainous appearing men, hardly to be recognized as Gus and Jim, stepped out on the platform. They were quick to recognize Bert and Edith and at once began to plot revenge for the loss of their car and the escape of their would-be victims.

"They're taking him to old Bludsoe's shack," whispered Gus. "We'll get off at the next station and rustle up some horses and ride back here." Jim assented and when the train next stopped they removed their disguises and buying guns, dynamite, rope and other things they figured they might need, they hired a couple of fast horses and rode quickly from town back to where the van had been toppled from the train.

The two outlaws dismounted in a clump of bushes and formulated their plan of attack.

"All we have to get away with is that Sherlock Holmes," declared Jim "and the rest will be easy."

Within the bungalow Edith was preparing hot food for Bert, while O'Doherty, seated nearby, was amused at their open displays of affection. Suddenly he was drawn to his feet by cries of "murder! help!" from outside the bungalow. Bert excited, started to rise from his bed, but was restrained by the detective, who drawing his gun, hurried outside, to find two men in a fierce struggle. He seized Gus and hurried him aside only to be struck down by the fellow he befriended and, unconscious, was securely tied.

Gus and Jim, exiting at the success of their ruse, lighted cigarettes and planned how best to get Bert and Edith without in-uring them.

Jenkins, a dozen miles away, as if sensing trouble for Bert and Edith, ordered a cor and rode away, explaining to Craven:

"I'm sort of uneasy about Forde and Miss Paige. I am going back in the automobile and bring them back here. Look after things while I am gone." To which Craven assented.

Edith and Bert, alarmed at the absence of O'Doherty were about to investigate when the outlaws intered. The girl bravely sprang at Gus while Jim, with clubbed pistol, leaped on Bert. Edith fought bravely until she collapsed on the floor and Gus hurried to the bed in time to stop Jim from crushing in Bert's skull.

"Not that," he ordered. "I've got a way to get rid of him without leaving no trace."

While the two outlaws were binding Bert to a table, the detective struggling with his bonds, saw the burning grass and wriggling toward it, unmindful of the pain, thrust his wrist into the fire until the ropes caught fire and slowly freed him.

Confident that the detective was safely laid away, Jim got the dynamite and descending to the cellar, carefully arranged the explosives and adjusted the fuses. At the sight of the dynamite, Edith, frantic with terror, cried out:

"What are you going to do?" And Gus replied without pausing in his deadly work:

"We're are going to hold you for ransom."

Edith persisted she did not care as to her fate but of Bert's and the outlaw looked up and said with fiendish coolness:

"O, he's going on a long trip. We are going to blow him to—"

Jim finally emerged from the cellar, the smoke from the burning fuse following him, and calling to Gus that their work was done, the pair seized Edith and dragged her from the bungalow toward the brush where their horses were concealed. Edith realizing the dreadful fate which awaited Bert screamed in her agony and it was O'Doherty, whom the outlaws had left out of their reckoning, who answered with rifle aimed at their breasts. He had freed himself by letting the fire burn deeply into his wrists and secured rifles from the saddles of the outlaws' mounts. He was in no mood to be fooled with and the villainous pair knew it, raising their arms at his command. But Edith cared and thought only for Bert.

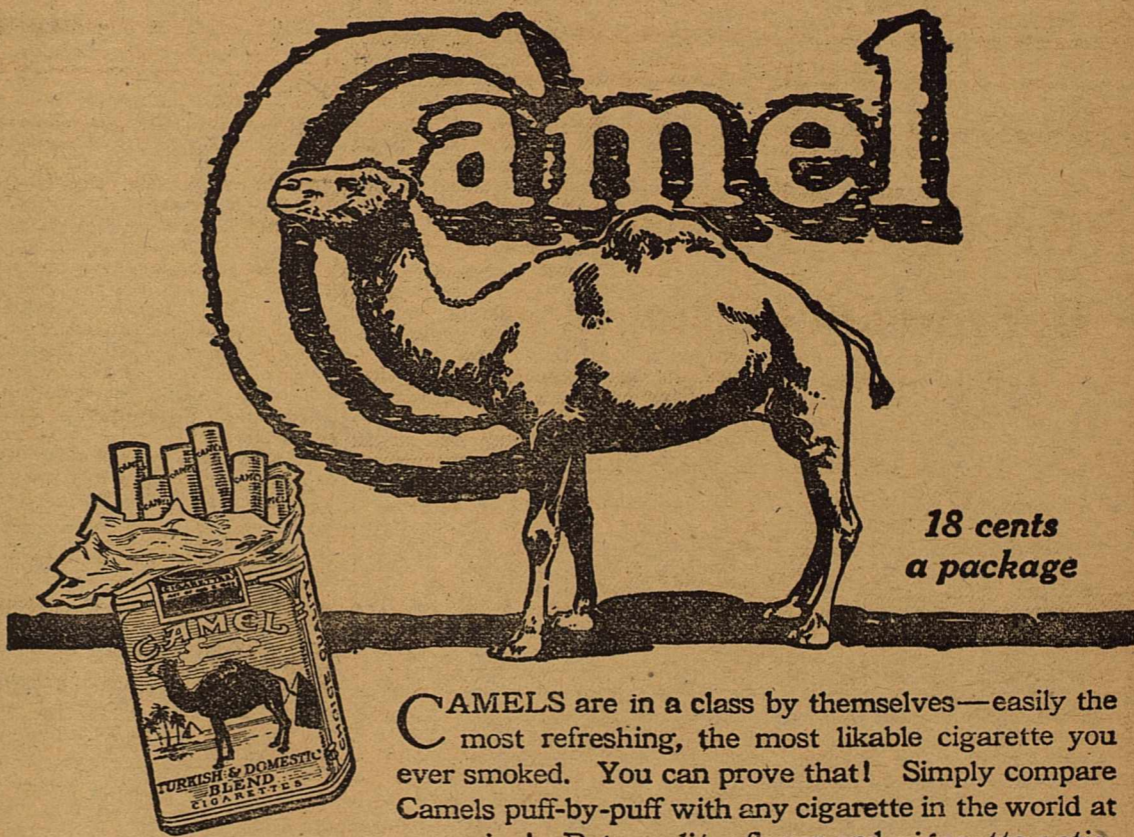

"Quick or he'll be killed," she cried dashing toward the bungalow. The detective realizing something serious was in the air, let the outlaws get away as he hurried into the smoke-filled shack. He asked no questions but helped Edith free Bert from the chair and drag him from the scene and as they threw themselves to the ground fifty feet away, the shack disappeared in a great upheaval of debris and flame. Seated at a safe distance in their saddles, Gus and Jim watched.

"Well, maybe we got him," said Gus, with evil satisfaction, while his companion relied as they rode away: "Maybe, but it ain't likely."

The outlaws had not been gone ten minutes when Jenkins arrived in their car. There were explanations and congratulations and the party returned to the circus more determined than ever to rathorn the persistent attempts on the lives of Bert and Edith.

The performance that night was nearly finished when Craven called Peaky and told him to inform Bert that the tent where his horse was usually quartered was being cleaned and to put the animal up in the tent just beyond the animal cages. Peaky scented new villainy in the order but Bert took it as a matter of fact.

Bert closed the performance with a daring exhibition of riding and as he raced about the ring the Red Mask might have been seen stealthily climbing to the top of the cage containing the man eating lion and fastening a loose rope to the catch releasing the door at the end of the cage. The cage stood directly in the path Bert must take to put his horse in the new tent assigned to him. This rope Red Mask passed over the top of a tent pole and thence through a cleverly arranged pully so it might be operated behind a canvas wing twenty yards distance. And from behind this wing Red Mask watched for the moment Bert should leave the ring and start towards the tent.

Bert finished his act and as he left the ring, Jenkins met him with an urgent request to attend an important matter elsewhere and when Edith offered to lead the animal to its tent, her offer was accepted as a matter of course.

In his cage, the lion paced back and forth roaring out his rage at every human being. From his hiding place, Red Mask had seen Bert quit the ring and as Edith, leading Bert's horse, neared the cage, he pulled the rope and the lion, eye on girl and horse, saw the barrier between them and his insatiate craving, for human blood suddenly removed. Baring his great teeth and with a roar that rang through the tents, he sprang into the doorway and then directly at the helpless girl.

Bert's horse with a leap of terror tore away and ran out into the ring where Bert and other attendants were standing. Its appearance bespoke peril of some nature. And as they paused there came again the man eating lion's roar and a girl's scream.

Snatching up clubs, pitchforks and any weapons all rushed to the lion's cage. There stood the great beast, triumphant and roaring, his great head rearing high and his forepaws pinning the senseless Edith to the earth.

A NEW SERVICE FOR HOME BUILDERS

The ever onward march of progress records another victory. The old fashioned lumber yard is fast becoming a memory, with its bleak unpainted and dirty office and in its stead is the Modern Building Store where in place of boards and timbers to greet the customers we see extensive displays of actual photographs of homes and buildings, a large assortment of plans and helps to assist the builder in obtaining the complete building he desires. The material merchants have come to realize that the home builders are not interested in "How many feet of 2 x 4's it takes to frame a house or what that material is worth per thousand feet", but the information they seek is What will my new home look like? How will it be arranged? What will it cost completed?

In answer to this demand of the reading public an extensive building service has been established, known to the country over as the most practical, helpful and economical ever offered to home builders. This organization by name, "Ye Planry" Service furnishes its builder's advise and plans only through the local lumber dealers in each territory. They furnish their dealers, the local lumberman, with a display of modern home plans, suggestions, information etc. pertaining to every department of the building. The owner can go to this local dealer and buy a home or garage from actual photographs just like he would buy any other commodity. The designs they show are the same homes as featured in the Ladies' Home Journal, Holland's Magazine and others National Publications as well as larger city Home Building Campaigns. The citizens of Brownfield should welcome this valuable service as it will bring the latest and best in beautiful homes to our midst and will be instrumental in elevating our civic attractiveness by encouraging the building of more and better homes. The local dealer who has secured this service is the A. G. McAdams Lumber Co., where this display of Homes may be seen by all. You are invited to inspect it and the manager Mr. Prideaux states that every possible assistance will be rendered the builder, even to furnishing complete blue print plans and specifications. Exit Ye Olden Lumber Yard - Enter the Modern Building Store.

Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits $340,000.00

The printing fraternity has always been the last people on earth to advance their prices along with other business concerns, and many printing concerns are yet trying to do business on a pre-war basis. Just why printers are so indifferent regarding cost of production has never been explained. Even the meek and lowly "shine boys" are possessed of more business sagacity than the average printing concern. The time was when we could get a shine for a nickel, but now it cost three nickles to get your shoes polished. Another thing the average person will pay the advanced price on anything without making a scream; but when he is charged fifty cents more on a thousand letter heads than he was paying before the war then a yell goes up that fairly shakes the vernal hills.—Taylor County Times.

You spoke the living truth that time, brother; we, also, have been wondering. But most reasonable people will pay the advance without a word, but may secretly wince under their hats. But speaking of pre-war prices on stationery, we recently bid on a booklet for the Brownfield Baptist Association at a reasonable figure we thought, and according to some of the best cost books published, at a figure that would return living wages, but some fellow "down eas," took the job for the old "one dollar per page" rate of the early 90's. Well, let him have it, if he just wants "the work," we have something else to do, and at the same time we congratulate the Association on landing a sucker, providing the sucker does them decent work.

MORAL—DON'T BORROW YOUR NEIGHBOR'S PAPER.

Just a few days ago one of our most valued subscribers came into the office and said please stop his paper until he could get rid of his neighbors, as he had not seen a copy for two weeks and was informed by his wife that the neighbors kept it borrowed all the time. Now you know it is a bad practice to borrow your neighbor's paper, and sometime it is more expensive than subscribing for it. We heard of a man once who was too stingy to subscribe for his home paper and sent his little boy to borrow a copy taken by one of the neighbors. In haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance, and failing to notice the barb wire fence, ran into that, cutting a hole in his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of trousers. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn field and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing a racket, the wife ran out, upset a four gallon churn full of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire hatch. In her haste she dropped a $35 set of false teeth. The baby, having been left alone, crawled through the milk into the parlor, ruining a brand new $50 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails of four fine shirts on the clothes line.

Bankers Declare These Very Best Securities That Money Can Buy

Hundreds of banks over the Eleventh Federal District have already invested in the new $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates and more orders for them are being received every day by the Federal Reserve Bank at Dallas. Bankers are practically unanimous in declaring these new $100 and $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates the best securities the Government has ever offered.

Individuals, corporations, cities, counties and school districts are also buying these Registered Certificates in large numbers. The State of Texas was one of the first purchasers, State Treasurer John W. Baker getting $500 worth for each of two State funds. The law does not permit more than $1,000 (worth, maturity value), to be held in any one name, but each member of a family or firm, each director in a bank or corporation may hold that amount.

The $100 Certificates may be purchased at all first and second class postoffices and from all banks and trust companies, while the $1,000 Certificates are obtainable from banks and trust companies only. Each Certificate is registered in the buyer's name when issued and the buyer's name is also inscribed on the face of the Certificate.

Bearing interest at 4 per cent, compounded every 90 days, and maturing January 1, 1924, these Registered Treasury Savings Certificates form an ideal investment. They are exempt from taxation, insured by the Government against loss and may be cashed on ten days' notice. War Savings Stamps of the 1919 issue may be converted into these Certificates if desired.

The cost price for the $100 Registered Certificates is as follows: August $83.80; September $84.00; October $84.20; November $84.40; December $84.60.

The cost of the $1,000 Registered Certificate is only $838 for August; September $840; October $842; November $844; December $846.

The Government will pay the full face value of these Registered Treasury Savings Certificates on January 1, 1924, or the amount invested with accrued interest if the holders want to cash them before that date.

Be wise, invest in the new Registered Treasury Savings Certificates.

—W. S. S.—

Take Active Part In Fight Against High Living Cost.

Fight the high cost of living by avoiding waste, buying carefully, saving what you can and investing this saving in Registered Treasury Savings Certificates or War Savings Stamps. Work and save! This is doubly wise at this time as not only is the money being saved and put to work making interest, but dollars with low purchasing power now are being invested with a certainty that they will buy more later on.

The dollar today will buy less in groceries, clothing and other necessities than at any time since the Civil War. There is every indication, however, that prices will be more normal in a few years. The dollars invested in these new Registered Treasury Savings Certificates which have just been issued by the U. S. Government, or War Savings Stamps will not only buy more five years from now, but will bring the interest earned with them when returned to their owners.

Save all you can and put the dollars you save to work for you. You will find you are making good progress this way in giving old "H. C. L." his death blow.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly . . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

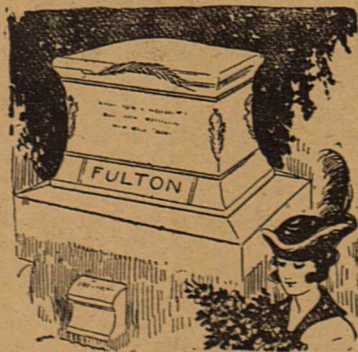

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three . . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children . . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

G. O. P. "WHITE MAN'S" PARTY IN THIS STATE

Negroes are no longer a part of the Republican party in Texas, according to action taken by the State Council.

"Texas is a white man's country and the Government must rest exclusively in the hands of the white man," stated C. C. Littleton, state chairman, in making the announcement.

"At times the Republican party has been the victim of attacks because negroes were allowed to attend the convention. Hereafter the Republican party in this State is a white man's party, exclusively."

There were many favorable comments heard after the action of the council had been published in Texas dailies.—Texas Republican Councilor.

RECOMMENDED SIXTY PARDONS BE GRANTED

Austin, Texas, Oct. 7.—The board of pardons advisors have within the last two weeks presented to Governor W. P. Hobby approximately 60 recommendations for pardons of Texas prisoners, according to the information obtained today.

A majority of the recommendations are for the frendless convicts whose cases were investigated by the board upon its own initiative, as the convicts had no one to present their requests and evidence. These recommendations are awaiting action by the Governor, who is out of Austin at present.

The Brownfield Land Company reported to us the following deals last week made through them. R. R. Alexander, of Nocona, Texas, bought the C. O. Bergman place at a consideration of $20.00 per acre. Mr. Alexander bought this for an investment. The same gentleman and Mr. M. F. Ball, of the same city, bought the Chisholm section 9 miles north of town for $11,200.00. P. W. Watts, also of Nocona, bought the Baldwin half section of land just one mile west from town for $9,600.00 cash. He will move here just as soon as he can go home and get ready, and he informed us that he was one of those families that Teddy liked so well, just ten in family. The other two men mentioned above are business men of Nocona, and will not move out. Mr. Ball has owned a couple sections here for some time, and believes that investments in old Terry is bound to pay. A Mr. Jester bought the C. C. Williams place for $4,800.00. He will move in with his ten children. Yes, they are coming to Terry.

West Texas Educating Negroes

While we are discussing the school tax as it applies locally, has it ever occurred to us how patiently we pay to educate the Texas negroes and Mexicans? We pay the State 35c on the $100.00 valuation or school tax.

Last year we paid in Dawson county $11,725.00 and we received back $8,242.00; Cheerookee county paid $45,000.00 and received $80,000.00; Dallham county paid 31,000.00 and received $7,000.00; Falls county paid $6,000.00 and received $80,000.00; Lynn paid $14,000.00 and received $7,800.00. Potter 50,000 and received $22,000 and dear old Panola paid $22,000 and received $53,000, but we give up this money each year without a murmur. Dawson could take care of her school buildings and schools if allowed all her money, but we will continue to spend our money educating coons and foreigners and rejoice in the election of this bunch at Austin who make no effort to relieve us of this injustice.—Dawson County News.

West Texas should pick out a good strong man for Governor living west of the 90th meridian and let the rest of the state quarrel over Bailey and Ferguson and Hobby, if they want to and let ever living son and daughter west of that line stay with their men to a finish. But they won't do it, they had a heap rather play into the hands of east Texas politicians that their daddy used to know when said candidate sat on the "judges bench" in some dear "old back east county."

One of the best real estate displays in the town belongs to the new firm of Neill and Hatton, and it is on the outside of the building and kept away from the stock by screen wire. Most of this stuff was grow in the Groves neighborhood, which received less rain than any other portion of the county, with the possible exception of the western part. And if you don't believe they got there too, this year, just go by and take a peek. There is a sign on some long ears of corn which reads: "Tom Woodward will grow 10,000 bushels of corn like this sample on his 400 acre farm this year, and you can buy his land for $17.50 per acre. Can you duplicate this in any other country under God's green earth? Well, we pause to hear of the country, brother.

Limit Baby Loans Money to Uncle Sam

Emil Vaughan Szaflir

While this tiny lad is ringing the bell he holds in his hand, Uncle Sam is working for him. The lad, only 18 months of age, is Emil Vaughan Szaflir of Beaumont. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Szaflir and the grandson of Mrs. Eva Vaughan.

Shortly after Emil was born, $1,000 worth of 1918 War Savings Stamps were bought for him and his parents and grandmother have now added $1,000 worth of the 1919 issue of War Savings Stamps to them, so the belling baby belongs to the Treasury Department's W. S. S. $1,000 Savings Club for both years.

War Savings Stamps and the new $100 and $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates are ideal gifts for every one and especially for children of tender years. The baby does not understand that he is being given a present, no matter what it is—his little mind cannot grasp it. But when he becomes older and is told that Father and Mother, Grandmother or Uncle John gave him a Registered Treasury Savings Certificate or $1,000 worth of War Savings Stamps or smaller amounts in the same securities, he will appreciate the gift far more than if it had been some toy which he had already destroyed.

The new $100 and $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates may be purchased for the baby and registered in his name and will thus be a reminder to him in years to come that, although young, he helped finance the Government when it was in need of help. Stake your children for the future! An investment in Registered Treasury Savings Certificates or War Savings Stamps means a college education or a start in business.

Buy Registered Treasury Savings Certificates or War Savings Stamps.

DONT FAIL to see Jackson Bros. before buying your Coal.

Sipe Springs Oil Money Is Going into Safe Investments.

Bringing in of new oil wells at Sipe Springs, Texas, naturally brought large amounts of money to many of its inhabitants and a goodly portion of this has already been invested in Registered Treasury Savings Certificates, which have just been put on sale by the U. S. Treasury Department. The State Bank of Sipe Springs and three individuals each bought a $1,000 certificate on the same day. On the first of August, enough $100 and $1,000 Registered Treasury Certificates were held in Sipe Springs to represent $6 invested by every man, woman and child in the town and the surrounding township. This money is now safe, is earning interest for its owners and can be turned into cash, with the interest, if desired. The new Registered Treasury Savings Certificates can be gotten from banks and first and second class postoffices, so can Government War Savings stamps.

L. P. Adair Suicide in Ft. Worth Reported a "Fake"

Word has been received by the mother and sister of L. P. Adair, Mesdames Lizzie L. Adair, and H. C. Crie, of Tahoka, from relatives in Ft. HARRIS HAPPENINGS

By Sand Bur.

We failed to send in our letter last week because we had no opportunity to mail it in time for publication.—(It did not get here this week till Thursday noon, but we are managing to get it in anyway—Ed.)

Roy Harris and family spent this past week with his parents, but returned home Sunday.

F. M. Ellington and family arrived home the 9th. We are glad to hear that his attack of pneumonia was in a light form.

Glenn Harris and wife are spending a short time with home folks, while he assists his father to gather in the crop.

Mr. Harris raised more feed than he can harvest alone. And this seems to be true with everyone else this year.

Brit Clare brought his family up Friday afternoon and they stayed until Sunday afternoon with him.

Seems like most of our young folks are getting married. We didn't learn the date, but some time since our last writing, Abbie Taylor came in with his bride. We have never met Mrs. Taylor, but understand she is from Tom Green county. Abbie is one of our leading young men, of good habits and fine principles. We predict for them a happy life. Abbie is just finishing a neat little five room home.

Get a Hand Grenade; It's Rarest Souvenir of Great World War

Hammering the Hun line until it bent and broke, bearing the Kaiser and his clans down to inglorious defeat, the American soldiers used one weapon in greater numbers than any other. It was a weapon they had never used before, one that had been obsolete for centuries—the hand-grenade—but when the brawny lads from the U. S. A. sent the old "eggs," as they were called, spinning into dugout and pill-box, the only Boches remaining on the and were those ready to be buried. Grenades were known to have been used five centuries ago. In 1427, at the siege of the Fortress of Casmagore on the River Po in Italy, the defenders used a primitive grenade, made of a glass bottle filled with powder. For a time, grenades were made out of heavy paper, then out of brass and then out of metal. With the close of the eighteenth century, the grenade began to be discarded and little use had been made of it until the Russo-Japanese war in 1904. It remained for the Great World War to see the grenade developed into its present efficiency. The grenades used by the American doughboys were as carefully manufactured as their rifles. But the end of hostilities found a limited supply on hand and these were turned over to the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, the explosives extracted and they have been made over into savings banks.

Thus a weapon of war has been transformed into a "weapon of peace," instead of being used to battle the Hun, it is now being used in the fight against the High Cost of Living and the arch-enemy, Thriftlessness. Any boy or girl can secure a grenade by purchasing a $5 War Savings Stamp; any adult by investing in three or more War Savings Stamps, but these must have been bought after July 15, 1919. These hand grenades will be distributed through local banks and by a few merchants.

If you want a grenade, get busy. Make arrangements with your banker immediately. Only a limited number of these rare and unique souvenirs of the World War could be secured and when they are gone there will be no chance of obtaining one. You don't have to wait until the grenade is received to begin saving. Do that now. Then when the grenade arrives you will have that much of it start toward owning it. Ask your banker about it today.

Buy War Savings Stamps regularly. After you get your grenade, keep on buying. Don't let your "weapon of peace" remain idle.

Three Classes of Soap.

While there are many kinds of soaps, it is said that those commonly used may be divided into three classes. The first class comprises fine white soaps and scented soaps, the second class, the coarse household soaps, and the third class the soft soaps.

Citation By Publication

STATE OF TEXAS; County of Terry.—To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County:

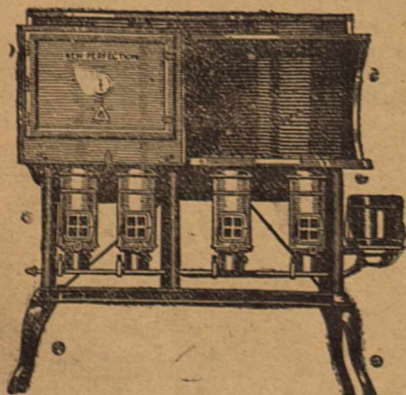

You are commanded to summon Hattie Winn, by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return date hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 72nd Judicial District, but if there be no newspaper published in said district then in a newspaper published in the nearest district to the said 72nd Judicial District, to appear at the next term of district court of Terry County, Texas, to be holden in the courthouse thereof in the town of Brownfield, Terry County, Texas, on the twenty-seventh day of October, A. D. 1919, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 29th day of September, A. D. 1919, in a suit No. 634 on the docket of said court, wherein R. L. Winn is plaintiff and Hattie Winn is defendant, said petition alleging that plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married on July 20th, 1918 in Beckham county, Okla. That shortly thereafterwards this plaintiff entered the army. That while he was absent the defendant unlawfully and adulterously cohabited with various men whose names are to him unknown, but that on one occasion in particular she went to Amarillo with a man and adulterously cohabited with him while there. That the plaintiff does not know the whereabouts of the defendant. Wherefore he prays judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony between him and defendant.

Herein fail not, but have you then and there your writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness my hand and seal of said court this the 29th day of September, A. D. 1919.

(Seal) J. C. GREEN
Clerk, District Court, Terry Co., Texas.
