(Special to The Record) LITTLEFIELD, Texas.—George Mahon, leading candidate for congress in the first primary, opened his run-off campaign in Littlefield Saturday. He spoke to one of the largest political crowds of the year and was accorded a warm reception by the citizenship of Lamb county.

Mr. Mahon discussed his platform fully, making clear his stand upon issues of the campaign. He pointed out that the problems of agriculture were of primary importance in the new 19th district. He indicated that he favored a farm program for the farmer, including tariff adjustments designed to expand our foreign trade and provide markets for our products. In explaining his stand on the bonus question, he said, "I favor immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus, and the passage of a universal draft act mobilizing both industry and men and taking the profit out of war."

He stressed forcefully the fact that he was asking to represent all the people of the entire district. He stated that he intended to carry on an aggressive campaign from now until the 25th of August, carrying his message to the people in the same manner that he used through out the first primary. He expressed his gratefulness for the endorsement which was given him at the polls on July 28th when he received 19,524 votes while his nearest opponent received 10,881.

Forty Eight Motorists Given Tickets Saturday Charging Traffic Violations

A total of forty eight motorists Saturday were placed under technical arrest after violating municipal traffic ordinances. Most of the charges were based on running stop signals.

Mayor J. A. Sadler stated Monday morning that twenty five of the number had called at his office in the municipal building to pay stipulated fine of $5. There were some citizens given extension of time after they had explained they were temporarily without funds. Others, given card for driving on wrong side of street intersection, were excused after admonished to not permit the offense to happen again.

"We have encountered only one Colorado citizen who announces intention to fight the charges against him," Sadler said. The man accused explained to Mayor Sadler that the fine of $5 was "entirely too high."

Two special patrolmen were detailed for duty along Chestnut, Hickory and Second streets during Saturday and Sunday.

The city has declared war on reckless driving, including the running over of stop signs, turning corners on wrong side of the street and other acts calculated to break down safety to the public. It is expected that a number of additional arrests will be announced, unless the motorist becomes thoughtful enough to consider that the council really means business.

ELECTION RESULTS STAND UNCHANGED AFTER COUNTY EXECUTIVE BOARD'S COUNT

Ballard, However, Loses 40 Votes At Loraine, Cutting Lead Over Thompson

Unofficial returns of the Democratic primary election July 28, as published in The Record a week ago stand unchanged with one exception after official tabulation Saturday by members of the county executive committee. An error in Loraine tallies for district clerk reduced lead of Ballard over Mrs. Thompson, runner-up. Loraine previously reported Ballard received 245 votes to 377 for Mrs. Thompson. The corrected vote is 205 for Ballard at that box.

Hops that the county commissioners' court will yet give consideration to petition that one or more additional voting boxes be established in Colorado is being expressed here. Returns from the Colorado box were not available for several hours after reports had been received from other precincts, due to extra work facing the tally clerks.

There are several communities not as large as Colorado having two or more voting wards, it has been pointed out a number of times. Snyder is frequently referred to in this respect. A Colorado citizen recalled only this week that Slaton, in Lubbock county, not polling as many votes as Colorado, has four voting precincts.

PRICE ADVANCES NEAR 50 POINTS ON HEELS OF U. S. ESTIMATE OF PRODUCTION

T. Y. Hammonds of Buford Delivers First Bale To Colorado Saturday

Mitchell county has formally opened another cotton season, this time facing one of the shortest crops with in recent years. Scared by continued drought and scorching rays of a torrid sun through most of the growing season farmers of the Colorado territory will harvest an estimated forty per cent of the yield in 1933.

Federal estimate on the nation's crop yield, issued at Washington Wednesday, was the lowest since 1921, setting a new low level for the 13 years of 9,195,000 bales. In Texas, as the estimate is 2,382,000 bales, approximately one-half the number of bales harvested from the crop of a year ago.

Prices on the commodity soared upward from $2.00 to $2.45 a bale after the government report was made public. Thursday morning the market held firm, registering another advance of from two to three points. Local observers are of the opinion additional advances are due, as sequel to one of the most universal crop shortages the country has known in years.

In Mitchell county the season was formally opened Saturday when T. Y. Hammonds of Buford brought the first bale to be received here for ginning. The bale, handled by the Farmers Gin Company, weighed 680 pounds. Local merchants subscribed to a premium for the grower. Second bale came in Monday and was ginned at the Concrete Gin.

J. M. New, resident manager for the West Texas Cotton Growers' association, told The Record Thursday morning that a survey of crop conditions in the county suggested an indicated crop of 8,000 bales. The figure is forty per cent of the 22,000 bale crop harvested from the crop of 1933.

places in and around Colorado, a group of art-minded children and Town.

A portion of the view from Mrs.
Haltom's studio window on the fifth floor of the Colorado Hotel afforded the suggestion for perhaps the most unusual painting of all. The orange-colored buildings of the Rockwell Bros. Lumber Company are in the foreground, and behind them the gleaming tin of the Farmers Gin.

Among Mrs. Haltom's pupils for COUNTY CENTENNIAL BOARD ORGANIZATION PERFECTED AT MEETING IN COLORADO

Centennial Week To Open On Monday Will Be Observed; Mrs. Merritt Leads

Organization of the Mitchell County Centennial Board was perfected at a meeting of the group members held in Colorado last week. Mrs. J. G. Merritt of Colorado was elected chairman, J. C. Hall of Lorraine vice chairman, J. H. Greene, Colorado secretary-treasurer and W. S. Cooper of Colorado publicity director.

Purpose of the organization is to cooperate with similar units throughout the State in popularizing the Texas Centennial celebration to be given during 1936. An educational campaign seeking to influence the citizenship of this county to lend every cooperation to the move is being mapped, Mrs. Merritt stated Wednesday morning.

Acting upon recommendation of the county chairman that Colorado unite with other cities of the State in commemorating the week of August 13 as Texas Centennial Week, Mayor J. A. Sadler Wednesday morning issued the following proclamation:

"By official proclamation her excellency, Miriam A. Ferguson, governor of the State of Texas, has set apart the week of August 13 as Texas Centennial Week, during which time every Texan is called upon to think-talk-write Texas Centennial for 1936.

"In pursuance of such proclamation, I, J. A. Sadler, mayor of the City of Colorado, by virtue of the authority in me vested officially proclaim and set apart such Centennial Week within our borders and call upon the entire citizenship to put its shoulders to the wheel, wage an intensive campaign of education to intend that all Texans be now committed to the necessity of staging in this State during 1936 a great exhibition honoring the memory of our heroic fathers, portraying the advancement of the last century and forecasting the progress yet to come."

Colorado Conceded 'Richest Background' By West Texas Historical Society Head

The "richest historical background of any town in West Texas" was attributed to Colorado by Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, president of the West Texas Historical Society, in an interview with Mrs. Hollis Hatton of Colorado in Sweetwater last week.

Judge Crane stated that he had been gathering data on the early days of West Texas for a number of years, and that he had found the most interesting facts concerned with Colorado and vicinity.

Touching lightly on some of these, he recalled how cattlemen were kept off the inviting grasslands in this section for many years by bands of marauding Indians. The Indians were attracted by the huge herds of buffalo which roamed here. Their raids were stopped when the U. S. army deprived them of their horses, but not before the range was white with buffalo bones. Later, when the cattlemen moved in on the ranges, these bones were gathered up in wagons and hauled and dumped beside the rail road tracks, there to be taken up and shipped elsewhere. That was after Colorado was born.

CHALLENGE THAT LIONISM 'MAKE GOOD' AS BUILDER OF CITIZENSHIP IS HEARD

Speakers At Club Friday Go On Record As Favoring Definite Objective

While standing at the top in material and enlightenment phases of citizenship the American people are today content with a crime condition not to be approached by any other of the leading nations of earth, members of the Lions Club were told Friday during an address by President Dave Bridgford.

Dr. Bridgford who recently returned from annual convention of the International Association of Lions Clubs at Grand Rapids, Michigan, was giving some of the impressions that came to him during sessions of the meeting. "I wish that I was capable of bringing to you some of the great inspirations that swept the more than 2,000 registered delegates attending that great convention," he said.

"Major objective enunciated by keynote speakers at the convention demanded that we people of America declare a state of war against crime and arrest the ever mounting challenge to civilization sponsored in race suicide. We were deeply impressed with the place that Lionism must play in restoring this country to its rightful place as a leader among the nations of earth's men outstanding in their communities and State and for a determined individual effort to set up the tenets of Lionism as our ideal in reaching the young people of America.

"I was deeply impressed with sincerity attending those more than 90 Lions making up delegation from Mexico City. It was to be seen that they were leaders in affairs of the republic to the south of us and came to Grand Rapids actually bubbling over with influences that our organization is supposed to sponsor. We should send a delegation of 25 Lions to the International convention in Mexico City next summer."

"We have a service club (so-called), a country club, fifteen bridge clubs but not one single organization looking to leadership among our young people," Rev. Dick O'Brien charged after address of the club president. "The great problem confronting the churches of Colorado today is to find some one with patience enough to assume leadership in an organization calculated to do something for the young people. I have the information that Colorado is the largest community in this country in which there is not to be found a unit of the Boy Scouts of America. Surely we should sponsor such a move, along with a Camp Fire chapter for our girls." Statement by the minister elicited more than one "Amen" from among the lions present.

W. W. Porter offered motion that a committee of five be named by the chair to outline program looking to special work among the youth of Colorado. The motion prevailed and Dr. Bridgford stated the committee personnel would be announced at meeting today.

J. Ralph Lee, another delegate attending the Grand Rapids convention, spoke briefly, outlining some of the features that were impressive. It was stated that Hayes Holman, third member of the delegation would speak later, giving his impressions of the meeting.

Remnants Of 117th Supply Train, 42nd Division, Gathered At Colorado Sunday

Sunday was another eventful milestone in experience of 21 men who during 1918 and 1919 saw 18 months service along the front in France as members of the 117th Supply Train, 42nd Division, of the American Expeditionary Forces. They were assembled at Raddick Park in annual reunion.

Colorado men who were members of the outfit have stated to The Record the occasion was one long to be remembered. It was the first time in several years that friendships, made lasting through experiences as soldiers in France, had greeted each other and together recounted many of the never-to-be-forgotten impressions that were stamped in their lives during the months they were on foreign soil.

The men were enlisted at Big Spring and under command of Captain Jas. T. Brooks went into training at Camp Bowie. From there they were transferred to Camp Mills, New York, before embarking for France and the front. Some of the men recalled Sunday afternoon that the Supply Train saw service along nine different fronts, every day of which was attended with unique experiences some of them humorous and others pathetic.

"We were like the Irishman working on the brick building," explained Roy Dozier Tuesday as he, Bun Pritchett and other members of the outfit discussed the part played by their supply train during the war. "The Irishman explained to a passerby that he was not working on the building. He was merely toting up brick and mortar and the fellow on top of the wall was doing the work."

"That was our mission in France," said Dozier. "We operated trucks from the supply base to see to it that the men in the trenches and other segments along the front were fed."

As the visitors arrived in Colorado they were directed out to the park where ample provision for their entertainment had been made by members of the host group. There were no speeches, the men preferring to renew old friendships and sitting down together live over again in their mind some of the high spots attending their stay in France.

Captain John E. Watson, John Howell, commander of Oran C. Hooker Post, American Legion, and Mrs. J. G. Merritt, prominent in affairs of the Legion Auxiliary, were invited as honor guests. Captain Watson, so it developed, was popularly known in France as "Two-Gun Texas." He was attached to the 166th Infantry, Iowa regiment of the famous Rainbow division.

It was in August, 1917, that the men reached New York on their first advance to the war torn battle front in Europe. There they remained until October when passage to Brest was obtained. They landed on French soil late during that month.

The ensuing winter months were spent at Aubevois and Rolaumont, France. Luneville, Baccaret and Champagne were other concentration points to which the contingent was sent before finally going to Chateau Thierry and the Aisne and Marne offensives in July and August of 1918. During September and October the men saw service along the fronts known as St. Mihiel and the Argonne. Among battle engagements listed in orders by General Pershing and in which the men had part were the Luneville, Baccaret, Champagne, Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Essey and Pannes, Meuse-Argonne and others.

November 10, 1918 to April 20, 1919, the men were doing service in Germany. They were demobilized May 15, 1919.

Men registered at the gathering included the following members of the 117th Supply Train:

Roy Dozier, J. B. Pritchett, C. O. Powell, Willie Key, Lister Ratliff and Floyd Quinney of Colorado; J. H. Brown, Melton Hampton, and John B. Majors of Sweetwater; Captain Jas. T. Brooks, Dee Foster, Troy Marchbanks, John Miller, Tom W. Cantrill, Cecil Wasson, Buck Hull and T. Y. Robb of Big Spring; Bud Williams of Lubbock; Roy Denman of Roscoe; K. A. Powell of Plainview and Sam C. Thompson of Stephenville.

Operating Record Offered To Truck Operators Free

What every truck owner ought to know—now much his fleet operations cost, which drivers are doing the best jobs, which type and make of equipment is the most economical, which vehicles are costing so much that they should be replaced—can be ascertained with a minimum of paper work by use of a copyrighted "Owners' Simplified Operating Record" made available to all truck users by the Chevrolet Motor Company through its dealers everywhere.

The new simplified operating record, according to W. E. Fish, manager of the Chevrolet commercial department, is especially well designed to fit the needs of individual operators of small fleets of trucks.

The system provides the owner with a small record book, one for each vehicle, containing a sheet for each day's record (to be filled in by the driver) and a monthly summary sheet on which the daily entries are totaled. Comparison of the summaries at the end of the month will give a definite figure on the relative operating costs of each vehicle in the fleet.

The record not only informs the operator what his fleet operation is costing him, but enables him to judge the comparative merits of his drivers.

assists him in making income tax returns and in complying with the Code, shows him the comparative operating costs of various types and makes of equipment, gives him a guide for the use of a bonus system reveals which units should be replaced because of undue operating expenses, and if salesmen-drivers are used, enables him to tell which men are operating most profitably.

DELANEY THANKS VOTER FOR SUPPORT IN RACE

Jack Delaney, reelected constable of Precinct 1, requests this newspaper to state for him that he appreciates very much the support given his candidacy. "I shall strive to continue to merit the confidence of this people by giving them a fair administration of the office," he said. (Pol. adv. pd.)

LEACH PLANS ENTERING 'HAT IN RING' IN 1936

G. R. Leach of Westbrook requests that The Record represent him in expressing his sincere appreciation to his Mitchell county friends for the liberal support given his candidacy for tax assessor and collector. "I appreciate very much the splendid vote given my candidacy," he said. "I will have my hat in the ring two years hence." (Pol. adv. pd.)

TO THE VOTERS OF MITCHELL COUNTY

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the voters of Mitchell County for their vote and support given me in the July Primary. No man has had more loyal friends than I. I shall never be able to repay my many friends, who have so earnestly supported my cause for their efforts in my behalf. I deeply appreciate the many new friends I have made during the campaign, and for the renewing of the many old acquaintances, and for every favor shown me during the entire campaign.

I have been offered the opportunity of associating myself with Judge D. Barker of Sweetwater, in the practice of law. I consider this an excellent opportunity for me, and I am therefore withdrawing from the race of District Attorney and accepting this offer. After August 15th, I will be associated with Judge J. D. Barker at the Levy Building, Sweetwater, Texas, in the practice under the firm name of Barker & Cornelius.

To extend my appreciation to both of my opponents for the campaign they conducted. I also wish to congratulate W. Outlaw, in whose favor I am withdrawing, on his excellent campaign. I am withdrawing from the race having no ill feeling towards him, and I shall be of every assistance possible in helping him to make the people of this District a successful Democracy.

Sincerely yours,
J. R. CORNELIUS

Humming Birds in Alaska

Alaska is a favorite feeding ground for thousands of humming birds, says Nature Magazine. In June they migrate through southeastern Alaska. Bird students estimate that it is only a day's flight for these little birds from the state of Washington or southern British Columbia, where they leave the Scotch broom and wild currant for the Alaska blueberry blossoms.

MITCHELL CLUBWOMEN HAD LEADING PART AT A. & M. SHORT COURSE

Miss Gentry Declares Course Not Only The Largest But Also One Of The Best

Having taken a leading and unusually active part in the largest and one of the most successful short courses ever held at A. & M. college, Mitchell County rural clubwomen and girls returned from Bryan last week.

Mrs. Lee M. Jones of the Plainview Club was one of the clubwomen helping to put the program over by giving instruction in the making of candlewick pillow tops. Forty tops were completed in this branch of work and others started.

Mrs. M. A. Webb of Looney helped to teach 128 clubwomen how to make fabric gloves. She gave out over 400 glove patterns. Her work was under the supervision of Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist of A. & M.

Mrs. T. P. Smallwood of the Hyman Club took the course in Community Recreation, and states that she feels she must attend again next year because of the forming of a Recreational Organization as a branch of the State Home Demonstration Association.

Mrs. W. K. Miles of the Looney Club acted as hostess in the Key Cottage, model home built by the lumber men of Texas and presented to the state for the State Agents' Home. Around 3,000 people went through this cottage during the Short Course.

Mrs. Ollie Harris of Iatan, spent a big portion of her time at the Community Work Center, where all types of home industry, such as the making of mattresses, ropes, samfort, rugs, leather work, chair seating, peanut butter, tiles, chairs, syring, the cracking of wheat and the sawing of lumber, were carried on each day.

Miss Novalee Groom of Lone Star, winner in the county bedroom improvement contest for 4-H club girls, attended the program scheduled for club girls during the week and was a guest on Tuesday night at a special banquet for Bedroom Improvement demonstrators.

Miss Emma Genter, county home demonstration agent who attended the course with the women, states: "Not only was this the largest Short Course ever held in Texas but it was also one of the most instructive and most enjoyable. Such speakers as Bishop Frank A. Smith, Miss Peggy Morris, Mrs. Elvise Skelley, Miss Edwin Sue Goree, Miss Mary Wilson, Dr. Charles Selemson, Miss Sallie Hill and a score of others were in themselves alone worth the price of attending."

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR, WRECKED IN HEALTH BY SHELL SHOCK, ENDS LIFE

Cleveland Sheppard, Brother Mrs. Chas. Ezell, Found Dying After Shot

Cleveland Sheppard, 12, veteran of the World War, Saturday afternoon took his life in suicide while visiting at the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ezell of seven miles northeast from Colorado. Sheppard was a resident of Wood county.

While serving with the American forces during the World War Sheppard was shell shocked to such extent as to never recover. Members of the family advance the opinion the man took his life only after arriving at the conclusion he would never regain his depleted health.

Sheppard occupied a small cabin built onto a motor car trailer. He had parked the cabin in yard of the Ezell home. Saturday afternoon a noise was heard in the cabin. Members of the family thought for a time it must have been made by the slamming of a door. Mr. Ezell went to the cabin in a few minutes and found Sheppard prostrate on the floor, a bullet hole through his head and a .38 calibre automatic pistol grasped in his hand. He was still breathing but died a short time later.

Sheppard offered no intimation that he planned taking his life, even immediately before sending the fatal pistol shot through his brain, members of the family told the investigating officials. After dinner he remarked that he would go into his room to shave and "clean up a bit."

When report of the shot was heard, Mrs. Ezell requested her daughter to go and see what "Uncle Cleveland is shooting at." The child suggested, that he was shooting at nothing. The noise was that of a door slamming shut.

After a time Mr. Ezell stated to Mrs. Ezell that he would come into Colorado and went by Sheppard's room to see if he wanted to accompany him. The man was found slumped on the floor underneath a mirror before which he had finished shaving.

Peace Justice V. S. Stoneham and County Attorney Del Barber who were called to the scene found that Sheppard came to his death by pistol shot, self inflicted.

The body was brought to Colorado by Kiker & Son and Sunday morning forwarded to Mineola. Funeral services were conducted at Sand Springs, near Mineola, with burial in the family plot there. A half brother, F. V. Mize of Amarillo and Mrs. Ezell accompanied the body from Colorado. A brother, Frank W. Sheppard of Kerrville, drove through from his home to Mineola Sunday.

Other surviving relatives include two half brothers, J. W. Mize and Leroy Mize of Golden, Texas, and one half-sister, Mrs. W. M. Herring of Chandler.

Clint Small, one of the candidates defeated Saturday, August 28, for governor, has announced that he will support Tom Hunter in the run-off. He offers no suggestion, however, as to how those supporting him in the first primary should vote.

Slayer Of Woman At Wichita Falls Once Lived Here

Mrs. Wilma Harrison, who will be remembered by Coloradans as the wife of Byron Harrison, a resident of Colorado over fourteen years ago and a brother of Luther Harrison, is charged with the slaying of Mrs. Coir Hawthorne, 30, in a Wichita Falls grocery store Saturday.

Following is a portion of the account of the shooting appearing in daily papers Sunday:

"Mrs. Harrison told officers Mrs. Hawthorne had associated with her husband and said her husband had told her of several such meetings. She waived a preliminary hearing and was held under $5,000 bond pending grand jury action. Details of her statement and of the actual shooting were withheld.

"Mrs. Hawthorne was shot twice, one bullet entering the temple and another the chest. Both were fired in rapid succession and then the woman walked to the street and surrendered to a traffic officer.

"Mrs. Harrison's daughter, Betty, who will be 12 years old Sunday, accompanied her mother to the store, and told detectives she walked across the store when her mother approached Mrs. Hawthorne."

Whitt Harrison lived in Colorado he owned and operated a shoe shop, and Hope Harrington worked for him when he and Mrs. Harrington first moved to Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison had no children when they lived here.

CORNELIUS WITHDRAWS AS CONTESTANT FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY, PAPER STATES

George Outlaw, Leading For Place, Unopposed For The Nomination

George Outlaw, Nolan county attorney, is to enter the November general election as nominee of the democratic party for district attorney of the 32nd judicial district, according to announcement carried in the Sweetwater Daily Reporter Sunday morning. J. R. Cornelius, runner-up for the office, has withdrawn and will not contest in the August primary, so the paper said.

Announcing withdrawal of Cornelius, The Reporter said: George W. Outlaw of Sweetwater, rounding out his term as county attorney, is to step into a higher office—that of district attorney, which he sought in the recent democratic primaries, only to lack a majority over both opponents by 513 votes.

The office was assured Mr. Outlaw when it was announced Saturday by J. R. Cornelius, his opponent in the run-off on August 25, that he was withdrawing from the race to form a partnership here for practice of law.

Of the 10,501 votes cast in the district, Mr. Outlaw received 4,737. Mr. Cornelius was runner-up with 3,384 votes, while V. Earl Baur received 2,380 votes.

Mr. Cornelius announced he was withdrawing from the race to become a partner of J. D. Barker, Sweetwater attorney, the firm to practice under the name of Barker & Cornelius.

In making his statement, Mr. Cornelius said, "I extend my appreciation to both of my opponents for the clean campaign they conducted. I also congratulate Mr. Outlaw, in whose favor I am withdrawing, on his excellent race. I am withdrawing from the race having ill will toward no one, and I shall be of every assistance possible to Mr. Outlaw in helping him make a successful district attorney."

Texas Cattle Being Depleted As Federal Funds Buy Animals

The great herds of Texas cattle—pride of the broad Lone Star range—soon will be temporarily at least, depleted, having fallen victims to the withering drought that parched the ranch country.

The federal surplus relief corporation already has bought 200,000 head with purchases continuing at the rate of 20,000 per day. It is the greatest movement of Texas cattle in modern times.

The government is buying cattle in 192 of Texas' 254 counties with probability the purchases will be extended into other counties as the effect of the relentless drought spreads.

In La Salle county, where much of the cattle is being concentrated from 40 to 60 carloads are shipped daily. Cattle purchases in Frio county alone, already total about $288,000.

Nearly 2,200 head each day are slaughtered for canning in the 13 federal canneries in Texas for distribution to relief clients. Another 10,000 daily are shipped to slaughter plants in other parts of the nation and 8,000 daily are turned into pens or pastures operated by the government.

C. Z. Crain, head of the surplus commodities distribution department of the Texas relief commission, has warned the government will not purchase sick infested cattle because of the expense of segregating them and removing the ticks.

The state livestock sanitary commission and the federal bureau of animal husbandry are cooperating in inspecting herds from quarantined counties. Only approved herds will be permitted to move.

Crain said ranchers should have their herds inspected before driving them to the government pens because if they are found unclean the owners will have to drive them back to the range.

Chevrolets Proven Popular In Foreign Tests, Report Says

Pictorial and written reports to Chevrolet sales officials during the past week reflect the unprecedented popularity of Chevrolet Motor Company's products in foreign fields.

Participating in the Concurso de Elegancia, a fashion show and exhibit held recently at Sitges, an exclusive seaside resort in Spain, a Chevrolet Cabriolet had no difficulty securing the silver cup award in an exhibit made up of many famous competing cars, according to one dispatch.

Japan reports that a Chevrolet caravan consisting of 20 units, ranging from the deluxe sedan in the passenger car group to the 157-inch wheelbase six-wheel truck, toured northeastern and central sections of that country, leaving Osaka April 29 and staying in the field until July 2. More than two million people attended the showing of the caravan units and were entertained at these showings by a "talkie" film, part of the caravan's equipment, in which professional actors posed as Japanese workmen assembling Chevrolet cars.

Another feature of the caravan was the magnificenty equipped Chevrolet "marior coach," a home on wheels, which greatly interested His Imperial Highness, Prince Chichibu of Japan.

The city of Khartoum, Egypt, recently augmented its transportation facilities with a fleet of modern Chevrolet taxicabs driven by native personnel.

New Zealand motorists, reports Mantel Motors, Ltd., of Wellington, call the new knee-action Chevrolet "the wonder car of 1934." Sales this year, Mantel states, greatly exceeded last year.

Silvertown Sales Show Big Increase Local Dealer Says

The growing national demand for Silvertown tires with the Life-Saver Golden Ply is indicated by recent preliminary sales figures for 1933 released by The B. E. Goodrich Company, according to J. Brown, resident dealer.

"Unit sales of Silvertowns last year showed more than a ten per cent increase and this excellent showing is generally attributed to the product," Mr. Brown declared.

"Almost everyone who drives a car realizes the potential hazards of blowouts. Statistics prepared by various agencies indicate clearly that thousands of accidents, many of which result in death or serious injury, are caused annually by tire failures.

"Golden Ply tires are engineered to resist heat inside the casings which if sustained will cause ply separation, a major cause of blow-outs.

"The engineering advances made by all automotive manufacturers enabling them to build cars which will easily travel in excess of 70 miles an hour brought new problems for the tire producers.

"Tires were subjected to much higher normal driving speeds than ever before and the problem of heat generated inside the tires became a real concern to rubber engineers.

"After two years of intensive study and thousands of tests, many of which were conducted on the fastest automobile track in America, Goodrich announced its new tire created to meet modern driving conditions.

"At the outset many car owners thought here was simply another tire but the convincing results of hundreds of thousands of driving miles in all parts of the United States has brought—the increasing popular demand."

MAXIMUM TAX RATE OF 77 CENTS FIXED BY BOARD AT AUSTIN

The state automatic tax board met at Austin Saturday and set a tax rate of 77 cents per $100 valuation, the constitutional limit.

A rate of 25 cents was applied for the general revenue fund; 35 cents for the available school fund; and 7 cents for the confederate pension fund, totaling 77 cents.

Financial statements presented to the tax board reveals that a rate of 80.1 cents would be required to discharge the deficit in the general revenue fund. The constitution, however, limits the rate to a maximum of 77 cents.

Similarly, a rate of 35.5 cents would be required to pay the amount due the available school fund, but the board was limited by law again, to 35 cents.

Accrued deficit in the general revenue fund as of August 31, 1933, amounted to $9,377,619.75. Estimates submitted to the board, showed the accrued deficit on August 31 this year would be $7,577,310.52 and on August 31, 1935, would be $6,329,577.19.

TAX-FREE BUSINESS Municipal, state and government business projects which now enjoy tax exemption in their competition with private citizens and taxpayers in many lines of business, are being attacked by overburdened taxpayers who have to make up the tax revenue caused by such publicly subsidized political experiments.

The United States Supreme Court rendered an important decision in the case of the State of Ohio vs. Commissioner of Internal Revenue. They could hold that when a state goes into a private business its operations are subject to federal taxation.

The State of Ohio sought to enjoin the collection of federal excise taxes from a state engaged in the distribution and sale of liquor. The court said:

"The immunity of the state from federal taxation is limited to those agencies which are of a governmental character. Whenever a state engages in a business of a private nature it exercises nongovernmental functions, and the business, though conducted by the state, is not immune from the exercise of the power of taxation which the constitution vests in the Congress.

"If a state chooses to go into the business of buying and selling commodities... the exercise of the right is not the performance of a governmental function... When a state enters a marketplace seeking customers it divests itself of its quasi-sovereignty pro tanto, and takes the character of a trader, so far at least as the taxing power of the federal government is concerned."

The waterfowl show at the 1934 State Fair of Texas, will be one of the most elaborate of its kind ever held in the entire South, it has been announced by Walter Burton, superintendent of the Poultry Department. Many new tanks for geese, Chinese Ganders, wild and domesticated ducks and other water fowls have been added for the show this year.

PESSIMISTIC

This column publishes below a letter from Cyclone Davis which we would like for every Record reader to read. Here is the letter:

"I have read with much interest your editorials about the National Government in the Philippines and the NRA. Both of these laws were pitiful, spurious and unnecessary. If some strong Government had us on trial as a Government, what would be their verdict? They would find greed and graft running rampant in almost every avenue of Government. Strikes, riots, robbery, murder, savage brutality, a bedlam of bankruptcy, bread line beggary, suffering and starvation among the masses. They'd find imposing voluptuous wealth, rapine, plunder and pillage carried on by an aristocracy of financial freebooters, who dominate the country with more cruel rapidity and heartless greed than the kings, dukes and earls of the feudal ages did in Europe. Their verdict would likely say that beginning with the grandest pattern of Government ever known and among the grandest inheritance of domain and national wealth that any country ever had, we frittered it away, and had now prostituted every avenue of Government to the base service of a ruling class of rapacious, rich corporation cannibals, financial freebooters and big business brigands, who from their castles surrounded with all the flummery of kingly grandeur, look on the millions of plain people as a flock of sheep to be sheared regularly. And millions of people have been sheared naked and bare by their venal rapacity. They could repeat a paragraph from Jackson's farewell message saying, "We still had the spurious form of a Republic but its living spirit had departed."

The NRA was formed in the convulsive brain storms of an obsequious and obdurate brain trust to reduce the output of everything to level of an impoverished, bankrupt and paperized people. There was plenty of idle gold eighty feet under the Treasury Building to put the legal 40c in gold behind every dollar of 2,000,000,000 necessary to pay the soldiers the just debt we owed them. That would have been a God-send to the country. Then if the President had opened the mints to silver on a parity with gold, as under the "Coin law of 1871," as Congress authorized him to do, 300,000 men would have gone to digging and coining billions of silver and Wall street would have gotten no rake-off. That money would have stayed in circulation. Then coined $2,000,000,000 of paper money as Congress authorized him to do, which he refused to do. Then as Jefferson said, "issue 2,000,000,000 on State bonds, by a just reparation to the States to be used by them in building public roads, public buildings, schools, colleges and seminaries of learning." Wall street would have gotten no rake-off out of all these billions. But the brain trust would not let these things be done and made the President follow Hoover's example and borrow billions, binding the living and unborn to nontaxable bond holders. To refuse to coin $6,000,000,000 and borrow $10,000,000,000 was a great mistake, a cruel calamity. He and Hoover borrowed billions and poured most of it into the lap of Dives, thinking Lazarus would get more crumbs. While millions were hungry, homeless and destitute in a land of plenty, they began to destroy the plenty and leave the starvation and misery to haunt the hungry people. Among the freakish foibles of that brain trust in the new deal was to kill the sows to keep them from having pigs; kill the cows to keep them from having calves and introduce a bill in Congress to legalize birth control to keep the women from having children. They couldn't kill the women like they did the sows and cows but they took another route to limit the output of people. About that time the President with a heart swell for suffering innocence set out $6,000,000 of the borrowed money to feed the starving babies of New York. These poor helpless victims of Wall street's rapacity starving in the shadow of the mansions of the predatory gang the rules and laws of this country. The convolutions of the brain trust never evolved any method to increase consumption, which is the only thing that will ever cure our calamitous condition. Destroy what we have, keep up deflation debt, distress destitution and final damnation will be the climax. A sun-baked, sun-cooked, sun-scorched continent is finishing the plan of destruction carried on by the brain trust last year. Hoover and Roosevelt refused to coin money for the people and have borrowed about $20,000,000,000, making the national debt nearly $35,000,000,000, drawing 7 per cent interest. Next year will be the hardest year in our history unless the brain trust reverses its program entirely.

THE 23RD PSALM

It was customary for the congregation at one of the churches to repeat in unison the 23rd Psalm. One old lady by the time she reached the still waters had the rest of us lying down in green pastures.

The 23rd Psalm is one of the sweetest and most consoling passages in all the Bible. Was there ever a more beautiful depiction of a bucolic content?

"He leadeth me beside the still waters. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures." The modern version might be, "He showeth me the great river alive with ships. He let me rest a moment in a grassy park." But a river-crowded with craft and a park which forbids leisure are impossible to match against "still waters and green pastures." No man's soul sings when in a crowd. Crowds dissipate the meditations of a musing person. One cannot cultivate his mind, can not loaf and invite his soul, when urged along by the throng. Inward culture must have room in which to expand itself, and such expansion can not be had when the multitude presses.

God seems always to have special consideration of the contemplative man. He gave Adam a great garden and expected the latter to enjoy its beauty and profit by its inspiration. But Adam got lonesome. He wanted company, and to humor him, Eve was invented. That only made matters worse. Adam was lonesome without Eve, and Eve was lonesome without Adam. From that time onward the world has been getting away from still waters and green pastures. It has crowded into cities, and grown more morbid the while. The crowd would turn back on a field of asphodel in order to look at a dead outlaw in an undertaker's mortuary, or see and applaud a sardonic moving picture.

THE BUSY BEE

"Go to the ant thou sluggard and get wisdom." The Busy Bee is an emblem of industry. The bee's methods are the same today as when Sappho kept an apiary in Lesbos, and whose honeyed kiss gave Alcaeus dyspepsia. The best thing about a bee is that it is so earnest in its work that it doesn't take time to be depressed over the low yield of wild blossoms. We have noticed that, and also that when there is a scarcity of blossoms that it sometimes "depresses" itself on the human race and in those cases human beings do not take time to think about the depression or anything else. The bee never bothers man unless man bothers the bee. The bee is the most serious minded of all the hymenoptera, more serious than the genus humanus. The bee attends to its own business, seeking work wherever it may be found and not grumbling at the wages. If it has to fly twenty miles to find a job it flies the twenty miles. But it can express disapproval of any interference in its personal bee business. And it expresses itself in a positive manner. In times of general drouth the bee's wages are very low. It often works all day for a wage that could be put through the eye of a needle. But little as the wage may be a portion of it is put away against the winter's blight. The bee knows there is going to be a winter without consulting the almanac, so it provides against the forthcoming unemployment. From what lessons we are trying to teach about the bee some of our readers might suppose we rate the bee's intelligence higher than that of man. But not so. We think more highly of some men than bees. Men are statesmen, warriors, scientists, journalists, columnists, preachers and liars and other great things. Bees on the other hand are unprogressive, unaware that the twentieth century isn't the tenth century, ignorant of the advancement out of medievalism into modernism. The bee is the same old bee, but man oh, what isn't he? Mark how the neat assiduous bee Pattern of frugal industry Pursues her earnest toil All day the pleasing task she plies And to her cell at evening hies Enriched with golden spoil. E. B. W.

Things you may not know about your telephone

In 1876 Alexander Graham Bell finally perfected his telephone. The first voice heard over wires was Bell's when he called through his instrument to his assistant, Thomas Watson, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you."

Almost unnoticed at the great Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, Bell realized his problem was but half solved. He had his telephone, but how was he to convince people they could send their voice over thin metal wires?

Bell wisely left that problem to his father-in-law, Gardiner G. Hubbard, Hubbard and a group of friends hit upon the idea of licensing other companies to use Bell's patents. In exchange, they accepted stock in these companies.

FOR YOU... Good Service at Fair Cost

THIS was laid the groundwork for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of today... the parent organization of the 24 regional operating companies, of which the Southwestern Company is one.

Over more than 50 years of operation, the fundamental policy of the Bell group, as guided by this parent organization, has been to give good telephone service at a fair cost.

This policy has been adopted because we feel that, from your standpoint as much as from our own, it is sound and workable. It is based upon the belief that in an undertaking planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user brings in the end the policy that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company

We like to have people know how the telephone works. If you would be interested in a peek behind the scenes, so to speak - in finding out how your telephone calls are handled - just drop by the telephone office. We shall be glad to show you through.

TYPHUS FEVER GROWING IN TEXAS, STATE HEALTH OFFICIAL WARNS PUBLIC

AUSTIN—Typhus fever is on the increase in Texas, said Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, "and the rat is the cause of its spread. Old World typhus fever has a high death rate, while the type we have in Texas, sometimes called Brill's disease, has a low death rate. It occurs among persons who work or live in rat infested buildings. It was the observation of this fact that led to the discovery that rats are carriers or transmitters of the disease. It appears that the rat suffers attacks of this form of typhus fever and that the fleas harbored by the sick rat bite man and thus human infection results. The loss caused by rats would more than pay the state taxes for one year, as it is estimated, over $12,000,000 is thus lost. Dry, hot weather favors the increase of the fleas which cause typhus, and as crops in the field are gathered the rats around buildings will increase. Although this disease is not commonly fatal, it cannot be considered lightly. The intense headache, the high fever, and the great mental depression are its most unpleasant features. Like in sea sickness, the patient's greatest fear is that he is not going to die. The illness generally lasts about two weeks. The control of typhus is very difficult and depends upon the extermination of rats and this is no easy matter. Trapping and poisoning favors the increase of the fleas which cause typhus, and as crops in the field are gathered the rats around buildings will increase. Although this disease is not commonly fatal, it cannot be considered lightly. The intense headache, the

Old-Timers Gathered At McMurry Home Recall Night Beauty of 'City of Tents'

A city of tents glowing red with lamplight from within and clustered in a valley with the star-abbed darkness of a vast, unsettled West Texas pastling about.

A city of tents, glowing with lamplight as night came down over the vast, unsettled West Texas stretching all around it.

That was one of the many pictures of very early Colorado days conjured up by old-timers and the children of old-timers who were guests at a gathering in the home of Mrs. V. D. McMurry last Friday evening.

Mrs. W. J. Miller of El Paso, mother of Mrs. McMurry and one of the five residents of Colorado, was one of the honor guests. Mrs. V. Van Gieson, sister of Mrs. McMurry from Big Spring, was another. But the party was given principally for Mrs. W. H. Brennan of El Paso, another sister, who has not visited in Colorado in years.

Mrs. Miller, who brought up the subject of the beauty of the city of tents at night added, "But they were ugly in the daytime." Mrs. Miller and her husband and family, coming here in March, 1881, settled near a spring on Lone Wolf Creek north of the present Lone Wolf bridge.

From this site Mrs. Miller could look out over the shallow valley where the tents were sprawled along the line of broken earth which was fast becoming the T. & P. railroad. That was how she came to notice the night beauty of the glowing tents.

They had one of the very few board dwellings here at that time. They secured their lumber from Mrs. Miller's brother, Joe Black, who had the contract for building the road bed and laying the T. & P. rails in this section. The spring of water was adequate for their use, and they let friends and neighbors have the surplus, but most of the water the town used was hauled from Seven Wells and sold at from fifty cents to one dollar a barrel.

Mingling at the gathering Friday evening were teachers and pupils of the early days following the opening of the railroad. Mrs. Miller had taught some of those present in Sunday school. Mrs. Clara Smith, herself only a young girl at the time, had taught a number of them how to read.

The evening was spent in simply talking, the guests grouping themselves about in the house which itself had existed through all but the earliest part of Colorado's history. Several musical numbers were given by Tommy Dawes.

The guest list was composed mainly of those who knew Mrs. Brennan best, and included Mrs. J. D. Walling, Mrs. D. N. Arnett, Mrs. J. G. Merritt, Mrs. H. C. Landers, Mrs. H. B. Smoot, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Brennan, Miss Margaret McComas, Mrs. Anna Simon, Mrs. Clara Smith, Miss Mildred Coleman, Mrs. Max Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawes, Miss Neil Mills, Miss Hun Delaney, Mrs. B. F. Wilson, Mrs. Harry Hyman of Hyman, Miss Bernice Terrell, Mrs. C. H. Earnest, Miss Martha Earnest, Mrs. S. N. Sherwin, Miss Mamie Riordan, Miss Nellie Riordan, Mrs. Ben Plaster, Mrs. J. B. Young of Big Spring, and V. Van Gieson of Big Spring.

Home made ice cream and cake were served at the close of the evening.

FARMERS AUTHORIZED TO PLANT FEED ON ACREAGE UNDER RENTAL CONTRACT

Baskin Receives Wire From Washington Monday; No Change In Cotton

Unrestricted use of cotton, wheat and cotton acreage for the production of feed is now permitted in Mitchell county, if and when rain comes to bring the crop up, according to a telegram received Monday by Ben J. Baskin, county farm agent. The wire was from C. W. Warburton, chief of the federal control administration at Washington.

The telegram read: "Secretary's administrative ruling announced today modifying cotton contracts for 1934 to permit unrestricted use as livestock feed including sale of pasture hay and roughage crops from land covered by contract including rented acres. Harvesting and use or sale of seed from meadow, pasture and forage crops also permitted in cotton, wheat, corn and tobacco contracts. Modifications prompted by drought situation."

A copy of the administrative rulings on the revisions is enroute from Washington, it was said.

The farm administration undoubtedly will continue the Bankhead compulsory acreage control program through this year. M. C. Cobb, federal cotton administrator, told a group at College Station last week. He said reports purportedly emanating from Washington that the compulsory act would be withdrawn because of the drought were "propaganda." Cobb said that the farmer, themselves had asked for compulsory control and had requested it by an overwhelming majority. He said they would be given another vote in the fall to decide the course to be adopted for the 1935 program.

Some had reasoned that if this year's cotton production fell below the 10,116,251 bales allowed in the Bankhead act, as indicated in the July crop report, there would be fit the need for making individual cotton allotments and taxing the excess. Few farmers would have cotton to sell in excess of their allotments and no market would exist for tax-exemption certificates, they argued.

However, there is the answering argument that abandonment of the act would give large cotton producers, who have the advantage of scientific control of the soil, weedy and improved fertilizers, the opportunity to market their stimulated production on fewer acres without paying the tax now required.

Sales of fertilizer in southern states in recent months have indicated that some producers, who sign government contracts to reduce acreage, were attempting to increase production through added use of crop stimulants.

Under the Bankhead act these producers, if they produced in excess of their allotments, would be required to pay the tax of 50 per cent of the value of their cotton when they obtained or purchase tax-exemption certificates from farmers who raised less than their allotments, officials explained.

A TERRACE IN TIME SAVES TONS OF SOIL

Farmers who wouldn't think of losing money by wearing trousers with holes in the pockets are losing money and are being robbed when rains carry fertile topsoil off their cultivated fields and wash gullies in tillable lands, says A. T. Holman, of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Engineering.

Soil losses measured for 1933 at the Federal Erosion Farm at Bethany, Mo., on terraced and unterraced corn fields, show a soil loss more than seven times as great on the unterraced areas—27.1 tons an acre from unterraced corn fields, 3.8 tons from terraced corn fields.

Holman, who made the measurements, calculates that erosion at this rate will strip 7 inches of productive topsoil from the unterraced fields in about 35 years. If the land is terraced, the losses will be reduced by 86 per cent, and it would take about 260 years to strip the land if it were kept continuously in corn.

Terraces may be constructed with simple equipment during slack times when men and teams would be idle. They cost little cash if the farmer has his own equipment and power. Good fertile lands may be terraced quickly and easily, but steep rough gullied areas require relatively large expenditures of time and considerably more money.

Young People; Mrs. J. H. Carlock, teacher Adults and Old Folks and superintendent Home Department.

It was agreed that meetings would be held each Lord's day at 3 P. M. until further announcement.
