RECORD'S ELECTION PARTY BE HELD SATURDAY NIGHT AFTER POLLS ARE CLOSED

Strong Interest In Run-Off Contest Expected Attract Hundreds Of Citizens

The Record will be host to another election party Saturday night when returns from the run-off Democratic primary election are to be posted on bulletin board in front of the newspaper office on Walnut street. Returns will be received and posted just as early as may be possible.

Due to keen interest in the several run-off contests another large attendance is expected at this party Saturday night, July 28, when returns from the first primary were received and passed on to the public, several thousand people were present.

The publisher again cordially invites cooperation upon the part of all election judges. Due to fact the ballot to be used in Saturday's election is short, counting will progress much faster than was the case four weeks before and outcome of practically all contests should be known early. Kindly call The Record office, No. 253, just as soon as may be possible after the polls have closed and give first count. Additional reports, giving totals as the count progresses, should be made.

Mitchell counties are more universally interested in the race of George Mahon for congress than any other run-off contest. Vote on this race from over the 25 counties will be received and posted on the bulletin board. Keen interest, too, has developed in the governor's race, along with some of the local county and precinct contests.

Due to limitations placed on the Record by the Texas Election Bureau of Dallas, agency gathering and distributing election returns from the State, the publisher will be handicapped in giving its friends results from these sources. However, we plan gathering returns from other sources in so far as may be possible and will pass the news on to the public immediately upon its arrival in Colorado here.

MITCHELL AND NOLAN IN COOPERATIVE GROUP FOR SELLING OF LIVESTOCK

Mitchell and Nolan counties have been placed under one control unit by the federal government in handling cattle purchases of the future and both the appraiser and inspector detailed here will have charge of this work in the two counties.

BUDGET HEARING GIVEN ATTENTION BY COURT

The county commissioners court Thursday was convened into a budget hearing session by County Judge A. F. King. Judge King requested that all interested citizens attend the hearing at courthouse. Budget for next year, having to do with expenses of operating the county, was to be fixed.

DAIRYMEN HIKE PRICES DUE TO FEED SHORTAGE

Dairymen operating in Colorado have announced that a small hike in retail prices was found necessary due to advance in feed quotations. The revised schedule went into effect Thursday of last week.

VOTE EARLY AS AID TO ELECTION WORKERS, IS FLEA BEING SUPPORTED

Plan that the voter call at the polls and cast his ballot early Saturday as a means of assisting the election judges and other employees is being given considerable support by the public. By voting early the citizen will be offering assistance in reaching an early count of the ballots and the subsequent early final tabulation of the returns.

Due to keen interest developed in the county another large vote is expected Saturday. Mitchell county set a new all-time high record in the primary election for Saturday, July 28, when a total of 3,400 votes were polled.

Meningitis Attack Fatal To Daughter Mr., Mrs. I. Tucker

Dorothy Tucker, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Tucker, died at the family residence on Hickory street Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock following an attack of meningitis. The fatal disease developed after the child had been stricken with scarlet fever.

The body was taken to Fort Worth Saturday night in a Kiker & Son funeral coach. Funeral rites were conducted there Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Rebeccah-McNellie Harper Temple. Interment was in a Fort Worth cemetery.

Coloradans, attending the rites included Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Berman, Mr. and Mrs. Max Berman, Mrs. Sam Berman, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Berman, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kirschbaum, H. Rotner, Woodrow Wilson and Mr. Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. L. Schwimmer of Loraine.

MINISTER 'TAKES TIME OUT' TO PRESENT CLAIM OF CANDIDATE'S MERIT

HALE CENTER, (Special to The Record)—Assuming that to do the religious thing would be to vote for George Mahon for congress, Minister J. D. Harvey, leading in a meeting at the Church of Christ, Saturday night "took time out" to tell the large congregation attending the services something about merits of the Colorado man. Folders outlining Mahon's platform in brief were distributed.

Mahon was defeated in Hale county in the July primary election but his supporters along north rim of the 19th congressional district announce with an air of complete assurance that such will not obtain in the election to be held Saturday.

CANDIDACY OF MAHON IS GAINING IN SCURRY CO.

Jake Smyth, editor of the Scurry County Times at Snyder, made a brief visit in Colorado Monday afternoon, enroute home from a trip to Sterling City. "George Mahon is gaining in Scurry county and there is no doubt in my mind but that he will hold a commanding lead over his opponent there in Saturday's election," the visitor said.

Speculation As To Favored Candidates In Several Contests Rife As Campaign Ends

The candidate winning democratic nomination for some of the major county and precinct offices in Saturday's second primary will, in all probability, nose out ahead of his opponent with only a few votes to spare. At any rate that is the conclusion one would expect after interviews with representative citizens from practically all parts of the county. The average voter will say that "both are running good in my section and it is hard to suggest just which candidate is to emerge the victor."

GEORGE MAHON TO CARRY EVERY COUNTY EXCEPT LUBBOCK, SPEAKER STATES

County Judge George Bond Of Crosbyton Addresses Voters Here Saturday

George Mahon is sweeping the 19th congressional district as the run-off campaign comes to a close and in event he maintains his present strength the Mitchell county man will lead in every one of the twenty five counties excepting Lubbock. County Judge George S. Bond of Crosby county declared during an address here Saturday afternoon.

Judge Bond was speaking in interest of the candidacy of Howard Davison of Fisher county for representative in the 117th legislative district, having arrived in town with a motorcade that earlier during the day visited points in Nolan and Fisher counties.

"I have been out over the district during the recent past and am most happy to bring the news to you people of George's home county that this outstanding West Texan is making excellent progress in his race for the democratic nomination as congressman," Judge Bond said. "Out of approximately 48,000 to be polled Saturday in the district, George Mahon will receive 30,000. We people of Crosby county are going to give him one of the strongest majorities ever polled by a candidate for district office."

Judge Bond offered strong plea for consideration of the candidacy of Davison for the legislature. Several Fisher county citizens, some of whom have known Davison practically all his life, accompanied the motorcade to Colorado.

A number of Mitchell county citizens support claim of the Crosby county judge that Mahon is due to win in Saturday's election. During the recent past several friends of the candidate have interviewed voters in practically each of the 25 counties, bringing back to Mahon headquarters here the information that conditions are most favorable.

Saturday ten cars loaded with enthusiastic supporters of Mahon left Colorado for tours over the district. Each car was assigned a definite territory in which to work. Tuesday afternoon several Mahon boosters attended his speaking engagement in Lubbock.

The Lubbock rally revealed that Mahon will poll a strong vote in that county, it is claimed. The Lubbock Avalanche in reporting the meeting states that over a thousand people heard Mahon speak for an hour and that for 12 times during his address the applause was so persistent that the speaker had to wait until it subsided before proceeding.

WOOSTER IS ELECTED MEMBER OF LIONS CLUB

Bill Wooster, wholesale agency dealer for the Humble Oil & Refining Company, Friday was voted membership in the Lions Club. Mr. Wooster came into active affiliation here on transfer from the Big Spring club.

FRIENDS OF CANDIDATE URGED TO CONTINUE IN FIGHT UNTIL LAST DAY

From scores of Mitchell county citizens who are active in support of the candidacy of George Mahon has come this week the strong urge that there must be no lessening of work in his behalf so long as it is possible to contact voters in the district.

"We have won our fight on the basis of conditions today but this should not be accepted as final unless we fight with determined will until the campaign is closed Friday night," was appeal coming from Mahon headquarters here Monday afternoon. "There is something for every citizen to do during the remainder of the short time we have if Mr. Mahon is to win in the decisive way we hope for."

The outlook in all parts of the district is encouraging, a summary of reports received here indicates. Those wishing to render additional service for the candidate should report to C. C. Thompson, campaign headquarters manager, or leader in the Mahon camp in the community in which he would contact the voters.

One of the most pronounced personal attacks against the man and his character was turned loose here Monday night by Woodville Rogers of San Antonio as he denounced Tom Hunter in effort to sway support to the camp of Jimmie Allred.

The visitor who in 1924 was elected to the Texas senate for one term from the San Antonio district, was introduced by J. H. Greene, secretary of the chamber of commerce. A small group of voters were present to hear the tirade of personalities. Rogers spoke at Loraine Monday morning, following address by George Mahon. He arrived here about noon and was greeted by M. E. Carter and other local Allred enthusiasts.

Committee Expects Conclude Operating Plans In Next Few Days

Perfection of a Federal Savings and Loan association at Colorado was definitely assured Thursday noon. The Record was informed by members of an organization committee designated earlier during the week. The committee, composed of C. L. Gray, R. O. Pearson, R. F. Kee, W. W. Porter and L. B. Elliott, reported that $2,500 in capitalization had been raised.

In order to obtain charter Colorado interests were required to subscribe $2,500 of the capital stock. The federal government will allot three dollars to every one dollar raised locally.

Federal Savings and Loan associations are local, privately owned and privately managed thrift institutions. They operate under Federal charter and supervision and are subject to frequent Federal examination. Their organization is made possible by an act of congress passed by the president on June 13, last year.

The associations are based on sound financial principles which for more than a century have efficiently protected the savings of millions of people in American mutual savings bank deposits and in building and loan shares. The purpose of these associations is to attract capital into home loans by providing a safe and profitable investment for large and small sums of money, and a practical means of finance for home-owner borrowers.

Federal participation in such associations is given with the object of supplying strong legal and regulatory safeguards and adequate financial facilities for the proper development and uniform operation of these local, mutual thrift institutions. Main features of the associations are briefly outlined as follows:

Careful investigation is made as to the character and responsibility of the management of any proposed Federal savings and loan association. An actual need for such an association must exist in a given community before a charter is granted. The lack or inadequacy of existing facilities and assurance that injury would not be caused to existing local home-financing institutions by the organization of such an association, are the test of such necessity.

Different types of shares are specified, an important feature of uniformity among such associations. These include optional savings shares for regular investment of varying sums; installment thrift shares for regular investment of a fixed amount each month; prepaid shares for lump sum investment with dividends allowed to accumulate, and full paid income shares with lump sum investment with current dividends to be paid to the shareholders.

A bonus is given to reward consistent, systematic investment in any Federal savings and loan association by setting up semi-annually, a reserve of one-half of one per cent of the total amount outstanding to the credit of installment thrift shareholders who have paid their installments regularly, to be paid to such shareholders upon the maturity of their shares if no repurchase has been made thereon.

Loans made by the association must be on homes or other improved real estate, located within fifty miles of the association's office. $20,000 is fixed as the maximum amount to be loaned on any one home or combination of home and business property.

Mrs. W. N. Merrill, who has been critically ill of heart complications at her home here for several days, was reported Thursday noon. Mrs. Merrill's daughters are all with her. Mrs. Lula Napoles came Monday from Atlanta, Georgia, and Mrs. J. R. Flannagan arrived Wednesday night from Lamasa.

Hugh Johnson Will Continue NRA Head During The Future

Hugh S. Johnson will continue at NRA's helm for an indefinite period. "The president asked me to go right on," Johnson said in Washington Saturday after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

The presidential word was accepted as a command by the militant administrator who for more than a year has personified the Blue Eagle to American industry. Apparently the White House expression put a halt to Johnson's own desires for a quick return to private life.

But if Johnson was disappointed at the thought of a longer tenure directing industry, his attitude on leaving the White House didn't show it. He said he was ready to go ahead and reorganize NRA in a way to "depersonalize" the government's industrial machinery.

"We are working out a reorganization plan," Johnson said. "But just now Johnson looks toward a vacation. He plans to leave next Wednesday with Mrs. Johnson for a nearby seaside resort and at President Roosevelt's direction take a rest."

Board control of NRA is the reorganization plan being drafted by Johnson. He has announced his willingness, and today's White House meeting apparently confirmed it, to act as chairman of the board.

"NRA is too big a job now for one man," is Johnson's view. "I don't feel I can act efficiently any more."

The board he has in mind probably will resemble the war industries board on which he once served. Each of its nine members were allotted a certain field of work and specialized in details of that field. But only the board as a whole could determine policies.

Just at present the NRA administration forges some kind of administrative agency standing as a buffer between NRA and the federal trade commission which has jurisdiction of anti-trust law cases. This new institution would seek to mould a uniform policy.

Dorn Ready For Biggest Home-Coming; Barbecue And All-Day Program Sunday

Dorn's Chapel is ready for its fourth annual home-coming Sunday. A large gathering of Dornites and ex-Dornites is expected this year that has never before. At least three hundred people, some of them coming from distant points, will probably attend the all-day program which is being prepared for the occasion, according to J. M. Dorn, the father for whom the community was named and the father of the Mitchell County Dorns.

A feature of the program will be a sermon at eleven o'clock Sunday morning by Dr. J. T. Groswood of Abilene, who was a presiding elder in this district thirty years ago and who preached often at Dorn, which was then Union Chapel.

At noon barbecue, beef will be served. Those attending are urged to bring a basket lunch and spend the day.

The first Dorn home-coming was held four years ago and was arranged by J. M. Dorn and his daughter, Mrs. E. D. Hart. Last year about two hundred were present.

One of those who lived at Dorn years ago and who plans to attend the home-coming this year is Mrs. Matt Moore, who now lives near Tulsa, Okla. Mrs. Moore is the mother of Mrs. E. D. Hart. Her sister, Mrs. Emma Nash, who used to visit her at Dorn, and another sister, Mrs. John McCreless, of San Antonio, a former Coloradoan, also plan to be there.

Among other things for the occasion there will probably be several of the children of Grandfather Dorn.

George Mahon Pictured By Abilene Paper As Future U. S. Senator From West Texas

The Abilene Daily Reporter Monday afternoon offered some interesting editorial comment under the caption, "New Generation In Politics." Since the article has to deal with George Mahon of Mitchell county and other young men prominent in affairs of Texas today, The Record is pleased to give space for its reproduction, as follows:

The rise of the younger generation in politics has been rapid and sure. The New Deal is essentially a young man's movement. Most of the men President Roosevelt has chosen to bear the burden of the recovery effort are of the newer generation in politics. They are characterized chiefly by eagerness, social-mindedness and courage to turn their backs on the old.

Distinctly of the newer generation are the two run-off candidates for almost 10,000 ahead of his runoff opponent, the attorney generalship and the lieutenant governorship.

We have in mind, particularly as thoroughly representative of the new blood in politics; George H. Mahon of Colorado, who ran such a remarkable race in the first primary for representative in congress from the new 14th district composed of twenty-five counties of the South Plains and the sub-plains area. Mr. Mahon led his nearest opponent in 19 of the counties and led the field of seven candidates in 16 of the 25 counties. He finished with a total of 19,505 votes, almost 9,000 ahead of his runoff opponent, Judge Clark Mullican of Lubbock, and is virtually certain of victory next Saturday.

Abilene knows and is proud of George Mahon as a Simmons University alumnus, as county attorney of Mitchell county, and as district attorney of the 32nd district. No finer type of young manhood exists anywhere in the United States. He is future material for a United States senatorship in the years to come, when West Texas will be ready to send its first senator to Washington.

The infusion of new blood into the political structure of the state and nation is one of the encouraging aspects of the New Deal.

Legion To Sponsor Rodeo At Abilene Opening Sept. 3rd

ABILENE.—Heavy representation of cowboys who competed in one of America's most famous rodeos, the Pioneers Days events held recently at Cheyenne, is anticipated at the American Legion's fourth annual three-day rodeo beginning Labor Day, Sept. 3, at West Texas Fair Park, Abilene.

Printed prize lists were mailed to the secretary of the Cheyenne show. A letter from the secretary to Harry Schienberg of the Abilene Legion post stated that the lists had been distributed among all of the scores of contestants there.

As a result, and due to the fact that the cash prizes for the three days approximate $2,000, more than double the amount offered last year here, and numerous other awards such as saddles, bridles and boots are being offered, outstanding cowboys of the country have signified their intention of entering the Abilene contests before heading out later in the month with Col. W. T. Johnson's rodeo in Missouri, New York, Boston and Indianapolis.

A further incentive to well known rodeo contestants is the signing of Leonard Stroud, former world's champion all-around cowboy and well known rodeo producer, to produce and direct the Abilene rodeo.

Stroud will furnish his entire string of rodeo stock; he likewise will provide the specialty acts, including trick ropers, two men and two women trick riders, a cowboy clown and a high school horse.

REV. AND MRS. G. C. FARRIS ARE GRATEFUL

Rev. and Mrs. G. C. Farris, who were recently the recipients of a shower of groceries from women of the First Baptist Church, have asked The Record to express their appreciation of these gifts.

Gifts have also been sent to them from Wastella and Snyder, which are included in the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association of which Colorado is a part. "For all these we are deeply grateful," Rev. Mr. Farris states. "And those who gave are more blessed than we who have received."

At the age of 84, Edward A. Profet, Civil War veteran of Greenview, Ill., was the father of an 8 1/2 pound son.

HERRINGTON MAKES FINAL STATEMENT

I am very grateful to the voters of Colorado and Mitchell County for their kind consideration of me in the July primary. Due to your expression I was honored in leading the ticket in the county clerk's race.

Since that was true and since I received this consideration by honest, clean campaigning in the race, I would appreciate very much the same support again next Saturday.

Due to the fact that I have part time employment as a field worker in the oil fields it has been impossible for me to see all of the voters to thank you personally for the honor of leading the ticket in the first primary.

I will state again that I am fully aware of the responsibility of the office. But I feel that I am well qualified to handle the duties pertaining to it, and if you see fit to elect me to this place I promise to give you the best that is in me.

Respectfully,
JAMES HERRINGTON.

Production figures from January 1st through July 31st, this year, nearly exceeded the production figures for the entire year of 1933."

Death Of Former Texas Legislator Recalls Old Fight

Some interesting reminiscences of early fight to obtain an A. & M. College for West Texas, in which the late Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado had a conspicuous part, are reviewed in a recent article in the Sweetwater Daily Reporter. The Reporter says: Death this week of former Speaker F. O. Fuller of the Texas House of Representatives, at Houston, recalls to the minds of many West Texans a rather hectic incident in the history of Texas Technological College at Lubbock, at first designated as a West Texas A. & M.

In 1916 under auspices of the Sweetwater Board of City Development and with co-operation of many towns in West Texas, Thos. L. Hodge, then secretary of the Sweetwater body, organized the movement for the establishment of a West Texas A. & M. College.

The movement was successful in that the legislature at its next session, in the winter of 1917, passed a law providing for establishment of such a school in West Texas, and naming the governor, then James E. Ferguson, the lieutenant-governor W. H. Hobby, Speaker Fuller, and two other state officers to locate the school.

In the summer of 1917 this committee visited quite a number of competing towns, including Snyder, Sweetwater and Abilene; and afterward met at Austin behind closed doors to make the location.

It was announced by Governor Ferguson, as spokesman of the locating committee, that the school had been located by the committee at Abilene.

Dissatisfaction at once arose, and three of the five members of the locating committee including Speaker Fuller and Lt. Gov. Hobby, swore that they did not vote for Abilene, thus discrediting the announcement that the vote in the committee stood 3-2 in favor of Abilene.

The agitation arising from this situation, added to the agitation then already rife over the state over other matters, resulted in the calling of a special session of the legislature at which impeachment charges were filed against Gov. Ferguson, following which he was impeached upon trial before the state senate, dismissed from office and made ineligible to hold any state office thereafter.

During all of this agitation Speaker Fuller was in the limelight and a storm center, Ferguson's friends claiming that Fuller more than Ferguson was responsible for the unpleasant situation in the school location matter.

The legislature repealed the law providing for the school, and later the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was organized as a consequence of the earlier movement headed by Hodge for the West Texas school, and finished the work begun by Hodge, with establishment of Texas Tech at Lubbock.

But among those familiar with the incidents as they happened, the name of Speaker Fuller will always stand out rather prominently.

Incidentally, it is said, that his selection as speaker of the house was probably due to the fact that he had endorsed the proposition of locating the desired school in West Texas, in advance of the meeting of the legislature.

DR. C. L. ROOT TURNS DOG DOCTOR—MAYBE

Meet Dr. C. L. Root, dog doctor deluxe. Dr. Root, chief surgeon of C. L. Root Hospital, relates the following true story:

"Last Saturday, during my busiest hours of office work, my phone rang. Picking up the receiver, I caught the sound of some delicate, effeminate voice asking would I make an X-ray picture of Champion's broken leg. I replied, 'Bring him on up we'll put him next, regardless.' The distant voice replied O.K. My office force got busy setting things in order for X-raying and setting a broken leg.

"Pretty soon three attendants came tugging up the stairway steps with the unfortunate victim being borne on an improvised stretcher made from an old cotton sack. The patient seemed to be suffering no pain and yet never before had I seen more sympathy, compassion and tender care shown an unfortunate victim of an accident. He was gently lifted from the stretcher to the X-ray table and several radiograms made of his injured leg. The diagnosis was given as a green stick fracture of both bones of the leg just below the knee.

"The case was referred to Dr. T. J. Ratliff for treatment. The patient was just as carefully carried out of my office as he had been brought in. The same love, sympathy and compassion on being manifested by each of his attendants.

"Champion Colley is a beloved pet pup owned and loved by Tommy Ratliff and Frances Rose Ratliff, ages ten and eight respectively, son and daughter of Lister Ratliff and granddaughter of Dr. T. J. Ratliff. Dudley Mart Bush, age 3, is just a close play-mate of the Ratliff children and sympathizing, loving friend of the unfortunate Colley. Time will never erase from my memory the compassion, sympathy and love that these big hearted, tender hearted, true hearted youngsters manifested in their gentleness and tenderness caring for their dumb brute friend."

American Farmers Paid Ten Million On Cotton Control

Cotton farmers who have rented their acreage to the Government to be taken out of production were paid $34,691,288 on their rental contracts to Aug. 1. In making this payment the department has written 936,138 checks.

Two hundred and fifty thousand checks, went to Texas cotton producers who received $10,360,932, or slightly less than one-third of the aggregate that has gone to all producers in the Cotton Belt.

The rental payments from the Government to cotton producers, when completed, will amount to $100,000,000, a crop reduction program that is being operated in conjunction with the Bankhead tax bill applying to excess production under the local quotas to be established.

Payments to Aug. 1 are part of the initial disbursements of $50,000,000. Payment of the second $50,000,000 will begin as soon as compliance with the acreage adjustment contracts is properly certified and which are being completed rapidly. In addition to the rental payments cotton farmers will receive up to $30,000,000 next December in parity payments.

The larger payments going to farmers in Texas counties include: Anderson, $165,119; Bell, $187,423; Collin, $191,889; Collingsworth, $117,862; Dallas, $117,789; Dawson, $102,369; Ellis, $283,140; Falls, $213,904; Fannin, $192,523; Fort Bend, $150,894; Grayson, $121,838; Hill, $240,721; Hunt, $195,112; Kaufman, $150,906; Lamar, $130,110; Limestone, $168,407; McLennan, $232,193; Navarro, $254,965; and Williamson, $260,640.

Carbonic gas, for soda water once was made by combining bicarbonate of soda and sometimes marble dust—with sulphuric acid. This method has long been discarded.

COLORADO RECORD

29TH YEAR—NUMBER 47

COLORADO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1934

WHIPKEY PRINTING CO.

RFC EXTENDS FURTHER HELP TO AMERICAN PLANTERS

FEDERAL LOAN ON COTTON GIVEN OK BY PRESIDENT IN GESTURE TO AID SOUTH

Twelve Cents Per Pound Will Be Available Through Credit Corporation

Cotton producers and other industrialists of the Colorado territory Tuesday were expressing satisfaction in news from Washington that the President had the day before authorized another federal loan on cotton as a gesture to aid the Southern farmer. The commodity loan was increased to 12 cents per pound.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, announced the following day that the sum of $250,000,000 had been set aside to finance the projected loans. Plans are being worked out so that banks throughout the country may lend on the RFC's credit. It was estimated that no more than $150,000,000 of the amount appropriated would be used.

J. M. New, manager of the West Texas Cotton Growers' association, was of the opinion the more liberalized loan policy would prove of considerable benefit in this part of the territory. Interest in the plan, under consideration for weeks, has been well defined here, he said.

The reconstruction finance corporation was requested in message from the president to make funds available to the commodity credit corporation for increasing its lending from ten cents to twelve cents a pound on cotton classing low middling or better which is and has been continuously in hands of the producer.

The revised loan feature means that any cotton producer who does not wish to sell his staple at this time may borrow 12 cents per pound from agencies of the federal government. Details having to do with negotiating the loans should be received here within the next few days. It is probable that the loans will be handled through office of Ben J. Haskell, county farm agent, as have similar contracts of the past.

In event the price of cotton continues to advance the borrower would be enabled to liquidate his loan and sell the commodity on the market, taking advantage of both the loan features and the advanced quotations. In event prices fall below 12 cents and remain there the government would be the loser.

Being upper class is simple. You just do as you please and leave the rest to your lawyer.

The treasury reports an unusually heavy demand for small coins. Well, getting any kind is hard work these days.

Mills Opens Sales, Service Agency At Monahans, Texas

The Mills Chevrolet Company, distributors for Chevrolet cars and trucks in this territory, announce the opening of a new agency at Monahans. Edwin Chase, associated with the company for several years, will be in charge of the Monahans store.

Establishment of the Monahans dealership was made in order to meet a growing demand for Chevrolet cars and trucks in that area, Joe E. Mills, owner and manager of the concern, stated Monday.

Haskell Concludes Plans For Rally In Honor Of Candidate

HASKELL (Special to The Record)—Plans for staging one of the most colorful political gatherings in history of this city when George Mahon brings his campaign for congress to a close here Friday night are being mapped by Mahon supporters representing all parts of the country. It is estimated that voters from every precinct in this county and from adjoining areas will attend.

Mahon enthusiasts are claiming Haskell county by an overwhelming majority in the run-off election on Saturday. The Mitchell county man carried Haskell county in the July 28th election and has made material advances since that time.

The candidate was scheduled to speak in Haskell Thursday night of last week but postponed the engagement due to a revival meeting which was in progress.

The farm is conducted under the direction of Professor T. M. Moore, head of the agriculture department of the college. Sweatt and the others chosen for places on the farm are to report in Canyon on September 18, when the fall session of college opens.

LOCAL BAPTISTS PLAN TO ENTERTAIN 300 AT ASSOCIATION MEETING

Annual Conclave Of Mitchell Scurry Organization To Be Sept. 6, 7

Around three hundred people from all over the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association are to be entertained by Colorado Baptists when the association holds its annual convention at the First Baptist Church here on Thursday and Friday, September 6 and 7.

Heading those in charge of program arrangements for the two days is Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the host church and moderator of the association.

The first day will be given over to separate sessions of the associational Women's Missionary Union and the Pastors' and Laymen's program. These meetings will convene at ten o'clock Thursday morning at the church. Mrs. C. B. Reeder of Loraine, associational president of the W. M. U., will preside over the former meeting.

The convention proper will open Thursday evening, when organization, the appointment of committees, and other business matters will be given attention. At this time also the annual sermon, preached by Rev. T. A. Patterson of Roscoe, will be heard.

At least two outstanding Baptists of the state will be heard on Friday's program, when various reports from over the association will also be given. The two speakers already engaged are Dr. R. A. Kellum of Dallas, representative of Buckner's Orphan Home, and Dr. J. Howard Williams, secretary of missions in Texas. Adjournment will be about four o'clock Friday.

The Mitchell-Scurry association includes all of Mitchell, Scurry and Borden counties and a part of Nolan. Those attending from out of town will be given lodging in Baptist homes in Colorado. Lunch will be served both days at the church by the women of the church.

Cantrill To Begin Wolf Training For Coming Grid Cards

Big Jim Cantrill, mentor of the Wolves, stated Wednesday morning that he planned opening his annual pre-season training camp next week. The coach declined to discuss his views on potential strength of the club during the contests to follow in Class A football.

Cantrill will be forced to build his football machine around a practically new personnel this year. Many of the veterans, some of them distinguished in the district during years of the recent past, will be absent.

Lions Shown Work Of 4-H Clubwomen On Friday Program

Examples of the work being done by rural clubwomen of Mitchell county and accounts of their trips to the A. & S. Short Course recently were put before members of the Lions Club at their luncheon Friday by Miss Emma Gunter, county home demonstration agent, and a group of her clubwomen.

Mrs. W. K. Miles of Looney and Mrs. Lee M. Jones of Plainview were clubwomen appearing on the program. They gave short talks and showed hooked rugs, tufted bedspreads, hooked mats, and a pair of chamois skin gloves as examples of the things they have been learning to make this year, both in their club work and at the Short Course.

Miss Novalee Groom of Lone Star, winner of the bedroom improvement contest for Mitchell County 4-H club girls, also had part on the program. All the women expressed appreciation for help given them by various civic organizations of the town, including the Lions Club.

MAHON RUNNING GOOD IN HASKELL, IS CLAIM

Throng Hears Band Directed By Jones In Park Concert

A "home town boy who has made good" proved to the home-town folks that he deserved to make good last Friday evening when Raymond Jones directed the old Colorado band and the Loraine band in a joint concert at Ruddick Park.

An enthusiastic throng heard the concert, which gave Coloradoans their first opportunity in a long time to hear the members of their old band in action. Unanimous opinion was that they were as good, or better, than ever.

The bands also gave a concert in Loraine on Thursday evening. They rehearsed only twice under Jones' direction before the concerts, once on Monday evening and once on Wednesday.

Jones is musical director in North High School at Des Moines, Iowa. He returned to his duties there Saturday. He was in musical and other activities all during his school days in Colorado and also during his four years as a student in Oklahoma University.

Nix Declared High Point Man At Sand Belt Meet Sunday

The governor's proclamation specified no other topics but gave notice that other subjects for legislators attention will be submitted after the lawmakers convened next Monday.

The legislature may also open investigation along several lines of state government, including relief and prison management. Efforts were being made by a special citizen committee to delay relief investigation until after issuance of additional "bread bonds."

Air Mail Benefits Are Discussed By Local Postmaster

TO THE PUBLIC:

Because of the many inquiries made at the post office concerning the air mail I wish to state that the Air Mail Service has been rebuilt in the last few months and every State is now served by one or more routes, as you may see by referring to the air mail map on display in the lobby of the post office.

A table has been prepared and also placed near the man above referred to so that some idea of the time saved may be had by use of the Air Mail. Your mail may not be addressed to one of the towns shown, but if it is addressed to one near anyone of the towns shown, the time saved will be approximately the same. You do not have to live directly on an air route to get benefits of such service.

Air Mail is carried by the quickest way available to the nearest point of connection with an Air Mail route, thence by Air Mail to the destination or to the nearest point to destination and from that point by the quickest service possible. In speaking of distance in the Air Mail service, I am referring to time rather than miles; the route making the quickest time is used regardless of actual distance in miles.

Distinctive Air Mail stamps and envelopes should be used if available, but if not, use ordinary stamps in sufficient amount and mark the envelope on the face in bold letters "AIR MAIL" and the same purpose will be served.

If your letter is to arrive on Saturday afternoon or Sunday, the addition of a Special Delivery stamp will procure immediate delivery, and delivery is in the early morning of the next day after mailing the addition of the Special Delivery stamp will accomplish the same purpose as a night letter by telegraph.

The rate of postage for Air Mail is 6¢ for each ounce or fraction of an ounce which is just twice the rate for ordinary postage.

The local office will be glad to furnish any additional information concerning this service upon inquiry. J. Y. FRASER, Postmaster.

Miss Theda Williams is visiting in Latan this week.

Miss Emma Sutphen gave Mr. E. B. Gregson, Jr., and wife a wedding shower Monday night at 7 o'clock.

Largest Oil Wells Drilled In History In Coastal Sector

The world's largest oil wells in sustained productive volume are in the yet undeveloped gulf coast field of Texas and Louisiana.

Among these wells are the Texas company's No. 1 Abrams in the West Columbia field of Brazoria county and the same company's No. 28 Hogg well on the land of the former Governor J. S. Hogg of Texas, now deceased.

Total production of the two wells since they were brought in has been more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil.

The Abrams well, which blew in at the peak of high prices when coastal crude was posted at $3.50 a barrel, paid off to its owners more than $6,000,000. The Hogg well, brought in about the same time, has turned its owners the tremendous sum of more than $9,000,000.

No where else in the world can one find oil wells that have returned these great sums.

The explanation lies in the character of the gulf coast formations and the base of the gulf coast oil, oil geologists said.

Gulf coast crude oil is free from both paraffin and asphaltum. Due to the naphthalenic base of gulf coast crude, it flows freely, not clogging the oil sands and porous limestone as it seeps to the vent or drill hole. Paraffin was the bane of the lighter oil fields, gumming the sand and limes, flowing down and finally stopping the flow of oil through these formations.

The biggest oil gusher ever completed in the United States, the Lucas discovery well at Spindletop, which flowed an estimated 100,000 barrels daily, did not produce as much oil in the long run as many other gulf coast wells.

The Abrams well, 145 miles southwest of the Spindletop, was discovered 20 years after the Spindletop and brought a total production of approximately 100,000,000 barrels of oil in 14 years.

It was on July 22, 1920, that the Texas company drilled the No. 1 Abrams to around 3,000 feet. The well blew in unexpectedly through the drillstem. The oil gushed over the derrick at the rate of 1,200 barrels an hour.

The drill crew fled for safety as the well blew in with a terrific roar, caused by tremendous gas pressure.

Many times sand, as effective as an acetylene blow torch, cut the four-inch steel connections as it came up with the oil.

The flow of oil covered the countryside for miles around. Most of the oil flowed down ravines and into creeks and was wasted.

For 10 days and 40 nights, like the rain that floated Noah's Ark, the Abrams gusher deluged the earth with thick viscous, black oil. After the 40th day the well sanded, casing was cemented and the flow brought under control.

That was 12 years ago. The Abrams continued to flow and still is producing. It has been estimated that this one well produced more barrels of oil than some fields produce in a lifetime. The Hogg well was brought in 600 feet from the Abrams well in May, 1921. Up to May, 1932, the Hogg well had produced a total of 4,500,000 barrels. It still is flowing, but figures on its production in the last two years have not been made public.

James V. Allred Is Flayed In Address By Houston Citizen

Hon. J. D. Salles of Houston, campaigning in West Texas for Tom Hunter, spoke to several hundred voters here Saturday afternoon. The speaker was introduced by J. H. Greene, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Judge Salles bitterly attacked enemies of Mr. Hunter, charging that Jimmie Allred was preaching misrepresentations from the public platform in his effort to win the gubernatorial nomination August 25.

M. S. Goffman of Big Spring, a former Coloradoan, accompanied the speaker. They campaigned in Jones and Fisher counties earlier during the week. Judge Salles spoke at a Hunter rally in Big Spring Saturday night.

FIRE RELIEF COMMISSION IS URGED SENT SOLONS BY DISGRUNTLED J. F. REED

Mar Who Resigned In Battle Of Words Would Change Board Personnel

Jack F. Reed, whose resignation remains unaccepted and who is working in the Hunter-for-governor headquarters, recently has urged legislators to take the relief administration out of hands of the present commission, it was divulged at Austin Saturday. The commission squabble is being watched with interest by J. H. Greene, county administrator and other local relief officials.

Reed, July 9, wrote Speaker Coke Stevenson, who appointed him, that "I take this opportunity to urge you as representative of my district to strongly support any legislation having as its purpose displacement of the personnel now constituting the relief commission and setting up in its stead somebody willing to administer these funds for the sole sacred purpose for which the people voted them."

Records of the Texas Relief commission show that Reed was nominated one of a committee of three to urge upon federal relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins execution of the original $8,900,000 drought relief grant for the Texas Panhandle but that no motion of M. N. Christman, Dallas, Mr. Reed was replaced because he had taken the stand the state should match the drought relief funds out of its bond issue on Christman's motion.

Member Earle P. Adams was substituted for Reed and this committee, meeting director Hopkins in Kansas City, won an agreement that the federal government would bear the whole drought work relief cost and spend $400,000 a month, assuming the whole work cost in Texas-drouth areas as in all other drought counties.

Mr. Adams, though from East Texas, has worked consistently to get the federal government to carry through drought relief in the Panhandle section and in West Texas counties later added to the drought area.

Mr. Reed, in his letter urging the legislature to remove the present relief commission, told Speaker Stevenson the majority group had entered into a collusion to prevent the appearance of a quorum at the July meeting.

Mr. Reed was assistant director of relief until Adam R. Johnson and successor to Lawrence Westbrook, then resigned and was appointed by Speaker Stevenson a member of the commission. He was made a member of an investigation committee of the commission, and was maker of a motion that attempted to oust Johnson, with the vote of Col. Julius Dorenfield, Amarillo whose appointment the courts held illegal. While Johnson was out, awaiting the court action, Reed, in his investigating work, occupied an office in the state relief headquarters for several weeks.

State Senator W. K. Hopkins has found the place where he wants to spend his declining days. It is a precinct in the far corner of Gonzales county where 160 persons are eligible to vote. Of this number 159 voted and all marked their ballots for Hopkins.

WOMEN, GIRLS' CLUB NEWS

By MISS EMMA GUNTER, Home Demonstration Agent

The Latin home demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. J. M. Rogers, Thursday. The president and secretary being absent no special business was transacted, but the report of the Short Course delegate, Mrs. Ollie Harris was given in full with help from Miss Gunter to further explain. Mrs. Harris gave a very detailed report and is to give her club a demonstration on the budding and grafting of roses this fall and spring. She will make a box of rootings this fall. Recreational programs were discussed later. Refreshments of sandwiches, devils food cake and punch was served to the following: Mrs. J. M. Hahn and mother, Mrs. Geo. Edwards, Mrs. Jeff Hillhouse, Mrs. T. L. McKenney, Mrs. Ollie Harris, Mrs. Dewey Phillips, Mrs. Nina Mitchell and Miss Gunter.

The Short Course delegates, Mrs. W. K. Miles, Mrs. Lee M. Jones and Novalee Groom gave a program before the Lion's Club Friday and showed in their talks a hooked rug, a tufted bedspread, two hooked mats and a pair of chamois skin gloves, articles that the club women have been making in club work this year and things that were taught at the Short Course this year.

Those people that are canning meats now should be most careful in having their meat cooled before canning and some have said that glass jars were being used. This is against our best information sent to us from all kinds of sources. The tin cans are the safest because they can be processed at a higher temperature and can be cooled quickly in water baths and by using a block of ice in the third change-of cooling water. Also cans should be stored in a cellar or basement when they have finished cooling and have been labeled. Canning early in the morning is the safest time.

It is a supposition that those women that did not have a garden this Spring have their spot well cleaned and pulverized ready to drop the seeds in case sufficient moisture should come. Such vegetables as mustard, turnips, beets, carrots, lettuce and radishes mature from 30 to 60 days and some of them stand a light frost so it is wise to have the seeds ready. Since there has been a scarcity of fresh and canned vegetables this year it will certainly pay to be prepared. Some women in the county have enough left over from last years canned products to tide them over this year but that is a very small percentage. Some have canned in between spells and have quite a nice pantry. It is hoped next year that more people that have water- for irrigation will avail themselves of the concrete tile for sub-irrigation. Information can be gotten from the home demonstration agent and a model tile mold is in her office if any one wants to see it.

Cotton Seed Will Be Worth Millions To Texas Farmers

Cotton seed, ordinarily a secondary product with Texas growers, although a major source of income, has assumed a new importance this season and the short 1934 production promised to bring this State the largest return in four seasons, reports indicate. At least $30,000,000 is the indicated value of 1934 cotton seed production at current quotations and the total may far exceed this if recent sharp price advances continue. Early prices in South Texas have averaged $30 a ton or higher, approximately 150 per cent more than the 1933 average and 235 per cent more than the 1932 low of $8.30 per ton. Prices in recent years have been $13.20 a ton last season, $8.30 in 1932, $10.30 in 1931, $22 in 1930, $32 in 1929, $55 in 1928 and $36 in 1927.

Texas production this season is tentatively estimated at about 1,000,000 tons, compared with the 1,994,000 tons valued at $26,321,000 in 1933, 2,000,000 and $16,650,000 two years ago, 2,370,000 and $24,411,000 three years ago, 1,749,000 and $39,468,000 four seasons ago, 1,752,000 and $56,064,000 five seasons ago, 2,500,000 and $87,000,000 in 1928 and 1,900,000 and $68,400,000 in 1927.

Feed shortages, due to severe drought damage to practically all feed crops, account for the good demand, and soaring prices of cotton seed. With stockmen throughout the Middle and Far West already forced to feed heavily, cutting into stocks that would have been saved for winter use, reports indicate that all classes of feed will be at a premium this winter. Texas growers, however, may need much of their cotton seed and other feed for home use and the Eastern cotton belt, where range and grain conditions are considerably better, appears likely to profit most from enhanced value of the seed.

High prices and good demand for cotton seed is proving especially beneficial in South Texas because sale of a large proportion of the lint cotton has been delayed through failure to receive Bankhead tax exemption certificates. This has been particularly true of tenant farmers, for whom money derived from seed has been about all of the cash available for financing operations. The Lower Rio Grande Valley, for example, is reported to have sold only about 12,000 bales out of 48,000 ginned to date, but it is estimated to have some 20,000 tons of seed, worth approximately $600,000 for immediate cash needs.

Wild dogs are reported to be destroying stock on Long Island. May be they are wolves from Wall Street.

ONE TIME CHURCH

(J. L. Hines in Dallas News)

In your paper, recently, there was an article under the caption, "Wise Advice," in which you will find the following: "The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in annual session in North Carolina had excellent advice given in the opening sermon by the retiring moderator, Dr. Eugene Thompson. The advice is not merely Presbyterian but Christian teaching also. He urged that no time be wasted in empty controversies as to which is the true church, the right form of baptism, or the proper mode of church organization. The world is no longer interested in such arguments, he asserted, noting that Christ trained his apostles in the truth and inspired them with a passion for service."

THE FITTY OF IT ALL

Program of the opposing gubernatorial candidates as they move deeper and deeper into one of the most bitter campaigns in personal life. Texans have been called upon to endure within the same fair name and reproach upon the fair name and the noble traditions of the Lone Star State. Rather than bid recruits into their respective camps by holding high in our political arena the banner of stationariness, these candidates and their liegemen on the stump have elected to engage in conduct belittling the high office of chief executive.

The Record regrets that such a procedure has been returned to blot the history of this fair and beloved State. Would it not have been more keeping with those lofty ideals nurtured by the founders of Texas had they at the ballot box been sought upon a plane of individual merit and commendable leadership rather than the prevalent program of personal hate that today dominates news of the campaign.

The Record has its personal views as to which of the two men should be nominated for governor of Texas in the election Saturday. We must confess, however, that the bitter personalities given encouragement by both camps during the recent past has served to dampen respect we held for the two men.

With the election over Saturday, The Record sincerely hopes that Texas people will be enabled to look with a sense of security into the dawn of a new day in politics. We are entitled to a "New Deal" in Texas and a type of politician who would sustain, rather than destroy respect for the high principles that were dear to the hearts of those men and women who placed the Lone Star of this commonwealth in its high place within the field of blue in that inspired emblem of peace and democracy—the Stars and Stripes.

would combine or else work co-operatively." Mr. Editor, if you will only take the time to turn to I Corinthians 1, 25-30 and read, I am sure, if you desire the truth, you will retract your statement with reference to "weaker" churches; but if, on the other hand, you refuse, then read I Corinthians 3, 1-5. The truth of the matter is, too many people have studied about the Bible and have not studied the Bible. The denominational churches have found that public discussion does them harm and that they "wane" under its fire; therefore they are opposed to religious discussions. The Bible does not teach all the conflicting doctrines we hear today; but, on the other hand, the Bible teaches but one doctrine and that is the doctrine of Christ, and no man can teach and hold to the doctrine of Christ and be a denominationalist. I am for challenging every denominational leader in the world to public debate. I have never met a person yet who would not debate, under certain conditions, but what the doctor means by "empty controversies" is controversies which will do his cause no good, but rather harm. Truth has nothing to fear in public debate. If what I hold to religiously can not stand to have the eternal light of God's truth turned on it, let it perish. I write investigation.

ACADEMIC

(S-P, Dallas News)

Sometime ago a Dallas lady wrote in to say she didn't understand the money question and asked State Press to explain it to her. His reply may have been characterized more by heat and intensity than by lucidity, but the lady has said no more about it. She probably forgot the whole thing before the answer was printed, therefore missed the explanation. Now a Greenville gentleman, encoined on Walnut street, sends word, via this column, that Dallas lady shouldn't bother her pretty head over such matters. Money is a matter that bothers a lot of heads, pretty and not so pretty. Money is the stuff that the boss grudgingly hands out in very small quantities on Saturday evening in exchange for a week of hard labor, declares the Greenville interloper. That is a crude but correct definition of money, cash money. But the inquiring lady, we dare say, was wanting to know about the larger aspects of money, not the thing itself. A dime is money, but it is so simple and round and thin it needs no exegetical elaboration. Very likely the lady herein mentioned wished to know who authorizes money and why there isn't more of it. Why it isn't more easily come by and how come some have it and some don't. There is one school of financiers who insist that money should be more honored in quantity than in quality. They ask why not print carloads of currency and distribute it on the front porches of the people, like advertising dodgers. The answer is that in such case it would be no more valuable than advertising dodgers. Another group asks that more money be printed, but not so very much. They ignore the fact that the more there is the less it buys. On the other hand, the less there is the more a little buys. A golden mean is desired by most, and the golden mean is measured all the world over by the golden standard. Gold is the only international money, and all other forms of same must be based on the quantity of gold back of it. This measure keeps money valuable, but not sacred, available but not voluminous.

Attack On George Mahon Brings Counter Charges From Editors Of Plains Papers

Several South Plains newspapers have denounced recent editorial comment in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal as partisan against candidacy of George Mahon for Congress. The counter charges came after the Lubbock newspaper had advanced the claim that Mahon was now trying to create an anti-Lubbock sentiment throughout adjoining counties.

The following editorial comment, in line with that given place in other newspapers of the area, is reprinted from the Llan County News, published at Tahoka:

Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, is all "hot up."

In last Sunday's issue of that paper he assumes an injured air. He imagines that some of George Mahon's supporters are attempting to spread "anti-Lubbock" doctrine—that they are singing "hymns of hate" against Lubbock—and he hopes that George will put a stop to it.

We don't know what provoked this outburst. We have scanned the editorial columns of most of the papers in the district and we have read nothing that could have been construed as a thrust against Lubbock. We have heard no "hymns of hate."

We have heard many people express their disapproval of the attitude of a few Lubbock politicians. As soon as the first primary election was over, some of these politicians apparently tried to whip all the people of Lubbock into line for their candidate for congress. That was the way it looked to some of us, at least.

And then they began to sing—these politicians—not a song of hate, but a song of ridicule. In the press and on the stump and on the streets there is today, labor was carrying up to $10 a day, with everyone working that wanted to work. Was money scarce then?

How can work be produced when almost everything is built and completed? We need no new industries. The existing factories could produce three to five times the present output. We are suffering from depression, not depression. When will more of the following be built in Dallas—hotels, school buildings, office buildings, churches, apartments, banks, postoffices, gas, telephone and power and light buildings? These that can afford homes have already built them. Will they build another just the next two months will about finish the new car buying. What will these industries do then? Just one thing—stop. No more do people build for expectation.

ROYAL ROAD TO HAPPINESS'S

Happiness is the goal we all crave most. It is the destination every one hopes to attain, and just as it is necessary that you travel the right road to reach the place desired, just so it is essential that we know what constitutes happiness and what is required to attain it and possess it.

There is a royal road to happiness. It is the road that the King himself has trod. It is marked by the bleeding footsteps of travelers who have preceded us, who have worn crowns of thorns, who have given their lives for others. Happiness is always in us and about us if we would only recognize it and claim it. It depends much more upon a beautiful life than upon a beautiful landscape, material riches, prominence in social life, or the attainment of an ambition simply that men may admire, wonder at, or envy.

There is no happiness induced, copied, or produced that does not come from good words, thoughts, or deeds. It can be experienced in no other way. This is a fact attested by the history of the past in all ages. It is a principle in the economy of spirit.

Happiness offered for violation of spiritual law, for participation in sports or amusements which do not elevate, which do not conduce to right thinking and correct behavior, which do not impart one to better things and a better life, is counterfeit.

It is "fool's gold." It is camouflage, flattery. It is a mockery and a fraud. It is apples of Sodom, Dead Sea fruit, ashes.

We must let down our buckets where we are. We must dig for the diamonds beneath our feet. We must look within, instead of without, above instead of below. "Why search the future by the past? Why do ye look with fearful eyes? And seek far off for paradise? Beneath thy feet life's pearl is cast."

Signs of rain: To hear a chaffinch hen squall; To see lightning in the S-W while the sun is shining; Bull bats flying low and screeching; Snake tracks heading toward the left.

Hoover and the Republicans are charged with the depression. Roosevelt and the Democrats brought on the drought.

Attack On George Mahon Brings Counter Charges From Editors Of Plains Papers

Several South Plains newspapers have denounced recent editorial comment in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal as partisan against candidacy of George Mahon for Congress. The counter charges came after the Lubbock newspaper had advanced the claim that Mahon was now trying to create an anti-Lubbock sentiment throughout adjoining counties.

The following editorial comment, in line with that given place in other newspapers of the area, is reprinted from the Llan County News, published at Tahoka:

Charles A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, is all "hot up."

In last Sunday's issue of that paper he assumes an injured air. He imagines that some of George Mahon's supporters are attempting to spread "anti-Lubbock" doctrine—that they are singing "hymns of hate" against Lubbock—and he hopes that George will put a stop to it.

We don't know what provoked this outburst. We have scanned the editorial columns of most of the papers in the district and we have read nothing that could have been construed as a thrust against Lubbock. We have heard no "hymns of hate."

We have heard many people express their disapproval of the attitude of a few Lubbock politicians. As soon as the first primary election was over, some of these politicians apparently tried to whip all the people of Lubbock into line for their candidate for congress. That was the way it looked to some of us, at least.

And then they began to sing—these politicians—not a song of hate, but a song of ridicule. In the press and on the stump and on the streets

there is today, labor was carrying up to $10 a day, with everyone working that wanted to work. Was money scarce then?

How can work be produced when almost everything is built and completed? We need no new industries. The existing factories could produce three to five times the present output. We are suffering from depression, not depression. When will more of the following be built in Dallas—hotels, school buildings, office buildings, churches, apartments, banks, postoffices, gas, telephone and power and light buildings? These that can afford homes have already built them. Will they build another just the next two months will about finish the new car buying. What will these industries do then? Just one thing—stop. No more do people build for expectation.

ROYAL ROAD TO HAPPINESS'S

Happiness is the goal we all crave most. It is the destination every one hopes to attain, and just as it is necessary that you travel the right road to reach the place desired, just so it is essential that we know what constitutes happiness and what is required to attain it and possess it.

There is a royal road to happiness. It is the road that the King himself has trod. It is marked by the bleeding footsteps of travelers who have preceded us, who have worn crowns of thorns, who have given their lives for others. Happiness is always in us and about us if we would only recognize it and claim it. It depends much more upon a beautiful life than upon a beautiful landscape, material riches, prominence in social life, or the attainment of an ambition simply that men may admire, wonder at, or envy.

ANOTHER MOLEY

J. J. Moley, brother of Raymond J. Moley, former chief adviser to President Roosevelt, has assumed his new duties as postmaster at Berea, Ohio, site of the Moley homestead.

It may be that some of the folks down in the "lower end of the district" and elsewhere are resenting these contemptuous things that the big Lubbock giant and a few of his supporters are directing at the "boy" from Colorado.

No, keep your shirt on, Charley. Nobody is attempting to spread "anti-Lubbock" doctrine that we know of. None of George Mahon's supporters are trying to create prejudice against Lubbock. The most obvious attempt to draw sectional lines of any kind, that we have noted, appeared in the Avalanche itself, when a few days after the first election, it suggested that the fight in the run-off would be between the plains and the "below the caprock" country.

But most of us common people are for Mahon or Mullican, as the case may be, not because he lives in Colorado or Lubbock, but because we regard him as the best material for the place.

No, keep your shirt on, Charley, but George Mahon is going to be our congressman.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

The revival meeting which lasted ten days, closed Tuesday evening. There were seven additions to the church. Bro. Ross was assisted in the meeting by Rev. Cal Wright of First Methodist Church of Colorado. Bro. Wright brought some very fine and inspiring messages, which was a great blessing to the members of the church and others as expressed by them in the closing service of the meeting. We appreciate everything that was done to help in the ongoing of the meeting. There was a fine spirit of cooperation.

WESTBROOK BOYS HONORED

Tom H. Murphy and Elmo Daniel of Westbrook have been chosen for two of the 40 places on the West Texas State Teachers College farm which is under the direction of Professor T. M. Moore of the Agriculture Department.

The men who live on the farm are chosen annually from scores of applicants. In order to be eligible for a place, each young man must have at least $150.00 which to pay his college fees and his share in the cooperative living plan which is used on the farm.

These young men with their farm associates are to report in Canyon on September 18 when the fall session of college opens. Every man who works on the farm is chosen after a careful investigation of his grades in high school or college, his character and reputation, and his ability to do some one of the special duties in connection with the dairy and farm. The College farm is located one mile from the campus and the young men reach the campus by means of bus transportation—the bus being locally known as the T-Anchor Fresh Air Taxi Cab.

Romantic Beauty Of Mexico Thrills Miss Mable Smith And Miss Greene

After seven weeks of study and sight-seeing in the latest Mecca of American tourists, Mexico City, Miss Mable Smith and Miss Nellie Harp Greene returned home Monday morning, enthused over what they have seen and done this summer.

Neither Miss Smith, who teaches Spanish in Colorado High School, nor Miss Greene, a member of the Junior High School faculty, like to talk for publication and neither of them will talk about themselves. But they will talk about Mexico.

"The thing that will interest—rather surprise—most people, I suppose," Miss Smith stated when questioned about her summer, "is the climate. Mexico is listed as a tropical country, and its products are tropical. The popular conception of the country has it down as a hot, lazy-living place. Americans never go prepared for the real conditions, unless they've been there before. We almost froze at times, having carried with us only light spring wraps."

"We were there, of course, during the rainy season, which begins June 1 and ends October 1. But the climate is cool all during the remainder of the year when it is dry. Only in the middle of the day could we go about comfortably without wraps."

The rains, she said, began each afternoon about three, lasting from one to three hours. Once when it went three days without raining there was general alarm over the possibility of a drought. It takes the average person from a week to ten days to become acclimated.

Recent newspaper accounts of the tourists which have been literally swamping Monterrey and Mexico City this summer tell of the "Pullman City" which was established on the railroad tracks to care for those who could not get hotel accommodations. Miss Smith says that this Pullman City is to be made a permanent thing, a town within itself.

Two new enormous hotels are under construction. The Mexicans are agog over entertaining the International Rotarians in December and the Lions International next summer. They are suddenly tourist-conscious and their hospitality is effusive.

In the University of Mexico, Summer school most classes are taught in Spanish but many are taught in English. The enrollment of the school this year was the largest in its history, Miss Smith says. Every state in the Union was represented, with the largest percentage of Americans from Texas.

Miss Smith and Miss Greene went to three bull-fights and witnessed several foton games. Foton, which is played something like tennis with bats fastened to the wrists of the players to be used instead of rackets, is the fastest game in the world. Betting is wide open and wild.

They visited many of the old cathedrals but did not attend any services. Very few are held at the present because of the strife between the Mexican government and the Catholic Church.

"We sampled all the Mexican dishes," Miss Smith related. "But we soon tired of them. Sanborn's, called the 'Life saver of the American Tourist,' specializes in American dishes, and it does a rushing business. It is old and old and beautiful place, built of blue tiles."

Some of the places of interest in and near Mexico City which Miss Smith and Miss Greene visited are the floating gardens at Xochimilco, Taxco, Cuernavaca, The Pyramids and the Acollman monastery, Puebla and Cholula, the Desert of the Lions and Toluca Yoleabo, Chapultepec castle, the Villa of Guadalupe Hidalgo, and others.

The beautiful new National Theater in the heart of Mexico City, however, was one of the sights most impressive to Miss Smith. Just completed after years of work, it has been termed one of the most beautiful buildings on the American continent.

In it is a glass curtain, the only thing of its kind in the world. Tiffany's of New York made it and its value is enormous. Thousands of tiny squares of glass are set together to form a striking picture of the two snow-covered Aconcagua peaks which are visible from Mexico City. Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl. Lighting effects enhance its glittering beauty. It is in this theatre, which has ballrooms, restaurants, and other accommodations, that the Rotarians will meet and perhaps the Lions.

"Take your overcoat and go to Mexico," Miss Smith and Miss Greene advise their friends. "You'll find there all the romantic beauty you are willing to see."

BLACK-DRAUGHT
"Such a Good Laxative," Says Nurse
Writing from her home in Fenton, Mo., Mrs. Anna LaPlante says: "I am a practical nurse and I recommend to some of my patients that they take Black-Draught, for it is such a good laxative. I took it for constipation, headache and a dull feeling that I had so much. A few doses of Black-Draught—and I felt just fine."

Because so many people know from having used it that Theodore's Black-Draught is a good, purely vegetable laxative, millions of packages of it are sold every year.

Dr. George Truett, World Leader For Baptists, Has Made Unique Career

Election of Dr. George W. Truett as president of the Baptist World Alliance brings again into international prominence the life of a man consecrated from the legal profession by the prayerful and almost forcible efforts of the congregation of the church at Whitewright, Grayson County, about forty-eight years ago. The honor accorded the Dallas pastor at Berlin Tuesday is not the first occasion on which his fame as a spiritual leader has spread beyond the borders of his own country. The present session of the world congress is the second over which he has been called to preside. In 1928 he conducted the session in the absence of the late E. Y. Mullins at Toronto. During the last congress he presided before his election in lieu of Dr. John McNeill. Dr. Truett was called to London on the occasion of the Charles Haddon Spurgeon centenary commemoration where he was introduced by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. In an article in the Missionary Herald of London the Dallas man was compared to the great Britisher Spurgeon by Dr. J. H. Bushbrooke, one of the most prominent of British Baptists.

Numerous offers to larger churches have been repeatedly refused by Dr. Truett. When the rocky cotton fields of North Carolina were to be denominated a scantily educated and hazy youth of 19 there was little to indicate that he would one day be called to direct the affairs of 12,500,000 Baptists of the world. At that age he had received no literary education further than that furnished by the rather primitive country schools of the mountains. He was far better acquainted with methods of planting corn and plowing a cotton row than with theological or denominational affairs.

It was much to the surprise of all who knew him that before he reached his majority he had developed a strong interest in education and founded the Hlawasse High School in Georgia.

While president of the school he attended a session of the Georgia Baptist State Convention to plead for funds for the education of the poor among whom he was reared. Then it was that something of his later genius for pulpit oratory that has drawn thousands to the First Baptist Church of Dallas was revealed.

Ample financing for the young man's school was secured due to that speech. In addition one of the delegates, realizing the potentialities of the speaker and his lack of education offered to finance his attendance at a university. But he was unable to take advantage of this offer. Young Truett's father then left North Carolina for Texas, settling near Whitewright.

After settling in Grayson County, Young Truett decided it was time to begin study toward the realization of his ambition to become a lawyer. What time he could save from his farm labors he spent reading law books.

How the outstanding Baptist of the world was drawn to the denomination from the legal profession has been recounted often by Dr. Truett himself.

"One Saturday," he relates, "I went to the church where all our family were members and was surprised to find the house full. Usually the Saturday meetings were attended by only a few standbys, but this time it seemed that everybody had come. After the sermon a revived old hymn got up and following a few generalities he began urging that I decide at once for the ministry."

"As I had done previously when the idea had been broached by other deacons I protested. I had joined the church at 19. I was willing to be a faithful lay member but had my own plans for a career. The meeting grew tense with emotion. Prayers were offered and finally it was moved the church voice its conviction that 'God had called George W. Truett to the ministry and that the church should immediately summon a council of preachers to ordain him.' I proposed that they wait six months," Dr. Truett related. "We won't wait six hours," they answered. "We are called to do this thing now and we are going ahead with it. And so they did."

But a short while later the young preacher was called to an assignment which was one of the toughest in his long career. Baylor University at Waco in 1891 was laboring under a debt of $92,000, a sum which under the circumstances was formidable. It was upon the recommendation of a man who had heard Truett speak that "there is one thing I know of him," that man wrote the president of Baylor, "and that is that when he speaks the people do what he asks them to do."

In twenty-three months, after covering the state by train, horseback and buggy and sometimes in an ox cart, the debt was raised. After his debt raising job was finished Truett entered the ministry which he had served tirelessly and held the pastorate of a small church near by during his student days. He married Miss Josephine Jenkins, a fellow student.

Soon after graduation, the couple came to Dallas in response to a call of the First Baptist Church. That was in 1897. The church had 115 members. Since that time, this one-time farmer boy of the North Carolina hills, has built his church into a $4,000,000 plant with 5,500 members and a regular Sunday school enrollment of more than 6,000. An eight-story Sunday school building has been added to the church edifice. That the people do what he asks has repeatedly been proven. On a single Sunday he raised for denominational purposes $507,850.

Friends of the pastor seeking to make life easier for one who labors so ardently have long been used to seeing gifts which they offered passed along promptly to the less fortunate. On one occasion the congregation, taking into consideration the strict Texas homestead law, gave him a comfortable home at 5105 Live Oak.

The rival candidates of James V. Allred and Tom P. Hunter for the Texas Governorship resulted in a fierce encounter on the Upshur County courthouse at Gilmer Saturday.

Ben P. Allred, brother of the candidate for Governor, had just started speaking from the courthouse steps, with the aid of amplifiers on a sound truck, when J. H. (Cyclone) Davis stopped his round truck under a nearby tree and began speaking for Hunter's candidacy.

Deputy Sheriff J. T. Rackerley, who later separated the combatants, said two sons of Davis, Landon and Walton, approached Allred. Soon blows followed. Rackerley said Allred had a bruise on his forehead and one of Davis' sons, facial bruises and a torn shirt. Allred stepped to the microphone and shouted to the crowd.

"All of you who want to hear now about Jimmy Allred's candidacy for Governor come around to the other side of the courthouse." The elder Davis refused to comment on the affair and drove away.

Col-Tex Wins Over Big Spring Oilers In Sunday Battle

BIG SPRING.—Pap Payne's fast ball was working in great fashion Sunday against the Col-Tex Oilers when he limited them to only four hits, but the locals failed to support him and he fell to the tune of 9-6 when his mates contributed a total of 8 miscues afield.

The Cosenites collected a total of ten hits off two Col-Tex twirlers, five of which were in the first stanza, but the Coloradans chased six runs across the plate in the sixth frame to take the lead and eventually win the game.

Cy Terrazas, Dutch Moxley and Jake Morgan were the big bats for the locals with two hits apiece to their credit. Lefty Baber contributed the only extra base blow of the evening for the Cosenites when he tripled in the first inning.

Dutch Moxley represented half the team's offense when he scored a total of three runs, one in the second, the second coming during the seventh inning, and the third in the final frame.

The Cosenites drove Wood from the mound in the initial inning on five successive hits. But Henderson stepped in to keep the Cosenites under control during the remaining five innings.

Hutchinson's eighth-inning was the only base hit during the Coloradans' six-inning bout, but the Cosenites went to pieces Sunday failed to rally behind fighting Payne.

Payne's homer in the fifth was the only extra base blow for the Coloradans.
