BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY DECEMBER 5, 1919

NO. 21

WE CAN GET ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Do the citizens of this town want electric light and power? Well we can get them, and the process is simple.

We first must incorporate the town; then grant a franchise to some one, and that someone is already on the ground and rearing to go. He is no other than L. H. Plain, and he will give us a good system.

A citizen remarked this week that he was rearing to vote for incorporation for he says there will be no added expense, for a good marshall can make his own way by arresting crap shooters at night. We cannot vouch for this statement, as we are rarely at town after night.

But the point is, do the citizens want to begin now to make a good little city of Brownfield, or do they want it to remain in the village class? It is up to them.

If you say let's shove along, then start your petition for incorporation and let's get it done before the census next year, so that Brownfield will show as a city on the directory, and not just as part of Terry county.

Are you all ready? Then go.

Sheriff Jim Lewis and Chester Gore had business in Lubbock yesterday.

On account of a slight error, we are running the statement of the First National Bank again this week.

OPEN LETTER

To the people of Terry county: We are legitimately engaged in the business of selling real estate. We have spent several hundred dollars lately in advertising Terry county to the Public, and our efforts are partly responsible for the present immigration and increasing value of land. We have our respective offices and equipment, and are at much expense making many trips without pay. Our list of lands is our stock in trade. The habit and custom of so many people, in asking for a division of commission, has grown so great, that but few sales are made without having to "split" the commission, sometimes so many ways, that the Agent gets nothing but the "business." This tends to create a scramble, and places the profession below the standard we desire to hold it up to. We admit agents are partly responsible for this. It is really a handicap to the service and efforts of the Real Estate man to the country. We assure you that we each, respectively, appreciate any assistance you may render in selling land, and thus helping settle up our country, but we most respectfully ask the same treatment accorded the Lawyer, Doctor, Merchant and every other business profession.

Respectfully submitted,
Neill Realty Co.
J. B. King Land Co.

Homer Winston returned last week from Crosbyton, as they could not start the school he was to teach until after Christmas. He resigned, and is now engaged with his father in the real estate business.

WOOLWORTH 5c AND 10c STORE AT LUBBOCK

Voicing an opinion in accord with the predictions of large business firms who have staked their all on the future of Lubbock, L. C. Snyder, Superintendent of Woolworth stores in Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, after closing a contract for a location in our city, by stating that geographically, Lubbock is the "tap root of the South Plains, the most wonderful section in the Southwest."

Not only does he say and think this, but is backing his judgment very strongly when it is known that this large firm—operating more than one thousand stores in the principal cities of the United States, ranging in population of ten thousand on up with only two or three exceptions—by leasing at a rental considered enormous and securing an option on a building here for five and ten years. This progressive and growing firm will establish this business here as soon as the building in question has been made complete for occupancy.

The lease was made on a building 25 by 125 feet, one story modern brick with a basement extending the entire length of the lot, to be erected by Roscoe Wilson, on his lot on West Broadway—recently made vacant by Shropshire's racket store and now occupied by Stockman Henry's racket store.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Brit Clare and family, of the Harris community, were here Monday, shopping.

PLOYGAMY IS DEAD DECLARES MORMON LEADER

Chicago.—"Polygamy is a dead issue in the Mormon Church. It has been under a drastic ban for twenty five years. Any member of the church found practicing plural marriage is at once excommunicated. What Mormons of today really believe in is celestial marriage.

The foregoing was the official pronouncement of Saturday of Herbert T. Grant, president of the Mormon Church and successor to Joseph Smith the "profit." Arriving early in the day from the East where he has been on church business, the Mormon leader caught a 10:30 train for San Francisco, whence he will sail at once for Honolulu to dedicate the new Mormon tabernacle there.

"Mormonism," continued President Grant, "embraces within itself all that the world needs today. The church is growing with leaps and bounds. Why, right here in Chicago we have more than 400 members, with two churches and a third soon to be erected. Our total membership is about 45,000.

"The Mormon Church is intensely alive to the times. Recently we have taken up the Boy Scout movement, and we are planning to make it an integral part of our organization—our church "machine" if you will."

When pressed for an explanation of the Mormon dogma of "celestial marriage," the leader replied:

"It simply means marriage for time and eternity, instead of until death do part us, as the ritna's of other churches reads. Those words to me always sound like clods falling on a coffin. We believe marriage interrupted on earth by death are simply resumed and continued in heaven."

Mr. and Mrs. Belton Howell, of Tahoka, were here Sunday visiting Mrs. Howell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walters.

WILL THEY DO IT?

At a recent conference held at Chicago, Union leaders declared that Labor will have a candidate for President at the next election. Despite the fact that President Wilson has "toadied" to Labor as no President ever did before, and despite the fact that it was a Democratic Congress that enacted the Adamson law, the leaders of Labor have turned against the Democratic party and announced that they will down it first and then will swipe the Republicans out of existence.

It is quite evident that, at the moment, labor leaders are drunk with success. Conditions may change materially before another presidential election but whether they do or not, no labor president will be elected. The people who, right now, are suffering for coal, can be depended on to see that no labor candidate gets their votes or the votes of anyone whom they can influence. The steel workers are striking for a closed "closed shop" where no man can work unless he belongs to the union, have antagonized many a workman who considers that he is as justly entitled to employment as they are. The farmers who have been exploited by harvest hands who were indolent, imprudent and dishonest have heard enough of the rights of the laboring man.

However, it is to the farmers that the labor leaders are looking for assistance—more particularly to the members of the Non-Partisan League. Just how the widely divergent interests of the farmer and organized labor are to be melded so that both may stand on one platform, is not apparent. Organized Labor has been saying to the farmer, "We'll strike while you work," well knowing that the lessened production occasioned thereby will cause high prices. But Labor consumes the products the farmer continues at work so that food will be plentiful and cheap. Organized labor works but eight hours a day and wants to work less, frequently will not work at all and views a contract as a mere "scrap of paper." The farmer puts in from 12 to 15 hours a day and is often compelled to work his entire family because he cannot afford to pay the wages demanded by laborers. The farmer wants labor to "speed up" production so that the commodities he must buy will be plentiful and cheap.

It is said that "politics makes strange bed fellows" but if two such diametrically opposite interests should actually try to bunk together, we prophesy that there will be a great rending of the bed linen!—Panhandle Plainsman.

UNCLE SAM MERCHANDISING

Granger News:—For a long time Uncle Sam has posted on the walls of the postoffices of the United States the prices at which he could do job printing, telling just how much a given number of envelopes would be printed for. He operates this government printing on money collected from the job printers of the country along with others, then does the printing for the job printers' patrons at a price that yields no profit. The printers have complained and log and loud but all to no purpose. Now Uncle Sam is posting prices of dry goods, groceries, etc., and we believe the printers are going to get some help in trying to persuade Uncle Sam not to set up a competition with the business concerns of the country from which much of the revenue that goes to pay running expenses of the government comes. Dry goods men and grocers now know how the printer has felt about it.

One report from the Colorado coal mining district in that sixty per cent of the striking miners have returned to work and it is expected that fully eighty per cent of the strikers will be back at work in a few days. The report says that the great body of miners didn't want to strike but the leaders forced them to, in fear, of violence to themselves they walked out. As soon as they saw that the soldiers were sent to the coal mining districts to keep down violence sixty per cent of the strikers returned to work, knowing that they had the protection of the civil authorities. The report further says that many of the soldiers went right into the mines and went to work, glad of the opportunity to draw the miners wages. And the outlook for a coal supply is much better than it was a few days ago.—Canadian Record

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

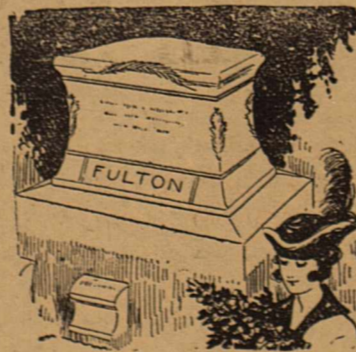

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs. in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be ascribed as torture.

I sent and bought Theford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theford's Black-Draught."

Theford's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it! NC-131

NO GREAT CALAMITY WILL RESULT FROM STAR GROUPING

One of the News' readers took the pains to write to O. H. Truman, of the Lowell Observatory, at Flagstaff, Arizona, as to the matter. Prof. Truman is one of the world's most eminent astronomers and presides over one of the greatest observatories in the world. His opinions are more weighty on astronomical matters than any or all of the so-called weather prophets. Prof. Truman's letter is dated Nov. 7 and is as follows: "I had not heard of the article by Froster to which you refer, but have just answered some similar inquiries to yours in regard to another article by a man named Porter, along the same lines as Foster's.

"It is a fact that on Dec. 17, and for some days before and after that date, six of the planets, Neptune, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Mercury and Venus, will be roughly in the same direction from the sun, Uranus in the opposite direction and the earth somewhere near at right angles. This is doubtless a very unusual grouping, though nothing but a calculation which it would take too long to make would tell how often it occurs. I should think, nevertheless, that this grouping of others equally remarkable must have happened several times in the course of recorded history.

"However, no bad results are to be feared from it. There is no evidence of any influence of the planets either upon the sun or the earth; no evidence that they produce sun spots, for example; and it is highly improbable that they do. And sun spots have no influence on the weather of the earth, of which anyone knows. Great spots have often happened, without any bad effects.

"Sun spots occur most frequently at times averaging about 11 years apart, at these times there is a general increased activity in the sun, of which the spots are only a symptom; there is slightly greater emission of heat; Northern Lights on the earth are frequent; "magnetic storms," by which is meant not thunder storms, but unusual variations in the magnetism of the earth, are common; and occasionally the electric currents set up in the earth are such as to put the wire telegraph out of commission for hours at a time. I remember one case, for example, where the east and west wires in eastern Canada could not be worked at all for several hours, while the north and south lines were not affected. Then as the solar maximum passes, all these activities slowly die down; and in due time build themselves up again for the next maximum. But nothing dangerous or destructive happens.

"I think it is too bad that such stories as that you read gain wide circulation. People believe them—they have no reason to do anything else; and if no other harm results, when these terrifying predictions fail to materialize, science as a whole is discredited. A FALSE ALARM

The colored troops had a rough trip home, and most of them suffered from seasickness. One who did not and who longed for land three times a day rushed in from the deck one afternoon and called out:

"Hey, you Mose! Come out here! We're passing a ship."

To which Mose was not feeling just right, replied:

"Ship? Hush! Don't call me till we're passing a tree."—Ex.

STRIKE AT THURBER MAKING WORK CONDITIONS BAD

According to R. T. Hale, of Thurber, Texas, who has been employed on the T. & P. mines at that place, the sympathizers and strikers are making working conditions bad. Only recently a strike was called in that city by the teamsters of which Mr. Hale was a member. Mr. Hale got a job driving a car a few days or until the grievance was settled. After going back to work a short time, preparations were being made for all to walk out on the strike order of the big mining federations called for last Friday night. Mr. Hale became tired of these orders and conditions which made working bad, and with his wife came through here last Saturday enroute to Lorenzo, to help gather the enormous cotton crop of that section, predicting "a strike to be called by the pickers as soon as he secured a good paying job."—Lubbock Avalanche.

DIED

W. M. Head, one of the first settlers of this country, and one of its most highly respected citizens, departed this life Sunday night, after nearly a week of agony caused by concussion of the brain, and a badly wrenched back, which happened when he was thrown from his farm wagon last Tuesday afternoon, when his team took fright and ran away. All possible medical aid was given him to no avail. His body was laid to rest in the Brownfield Cemetery Monday afternoon.

We understand that Mr. Head did not belong to any church, but leaned toward the Primitive Baptist but was a good moral citizen in every sense.

He leaves a wife and four children, three boys and a girl, who have the sympathy of the entire community.

HERE'S where the particular smoker meets the particular smoke—Chesterfield.

Particular is right! Not only do we use the four choicest varieties of Turkish tobacco—Xanthi, Cavalla, Smyrna and Samsoun—but to these we add the rich, sun-ripened leaves of specially choice Domestic tobacco.

Fine as these tobaccos are, it's the exclusive process by which they are blended that gives to Chesterfields that satisfying body, that mellow richness which makes a smoke mean something.

Chesterfields certainly do satisfy as no other cigarette has satisfied you before—and to top it off, they are packed in a glassine paper package that preserves for you all of that delicious flavor.

States Rights in the Legion

Because the American Legion has grown more rapidly than its machinery has grown, it has become necessary for some of the State organizations to take definite actions on vital questions without waiting for the national convention or consulting the temporary executive committee. This was notably true in the Southern States, where the negro question injected itself into Legion organization almost from the first.

As a result at least two States have arbitrarily decided not to admit the black ex-soldier to Legion membership. They had no right to do this under the Legion charter, but they had a very good cause for it nevertheless, and anyone who knows the South knows that the South is going to handle the race question for itself in its own way.

If the Legion, at Minneapolis or anywhere else, should presume to dictate to its southern membership how its southern problems are to be handled, it will accomplish nothing except possibly alienate the South from its present enthusiastic support of the Legion. Any step toward intolerance by those in one section who have not faced the problem of another section, can lend no aid to the present effort of moulding a great national body. And the recent experiences of Chicago, Washington and other cities indicates that meddling with racial problems at this time by any but the most fearless, honest and experienced hands would be not only imprudent but unpatriotic to a degree.

Such enemies of the Nation as have been caught red-handed delivering propaganda to the colored population of the South must find no comfort through any dissensions in a body so utterly American as the Legion. The Southern States will ask nothing of the national convention but the right they have exercised for many years, of dealing with their own problems.

They should be conceded that right without question.—Stars and Stripes.

Our new Methodist minister, Rev. J. W. Baughman, called on us last week, subscribed for the Herald and ordered stationery. We found him a pleasant gentleman, and we are sure he and his people, as well as the other people of the town, are going to be fast friends and do much good.

A. M. McBurnett went to Lubbock this week and purchased a good corn sheller, and will have it in operation in a few days. This is a move in the right direction, for corn in the ear has only one market; east Texas, whereas, in the shelled state it has a world wide market, and it cost something to ship cobs and shucks besides taking valuable ear room.

FOR SALE: Second hand Jitney in good shape. See O. T. Halley.

RIX FURNITURE & UNDERTAKING COMPANY

While the above name is new to some of the people living in this section, this firm is composed of a family that has been living in this part of the country for over thirty years. This business was started fifteen years ago in Big Spring, the first building occupied being a small wooden shack 20X40. Today it consists of two modern stores located in Big Spring and Lubbock. The Big Spring store covers 13,500 square feet while the Lubbock store occupies the new Jones building of over 6,500 square feet. Their warehouse facilities gives them an additional 15,000 or a total of over 35,000 square feet of floor space.

While the business is incorporated, it is still a family affair—consisting of three brothers, H. L., W. W. and J. A. Rix, the father B. C. and sister Ruth Rix. H. L., the oldest of the brothers started the business. All he had at the beginning was nearly ten years experience as clerk in a mercantile and plenty of nerve. His total assets were $1000 in borrowed money. Today the capital and surplus of the company amount to $60,000. As the business grew other members of the family were taken in. H. L. Rix manages the Big Spring store and J. A. Rix is in charge of the Lubbock business. In every successful business there must be a financier and that place in this concern is filled by W. W. Rix. His experience was gained in fifteen years service with the First National Bank of Big Spring.

While the success of this concern can be attributed to team work, (each member of the firm doing the work for which he was best fitted,) a great deal of credit is due to the personality of the founder, Harvey L. Rix. It is an easy matter to find people all over the Plains who, when the name Rix is mentioned, will say "Any kin to Harvey Rix. Sure I know him—bought all my furniture from him fifteen years ago."

The first year's business of this firm, which was formerly conducted under the name of H. L. Rix & Co., amounted to about $15,000, all of the work being done by two people. The business this year will amount to approximately $250,000 and there are now twenty people employed to handle this volume. There is one noticeable feature about their employees and that is their loyalty; in fact it seems like one big family. One loyal instance along this line is the fact that at one time five members of one family were employed by the Rix Company.

One of the principal features of this concern has been their idea of not confining their efforts to a single community. Long before the time of automobile trucks the country surrounding Big Spring was served with a wagon and team. "Dick and Coffey" the faithful old black team, have made many a trip fifty and sixty miles delivering a piano, sewing machine or phonograph to some out of the way place. When autos became popular, this firm was the first in this part of the country to take advantage of this method of serving their customers.

This concern has enjoyed the reputation of always doing its part towards building up the community in which it has done business. One noticeable feature along this line was when it was quite a task for the farmers to get their products to town. Quite a number of them had cream, eggs and chickens to dispose of, but had no means of bringing these things to market. In order to relieve this situation, the Rix Company purchased an automobile truck and added a man to their pay roll whose business was to make regular trips thru the country gathering up these products. All of this was handled at exact cost to the farmers. To ascertain whether or not this was appreciated, all that is necessary is to ask any of the Howard County farmers of those days.

With an institution doing as large a business as the Rix Company, it is necessary to turn some of the departments over to the employees, and it may be said that the employees of this concern are given every opportunity to show that they are capable of the responsibilities, but there is one department that is always given the personal attention of the managers, and that is the undertaking end of the business. H. L. and J. A. Rix are both licensed embalmers, with years of experience, and they both feel that this is one part of the business that deserves their personal supervision. This department in the Lubbock store is said to be one of the most modern and best equipped institutions of this kind in Texas. The fact that they have nearly $10,000 invested in hearses and ambulances goes to show that they believe in sparing no expense to give their customers the best service possible.

Some concerns are contented to take what comes to them in the way of business never making an improvement of any kind in the way of store facilities or equipment. This is not true of the Rix Company, as it has been their policy since the establishment of their business to never be contented with what they have done in the past, but to be always striving to out-do their past record. During the past year this concern has sold goods in over twenty counties, this outside business being handled with a fleet of six automobile trucks. It may be said that their decision to establish a business in Lubbock is the direct result of securing business by this method. Their volume of business in the Plains country reached such a magnitude that it became essential to establish a base of operation in this part of the country. Their up-to-date store on Broadway is the result.

There is a motto hanging in the Lubbock office that tells the story of this progressive concern—it is a quotation from Edmond Burke that reads: "Applaud us when we run, console us when we fall, cheer us when we recover, but for God's sake let us pass on."

CALLS SOLDIERS, COOTIES.

In a recent speech, Haywood, the one time pet of a certain class of people, said that the members of the American Legion were "cooties." What does Haywood know about cooties? He was not on the frontier of civilization neither were any of his breed who could get out by posing as "conscientious" objectors, or by any other ruse. Haywood and his ilk would have tied the world to the chariot of Germany. Haywood and his ilk would have consigned Belgium to the tender mercies of the Hunnish hordes of Wilhelm. Haywood and his ilk would have sold the world for far less than the thirty pieces of silver obtained by Iscariot for the betrayal of his Master. Haywood and his ilk don't count in the economics of this day and age—they are only unseemly excrescences in the general makeup of the world, and all in good time—and that time is a very short one—they, and their vile philosophies will only be remembered as one of those bad dreams that have afflicted mankind at the various ages of the world's progress.—Higgins News.

NEGRO AFTER LICENSE FORGETS NAME OF FINANCEE

Last Saturday morning bright and early, Douglas Thomas, a large burly looking negro, arrived at the Clerk's Office in our city and requested a marriage license. Douglas gave his name to the clerk and started out. Sam T. Davis, the clerk, yelled at the negro, after he had walked out of the office and asked the name of the lady to whom he was going to be married. "That's whar I started boss, down stairs to find out her name."

After an absence of probably three minutes he returned with his bride to-be who gladly furnished the clerk with her name. They were then married by Justice Fain in his office in the presence of many curious on-lookers.—Lubbock Avalanche.

A. J. Stricklin purchased the 25x-140 foot lot just north of the printing office this week from W. G. Harden; consideration $250.00. The purchase was made partly in order to have a fifty foot front for the Herald, in case we ever need it, and partly to keep anyone from jambing a building against us on the north and cutting off our light.

W. W. Ditto subleased the Santa Fee Hotel to Mrs. J. A. Darden, and the latter took charge Monday morning, and the former moved in the Darden residence in the north part of town. Mrs. Darden has had considerable experience in the hotel business, and we are sure that she will hold this popular hostelry up to the present high standard that the retiring proprietor has put it. Note Mrs. Darden's ad in this issue.

J. S. Corning has purchased the City Barber Shop building on the west side of the square he, already owning the lot. It has been rented for the present by A. A. Larkey for a real estate office, but we understand that Mr. Corning will open a racket store in the building about the first of March.
