BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY APRIL 9, 1920

NO. 38

ROCKS CONTAIN MUCH LIME— MAY MEAN NEW INDUSTRY

The citizens of Brownfield have for years been tramping under foot untold wealth every day of their lives without one thought or for that matter one care of what it was or what it might mean to us. Just a year or about ago, a stranger came to this county and made the valuable discovery that our old so called "alkali" lakes were brim full of many valuable chemicals that the world is shy of, and now comes another stranger and shows us to our very eyes that the rock around the draw, of which the source is limitless, are not alkali rocks but pure lime, and that they also contain a great amount of blue stone.

Mr. John A. Dumas and family just happened to land in this town some two or three months ago, but anyone with any knack as a judge of human nature knew that he was a man that has his eyes open.

One day recently we were called in the Dumas Cafe to witness a demonstration, and we told him we would bite again. When we entered he put out one of the rocks that had been cooked in the stove all day, but that had been allowed to cool, and we of course seeing the old "alkalie" rock from the draw asked him what was the big idea. He broke off a small chunk and dropped it into a vessel of water and then the frying and steaming took place for a minute and then we had as pretty grade of pure and white water slacked lime as one ever saw anywhere, and there was just enough blue stone in the lime to make it a good grade.

Local capitalist ore making a real good test of the product and if it is what those who have had experience around lime kilns think it is, a lime works will be started here.

There are car load after car load of this building material shipped in here every year, and we understand that about the closest place where it is manufactured is Austin. What is the use in paying the freight? Not only that, but every town around here uses large quantities of lime, and of course they like the shortest haul and the lowest freight rate.

It may be that there is oil under old Terry, too, who knows.

And now comes the information to us that the lakes east of town contain not only the valuable minerals heretofore mentioned in these columns, but a large deposit of almost pure carbide.

Come to old Terry.

MORE OIL TALK

We understand that another effort is being made to lease enough land around Brownfield to try and get another man to take hold of an oil well somewhere near here, and we hope to be able shortly to report a contract being signed. This time one of our leading citizens has charge of the matter, and we sincerely hope that he will succeed.

The trouble heretofore seemed to be that when any citizen that went out to lease up land, everyone else thought that person was going to get the swag and forthwith they began to lease land, and as a consequence no one got together enough land in one body to get any wildcatter to take a throw.

Now lets all figure this time that the one that is getting up the leases is not going to get any richer than any of the rest of us, and by laying low, we may have a well started into the terra firma of old Terry in the next few months.

What do you say?

Mrs. Dallas will present her pupils in recital at the Presbyterian church April 19th. Those who enjoy music are cordially invited to attend.

NEW RAILROAD RUMOR

There is considerable talk here at present of a proposed new railroad, or rather the extension of an old one from Rising Star in Calahan county to Roswell, N. M., and it is said that the Roswell papers are full of the rumor. Of course there may not be a thing to it, but it is said to be an M. K. & T. proposition.

It is a well known fact that Roswell has had a permanent bonus of $150,000.00 up for several years for the first railroad that entered that city from the east, except the Santa Fe, as they are ready have that road.

We might also state that we saw a letter last week from a high official of another company to a gentleman of this city, asking if he knew anything about the matter, as the new road was supposed to cross the Santa Fe at Sweetwater, O'Donnell and Brownfield.

Should the Katy build through this country, it would open to settlement a huge territory, and as for Brownfield would give us much better rail-communication to the east than we now enjoy.

BAILEY RALLY

The Citizens of Terry county who love good Government, Adhere to the Constitution, live within the limits of the Original principles of Democracy, opposed to the excessive Taxes and increasing Federal regulation of local affair, and in favor of halting radicalism in the government, waste and extravagance, and get the Government and business back on a sound basis, are invited to assemble at the Court House in Brownfield, Saturday evening at 2:30 p.m. April 17th 1920, to organize a Bailey-for-Governor Club, and to support the "Fort Worth Principles."

We are selling Belle of Wichita Flour. Try a sack. A. B. Cook & Son.

C. H. William of Fisher county, was here this week visiting his son-in-law, Elmer Dafferon and family.

STOCKMENS EXCHANGE BANK OPENS AT PLAINS.

The Stockmens Exchange Bank, of Plains, Texas, is now a reality, for it was opened for business to the public promptly at 9 o'clock last Thursday morning, and it was not an April Fool trick, for the deposits at the close of business on the first day showed more than $30,000.00 on tap.

Cashier Hugh M. Pyeatt, who has been the assistant cashier of the Brownfield State Bank for the past several months, and who was elected cashier of the new bank recently at a meeting of the stockholders, left here Wed. for that place as he was to be on hand for the formal opening and the President, O. T. Halley, who is the cashier of the Brownfield State Bank, went over early Thursday forenoon. Late in the afternoon several more of the Brownfield people went over.

A six o'clock dinner was served to more than 100 people we understand and the younger and gayer set tipped the light fantastic toe till the wee small hours of the night, and Plains had a real spirit of celebration.

It takes lots of banks on the plains to take care of the peoples money, these days.

Come to Terry and Yoakum counties.

MOVED TO NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

Everything but the primary grades has moved into the new school building and that grade, we understand, will move up there coming Saturday.

There was a happy bunch of pupils and teachers Monday morning.

When the new fixtures, furnishings and equipment is installed, Brownfield, Texas will be second to none in school facilities in this part of the country.

Move to Brownfield to educate the children.

Bring us your eggs, poultry and cream. A. B. Cook & Son.

CONTROVERSEY HOLDING BACK POTASH DEVELOPMENT.

According to A.L. Gurley of Clovis N.M. who was here last Friday and Saturday, as soon as the controversy over the "Mound Lake" in Terry county is settled, development of the potash industry on the South Plains will be started. Mr. Gurley is yet enthusiastic regarding this proposition and expressed grief over the fact that development has been hindered. Attorneys of the different parties will meet this month in San Francisco and a compromise may result; however, if not, the case will be heard in the Federal Court at Abilene this summer.—Lubbock Avallanche.

HOTEL MAN HAS POKER GAME BROKE UP

The noise occasioned by eight young men participating in a lively game of poker about 12 o'clock Saturday night, resulted in keeping inmates of the Santa Fe Hotel awake, caused Mr. Randolph, proprietor of this place to investigate and call Sheriff Holcomb over and have the game stopped. All eight of the boys and young men were arrested and fined $27.50 Mr. Holcomb believes if all people who have reason to believe the law is being violated would call his attention that much of the wrong-doing would be stopped in our city. —Lubbock Avalanche

GAINES COUNTY MAN GETS TWO YEAR SENTENCE

The first man ever convicted and sentenced to a term in the State penitentiary from the county of Gaines was sentenced this week in district court, when Jerry Massey, alias Allen Mason, pled guilty to the theft of a saddle from John C. Hart, a Gaines county cattleman. The convicted man was alleged to have stolen a horse and saddle last winter and rode to Lovington, N. M., where he turned the horse wild and disposed of the saddle by selling it to a wagon yard keeper.—Lubbock Avalanche

THE HOME PAPER

The home paper! How it ties those who have gone to far off places, to other conditions and surroundings, to the faith of their forbears to the plain, simple, normal life of rural America! One is surprised when one looks over the "list" and sees where the paper goes, "out of the county." The Messenger for the past 65 years has been going to Massachusetts and Virginia; to England and California; to Oklahoma and Canada; to Australia and the many busy but grimy dill towns of western Pennsylvania—in short to all the marts of trade and turmoil, whither our youth fare forth to win their spurs, and where too often they find instead of fame, failure; in place of wealth, travail of soul; and a weariness of the flesh for health and happiness. To these, the "home paper" causes many a smile of recollection; a refocusing of perspective; a new balancing of comparative values; a courage to go in the way that is right; and above all an unshaken and unshakable faith in truth and freedom; a belief in real democracy and a hatred for autocracy, whether it is of a kaiser or of some malcontent, who knows not what he really does believe, except that he is against anything that has been and is and in favor of anything that he fancies may be, utterly regardless of either cause or effect.—Arthur Brownlee, in Indiana (Pa.) Messenger.

BAILEY'S RECORD

"He and his kind fought the federal Saving banks. We have them. He and the express companies opposed the parcel law. It was passed. He and his republican manufacturing clients contended against the passage of the child labor law. Congress passed it. He and the Wall Street money lenders ranted against the Federal Reserve Banks. They are now blessing the people. He and the transcontinental railroads opposed the Panama Canal. The oceans were soon shaking hands, however, across the isthmus. Bailey opposed the pure food bill. The enacted law now add to the health of the world. Bailey fought the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. It made Wilson in Texas and he became choice of the nation. He fought the selective draft law. The law was enacted and there was gathered beneath the American flag the best and bravest army that ever marched to martial music. He opposed the submission of the prohibition amendment. The amendment was submitted and adopted. He fought the nomination of Morris Sheppard. Sheppard won. He grew indignant at the submission of the suffrage amendment. It is being ratified as fast as the State legislature can meet. He and the liquor interests fought war-time prohibition. It became the law of the land. He said it was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court, however, as usual, did not agree with him. He fought Jim Hogg and his constitutional amendments. Both were triumphant. Bailey dares not suggest the repeal of these amendments, though he says he never changes. We recall that ex-senator Bailey championed one cause, that of the notorious Lorimer. Lorimer was expelled and Bailey resigned.

Perry Hudson has accepted a position with the Record and is one of the most quiet printers we have ever employed. He never kicks when the work deluges the office and hasn't said a word about the weather even when the western gales blow gently—and other things—down the street. He is one of the few printers that doesn't cuss. Yes, you have guessed it, he is dumb.

The preacher said he expected to see all such saintly women as Mrs. Zero Peck up there. Zero has figured it out that Mrs. Peck would be a pretty looking thing up there without a husband, and that for her happiness to be complete it will be necessary for them to admit him.

READ THIS AND SEE RED

Ted Kuykendal of Pueblo is dead. This eleven-year old school boy died from injuries sustained when he was waylaid on his way home from school by five boys who had repeatedly tantalized him because he was poor and because he topped his classes. According to a confession of five boys under arrest little Ted Kuykendal was kicked to death and his bruised and bleeding body left behind a bill board where it was found. And the boys who committed this self-admitted act of fendish assault were jealous of Ted because he was "smarter" than they were.

Poor little Ted Kuykendal.

Is it not enough to make one's blood boil to read how five boys attending a public school, taking advantage of these free institutions of American education will brutally attack and "kick to death" a younger and smaller lad for no other reason than he was "smarter" than they.

But a day or two before poor little Ted Kuykendal was brutally maltreated, and after have taunted beyond endurance by teasing references to his "poverty" had manfully singled out one or two of his tormentors and walloped them with his fist as any high-spirited red blooded little chap would do. But the bullies of 15—five of them—according to their own reported admissions, resolved to "get even" with Ted Kuykendal. And they did.

They killed him.

The brave little lad whose father and mother were honestly poor—the lad who wore patches in his pantaloons, whose sleeves were frayed at the edges, whose boots were not always new—was tormented and then after he had struck out for manhood in his own defense he was waylaid and "kicked to death."

There is today and has always been in our public schools a good deal of this snobbishness on the part of the boys and girls whose folks are better off than some others. In the high schools particularly there is a lifting of eyebrows by some who are dressed a trifle better than others. There are social cliques which grow up and many a sensitive boy and girl feels keenly these unkindnesses. But thank God, the snobs and the ill-bred offspring of codfish aristocracy have no monopoly on brains and it is usually the boy and girl of the humble and less fortunate parents who are the most studious and the most keen minded and bright. There are more brains in overalls than in white shirts all over this broad land.

How many little tads have gone to school with their toes sticking out of their boots to be taunted as Ted Kuykendal was, because his parents are poor. We may remember in our own school days when some of the little fellows were teased because of their trousers being patched or their coat frayed or ragged. Perhaps the bread-winner was dead and the hard working mother was a slave to the wash tub or the ironing board, and these sensitive souls were tortured by the thrust and jeers of some other, but in a great many cases these boys with the patch work pants and those girls with plain and somewhat shabby dresses have become worthy men and women, good citizens and good fathers and mothers of men and a great many of those who did the jeering have turned out to be idlers and loafers, dress suit lounge lizards and numskulls who cannot sustain an intelligent conversation if you paid them a thousand dollars a minute.

The boy or girl, youth or maid man or woman, who turn up their nose or elivate their eyebrows at honest poverty, "ladies" who brush their skirts aside for fear of contamination when plain Sally Jones goes by; men who look away over and beyond when Bill passes them swinging his dinner bucket, whether they be rich Croesus and dwell in a solid gold mansion and entrain royalty, are bereft of the first attributes of good breeding and if they consider themselves aristocracy they are suffering under an hallucination. The first indication of the well bred man or woman is a democratic kindness and sympathy, not a patronizing tolerance. A true gentlemen is never a snob and a true lady never sniffs at another regardless of how inferior socially or otherwise the other may be. Children who do this are the degenerate sons and daughters of equally degenerate parents in this respect. They taunted little Ted Kuykendal about his poverty. But Ted kept a stiff upper lip and just plugged along at his spelling and geography and mathematics and he topped his classes. And the green-eyed monster of jealousy poisoned the hearts of a few of his schoolmates who poked fun at his worn shoes and they way laid him and "kicked him to death."

The very Heavens cry out over this atrocious outrage. For the boys who did this foul deed let us pray there shall be no mercy.—Trinidad (Colo.) Chronicle.

We had the pleasure of viewing the interior of the Ray Brownfield house this week, in the east part of town, and we believe that it is one of the most complete homes and one of the best finished we ever saw, and the only thing that we hate about the matter is that it is not our own, but we do not begrudge Ray and family a nice home in the least. It is not only well arranged and beautifully finished, but is commodious in every sense. Contractor R. H. McCormack outdid his usual good finish work on this job.

All new comer Odd Fellows are urged to be on hand at the weekly meeting in the meantime, and to lend their assistance to the perfecting of arrangements. The Odd Fellows, Reekahs and their families are invited. There will probably be a program of the entertainment printed in these columns between now and the 26th. Watch for it.

LITTLE WINDY KNOCKS $28,000.00 SALE

How would you like to have been a real estate dealer last Friday who had gone out with a prospector and looked at various pieces of property, finding two sections that the owner would take $28,000.00 for and then the prospector and you go back to town to draw up the contract. Being a little late that evening, you decide to wait until the next morning to fix the contract and have the money put in the bank awaiting a good title to the land, and awake the next morning to find the wind blowing strong and the sand sailing high and your prospector or customer enroute home? Not a very pleasant sensation. But it is what happened to T. J. Price, of Brownfield, according to close friends of Mr. Price who were here this week. Oh! well, he lost only $1,400.00 commission by the little dust storm and the prospector went home to find that the wind had blown harder there and that the dust was much thicker.—Lubbock Avalanche

The moral in the above is that you land the sucker the minute you have hooked him or you may not be able to land him at all, and we'll bet the prospector thought that it was the "End of a Perfect Day" back east until he arrived home and was disillusioned.

Uncle Johnny King was in the Herald's office recently and informed us that his son, John and family, had arrived safely in the Golden State and that Mrs. King was liking California fine. We hope she may soon regain her usual health.

Monday morning, the student body as well as the faculty, were very delighted to move from the former unhandy positions to the new school building; which is now almost completed. We regret very much that the primary department could not enter the building as their room was not ready for them. The preliminary contest was held at the Methodist Church on the evening of April, 2nd. In the Junior spelling contest, Bessie Burnett and James Harley Dallas tied. It will be decided Friday evening which of these will represent Brownfield in the county contest. Mildred Burgess was the winner in the Senior girls declamation contest and Queenelle Speagle was winner in the Junior girls declamation contest, the winner in the Senior spelling was Milton Leach. The winner in the essay writing was Winnie Gaston, who was given $5 by Mrs. Dallas. The school debate will be held at the Methodist church Friday evening. The County track meet will be on the track grounds in this city Saturday morning. The Literary contest will be here Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.
