

Colorful Pageant To Depict Mitchell County Traditions

Centennial 'Home-Coming' Be Staged Aug. 20-22; Civic Clubs Unite In Plans For Historic Celebration Here

Staging a colorful pageant depicting the historic traditions of Mitchell county and this section of West Texas will be this county's contribution to observance of the Texas Centennial. Dates for the celebration, to be known as "The Mitchell County Centennial Home Coming," have been set for August 20, 21 and 22.

Tentative plans for the jubilee were mapped at conference of county centennial commission members and officials of the several civic and study clubs during meeting held Tuesday evening at the Colorado hotel. The meeting was called by Mrs. J. G. Merritt, chairman of the commission.

Ruddick Park is to be scene for staging the historic pageant. Present plans call for building replica of the dugout in which Mitchell county was organized and the assembling of many other factors that were closely associated with early days of the county. The dugout was located near where now stands offices of the Texas Electric Service Company on Oak street.

School children of the county are to have an important part in the program. Mrs. Merritt outlined an address before the meeting. Winners in essay writing contests are to be entered for competition at Dallas, central location for the Texas Centennial. The several cooperating organizations are to appoint one judge each to direct this contest.

Pioneers who more than half a century ago came to Mitchell county to establish homes and contribute to foundation of the material progress since enjoyed, are to be honored during the three days celebration. Among the number will be citizens still living here and others who have through latter years maintained residence in other parts of the country.

"There are few counties of West Texas commanding a more colorful historic past than Mitchell and this being true we should strive with every resource to make this home-coming celebration one of the truly important features during the State's one hundred anniversary celebration."

HENNIN' AROUND AT MAX'S

It's going to be a "mannish" spring—you know that from reading the fashion magazines and the ads in the daily papers, of course. . . . But the fact comes right home to you—in a delightful way—when you see the new "mannish" things that have just come in at Max's. . . .

Time was, not so long ago, when women tried to go mannish in an entirely masculine way. . . . The results weren't so good. . . . Now they've learned that the thing to do is to go at this mannish business in their own feminine way—hence the masculine rage of this newest spring. . . .

Nothing could be more entirely feminine, nothing could be smarter, than the new mannish suits. . . . If you find the "feminine" in that statement hard to believe, you'll just have to go see for yourself. . . . All of Max's new ones are tailor-made with padded shoulders. . . . Some are fitted, both in the front and in the back, and others have the new Clark Gable and Fred Astaire action backs. . . .

One of the darker suits is a chalk stripe in Oxford gray. . . . The coat is just hip-length, as all the mannish coats are. . . . Cut semi-diagonally, the coat pockets are inserted, the two lower pockets running inward, the upper one running outward. . . . There's one button and there are deep lapels. . . . very flattering. . . .

Two shades of gray—the season's favored color, by the way—are combined to give a ravishing effect in another flannel suit. . . . True gray makes the fitted coat, a lighter, more whitish gray the deep, quilted lapels and collar. . . . Pockets are straight and set in. . . . The skirt with its inverted pleat is made of the lighter gray. . . .

Outside pockets—or maybe they're "patch" pockets—feature the coat of a light tan worsted suit. The coat's fitted, back and front. . . . A white gabardine suit also features patch pockets, and with them the Fred Astaire action back, fitted and held with a set-in belt. . . .

Thoughts of suits, of course, bring on thoughts of blouses—most of the blouses being really "shirts" this season. . . . Just to give some idea of how mannish they are, we'll tell you that Max received with them a supply of four-in-hand ties, just like Dad's and hubby's. . . .

The old joke about Dad hunting for his collar buttons will come home to daughter or wife, more than likely, when the feminine members of the family get to wearing these new shirts. . . . One of them, a pure silk one in navy blue, had red cuff links instead of buttons down the front. . . . This number is also featured by two deep tucks on each side of the button panel. . . .

Most of the shirts, however, are really shirts without any quibbling over tucks and such. . . . Especially attractive are the ones in white wash silk, with high soft collars "just like his," and with pockets and buttons like his. . . . Even these, though, have a concession to the feminine in that they come with either long or short sleeves. . . . This model is offered by Max in navy and dark brown, both in broadcloth and in linen. . . . Prices range 1.95 to 2.95. . . .

Harking back to the ties again—you'll have no pressing worries over them. . . . They come with a guaranteed "no winking" clause. . . . And they're soft, like the shirt collars, which really gives the women an edge on the men—for once. . . . Because most of the men, poor things, must go on wearing starched ones. . . .

Downright feminine in their masculinity (does that make sense?) are the new white taffeta blouses on the collars to give you that fresh and girlish look, all of them feature large novelty-shaped buttons that give them a smartness no words can describe. . . .

Blind as we were supposed to be to everything but the "mannish" on our hennin' trip this week, we balked for just one look at the table where the new BOUCLE KNIT SUITS are displayed. . . . The very names of their colors are lovely—take "Just rose" and "Mexican turquoise," for instance. . . . The sweaters are all knitted with novelty open stitches—lacy looking, they are—and the skirts are plain. . . .

Marching in a double row from the neckline diagonally across the front to the belt line, crocheted buttons give one dust-rose suit an original touch. . . . Crystal ornaments (they're really clear celluloid, but who cares?) at the neck and belt fastening give distinction to a navy blue knit that has a turned back V-collar and a deep fringed jabot. . . . These suits run 11.50 to 14.50. . . .

And now for hats to go with the new mannish outfit. . . . Some are felt, some are crepe, and some are lastex (you know, that rather stretchy looking material that resembles a novelty weave crepe). . . . But whatever they're made of, they all bear that unmistakably mannish look. . . .

True, an off-the-face hat would make any man look like a cross between a simoleon and a sot. . . . But women were created, we guess, to get by with wearing the very things that would make a man look that way. . . . Seriously, they say that the off-the-face hats are really too fetching for words with the mannish suits. . . .

If smartness is your long suit, the flat felt sailors (grey, navy blue, tan, brown) with their rolled-edge brims are what you're looking for. . . . All the hats, whether they go up off the face or down over one eye or simply tilt precariously on one side of the head, are severely tailored. . . . It's the thing. . . . You'll really love the linen ones, too. . . .

Absolutely "on the square" are many of the new shoes, designed especially to fit in with the mannish mode. . . . You've read about the new square heels and the square toes, of course. . . . "Saddletan," the darker "loggacatan" and "chamois" are combined with white in nearly all the new models. . . . Wide straps with large brass buckles are popular. . . . Some of the straps are really for use, others are built into the shoe, pump style. . . . Incidentally, the toes that aren't square this year are much more rounded than last. . . .

Swinging along, all so smart and spring-like, in your new mannish suit and the tailored hat and the squarish shoes, you'll want a purse that not only "fits in" but "adds to" . . . The gleaming new patent leather ones, in all shapes and nearly all sizes, will catch many an eye. . . . Something new that you'll really like because purses have long really needed them are the hand rings that many of the purses have at their tops, or at one corner. . . . Most of the rings, like the new fastenings, are in gold. . . .

WANTED

Local business man to handle one of General Motors' fastest selling lines of cars

I am authorized by the Pontiac Motor Company to offer some able, ambitious, and far-sighted man in Colorado—the opportunity to become the local dealer for the big, economical, low-priced, fast-selling Pontiac Sixes and Eights.

The Pontiac Motor Company today is one of the largest producers of cars in the General Motors Corporation. Pontiac cars are priced from $615 to $855 and enable a dealer to operate in the low-price field where 92 per cent of all automobiles were sold last year. This is an opportunity that seldom occurs and it is exceptionally valuable because a General Motors franchise is involved—and General Motors products are handled by the largest group of satisfied dealers in the automotive industry.

Many Pontiac dealers in towns the size of Colorado doubled and tripled their business during 1935. Sales of the 1936 models have shown a phenomenal increase over the corresponding months of a year ago—proving that men who take the franchise of a popular low-priced car at the right time can look forward to an expanding business and steadily increasing profits.

The 1936 Pontiac line has scores of features which make them exceedingly easy to sell. It includes two lines of sixes and a line of eights. The Pontiac is everywhere recognized as the most beautiful thing on wheels and the most economical car of its size and weight on the road today.

Pontiac features include the finest hydraulic brakes in use today (triple-sealed), solid steel "Turret-Top" Bodies by Fisher, enclosed Knee-Action, Fisher No-Draft Ventilation, Silver-Alloy Bearings, full pressure Metered-Flow Lubrication, and scores of others that have a direct appeal to buyers. Its reputation for dependability is now recognized as being unmatched.

The investment required to open a dealership is not large. Previous automobile experience (either as a salesman or a dealer) is desirable but not essential, since we are in a position to provide you with every assistance in establishing your business and helping you get started in selling cars on the right basis. Able men will recognize this as a genuine ground-floor opportunity of exceptional value. For further facts, communicate with

FFA BOYS MAKE UNUSUAL
PORK FINISHING RECORD

Two of Doyle Williams' Colorado High school FFA boys, Hall and Aubrey Franklin, recently established an unusual record in "finishing" pork for the market.

Figs to be fed by the two as a class project were weighed in at 54 and 44 pounds respectively on Dec. 1. On Feb. 3 they weighed 236 and 226 pounds, respectively, the average daily gain of each having been nearly 3 pounds.

During the feeding period each of the hogs consumed 75 pounds of tankage and cottonseed meal. Together they ate 690 pounds of grain, this low grain consumption being attributed to the fact that they were following beef cattle which were being fed out.

WOMEN IN THE STUDY CLUBS

Hesperian

Cowboy ballads sung by Mrs. Sam Wulfjen and true tales of cattle trails recounted by Mrs. E. H. Winn and others gave unusual interest to the "Texas Ranch Life" program of the Hesperian club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. J. G. Merritt, daughter of one of the county's pioneer ranchmen, was hostess at the home of her mother, Mrs. D. N. Arnett, who was an interested guest during the Hesperian program.

Famous Texas ranches were named during roll call. Mrs. Nat Thomas presided while Mrs. S. H. Millace told of "Cattle Trails—Their Part in Texas Literature."

The cowboy ballads were sung by Mrs. Sam Wulfjen without accompaniment. She sang "O Bury Me Not On the Lone Prairie," "When the Work's All Done This Fall," and others, closing with "We'll Be Rounding Up In Glory Bree and Bye."

In giving "Tales from Texas Cow Camps," Mrs. E. H. Winn recounted experiences of her father, the late J. D. Wulfjen, while riding Texas cattle trails during his years as an active ranchman when Colorado and Mitchell counties were still young.

All members of the club but two were present, Mrs. Otto Jones being at her husband's bedside in Denver, Colorado, and Mrs. Willis Shropshire being busy moving. During the business session notes of sympathy were reported sent to Mrs. Jones and to Mrs. Alice Lockhart, a former club member who is to undergo a serious major operation in Kentucky.

New Chevrolet Truck on Economy-Safety Run

Carrying a 10,000-lb. cement block from Los Angeles to New York, a 1 1/2-ton Chevrolet truck—one of the new 1936 models just introduced—demonstrated that safe driving means economy. Speed limits were observed in every community, with 35 m.p.h. the maximum on the open road. The 3511.4 miles were completed on two quarts of oil and 308.6 gallons of gasoline, at a cost of 01.6 cents per mile, or one-third of a cent per ton mile. The entire run was completed without any mechanical failure, repairs, or even a scratched fender. The illustrations show the test truck and features of the new 1936 models. Coupe type cabs with solid steel roof, full-floating rear axle, and full-length water jackets, are some of the improvements. In the lower right, Harry Hartz, who drove the cross-continent test, is seen beside the 10,000-lb. block. The test was officially observed by the American Automobile Association.

SOCIAL RESEARCH

We use our column this week in reproducing Dr. J. B. Cranfill's splendid article on "Social Research."

There is much discussion in some of our denominational papers on the "Social Research" question which is to come before the May meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention at St. Louis. It is our opinion that Southern Baptists can get along fine without a social service committee.

One was ingrowing toenails. I got mine when I was a fiddling and dancing cowboy. They came from tight boots. Later, I read the essay of Josh Billings on "Tite Boots," but I had them before Josh penned his thesis.

Now, what I want the committee to do is add to their activities a survey of ingrowing toenails. I want more than a survey: I want my toe-chop-pest bills paid. They burden me.

There's another problem that has given me great concern and that costs me unnecessary cash. I'm bald. Nearly all smart men are bald. I never saw Solomon, but it's dollars to doughnuts that Sol was bald, because he was the wisest man that ever lived; and, strictly in confidence, one of the biggest fools. He married 700 wives before the Queen of Sheba came and she was 701. When I go to a barber and he clips off the little fringes around the phenological organs of destructiveness, combativeness, philoprogenitiveness and amateness, he charges me just as much as he charges a man with hair. Something out to be done about it. The Potent Bureau should do it. Nobody so capable as they are. Not only have these fringes been trimmed, but through the long years I have been also trimmed, and barbers are to blame for it.

When I was a boy I had the heaviest shock of hair of any lad in Bastrop County. I had a cowlick. I asked my mother why she called it a cowlick. Smilingly, she said it was because the cow licked me there when I was an infant. I wish all youthful licks had stopped there, but they didn't. They went on down; centering about the seat of the pants. I had a spanking time of it. I never learned until I was almost a grownup youth what peach orchards were for. I thought at first they were to grow peaches in, but I learned afterwards they were for the production of peach tree limbs. I wish my mind should be helped to find the center of gravity. I didn't get anywhere, not even to the strato-sphere, and I think that the contemplated survey should drive a stake right down where it is and mark it, so that all of us will know when we become befuddled over it like I did.

In McGuffey's Reader I saw where it said, "The boy stood on the burning deck," and I wondered why he didn't sit down. Then I wondered why the deck was burning, and what kind of deck it was, whether it was a deck to play "Authors" with, or a regular old-fashioned deck like we cowboys used when we turned up jacks. Then again I wondered why the boy stayed there when he might have run off of it and jumped into the sea.

I don't see why a boy would stand on a burning deck and be petrified or cremated or whatever it is, when there is a chance for him to get away. Here's a field that has never been properly explored, and the survey should be extended to burning decks so that all the prospective Casabiancas might either sit down on the deck or jump out of the way of the fire, and thus save their puny little lives from destruction.

When I was a little boy they told me about Moses and the buldushes, and I queried the teacher thus: "Please tell me why the bull rushes." She blushed a little and said: "Well, you don't seem to understand." No, I answered, "maybe the bull rushes to get little Moses." She said, "No, you little dunce, there wasn't any bull." I asked then, "Why did you tell me the bull rushes?" She said: "You never will have any sense; that was the name of a bush or a plant that grew on the Nile." I asked again, "Well, what did the bull have to do with it?"

She started for the switch, and I opened my book and looked solemn and asked her how to spell the name of Moses, after which she quieted down. Now, my word here is that there should be a survey of cympling-headed boys, so that proper instruction would be given them without the embarrassment that came to me. I was naturally an inquiring pupil, and needed the help of a bureau.

After I grew to be a man and had a home of my own, we had a young man living with us named Frank Leslie. He had arms like winding blades. One morning at breakfast my good wife said: "Mr. Leslie, can you reach the butter?" He extended one of his long arms, and, with his bony finger touched the edge of the butter-plate, deliberately withdrew his arm, then as deliberately looked around at my wife and said: "Mrs. Cranfill, I just can't!" She said: "You loggerhead, you ought to be killed," or something like that and then we all laughed, and finally she got the butter. Now that was wrong. Men who act that way should be regulated by a bureau. There should be a survey of all these men who perpetrate wisecracks, and their heads should be cracked—if they are not already suffering with cerebral anemia, which probably they are.

There's so much to be done that I don't see how one bureau can do it all. Now you take the length of Pullman berths. I'm nearly six feet tall, and they just fit me, but I remember the time when a friend of mine, who is six feet seven, attempted to squeeze himself into a Pullman berth,

THE COLORADO THAT USED TO BE 25 Years Ago 15 Years Ago

"If it's buggies you want," read the advertisement of the Colorado Mercantile company in the Record for Friday, February 10, 1911. "We have them in car-load lots—all the latest styles in buggies, surreys, phaetons, hacks, etc. In fact, everything on wheels—will add flying machines later on."

Colorado was elated that week over securing for itself a summer teachers' normal, when Sweetwater and Big Spring were also bidding for the proposed teachers' gathering. It was estimated that 100 teachers would enroll in the school in June. Judge A. J. Coe had made Colorado's speech for the school.

J. Wright Moar, owner of the Colorado hotel, had the building remodeled by H. A. Hickerson. Colorado High school had won over Loraine in an athletic meet on the fair grounds to a barber and he clips off the little fringes around the phenological organs of destructiveness, combativeness, philoprogenitiveness and amateness, he charges me just as much as he charges a man with hair.

Over at Loraine there had been an accident. While going home John Blakeley's delivery horse became frightened and threw the Blakeley boy out, bruising him considerably. Willis Brown picked him up and took him to the doctor. C. P. Gary had returned from East Texas, where he had been with his ill daughter, Vera.

Mrs. W. W. Porter and two of the little Porters had left on Saturday morning for Waco to be with Mrs. Porter's mother, who was ill. Col. Robert M. Webb, Judge C. H. Earle, Mayor C. M. Adams, and Col. Ben S. Van Tuyl had attended a banquet in Sweetwater. Mrs. Lee Jones had returned home and he extended over so far that they had to take out the partition before they put him to bed.

There's another question here that needs adjustment, and that is the matter of feet. Now, this man's feet looked like hams. I have a small foot—wear a number seven, notwithstanding I weigh 200 pounds and walk a great deal. This man wore a number thirteen, and it was small for him. Then there's the size of hat, as well as shoes, that should be well considered by our prospective bureau.

When I was a boy I read a story of Mrs. Partington and her son, Ike. One day when she came in and found Ike, sprawled on the floor, with his feet propped up at an angle of 45 degrees on a big chair. She exclaimed: "Ike, take your feet down from there! Don't you know if you lie in that position your brains will all run down into your head?" That's the trouble with some people. Their brains get into their heads, and then strange notions get into their heads, and on account of this cerebral and pediatric mix-up and confusion, I think that heads and feet should be surveyed.

In my boyhood days flies were thought to be innocent little friends of ours that buzzed around us harmlessly. Sorter like David Harum's reference to fleas on dogs. He said dogs have fleas on them to remind them that they are dogs. Flies buzz around us to remind us that we are human, but flies themselves are inhuman. When the Bureau gets all fixed up and started out with paid secretary and hired hands, I want something done about flies. We may, of course, take up spiders also, but take them up gently, because the Bureau official might make the acquaintance of a black widow spider and be fatally killed.

Now, I have no desire to be mixed up with a black widow spider, but, as to widows themselves, I am like them. I don't think anything ought to be done about the widow question, but if it ever transpires that anything should be done about it, I know our Social Research Bureau will know how to deal with the problem. They had a most beautiful widow in the Bible—Ruth, the Moabitess, who became the wife of Boaz, and I mustn't talk much about Ruth here, because it would be mal-apropos, though I really believe these arguments of mine concerning the Social Research Bureau should be ruthless.

Now, if the editor wants me to discuss this question further, there are a great many other problems knocking at the door for solution, one of which is the almanac. I want the almanac abolished. You see, as long as we have almanacs, I get a year older every year, and I'm old enough. If we could abolish the almanac, I would achieve what Latin scholars call the status quo. I don't know just exactly what that is, but I think it's the condition the Southern Baptist Convention should be in concerning the Social Research Bureau. The fact is, I am for the status quo and "agin" the Bureau. You may have reached that conclusion by reading former articles of mine.

Now, I love the almanac. Fact is, I was educated by the almanac. I remember reading in the almanac when I was a boy an epithet that has clung to me through the years. It ran thus:

"Here lies the body of Jeremiah Gordon, With mouth almighty and teeth accordin'; Stranzer, tread lightly over this wonder. For if he opens his mouth, you're gone, by thunder!"

after spending the winter with home-folks in Carbon. Tommy Griswold had spent Sunday with his sister in Sweetwater. Mrs. McCollister and little son of Mancum, Oklahoma, were visiting Mrs. McCollister's sister, Mrs. J. B. Annis.

High-top button or lace shoes with spool heels were in vogue fifteen years ago, as were "overskirts," judging from pictures appearing in F. M. Burns' ad in the Record for February 4, 1921.

B. S. Van Tuyl was seeking appointment as Republican postmaster here. John Persons, retiring postmaster, was planning to move to California.

Dr. P. C. Coleman was to head a Chamber of Commerce delegation to the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Ranger. L. W. Sandusky was going along as official orator.

The local Legion Post had elected Joe Y. Fraser commander, A. J. Hiser of Loraine and Thos. R. Smith vice commanders, W. S. Cooper adjutant. Oil news was front page news then. Morrison No. 3, located 1500 feet south of the Underwriters' discovery well, was to be spudded the next week. Tools for the Coleman No. 1 were in transit from Cisco.

J. Thompson was to organize a company for drilling the Phelan tract between Iatan and Westbrook.

Mrs. R. A. Collins had been hostess to the Merry Wives, Mrs. M. Carter to the Standard, Mrs. Thos. R. Smith to the Bayview, Mrs. W. L. Doss, Jr., to the Hesperian. Wilda Bush and Jerold Fuller had been married on Sunday. Mrs. Jim Dobbs had entertained members of the young people's missionary society of the Methodist church at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Osborne of Paris were visiting their son, Coleman Osborne. Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson was quite sick. 1081 poll tax receipts had been issued in the county. The 3-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Welch had died.

T-P OFFICIAL VISITS John Simpson of Sweetwater, livestock agent for the Texas & Pacific, was a visitor in Colorado Friday morning. Simpson was formerly county farm agent in Sterling county.

DATES FOR WTCC 18TH ANNUAL MEETING GIVEN

Dates for eighteenth annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce have been fixed for May 11, 12 and 13, D. A. Bandoen of Stamford, general manager, has announced. The convention is to be held in Amarillo during same time the Tri-State's Spring race meet is under way.

CARD OF THANKS

We are under lasting gratitude to all those who in any manner extended kindnesses during the illness of Mrs. C. O. White, for the beautiful floral offering and other gestures of love in her death and the words and deeds of sympathy accorded us during this great sorrow. MR. AND MRS. R. C. SUBLETT MR. AND MRS. A. There's a month of steady cold plus a Blizzard on your present Gas Bill!

Gas service statements being received now include the season's worst blizzard. In addition to this period of unusually severe weather there was not a single day from the middle of December to the middle of January when heat was not required. This is one reason statements covering this period are higher.

Another reason is the Christmas Holiday season. During this season extra gas was required for entertaining, extra cooking and for the comfort of house guests.

During this continued spell of steady cold weather your gas company has been alert to its responsibility of having sufficient gas at all times for every need. From the many hundreds of wells in the many fields where the supply originates, on along thousands of miles of pipe-line system are employes with years of experience in giving service and seeing that the gas supply to every home is adequate at all times.

So when you receive your statement this month, consider what you receive for the amount you pay for househeating, cooking and hot water service. Compare the healthful comfort, convenience, service and leisure hours you have bought with the price of anything else you purchase. You'll find that your gas service is the least expensive of anything you buy—and the greatest value.

LORRAINE GIRLS TEAM ENTERED TOURNAMENT On Thursday afternoon the basketball girls of Loraine went to Roscoe to start off the tournament. At 1 o'clock the local girls played Roscoe "B" team. Loraine was the victor the score being 19-13. Surprised at winning, this gave the girls new hope and determination to win the next game.

Hobbs went into the game in a great way but the local girls outscored them 22-12.

On Friday the team was to play Pylon. A larger and more experienced team which they dreaded. Inspired to greater efforts by promise of reward from their coach, Loraine went into the game with a dash. Nova Lee Groom made the most points in this game. Loraine won 29 to 9. At 1 o'clock the team played Roscoe "A" and were defeated 35 to 10.

Playing Colorado at 7 o'clock the girls played well and at the end of the first quarter the score was Colorado 2, Loraine 3. At half the score was 8 to 6 in favor of Colorado, but Colorado was the better team winning 26 to 14. This game gave Colorado third place and Loraine fourth.

The final game of the tournament was between Roscoe "A" and Westbrook with Westbrook winning. Jayton won consolation over Roscoe "B".

After the final game trophies were presented to the winners and best players. Medals were given to those of honorable mention. Lula Mae Roberts of the Loraine team received a medal.

The team is very proud of the trophy received. The Loraine girls team has had little experience but are making a good start.

On February 6, 7 and 8 Roby is having a tournament in which it is hoped they will also make a good showing.
