PROJECT TO ASSURE JOBS LASTING SEVERAL MONTHS FOR 100 COUNTY CITIZENS

'We Are Ready To Proceed If Washington Approves,' Is Judge's Statement

A county-wide improvement project that would assure employment to 100 Mitchell countians through a period of twelve months along with bringing into realization a system of good roads to serve every rural community, came nearer to realization this week when County Judge B. L. Templeton received confirmation of application for an $82,000 lateral road building project by the Abilene district office of WPA.

The application, filed in Abilene Wednesday afternoon of last week has been forwarded to Washington for final confirmation.

"I have every good reason to believe this project is to receive approval at Washington," Templeton stated Wednesday morning. "The commissioners' court is ready to proceed with this much needed improvement and we hope to see work started early after the first of next year."

Templeton explained that the county would finance its share of the construction cost, approximately 30 per cent, from the road and bridge funds, described as being in excellent financial condition at this time.

Plans of the county judge and members of his court to start the road project early during next year would give "steady employment" to local citizens as the cotton and feed harvests are being closed.

"The entire program looks good to me," he commented. "Tentative schedule, on condition, of course, we receive confirmation at Washington, calls for placing men to work just about time they will be winding up work in the cotton fields."

The projected lateral road construction is not the only source of employment seen for citizens of the county. Loraine, Westbrook and other political subdivisions will be offering jobs as they set to work on projects already okayed at Abilene and sent to the National capital.

Drainage project in Colorado and the proposed lake south of town are still others that would build the employment roster and bring additional money into the pockets of Mitchell county citizens.

HENNIN' AROUND

at Max's

These hazy-billed days, with their soft and slanting autumn sunlight and their early touch of chill—they bring on football visions. . . . And football visions, in the feminine mind, have to do with smart fur collars and swagger coats and smartly tilted hats. . . .

Guilty of killing time—just for the thrill of swaggering in late down in front of the bleachers—that's likely to be the verdict in the case of any woman who gets all outfitted at Max's this year. . . . For no woman can fail to feel—and look—too utterly smart for words in the new fall things. . . .

Game-minded indeed must have been the person who designed a certain brown swagger suit at Max's. . . . It's of British tweed, with an irregular, stand-up collar of brown fox. . . . With the green findings (accessories to you) that are so effective with brown this year, it would make any feminine (and most masculine) hearts go "pop". . . .

And while pecking at coats we glimpsed a perfect dream in a "dress-up" Rothmoor. . . . Honest, no woman could be plain in it. . . . Made of black Tonbridge crepe, it has a stand-up collar of blue fox—heavenly soft. . . .

Funny how, nowadays, evening dresses differ from other dresses by having either a lot of sleeve—or no sleeve at all. . . . The most stunning one this hen glimpsed was black crepe with a yoke and a wide full-ruffled collar and full sleeves of all-over black lace—positively regal! . . .

Something simply "smooth" in formal apparel is a brown creation Max is showing. . . . Of brown Prestwick crepe, the dress itself is made fitting without benefit of belt. . . . Sleeves of brown satin, shirred at the shoulder. The jacket has a Kollinsky fur trim that begins under the arm and follows the rounded jacket line for a few inches, then does a neat loop around the neck. . . . It's cape style in the back, merging into full sleeves that are tight-fitting from below the elbow to the wrist. . . .

The "military" influence is smartly apparent in a certain street dress of novelty-weave crepe. . . . Sutache braid swirls around large round gold buttons up and down the front and the full sleeves are cartridge-pleated at the shoulder. . . .

And don't have a hussy about the new length for dress sleeves. . . . Just grin and bear them. . . . They're something between three-quarter length and wrist length—awkward sounding and awkward feeling, but swell looking. . . .

This year's purses are suede, silk, and kid, in novelty shapes. . . . Max has them in blues, blacks, browns, greens, and wines. . . . Prices range from 98 cents to $2.95. . . .

All glittery with rhinestones, or softly radiant with tiny pearl beading, the new evening bags will prove really an addition to any dancing or dining get-up. . . . They're small—just big enough for a powderpuff and a hanky and the cigarettes. . . . They look expensive, but they really range from 98c to $1.95. . . .

Gloves have settled down. . . . You remember they went quite fancy last winter and this summer. . . . The new ones have very conservative gauntlets or straight cuffs. . . . The kid ones at Max's are the famous Fowne's brand, imported from Czechoslovakia. . . . Fabric gloves by Kayser are sure to be favorites—priced as low as 59 cents, 98 cents, and $1.49. . . .

Once upon a time—who remembers when?—hankies were strictly utilitarian. . . . They're getting to be aristocrats now, more and more so all the time. . . . White ones, some touched with color, are best this year. . . . All Max's new ones are hand-done, embroidered and many net trimmed. . . . Some with Mexican handwork are exquisite. . . .

'Centennial Pioneer' Claimed By Death Day After Being Written Up

The day after he had been written up in a state paper as one of Texas' "Centennial pioneers," J. J. Handley, 93, of north of Westbrook was claimed by death Friday after a brief illness.

For forty-three years Mr. Handley had lived in this country, coming here from Comanche county after he had already passed the half-century mark. He owned a number of large farms and some ranch land in the section where he lived.

In the newspaper article about him Mr. Handley was said to have known bitter times when he first came to this county because he was a farmer first and a cattleman second and the feud between farmers and ranchmen, who wanted free range, was still going on. He was said to have been one of the first land-owners in this county to fence his place. His first two homes were burned to the ground, and he always suspected free grassers of setting them.

Born in Fayette county, Georgia, on April 9, 1842, Mr. Handley came to Texas in 1873, living in Smith and Comanche counties before coming to Mitchell county. His wife died two years ago, shortly after they had celebrated their sixty-eighth wedding anniversary.

At his own request, a neighbor, Mr. Badgett, said his funeral rites at the Teville cemetery at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Six grandsons were pallbearers.

JAS. LOGAN ANNOUNCES POULTRY FEED ADVANCE

A startling announcement has been made to the poultry world and another is being made along with it in this community. Vitamin A, which scientists have recently found a way to isolate for human consumption, is now being put into poultry feeds. A new ingredient introduced to poultrymen the country over, is now available to farmers and poultry raisers in this locality, according to James Logan of Logan & Son feed store. It is called Pur-a-tene and is found exclusively in Purina Feeds, he said.

Newspapers throughout the country have been talking of this amazing discovery. Through the facilities of the Purina Experimental Farm and Research Laboratories, a new process has been developed of extracting Carotene (Vitamin A in its primary form) from plants and converting it into Pur-a-tene.

"All poultry raisers know that hens need Vitamin A for body maintenance," Logan told a reporter of this paper yesterday, "and recent experiments have proven beyond a doubt that when hens receive sufficient Vitamin A, they remain in better health and lay more eggs."

"Pur-a-tene is concentrated green feed," he said. "It is rich in Vitamin A because it is made from nature's richest store-house of this vitamin—the yellow coloring matter in plants and vegetables. It contains 750 times as much Vitamin A as yellow cornmeal which has been considered one of the best sources of Vitamin A. Each bag of Purina Laying Chows contains enough Pur-a-tene to step up its Vitamin A activity to two and one-half times its former strength."

"With the poultry outlook brighter today than it has been in many years," commented Mr. Logan, "this outstanding development of Purina research is being introduced at a most beneficial time for poultry raisers. Pur-a-tene will mean a great deal to them in extra eggs, improved health of hens and greater poultry profits. See add in this paper."

C.C.C. ENROLLMENT ENLARGED

AUSTIN.—Completing the expansion Civilian Conservation Corps enrollment by enlisting 14,819 Texas youth, district administrators are now looking toward the October enrollment when every additional eligible candidate in the state is expected to be given a chance to join the CCC, State Enrollment Supervisor Neal E. Guy has announced.

Not only will more new enrollees be accepted, but present enrollees may remain in camps indefinitely, as mandatory discharges have been discontinued, Guy explained. "As long as a person's work and conduct are satisfactory he will be allowed to remain in camp, but an honorable discharge will be granted him promptly if a position is secured which will better his condition."

District administrators and case supervisors have been instructed to check their rolls, listing the number of unmarried youths between 18 and 28 whose families are on relief.

Guy again advised all eligible youths interested in joining the CCC to get in touch with their district administrator or their county case worker. In some cases, he said, applicants who were rejected because of minor physical defects are now acceptable if the defects have been corrected.

RUGGED FRONTIERSMAN OF THIS AREA PILOTTED FIRST FREIGHT CARGO INTO CITY

Geo. Waddell Knew Section Before Colorado Started; Rites Held Friday

George W. Waddell, one of the rugged pioneers who back in those days before Colorado City was established and the county of Mitchell organized was given last rites in services conducted from the Jones, Russell Company mortuary Friday morning by the Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor of First Methodist church.

The officiating minister recalled during his sermon address that it was Mr. Waddell who riding his pony piloted the first load of lumber to be brought into the newly established outpost of "Colorado City," with swing of the calendar into the eighties. Later he was employed in building the town's first building, a store owned and operated by A. W. Dunn, who had come here from Coleman.

Lumber for this building was transported by wagon caravan from Coleman and George Waddell rode his pony ahead of the slowly moving ox-drawn vehicles, to show drivers the route to be followed in passing through the unknown country between Coleman and Colorado, it was said.

In speaking about the early life of Waddell Harry Landers, Sr., recalls that he, his brother, Will Waddell and a sister, Mrs. Mary Mullens, migrated to this section in 1878 and built a log cabin on Champion creek a few miles southeast of Colorado.

"I have in my possession the cross-cut saw used by those men in shaping the logs used in construction of that cabin," Landers said. "It was one of the first settlements to be occupied by pioneers in this immediate part of the West."

Strong tribute was paid the memory of Mr. Waddell by Rev. Mr. Wright as a soldier, a pioneer in development of West Texas and a parishioner in the realm of religion. He had been an active member of the Christian church through many years of his life.

Body of the aged veteran of the Confederacy was clothed in the uniform of the Southern States during that conflict and on the casket was draped a silken flag of the Confederacy. Mr. Waddell died Wednesday before while attending annual meeting of the United Confederate Veterans. The body was brought here

New Grocery And Market To Swing Doors Open Here

Another new business enterprise for Colorado is realized in announcement by Newsom Brothers that they are to open a modern grocery and market in the Whitaker building, 261 Elm, Saturday morning. The location was formerly used by Helpy-Selfy.

Owners of the store, to be known as "U-Save-Grocery-Stores," are E. L. Newsom, J. O. Newsom and W. R. Newsom, all of Big Spring, owners and operators of three such stores in that city. They have had several years successful experience in the grocery and market line.

J. O. Newsom is moving his family to Colorado as resident manager of the store. Mr. and Mrs. Newsom have one son, Donald Ray, seven years of age.

to be given interment beside the grave of his wife who died several years ago. The brother, Will Waddell, who came here with the late pioneer, died a few years ago.

After residing on the ranch established by them on Champion Creek several years the Waddells established homes in Colorado. Several years ago they moved to Fort Worth and had since resided there.

With conclusion of the religious ceremony, members of the Colorado Masonic bodies took charge of the burial rites. Mr. Waddell was a charter member of the local Blue Lodge and in his passing only two Masons holding that distinction remain. They are John L. Doss and Judge R. H. Looney, both of Colorado.

Among relatives and friends of Mr. Waddell here to attend the funeral services were Miss Mollie Waddell and Miss Kate Waddell of Fort Worth, daughters; Frank E. Waddell and Marion R. Waddell, sons, of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thannish of Crane and Mrs. J. J. Clasner of Edinberg. Mes. Thannish and Clasner are daughters.

George Clasner of Edinberg and Harold Thannish of Crane were grandchildren present.

Relatives included Mrs. Barbara Wall, Miss Dora Wall, Miss Dorothy Wall and Miss Nan Williams of Fort Worth; J. F. Fernandes, Clarence Dennison, Mrs. A. J. Calloway, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards and C. W. Edwards of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards, Sweetwater, and Mrs. Kay Ingram of Quanah.

Close friends included C. K. Bowman of Abilene; Miss Cecil Owens and Earl Vaughan of Fort Worth; M. F. Clark, Ewell McKnight and Mrs. Estelle Henderson of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. John E. Clark of Crane; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thannish and Mrs. C. Peyton of Arlington and M. J. Vaughan of Sweetwater.

Active pall bearers were members of the Masonic lodge, some of whom had known their fallen companion for many years.

Honorary pall bearers included Judge R. H. Looney, C. M. Adams, W. L. Doss, Sr., Dr. B. F. Dulaney, W. A. Crowder, Harry Landers, Sr., J. G. Merritt, J. A. Buchanan, Frank Smith, Lay Powell, H. S. Beal and "Dad" Clark.

Nation's Welfare

(Continued From First Page) depression has come to the end of the way in Texas, just get in your motor car and drive over the State as I have during the past two weeks," Ebersole declared after recalling that cattlemen in West Texas were wearing a "smile" "one yard long," and that other industrialists were viewing the future with greater optimism than for several seasons.

John Elliott, son of Rev. W. M. Elliott; J. W. Watson, president of the Colorado school board, and W. J. Chesney, farmer of Dorn community, were other visitors to be presented.

Jim Greene, chamber of commerce secretary, delivered a spirited address urging members of the club to acquaint citizens of Colorado with purpose of the straw vote scheduled for the following Tuesday.

"A citizen of this community suggested to me this morning that we should wait a while about going into the project of building a lake on Champion Creek," Greene said. "That is the matter with Colorado today," he shouted. "We have waited too many times already when opportunity for doing something worthwhile knocked at our door."

COLORADO SOLON HONORED THROUGH ELECTION AS ONE OF GOOD WILL DELEGATION

Mahon, Vice President Jack Garner And Senator Tom Connally From Texas

To George Mahon of Colorado, congressman from the 19th Texas district, has come a signal honor through recent announcement of his appointment as member of a good-will commission to visit the Philippines, Japan and China during October and November. Senator Tom Connally and Vice President Garner are other Texans listed in the group.

Mrs. Mahon plans accompanying her husband on the trip to the East. The commission, made up of prominent American citizens, is to sail from Seattle on October 16, arriving in the Philippines a few days before those people will celebrate their independence, set to become a reality on November 1.

"This is not a junketing trip by any means and its cost will not be born by the American people," Mahon told The Record. "Members of the commission are to go as guests of the Philippine people, to join with them in commemoration of an event that through many years has been a sacred ambition through the island province."

After visiting in the Philippines the party is to spend some time in Japan and will also visit in China before returning to the States.

THEATRE NEWS

By SHERMAN HART "ARIZONIAN"

Palace—September 13-14

Frontier melodrama bristling with fast action and suspense. Sure-fire mass entertainment that will satisfy the Richard Dix fans. Dix as a Wells-Fargo convoy, resents the attitude of a crooked sheriff and the murderous exploits of his colleagues, becomes a marshall and sets out to clear up the town. Food splits the town with matters becoming more complicated when Dix falls for his younger brother's sweetheart. Former henchman of the crooked sheriff joins Dix and they fight together until the town is completely cleaned up. Younger brother dies and Dix moves to California with the girl. Camera work is exceptional and the offering moves with swift pace to a powerful dramatic climax.

"GOIN TO TOWN"

Palace—Saturday Midnite Matinee Sun.—Mon.—September 14, 15, and 16

Mae West fans will see lots of their favorite in this picture. She is in every scene (and there is a lot of her). The local ranges from a western honky-tonk to Buenos Aires and back to smart Long Island society. La West essays everything from low-down blues to grand opera vocally but the snake-hips sway as much in this picture as in others. Lots of melodramatic action of all kinds and a pip of a horse race. Mae's version of "Samson and Delilah" may not have been designed for comedy but it is a howl anyway. If you like Mae West you will like it.

"HEADLINE WOMAN"

Palace—September 17-18

A very interesting drama involving police reporters, crooks, and policemen. A reporter gets his newspaper in disfavor with the police but everything turns out OK. Roger Pryor gives an excellent performance as the hero and Heather Angel also deserves merits for her acting.

"HOORAY FOR LOVE"

Thursday—September 19

Smart musical offering of life behind the scenes, studded with a couple of hit melodies and attractive chorines. Plot deals with a musical comedy production and the usual drawbacks via a trickster producer. Gene Raymond jumps into the show to get closer to Ann Sothern, the object of his affection. Ann's father comes to the financial rescue via plunging into matrimony with a rich widow. Dance numbers are well produced. Photography is excellent and Bill Robinson stands out with a solo dance number. Gene Raymond gives a nice performance as the romancer in the pursuit of Ann Sothern's affections, while Miss Sothern clicks decidedly.

"ALIBI IKE"

Ritz—September 15-16

A baseball comedy, adapted from a Ring Lardner story, that should prove a sure hit for the Joe E. Brown fans. Brown, dizzier than Dizzy Dean, in the role of a small-town pitcher graduating to the major leagues, feels his importance, knows he is really good, and registers his outstanding comedy screen portrayal. Baseball seeking to have him throw the game, kidnaps him to make sure it is accomplished, moving the story forward for maximum suspense and hilarious entertainment. Romance is supplied by Olivia de Havilland whose influence weakens the would-be bachelor pitcher, resulting in hilarious consequences.

"PEOPLE'S ENEMY"

Ritz—September 17-18

A meagre attempt to capitalize on the new vogue of racketeer vs. government. Instead, it becomes an over-talked affair with little action

Old News Story Tells Of Death Of The Senior Ellwood In Illinois

The death of I. L. Ellwood, Sr., designated as "the largest individual land holder in Mitchell county," was recorded in the Colorado Record for twenty-five years ago, September 1, 1910.

News of Mr. Ellwood's death at his home in DeKalb, Illinois, had been received here by D. N. Arnett, manager of the Ellwood interests in West Texas. Mrs. Ellwood had died in July. More than one quarter of the area of Mitchell county was said to belong to him. He held patents to the Ellwood wire fence, which in itself had made him a very rich man.

Colorado schools were to open on September 19. The fact that "the distance of our public schools from the business part of town makes it almost prohibitive for many to attend the opening exercises" was given as one of the reasons for holding the opening exercises in the union tabernacle. A new superintendent, Prof. Hart, was to be in charge.

Chester Thomas had been "disfigured for the past week" from the effects of a horse kick just under the jaw. N. W. Plaster, father of Ben Plaster, had gone on a visit to Douglas, Arizona. Frank Lupton was celebrating the addition of a fine girl to his "household effects."

Miss Eleanor Coleman had gone to Decatur, Ga., to re-enter Agnes Scott college. Charles Adams, called one of Colorado's "merchant princes," had returned from market. Edward B. Mersereau, son of J. E. Mersereau, had stopped to visit his father here while going to Midland to re-assume his duties of professor of German and French in the Midland College.

Van King and W. L. Davis had been doing building work at Burnham. Hattie Scott, Ethel Stokes, Natalie Smith, Minnie Dupree, Minnie, Margaret, and Josephine Ham-ner had gone to Stanton to enter the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy. A "moving day" had occurred for Colorado doctors. Doctors Wilbur Dupree and T. C. Merrill had moved to the new Dulaney building. Dr. N. J. Phenix had moved to the offices formerly occupied by Dr. Ratliff and Dr. Dupree. Dr. Ratliff had moved to Dr. Dupree's old office.

Listed on the B. Y. P. U. program for that week were Mabel Smith, C. A. Pierce, Lula Caldwell, Willie Caldwell, T. L. Hamilton, G. D. Adams, and Walter H. Owens. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greene were the parents of a baby girl, and the "proud father" was said to be "trying to move his entire stock of infantile furniture and baby paraphernalia up to his home."

Prof. Gowan Jones, Colorado High school principal, was here ready to take up his duties. Mrs. Frank Smith, who had been with Mr. Smith in Garden City, was here for a visit. Gardner Harness had bought the insurance business of Sims & Sims.

Miss Zilpha Fox was to be his office assistant. Ethel Majors was home from a California visit. Miss Juliet Looney had returned to school at Dallas. Down at Spade, Prof. T. H. Halbert of the Herbert school, had conducted Sunday night prayer meeting. Earnest Burdine of Anson, Texas, had been a guest in the Welch home at Spade. L. L. Welch and daughters, Lizzie, Stella, and Virgie, had been in Colorado shopping on Friday.

J. P. Majors and his son, Oscar, had gone to eastern markets. Ed Jones had been to Toyah on a prospecting trip. The opera house, bulletin, published by G. L. Wallace, manager, announced road show attractions through October, November, and December.

PLANTING TIME IS HERE FOR FALL GARDENS

COLLEGE STATION.—Most of the success of the fall garden depends on preparing the soil correctly, according to J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist.

"All weeds and vegetation must be removed before planting," Rosborough said, "or the soil will dry out quickly and possibly carry diseases." The Extension horticulturist recommended a heavy application of summer manure before plowing is started. He explained that summer manure, which has no acids or burning ingredients, is used to increase the water holding capacity and to prevent the soil from becoming hard and crusted following the fall rains.

He recommended that as soon as the soil is plowed, it should be pulverized. "Select vegetables that are resistant to heat to plant in the fall garden from the last of August to the first half of September," Rosborough continued, "such as onion sets, Swiss chard, tender green, Irish potatoes, carrots, beets and collards. Later, plant such vegetables as lettuce, radishes, mustard, spinach, and cabbage which will withstand cold weather. Bush beans will grow unless the weather turns too cold."

He went on to say that in many gardens, hardy vegetables such as pepper, egg plant, okra and tomatoes, which have survived the summer heat and are ready to produce a fall crop, should be fertilized. In sandy soils, the addition of one to two tablespoons per plant of 6-12-6 commercial fertilizer will be beneficial. "Wise gardeners do not stake all in a fall garden by just planting a turnip patch," he said, "but they plant other vegetables such as Swiss chard, tender green, louse proof turnips and

SOUTHERN TUBERCULOSIS ASSN. TO MEET IN HOUSTON

The doors will be thrown open to the general public at the annual conference of the Southern Tuberculosis Association at Houston on September 16, 17 and 18. Dr. Elva A. Wright, State President of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, in charge of arrangements, announced this week.

Unlike previous assemblies, when authorities and leaders in the white plague warfare closeted themselves in technical and scientific discussions, the association is extending invitation to the general public to sit in on sessions in which talks will be comprehensible to the man on the street, Doctor Wright said.

"Urgent invitation is being extended particularly to health workers in various fields, social workers, civic workers and others to whom tuberculosis looms as a drastic problem even though they may not be directly concerned in fighting it," Dr. Wright said.

"We are taking cognizance of the fact that in launching a new era of tuberculosis warfare at the turn of a quarter-century of relentless crusading, we must rely considerably upon co-operation from the public and upon a thorough educational campaign among the population at large."

Two section programs will be conducted simultaneously at the convention. The medical section will deal with latest findings in application of scientific methods, and a sociological division will deal with social aspects of the tuberculosis problem.

There are 81 Georgia towns that use "ville" with their names.

Iced punch and cake were served to Mrs. P. K. Howell, Mrs. T. W. Daughtrey, Mrs. J. C. Shepherd, Mrs. J. C. Franklin, Mrs. L. M. Jones, and Miss Emma Gunter, agent.

At the next meeting, which is September 18 with Mrs. G. M. Howell, the women will make a work comfort and all women of the community are invited to be guests.

Four Producers In Howard County Were Brought In During Week Ending Sunday

BIG SPRING.—Four Howard County wells, three in the Dodge-Denman field, the other in the Settles pool, were completed last week for total daily potential production of 3,296 barrels, the greatest in any county in West Texas during the period. One test, Continental No. 13-A Settles, reached the pay.

Largest of the four completed producers was Bond Oil Corporation No. 5 Rhotan in the Dodge-Denman area, which flowed 1,061 barrels in 24 hours at 2,750 feet. It topped pay at 2,565 feet and was shot. Location is 990 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 4, block 30, township 18 south, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey. Bond No. 6 Rhotan had drilled to 2,200 feet in line. No. 4 Rhotan was shut down at 2,394 feet in line.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 17 Dodge, 330 feet from the north line and 990 feet from the west line of section 3, block 30, pumped at the rate of 743 barrels daily for completion at 2,774 feet, following a shot. Last rites for Huey P. Long, U. S. Senator from Louisiana and popularly known as the Kingfish, were held in the State capitol building at Baton Rouge, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Burial was to follow in a grave on the State house grounds.

DORN GIRL UNCONSCIOUS 2 HOURS SUNDAY NIGHT FROM LIGHTNING SHOCK

Lightning shock during Sunday night's heavy rain rendered Dorothy Daughtrey of the Dorn community unconscious for over two hours.

Dorothy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Daughtrey, apparently suffered no ill after-effects from the shock, except a severe soreness all over her body the next morning. She was able to attend school here this week.

She suffered the shock when she started to get back in bed after closing her window during the downpour of rain about 11 o'clock. Her muscles became rigid and her jaws locked. Although her eyes were open at times, she remembered nothing of what had occurred after the shock passed. Attending physicians said her condition was undoubtedly due to lightning shock.

NEGRO WPA TEACHER RETURNS FROM SCHOOL

By Ethel Seals
I desire to express my gratitude for a four weeks course given me in Prairie View State college, Prairie View, Texas, as a part of the WPA program. This course consisted of a Live-at-Home program and all training pointed toward economical way of doing so.

Six lectures of one hour each were given each day by well informed lecturers, (all white), and each in different words taught same principles of Psychology, Personality and Social Adjustment to the present day environment.

Courses were given in training for teaching in CCC camps, Poultry, Feeding and Mixture of feed for stock, preparation and proportioning menus to most economical and healthful advantages, household art for converting castoffs about the home into usable necessities, clothing, remodeling and renovating used clothes and organization and methods of instilling good citizenship into our people with hopes of blotting out illiteracy thus making our communities safer.

There were five hundred Negro teachers of adult classes and each returned to their various communities determined to be more useful.

I am asking the help of our good white citizens to carry this part of the project to a success.

Welding

... the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

... and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco ...

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish.

When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

Ethiopia-Italian Quarrel Continues Hold On World Interest As War Clouds Watched

The latest move of Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia (who numbers among his myriad titles those of "King of Kings" and "Lion of Judah") to save his little country from Italian domination, marks one of the most dramatic and unexpected episodes in the long history of diplomatic intrigue.

Selassie's only remaining hope for maintaining Ethiopian sovereignty lies in enlisting the aid of major powers—especially Great Britain and the United States. For some months the Emperor has striven, through high sounding appeals based on general principles of liberty and justice, to bring Anglo-America actively to his side. He has failed almost 100 per cent—Whitehall and Washington are polite, vague and definitely non-cooperative. England has sent and is sending large groups of warships, planes and soldiers to her bases at Malta and the Suez Canal, and is calling on the League of Nations to step in—but she has shown no inclination to make the British lion roar in behalf of other powers. American policy, as indicated by the recently passed neutrality bill, is one of complete isolation.

As a result, smooth, urban Selassie decided to turn England and America into Ethiopian allies whether they liked it or not. So he did the unprecedented. Working through Francis M. Bickett, a mysterious British promoter, he decided more than half of his empire to Anglo-American interests for exploitation and development. The area decided includes about 150,000 square miles—more than the combined areas of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa—and parts of it are supposed to be incredibly rich in petroleum and other mineral resources. The deed is to run for 75 years, and gives the charterees unlimited authority to exploit mineral resources and otherwise develop the country. Holders of the charter are said to consist of British interests and an American corporation controlled by one of the Standard Oil companies. Which Standard Oil company is involved, if any, is not yet known—Standard Oil of New Jersey, principal member of the group, denied that it was any party to the deal.

Next day diplomatic response to this astounding maneuver of Selassie's was one of amazement, wonder, excitement. Foreign diplomats, barring the Italians, at first thought that Selassie had pulled a fast one on Rome that would virtually balk Mussolini's designs. Later events proved otherwise. Mussolini, visibly enraged, made a speech saying Italy would not and could not turn back, ordered sensational preparations for war, threatened interfering nations with a taste of Italy's mailed fist. And the British foreign office thrust a politely worded verbal spear into Ethiopian hopes when it "advised" Selassie to withhold concessions, and said that negotiations between British, French and Italian governments, which have a treaty concerning African rights, would be necessary before such a transaction could be carried out. The American state department was cold and non-committal—but Secretary Hull made it clear that this government has no intention of becoming involved in foreign troubles because of adventuring American capital. American editorial response to the deal was one of anger and dismay—many editors said that the government should completely disavow responsibility for the commercial interests involved, should state definitely that it couldn't be pulled into war or lesser disputes because of such financial machinations.

Irrespective of that, Selassie's move has immensely complicated the whole Italian-Ethiopian embroglio. Also, it has apparently eliminated whatever small chance remained for peace—Mussolini is going ahead, and war is certain as soon as the rainy season ends next month. Italian transport after Italian transport is leaving for Italian Somaliland, bordering Ethiopia, stuffed to the guards with troops, supplies and munitions. The powder keg is ready, the fuse is lit—and the world waits for the result in fright and wonder.

LIBERTY—Better than a bale of cotton per acre is the yield that Andrew Bell of Liberty county boasts of this year. Also, his corn yield averages 50 bushels to an acre. Mr. Bell attributes his success to thorough cultivation and use of commercial fertilizer.

FARM FACTS

GEORGE WEST—Two trench silos have just been filled with red-top cane by Reeves Brown of Booth community in Live Oak county.

Each of Mr. Brown's silos will hold 350 tons of feed. Mr. Brown estimates his land will produce 10 tons of green feed per acre. Feeding at the rate of 35 pounds a day per head of livestock, one acre will produce enough feed to last one animal 571 days.

"I have used these same silos for the past 12 years and found that more feed value is obtained by using silos, than by feeding dry feed," Brown stated.

STEPHENVILLE—"Alfalfa won't grow here," is a statement often heard in Erath county, according to Mark Buckingham, county agricultural agent.

"Yet E. W. Bradley sowed four acres to alfalfa late in April in 1934 and although drought hit last summer, he harvested three cuttings this year totaling more than seven tons," Buckingham said.

Another man in this county, O. O. Gain, seeded 10 acres to alfalfa in the spring of 1933. This year he has harvested twenty-two and one-half tons from three cuttings and has a growth at present some 10 inches high. He plans to thresh seed from the next cutting.

WELLINGTON—"There is a use for everything, even rusty nails," said Mrs. John Jones, bedroom demonstrator of North Wellington Home Demonstration Club in Collingsworth county.

She dyed some scraps of ratine in the water where one-half gallon of rusty nails had been boiled.

The light brown ratine was used to make slip covers for the cushions of wicker chairs. In order to give a tailored appearance to the cushions a heavy cord was stitched around the boxing. "The harmonizing light cushions make the bedroom look light and cool for summer time," Mrs. Jones commented.

OLTON—Eight out of 12 grape vine cuttings set out in a permanent location last winter by Mrs. Ray Bartee, farm-food supply demonstrator of the Center Home Demonstration Club of Lamb county, have survived and are growing.

Mrs. Bartee says that she took the cuttings from a neighbor's vines, turned them up-side down in a hole deep enough to cover them, covered the cuttings with dirt and kept them moist for several weeks.

The cuttings were then taken up, turned over and set out with their buds upright.

SAN AUGUSTINE—"I have four gallons of cucumbers in brine curing now, and have started four gallons more," said Mrs. A. N. Sowell, farm-food supply demonstrator for Norwood Home Demonstration Club of San Augustine county.

"The packing brine preserves the cucumbers so that there is no waste or loss," she explained, "and they may be used at any time later for pickles."

INITIAL ENROLLMENT LARGEST IN SCHOOLS' HISTORY

STUDENT BODY NUMBERING NEAR 1,300 ENROLLED AS TERM IS OPENED MONDAY

Gain Over Last Year Totals 245; Two Departments, Teachers Added

Enrollment in Colorado schools Wednesday noon had reached 1,286, highest recorded in history of the system for first week of the term. Superintendent J. E. Watson advanced the belief that additional students would report before end of the week. Last year enrollment at that time was 1,041. The increase is 245.

Two new departments have been added to the school curriculum during this week, Watson announced. One of the departments is that of public school music with Mrs. Chas. Mooser in charge. The other is band department with R. P. Rose directing. The latter was suspended five years ago. Credits for graduation are to be given in each of the new divisions.

In order to care for class room needs three additional teachers have been employed. Juan Mason of Abilene, employed to teach junior high, and the other two mentioned above include the faculty additions.

Music is to be featured in all of the schools with competent faculty members in charge, Watson said. In order to meet demands of the commercial vocational department six new typewriters are being installed.

MAY ELECTROCUTED FOR DEATH JACK STURDIVANT

W. D. May, former Rusk county resident, went to his death in the electric chair at Huntsville prison early Friday morning for his part in the slaying of Jack Sturdivant, former Mitchell county resident, and two other men near Handley in 1933. O. D. Stevens, another man convicted in the triple slaying, is awaiting electrocution.

MERKET GINS IN SHAPE FOR THIS COTTON YEAR

The gin plants of Jim Merket at China Grove and Valley View are in excellent condition for the new season, soon to open, Mr. Merket stated when seen in Colorado Friday. Merket was here to receive office supplies for his gins, recently completed from press of the Whipkey Printing Company.

TEXAS LEADER DIES

Rains And Weevils Unite To Take Toll From South's Crop

While cotton producers in the Colorado territory were pondering extent of damage that might entail to their cotton crops as sequel to continued rains, farmers in many parts of the South were, too, taking stock of toll exacted by similar conditions. Weevils in some of the older cotton growing sections were in evidence, a report received Tuesday morning by this newspaper outlined.

Cotton was reported opening rapidly in many parts of the country with picking becoming a general order of the day. Open cotton was damaged in other sections, due to heavy rains.

CHOICE HONEY DONATED TO THE RECORD FORCE

Out of consideration by H. L. Baker, farmer of near town, each employee at The Record office has been feasting on honey during the past few days. Baker called at the office Friday afternoon to leave a small jar of the luscious commodity complimentary with the men. He has a large apiary on his place from which honey of unusually good quality is produced.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK NEVER BETTER, LORAIN BANKERS AND MERCHANTS DECLARE

Crop And Range Conditions Brings Smiles To Public In East Mitchell

The outlook for continued progress ahead was never better in the Loraine section, bankers, merchants and other citizens of that community center told a representative of The Record Saturday afternoon.

"Farmers of this territory are in better shape than for several years and they are on the eve of harvesting one of the best crops of cotton and feed that Loraine territory has produced in a long time," was statement by J. C. Hall, first vice president of the First State bank.

R. K. Thornhill, who with Mrs. Thornhill operates two popular retail stores there and is closing plans for opening a third in Sweetwater, spoke through a broad smile as he recounted the outlook. He was impressed with the sense of security that pervaded the citizenship.

T. R. Bennett, manager of the Loraine Mercantile Company; Roy Edwards, pioneer Loraine lumber dealer; J. B. Mahon, grocer; Bill and Arlie Martin and George Hutchins, druggists, were other business men to support the proposition that better times were in store for farmers, ranchers, merchants and laborers of Loraine and that part of the State.

Some of the farmers seen in town were expressing concern over the continued rain, a condition, so they pointed out, that was lending every encouragement to propagation of the leaf worm. "We have had sufficient rain for feed and the grass, too," was statement by one of them.

MIKE SMITH BECOMES SWEETWATER MANAGER

Mike Smith, who has been employed by the Safeway stores in San Angelo for several months, has been transferred to Sweetwater and promoted to the position of manager.

RETAINING WALL PROJECT FOR RESIDENT DISTRICTS APPROVED AT WPA OFFICE

City Council To Proceed With $11,500 Improvement In Northeast Colorado

One of the project applications filed Thursday last week by the city has been given approval by Abilene district WPA officials and forwarded to Washington for final okay, Mayor J. A. Sadler stated to members of the city council Monday night. It has to do with flood control in one of the principal residence districts.

Accepting that the council planned proceeding with this project, on condition it is given final approval at Washington, the mayor said that he had instructed Jack Nolen to proceed with the work of compiling detailed blueprints and specifications for submission to the government. Application approved at Abilene was in skeleton form.

The project calls for building stone retaining walls and other facilities to control flood waters in North and Northeast Colorado. A total of 34 city blocks are affected. Engineer's estimate on cost of the improvement is given at $11,500.

The council, convened in regular session, devoted considerable time to discussion of the Lake Wulfica and street lighting projects, both of which are sought in applications recently filed with PWA state offices at Fort Worth. No action, however, affecting either was passed, pending developments as the petitions are given consideration by government agents.

E. R. Bibby, resident manager for the J. C. Penney Company store, was sworn in as a member of the council to fill vacancy caused by resignation of C. L. Gray. Bibby was administered the oath of office by City Attorney R. H. Ratliff. Official tabulation of the recent special election in which Bibby was the successful candidate showed that he polled 131 votes, Lay Powell 92 votes, Wash Whitaker 31 votes, Jack Richardson 12 votes and Ralph Lee and Bill Dorn 12 votes each.

Mrs. Robert Lucas and Miss Mona Morrow, representing the Beauticians club, met before the council to request that ordinances governing the profession be passed. The petition was catalogued for consideration during recessed meeting to be convened Friday night.

Final action by the council in fixing the municipal tax rate at $1 on the $100 valuation of property for the current year was passed as minutes of a previous council session at which the levy was set were read and given approval. The rate is unchanged from that of last year.

SOCIETY

Little 'Society' As We Know It Here Found In Washington By Mrs. Mahon

Society as we know it here, with its bridge and forty-two parties and its study clubs, does not exist among congressmen's wives in Washington—at least, Mrs. George Mahon found no trace of it during the eight months she has just spent in the capital with Congressman Mahon and their 8-year-old daughter, Daphne.

"What's social life in Washington really like?" she was asked one afternoon this week by an interviewer who found her in the sunny back bedroom of the Mahon home pondering over what to unpack and what not to. The Mahons will be leaving next month for the Philippines with Vice-President Garner and party, and soon after that will be heading for Washington again.

She demurred that she didn't "go in for social things" in Washington, but she was nevertheless accommodating in answering questions about life there as seen by a congressman's wife.

"In Washington, as everywhere else," she explained, "you can make society as important as you want it to be. The impression that a congressman's wife has an unceasing round of social duties is a false one."

She named as the only really required gestures of a new congressman's wife: To call at the White House and at the vice-president's home; to call on the wives of cabinet members; and to call on the wives of other congressmen from one's state who have been in Washington longer than one's husband. Of all these persons, only the congressmen's wives are expected to return the calls.

In calling at the White House, which is the first thing to be done, Mrs. Mahon explained that one simply drives up under the portico where an aide comes out and gets the cards. One does not get out. Three cards are left, one of the wife's and two of the husband's, all turned down on the right-hand corner. In calling on Mrs. Garner, wife of the vice-president, Mrs. Mahon and others left their cards at the desk in the Washington hotel, where the Garners live.

Mrs. Mahon made her calls on the older congressmen's wives in company with the other three new Texas women—Mrs. Maury Maverick of San Antonio, Mrs. Charles South of Coleman, and Mrs. Nat Patton of Crockett. All these calls were made on Tuesday, generally observed as "at home" day in Washington.

"At homes" of the wives of cabinet members, however, are held on Wednesdays. Two or more of the women usually arrange to be at home the same day, announcing in the newspapers their particular Wednesday at home.

At each of the cabinet "at homes" which Mrs. Mahon attended generous refreshments were served. They consisted of a variety of sandwiches, candies, and cookies, served buffet style, with friends of the hostess pouring tea and coffee. Mrs. Byrnes, wife of the House speaker, and Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of the postmaster general, had the most elaborate affairs.

The privilege of belonging to the Congressional club was Mrs. Mahon's but she did not take advantage of it while in Washington this time. This organization has its own clubhouse, meets each Friday afternoon for tea and a program, has luncheons for members and their guests on Thursdays, and dinner arrangements for members and their husbands and guests on Tuesday evenings.

Both Congressman and Mrs. Mahon found their most pleasant social interest in the Texas parties held monthly at the Mayflower hotel. Vice-president and Mrs. Garner were present at one of these gatherings.

Mrs. Mahon also enjoyed the monthly luncheons for the wives of Texas congressmen. The group numbers only fourteen, not counting the two senators' wives, Mrs. Morris Shepard and the late Mrs. Tom Connally. Mrs. Fritz Lanham was the first hostess to the group this year. Mrs. Garner was hostess once. Mrs. Mahon will take her turn after Christmas.

Enthusiastic liking for Mrs. Garner was expressed by Mrs. Mahon. "She is one of the most charming women I ever met—always knows you anywhere, always remembers your children's names and what they're doing. She really has a 'winning way'."

The Mahons attended President and Mrs. Roosevelt's reception for members of Congress and their wives on the evening of January 31. The refreshments, even as they might have been here, were sandwiches, punch, and cookies. This affair, as do all evening affairs, in Washington, began at 9 o'clock. Afternoon affairs are from 4 until 7.

Mrs. Mahon attended a garden party at the White House early in May. Mrs. C. C. Thompson of Colorado, who was visiting in Washington at that time in company with Mr. Thompson, attended as her guest.

One of the most enjoyable social affairs attended by the Mahons was an informal evening party for new members of Congress and their wives given by Mrs. Caroline O'Day, congresswoman at large from New York and a new member herself. Mrs. O'Day had all her guests "labelled" with placards on their backs and it was at this affair that pictures showing Mahon and others chatting informally were snapped and later published in this section.

Strangely enough, Washington is considered by the very discriminating to be a poor shopping center. To find this so is usually a shock to visitors, Mrs. Mahon says. Perhaps the fact that most congressmen feel constrained to spend much of their income in their own district and that they and their families come to Washington at off-buying seasons make the capital a poor selling center. People who live there all the time do not on shopping in New York.

"But I never had any trouble finding what I wanted," Mrs. Mahon smiled, "I'm not that hard to please."

The question, "Is Washington a church-going place?" brought the emphatic reply, "It certainly is. If you want to go to church in Washington you have to be there early. Although we're Methodist, George and I did a lot of visiting in other churches while in Washington. We especially enjoyed hearing Dr. Sizoo, a native Hollander who preaches in the Presbyterian church which Abraham Lincoln attended. Lincoln's pew there is roped off and is always vacant."

Playing the role of "guide" to visitors in the capital was one which Mrs. Mahon thoroughly enjoyed, she says, after she had learned her own way about. Showing visitors the capital's points of interest is considered one of the duties of congressmen's wives.

After Mrs. Mahon had said that bridge is played very seldom and forty-two never among the people with whom she was brought in contact she was asked, "What is the favorite social pastime, then."

All during the week special prices are to obtain on blanket and quilt work. Bundles will be called for and delivered and the same outstanding service that has ever been demanded at the plant will be reflected in every piece of bed covering handled, Lee declared. ## Missing Woman Is Sought In Rough Area Near Pecos

Men on horseback and on foot, swimmers and even an airplane have been searching this week in an isolated spot along the Pecos river near Imperial, Texas, for the body of a woman believed to have been Miss Ruby McDermott of El Paso. Search was prompted by the discovery last Friday near the river of a deserted automobile, guarded only by a half-starved dog. Some bits of women's wearing apparel were found in the car. The dog ran to the river's edge and back again and howled mournfully. Sheriff Will Rooney of Fort Stockton headed a searching party but no trace of the woman had been found at last reports reaching Pecos. Miss McDermott left El Paso several weeks ago in an automobile whose license number tallied with that found. E. B. Borron, president of the Red Bluff district, near whose farm the discovery was made, reported the incident in Pecos.

FUNCTIONS OF A GOOD NEWSPAPER ESSENTIAL TO CIVILIZATION

A little learning is a dangerous thing. Drink deep or touch not the Pegasus Spring.

A good newspaper does have functions and duties incumbent upon it, which because of its being a medium of communication of news of all sorts it must perform if it would be faithful to the work that it is committed to. No other newspaper is worthy of the confidence and support of the public.

Importance to Community and State. Only those who have given the subject serious and intelligent thought have anything like an adequate conception of the necessity, mission and importance of a good newspaper to the community and State in which it is published.

Such a publication not only reflects the character of those who control it and prepare it for the public, but it manifests to a marked degree the character of the people who for any considerable time have been its patrons.

The type, and to a large extent the character, of the city or town can be judged by one who has never seen it by its leading newspaper. We believe this can be realized by reflecting as to what a stranger's opinion of Colorado would be after having read a few copies of The Record.

Gibbon says that "history is but a record of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind." That is only a part of history, and it is not the only kind of history a good newspaper records. It must be realized, too, that a good newspaper is the historian of the present age, recording faithfully and impartially the acts, discoveries and heroic achievements of mankind as well as their "crimes, follies and misfortunes."

Men think about what they read and therefore much in accordance with the information received. Thought is the product of mind and created of the material mind consumes. Naturally the character of mind and the product of its activity, thinking, must come of what the mind dwells upon.

Since the newspaper of today is read more than anything else, its contents and the manner of their presentation have much to do with the thought of the people, and their thought has all to do with their aims and activities, upon which rest their welfare, prosperity and happiness.

The newspaper supplies some fully developed thoughts, some partially developed, and some in the crude state, to be fashioned according to the desire and mental capacity of its readers. One's moral gravitation is the result of his thought.

Thus it is found that the proper conduct of a newspaper is a sacred trust because it has much to do with the welfare of the people through their thought processes. It is not difficult for the thoughtful person to see that the newspaper's work is one of transcendent importance, and public...

Be Loyal To Parents, Self And School Mahon's Message To Mitchell Students

The school student who would make proper use of opportunity for building character and citizenship is that boy and girl who ever remains loyal to their parents, themselves and their school. Congressman George Mahon declared Monday morning in a message to the several hundred youths who are during this month returning to take up their work in the class room.

Mr. Mahon was speaking on program at opening of the Spade school but couched his address in general terms to apply to boys and girls of the other more than twenty such institutions of the county. He was presented by R. B. Hood, superintendent of the school, who offered strong tribute to the former Mitchell county farm boy who today is reckoned as among the leaders in National affairs.

"I am going to ask that the boys and girls of Mitchell county be true to their parents and to their school during the days that are to follow than they have ever been," Mr. Mahon said. "You have opportunities today that your parents never realized and I am going to request that you make use of them in the building of strong character and citizenship."

The speaker urged serious consideration of the principles of American traditions as he pointed to a large picture of George Washington hanging on wall of the school auditorium. "I noted a moment ago that as you sang 'America' you did not say 'George Mahon's country,' no some other person's country, but that you sang in patriotic tribute to 'My Country.' This is your country of which I accept that every boy and girl of this county will evidence strong pride."

The day when Mahon was graduated from Simmons college at Abilene was recalled by Russell Hood, farmer of the Spade community. "I first met Mr. Mahon at Simmons college as he and other students came to receive their diplomas of graduation from that institution," Mr. Hood recalled. "There was an oratorical contest in which five speakers were entered. The other four spoke first and I could not see how that last contestant could get anywhere, because those preceding him had given impressive talks."

But in that I was mistaken, George Mahon came to the platform to deliver his address and swept that gathering by his sincerity and his ability. He won the watch and as I have observed during the days to follow has ever won the commendation of the people who believe in good citizenship and the support of those principles that are high and holy."

Another speaker recounted some of the high spots in Mahon's life, offering the proposition that farm boys and girls in this county today have opportunities the equal to those taken advantage of by Congressman Mahon as he attended school near Lorraine.

"Be guided by an indomitable ambition to be honest with yourself and your fellow man as you tackle the problems of life and there is no reason why that you, too, should not develop into a life of usefulness," was the suggestion offered in conclusion.

Labor Heads See Best Business In Past Five Years

WASHINGTON.—The best Fall business since 1930 was forecast today by the American Federation of Labor.
At the same time the federation, in its monthly business survey, told industry that labor must share in increased earnings to make permanent any gain.
"After a five months waiting period, business was started strongly upward again," the survey said.
"Prospects for the remaining months of 1935 are brighter for the business executive; prospective gains in business must be shared with workers in the form of jobs and wage increases if we are to have a balanced and permanent recovery."
"The last four months of 1935 may well bring the highest level of industrial operations and earnings for any similar period since 1930."
"The present upswing is the healthiest thus far; it is the first due to Government spending or currency action, the first which seems due chiefly to inherent economic strength."
"Dividend payments in August exceeded last year by $11,000,000, or 4 per cent; the steel industry is out of the red for the first time since 1930."
"With these signs of increased industrial earnings, much depends on the workers making a new drive now for higher income."

A revival of the lagging heavy industries, the survey said, "should mean more jobs where unemployment has been particularly severe."
Farm machinery orders were reported up 75 per cent—the first half of the year. Auto sales increased by 599,000 cars. Machine tool orders were up 47 per cent. Reports showed the auto industry was spending $100,000,000 on new production equipment, and the steel industry $130,000,000.
Nevertheless, the federation found that 11,000,000 workers still were unemployed, adding "we can not expect increasing production alone to put the unemployed back to work in industry."
"Work hours must be progressively shortened to put the unemployed to work; wages must be raised, every gain made by workers in the months just ahead will safeguard the future."
The depression resulted, the federation said, from insufficient work-income from 1923 to 1929.
"Production was checked by a shortage of worker-buying power. Industrial earnings not paid out in wages were instead dissipated on the stock market."
"Even after NRA gains, the survey found, income of workers in basic industries "was scarcely more than half the 1929 volume."
"To restore these jobs and wage cuts," it concluded, "is America's greatest problem. It is disquieting to find that gains in employment are by no means keeping pace with gains in production as industry recovers."

Mrs. J. Fred Hunter and daughter, Katherine, of Dallas have been guests this week of Mrs. Harry Ragan and Mrs. J. B. Wilkes in the Ragan home.

PEAS WILL BE BOTH SHELLED AND CANNED AT RELIEF CANNERY

Peas which are brought to the Mitchell county relief cannery for canning henceforward will be both shelled and canned at the plant, according to announcement of W. R. Charters, manager of the plant.

Disappointment Is Due Many Who Are Expecting Pension

AUSTIN.—How many Texans will receive an old-age pension under the constitutional amendment recently adopted, how much will it be and where will the money come from? These questions are dividing interest with liquor regulation among members of the legislature arriving for special session beginning Sept. 16 despite the fact Governor Allred as yet has not submitted the subject of pension.

Judging from queries to all official sources and widespread newspaper comment, they are even more absorbing to "old folks" by thousands who wish to get on the rolls and taxpayers who will have to foot the bill. While the specific answers depend on factors not clarified, the opinion of some students of the problem is that, if the experience of other states is applied in Texas, many persons expecting a pension merely because they are 65 years old are due a big surprise.

There are restrictions, rather liberal, by the federal social security act, restrictions in the amendment and, most important of all, other restrictions likely to be adopted by the legislature. They promise to cut the total on the pension roll far below the estimated 283,199 persons 65 years and older in Texas at present. Under the security act, any citizen of the United States 65 years old and not an inmate of a public institution may be eligible, insofar as the federal government is concerned, if a state plan meeting certain administrative specifications is adopted.

Except for these limitations, however, and an additional one that a person cannot be denied residence on grounds of insufficient residence if he has lived in a state for one year immediately preceding his application and for any five years out of the nine preceding it, states are not prevented from imposing other eligibility requirements.

Up to 1934, 29 states and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii had old-age pension laws under which only 200,000 were receiving assistance. Under the new federal statute many laws were being liberalized and thousands made eligible.

A report of the United States senate financing committee showed that most of the states prohibited pensions to persons with relatives liable and able to support them, who were inmates of a jail or an asylum, who disposed of property to obtain a pension, or who were habitual tramps, vagrants or beggars.

County Farm Agent Invites Farmers, Ranchers To Attend Spur 'Field Day'

Ben J. Baskin, county farm agent, Tuesday morning addressed the following open letter to farmers, ranchers and other interested citizens relative to annual "Field Day" to be conducted at the Spur Experiment Station on Friday, September 20:

An All-West Texas Field Day at the Spur Experiment Station has been set for Friday, September 20. It promises to be one of the most outstanding agricultural events ever held in the western part of the State. Delegations headed by county agricultural agents and vocational agricultural teachers from over 40 counties have already made plans to attend. There will be no speechmaking but the results of experiments conducted at the Texas stations will be discussed by the best authorities in the State. The chief topics for observation and discussion will be:

(1) Silos—10:30 a. m. until noon. Demonstrations in filling silos and discussions in filling silos and discussions in filling silos will be held by specialists from the Extension Service Staff, College Station, and will range from the use of the most simple home-made slide in cutting the feed and shingling the whole plant in the silo, a practice within the reach of every farmer in Texas, to the use of the most modern machinery where the plant is never touched by the human hand. Farm machinery distributors will have an exhibit, and in operation in the field a complete line of machinery for the making of silage.

Noon until 1:00 p. m.—Something to eat and drink—Not much.

(2) 1:00 p. m. until 2:00 p. m.—Cattle Feeding Experiments. Viewing the cattle that have been on test since December 3, a period of 300 days and the results of experiments conducted at the Spur station. A series of new studies that are of interest not only to the cattle feeder but of tremendous importance to cotton farmers and oil-mill feeders.

A new outlet for the cotton farmers products. A reduction of the risk element in oil-mill feeding. A vitamin problem discovered and solved. These discussions will be led by scientists from the Experiment Station Staff at College Station who will also discuss the relation of these studies to defective eyesight in the human race.

(3) 2:00 p. m. until 3:00 p. m.—Soil and Water Conservation. A review of an exhaustive series of experiments pertaining to drought evasion. The old and serious problem of having water for cotton and feed crops when the crop needs it. Torrential rains that sent creeks and rivers on a rampage during May and June over most of the State were subdued and stored in the soils at the Spur Station and sent crops on a rampage in July and August. Just another case of saving up for the proverbial "Dry Day!" The scorching heat of mid-summer. In the pasture studies instead of making "Two blades of grass grow where one grew before" it has been determined that three blades of grass can be made to grow where only one grew before. Just a series of simple, but illuminating, studies pertaining to water and soil conservation.

We think that the day will be a profitable one for all who attend. You are invited. Friday, September 20.

Fortunately, new and scientifically correct reading and study lamps have been designed to provide just the right amount of glareless light for students and for others who read or sew. Protect the eyesight of your family with these modern lamps that meet the Better Sight requirements as explained in the cut-away sketch.
