JUDGE MAUZEY CONTINUES TO PUSH PROCEDURE THRU AS CRIMINAL CASES TRIED

Third Week Of District Court Finds Little Work Pending After Tuesday Noon

Continuing his policy as announced as he came on the 32nd judicial bench several months ago that the tribunal was strictly a place for the transaction of business and as such should be progressed without unnecessary delays, Judge A. S. Mauzey Tuesday noon practically concluded business set for the third week of court. Jury panel summoned for the week was discharged and but few matters remained to be given attention before clearing dockets of all causes set for that period.

During last week-end the court devoted attention to divorce pleas and non-jury cases, disposing of the dockets with his usual rapid, though consistent, policy. During next week two criminal cases, and one civil suit, along with such business as may be developed by the grand jury during the week-end remains for attention before concluding the term.

Monday morning the case of Clarence Sanders, negro charged with burglary, was the first case called. Sanders entered a plea of guilty and was given two years in the penitentiary. The negro was under indictment in connection with theft of some hams, shoulders and several pounds of lard from the smoke house of George Vest.

Next to be arraigned for trial were two Mexicans, Gregorio Rodriguez and Emeterio Martinez, charged with burglarizing the store of Floyd Merket at Valley View. The men entered pleas of guilty and drew two years in the pen, suspended.

Odell Spruill, under grand jury indictment on the charge of driving a motor car while intoxicated, was the next defendant to be called. He, too, entered a plea of guilty and the court sentenced him to 50 days in the county jail and revoked his driving privilege for one year.

Joe Poe was the first defendant called to trial as court opened Tuesday morning. Poe was returned to Colorado Monday night on a bench warrant from Baird where he was

OUTSTANDING LEADER HERE DURING OVER FIFTY YEARS PASSES IN DEATH SUNDAY

Mrs. H. B. Smoot Given Burial Rites Tuesday Morning At First Baptist Church

Another of the outstanding leaders in affairs of church and society passed Sunday night in the death of Mrs. H. B. Smoot, who during the past fifty two years had been prominently identified with this city and section. She died at 9:15 o'clock at the family residence, East Fourth and Chestnut streets after an illness of several days duration.

Born in Montgomery, Alabama, November 28, 1856, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Figh, the late pioneer came to Texas with her parents when a child. She was married to H. B. Smoot at Bryan on September 15, 1880 and shortly thereafter Mr. and Mrs. Smoot established residence in Dallas.

In 1883, during peak of Colorado City's boom era, Mr. and Mrs. Smoot moved to this city, where through a number of years he was prominently identified with the banking business. Mr. Smoot died several years ago.

Soon after locating her new home in Colorado Mrs. Smoot manifested keen interest in affairs of the church and from that time until her death was recognized as a leader in the Baptist congregation. She assisted in organization of the Baptist W.M.S. and of the Standard club, the latter Colorado's oldest study club.

In celebrating its fifty third anniversary last November the First Baptist church featured programs commemorating life of Mrs. Smoot for her fifty one years of uninterrupted service to the church. Scores of Colorado's leading citizens of today were at one time during years of the past attendants upon Sunday school as members of classes taught by her.

Funeral rites were conducted from the Baptist church Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. Dick O'Brien, assisted by Rev. W. C. Ashford of Abilene, officiating. Strong tribute to her life was offered during delivery of sermon address. Burial was in the family lot at Colorado cemetery.

Buford, one of the first rural community centers in Mitchell county, is to realize another material stride ahead during the present year through construction of modern church buildings by the Baptist and Methodist congregations, according to information given The Record this week by leaders in the two religious organizations.

Members of the Methodist church have not concluded detailed plans for their projected edifice of worship aside from making the announcement that the building would be constructed. The other congregation, however, have accepted architect's design of their new home and are now concluding last minute details looking to actual construction.

The building, to be of concrete construction, will be 34 by 44 feet in size and contain six Sunday school class rooms in addition to an auditorium with seating capacity of 250 people. A basement will contain the Sunday school department.

Sand and gravel for use in construction of the building are being moved to location by members of the congregation. More than forty yards of this material was on the site Monday afternoon.

The building site is a few hundred yards south from the Farmers Gin Company plant, at point where the new highway leads off from the old Colorado-Buford road.

The city edition went into the postoffice Thursday afternoon at 3:30. At 4:30 Mrs. Curry drove by the office to inform that her dog had just been returned.

OPTIMISM PREVAILS AFTER HEAVIEST SNOW IN YEARS BLANKETS COLORADO AREA

Ranchers And Farmers Alike Share In Material Good Moisture Brings

Optimism is holding sway throughout the Colorado territory this week, the sequel to one of the heaviest snows ever to blanket the area. Cattlemen and farmers throughout the territory have brought reports to Colorado during the week that the moisture would contribute much to augment gradual return to stable conditions.

Snow began falling in Colorado Monday morning and for several hours the frozen moisture continued. With temperatures of around forty degrees the snow melted as it fell. The precipitation was equivalent to .35 of an inch of rainfall.

Cattlemen could not have hoped for a more acceptable gift, from the weatherman, men engaged in the industry have since declared. The snow assures an early growth of wild rye and other early spring grazing vegetation, putting to an end worries of the ranchers over possibility of having to buy commercial feeds for their herds.

Farmers over the territory, had, as a rule, completed bedding or flat breaking their fields and the moisture was all absorbed in the soil. In most communities the fields were still in excellent condition for plowing, through effects of the rains received last month.

Ceremonies Of Simple And Reverent Beauty Mark Christian Prayer Day

Ceremonies of reverent, simple beauty, climaxed with a portrayal of the purity and consecration of the Lord's Supper, marked the World Day of Prayer program observed at the First Christian Church Friday.

The theme, "Fellowship Through Prayer," was carried out in all the program divisions, the first of which included a hymn, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and the devotional introduction to the day by the Rev. Wallace Jones.

Seven rooms of the church represented countries of the world to carry out the special morning theme of "Fellowship With Our Workers Round the World."

Mrs. J. E. Pond was in charge of the room representing Africa, where a map of the country and African pictures were used. A map of India, Indian tapestry and Indian pottery were used by Mrs. W. W. Porter in her room representing India. The Japanese room was hung with Japanese lanterns and was in charge of Mrs. P. K. Mackey. Mrs. John Williams was in charge of China.

Dressed as a Mexican peon woman and seated in front of a stick fire, Mrs. Sam Majors portrayed Mexico, giving, as did those in charge of other rooms, the history of missionary work in her country.

Tibet, the Philippines, and Porto Rico were included in one room, with Miss Gladys Louise Jones and Miss Memphis Porter in charge. They were dressed as Tibetan priests.

Mrs. J. Ralph Lee was in charge of the Home Missions room, where a large United States map was placed on the floor and mission work was portrayed as follows:

Indians, Mrs. Lee in Indian costume standing on Washington and Oregon; old ladies' home, Mrs. Josie Hendricks and Mrs. W. A. Crowder, seated in Texas, with Jan Dorn and Mory Ellen Jones as orphan children; negroes, Margery Tidwell; Mexicans, Mrs. Majors; Japanese, Mrs. Henry Vaught, standing in California; Pennsylvania coal mine workers, Mrs. Mary Lee Tidwell; mountaineers, Fannie Fae Porter and Ruth Hardison.

At the close of this division, Mrs. H. B. Broadus offered a prayer for government. The lunch hour program, in charge of Mrs. Vaught, included a reading by Mrs. John Williams, a song by Mrs. Wallace Jones, and talks by Mrs. Sam Majors and Mrs. Boord, who is here in the interest of organizing a Mother's club and who is a member of the Christian church.

Fellowship with each other, fellowship with Christ and consecration to Christ were the themes of the afternoon. Dr. C. L. Root conducted the devotional of the first, having as his topic "Strength Through Fellowship." A love feast, during which those present cemented friendship, followed the devotional.

"In the Upper Room" was the title of the division setting forth fellowship with Christ, the division declared by those present to be one of the most strikingly beautiful ceremonies which they had ever witnessed. It was arranged and directed by Mrs. Wallace Jones.

A solo, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," was sung by Mrs. Bob Fee as the ceremony began. Then, in absolute quiet, groups of twelve visited the "upper room," while those remaining below sang hymns.

The upper room was lighted only by two white tapers, burning in silver holders at either end of a long, white-draped table. Thirteen chairs stood around the table, and one in the center of one side was covered in white. Before this stood a silver cup and plate. Fern and lilies on pedestals furnished the only other decorations.

The twelve came in and were seated in the twelve uncovered chairs, bowing in silent prayer after Mrs. Jones had read to them a plea for consecration in which she asked them to imagine themselves in the places of the twelve apostles. After the prayer the cup and plate were passed and the twelve left singing, "Into My Heart."

Gathering in another room, all consecrated themselves with the singing of hymns and sentence prayers. About 50 were in attendance through the day.

NEW GROCERY AND MARKET ANNOUNCED FOR CITY

PARKER AND PRIBBLE 'ONE STOP FOOD STORE' SLATED TO OPEN FRIDAY MORNING

New Enterprise Offers New Stocks And New Service To Colorado Public

Formal opening of the Parker & Pribble "One Stop Food Store," Colorado's newest business enterprise, is set for 7 o'clock Friday morning in the Jno. L. Doss Building, corner Third and Walnut streets. Jack Parker and Lloyd Pribble, owners and managers of the concern, have been busy during the past several days directing plans for opening the store on that date. The place will be brand new in every detail, with new fixtures, new interior decorations and new stocks of staple and fancy groceries. A modern market department equipped with electric refrigeration is included.

"It is our plan to give the public of this city and section one of the most progressive food stores in West Texas and there has been no stinting in our preparation for entering business that would detract from that aim," the management stated Tuesday afternoon. "The store is new in every detail, and so will be the food stocks to be offered the public. The best obtainable on the market shall dominate at our store."

Parker has been identified with the retail grocery and market trade in Colorado several years and merits a commendable distinction in that respect. Pribble, for several years in employe of one of the major oil concerns in this territory, resigned a month ago to devote his entire attention to plans for opening the store.

Stocks to be carried by the concern will be conveniently arranged in specially built shelf compartments. Convenience of the shopper in making selections of foods was given consideration in arranging interior of the store. Free delivery service extending to all parts of town will be maintained.

"We plan handling only the best known brands of foods and shall strive to build for public favor on the proposition that service and quality reign in every deal at the 'One Stop Food Store,'" was comment of Parker as he recounted some of the popularly trade-marked food products to be featured there.

From 7:30 to 8:30 Saturday night a special musical program will be rendered at the store by the Chuck Wagon Serenaders, as one of the formal opening features. The management invites the public to hear this concert.

Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock a program dedicated to the new store is to be given in a radio offering at studios of WBAP, Fort Worth, by Bewley's Chuck Wagon Gang. Friends of the store managers are invited to tune in for this broadcast. Free coffee will be served all visitors Saturday.

RANCHERS DONATE BULLS TO PRESIDENT'S RANCH

PECOS.—Two fine registered bulls will be presented to President Franklin D. Roosevelt by ranchers in Reeves, Ward, Loving and Winkler counties and sent to his farm at Warm Springs, Ga., as a token of appreciation from the farmers and ranchers of the work done by the president for stockmen.

One bull came from the Bill Jones ranch, near Marfa and the other from the Henry Benham ranch, near Balmorhea.

FAST DELIVERY SERVICE TO FEATURE COLORADO'S 'ONE STOP FOOD STORE'

Colorado's newest business enterprise, the "One Stop Food Store" of Jack Parker and Lloyd Pribble, is to feature quick delivery service to patrons within the city limits. This service will be assured through use of a new Ford V-8 pick-up recently purchased by the management from the Colorado Motor Company.

"Our company is pleased to have been given privilege of supplying the delivery truck for this service," said P. K. Mackey, president of the local Ford Motor Company agency.

Read the ads as carefully as you read the news articles.

FRESH VEGETABLES WILL BE RECEIVED DIRECT TO STORE FROM PRODUCERS

Fresh vegetables, selected under a quality standard, are to be delivered direct by fast motor trucks direct from growers in the Texas Winter Garden area to the "One Stop Food Store," the management announced Thursday morning.

"It is our definite ambition to supply patrons of this new enterprise with the best offered on the market and no means will be spared in realizing that end," was statement given.

Lloyd Ritchey of Wink, Mr. and Mrs. Hood Formwalt of Hope, N. M., visited in the C. A. Ritchey home over the week-end.

Whooping Cough Is Disease Of Spring And Summer Days

The following educational discussion on whooping cough is contributed for publication in The Record by Dr. John W. Brown of Austin, State health officer:

Whooping cough is a disease of the spring and summer months. It is a real problem in households where there are a number of very young children. Statistics show that cases terminating fatally are greater among females than among males. The younger the child when attacked by whooping cough, the greater the cause for alarm for its recovery. Babies, therefore, should be safeguarded and kept away from persons known to have been exposed to whooping cough.

The dangerous malady is spread through contact with the secretions of the nose and mouth, which may come from sneezing, the use of contaminated handkerchiefs, toys, cups, and in fact from any agencies which allow close contact.

There are three or more distinct stages noted in whooping cough. The symptoms of the first or catarrhal stage are similar to the ordinary cold, with an attendant cough. If the trouble is whooping cough, the cough grows worse instead of better, as in an ordinary cold. The expulsion of mucous or vomiting commonly ends the attack of coughing.

Pneumonia and convulsions more frequently occur among children who are suffering from malnutrition. There is no communicable disease which exacts a higher toll among very young children than whooping cough.

Whooping cough is a highly communicable disease and the young and poorly nourished should be protected in every way from coming in contact with this infection.

LOCAL NIMRODS FISH SUCCESSFULLY WHILE SNOWFLAKES WHIRL

Fishing amid whirling snowflakes is a little out of the West Texas picture, no matter how natural it may be for the Eskimos, but four Colorado nimrods proved this week that it can be done, and with success.

George Plaster, Jack Winnett, Homer Winnett, and Irwin Plaster fished on the Concho during Monday afternoon's snowstorm spending Monday night on the river and returning Tuesday with "plenty" of fish.

TEXANS ARE TO VOTE ON REPEAL

AUSTIN.—Repeal of statewide prohibition, with guarantees of local option and prevention of open saloons, was submitted by Texas senators by a 27 to 0 vote.

Texas voters will pass upon the proposed repeal amendment next August 24 if the House concurs in the Senate's action. The form of submission permits the state to enact a monopoly on sales of hard liquor if constitutional prohibition, voted in 1919, is repealed.

GRADUATED SCALE ON CITY DELINQUENT TAX ACCOUNTS PASSED BY COUNCIL BOARD

Penalty And Interest Charges Accruing Prior March 15 To Be Eliminated

With the belief prevailing that a majority of taxpayers would benefit through its operation, the city council Monday night adopted the Texas graduated delinquent tax law as passed during called session of the 44th legislature. The law is to be operative in Colorado on and after March 15, today.

Provisions of the act provide that all penalties and interest accrued against delinquent tax accounts prior to the 1934 roll shall be cancelled. Beginning on this date, however, a graduated penalty scale is to become effective.

On delinquent taxes paid between the dates of March 15 and April 1 a penalty of two percent will be added. Taxes paid during the period of April 1 to May 1 will entail a three percent penalty, and on those paid from May 1 to June 1 the penalty is to be five percent. From June 1 to July 1 the penalty reaches the maximum charge of 8 percent.

In addition to the penalty scale there will be interest charged at the rate of six percent per annum after July 1.

BILLINGSLEY'S WORK HERE WILL CONTINUE

J. J. Billingsley will continue to reside in Colorado and operate the Colorado Insurance Agency, which he owns, in the same manner as he did before his appointment as district FHA evaluator.

Although such was clearly stated in a Record news item last week about the appointment, there seems to have been some misunderstanding by a few readers.

Billingsley's new work will require only a portion of his time. He will work under direction of the Fort Worth office.

OLD TIME REVIVAL TO START SATURDAY

Opening of an old-time revival meeting in the building two doors south of the Alamo Hotel is announced for Saturday night, March 16. J. C. Jackson, pastor, will preach.

RELIEF WORK HERE RESUMED ON ORDER OF STATE DIRECTOR

Resumption of the work relief program on a limited scale was ordered by State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson this week in a communication addressed to all county administrators. The work relief program was practically abandoned several days ago when relief funds ran low.

Mr. Johnson said past rules and regulations governing work relief projects are again in effect but cautioned all administrators with regard to proper planning of expenditures.

"Allotments for the month will in all instances be lower than for February," he said. "This will mean in many cases reduction in family budgets. It should not mean, however, stopping of work relief, and the client should be extended work relief as in the past but in smaller amounts. It is suggested that all economies possible be effected in regard to non-relief expenditures."

Emergency Relief Seed Loans To Be Advanced Planters

Funds to finance emergency loans to planters to purchase seed for spring planting are to be available citizens of Mitchell county, it was announced through the local county relief administrator's office Tuesday.

Jim Greene, administrator, gave out this information after receiving authority from Adam R. Johnson of Austin, State relief director.

"These funds have been made available to meet the emergency created by temporary lack of funds in the Farm Credit Administration, which heretofore has made such loans," Greene stated. "Loans will be made in all cases of emergency whether the client is on relief rolls or not."

All applications are to be passed upon by the county committee which heretofore has functioned under the Farm Credit Administration. The applications will be taken at local offices of the county relief board.

NO LET-UP IN RELIEF HERE, DUE TO SPIRIT OF FULL COOPERATION

In spite of the fact that relief work in many counties has been at a stand-still during the past two weeks, there has been no let-up in Mitchell county, according to J. H. Greene, county FERA administrator.

Administrator Greene credits this situation to the full cooperation given by county and city officials to local relief projects.

Work in most counties has been halted because of lack of relief funds for transportation and rolling stock. In this county these two things have been largely furnished all along by the city and county, allowing all relief allotment to go for labor.

Cornerstone Of Episcopal Church Was Laid 50 Years Ago This Month

While a raging sandstorm tore at the robes of the officiating bishop, the cornerstone of All Saints' Episcopal church was laid fifty years ago this month—in March 1885.

The event is recalled by the only person now living in Colorado who was present. That person is Mrs. C. M. Adams, who is the church's only charter member still in active membership.

Mrs. Adams cannot remember the exact date of the ceremony, and since the church's early records were lost some twenty-five years ago by the Rev. J. E. H. Galbraith during a train trip to Dallas, there is no other way of learning it.

She does remember, however, that the bishop whose robes flapped so wildly in the sandstorm was Bishop Alexander C. Carratt of Dallas, whose missionary district included the whole western half of the state. The church was then known as St. Michael's.

At that time Mrs. Adams was Miss Frances Rix. She attended the laying of the cornerstone with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rix. J. L. Rix and his brother, J. A. Rix, had come to Colorado in January, 1883, and had engaged in the stock business. They lived in a house on the present site of the H. B. Broadbuss home.

Because so many English people, nearly all Episcopalians, had come here with fortunes and near-fortunes to invest in ranches and otherwise, the Episcopal church flourished in those days. From its beginning until several years after the erection of the church building it was a self-supporting parish and not a mission, as it is today.

Before the church was built Episcopal services were held at irregular intervals by a Rev. Mr. Patrik, missionary, in a long two-story building on the present site of Dr. E. J. Crowley's home. The building belonged to a Mrs. Horner, who had come here from Waxahachie with the purpose of establishing a boarding school for girls. Mrs. Horner was a staunch Episcopalian and gave the use of her dining room to church gatherings.

Two of the most faithful workers for the building of a church, Mrs. Adams recalls, were Mr. and Mrs. A. McClain. The only memorial window in the church is dedicated to Mrs. McClain, who died a few weeks after the church was built.

Others who attended services in Mrs. Horner's boarding school included a Mrs. Wesless, who later moved to Denver, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Parks, who now live in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

A number of the English people who were leaders in the church in its infancy were connected with the United Trading company, which had a branch in this territory. Others were ranch owners.

Some of their names were John and Alfred Harris, Mr. and Mrs. F. Madden Mayers, B. Walter Jones, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Collins, and Mr. and Mrs. A. McClain.

F. Madden Mayers built the store now occupied by the W. L. Doss drug, and a grand ball on the upstairs floor was the opening feature. Mrs. Adams remembers that Mrs. Mayers ordered her gown for the occasion out of New York.

Other early workers were Prof. A. J. Robert, school principal; the late S. N. Sherwin; the W. W. Anderson family; and Mrs. J. M. Shannon.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon had come here to recoup a lost fortune. Mr. Shannon began his West Texas career as a sheep shepherd for the Rix brothers, and he died a millionaire. Mrs. Shannon died in San Angelo just a few years ago.

There was a long delay in getting the right windows for the church after the building was completed. In the interval the windows were covered with canvas, and it was while they were so covered that the church's first wedding, that of Judge and Mrs. C. H. Earnest, took place.

The second wedding was that of Col. and Mrs. C. M. Adams, about two years later. Before her marriage Mrs. Adams was a member of the church's first confirmation class.

The first funeral was for the Mrs. McClain who had worked so hard for the building of the church.

It was to honor her that the name of the church was changed from St. Michael's to All Saints', because the church of which her father had been rector in England was named All Saints'.

The first rector was the Rev. George H. Higgins. After him came Father W. A. Tearne, the Rev. Mr. Lytton, the Rev. Mr. Stafford, the Rev. Mr. Stewart, the Rev. Edwin Wickens, the Rev. Mr. Brewster, the Rev. Mr. Galbraith, the Rev. Norman F. Marshall, the Rev. H. G. Hennessey, the Rev. George B. Rafter, Dr. Williams, the Rev. F. B. Tieson, the Rev. Frank Stedman, and the Rev. Alex. B. Hanson, present rector.

Among the names which figured prominently during the church's first quarter century were those of the first Mrs. R. H. Looney, Mrs. A. A. Bailey, Mrs. W. V. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Prude, Mrs. Blara Boren, the late Judge C. H. Earnest and family and Mrs. C. M. Adams. Families of the last two remain leaders even today.

The church stands today almost exactly as it stood fifty years ago. No changes have been made except a few minor improvements and the addition of a stucco coating a few years ago. The same bell which rang for the first service still calls the faithful to assemble in Colorado's most picturesque church.

Material Slump In World Cotton Seen By Federal Bureau

A reduction of 3,500,000 bales in the world cotton crop for the season of 1934-35 was estimated Saturday by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington, dropping estimate on production to 22,400,000 bales as compared with 26,100,000 bales for the year before and a ten year average of 25,530,000 bales.

Cotton producers here were considering the report with a deal of interest, accepting that the material slump in world production would add further to stabilize prices. The report was received in Colorado just as cotton producers of Mitchell county were concluding plans to stage acre control drive for the next season.

Exports of American cotton during first half of the present season were 42 per cent less than during the same period a year ago, the bureau reported.

Coke Irrigation Project Launched Over Twenty Years Ago By 'Strange' Engineer

The following interesting resume on what is now termed the "Upper Colorado Authority" was written by Hon. Penrose Metcalfe, San Angelo, approving the present project. He invited West Texans to review and criticize it. After 10 or 12 meetings the bill was amended before being presented to the legislature. There it was referred to the house committee on irrigation and reclamation. The committee favored it with a count of 10 to 1.

Mr. Kneirrh is optimistic of the bill finding approval in the house and senate at an early date. He believes also the PWA at Washington will grant the $6,000,000 loan as the project is in line with the president's recovery plan. It dreams of the local faithfuls are fulfilled and the dam constructed, approximately 85,000 acres of Coke county fertile farmlands will profit materially therefrom. An estimated 200,000 acres will be irrigated. The proposed dam will be 4,000 feet in length and 100 feet high with a water depth of 85 feet.

Kneirrh, Metcalfe and L. T. Youngblood were in Fort Worth last week assembling data on the project which was dispatched by private messenger Sunday to Washington where a meeting will be held with PWA officials.

TEXAS-WIDE TERRACING PROGRAM IS PLANNED

AUSTIN.—Efforts to save the face of Texas, comprising one-fourteenth of the area of the United States, are about to be undertaken by the Texas Relief Commission.

Under the direction of W. M. Burkes, former Upshur agent, an extensive terracing and re-surfacing program will be started. The plan will be double-acting. It will give aid and advice to non-client farmers and provide cash wages to rural rehabilitation clients who work on self-liquidating projects.

"Terracing alone will not save the soil in Texas," Burkes said. "We believe it good practice to take land with an eight to ten per cent slope out of cultivation and convert it into pasture or timber land."

Conservation in many phases will be practiced. Included are running terrace or contour lines; building terraces, outlets, gully controls and dams; planting legumes, grasses, trees and soil-improving crops; water conservation in the form of wells, dams and ponds; building trench silos and storage houses for crops and livestock; and reforestation.

Terrace squads of four men each will be organized to be sent to counties where farmers want as much as 4,000 acres terraced. Equipment will be furnished locally and farmers charged a minimum fee for the completed job. None of the cost will be borne by the relief department.

"Not more than one-tenth of the land in the state needing conservation work has received it," Burkes asserted. "In most instances where this work has been carried on, it has been incompletely done."

While plans are being laid for soil conservation, Texas' other big farm movement, rural rehabilitation, goes steadily forward. Lease on 125,000 acres of land have been leased for 1935 where jobless Texans may become self-supporting with the aid of state and federal relief funds.

"These people in the past have had capital, labor and land, and have failed," said J. E. Sanford, rehabilitation director of Texas relief. "So we are going to add a fourth ingredient, farm management, and try to make our operations come out on the plus side financially."

In counties with more than 75 rehabilitated families, a farm manager will be furnished. Farm wives will be taught home supervision by 60 rural home supervisors already at work.

Supervised relief farmers, their time and land budgeted in the modern mode, may look forward ultimately to owning their farms. That will be the price of successful operation.

"The leased farms that we now have will be used as a proving ground," Director Stanford said. "Families that stand the test will be sold farms on a long-time basis at a low rate of interest."

These rental-purchase farms will be carefully selected by Texas Rural communities, holding corporation for the rural development.

CENTENNIAL REVIVES HISTORY OF COUNTIES

Hardeman, brothers, active in the Texas Revolution and a holding office under the Republic, and created in 1858; Foard county, named for Robert T. Foard and created in 1891; Knox county, named for Henry Knox and created in 1858; Haskell county, named for Charles Haskell and created in 1858; Stonewall county, named for Gen. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson of the Confederate Army, and created in 1876; Kincaid county, named for William Kincaid, who died in the Alamo, and created in 1876; Cottle county, named for George W. Cottle and created in 1876; Childress county, named for George C. Childress, who drafted the Texas Declaration of Independence, and created in 1876; Hunt county, named for Gen. The Republic of Texas became a State in 1845. In those days two hundred voters could organize a county and the First State Legislature organized thirty-one new counties.

Production Of Clean Milk And Cream Is Essential, State Official Outlines

By Byron A. Bassel, State Department of Agriculture

The first factor to be considered in the production of high quality milk and cream, is the physical condition of the cow itself. The cow should be examined periodically and if any physical defects such as swelling or inflammation of the udder is noted, a veterinarian should be consulted at once, because these signs may be forerunners or indications of serious diseases in the cow, which might be spread to the others in the herd.

The next important step to be considered is the condition of the cow, as far as cleanliness is concerned. All long hairs which might hold dirt should be kept well trimmed, and, before milking, the cows should be brushed with a stiff brush, especially the belly, flanks and thighs. Then the udder should be well cleaned with a damp rag and dried thoroughly. With the cow in this condition the milker should then wash and dry his hands thoroughly. The milk should be drawn from the cow into a small top milk pail, because the use of this pail which is 75% covered means that there is 75% less chance for contamination of the milk from falling dust, dirt, hair, etc.

Of course the udder in which the milking is done should be kept just as clean as possible, trash and dirt should not be allowed to collect on the floor, because this affords just that much more chance of contaminating and ruining your milk. The walls and ceiling should be kept brushed off and clean so that there will be no chance of falling dirt getting into the milk. The barn should be well lighted and ventilated. Roughage should not be fed before milking, because the air will become filled with dust which will settle in the milk or in the milk pail. Also, feed should not be stored in the loft above where the milking is done, because of the danger of feed dropping into the milk.

While on the subject of feed it would be well to mention the consideration which should be given feeding, in order to avoid off flavors in the milk and consequently in the cream. All highly flavored feeds such as turnips, silage, wild onions, bitter wood, etc., should be avoided entirely if possible, because their particular flavors will be carried over into the milk. If these highly flavored feeds must be used, they should be fed immediately after milking and never before, because by doing this the possibility of their flavor being given to the milk is avoided.

Some explanation is due as to why all of these precautions in producing milk should be taken. The importance of keeping dirt or any form of contamination from the milk and cream, is that this dirt, etc., carries with it many germs, or bacteria, which cause the milk and cream to decompose in one way or another. This decomposition may be evidenced by souring, which is a natural process, ripeness, off flavors and odors, and many other conditions. When any of these occur you have a low quality product which will bring you a low price; therefore, to insure the highest possible price, it is necessary that attention be paid to the items about which we have been talking, namely: the physical condition of the cow itself, the way in which the cow is prepared for milking, the cleanliness of the milker, the type of pail used, the sanitary conditions of the barn, and the feed which is given the cow.

The next article of this series will discuss cleanliness in handling milk and cream, and the proper cleaning and sterilization of the equipment, and will be issued in the near future.

Crop Insurance Is Provided In Bill By Sheppard

Crop insurance through loans to growers participating in the Government's adjustment program was provided in a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas.

It provides for withholding temporarily 5 per cent of all AAA benefit payments to be diverted to a special fund from which loans might be advanced under specific conditions. Repayment is provided for from future benefit payments.

That part of the insurance fund not needed for loans could be invested in stored agricultural products of the kind covered by the crop insured. That would be possible only following years of good harvest when demand for loans would be small. The holdings would be liquidated in years of more general crop failure when there would be greater demand for loans.

Senator Sheppard said his bill would guarantee the grower an income equal to half his base-period yield at local market prices on his planted acreage, provided the failure to harvest, at least half of the crop was due to no fault of the grower.

"Any added payments made to one farmer in the county," explained Senator Sheppard, "would be deducted pro rata from the payments to others in the same county, except where crop failure is severe and general over the county. In that case a loan would be made to the co-operating group in amount to make the total AAA payments satisfy the crop insurance provisions. The source of such loans would be a crop insurance fund in the Treasury Department which would be established by withholding 5 per cent of all AAA payments, until the fund is deemed ample to serve its purpose. Loans would be repaid by withholding from future AAA payments everything above what might be necessary to satisfy the insurance provisions, until the loan is fully repaid."

Senator Sheppard explained the crop insurance provision would not affect the distribution of AAA payments in any county where no severe crop failures occurred except for the temporary contribution to the insurance fund.

Since all added payments to those suffering severe crop failures would come from AAA payments to farmers in the same county, Senator Sheppard thought local interest would prevent such payments being claimed or made when not properly due. He said the effect of the bill was to strengthen the crop insurance provisions of the agricultural adjustment act as now administered.

Senator Sheppard pointed out the AAA law made no distinction between a grower who suffers severe or total crop failure and another with the same past production record who may reap an abundant harvest.

Texas License Fee Lower, State Ass'n President Asserts

That the Texas automobile license rate is below the National average and that road and bridge funds of Texas counties are largely dependent upon quotas received from the license fees militates against reduction in the present rates, in opinion of Judge E. L. Pitts of Lubbock, president of the County Judges and Commissioners' association of Texas.
In letters to county officials over the State, including those of Mitchell county, Judge Pitts strongly urges their expression of opposition to any reductions that may be proposed.
Judge Pitts said that the road and bridge funds would be disrupted by reduction in the fees. He said that Texas' average passenger car rate is $8.23, while the fees in 21 other states are higher. Vermont tops the list with an average of $23. Pitts said further that Texas, with the revenue it gets, now ranks thirty-ninth down the list of states in proportionate highway development.

TEXANS SUPPORT MOVE TO ARREST FARM WASTAGE

SOIL CONSERVATION DRIVE GIVEN SUPPORT HERE HAS GENERAL POPULAR FAVOR

Unified Program Would Call For Ten Years Activity To Cover Texas

The soil conservation drive that a few weeks ago was given enthusiastic support in mass meetings held at Colorado and other points over the State has been mapped by a State-wide farm representative group and is now being prepared for presentation to the Federal government for consideration. The plan calls for expenditure of $100,000,000 over a period of ten years.

At the Colorado meeting, attended by representative citizens of this territory, importance of saving the soil by the building of terraces, low water dams and other conservation measures were stressed. County Farm Agent Ben J. Baskin, one of the principal speakers, predicted gradual decline in rural wealth unless erosion of the soil was checked.

In the State-wide set-up, it is proposed to establish fifty civilian corps camps in the State to be operated under Federal supervision. Mitchell county is to be pushed as a logical location for one of these camps. The expenditure of $10,000,000 annually in Texas will be sought during the proposed decade.

The program embodied the ideas of all existing soil erosion control agencies in the State of Texas and was arrived at after an agreement had been made between the soil erosion service, the extension service, the Texas agricultural experiment station and the State department of vocational agriculture to work jointly toward the realization of the program and putting it into effect.

A plan for control of erosion in the Brazos River watershed, the largest watershed area in the State, was included in the State-wide proposal, and also in a supplementary proposal which calls for expenditure of $2-

Incident At Dallas Reflected In Case Near Westbrook

A recent incident near Westbrook, in which a filling station operator fired at gas tank on car of a fleeing motorist who had failed to settle for gasoline, is reflected in the following news story furnished The Record by the United Press:

A Dallas motorist recently attempted to drive out of a filling station without paying for gasoline he had just received.

The station attendant stopped him. An argument followed and the motorist became so incensed that he threatened to call police.

The station attendant furnished the nickle to operate the telephone, the motorist called, the police came and the would-be thief was fined $15.

2000,000 annually and utilization of twenty-five OCC camps for a period of ten years.

The plan is the first concerted program ever devised for the entire State of Texas and has the backing of every organized erosion control agency.

It has been indorsed and signed by the following: Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. College; A. B. Colmer, director of the Texas agricultural experiment station; O. E. Martin, director of the Texas extension service; Paul G. Haines, State director of the Texas vocational agriculture department; Dr. H. V. Geib, regional director of the soil erosion service; H. H. Bennett, Washington, national director of the soil erosion service; United States Department of the Interior, and Dr. C. W. Warburton, director of extension of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The State has been districted into ten major areas and four subareas, stretching over the entire area of the State of Texas. In districting the State the type of soil and nature of erosion was taken into consideration.

E. M. MAJORS CANDIDATE FOR CITY COUNCIL BERTH ON PETITION OF FRIENDS

Local Jeweler Understands Needs Of City; Refers To Record As Official

E. M. Majors, Colorado jeweler, has entered his name as a candidate for election to one of the city council posts to be filled in annual municipal election Tuesday, April 2. Formal announcement of his candidacy was made Friday morning by Mr. Majors.

Majors, who in the past has served as a member of the city legislative body, entered the political arena in response to strong solicitation of his friends. The Record was informed Friday morning by local citizens who called at the office to discuss his qualifications for the office. Talk had been going the rounds several days that Majors would be a candidate but he did not arrive at definite conclusion until during the last few days.

As a member of the city council he gave considerable attention to the fire department, serving as chief and an active member of the city's fire protection organization. It was through efforts of him that the department was improved in every detail, to rate with the best in this part of the state and directly reflecting in lower insurance key rates for Colorado.

"I have no political promises to offer in exchange for the hope of getting support at the polls," Mr. Majors told this newspaper Friday. "My only ambition is to give honestly the best in public service that I may and if elected will ever place interests of the citizenship of this city foremost in my endeavors."

Friends of the candidate would invite consideration of Mr. Majors' record, both as a private citizen and a public official. "We will not be offering an experiment in his election," to quote one admirer of the candidate. "We have tried him and found that he was not wanting."

"BROADWAY BILL"
Palace March 15-16
This is not a story about Broadway as the title indicates but a story about the race track. Broadway Bill is the name of a heroic horse. Drama, romance and comedy are interwoven with plenty of action and heart appeal. Baxter is very much in love with his wife Helen Vinson, but wants to better himself by going away with his horse, Broadway Bill. Baxter runs into some old pals who help him get started with the race track. With his sister-in-law (Myrna Loy) and his colored assistant, Baxter has a hectic time before the day of the Derby: Bill catches cold and it looks as though he will not be able to race. Finally the horse is ready for the big race and runs to victory, toppling over dead. The horse is buried on the tracks with honors befitting a hero.

"HERE IS MY HEART"
Palace March 17-18
A gay comedy with tuneful music, combined with the amiable personality of Bing Crosby—and that's something to cause palpitation of young feminine hearts. The film is a remake of the silent movie, "The Grand Duchess and the Lady," which successfully starred Adolphe Menjou and Florence Vidor. Bing is a millionaire crooner who has cherished several ambitions since childhood. One after the other each ambition is checked off his list—finally his last, to marry a princess. He finds his princess in a hotel at Monte Carlo and disguises himself as a waiter so he can be near her. The situations from then on are plenty amusing. Riland Yung, Reginald Owen and Allison Skisworth contribute to the comedy element generously.

Though the couple had ordered a boy from the orphanage, Anne, aided by a glib tongue and fertile imagination, wins them over. This romance is discouraged, with Anne being sent away to school while Brown goes to study medicine.

"DANGEROUS CORNER"
Ritz March 19-20
In basic story, the way in which it is told and the moral which it points, this is something new in crime mystery yarns and the effect of it is involved romantic angles. One of its strong interest creating points is its moral; hard truths, sometimes, are better than the general happiness of all rather than the whole truth.
The story is told in retrospect. A man is found dead and the motive for his suicide or murder established. One year later all the probable suspects being gathered for a social evening, a radio tube blows out and the presence of the dead man's cigarette case being the occasion. Nagel is suspected by all as the killer and determines to find the real guilty party. His search leads through a complicated chain of undercover romances, jealousies and intrigues and an eventual explanation of the crime.
John Ellis was brought home Tuesday from a Sweetwater hospital, where he underwent major surgery last week. He is at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Smith.

Relieves Headache Due To Constipation

Theodor's Black-Draught has been used in my family for years, writes Mrs. J. A. Hightower, of Carthage, Texas. "I take it for sick headache that comes from constipation. When I feel a headache coming on, I take a dose of Black-Draught. It acts and my head gets easy. Before I knew of Black-Draught, I would suffer two or three days—but not any more since I have used Black-Draught."

Did You Know That

Insurance is such a large field that no man can know it all, but what little I do know, I know well. And I know enough to know what I don't know. As a representative, I will try my best to diagnose your insurance and tell you what it is that you need. If I don't find out, I will tell you so, and (through my knowledge of the profession and your needs) I will take your case to an insurance specialist, and will cooperate with him until we do determine what is the thunder you really need.

IT IS BEST THAT WE DO NOT KNOW

I am confident that the scriptures warrant the belief that, in the matter, our gains far exceed our losses.

It is, then, a gracious arrangement that God has made for us. If the tomorrow lay as an open book and we could know about its dull happenings or its lively occurrences; its sadness or its joys; its serious reverses or its palpable advancements, then much of the zest of life would depart from us.

In very truth, the thing that makes life interesting is the veiled road that we must travel. Its uncertainty provokes alertness and its mists admonish us to be careful of our step. To be aroused to vigilance is helpful and to be induced to walk soberly is profitable "to all things that pertain to life and godliness."

I can think that Abraham derived rare pleasure from not knowing where he was going. His journey would have been devoid of the sensations of novelty had he known all about it.

Under the heading, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," in your letters from readers J. R. Duncan of Rockwall condemns capital punishment. I admit that it is awful to have to take the life of a person. This commandment refers to the individual and not to the law.

We can clearly see that faith is one of the great blessings that we would lose, if the tomorrow was unfolded to us. To walk by sight would be our undoing. We would be helpless before wild impulses and hopeless in a world whose vision is distorted by its own frenzy. Could we see into the tomorrow, some of us would have an anxiety that would prevent us performing the ordinary duties of the day.

100 YEARS AGO

In reading Texas history we came across the following that was written 100 years ago:

Cincinnati, on the south side of the Trinity River (twelve miles north of present Huntsville) was a landing place for steam boats and other water craft, and promised to become a more important shipping point with the increasing use of the Trinity River as the principal route of transportation from the Gulf to the interior of Texas.

FOR CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

N. D. Smothers of Greenville takes exceptions to our article on capital punishment and in his letter says:

Under the heading, "Thou Shalt Not Kill," in your letters from readers J. R. Duncan of Rockwall condemns capital punishment. I admit that it is awful to have to take the life of a person. This commandment refers to the individual and not to the law.

If a mob or individual take a person's life they are responsible, but if the law does it, it is responsible and

God is the author of the law. Take the case of a man who robbed banks and killed four or five bank officials in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas. They finally got him and gave him the life sentence and put him in the pen in Arkansas and he got out and the next day robbed a bank and killed the cashier. They got him and put him in jail to await trial and he got out again and let out some more persons but they did not go far till this man and one of the other prisoners had a fight and this man was killed.

Now, which is the best? Let the outlaw go over the country killing people and taking their money and property; or put the outlaw to death by law. The law gives a person a chance to save himself. He doesn't have to commit crimes. If he doesn't want to lose his head, he can keep his neck out of the rope.

A PROBLEM

This column wishes to present to Prof. J. D. Foster's arithmetic class this problem:

Congress Flooded With Protests Against Proposed Federal Control Of Utilities

WASHINGTON.—Many times members of Congress have received propaganda letters and telegrams for or against legislation, but nothing in recent years has reached proportions of that against passage of the Rayburn and Wheeler bills to regulate and ultimately eliminate utility holding companies.

Practically the entire propaganda asks defeat of the bills. The deluge exceeds that against the stock market control act of last year and the securities act of 1933, which topped all past records in inspired propaganda.

Representative Sam Rayburn of the Bonham district began hearings before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee Feb. 19 and propaganda against the bill began pouring in on the members that date.

In two weeks Mr. Rayburn has received from 7,000 to 8,000 letters and telegrams against the bill. It is estimated that Senator Tom Connally received 4,000 since last Monday.

Some of the letters arrive by air mail, special delivery. In the case of Rayburn who is sponsoring the House bill great batches of the mail from other Texas points are mailed through postoffices in his district.

A great bulk of the mail comes from Eastern industrial States where utility holding companies maintain their offices. However, a goodly portion comes from Texas.

Generally speaking, the protestants are of two classes. The first are investors in holding company or operating company stocks who have been informed, so they say, that if the bill is enacted into law, they will have their investments wiped out.

They explain themselves to be working men and women, widows and orphans. The next class are employees who have been told, so they say, that if the bill passes they will lose their jobs.

Naturally, all of this would have an appeal to the member of Congress were circumstances different. Propaganda and petitions to members of

MOTHER GONE HOME

The following tribute in verse is offered by friend of many years of the late Mrs. H. B. Smoot:

Mother: If for her loved ones, she could speak Doubtless she would say, Loved ones, be wise And dry those weeping eyes For, in Paradise, I live a life That never dies.

I am gone before your face A little time, a little space; When you have come where I've stepped You will wonder then Why you have wept, Then weep not, loved ones dear, I am not dead just resting here, I was not yours but Christ's alone, He loved me so, he took me home. In tender sympathy.

EDITORIAL—SPRING

Spring is just around the corner, boys and girls, and along behind Springs waits Summer, in a hurry to spell V-A-C-A-T-I-O-N. On these beautiful spring-like mornings, the cheery lads and lassies trip to morning classes glad that they have to go to school. (That's what you think). And, of course, there's a touch of romance in the air. "In the spring a young man's fancy," and a young girl's heart to hats, so everywhere you look you see bashful beaux chatting with the one and only. Why even in the spring young hearts turn poetical and even C. H. S. has some youthful poets ready with pens and pencils to jot down the first inspirational thought. Great things can be done in Spring you know.

SPANISH PROGRAM

Tuesday Miss Smith's Spanish class put on a program. The setting for the program was a railroad station. A group of tourists were waiting for the train to arrive. The tourists were: Charlie Walker, Maxine Dorn, Mabel Cooper, Lena Smith, Regal Porter, Reynolds Brown and Cottillene Chivers. While in the station the tourists listen to the Mexican band, Jessie Jones, N. T. Bery and Archie Moore.

The tourists are rather amused at a little scene that takes place among a Mexican family. Ruth Smith, Loyse Jenkins and George Kiker compose the family. This family comes to the station to meet an aunt but find that they have come on the wrong day.

A dancer, Martha Jane Majors, arouses some interest in Charlie Walker who peers at her with a pair of opera glasses. "La Cucuracha" was sung by the Jenkins Twins. Also Sarah Guitard gave a number.

A great deal of amusement was caused by two little Mexicans, Raymond Fuller and Grover Williams, who went through the trash basket in search of scraps of food and trinkets. There were numerous fights over the contents.

Miss Smith assumes no responsibility in case of a failure.

THE COLORADO F.F.A.

Last Friday evening at 8 o'clock the agriculture boys gave a banquet. It was a great success. There were only four boys who didn't come. Everyone said that this was the best banquet held at Colorado high school. The Home Ec. girls served and prepared the meal. The Chuck Wagon Serenaders played while the meal was being eaten. The people were well entertained by a mock hog judging contest. Mr. Watson won first prize as a prize-winning hog. Mr. Henderson was second, Vernon (Red) Hays, third, and Raymond Fuller last. Mr. Thomas R. Smith gave a very interesting talk.

Friday of this week Mr. Williams and members of the agriculture class are going to the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. They will return Sunday evening.

T. B. TESTS

The dreaded T. B. tests finally took place last week. Everyone who wanted to was tested for T. B. This test was made by giving every person a hypo in the arm. If, after two days there was a pimple at that spot on their arm, T. B. was present.

Even though there was much nervousness apparent there were no deaths reported. Soon after the test just about everyone thought that everyone else had a bad case of T. B.

All up and down the halls, pupils had their sleeves rolled up in order to show their test. Even Miss Smith and Mr. Foster were showing their tests in a proud sort of way.

Some of the weaker pupils such as Don Guitard and John Ennis were afraid. (They claimed that they were too busy to waste any of their valuable time), so naturally they were left out of the conversation for a while.

From a more serious standpoint it is really a good thing to take the test, for all doubt is then destroyed. From statistics it is proved from a group as large as C. H. S. there will be twenty-five who will have T. B. within the next twenty-five years. The time to fight a disease is in its early stages and that is what is trying to be done.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Many of Colorado's future business men and women are being trained in the High School Commercial Department this year. The students have done fine work this year and as a result of their efforts they have given awards.

In assembly Thursday, March 6, Miss Cooper, the teacher in this department, awarded her students with medals and certificates for outstanding records in speed. The speed is not so hard to attain as is accuracy. In order to get a certificate a student must type for fifteen minutes with three or less mistakes and average over thirty words. Students who received certificates were: Nina Laura Smith, averaging 30 words with two mistakes; Frances Elliott, averaging 32 words with 3 mistakes; Donnell McGuire, averaging 36 words with 2 mistakes. To win a medal a student must type for fifteen minutes with five or less mistakes and average forty or more words. Students who received medals were: Nina Laura Smith, averaging 40 words with 2 mistakes; Everett Pond, averaging 41 words with 5 mistakes; Madrine Hammond, averaging 40 words with 5 mistakes; Donnell McGuire averaging 41 words with 3 mistakes; and Robert Wulfien, averaging 42 words with 5 mistakes.

The typing teams have also met with great success. Wednesday, March 6, the Colorado 1st and 2nd teams defeated the 1st and 2nd teams from Rogers. Friday afternoon the Colorado teams went to Big Spring for a contest. The Colorado 1st team defeated the Big Spring 1st team with a grade of 138.70 as Big Spring only made the grade of 130.78. The 2nd and 3rd teams from Colorado also defeated the 2nd and 3rd teams of Big Spring.

Members of the typing teams are: Madrine Hammond, Everett Pond, Donnell McGuire, Elizabeth Taylor, Frances Elliott, and Erna Lou Merrill. These typing teams are expected to win in the District meet to be held in Sweetwater on April 5, and then go to the state contest in Austin to win State Championship.

SENIOR ENGLISH CLASSES

The Senior English classes of Colorado high school, with the help of Miss Barrett are preparing themselves to write a short story and a one-act play. The classes at present are studying narration and have just concluded the study of words and sentence structure.

FRESHMAN PARTY

Meta Hudson entertained a group of friends at her home Friday, March 8. The guests were entertained with various games and refreshments of layer cake and chocolate were served to Nancy Lee, Dorothy Hagler, Mary Smith, Katherine Hodges, Modena Elliott, Margie Nell Stubbfield, Pauline Wren, Irene Tiller, Marie O'Brien, Joe Lee, Dale Simpson, Jimmy Booher, Mutt Hicks, Billy Crow, Charles Carter, J. E. Renfro, Claude Morgan, and Billy Mann.

PARTY

Joe Robertson and Jack Henderson entertained some of their friends at the home of Joe's grandmother, Mrs. A. L. Whipkey, Thursday night. The guests were entertained by many interesting games. The refreshments of hot chocolate, sandwiches, and fancy cookies were served to Armoria Whitmore, Adelaide Harvey, Doris Wynne, Virginia Gurney, Jane Messkimen, Kathryn Hodges, Joe Robertson, Weldon Nuckolls, Ernest Smith, Jack Henderson, George Gilley, Claud Morgan, Leroy Witten and Dale Simpson. A very good time was enjoyed by all.

"WAITING FOR THE TRAIN"

The play, "Waiting for the Train," was presented by Miss Barrett last week. It showed all the troubles of an old country lake, Elwood Beal, and his wife, Mildred Mann, while waiting for the train. The children, Joe Roberts, George Gilley and Marguerite Jackson, added to the uproar. After having several fights the children let the canary out of his cage. Because the husband would not go up the tree after the canary, the wife had to go. She fell out of the tree just in time for them all to get on the train.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Last Wednesday Rev. Jones spoke to the school on the power of suggestion. The power of suggestion is so strong that through it a person may be made sick. Why cannot the power be used in the other way?

In using the power for the good does not mean for one to be an extreme optimist. An extreme optimist is as bad as an extreme pessimist. The middle ground is the best course to take.

There was once a tourist stuck in the black mud of South Texas. As he was looking over the situation an extreme optimist came along. "Everything is fine. There is nothing to worry about for you will get out all right. I don't know of anyone who never did get out," the optimist told him but did not offer to help. A pessimist soon came along. On seeing the car stuck he promised that the tourist would never get out, for there had been cars in the mud that had stayed there for days. The pessimist offered no help either.

Finally there came a man who was neither optimist nor pessimist. He looked the situation over and told the tourist to get in and drive while he pushed. After a little work the car was on firm ground. Perhaps without much trouble one can see the advantage of being neither optimist nor pessimist.

If one were to ask a student who the most lively preacher is, he would readily reply "Rev. Jones." The reason for his reputation is the veil that he led after his talk. Everyone was so surprised that they gave a fine veil. Perhaps Rev. Jones will be a real veil leader if he keeps up the good work.

T. R. TEST SAVES HISTORY CLASS

There was a great rush of the fifth period History class last Wednesday to take the T. R. test given free by the school. The idea of students was to escape the "man-killer" history test.

When the announcement was made that the doctors were ready to give the test, everyone in the room quickly left his seat, scattering papers and chairs, in his mad flight to leave the room. The teacher finally stopped the students long enough to ask, "How many of you intended to take the T. R. test?" Instantly everyone answered with "I did" and continued his stampede out of the room.

The truth is that not one-half of the class really intended to take the test, but due to the fact that a history exam was before them that they were sure to fail they were willing to take anything.

The first year sewing girls have finished their shirts and will soon start working on pajamas. The A. B. C. Co. has offered a prize of $2.50 to the girl making the best pair of pajamas out of the A. B. C. print. They are all anxious to be the one to win the prize.

A good many Freshmen girls helped with the F. F. A. banquet Friday night.

HOME MAKING I-A

We have studied very carefully how yeast breads were made. We also prepared several kinds in the laboratory.

Our next topic will be the study of meats for dinner, and following this we shall take up the study of desserts.

The banquet which was prepared and served Friday night by the Home Ec. girls and Agriculture boys turned out very successfully.

H. E. III-B

We plan to work over and prepare the following: runners and doilies for the dining room, a print spread for the day bed, and the curtains in the clothing laboratory. This comes under the unit of Making the Home Convenient and Attractive, which we are studying.

THIRD YEAR HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

The Third year H. E. class has been studying different types of furniture and architecture. The different types rendered in the furniture are: Sheraton, Hepplewhittle, Chippendale, Adam, Jenny Lind, Colonial, Spanish and Italian Renaissance, Mission, Louis XVI and Queen Anne. The different types of architecture studied were: Old English, Dutch, Spanish, French, Colonial, Provincial, Gothic, Greek, Roman, Italian Renaissance and Dutch-English.

The girls started sewing on their special occasion dresses last Monday. Some of the girls are making sports dresses, afternoon dresses and evening gowns. They find this subject very interesting.

ARABELLE SORRELLS.

TRACK

The Colorado-track team has been showing a surprising amount of strength during the workouts for the past two weeks. Pete Warren has exhibited the ability to take care of himself in the 100-yard dash as well as in the 220 and the low hurdles. Joe Cooper has also shown the ability to fling his tall frame into the air and over the bar at a fair height. Ivy Jones has demonstrated that he can get over the high hurdles at a nice pace. There are also other men that have shown unexpected ability in their particular events so he prepared for anything might happen.

SENIOR NEWS

What did the monkey say when he got his tail cut off in the lawn mower? It won't be long now! That's what the Seniors are thinking—it won't be long now until graduation! It seems that the subject Mr. Coffman so familiarly calls "Trig" isn't going over so big; in fact he is the only one who knows anything at all about it. Alack and alas, Seniors, will you be found lacking a credit in "Trig" when school closes? We hope not.

Several of the Senior girls have begun playing tennis. It's being rumored that they're playing tennis so as to keep that schoolgirl figure. Even the happy-go-lucky Buena Vista is playing.

Mary Alice Gunn had business at Silver last week-end. What was the attraction there Mary? Lydia is sporting a new boy friend of late. For further information see the Jenkins Twins. No?

Most of the Seniors had their bags ready to leave for "Carlsbad," but due to the intervention of Luck they have all settled down and the only thing worrying them now is History "tests" and Spanish themes. As Pop-eve says "They are disappinted with life."

By the way folks, the girl's club has been named "San Souci Sororities." Don't ask them what it means 'cause they don't even know.

Some bright Senior thinks because she has a slight ache in her stomach that she has abdominal T. B. Goodness, why, that's too big for any Senior to have.

Stop! Look! Listen! Bonnie Bill's greatest ambition is to be a second "Joe Penner." "Oh you nasty woman."

Vivian Carpenter went to San Angelo last week-end and was absent on Monday morning. Could that have been the reason?

Bonnie Bill Brixendine spent the week-end with Mirl Garner. Ask her how she liked to eat the holes out of doughnuts. Mr. my, who would ever have suspected?

Notice. Talented boy discovered by high school English teacher. And a Senior at that. Just ask George Kiker—he's the one.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomore party has been postponed until the last Friday in March.

Our news reporter, Weldon Nuckolls, is taking a trip to the south for his health.

We are glad to have Blanche McCarty back with us again after her long illness.

The Sophomore class is all abustle and bustle because of our play. It seems everyone is wanting to be in it and Mrs. Cantrill is having a hard time picking out parts for the play. We know it is going to be a grand play so the other classes will have to watch our smoke.

The Sophomore class enjoyed the snow immensely. June Cox got her face washed in it and Hazel Jim Gray received a blow in the ear.
