

TWO DEAD IN CAR, TRAIN TRAGEDIES DURING THE WEEK

OLD REGIME RETAINED AS PATRONS OF SCHOOLS USE THEIR SUFFRAGE SATURDAY

Connell, Kelley And Snyder Relected On Board Of Trustees Here

Approval of the Colorado independent school district administration was written into ballots Saturday as patrons of the institutions went to the polls to mark ballots to fill three vacancies on the board. A. C. Connell, Frank Kelley and D. H. Snyder, board members holding tenures to expire were returned to office for three years by strong pluralities.

The vote was light, as is usually the case in these elections. There were no issues involved and the field of six candidates sponsored no aggressive campaign, a dual condition that left only passive interest with the voter. The three defeated candidates were A. F. King, former Mitchell county judge; Mrs. Monroe Dawson and Mrs. John T. Howell.

Connell led the ticket with 260 votes. Kelley ran in second place with 253 votes and Snyder received 225 votes. Judge King polled 173 votes, Mrs. Dawson 135 votes and Mrs. Howell 89 votes.

Three members of the county school board holding terms to expire were all reelected. They included C. C. Thompson of Colorado, president; A. K. McCarley of Longfellow community and E. B. Gregson of Itan.

One of the most interesting elections of the county was held at Loraine, with a field of nine candidates contesting places on the board and only three to be elected. J. W. King, Loraine newspaper publisher and only old board member offering for reelection, was defeated. The successful candidates were R. W. Hall, Carl Price and T. C. Wilson.

At Westbrook voters of that independent school district marked ballots favoring candidacies of Van Boston, Albert Young and George Dawson. There were six candidates offered.

At Itan A. T. Barker, member of the old board, was reelected. Ray Knight led the ticket there and M. L. Ekas and J. O. Conner tied for third place, receiving eight votes each. Three were to be elected.

Charles Robert Russell, 23, arrested at Gladewater last week in connection with the shooting of Jimmie Kinser, night manager at the Humble Oil & Refining Company service station of Ellis Bros., East Second and Chestnut, Thursday at noon continued to maintain he had no connection with the affair.

Russell told officers when accused of the local job that he could prove an alibi. "I was at home of a sister in Atlas at time of the Colorado station shooting and robbery and can prove it," was his assertion. Sheriff R. E. Gregory and Constable Delaney plan going to Atlas Friday (today) to check up on the purported alibi.

Kinser continues to improve, report from the Root hospital Thursday noon outlined. The bullet fired into his shoulder by the bandit and lodging under the skin above his right shoulder blade, was removed Wednesday.

"That is the man," exclaimed Kinser Saturday afternoon from his bed in a room at the Root hospital as officials ushered the accused youth into presence of the hijacking victim. After asserting that Russell was the youth who shot him at the Humble service station shortly after midnight Wednesday of last week, Kinser lapsed into a semi-coma. Pursang Ideal Tonic for Skinny, Cranky Children

Marvelous New Tonic Revitalizes the Blood and Energizes "Run Down" Systems

If your children are skinny and underweight, cranky and whiny, maybe it is because they are anemic and run down. Growing up takes terrific energy. The wear and tear of the years weakens resistance. The blood gets thin. It no longer performs its proper functions. Toxins in it pour into the system. It is any wonder that nine people out of ten feel "half sick" all the time?

If your children look run down or you yourself feel below par, why not try the Pursang treatment for awhile? Pursang every day before or after meals.

You mustn't expect instant results with Pursang, but it is the experience of many people that before the first bottle is consumed they feel a material improvement in health. The eyes are clearer, there is a new sense of energy. None of that "all in," "let down" feeling by three o'clock in the afternoon. Pursang stimulates the body, builds rich red, healthy blood corpuscles, helps to maintain the essential balance of white and red corpuscles and cleans up the entire system.

W. L. Doss, Druggist.

HENNIN' AROUND AT MAX'S

"Bewildered" is the word—imagine a merchant making even a "sometime" customer feel like that. But that's the way this Hen felt when she began "hennin' around" at Max's this week—simply bewildered as to where to look next, trying to see everything over here with one eye over there . . .

With a delightfully late Easter just ahead, and graduation days coming on apace, there are almost too many fashion possibilities for one slightly (?) feeble mind to grasp . . . But come, meenie, minnie, mo—we'll start here . . .

This new Spring fairly "froths" at you, with its sheer dresses and its crisply tailored frills . . . As flattering as the new styles are, there shouldn't be a homely woman in Colorado's Easter morning parade . . . It's been a long, long while since daytime dresses were so utterly feminine, so sheer and so completely spring-like . . . And they were never so before without being "fussy" . . .

Maybe you'll be hard to convince, by mere words, that they aren't fussy now . . . But one look at Max's showing of tailored creations in net, chiffon, eyellet, and sheer crepe will make you agree . . . Many of them are dark . . . Others are in the new "false" pastels—just a little darker than true pastels . . . There's nothing fussy about the prices, either ($5.90 to $16.50).

Discovered by a harassed mamma: Some of the sweetness in "Sweet Girl Graduate" . . . No more pattern-hunting and fitting and ripping and tear-shedding (mamma's and daughter's, too) will be necessary to sup-

The automatic needle used made the work go faster and adjusted the stitches more regularly. Mrs. Jones has a Navajo design to work up next.

COLORADOANS ASKED TO OBSERVE ACCIDENT WEEK

Speaking as representative of the Mutual Benefit Insurance company, E. V. Grantland calls attention of Coloradoans to the observance of National Accident and Health Insurance Week beginning Monday.

Purpose of the week, Grantland says, is to emphasize the necessity and possibility of finding some way to replace, in part at least, loss of income due to accidents and illness. He quotes figures to show that mounting traffic accidents mean an appalling wage loss to the victims, and that fatal accidents too often deprive a family of its wage earner. Health and accident insurance has therefore become a necessity for every wage-earner, he concludes.

IRRIGATION WELL LOANS TO BE OFFERED BY U. S. CONGRESSMAN INFORMED

Congressman George Mahon has been advised that it would be possible for West Texas farmers to secure loans under Title 1 of the Federal Housing Act for the purpose of putting down irrigation wells on their farms. This interpretation was made by the Legal Department of the Federal Housing Administration after Mr. Mahon had called on them in regard to the irrigation problem.

The Act provides that the Federal Housing Administration may insure loans made by local banks to home owners for the purpose of making improvements up to $2000. A farmer may apply to his local banker for funds to put down a well and provide the equipment. If this loan is made in accordance with the regulations of the Act, it will be insured by the Federal Housing Administration; according to the information received.

Of course, the local banks would be the judges of the soundness and desirability of this type of loan. The future policy of the Federal Housing Administration in regard to these loans can not be predicted with certainty.

CITY OFFICIALS SWORN IN; STUDY PROGRAM OF WORK

COUNCIL BOARD PROCEEDS WITH CAUTION AS PENDING QUESTIONS RECEIVE STUDY

Four New Members In Office Monday; Sadler, Jones Also Take Oath

That the four Colorado business men who Monday evening were sworn in as members of the city council propose to first ascertain merits and demerits in every public question before commitment was indicated as they sat in the council chamber in a round Robin prelude of what Colorado needs and should have during the ensuing months.

The new councilmen were administered the oath of office by City Attorney R. H. Ratliff. They included C. D. Hornberger, E. M. Majors, Roy Dozier and C. L. Gray, successful candidates in the recent municipal election. Mayor J. A. Sadler and City Secretary J. Lee Jones were also qualified for another term of two years and formally inducted into office. Jones' bonds totaling $10,000 were approved by the council.

Every member of the new and old council board were present as preliminary business was being considered. Minutes of the last meeting were read, current bills passed for payment and ordinance closing contract taking over Ruddick Park passed by the old board before their successors were sworn in.

As Ratliff concluded reading the final oath of office Mayor Sadler was on his feet to offer tribute to the three retiring aldermen, R. O. Pearson, O. B. Price and G. W. Whitaker.

"It has been one of the great privileges of my life to have served with men of your kind in this chamber and working together in general for the progress of this city," Sadler said. "We have entertained different views on matters that have passed through this body but I have thought the more of you because of that fact."

To be a real man one must sustain his honest convictions on every question."

Pearson was the first retiring councilman to speak in reply. Price came next and Whitaker third. Each addressed the mayor and their fellow council members, speaking words of strong friendship. Mr. Jones announced that he wanted to have a part in that feature of the evening's program and stated briefly that he had always appreciated every member of the city governing body.

Passing back to business before the council election of E. M. Majors as mayor pro-tem was the first order of business. Election of Jones as tax assessor and collector and city treasurer were next passed by unanimous vote and bonds approved.

Election of the city health officer for the ensuing fiscal year was passed to the May meeting. John Deffenbach was elected auditor to probe records at the city hall. Sadler was reelected utilities manager in charge of the water works department, streets, and other properties.

Six standing committees were announced by Mayor Sadler, as follows: Band commission: E. M. Majors, representing the city; R. J. Wallace, representing the school board, and Joe Pond, representing the chamber of commerce.

Streets and alleys: Chas. Moeser, chairman; C. L. Gray, C. D. Hornberger.

Health and sanitary: C. L. Gray, chairman; Roy Dozier, Chas. Moeser. Water and sewer: Roy Dozier, chairman; E. M. Majors, C. L. Gray. Parks and cemetery: C. D. Hornberger, chairman; Roy Dozier, E. M. Majors.

Fire and police: E. M. Majors, chairman; C. D. Hornberger, Chas. Moeser.

Several matters that are pending consideration by the council were introduced by the mayor and secretary, but as a rule the new councilmen suggested they be deferred until later. "In that we have opportunity to fully acquaint ourselves with the actual needs of this city," as one of the men put it.

ROAD BOOSTER TRAVELERS EXPRESS REGRETS SCHOOL BAND NOT IN MOTORCADE

Chamber Of Commerce Sends One Car To Convention At Nashville, Tenn.

Deep regret that the Colorado band, formerly official musical organization of the Broadway of America association, failed to join annual motorcade here Monday morning was expressed by Leo Hertz of El Centro, California, first vice president; F. O. Mackey of Douglas, Ariz., past president and other members of the road booster group as they arrived Monday morning.

The travelers were met by Mayor J. A. Sadler, Jim Greene, chamber of commerce secretary and other citizens. Mayor Sadler officially welcomed the boosters to Colorado in a brief address. Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Grable joined the motorcade here, making a total of 13 cars enroute to Nashville, Tenn., for annual convention of the association.

El Centro, picturesque city in the California Winter Garden section, is going to make a strong bid for the 1936 convention, according to statement made here by Hertz.

"And we are going to assist you in plans for taking that splendid band to our next annual convention," stated Mackey, prominent in affairs of the association for several years. "We all recall how that band put the San Diego and Memphis conventions on the map."

Greene expressed keen disappointment in not being in position to join the booster trippers here. Due to pressing business matters he could not leave his office.

The trippers left El Centro Friday morning. They crossed the Texas-New Mexico line into El Paso Saturday afternoon and spent that night in the Gate Way City. Sunday night stop was in Midland. The motorcade spent Monday night in Fort Worth.

It was noted that several of the cars were from Arizona. Interest of that State in the highway was further evidenced by presence of Captain William J. Dunn of the Arizona State Police Patrol, driver of one of the official pilot cars.

A HOME TOWN INSTITUTION

YESTERDAY....

The "gas buggy", the "horseless carriage" was the butt of almost every joke. Only "crazy fools", "speed demons" and "swells" believed in its future or dared to drive it....

TODAY....

Not to own a car almost amounts to an admission of straightened circumstances, lack of faith in the deferred-payment system or downright foolishness. An no revolution in design or improvement in performance is too radical or unexpected....

TOMORROW....

You may live a hundred miles from your place of employment, drive that distance in an hour, and do it at a driving cost of about 10c. Diesel engines and ideas yet unborn in the minds of young men may diminish space to such an extent that our entire system of society may be very radically changed....

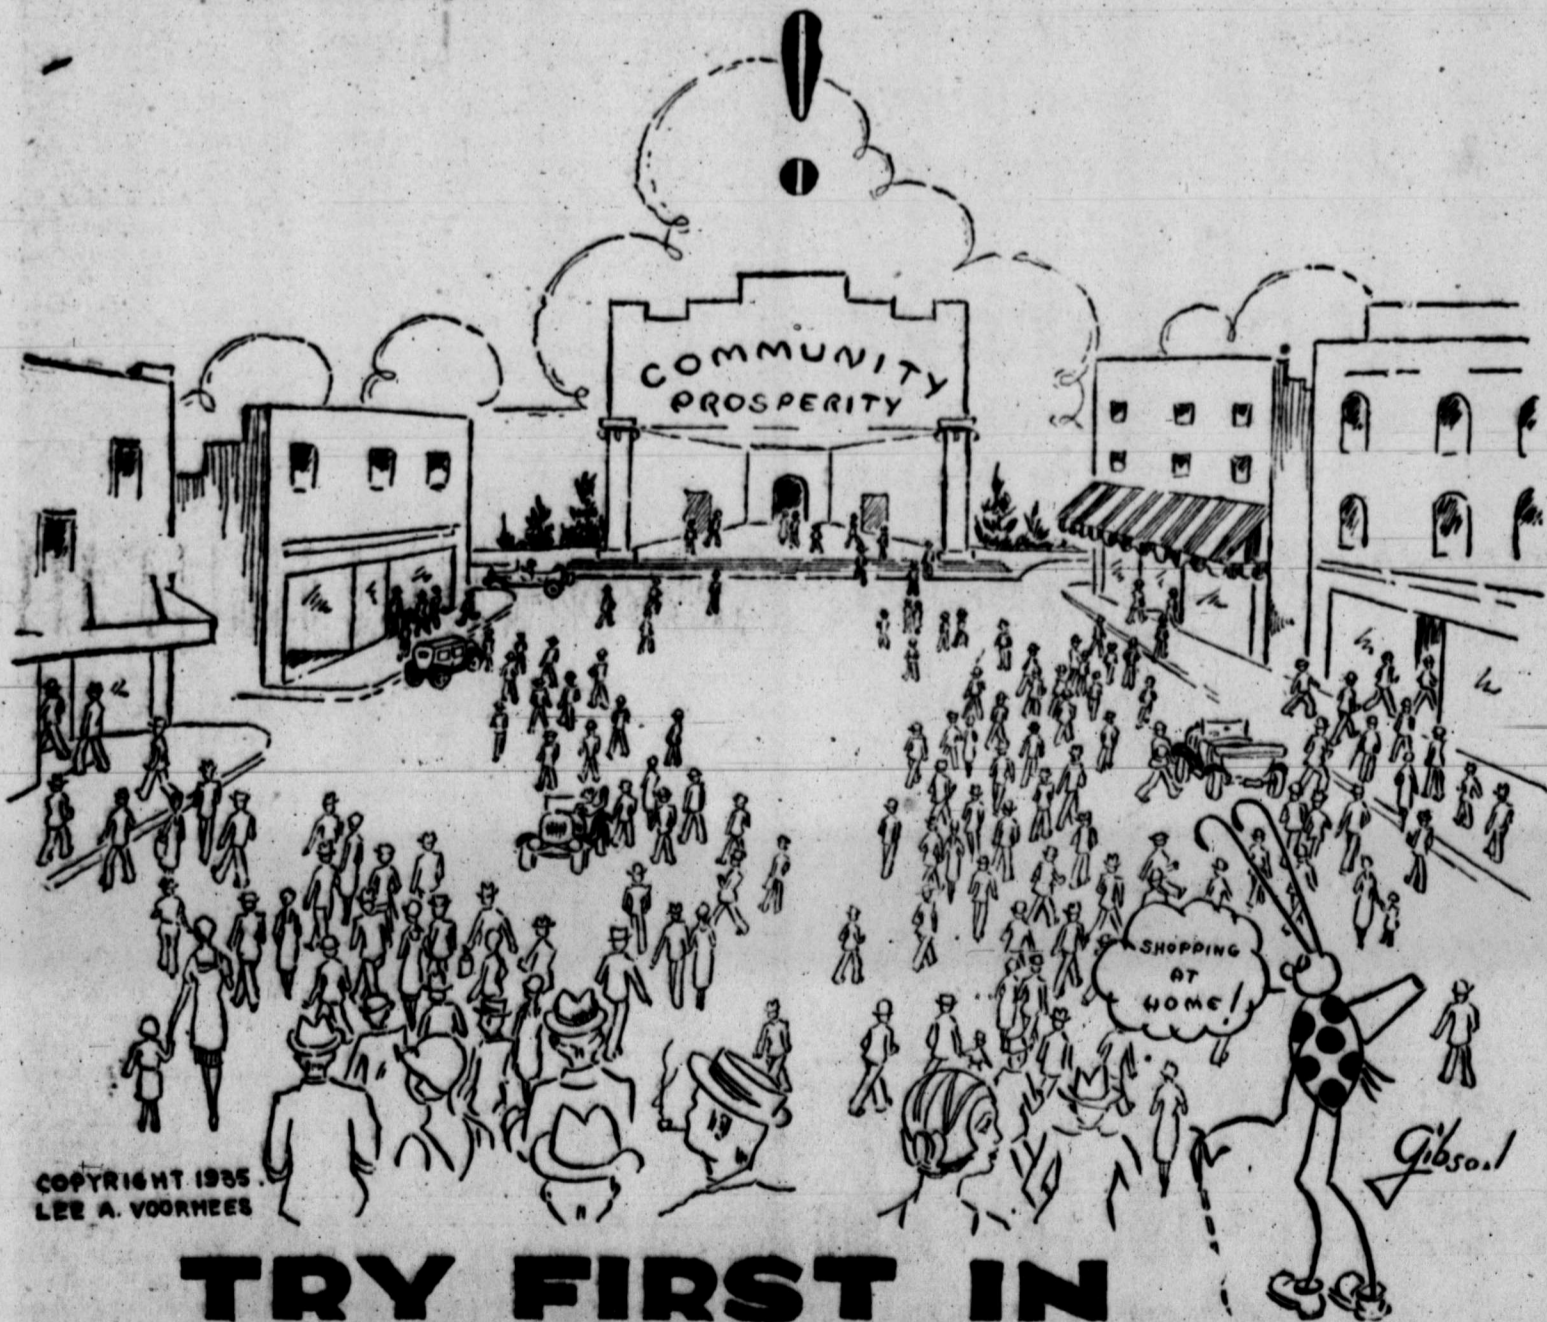

The only difference between "horse and carriage" and "horseless carriage" or "motor car" and "motorless car" is the difference between blindness and vision.

It takes no greater mental power to conceive of an automobile without a motor than it took to conceive of a carriage without a horse. All that is lacking is the idea that will change the source of locomotion. Remote radio control may be developed by some young American in the near future, and our present ideas of transportation completely changed. The privilege of serving the public, in this country, at this time, is a great honor; for "the public" is today's contribution to tomorrow, each and every person America's hope for the future.

"Well, what is the name of the topic," asked Mr. Fisher.

"Columbus, 1492," answered Kathleen.

"Well, isn't that plain enough for you?" spoke Mr. Fisher.

"Why, I always thought that was his telephone number," replied Kathleen.

Tuesday morning when Catherine McKenney started to school she was interrupted by a beggar as she started out of the house.

Stealing Of Siren Caused Curfew Not To Ring Here Twenty-Five Years Ago

Somebody made sure that, in the words of the poem, "curfew will not ring tonight," by stealing the curfew siren whistle from the light plant here one April day twenty-five years ago.

Theft of the whistle was recorded as follows in an item in the Colorado Record for April 15, 1910:

"The taking of the siren whistle from the light plant made the sounding of curfew hour impossible last Friday night. It depends wholly on who did it whether it was merely a joke or something else. It has been located and doubtless will soon be doing duty again."

Community Garden Assured As Water Offered By Council

That Colorado is to have a large community garden from which vegetable will be issued to clients on rolls of the FERA, was indicated Monday night as the council offered to supply water to assure growing of a garden on an entire city block.

Proposal that the water be supplied was brought before the council by J. H. Greene, FERA administrator, who explained that the State relief commission was anxious to "assist you in the problem of caring for indigent people."

The State commission will supply all planting seed, pay expense of cultivating the garden, including labor, Greene stated. W. R. Charters is to have supervision of the garden.

Insurance is such a large field that no man can know it all, but what little I do know, I know well. And I know enough to know what I don't know. As a representative, I will try my best to diagnose your insurance and tell you what it is that you need. If I don't find out, I will tell you so, and (through my knowledge of the profession and your needs) I will take your case to an insurance specialist, and will cooperate with him until we do determine what in the thunder you really need.

FORD has always aimed to make the automobile-buying dollar go as far as possible.

EDITORIAL

On April 6, eighteen years ago, our country was in a great turmoil. That day was the beginning of a frightful episode that is still like a bad dream in the minds of American people. The unutterable horror of the eighteen months that followed, can never be completely erased from our memories. Thousands upon thousands of the bravest men the world has ever known were slain. But out of all that chaos has emerged a great and powerful nation that the whole world respects, and every citizen within its boundaries, is proud to claim. So let's keep that sense of respect and honor in the minds of students and people. The students of today will be the nation's leaders tomorrow. Prepare to carry on the peace and contentment that began years ago. The sixth of April began the defense of the pride and honor of our nation, and the struggle that ensued, terminated in the peace that now reigns.

SMITHSONIAN BOOKS

The library is now the proud possessor of a set of Smithsonian Books which was donated by George Mahon. These books contain the annual reports of the Smithsonian Institute and studies of sciences and government.

One might be interested in knowing of the beginning of this institution. The funds with which to build this institute were donated by James Smithson, a wealthy English gentleman. Smithson's will was dated in 1826 to be read after his death and all of his property and wealth was to be left to his nephew which in case of his nephew's death was to go to the United States to found Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

SPANISH NEWS

The second year Spanish pupils sent two members of their class, Paschall Lynch and Elwood Beal, to enter the Interscholastic League meet held at Sweetwater Friday, April 5th. Elwood Beal received a medal for winning second place.

Monday, April 15th, the Spanish department will present a Pan-American program, giving a one-act play and a pageant portraying the significance of the day.

TELEGRAM FROM CROSLIN

The Senior play cast was very pleasantly surprised last Friday night just before the opening curtain of "The Blue Bag" by a telegram from Lloyd Croslin. He extended to the cast his best wishes and hopes for thoughtfulness on the part of their ex-sponsor.

S.S.S. SOCIETY

The S.S.S. held their meeting last Tuesday. The pre-curtain nervousness was greatly lessened by this Tuesday night at the home of the president, Miss Bonnie Bill Brizendine.

Easter scheme was carried out in decorations and favors. Miss Elsie Vanzandt could not attend because of sickness in her family. All the other members were present.

After a thirty minute business session, beginning at 7:30, three guests arrived. They were Misses Maxine Dorn, Willie Jamison and Estelle Chivers.

The games of rummy, murder and coffee pot were used as amusement. At about 9:30 Everett Pond, Archie Mohler, and N. T. Berry appeared upon the front porch with musical instruments. They entered into the spirit of the games and everyone reported a "swell" time.

At the social hour cookies decorated with the S.S.S. symbol and frozen sherbert were served. Small Easter chickens with names pasted on one foot were served as plate cards and favors for each one present.

Afterwards more games were played, then everyone went home tired but in a jovial mood. The meeting was a great success.

The next meeting will be a picnic supper at the home of Miss Mary Alice Gunn.

Those who placed in the contest to enter the Regional contest were: Andy Gregg, Stamford, teacher, Miss Caldwell; Davida Graham, Abilene, teacher, Miss Harrison; A. J. Page, Jr., Abilene, teacher, Miss Harrison; Madrine Hammond, Colorado, teacher, Miss Cooper; Louise Squyers, Big Spring, teacher, Mrs. Lowe. ture teams will leave for A. & M. college for the state contest. The agriculture teams are determined to bring back some first places this time.

SENIOR NEWS

Well folks the Senior play was a howling success! After the last curtain the whole cast was thrown into a riot by the presentation of a delicious pesan cake by Sam Wulfjen (the villain's father). A pair of scissors, the only available utensil was used to penetrate the nutty depths. However this fact was entirely unnoticed by those partaking of the luscious tidbits. Here's luck to the rest of the classes because the Seniors think they will need it.

The Senior class wishes to take this opportunity to extend its hearty thanks and appreciation to Ross Dixon for the advertisement of our play "The Blue Bag" last Thursday night at the theater.

Strange but true, everytime Red Moon is at the library the third period a certain senior girl has business there also.

Ruth Smith claims that a certain act in the Senior play wasn't rehearsed beforehand not even a dress rehearsal (We mean the "unexpected" kiss that her "husband," George Kiker gave her. Shall we believe this?)

The rumor has gotten out that Buena Vista is a little orphan. It seems, however, that she is not over-grieved by her bereavement (the absence of her parents).

Bonnie Bill Brizendine awoke Sunday morning to make the shocking discovery that she has contracted the "childish" disease chicken-pox. Her embarrassment was unduly increased Monday by the fact that she received rumors by unknown (?) senior girls that informed her she had plunged into her second childhood. Bonnie's worry seems to be whether or not she will "shed-off" by Saturday in order that she could go to the long-planned-for club picnic party, etc.

Alas, and alack the life of a Senior! The long-searched-for dates by the "club sisters" have finally been lassoed—even that of the timid Vivian. Various and sundry means were used but no voluntary information is offered.

The inseparable Mabel and Lena had a mysterious third companion last Saturday on a hike. Was it reducing girls?

JUNIOR NEWS

Erna Lou Merrill, Elizabeth Taylor and several other Juniors went to Sweetwater Friday.

Ask Melba why she was so excited Sunday afternoon. Maybe it was about her car. It seemed so strange for the car to disappear when she had the keys herself.

Did Tom Coker feel his importance when he was asked to show "the new girl" her class rooms? We imagine.

SOPHOMORE PLAY

The Sophomore play "For Pete's Sake," is to be presented Friday, April 12 at eight o'clock in the High School auditorium.

Everybody is invited to attend. Its full of life and laughs. Its going to be the best so you can't miss it. Admission 10c. Come and see Rasmus in the flesh.

SOPH NEWS

We wonder: Why two certain Soph girls had such a fuss during noon last week.

Why Hazel Jim Gray has so many admirers.

Why Earnest never gets caught shooting paper wads.

Why Mary Frances gets so mad during History class (for information ask Ed).

Why June Cox was so worried one day last week (could it have been about Charles?)

Just imagine: Billy Henderson not arguing.

Hazel Jim not flirting.

Etta Fern not hungry.

Lucille Bodine had a dinner Saturday night in honor of her sixteenth birthday. Those present were Kathryn Hodge, George Kiker, Etta Fern Harkins, Omer Rogers, Annetta Lacey, Skinny Lupton, June Cox, Charles Garrett and Joe Cooper. Everyone had a very good time.

Doris Wayne O'Brien went to Cisco over the week-end.

Ferrill Roberts went to Big Spring.

FRESHMAN NEWS

The Freshmen welcome another new member, Routh Moore, from Beaumont, Texas.

The Freshman play is coming along fine and is being practiced daily. Come on Fish make this play a grand success. It is to be presented next Tuesday night, April 16. We are hoping to win the cup.

Frances Doss was absent Monday.

YOUTHS USING CLUB'S FUND FOR EDUCATION HAVE ALL MADE GOOD

Three Mitchell county youths who have used the Hesperian club's student loan fund to secure college educations have made good and there is every reason to believe the fourth and present user will do so, it was pointed out at the club's meeting Friday. Repayment has always been made on schedule, the report said.

The fund was first used by J. Lee Jones, Jr., who is now a lawyer in San Antonio. Next it went to Samuel H. J. Womack, who is a government employee in Washington, D. C. The third youth benefitted was Murphy Byrd, who has an excellent teaching record and who is now a member of the Westbrook faculty.

The present borrower is Paul Sweatt, who is attending West Texas State Teachers' college at Canyon. Sweatt was selected for employment on the college farm at the beginning of this year because of his scholastic record and character references.

Why Doris Wynne likes to wear a hat.

Why Adelaide Harvey doesn't like to sew.

Why George Mallard is so conceited.

HOME MAKING II-A

The girls of the second year class have been studying meats. In this course we have had a thorough discussion of pork, beef and fish. We now feel that we have completed this course.

We are now beginning the study of vegetables and salads for dinner. We are also studying the planning and serving of a dinner.

FERRILL ROBERTS.

The first year class prepared the different kinds of bread, such as nut bread, date bread, corn bread, biscuit and different kinds of muffins. Most of the girls had very good luck in making their breads.

"Hooking a rug is more pleasant to me than working on my tufted bedspread," says Mrs. Albert Orr, bedroom improvement demonstrator for the Lone Star home demonstration club. Mrs. Orr has started her rug on round bale cotton burlap, 4' by 2', using a motif design supplied from A. & M. College. Three pairs of gray trousers have been purchased at a nominal fee at a rummage sale to give ample material for the foundation while green and henna are being used to give color.

AM SEVENTY-FIVE

This columnist is 75. They tell it down at the office that I have retired, but the truth of the matter is I was pushed out to make room for a younger man.

I'm seventy-five of age said he, and so I have to go; This job is for a younger man—I've grown a trifle slow. They want a youth who hasn't learned the things I've come to know.

O, I am wise in sorrow now, I know how close are tears, I know the joy that is worth while, the false when it appears—Then man or woman learns a lot who lives through seventy-five years.

I've acquired in 75 years the calm which age bestows, I know what disappointment is and how it comes and goes. I've also learned not very much divides our friends and foes.

But this is wisdom I presume that business cannot use, At seventy-five love for constant strife a man is apt to lose, And so to keep a faster pace a younger man they choose.

I ain't going to die; I'll take a long lease residence In a mansion in the sky, Where I can watch the friends I've left And guide them o'er life's sea, So when they're old and want to quit, They'll find a home with me.

I had planned to live to be 100 but from the expressions of friends Walking down the street I met some friends who said: W. W. Porter— I met old seventy-five today And looked at him aghast. His color seemed an ashen gray I'm sure he's slipping fast. He noticed as his hand I shook His grip's no longer strong. And I feel certain from his look He won't be with us long. Ralph Lee— The pouches sag beneath his eyes His cheeks are drawn and pale. I gazed on him with sad surprise To find him now so frail. I greeted him, but had to shout My words to make him hear, For seventy-five beyond a doubt The end is drawing near. Rube Morgan— When last I saw him he was spry And trim as trim can be, But horrified and shocked was I His wasted form to see. I'm sure his final task is done, He's nearing life's last page. Old seventy-five has now begun Plainly to show his age! Dick O'Brien— Would you have guessed a month ago As you and I admired The hills with autumn hues aglow That he was getting tired. Yet he has failed so fast of late Not long with friends can mix. Old seventy-five won't celebrate The birth of seventy-six.

Do I play games? Say, the biggest game of all is going on all the time—I mean life. You see people in the streets with gray hair and furrowed faces—why? They take it all too seriously. They ought to learn to relax. When I'm by myself with a little spare time, I get a kick out of reading the newspapers from cover to cover. And cross-word puzzles—say I can't keep away from them. But with a big family and lots of friends you can't sit around with your face in a paper or your nose buried in a puzzle. We all play games a good deal. I like the competitive ones best, but I'm a sore loser. I invented a game about three years ago. It's called "Tell it to the Judge." You play it with a board and dice and men, something like parcheesi, but there are traffic lights, detours, tickets for speeding and fines to make it more exciting. Do you want to laugh? Well, next time your friends drop in, try this. Tell them all that you are going to whisper to each person the name of some animal which, when you give the signal, they must imitate as loudly as possible. Then, instead, whisper to all except one to keep perfectly silent. Whisper to this one exception that he is to imitate a donkey. When everyone is ready, give the signal—whereupon one loud bray will be heard, to the surprise of the unfortunate guest. Most men enjoy poker, and here's a tip—you don't need cards to play automobile poker. You can play it while you're driving into town or twiddling your thumbs on the back porch and watching the cars go by. Each person chooses certain numbers. Say mine are four and six. My opponent has three and eight. If the license number on the next car that passes has two fours and two sixes, I feel pretty good. But the next license number has three eights in it. My opponent wins. It's easy to have a good time in life. It doesn't take brains or money or luck. It's just a question of playing the game—the big one as well as the little ones.

Soon after making my resolve to live to be 100, the Greenville Herald to discourage us publishes this: Did you ever stop to think how small is the chance that you will live to the ripe age of a century? At this time there are less than 4,000 persons in the entire United States who have attained that age. Figuring the country's population at approximately 123,000,000 each person would have about one chance in 30,750 to attain that age! To which State Press in the Dallas News replies: Please don't discourage us. State Press has a hundred-year plan, and doesn't want to get a glimpse of the old man with the nicked scythe until the century has been completed. Grand things S. P. will do if allowed to finish his self-elected term. He will be a prodigious philanthropist, building hospitals, endowing colleges, pensioning the blind, giving free milk to quinquaplets and establishing beauty parlors for the masses. But if he has only one chance out of 30,750 he can feel no urge to begin distributing his wealth right away. In fact, he will have to spend the next forty years or so in further accumulation before he starts his philanthropic campaign. He feels indeed that he should warn the expectant population that so far he has made little progress in accumulating. He has made a number of false starts, but has heretofore found it difficult to get away from scratch. He has a scheme in mind,

Old age when men usually look back upon a life of many mistakes and a few achievements and look ahead with either a veiled or a frank dread of death, is generally considered an unhappy condition. An environment of younger, still hopeful and less disillusioned folks does help matters, perhaps makes them worse. But the last few years can be like a rosy sunset, giving the right environment and health.

I used to think that growing old was reckoned just in years, But who can name the very date When weariness appears? I find no stated time, when man, obedient to a law, Must settle in an easy chair and from the world withdraw. Old Age is rather curious, especially to the poor. I know old men at forty and young men at seventy-five.

I'm done with counting life by years or temples turning gray No man is old who wakes with joy to greet another day. What if the body cannot dance with youth's elastic spring? There's many a vibrant interest to which the mind can cling. 'Tis in the spirit Age must dwell, Quote the Raven never more; I know old men at forty and young men at seventy-five.

Some men keeping all their friendships warm and welcome friendship new. They have no time to sit and mourn the things they used to do. This changing world they greet with joy and never bow to fate; On every fresh adventure they set out with hearts elate. From chilling fear and bitter dread they keep their spirits alive, While some seem old at forty they stay young at seventy-five.

So much to do, so much to learn, so much in which to share! With twinkling eyes and minds alert some brave both time and care, And this I've learned from other men, that only they are old Who think with something that has passed the tale of life is told. For Age is not alone of time, or we should never thrive Men old and bent at forty and men young at seventy-five.

From birth to death is a journey through the world whether long or short. The only paying investments are salvation through faith and treasure awarded for righteous conduct. Pride, wealth and temporal power are delusions through which multitudes pass to destruction. Yes, this columnist had a birthday this April. Seventy-five years ago this month we were born among the hills of southern Illinois, what is known as Egypt at the old homestead. It was a beautiful place beside a stream, or as we called it, "creek." It was said my birth was the cause of the breaking out of the Civil war, April, 1860, and also Abe Lincoln chose my birthday on which he issued his emancipation proclamation. Be that as it may, 75 years is a long time to live and since our advent into the world, many things have happened. Yes, 75, still a kid, full of fun and vigor and meanness. You know, we would kinder like to live a little longer to see what Roosevelt is going to do with the depression.

I'm seventy-five years old today, Just seventy-five years young, And life is just as sweet to me As when it first began. I can not say I look as young As forty years ago, Because I've had experience Which leaves its mark you know. When I get old, if e'er I do,

BLACK-DRAUGHT For CONSTIPATION "I am 71 years old and have used Theodor's Black-Draught about forty years," writes Mr. W. J. Vanover, of Roma, Ky. "We are never without it. I take it as a preventive when I am bilious, and have swimming in my head. Black-Draught relieves this, and keeps me in many ways." Keep a package of this old, reliable, purely vegetable laxative in your home, and take it for prompt relief on the first sign of constipation.

Veteran Employees Of Chevrolet Enjoy Complimentary Inspection Of New Plant

"Old in years of service to Chevrolet, but young in spirit." This phrase might well be used to characterize the delegation of twenty-four workmen, one from each of Chevrolet's manufacturing and assembly plants, who gathered in Baltimore some days ago for a pre-opening inspection of the new 80,000 cars-per-year assembly plant in that city. They represented practically all the major manufacturing operations that combine to form the finished motor car.

Foundry, forge, manufacturing and assembly plants were all represented by these veterans from the upper age bracket of employees chosen to receive this special recognition for long service, which included not only the trip to Baltimore but side trips to points of historic interest, including the National Capitol at Washington and Mount Vernon.

Enthusiastic over their holiday and the sights they were to see as guests of the company, this group of workers, averaging 71 years of age, and chosen according to the number of years they have been in the service of Chevrolet, formed as lively a delegation as one might see headed for a national convention. To them life began yesterday. They presented a living refutation of the belief that the automobile industry has no place for workers who have passed 40.

Following their arrival in Baltimore, they enjoyed the limelight as a battery of cameras registered their welcome at the City Hall, where Mayor Howard W. Jackson presented them with the key to the city. A fleet of Chevrolet cars then carried the visitors to the new plant on the outskirts of Baltimore, where guides under the supervision of W. S. Roberts, plant manager, escorted the group through the new plant.

As they passed down the aisles of the new Baltimore factory on their tour of inspection, they discussed with animation the innovations in assembly plant machinery and operation as they watched the various activities which they knew so well. Many of the men had helped to build the plants in which they are now employed, and as they turned the years to compare, there was many an exclamation of enthusiasm for what had been accomplished by modern engineering.

At Washington, they were welcomed to the Capitol by the Speaker of the House, Joseph Byrns. His office became an open forum as the Speaker discussed age and automobiles.

Jim Thayer, 83, deaf and spokesman for the group, started in 1915 with the Mason Motor Company building motors for Chevrolet cars. From 1916 to 1918, he was in charge of the installation of all the line shafting in what is now Chevrolet Plant No. 4 in Flint.

A delegation from another of the Flint plants, Philip Lanier, 80, was born in India, where his father's regiment was stationed during the Indian Mutiny. At the age of 13 he enlisted in his father's regiment, and spent the following 14 years in His Majesty's service. After retiring however, which he feels sure will work out, conditioned that he be allowed his full hundred years. He hopes to get a PWA appropriation for the building and stocking of fish ponds, from which he will sell big and little fishes to all comers. Having no capital investment, he can afford to undersell the beef and pork growers, the poultry raisers and the rabbit butchers. With his profits he will build more fish ponds, and still more fish ponds. By the end of his allotted span of life he will have made enough money to carry out his plan for Nation-wide benevolence. Study his scheme, doubters, and find a flaw in it if you can.

from the army, he came to the United States where he entered the employ of the Buick Motor Company. In 1916 he became an inspector with Chevrolet. He recalls the glee over a record day of 16 automobiles coming off the assembly line. Today he operates a huge machine that grinds parts for water pumps.

Following the return of these veteran employees to their respective homes, Maurice Sullivan, 73, Detroit, was nominated to present a signed scroll to M. E. Coyle, Chevrolet's president and general manager, in appreciation of his thoughtfulness in making this eventful trip possible.

The new Baltimore plant was opened formally on April 9 in the presence of a host of high officials of General Motors and Chevrolet, together with Governor H. W. Nice of Maryland and national and industrial leaders from the Eastern part of the United States.
