COUNTY EMERGENCY LIVESTOCK LISTINGS EXCEED 6,000

RECORD MITCHELL COUNTY VOTE EXPECTED SATURDAY AS CITIZENS GO TO POLLS

Excess 3,000 Poll Taxes And Exemptions Should Boost Strength To 3,500

Note to be cast in the July primary election in Mitchell county Saturday is expected to reach if not exceed previous totals for the past several years, due to strong interest developed in the campaign and the large number of citizens qualified to exercise their right of suffrage at the ballot box.

From the tax collector's office it was reported Monday that more than 3,000 Mitchell county citizens had paid poll taxes as the law directs in meeting requirements for participating in elections. It was estimated that exemptions, including "overs and unders" would boost the total voting strength to 3,500.

From the ranks of county and precinct officials and political leaders has come the information that interest in the election as a whole is greater than for a number of years and that a far higher mark will be set than in the election of two years ago. Almost universal support of the candidacy of George Mahon for congress is another factor to be reckoned with in bringing out a record vote Saturday.

Election supplies have been delivered to presiding judges of the eleven voting precincts. The officials have all other details of the election concluded and are standing by ready for the polls to open Saturday morning.

Due to length of the official ballot election judges and tabulating tellers will, in all probability, find several hours of tedious work ahead after the voting boxes have been closed. The public is reminded to be patient, allowing these corps of workers ample time in which to tabulate returns and give out results.

BABY CHICKS BEGAN TO CROW AT ONE DAY OLD, HYMAN CITIZEN CLAIMS

Page Ripley of "Believe It or Not" fame. There are five baby chicks on a farm in Hyman community that began to crow with all the dignity of a veteran about the barn yard when only one day old. At any rate that is the information give The Record by J. C. Yancy, farmer of that section. "And, I want to go on to say that this claim can be proven by witnesses, called in to see and hear the youthful cockerels in action," Yancy went on to say. CANDIDATES HOLD THEIR TYPICAL OPTIMISM INTO FINAL LAP OF CAMPAIGN

Candidates offering for county and precinct office continue to entertain the definite proposition that they are assured of either winning nomination at the ballot box Saturday or slide safely into the runoff contest, to be concluded four weeks later. Another feature of the county campaign in Mitchell county that has elicited notice by a large number of voters: The candidates are maintaining the standard that it is upon their own merits they expect to be successful. FACTS CONCERNING JIMMY BEAL

Saturday, July 28, the voters will be confronted with the task of selecting their public officials for the ensuing term of office. Their choice must be wise. Therefore there is presented to you here some facts, which, it is hoped, will make it easier for the voter to decide in at least one instance—that of the County Superintendent.

The county superintendent is a person who should have business training and experience, and teacher's experience and training. He should have the interest of rural schools and their students and patrons at heart. He should at all times have the utmost regard for what will bring the most good to the greatest number of people—and be willing to provide that thing.

Jimmy Beal Meets These Qualifications

He has the A. B. and M. A. degrees; he has had three years' training in Business Administration, plus several years actual business experience; he has received special teacher's training, and has had teaching experience in the rural schools of the county.

Above all, he is interested primarily in the country schools and wants to see them build up and progress.

Huge Relief Program Of The American Red Cross Depicted In Annual Report

An official report of the methods employed by the American Red Cross in the distribution of government wheat and cotton to provide food and clothing relief to more than five million families in need due to unemployment and other causes has been received from the national headquarters in Washington.

In a foreword to this comprehensive report, Chairman John Barton Payne states: "Since the relief went into practically every county in the United States and each of the territories it will be of interest to the men and women throughout the domain of the United States."

"Inasmuch as this was the first time in the history of private agencies in the United States that a distribution on a national scale was attempted, this report will be of interest to those who are now or may be concerned in similar relief activities."

"This report is dedicated to a generous Congress and to the great army of volunteers throughout the United States and territories who made the distribution possible."

An interesting description is given in the report of the busy two years in which the Red Cross functioned as merchant and mixer at the request of Congress, sending the vital wheat and cotton products into the homes of the needy, the ever-increased section of the nation and to island possessions.

The report tells how on March 7, 1932, the Congress adopted an unprecedented measure when it directed that 40 million bushels of wheat stored under the stabilization program of the Federal Farm Board be turned over to the Red Cross. The act directed that the products be given to the nation's needy and also that farmers in drought-stricken states be allotted a share as stockfeed.

Congressional hearing had preceded this action, during which Chairman Payne stated that the Red Cross would undertake the distribution, though unprecedented in its annals, if directed to do so.

Through cooperation with government departments Red Cross officials under the administrative direction of James L. Piesser, vice chairman, worked out preliminary plans. Thus, all was set for immediate action and within 24 hours after Congress passed the legislation wheat was pouring in a golden stream from the elevators of the Midwest into railroad cars to be transferred to mills to be ground into flour and cracked into stockfeed.

Members of Congress informed by citizens in their districts how this wheat has aided so materially again initiated legislation in July, 1932, to turn over to the Red Cross additional Farm Board wheat—15 million bushels. The Congress also sponsored another experimental program by voting to the Red Cross part of the Farm Board surplus of cotton—500,000 bushels—which it directed the organization to use to clothe the needy. Later in the session, in February, 1933, when this program also had proved its great value, the remainder of the cotton holdings of the Farm Board—34,063 bales—were turned over to the Red Cross through congressional action.

In one of the interesting tables of statistics the report shows that this 35 million bushels of wheat, were made into 10,688,307 barrels of flour, 4,885 tons of cereal and 233,201 tons of feed for livestock. The cotton—884,063 bales—was converted into 103,650,778 yards of cloth and sheeting, 66,733,524 readymade garments, and 3,179,941 blankets and comforts. In addition, both wheat and cotton were used in barter to meet costs of manufacture, packing and shipping.

The Congress had not voted a dollar to cover cost or distribution and manufacture, so plans of barter and exchange were worked out to meet these costs. These plans are described in the report.

The administrative costs—such as setting up clerical forces, paying for printing, postage, telephone, telegraph, etc.—were borne by the Red Cross with an expenditure of $725,000 from its treasury.

LONE STAR GAS COMPANY WINS IN SUIT DEMANDING GATE REDUCTION FOR GAS

State Railroad Commission Had Sought Cut To 32 Cents Per 100

Reduction of 20 per cent in the rate charged by the Lone Star Gas Company at the gates of Colorado and some 250 other Texas communities, being served by the corporation and its subsidiaries, Saturday was held unjust and unreasonable by a Travis county district court jury. The trial, outcome of a prior order by the Texas Railroad Commission that the reduction be made operative, had been followed with interest throughout the State.

Concluding a three-day deliberation, a jury of three natural gas consumers and nine non-users held for the utility company in the second rate case tried before a jury in Texas. Trial of the case started June 11.

The state brought the suit in district court to compel the gas company to abide by a reduction from 40 cents to 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet at city gates, ordered by the commission September 13, 1932. Enforcement of the order stipulating the reduced rate was enjoined in federal court pending trial in a state court.

A. R. Stout and William Fitzhugh, assistant attorneys general assigned to the litigation, announced they would appeal. District Judge Chas. A. Wheeler will pass upon formal motions for a new trial and of the company attorneys for judgment. If their motion for a new trial is overruled, the state's attorneys planned to appeal to the Third Court of Civil Appeals at Austin.

Texas Collected Large Ratio Delinquent Taxes During Past Year, States Report

When the State and county delinquent taxes that were paid in Texas during the past tax year which closed June 30, shall have been totaled, the amount will be far in excess of that of last year, it is indicated by reports that have been received from time to time by the Semi-Weekly Bond Buyers' Bulletin of The University of Texas during the last several months. It is regarded as assured that all previous records of such payments were broken during the twelve months just closed. In many counties the delinquent tax payments were in the aggregate several times the total of such payments during the preceding year. There also has been a large increase in current tax collections.

These increases of tax income of the State and counties may be attributed to the law passed by the last legislature, which remitted penalty and interest on past due taxes if paid within a given time. Also, the payment of a considerable volume of taxes was made possible by the HOLC loans to home owners. There is little evidence to justify any statement that the unusual record of tax payments during the year was due to any improvement in business conditions, except possibly among the farm owners who have profited by government payments on retired cotton acreage.

The counties of Texas enter the new tax paying year in better financial condition than for several years past. The administrations of these political subdivisions are, in most instances, pledged to a continuation of the policy of economizing in expenditures in every possible way. Many of the counties have placed their indebtedness on a better basis through refunding issues, thereby lowering interest rates and sinking fund requirements. They have been relieved, through the operation of the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness, of a considerable part of their road bond indebtedness; and during the calendar year 1933, the State will afford the counties still further relief in this respect by increasing its participation in the payment of road bond principal from the present 30 per cent to 50 per cent.

It is too early to make any reliable forecast as to what changes may be made in county tax rates for the current tax year, most of such rates being fixed in August, but it is expected that, in the face of their improved financial condition, there will be no need for increasing the existing rates, and possibly, they may be lowered in a number of instances. This condition also applies to assessed property valuations.

County budgets for the new year are now being considered. It is indicated that the estimated expenditures will be based largely on the improved tax collection situation. Of course, it is well known that the legislature at its coming special session in September and the next regular session, which will be convened in January, may do in the way of affording further relief to all valorem taxpayers, but it is anticipated that whatever is deemed necessary along this line will be done.

Manager Sherrill Discusses Federal Emergency Loans

Farmers seeking emergency crop loans for general purposes may now place their application for such loans with county loan committees which functioned during the spring of 1934 in all of the drought stricken counties of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, Charles W. Sherrill, Regional Manager of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Office of the Farm Credit Administration at Dallas, announced today. Crop loans were discontinued May 31 but the period for receiving applications has been reopened in response to demands from drought stricken sections of the Southwest region, Mr. Sherrill said.

The loan area covers primary and secondary drought counties in the three states. The same regulations which governed spring crop loans will apply. Crop loans are limited to $250.00 to one individual for general purposes and $400.00 for summer fallowing or for the combined purpose of summer fallowing and the purchase of seed for winter wheat, winter rye or barley. Loans may not exceed certain maximum allowances per acre in connection with grain, truck and miscellaneous crops. Outside the drought stricken areas loans may be made for summer fallowing or for the combined purpose of summer fallowing and the purchase of seed for winter wheat, winter rye or barley, but a loan may not exceed the sum of $250.00 to one individual.

The reopening of the emergency crop loan facilities will not interfere with the making of feed and forage loans in the emergency drought areas from the recently appropriated $525,000,000 fund. The crop loans, including loans for feed for livestock in secondary areas, are being made from the $10,000,000 fund appropriated in Act of Congress approved February 23, 1934; whereas the loans for livestock feed and forage production in the emergency areas are being made from a part of the recently appropriated $525,000,000 drought relief fund.

If an applicant already has obtained an emergency crop loan during the year 1934, his new crop loan plus the principal amount of the old crop loan must not exceed the $250.00 limit for general purposes, or the $400.00 limit for the purpose of summer fallowing. Loans will be made only to applicants who do not have any other available sources of credit, and any farmer applying for a crop loan in excess of $150.00 must submit written evidence from a production credit association that his application for a loan of approximately the same amount has been rejected. The crop loans will be secured by liens on the crops financed, and loans for feed for livestock from the $10,000,000 fund in secondary areas will be secured by mortgages on the livestock.

Loan committees established in the spring will receive the applications which are given consideration by the committee and Government Field Supervisors and forwarded to the Emergency Feed and Seed Loan Office at Dallas.

Supplies are in the hands of the committees in county seat towns and farmers who cannot obtain credit elsewhere are eligible to apply for aid to plant fall cash crops.

LOTS OF LOTS

CLEVELAND—The regional NRA office has promised to investigate this one:
"My husband gets only $10. a week," wrote a Northern Ohio woman, "and we have had to take cemetery lots for the balance. We already have ten lots and we surely don't need that many for our family use."

If one is to be influenced by statements coming from citizens of Dawson county it is very evident that George Mahon will lead for congress there by several jumps. That is the report brought back to Colorado by friends of the candidate who spent Saturday in Lamesa.

Rev. Dick O'Brien announces that he regrets having missed participation in ball games staged by the Lions Club league. He might have entertained a different opinion had he rode atop a donkey in the recent mounted game.

Watt Collier, farmer of a few miles west, avers that the drought brings on one thing after another. His barn and feed was burned a few days ago.

Since farmers in certain West Texas counties are receiving checks from the State on pink boll worm damage claims, the question is a most popular political issue. More than one candidate is claiming full responsibility for passage of the bill.

We have in mind a certain Colorado man who after this week will be sporting a pink boll worm tatter. Watch developments for finding his identity.

This rings among the annual growing rings of trees denote that these were added during dry years.

Mahon Campaigners Have Busy Week In Neighboring Towns

Winding up the pre-primary campaign of George Mahon for congress from the new 19th district, his supporters of Colorado and elsewhere have been busy this past week making trips to points all over the district in the interest of his candidacy. On Saturday Bob Fee, A. L. McSpadden, and W. S. Cooper campaigned in Lamesa. Monday night three speeches were made at as many points, one in McAdoo, Dickens County by W. S. Cooper, one at a rally in Crosby county by Lloyd Croelin, and one in Brownfield by C. C. Thompson.

Mahon himself spoke in O'Donnell Tuesday night. Croelin spoke in Lamesa on Wednesday night. Thompson is speaking in Crosbyton tonight (Thursday). Judge A. S. Mauzey of the thirty-second judicial district where Mahon is district attorney, is to speak Thursday night at Plainview. Bob Fee and Ralph Lee of Colorado are going with him to that place.

Rev. Cal Wright, pastor of the Methodist church, left Thursday to campaign in Girard, Jayton, and other points.

Three speeches are scheduled for Friday evening. Mahon will close his campaign in Haskell at a political rally. G. H. Nelson of Tahoka, attorney of the 106th district, will speak at Ralls, and W. S. Cooper of Colorado will speak at Tahoka.

Aims Of Broadway Of America Discussed By Executive Secretary Of Association

R.H. (Bob) Turner of El Paso, executive secretary of the Broadway of America association, spent a few hours in Colorado Tuesday conferring with President Thompson of the chamber of commerce and other citizens on plans for attracting a larger tourist traffic over the route. Mr. Turner outlined aims of the association, as follows:

1. The purpose of The Broadway of America association is primarily to increase tourist travel on the Broadway by means of a well planned wide spread advertising and publicity campaign. The entire highway will be completely paved by the fall of 1934. As shown by the illustrated folder map, the Broadway of America is approximately 3300 miles in length, beginning on Broadway, New York City and ending on Broadway, San Diego, being America's first and only all paved, all weather transcontinental Highway.

The association has competitors which publicize east-west transcontinental routes that are north of the Broadway. These routes are shorter than the Broadway. They are not paved, except in part, yet they, through their advertising efforts have increased the traffic at the expense of the business men on the Broadway. The Broadway has not been actively advertised for the past two years. This is no reflection on the officers or director of the association. The depression is responsible.

The Broadway of America Highway association is a non-profit corporation with no salaries or executive expenses paid to any except the executive secretary of the association. At the annual convention held in Dallas in May of this year it was unanimously approved by the convention that a full time man be employed to handle the affairs of the association. The executive committee at a meeting in Dallas "did the necessary" and a full time man now serves as the association's executive secretary, soliciting new members and renewing memberships, handling of publicity, etc. The solicitation work began at El Paso and is being done eastward. He will next work from El Paso to San Diego. The destinies of the association are in the hands of the business men who are civic minded and leaders in their own communities. A full time man or your neighboring Chamber of Commerce about the Broadway. The books of the association are open for inspection at any time. No expenditures are made except by direction of proper officials of the association.

Plans call for an expenditure of between $15,000.00 and 20,000.00 to do the publicity for the next twelve months. The high points are as follows:

1. To publish and distribute 200,000 illustrated folder maps to members of the association through motor clubs, Chambers of Commerce and travel bureaus at points on highways leading to the Broadway of America.

2nd. We hope to publish and distribute at the proper places copies of a directory of the members by cities and towns and by business classification under each town.

3rd. The executive secretary will go off the Broadway to the cities that are strategic points and by word of mouth and through newspapers and magazines and other mediums publicize the highway.

4th. If we receive the cooperation of all the way we are receiving at present, we will obtain members sufficient in number to raise funds to film a newsreel or talking picture of the points of interest along the Broadway from New York City to San Diego. This picture, when completed will be an added feature in our advertising efforts. It will be shown before conventions, service clubs and other groups where there is potential traffic.

The Broadway of America has all the natural advantages; that is, it is free from mountain roads and snow. It being paved completely, as stated before, is another advantage. The finest hotels and tourist camp facilities in the country are in the communities on the Broadway. The Broadway probably has more points of scenic historic interest on its route than any other highway in the country. The scenery on the Broadway is varied. The Broadway traverses the center of the South and Southwest, both sections being nationally known for their individual brands of hospitality. All of the subjects mentioned go to make the Broadway of America "The greatest Transcontinental Highway in the World."

For each $10.00 a year, or about 3 cents a day, invested in the association, the participant receives a window transfer in the form of a shield which shows the owner to be a member. We make no attempt to set the amount each should subscribe. There will be no further solicitation for advertising or such like. No high pressure methods will be used to obtain members or renew memberships. No "boycotting" efforts will be used to "scare" people into joining the Broadway association.

Our object is to put the plans before the people and each business man will use his own judgment as to whether he is civic minded to the extent of helping his town, his business and himself, by boosting financially and morally the efforts of the Broadway of America association. Every business man on the route receives some benefit either directly or indirectly from visitors.

We invite the people on the Broadway, after giving them these plans and facts, who benefit either directly or indirectly from tourists, to become members of the Broadway of America Highway association.

GREETINGS - CITIZENS

Saturday we are to take part in selecting our officers for precinct, county, district and State, for the next two years. To vote is a privilege, to select officers is a duty and to choose among friends is a real task.

Regardless of the privilege, undaunted by the duty and unflinching by our friends let us choose the men and women best fit to discharge the duties of the office to which they aspire.

Men and women offering their services should be given careful consideration before being placed in responsible places that mean so much to our citizenship.

To offer for office is a privilege and to be chosen is an honor but to fill said office in a way that would be commendable to the officer and satisfactory to the people is indeed an accomplishment for any one asking the vote of the people.

Please accept thanks for encouragement given and if I am your choice let me say that I shall deem it a special privilege to serve you.

Cordially yours, W. W. PORTER, Offering For County Judge.

JIMMIE ALLRED ATTACKED IN ADDRESS DELIVERED AT COLORADO BY TOM EPLEN

Abilene Attorney Speaks In Behalf Of Senator Clint Small Wednesday

Jimmie Allred and his record as Attorney General of Texas came in for attack during a spirited address delivered in Colorado Wednesday afternoon by Judge Tom K. Eplen of Abilene, district manager for Small in 14 counties of this area.

Using a public address system brought with him from Abilene, Judge Eplen spoke for more than an hour from the sidewalk in front of the Hotel Colorado. He was introduced by Judge Chas. C. Thompson, president of the chamber of commerce.

Record of Senator Small was paraded over a period of 18 years. Judge Eplen described his candidate as a servant of the people of Texas who through devotion to duty and outstanding ability had done much for his constituents. "Through passage of one bill alone, written and fought through the legislature by Clint Small, my county of Taylor was enabled to write 31 cents from its annual tax levy," Eplen declared.

Referring to purported charges that other candidates for governor were authority for the statement that Small voted in support of the Texas race bill, Eplen declared "Any person who will tell you that kind of tale is either misinformed or deliberately lying about the matter."

Allred was assailed for claiming to have been directly responsible for collecting over a million dollars from a certain oil corporation doing business in this State. Eplen asserted that such was unfair and, not in accord with the facts.

Tom Hunter, another candidate in the campaign for governor, came in for attention more than once. The speaker, however, was not as bitter in his denunciation of Hunter as he was of the attorney general.

SETTING TAX RATE IN TEXAS DELAYED, STATE OFFICIAL NOTES

Slowness of counties in rendering estimates of taxable values likely will force the state automatic tax board to delay until August determination of the state ad valorem tax rate, George H. Sheppard, comptroller and member of the board said recently.

Sixteen of the 254 counties Saturday had failed to certify to the comptroller estimates of valuations, although they were due July 15. Estimates of values of oil and gas pipe lines, on which taxes will be levied for the first time this year, also will be available until after August 1, according to H. P. Edwards, state tax commissioner. A preliminary estimate placed their value at $100,000,000.

Continuation of the maximum ad valorem tax rate of 77 cents on each $100 valuation likely will be necessary, statisticians estimated, in view of deficits in the state's principal funds and a probable decrease in assessed values. Of the 77 cent rate, 35 cents is allotted to general revenue, 35 cents to public schools and seven cents to Confederate pensions.

For state tax purposes, last year's assessed values aggregated $3,198,117,451. For county purposes, for which homesteads were not exempt, the total was $3,764,139,512.

Despite declining values in the larger counties, 52 counties estimated taxable values had increased compared to last year. Most of them were in West Texas or were ones in South and East Texas benefited by oil development.

BIG SPRING TO HOLD INVITATION GOLF MEET

Several Colorado golfers will probably respond to the following invitation from Big Spring:

Golfers of West Texas are extended an invitation to attend the fourth annual invitational golf tournament to be held here on September 1, 2, and 3. Preparations will be made to take care of a field of 150, said C. W. Cunningham, president of the Big Spring Country Club. Many West Texas golfers had an occasion to acquaint themselves with the course during the West Texas Annual Golf Tourney held here in June.

Shirley Robbins, Big Spring ace will defend his title as champion. Charlie Quails of Post was the winner of the first and second annual affair.

Entertainment will be planned to leave no idle moment on the hands of those who register.

The Big Spring country club lays out is difficult enough to offer a true test of golfing skill, but not so tough for the rank and file of golfing sportsmen.

Mesquite roots will search out water 60 feet away, so Mexicans study their direction before digging a well.

Death Of John Dillinger, Public
Enemy No. 1, Ends Long Bloody Trail

John Dillinger, the nation's outlaw No. 1 was blamed for the deaths of at least 15 persons. His bloody career as a killer began less than a year ago. In return for his aid in freeing them from the Indiana state prison at Michigan City, four escaped convicts, Harry Campbell, Russell Clark, Charles Mackley and John Hamilton freed Dillinger from the Lima, O., jail.

The quartet killed Sheriff Jess O. Sarber at Lima when he refused to turn over the jail keys to them. Led by Dillinger, this group swept across southern Indiana, raiding jail armories and banks.

They armed themselves with bullet proof vests and machine guns in these jail raids. Their depredations extended northward until they established headquarters in Chicago.

From half a dozen Chicago apartments they sallied out to rob banks in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. In Chicago, Hamilton allegedly killed a police sergeant, Dillinger and Hamilton machine gunned an East Chicago policeman during a robbery.

They were next heard of in Tucson, Ariz., where local police captured them without much resistance.

Flown back to Indiana by plane and heralded as the most desperate criminals in America, Dillinger was lodged in the newly built, escape-proof Crown Point jail.

Within a few weeks, Dillinger carved a wooden pistol from a washboard and bluffed his way to freedom. In his flight he used the automobile of Sheriff Lillian Holley, his woman captor.

Dillinger then joined forces with several Chicago gangsters. The newly formed gang went to St. Paul.

Raided on banks in Iowa and South Dakota netted the gang several thousand dollars. Dillinger, however, was wounded during a raid on a bank in Sioux Falls, S. D. He received treatment in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Department of justice agents entered the search and caught up with the outlaw in St. Paul. They raided an apartment where he was in hiding with his sweetheart, and St. Paul gangsters.

Dillinger again escaped under machine gun fire. It was believed that he was wounded again.

Again the trail led to Indiana. Dillinger was recognized as a Warsaw, Ind., police station for a new supply of machine guns and bullet proof vests.

The gang moved up through Michigan and took up residence in a northern Wisconsin lake resort near Mercer. It was at the little Bohemia lodge there, that agents again trapped him.

The gangsters left three women companions in the lodge. Agents believed the gangsters were still inside the lodge and at dawn rushed the house under heavy fire.

They found their quarry gone.

Dillinger, 32 years old, was not an incorrigible youth when he attended school in Mooresville, Ind., a small farming community.

When he was born in 1902 the father, John W. Dillinger, was a substantial farmer of the little town, a man of good Quaker stock. When the outlaw was three years old his mother died and his father moved to Indianapolis where he opened a grocery store.

The 70-year-old father, who returned to his farm at Mooresville when John was 13 years old, blamed his son's waywardness to the death of his mother and bad company during his early years in Indianapolis.

In 1924 John Dillinger, just a gangling country boy, ran afoul of the law for the first time. With another village youth they waylaid and robbed a 65-year-old village merchant. They were recognized.

They tried to bargain with the prosecutor and agreed to plead guilty. Dillinger was given a 10 to 20 years sentence, his companion turned state's evidence and received only a short term.

"I got a dirty deal," Dillinger told a parole board nine years later. The bitterness never left his heart.

In May, 1933, the village merchant who had been his victim and residents of Mooresville petitioned Gov. Paul V. McNutt—himself a native of the county—and a parole was granted.

Then, only four months after his release, Dillinger was definitely launched on his inglorious career of "big time" crime.

Here's to-day's story of a woman who knew she carried too much fat and decided the right way to get rid of it—just a few words that wise fat folks should heed—worth reading.

"I use Kruschen Salts to reduce. It's wonderful. Take it daily and eat what I want and still lose. I did weigh 180, now 137. Want to get down to 125." Mrs. Leonard Bass, Ft. Atkinson, Wis., Feb. 6, 1934.

Colorado After Railroad To San Angelo
25 Years Ago According To Old Record

Colorado was getting busy on an effort to secure another railroad, one to San Angelo via Sterling City, twenty five years ago, according to the Colorado Record for Friday, July 16, 1909.

A group of members of the commercial club had made a trip south of town to see a railroad promoter who was down in that section looking out a route for the San Antonio and Aransas Pass road from Kerrville via San Angelo to Sterling City.

Of the proposed railroad it was said in one column of the Record: "If Colorado could secure a railroad from San Angelo by way of Sterling City the division of the several big ranches along and near the route would be almost sure to allow. With a hundred farms in the lower part of Mitchell county where there are now one or two both Colorado and Sterling City would have a hitherto unknown trade territory placed at their very doors."

The Lorraine locals in this issue of the Record told of a "jolly" party, chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Copeland on a camping trip. Those in the party were Hubert Toler and family, Misses Oma and Annie Gregg, Blanche McMurry, Bettie Erwin, Marguerite Avant, Lillian Davis, Irene and Estelle Garhand; Messrs. Gregg, Edwin, Flaniken, Johnson, McRea, Hall, Thompson, Garland, and Garnett.

Colorado's leading baseball teams in those days were the "Has Beens" and the "Think They are Yets." They were going to play on Tuesday evening, July 20, 1909, for "money, marbles, or chalk." Line-ups were as follows:

"Has Beens"—C. A. Pierce, Andrew Cooksey, S. D. Vaughan, V. V. Shropshire, Lee Jones, M. O. Neal, D. D. Ferguson, Will Morrison, and F. G. Hickey;

"Are Yets"—Sam Wulfjen, Walter Whipkey, Bob Cooper, Scottie Scott, Eldredge Crawford, Jim Lovelace, J. J. Jackson, A. Cooksey, Frank Hughes, Otis Geers was to be umpire.

Included in the local items appearing in this issue of the Record were the following:

"A magnificent specimen of Angora ram was received last week by C. W. Ware. Colorado has a habit of looking at a business proposition through the big end of the telescope when it is approaching and changing ends when the opportunity has passed. Mrs. V. D. Payne and son, Victor, are visiting Mrs. Gill in Abilene this week.

"Mrs. Harry Landers returned Tuesday morning from a visit to Stamford. C. A. Arbutnot has returned from a business trip to Ft. Worth and Dallas. G. L. Wallace has leased the Electric Theater and has opened it up for the season. Dr. DeBusk is having a well drilled in the corner of his wagon yard.

ADDITIONAL RELIEF PLANS ANNOUNCED AS DROUGHT IS EXTENDED OVER BIG AREA

Most Severe Conditions Of Forty Years, Washington States In Note

The destructive march of the worst crop catastrophe in 40 years or more continued unchecked Saturday as the farm administration added 66 counties to the emergency drought relief list and 43 to secondary classification.

The weather bureau reported no rain was in prospect for the south west, and that only light local showers could be hoped for in the great lakes drought region.

The addition of 112 counties to the list of those eligible for emergency relief brought to 1,276 the total of those in the country receiving aid.

The vast extent of this, the most devastating drought in modern history, was shown in the fact that almost half the total number of counties in the nation were on the relief list.

Twenty-three states were said officially to be directly affected, and it was added that others were touched, in some sections at least, by the drought's blight.

The fact that millions of acres of land originally fertile have been laid waste brought a renewed watch by farm administration officials on the southwestern cotton crop.

They were known to be inclined to modify materially administration of the Bankhead cotton production act, designed to limit this year's crop to 10 million bales—provided the August crop estimate is below that figure and provided further that farmers evidence a desire for shelving the act.

In addition to the acres suffering in unirrigated lands, the drought has brought farmers in irrigated sections face to face with the prospect of water shortage.

Farm administration officials, who said previously that the situation was becoming acute in some sections, continued keeping a watchful eye on river flow. They were known to

Reduce Taxes By Uniting Counties Is Suggestion Offered

Consolidation of Texas' 254 counties into large political districts would substitute a more efficient and less expensive form of government than the present county government system in the opinion of Peter Molyneux, editor and publisher of The Texas Weekly and a member of the Academy of Political Science.

The county form of government is antiquated, Molyneux said, although at this time he does not endorse specifically the definite plan for reform suggested by The San Antonio Light.

"The county government came in to being at a time when population was sparse, and for a long time was the most important form of local government," Molyneux declared.

"Modern communication and transportation, however," he said, "has almost eliminated distance, and in addition, people are now preoccupied with municipal government, following the rise of the cities.

"The reason for county government has largely disappeared with the present multiplicity of jurisdiction over small areas. The county has become confusing and highly expensive in relation to the services it performs.

"There were 254 separate jurisdictions of this character in Texas and this is entirely too many."

This radical change in government may require a long time to effect, but county consolidation has been accomplished in some other states.

hold the gravest fears as to the fate of the West's great intensively cultivated irrigated area.

States in which new relief counties were added, or in which counties already of secondary lists were added to emergency classification were Idaho, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas. Texas: Collingsworth, Donley, and Wheeler.

"Mack" McSpadden is said to have admitted while visiting in his former home of Lamesa Saturday that he was just another of the "home town boys who made good."

NRA HAS TEETH, FEDERAL LEADER TELLS COLORADO EMPLOYERS DURING TALK

$506 Fine, Jail Term Both May Be Imposed, Speaker Says Here Tuesday

Merchants and other employers of Mitchell county should adopt provisions of the National Recovery Act as their code for dealing with labor out of consideration of every condition entering into the plan, Ernest L. Tutt of Houston an executive assistant to the State NRA director, stated in address delivered at the Palace Theatre Tuesday afternoon.

Tutt, accompanied by Z. E. Avery, field adjuster with headquarters at Houston and M. D. Dewberry, who recently was located at Abilene as resident field adjuster, spent the day here conferring with interested citizens on plans of the NRA. The mass meeting opened at 2 o'clock had been arranged at his suggestion.

That the NRA has teeth was noted by Tutt and other members of the party. They called attention to an executive order passed on May 21, making it an offense punishable by a fine of $500 or six months in prison for an employer to dismiss or demote an employee for filing a complaint against him or giving information involving violation of the NRA code.

Purposes of the public meetings, Tutt said is: "To present a more accurate understanding of the NRA program; to create an appreciation of the benefits derived from complete compliance with the various codes; to encourage better organization and more efficient administrative activity in the part of code authorities in industries and trades; and explain just the kind of cooperative facilities that are available to industries and trades on the part of the official NRA organization."

In Texas, there are NRA offices in San Antonio, Dallas, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Houston, El Paso, Waco, Abilene and Harlingen, and officials expect to establish one in some East Texas point soon, Tutt said. Purpose of the offices is to cooperate with industry and business in the end of getting full compliance with the codes, he pointed out.

"The field adjuster's function," said Tutt, "is to take complaints that have been filed against persons for alleged violation of the codes, go into the business establishments, check the records, interview employees and use other means necessary to determine the facts with reference to the alleged violations.

"In towns where members of industry and trade have failed to accept their responsibility and file complaints against alleged violators, it is necessary for the adjuster to take one business after another and check all available sources."

About 80 per cent of the complaints that have been received by NRA allege violation of wages and hours provided by the code, the executive said.

"Where an employer has violated the wage provision, the only method for adjusting is to require full restitution to employees who have been underpaid—payment to represent the difference between the amount they have received and the minimum as set forth by the code.

"Where hours of the code have been violated, the adjustment method is to require overtime pay at the overtime rate stipulated in the code for every hour, covering the period of non-compliance."

Wide Forest Belt Extending Across Nation Is Planned

Secretary Wallace announced Saturday that work would begin immediately on a $75,000,000 project to plant a forest shelter belt 100 miles wide, extending from the Canadian border into Texas.

President Roosevelt in an executive order signed July 11 and released Saturday, allocated $15,000,000 of emergency funds to begin work.

The shelter belt, which will extend more than 1,000 miles through North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and into the Texas Panhandle, will be designed to furnish permanent alleviation of drought conditions through the Midwest.

The area immediately affected will be approximately 20,000,000 acres, of which about 1,820,000 acres will be planted to trees.

According to the plans outlined by F. A. Silex, chief forester, wind breaks about seven rods wide running north and south will be planted one mile apart, making approximately 100 parallel wind breaks across the 100-mile wide belt.

DEDICATED TO THE SERVICE OF THIS COMMUNITY.

Care is a service that is seldom matched even in much larger communities. It is a personalized service that we have perfected to soften, in so far as possible, the grief that comes with the passing of a loved one. We will be pleased to explain why this better service is within every family's means.

They SHALL!

As long as men are willing to pour their lives into the building of dreams they may never live to see realized they will leave their community a better place than they found it. And as long as men build such living monuments it will be the precious privilege of this bank to help build—the solemn trust of this bank to administer their work when they have passed on.

No small satisfaction is ours that we have been silent partner to three generations of community builders.

GET HAMILTON NOW

The San Angelo Standard says in a recent issue that the pressing issue right now is to "get" Raymond Hamilton, Texas Miller who Sunday afternoon led a daring escape from the State penitentiary at Huntsville.

Such a move would be in order, since John Dillinger has been accounted for, the paper said.

Reviewing briefly its history of such characters as Dillinger and Hamilton, The Standard went on to say:

"It is quite a coincidence that the same issue of this newspaper which carries the welcome news of John Dillinger's death also carries dispatches of the escape from prison of Raymond Hamilton and a band of murderers.

Dillinger's death came as is eventually the reward of a life of crime such as his. No sympathy should be wasted on his kind. It is regrettable that two bystanders were wounded—but, in a measure, their wounds must also be charged to Dillinger's long list of misdeeds.

The federal department of justice announced today that the "Dillinger case is not yet closed," stating that search would continue until the few remaining members of his gang and those who aided him were captured. Rest assured that the federal agents will complete the mission.

The pressing issue now is to "get Hamilton." He likewise will be captured or killed eventually—but he has been captured before and escaped. When he is captured this time it should be in the same manner that Dillinger was "taken."

Mitchell county will furnish a good quota of citizens who after Saturday will return to their former vocations in life in keeping with verdict written by voters at the polls. Our list of candidates are all deserving and The Record wishes that each of them could be elected.

useful on Juno's peacock's tail as in his head.

Much depends on one's nature, disposition and desire as to what he shall see fit to do.

Argus is said to have a hundred eyes, but had there been such a being he would never have seen "The King in His Beauty."

The double faced Janus, looking forward and backward at the same time, did not see much either way.

At any rate he did not recognize it as being worthwhile, if he did.

It might not be so bad for one to see only occasionally. In such case he would be able to appreciate his sight more.

The mythological Greek sisters, who had only one eye between them, which they used alternately, very likely had a rather enlarged appreciation of the faculty of sight.

Hamlet said to Horatio: "There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy." It is expected that the greatest of all telescopes will reveal some of these things.

We are told that "if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall in the ditch." And those led by the mentally blind, often are more unfortunate, than are those led by the physically blind. One gains little by associating with those who know no more, or even less than he does.

It might here be observed that the ditches are about as numerous as those who fall into them.

Man has something to rejoice over that he was given both mental and physical vision for there are creatures which have neither. There are blind fish, for example, and who wants to be a fish, minnow or whale, blind or otherwise.

We are told that Edison and other geniuses said they were fortunate in being partially deaf, since it relieved them of being too much troubled by the overcurious, having to listen to the meaningless chatter of visitors, or answer too many questions propounded by self-styled interviewers.

These reflections upon the eye bring us at once to meditate upon the All-Seeing Eye, which sees all at all times.

"He that planted the ears, shall he not hear? He that forged the eye, shall he not see?"

It is He who is the great optician of mind and spirit as well as of body. He was able to restore the sight of Bartimeus and others because it was He who "formed the eye" and therefore could put sight where before there was no sight.

He also was the greatest aurist, for it was He who "planted the ear."

He was the great physician, "general practitioner" and "specialist" for it was He who created the body which the Psalmist says was "fearfully and wonderfully made."

He has an infallible remedy for every disease, a new eye for every blind one; a new heart for every wicked one, notwithstanding "the heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked."

He who is mentally blind must grind at the moral and spiritual mill, as did Samson at the material mill. He must work at a task that is never accomplished. Like many others who are not working at the mill, he goes round and round, but gets nowhere.

Also like Sisyphus rolling the stone up the hill, his arduous labor is never done.

But it is in trying to remember the encouraging, reassuring and glorious promise, "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things that God hath prepared for them that Love Him."

WOMEN, GIRLS' CLUB NEWS

By MISS EMMA GUNTER, Home Demonstration Agent

"Seeing is believing," surely is the third bedroom improvement made by Mrs. Tom Daughtery, bedroom improvement demonstrator for the Plainview Home Demonstration Club, when the club met there Wednesday for their regular meeting and had a program on some phase of bedroom improvement.

"Papered walls, and ceiling, went over woodwork with oil finish—and floor, remodeled the clothes closet by adding an extra shelf and shoe rack and a new curtain; hooked a rug out of discarded-cotton materials; made a shelf for books out of some scraps of lumber from an old dresser; added bathing facilities by putting up a towel rack and making a box into a stand; besides making a spring cover, mattress cover, and mattress pad for the bed, new curtains for the windows and the ends of the shades were turned as they were quite worn. All of this improvement amounted to $5.50. Not only has she improved this room but the entire house has been given a new coat of kalsomine, the floors gone over with the oil treatment of lubricating oil, vinegar, kerosene and paraffin and applied hot. Two other closets were enlarged and extra shelves and rods added. The other improvements cost $5.00. Thus after the dynamo gets started it generates sparks.

The third bedroom improvement demonstrator to be hostess to her club members and friends was Mrs. Dewey Phillips of the Itan Home Demonstration Club. Club songs were sung, then a demonstration talk was given to the group on the need of more and better pictures in the homes. This, again stressed use of the colored miniature prints for coloring and pre-school children so that they would know the better art. Then the women were taken into the improved room and Mrs. Phillips related the following improvements: a tufted bedspread, mattress cover, paint for her floor, new curtains and shades, crueton for her pillow in her chair, trunk cover and skirt for her shoe case and jumper for her clothes closet improvements. All amounted to $4.95. Mrs. Phillips used rose as her predominant color since her walls were painted gray, and the room was a northeast room and it needed cheering and warming up. Her tufted candlewick spread will be one of the five to be sent from this county to A. & M. College for the exhibit there during the Short Course, July 30-August 3. Special music was given on the victrola of the Swan Song and The Volga Boatman, then refreshments were served to the member and guests. Mrs. J. M. Hahn's mother from Indiana and Mrs. Geo. Edwards mother from South Dakota were special guests.

Mrs. Lee M. Jones, president of Plainview home demonstration club was notified this week of her selection as a supervisor in the laboratory on tufted candlewick bedspreads during the Short Course at A. & M. College July 30-August 3.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Bro. Ross filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning and evening. At the morning service the general rules of the church were read and at the evening service Bro. Ross brought a very earnest and meaningful message, using as his theme "Be ye a separate people."

The group meetings were well attended Sunday evening, especially the young people's group, which was very encouraging. Several visitors were present. We hope they will come again. Mrs. McDonald led the evening devotional.

Sunday School attendance climbed up a little last Sunday in spite of the fact that several were away on vacations. We are greatly in hope that we shall be able to continue increasing in number. We are enjoying using our new song books for the first time last Sunday.

The Missionary Society had its second lesson of the study "Christianity and Industry in America." We feel that these are very profitable lessons. Mrs. J. E. Skelton led the lesson in the absence of our study leader, Mrs. J. R. Lindsey.

Every one enjoyed the chorus given by the group from Boles Orphans' Home of Quilman, Texas, at the Methodist Church Tuesday morning. This proves what young people can do with a little training.

Don't forget that our revival meeting starts the second Sunday of August. Let's begin now making our plans to attend and do our part in that meeting.

Candidates For Congress 19th District Are Paraded In Story By Boyse House

The following article dealing with candidates for congress from the 19th district was written by Boyse House, member of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram staff:

Numerous as are candidates for the honor of being the first Congressman in the history of the Nineteenth District, even more numerous are the topics which the eight aspirants are discussing as they make their final appeals for votes.

There are three enemies to the New Deal, according to Fred C. Hille, insurance man of Spar—“the ever-expanding birth rate of Japan, the nit-witted cliff dwellers of Lower Manhattan and the pussyfooted attorneys from the lowest ranking attorneys up to and including those of the Supreme Court.”

“A few people already have in their possession more than $26,000,000,000 in wealth on which they pay no taxes,” District Attorney George Mahon of Colorado declares in discussing his plank to stop the issuance of tax-exempt securities. He advocates that there shall be “no entangling alliances” between members of Congress and Wall Street, and he wants tariffs adjusted—a matter which he considers of high importance since Texas is the greatest exporting State.

Not more than 2 per cent interest on the obligations of farmers is favored by Taylor White of Tahoka, vocational agriculture teacher.

“Shall an agriculturally-trained or a legally-trained man represent this district?” White asks.

“The exchange of our foreign debts for foreign goods we stand in need of” is advocated by District Judge Clark M. Mulligan of Lubbock, who also favors no more tax-free bonds, and urges the issuance of non-interest bearing currency up to two and one-half times the value of gold and silver reserves in lieu of interest-bearing bonds as the necessity may arise.

“Land monopolists are farming great bodies of our most fertile land with the tractor and other improved machinery for their own selfish gain, creating a great surplus of farm products,” declares J. A. (Swede) Johnson, Dawson County farmer. “As those machines in the hands of a few big landholders are pushing millions of tenant farmers into the ranks of the unemployed, our government should issue non-interest bearing money, buy all large bodies of land that are held for monopoly, rent or speculation, cut it up into small farms or ranches and sell it to homeless people on terms set forth in the Frazer-Ranske bill.”

The Army and Navy should be put in peace-time peo performance service such as engineering or other undertakings, and not supply to parade on holidays,” thinks District Judge Homer L. Pharr of Lubbock.

The Army could well be used to suppress and curb crime, but how to carry throughout the Nation.

He is for repeal of the “misadventure” law—an existing law which penalizes Senator Arthur P. Duggan of Lubbock for an “honest dollar” which he has explained.

“Congress should determine the proper parity between the value of the dollar and the price of commodity products, then fix a standard price index and automatically maintain it by law. An honest dollar must depend on a composite of all vitally needed commodities, not on one or two, as gold or silver.”

Those who fail to carry out the will of the people should be immediately recalled, says H. Thompson of Plainview, former practicing attorney and merchant, now a farm association organizer, states. His proposed concentration of wealth in the hands

The TIRE SENSATION of '34

THE NEW Firestone CENTURY PROGRESS TIRE

Beyond Comparison IN QUALITY AND PRICE WITH ANY FIRST QUALITY TIRE MADE

As the millions of World's Fair visitors saw tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibit Building, we asked thousands this question: "What do you value most in a tire?" Car owners from every state in the Union were interviewed—drivers of automobiles, trucks, busses—out of it all came one composite answer: "Give us Blowout Protection, Non-Skid Safety, and Long Wear, at a moderate price."

Firestone engineers used every conceivable resource in the development of a tire embodying these qualifications and selling to the public at a price within the reach of every car owner. Answer — the new Firestone Century Progress Tire.

COMPARE QUALITY—CONSTRUCTION—PRICE

This new tire is equal or superior to any other first quality tire, regardless of brand—name—or by whom manufactured, or at what price offered for sale. Call on the Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store and examine it. You will be sold on the rugged quality and will want to equip your car with these new tires.

REMEMBER — you save money buying today, as rubber has advanced 442% and cotton 190%, and tire prices cannot remain at these low levels.
