Four Entrants In Miss Colorado Contest For Frontier Follies; Others Requested

Names of four girls have been entered in the contest to select a Miss Colorado for Fort Worth's Frontier Follies contest, it was announced Thursday morning by Earl Cypert, member of the Chamber of Commerce committee which is making arrangements for the contest.

The four are Reta Mae Arnold, Cleo Shepard, Margaret Justice, and Martha Jane Majors.

Pointing out the fact that real opportunity will be offered to the girl who is chosen as Miss Colorado, members of the committee are urging Coloradans to enter the names of girls they consider attractive and talented. Girls have been requested to enter their own names if they desire, but very few will do this, the committee points out, so it is up to their friends to do so.

There is no entrance fee. Names of entrants are to be turned into the chamber of commerce office. An entrance blank is provided at the conclusion of this story.

No definite date has yet been set by the committee for the Ruddick park program at which Miss Colorado will be chosen, but it will be some time within the next two weeks. At that time girls whose names have been entered will appear in revue. The audience will select five favorites, and from those five the chosen judges will select one and certify her as Miss Colorado.

This Miss Colorado will be sent to Fort Worth, with all expenses paid there and back, to compete with girls from forty-nine other West Texas towns for a place in Billy Rose's Frontier Follies. Thirty-six girls will be chosen from the fifty, and these thirty-six will receive salaried employment in the Frontier Follies show for six weeks. One of the thirty-six will be named by Clark Gable to receive a six-months Baby Star engagement with MGM in Hollywood.

This contest, not ordinary to begin with, will be further set aside from the common run of beauty contests by the barring of bathing suits as contest costumes. Each entrant will select her own costume or dress for the judging. Points which will count greatly are poise, dramatic ability, grace, a good figure, a clear complexion, and character.

Following is a blank to be filled out for entering a name:

OLD RELICS COME TO LIGHT

DALLAS.—The desk used by Anson Jones, president of the Republic of Texas; an imprint in clay, now turned to rock, of a man's right hand with the scrawled inscription "S.F.A., 1831" (believed to be a personal record of Stephen F. Austin); a watch worn by a Texas soldier who guarded Gen. Santa Anna after his capture at San Jacinto; a bit of gold braid from the uniform worn by Gen. Tom Green who fell before enemy grape shot when the Northern Army sacked Blair's Landing on Red River. These are just a few of the interesting relics which have come to light through the "relic hunt" sponsored by the historical exhibits department of the Texas Centennial Exposition.

"The heavy demand for entry blanks, with no indication of what information they may return, convinces us that we were correct when we surmised that hundreds of historically valuable items are hidden away in the homes of Texans," declared Miss Emma Kyle Burleson, Austin, chairman of the contest committee.

Through the contest, the committee hopes to obtain information about many other items, such as diplomas, certificates and catalogues of early Texas colleges or academies, such as Add-Ran university, Waco College, McKenzie College, Rutersville College and others which served early Texas sons and daughters; authentic vehicles of the period; reports of public meetings; and all such material which may give new information about Texas and those who fostered its birth or development.

The contest, designed for four groups, lists cash awards of almost $3,000 for individuals, clubs, high school students, and pupils of elementary grades. The contest does not permit submission of the relic itself, but merely all known information, such as when and where made, how and by whom used and present location.

Inquiries and requests for entry blanks should be addressed to the Historical Exhibits department, Texas Centennial Exposition, Dallas.

Market For Good Horses And Mules Is Rising, Recent Federal Report Outlines

A spectacular recovery has been staged by one livestock industry in the midst of the depression. While low prices and limited demand haunted sheepmen, cattlemen and hog raisers until recently, there has been no depression for the work breeder; in fact, the demand for good work animals exceeds the supply, and prices are better than before the depression.

"Spectacular" is the only word to describe the rising market for horses and mules. But the strangest thing about the situation is that many farmers fail to recognize the opportunity offered for a sound work stock breeding program, at least to supply their own replacement needs, if not also to raise a few colts for sale.

With the average price of horses and colts in Texas on Jan. 1, this year, $64 a head, compared with $46 on Jan. 1, 1930; and mules and colts averaging $95 each, against $71 in 1930 (according to United States Department of Agriculture figures), there appears to be considerable inducement for a breeding program.

"What are some of the fundamentals of handling horses and mules, whether breeding or work stock? A few simple rules are set down by the Horse and Mule Association of America in a recent pamphlet, as follows:

1. They should have enough feed to keep them in good condition, but not too fat. The amount and kind of feed depends upon age, sex and kind of work they are doing.

2. The feed should be suited to the animal's needs. Young, growing colts need more bone-building and muscle-building feed than do mature work horses. On the other hand, mature work horses and mules require food that will supply energy.

3. Horses and mules should have access to salt and minerals, and good, clean water should be available at all times.

4. They should be kept free from parasites, inside and out.

5. Their feet should be kept level, and when used on roads, should be well shod.

6. Pastures should be utilized as much as possible.

In the above rules, feeding is stressed more than anything else. Here is a tip on feeding: A brood mare, not working but suckling a colt, should be fed about the same amount as a horse at light work. A growing colt needs as much feed per 100 pounds live weight as a horse or mule at heavy work.

Recent experiments at the Texas agricultural experiment station prove that cottonseed meal is a valuable supplement for brood mares, also for young mules and colts. In reporting several years' experiments, they commented:

"Mares receiving two pounds of cottonseed meal were good sucklers and raised vigorous, heavy foals.

"Young mules and colts fed cottonseed meal from weaning time seemed to develop faster, shed earlier and weighed more at one year of age than those that did not receive this supplement."

Most farmers know about what they want to feed their work stock, largely determined by the kind of feed they have on hand. But here are some suggestions that may be helpful, especially since they contain feeds ordinarily found on most Texas farms. These rations are suitable for animals weighing about 1,000 pounds. The amounts may be decreased one fifth for animals weighing 800 pounds, and increased one fifth for those weighing 1,200 pounds.

It should be remembered that work animals are kept on the farm for production of power, just as other animals are kept for production of milk or meat. The proportion of grain to roughage varies in accordance with the kind of work demanded of the animal. More grain and cottonseed meal feed high in energy value is needed when horses or mules are at work, while a larger proportion of roughage should be fed when work stock is idle. Some suggested rations are:

Ration No. 1.—Cottonseed meal three pounds, hay or bundle stover six pounds, cottonseed hulls six pounds.

Ration No. 2.—Cottonseed meal three pounds, cottonseed hulls fourteen pounds.

Ration No. 1.—Corn and cob meal, or grain sorghum heads, five pounds; cottonseed meal two pounds, hay or bundle stover ten pounds.

Ration No. 2.—Oats, corn molasses, or crushed grain sorghum, wheat or barley, four pounds; cottonseed meal two pounds, hay or bundle stover twelve pounds.

Ration No. 1.—Oats, corn, crushed grain sorghum or barley, ten pounds; cottonseed meal two pounds, hay or bundle stover twelve pounds.

Ration No. 2.—Oats, corn, crushed grain sorghum or barley, ten pounds, cottonseed meal six pounds, cottonseed hulls six pounds.

Finally, it is well to remember that good pastures are of much importance. They are essential to economical raising of colts and carrying of work stock. Good pastures, proper care of animals, plenty of salt and water, and a balanced ration will go far toward assuring success with breeding stock or work stock in general.

NO ONE SHALL DIE OF TUBERCULOSIS NOWADAYS

"Today it is literally possible for us to say with assurance: No one of us shall die with tuberculosis. It is possible for any community to say with equal certainty: our people shall not have tuberculosis," declared Howard W. Haggard, Associate Professor of Applied Physiology, Yale University, in a radio talk for the National Tuberculosis Association.

Professor Haggard, noted authority on the history of medicine, spoke in the interest of the Early Diagnosis Campaign, now being sponsored throughout the country by the affiliated tuberculosis associations. He called attention to the fact that 1936 marks the 40th anniversary of the discovery of the X-ray by Roentgen and emphasized its importance as a modern weapon in the fight against tuberculosis.

"People still die of tuberculosis—75,000 died last year; the people in our communities still have the disease—fully half a million of our population are actively sick with tuberculosis at this moment," he said. "To me the situation of today is even more pathetic than it was in those days when people were defenseless against tuberculosis; they couldn't help themselves; we can, but don't—'not fully.'"

He warned against a feeling of false security regarding tuberculosis and pointed out that although statistics show it has diminished in prevalence, such figures may be deceptive unless the facts behind them are known. "The most vital fact behind them is this," he said, "in the year 1936, regardless of all other diseases, tuberculosis will be again, as it has been year after year, the leading cause of death between the ages of 15 and 45. During this period, the most important in the human lifetime, more people will die of preventable tuberculosis than from any other disease."

"Cancer and diseases of the heart and blood vessels—the maladies that hold popular interest—are mainly diseases of old people, whose lives lie behind them. Tuberculosis is a disease of young people whose lives lie ahead of them."

Professor Haggard emphasized the fact that it is impossible to detect tuberculosis by sight in the early stages and called attention to the modern weapons, the tuberculin test and the X-ray, which permit physicians to discover the disease in its early stage when both prevention and cure are most easily secured.

In the campaign the tuberculosis associations are now conducting, they are urging periodic examination of children with the tuberculin test and the X-ray.

Harry Ratliff and Ed Majors made a business trip to Oklahoma City this week, returning home Wednesday night.

NATIVE PLANTS ARE SECURED FOR YARDS

Free native material for yard plant- ings was secured by two home dem- onstration club yard improvement demonstrators, Mrs. Carl Lowery and Mrs. W. K. Miles, on a trip to a local farm.

They secured tamarix, wild plum, wild castor beans, and china trees. These women know that any plant can be successfully transplanted now if the soil bed is well mulched and if the roots of the plant roots have not been exposed to the sun and wind.

The new plants will be provided with burlap shade for a few days.

Hourly growth in the population of the United States will be recorded by the United States Department of Commerce in an exhibit at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Rirtha, as recorded in reports of the Federal Census Bureau, will be re- ported on an electrical census machine in the Federal building at the Exposition.

Notice to Those Who Rent

For the past several years, due to depression, drouths and other calamities, rent in Colorado as well as other towns in this section of the country has been below normal. We realize, of course that under such conditions it is difficult to make up your mind to purchase a home and stop paying rent, but there is a homely saying to the effect that, "the harder the ground, the harder the old hen scratches". The only question is whether you have allowed this situation to discourage you and allowed your efforts to let down, more especially since the time is coming when we all will certainly need to own our own homes.

To those who have a bonus bond coming up some time during this year, we are going to offer to those boys the opportunity of purchasing a home for as little as until the bonus bond is available for the cash payment with the understanding that at which time the differ- ence between the amount paid monthly, after deduc- tion of interest, and the 10 per cent necessary, as re- quired by our regular sales plan, as the cash payment, shall be paid, then a deed will be given and the bal- ance carried upon a regular mortgage loan contract at a very liberal rate of interest. We have a nice bunch of dwellings to select from, you can get the home you wish and determine the amount of your monthly payments by the kind of property you purchase.

RELIEF COMMODITIES IS CLOSED THURSDAY

The local office which has been maintained for the distribution of relief commodities closed today (Thursday) and future commodity distribution will be through the dis- trict relief office in Sweetwater. Orders for the change came from the Texas Relief Commission.

Commodities will be trucked here from Sweetwater once each month in the future, according to present plans. For the present the cost of transportation will be defrayed by the county. Judge Benton Templeton stated Thursday morning that the first truckload of commodities to be distributed under the new arrange- ment will probably arrive here be- tween May 5 and May 10.

Under the new arrangement county commodity distribution officers are being eliminated from the relief set- up. Miss Clorene Montgomery has held that position in this county.

Chrysler Contract Puts Dallas
World's Fair on Top in Motor Exhibits

DALLAS, Texas.—The Texas Cen- tennial Exposition today turned the home stretch toward its June 6 open- ing, two and one-half times larger than its sponsors originally antici- pated.

From $10,000,000 value, estimated when the project was begun, the first World's Fair of the Southwest, has grown into a $25,000,000 affair, the steel framework of its construction jobs stretching down mile after mile of parallel courses.

New Building Ordered

With the signing of the Chrysler Motor Corporation for a huge display space the Exposition boasts the largest motor exhibit ever shown at a World's Fair.

Originally the $400,000 Hall of Transportation was intended to house exhibits of both transportation and petroleum industries.

So large was the space taken by Chrysler, however, that Exposition of- ficials were forced to hurriedly realign their plans and build a separate Hall of Petroleum.

Ford, with its own building, General Motors, with a huge, air-conditioned auditorium where changing shows of radio and stage stars will be presented in one-week engagements throughout the June 6-Nov. 29 Exposition period, and Chrysler with an elaborate partici- pation in the making, will give Dal- las a record-breaking representation of the motor industry.

Livestock Also Featured

Further, the big fair will boast the largest livestock show ever assem- bled.

Other exhibits keep the pace, with the city display space at a premium and officials assured of an exhibit "sell-out" long before the opening day.

The City of Dallas, the State of Texas and the Federal government are keeping step with their impor- tant Exposition building programs.

W. A. Webb, general manager of the Exposition who holds an interna- tional reputation for his railroad con- struction work, has announced every building will be completed by the June 6 opening date.

The spirit of the Old West will be recreated at every turn.

In a city as metropolitan as any in the nation, the frontier days will live again.

Ten-Gallon Hats Epidemic

Ten-gallon hats are blooming on every corner. Service stations are garb- ing their attendants in the cow- puncher's regalia. Department stores are clothing their elevator girls in cowgirl uniforms similar to those of Exposition Rangerettes. Other stores are donating the big hats to their employes with instructions to wear them on all occasions.

Even the Exposition police will be in full Old West attire.

The Texas Rangers will have a camp on the Exposition Race Track, with a replica of an old Ranger bunkhouse as their headquarters.

Not a single detail has been over- looked by the Exposition chiefs in their efforts to make the Southwest's World's Fair the most colorful in history.

W. P. Wilson, Bert Frazier and L. J. Taylor were appointed by C. C. Thompson, presiding, to represent the organization in pushing claims for the lower rate. The reduced scale is sought for Summer only as a means of encouraging improvement of lawns and other grounds in the city, it was explained.

The Rev. A. H. Halsey of First Christian church, was presented and entertained the club membership with a series of magic offerings. Truett Barber is to preside at the next club meeting.

Explorer Believes Happy Families To Be Ruling In Utah

Carveth Wells To Tell Of Bee-Hive State In Radio Broadcast Next Sunday

If there is one state in America where a happy home and family life is the ideal of everyone, it is Utah, according to Carveth Wells, radio star and world traveler now conducting a series of "Exploring America" broadcasts for Continental Oil Company. "On all of my trips to the Beehive State," declares Wells, "I have been as much impressed by the congenial and industrious nature of its people as by its magnificent scenery. And that's saying a lot!"

Conoco's rambling reporter has announced that he will devote his entire program Sunday, May 3, to Utah's scenic and man-made attractions. Salt Lake City, Ogden, Rainbow Bridge, Cedar Breaks National Monument and Zion and Bryce National Parks will be featured. "I have been over the famous Grand Corniche drive in the French and Italian Riviera, but it does not compare with the 25-mile trip along the Zion-Mount Carmel tunneled highway of southern Utah," says Wells. "And in Cedar Breaks one's imagination can find almost any subject among the weird formations—from Model T flippers to perfect profiles of Mussolini and Mae West."

Local listeners who wish to tune in on Wells Sunday, May 3, may do so by dialing station WFAA, Dallas, at 1:00 o'clock p.m.

Authorities Continue To Offer Varying Opinions On Merits Of Lowly Soya Bean

That authorities in this section of West Texas continue to offer varying opinions as to merits of the soya bean is suggested in a recent article in the San Angelo Evening Standard. The vegetable should not be given strong credence as a money producer in this semi-arid territory, County Agent Ben J. Baskin and Doyle Williams, director of the vocational agriculture department in high school, have both announced in recent public address.

A San Angelo authority, however, sees things different. The reprinted article follows: A soil builder that brings revenue besides producing feed, the soya bean is destined to become one of America's leading farm crops—and the bean is adaptable to the San Angelo sector of West Texas, according to Dr. Rose Fraser, health food expert. Dr. Fraser has been exploiting possibilities of the bean in a series of cooking schools and farm meetings recently.

Sugar diabetes is one of the degenerative diseases rampant today and it is practically controlled through diet, and the soya bean, being a perfect protein, adds much to the nutrition of such people, said Dr. Fraser. And in soil building, the soya bean is a nitrogenous collector, serving to replenish the ground, she said. The health food expert further explained:

There are many different types of soya beans, almost as many as the types of soil, but the best suited to West Texas, and particularly Tom Green County, are the Dixie mammoth yellow, Tokyo, and Rakusun; and north of here the easy-cook, Haberland and Hahto grow profusely. In the area around Colorado the hay production is approximately four tons to the acre, netting 40 bushels of beans.

The soya bean is a native of Eastern Asia and has been grown for 5,000 years in China. Since early times the Chinese, Japanese and Koreans have considered it their leading crop. The soya bean fills a large place as a human food for the Orientals and is a large export to the United States. In 1935 soya bean oil imported here for commercial purposes extended into millions of dollars.

PERSONNEL OF LIONS CLUB HOLD INTEREST IN ANNUAL CONVENTION TRIP CONTEST

Event Set For June 19 With Several Eligibles; Club To Elect Incoming Officers On Friday, June 12

Members of the Lions Club who are claiming eligibility for competition in annual international convention drawing, set to be held on Friday, June 19, are expressing considerable interest in the event. On that date the Lion to attend the meeting at Providence, Rhode Island as guest of the club will be designated.

Selection of the delegate is by secret drawing. To be qualified for entrance in the contest the member must have not missed over three meetings of the club during the past year, except in case of reasonable excuse, and never have attended a previous international convention at expense of the organization. First, second and third selections are usually made.

The incoming president is given this trip each summer. Last year County Judge B. L. Templeton, as incoming president, was accorded the honor of representing the club during sessions of international convention in Mexico City. Jeff Curry, restaurant operator, was designated as the other delegate, being selected from ranks of the eligible member roster.

Nominations for incoming officers, including president, first, second and third vice presidents, secretary, treasurer, directors and other officers, are to be in order during meeting of the club to be held Friday, May 15. After the nominees have been accepted they will be voted upon four weeks later, June 12, and are to be installed into office at the second meeting in July.

Marching Taps and Plantation Frolic on DAR-UDC Revue

Martin Dance Pupils Stage
Original Program At High School Auditorium

Before a fair-sized and highly appreciative audience dance pupils of Mrs. W. R. Martin were presented in a DAR-UDC benefit program which featured marching taps and a "Plantation Frolic" Friday night at the high school auditorium.

A military tap revue was staged as the opening program feature. A wide stairway decorated in patriotic colors and flanked by large Texas flags in floor stands was the stage setting for this division. Each of the United States' wars was represented by the following dancers, all costumed colorfully and appropriately:

Billie Arnold, Francis Rose Ratliff, Nell Ruth Henderson, Gloria Martin, Verna Campbell, Tommy Ratliff, Billie Margaret Gregory, Catherine Slagle, Vivian Cook, Craig Porter, Joel Woods, Emma Jean Morrison, Henri Louise Ledbetter, and Nina Katherine Quinney.

The second program division included two readings by Ruth Ann Hall of Loraine, a tap by Billie Margaret Gregory, a dance of the French court of Louis XIV by Catherine Slagle and Vivian Cook, and Tommy Ratliff's popular Russian dance, repeated by request.

The plantation frolic number was in blackface, with the following taking part: Emma Jean Morrison, Henri Louise Ledbetter, Billie True Templeton, Doris Montgomery, Ethel Sue Dawson, Marjorie Plaster, Harvey Hicks, Ruth Griffith, Dorothy Jean Dawson, Mary Hickman, Jan Dorn, Dana Marie Merritt, Gloria Lee, Mary Jo Gregory, Vivian Giddens, Leta Marie Dobbs, Donna Lee, and Natalie Hanks.

MITCHELL VETERANS TO ATTEND DISTRICT MEET

Several Mitchell county veterans plan attending annual 16th district convention of the American Legion in Midland May 9 and 10. Until the State was re-districted, adding the 19th and other new congressional divisions, Mitchell was included in that area. Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, is slated among the principal speakers.

LOCAL VETERANS PLEASED IN REPORT THAT RED TAPE BE CUT IN BOND DELIVERY

'Soldiers Are Honest,' Says
Chiefs In Outlining Plan
To Pay Contracts During
Next Few Weeks

Mitchell county veterans are wearing a broad smile again, this time due to recent announcement out of Washington that the Federal government in making cash payment of the bonus this Summer intends to proceed on the theory that all war veterans are honest men.

Ranking officials directing machinery for closing the long extended battle for payment of the adjusted compensation contracts were quoted in Washington press dispatches Friday as having virtually decided to omit final formalities, such as taking veterans fingerprints and other aged requirements that generally are catalogued under the term of red tape.

As explained by one high government official, every effort will be made to simplify the procedure. When it is considered that treasury officials estimate if the bonus bonds to be issued were laid end to end they would reach from New York to London and then go on almost to Moscow, the tremendous amount of routine involved in their handling is easily understood.

There's an element of psychology in the decision of the government to remove as much red tape as possible in the issuance of bonus bonds which may be traded for cash.

Everything possible is being done to persuade the veterans to retain their bonds as long as possible. If treasury officials could figure out even approximately what would be done with this bonus money a lot of their troubles would be removed.

Fiscal experts, however, are up against something entirely new in trying to make such estimates. Relief needs, consumer demand and a host of other influences enter into the question.

It's a vastly different proposition from that presented in government offerings to banks and business men. A fraction of an advance in the interest rate on government securities will cause almost a stampede among those with money to lend. March offerings, for example, were greatly oversubscribed although the interest rate is less than 2 1/2 per cent.

The bonus bonds always will be worth their face value, and if held, will be worth more after the first year because they bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent annually until June 15, 1945.

The treasury is concerned over the amount of bonus money to be spent immediately after payment because plans must be made in the next few months for further financing.

In addition to providing funds for paying the bonus, demands for continuation of work relief shortly will begin to drain the treasury.

Some bond men estimate the government must borrow $500,000,000 in the next few months, although others are of the opinion that because many of the veterans, in the words of Secretary Morgenthau, will tuck their bonds in the strongbox for the "sake of their wives and children," such heavy borrowing will not be necessary.

PARTY FOR 4-H CLUB GIRLS AT LEGION HUT SATURDAY AFTERNOON

A recreational party for 4-H club girls of Mitchell county is being arranged for Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Legion hut in Colorado.

Sponsors for the party are women's home demonstration clubs of the county, with Mrs. Roy Howell of the Plainview club as director. Mrs. Howell attended the four-day recreational school in Sweetwater in February and a training school in Big Spring recently.

Monthly recreational programs are to be planned for the summer season. Each program will feature active games, contests, marching formations, songs, and folk games.

BLACKWELL BOY MEETS DEATH JUST AS HE HAD DREAMED NIGHT BEFORE

Saturday night Milton King, 18, of Blackwell, dreamed he was playing on a swing over Eagle Creek and was drowned.

Monday the dream came true. Companions said he swung over the water with insufficient force for the return swing to bring him to the bank, became exhausted and fell into deep water. The body was recovered an hour later.

The youth had told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. King, of the dream.

Scattered Rainfall Brings Drouth End Over Wide Section

Light Shower Fell Here As Heavy Downpours Covered
Other Parts Of Area

While scattered sections of West Texas were receiving heavy rains Saturday night to bring an end to drouth and assure ample moisture for crop and range needs, only a light shower fell at Colorado.

Heavy, dashing downpours were reported at Elbow and Fairview and in the vicinity of Vincent. Roads were washed out near Elbow.

Rain approximating a cloudburst fell just a few miles east of Midland and ran over the Broadway of America highway for several minutes. Only a sprinkle was registered in Midland.

Coahoma had a light shower Sunday night and Stanton a sprinkle Sunday afternoon.

A half-inch of moisture was deposited in the Big Spring vicinity Saturday, according to the department of commerce weather bureau located at the airport, but threatening clouds all day Sunday brought only .03 of an inch.

A bumper South Plains wheat yield is expected as the result of moisture over the week-end. Rain was reported at Lubbock, Slaton, Levelland, Plainview and Amarillo.

Crop outlook for the state was brightened in general as rains deluged parts of the northwest and south central portions of Texas.

A near cloudburst ended the Panhandle drouth during the night. Clarendon reported two and a third inches of rain and Abernathy two and a half inches.

WOMEN IN THE STUDY CLUBS

1921 Study

Rendered highly interesting by the unearthing of a number of historical facts about early Colorado, a program on "Our Town in Texas" was given at the meeting of the 1921 Study club with Mrs. Harry Ratliff Friday afternoon.

Of particular note was Mrs. R. P. Price's paper on "The Establishment of Our Town." For her material Mrs. Price delved into a special newspaper edition, The Great Southwest, published in St. Louis in 1882 and containing numerous facts and pictures dealing with Colorado's infancy.

The beginnings of Colorado churches, handled in a paper by Mrs. Ed Jones, Sr., also proved to be of much interest. Mrs. Jones was leader of the program.

A surprise to the club members was the tea hour with which Mrs. Ratliff closed the meeting. A salad course was served with the tea. Spring flowers centered the table, which was covered with Normandy lace. Guests were Mrs. Hubert Smith, mother of the hostess, and Mrs. Cal Wright.

Zetagathian

Acceptance of their year book outline from the committee marked the meeting of the Zetagathian club with Mrs. Charles Wyatt Friday.

Members discussed the book and next year's study, will include lessons on Mexico, book and play reviews.

Delayed papers were read, one by Mrs. Bob May on "War Among the North American Indians" and the other by Mrs. H. L. Lockhart on "Texas Today and the Texas Centennial."

Mrs. W. B. May and Mrs. Truett Barber were named to work with the county Centennial committee on plans for the pageant to be presented during the home coming and Centennial celebration here in August.

Mrs. Baxter Seogin, recently voted a new member, was present for the first time. The hostess served a salad course with punch. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Wade Scott.

Hesperian

Musicians of Texas were discussed at the meeting of the Hesperian club with Mrs. E. L. Latham Friday afternoon. Mrs. Sam Wulffjen was leader. Current events in the music world

Study Clubs Of Town Begin Closing For Vacation Lasting Until October

With two organizations already adjourned and another due to adjourn this week, Colorado's six study clubs are entering their summer vacation period, which lasts until early October.

First of the clubs to complete its work was the Shakespeare, which closed some three weeks ago. Illness of several members caused this club to adjourn earlier than had been scheduled. Members are planning to break their vacation with a tea for old-timers and members of other study clubs in August during Colorado's Centennial celebration and home-coming.

The Standard club closed its study work last Friday with a meeting at the home of Mrs. L. W. Sandusky, who entertained for Mrs. J. E. Pond, now temporarily located in Odessa. A recreational gathering may be held by members of this club at some later date.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Dell Barber, members of the Self Culture club will finish their year's work with a recreational meeting Friday afternoon. Each member of the club is to have an invited guest at that time and a special program is being arranged.

Both the Hesperian and the Zetagathian clubs have two more meetings. They will close Friday, May 8. Closing date for the 1921 Study club is as yet undetermined because of rearrangements in final programs.

Standard

Holding its last study meeting of the year, the Standard club met Friday with Mrs. L. W. Sandusky, who entertained for Mrs. J. E. Pond.

The states of Delaware and Maryland were studied with Mrs. Y. D. McMurtry leading. Papers were read by Mesdames C. E. Way, R. B. Terrell, and Sandusky.

A recreational meeting may be held by the club in the next few weeks but no definite date has been set.

Self Culture

The study of James Russell Lowell was completed and plans made for the final meeting of the year when the Self Culture club was entertained by Mrs. W. E. Reid Friday afternoon.

Mrs. A. C. Melton led a lesson which included papers as follows: "Occasion and History of the Biglow Papers," Mrs. Lee Lavender; "Characters in the Biglow Papers," Mrs. A. F. King; "Lowell and the Civil War," Mrs. L. B. Elliott; "Lowell's 'Yogue With the Critics,'" Mrs. John T. Howell; "Lowell's Distinction as a Poet," Mrs. Dell Barber. A delayed paper was read by Mrs. Reid.

Mrs. Bob Hubbard was back with the club after an absence of several weeks, due to illness. Further plans were made for the recreational meeting with Mrs. Dell Barber Friday, when the club will adjourn for the summer.

More Than Fifty Served At Methodist Women's Progressive Dinner Tuesday

More than fifty persons attended the progressive dinner given by women of the Workers' circle of the Methodist missionary society Tuesday evening.

The cocktail course was served at the home of Mrs. C. C. Thompson, who was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Benton Templeton and Mrs. L. B. Elliott. Tomato juice cocktails were served from a table covered with lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of old-fashioned flowers.

White lilies in a vase centered the table from which the salad course was served at the home of Mrs. John E. Watson. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Oscar Majors and Mrs. Virgil Bond. The salad was made of pineapple and cheese.

For the main course guests went to the home of Mrs. B. J. Baskin, where they were greeted at the door by Mr. Baskin. Spring flowers were arranged throughout the home. A menu including Virginia style baked ham, parsley potatoes, buttered carrots, string beans, India relish, strawberry preserves, hot rolls and butter was served buffet style from a table centered with red lilies and lighted by red candles in crystal holders. Coffee was poured from a side table by Mrs. J. W. Randle. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. J. M. Doss and Mrs. Lucian Maddin.

The dessert course, consisting of ice cream and angel food cake, was served at Mrs. Chester Jones' home. Her assistants were Mrs. W. L. Doss, Jr., and Mrs. Boyd Dozier. Spring flowers were house decorations and the dining table was centered with vari-colored petunias in white pottery.

VISITS WEST TEXAS

Indian Raid, Early Difficulties Of Colorado Recounted In Prize Essays

An Indian raid which took place in the very early years of the settlement of this section and peace-time difficulties encountered in the beginning of Colorado, and Mitchell county are subjects on which two students of Colorado Junior High school wrote essays which won second and third place in the ward school division of the recently closed Walter F. Woodul historical essay contest.

Lucille Dockrey won second place with her story, "An Indian Raid." Nancy Price won third with her essay on "Colorado's Early Peace-time Difficulties." The two essays follow:

AN INDIAN RAID

This story was told to me by my grandfather who was an old settler of Mitchell County. It is perhaps one of the first stories that I remember and has been handed down from generation to generation.

The red glow from the campfire cast weird shadows upon the hard faces of the ones about it. Cruel, black eyes, thin, straight mouths, and high cheekbones made them look even more evil as the dancing shadows played across those faces, then flickered away. Low murbles could be heard as they talked. "Tomorrow, come dark, make war on white men."

This was a tribe of deadly Apache Indians who were bitter enemies of the settlers of Mitchell County.

The last heat waves faded as the golden sun sank behind the distant, purple mountain range, leaving the skies tinted those glamorous colors of the western sunset. The soft twilight came, followed by dusk. Lights blinked from the small saloon windows and thin streams of it fell through the cracks of the saloon doors and made a striped pattern on the board walk in front. Music mingled with voices, drifted across the plain from the saloon.

Somewhere out in that space a lone wolf pointed his nose at the moon and howled. A coyote yapped, followed by several others. A whippoorwill called. Then silence.

Suddenly, from the distance there came a drumming of hoofs and a beating of tom-toms. That meant only one thing—the Indians were raiding the settlement. Louder and louder grew the thundering sound, made more terrifying by the weird, blood-chilling war cries of the enraged Indians. Topping the last hill, they swept down upon the village. For ten minutes, while the battle was at its height, the settlement seemed to be turned into an inferno. While the Indians outnumbered the settlers, many of the Indians fell at the crack of a settler's gun. Suddenly the chief reeled in his saddle and fell to the ground. When the Indians saw this, they fled without even stopping to carry their dead away. Then the drumming sound grew faint and the hideous death cries, echoing and re-echoing, died. They were gone.

The next morning, the smiling sun flooded the valley with golden sunlight. The birds' musical notes filled the air with melody. The world seemed very happy, but that battle was not soon forgotten by the settlers, or Indians either for they had buried him under the ground where he could not go to the "happy hunting grounds."

COLORADO'S EARLY PEACE-TIME DIFFICULTIES

The city of Colorado, located on the Colorado River and in Mitchell County, was organized in 1881. It included a very large territory at that time so, of course, it needed a good sheriff. A group of men who were headed by George Waddell, a rancher, met in the lobby and bar of the Grand Central Hotel, a two story frame building, for the purpose of electing the first officials of Colorado. Among these officials, R. C. (Dick) Ware was chosen as Colorado's first law enforcement officer. He brought with him to Mitchell County the record of having killed Sam Bass, one of Texas' early notorious gangsters, at Round Rock, Texas.

Because Colorado, like all frontier settlements had its rough element, the company of Rangers stationed in Mitchell County were frequently called to help police the town. The cowboy, who had been out on the range for months and had come to town inebriated in whiskey, thought it jolly good fun to ride up and down the streets and shoot out the lights. This was usually confined to the saloons and downtown district, but it was the duty of the peace officers to prevent disturbances of this kind, arrest the offender, and punish him for his misconduct.

Many difficulties occurred, and once when a Mister Patterson was arrested there was no jail so that the Rangers were supposed to hold him all night for an accounting the next morning. Since it took three men to hold the man, the Rangers decided to tie him to a tree. Mr. Patterson, being a strong man, soon broke loose. The Rangers undertook to arrest him the second time but he resisted and gave them a long chase. When they did finally stop, they found themselves in a saloon where they "shot it out." In the melee, Mr. Patterson was killed.

Incidents similar to this occurred nearly every day, and several Rangers lost their lives trying to maintain peace and order. We owe them and their leader, Dick Ware, our unending gratitude for helping make Mitchell County the safe and attractive place it is today for law-abiding citizens.

So you see, during that time, the days which were termed "peace days" were not always "peaceful days!"

Pension Cash For Old Folk Expected Be Available Soon

Mitchell Citizens Have But Two Months To Wait, Notes Official Statement

Mitchell county citizens who are to be qualified for benefits under the State and Federal old age pension law have only two months of waiting before remittances are to start, should present official plans materialize.

Although Washington dispatches said Texas will start paying old-age pensions June 1, Gov. James V. Allred said Wednesday his best information was that the start could not be made before July 1.

Orville S. Carpenter old-age pension director, is in Washington with Assistant Attorney General Fred Varner, and the two collaborated in placing the Texas pension setup before the Social Security Administration, pension division, with the result that it was approved and the Government agreed to match Texas money to a total of $30 per month, meaning $15 of State money and $15 from Washington.

The same Washington source said the work would start with 60,000 old-age pensioners and Allred said his unofficial information was that Texas will have more than that at first. He said the 60,000 estimate is based on the experience of other States but that the Texas law is so much more liberal than that of other States that the number here would be appreciably greater.

It is the number of the Texas beneficiaries that is delaying the start because of the time required to investigate each application to determine eligibility. That may delay payments until July 1, the Governor said, and since the number of pensioners is not known he was unable to say how much the State must start with nor the amount per pension.

The body of the New Firestone High Speed Tire is made from selected long-staple cotton dipped in liquid rubber, absorbing eight pounds of rubber in every hundred pounds of cotton. This patented Gum-Dipping process insulates every fiber in every cotton cord, preventing internal friction which creates the heat so destructive to tire life, and giving to the tire added strength.

A leading university in 2350 tire tests has found that the new, scientifically designed Firestone High Speed tread stops a car up to 25% quicker. Its super-traction and non-skid efficiency have also been proved in the famous Pike's Peak Race where for eight consecutive years it has been used on the winning cars.

AWAY
 In memory of our darling Daddy and husband, Erskine Gross. He left us 14 months ago.
 We cannot say—we will not say
 That he is dead—he is away.
 With a brave smile, and a wave of his hand
 He wandered into an unknown land.
 We never could have thought, O God!
 That he must whither up.
 Almost before a day was done
 Like the morning-glory's cup;
 We never thought to see him droop
 His fair and noble head,
 'Till he lay before our eyes
 Wilting, cold and dead—
 And left us dreaming how very fair
 It must be, since he lingers there.
 And we! Oh we who have the wildest yearn
 For his old time step and his glad return.
 But we try to think of him faring on as dear

 In the love of There as in the love of Here.
 Mild and gentle, as he was brave
 While the sweetest love of his life to us, he gave.
 The touch of his hands have stayed
 As reverently as his lips have smiled.
 We think of him still as the same—
 I say
 He is not dead—He is just away.

SALES TAX

Continued from last week we say again that the only way Texas can pay the 54 million old age pension is with a 3 per cent sales tax. This is the easiest tax to pay and makes everybody in Texas pay his part. It is like the gasoline tax, we pay five cents on gasoline and no one objects, we have right here in Colorado more than 100 families, Mexican, negroes and whites who do not pay one cent tax of any kind, yet they get benefit of schools, police protection and government.

The plan is simple, easy to pay and makes everybody pay his part. An illustration is, I go to a store to buy a pair of pants, originally priced at $2.50. The merchant shows the goods and makes me a price of $2.58. I don't ask why but pay it, which includes 8 sales tax and I never miss it or don't even know it. Then why not?

OHIO HAS A SALES TAX

The sales tax was bitterly fought in Ohio during five sessions of the Legislature. The tax is working satisfactorily and all classes seem to be satisfied with it as a revenue producer. Of course, the diehards, those who had not been paying any direct ad valorem taxes, were the main objectors. We submit a letter just received from Carlton S. Dargusch, vice-chairman of the Tax Commission of Ohio, dated Columbus, April 9, 1936:

"We are sending under separate cover a chart setting forth the distribution of the sales tax for 1935. You will note that it is returned entirely to local governments. It has prevented a breakdown of our school system, prevented collapse of our local governments and financed to a large extent our poor relief. The merchants of our State are not generally opposed to the sales tax, and our people are accepting it philosophically. Real estate relief, by a reduction in the tax limitation from fifteen to ten mills, preceded and caused the enactment of our sales tax.

"The tendency of the public is to resent any direct tax. However, as they become conscious of the uses of this money, they will be more inclined to favor it. It makes them definitely tax conscious. By the last census, Ohio had a population of 6,646,697. Persons receiving pensions numbered 85,228. We have something over 1,200,000 pupils attending our public schools who share in the sales tax distribution. In 1935, we appropriated for old-age pensions $7,875,000. This was not matched by Federal money. In 1936, old-age pensions will be taken care of by liquor profits and tax from the State monopoly."

Distribution of sales tax dollars for 1935 in Ohio:

Table showing distribution of sales tax dollars for 1935 in Ohio across various categories like Less than 8c, 8c to 40c, etc.

No tax on milk, bread, newspapers and magazines, gasoline, cigarettes, liquors, electrical and water supplies, professional and personal services. No tax on casual or isolated sales, such as where a person sells his household furniture, a grocer his store fixtures, or a farmer his farm equipment. Prepaid tax receipts are issued in books, 3 inches by 16 and perforated in the center. Customer receives one-half torn through.

The 1935 sales tax receipts $46,253,984, distributed as follows: School fund $16,846,490 Local governments 11,230,993 Poor relief 8,500,000 Old-age pensions 7,875,000 Administration and collection (3.98 per cent) 1,900,000

We quote herewith from Jim Ferguson in his for-run the following: Senator Sanderford, now a candidate for Governor, proposes that this pension debt be paid by the levy of a three per cent sales tax. It is the only remedy that would begin to pay this large amount of many millions. Already the big merchants of the country are beginning to oppose Senator Sanderford because of his proposition to pay in full the debt now due to the old people of the country. I would like to ask these merchants who are opposing this sales tax just how they would pay the pension tax if they are opposed to paying it at all, as their actions would indicate, then let them say so and we will understand just what they mean. Men chandise in this country is loaded with a gross profit by merchants averaging from twenty to eighty per cent and yet when Senator Sanderford proposes to take three per cent of that enormous charge put on the backs of the people, we hear the yell raised about a tax on poverty. A great many people think that because we have no sales tax that the consuming public get the benefit of it. When as a matter of fact if we never have a sales tax the merchant will continue to add on the usual profit of from twenty to eighty per cent and as much more as the consuming public will stand. I appeal to my laboring friends throughout the state who have been misled by these sales tax arguments that a levy of the sales tax will simply mean that the merchant must divide the enormous change that he has for his goods and let the government have some of the revenues that can be derived from the consuming or purchasing public.

When all is said and done the question still remains how are you going to pay the pension? The whole scheme is cooked up to beat and swindle these old people out of their money. I for one foresaw the great burden that this tax would be and for that reason was not in favor of the Old Age Law. In column after column in the Forum, I showed the people how much it would cost and how big the debt would be. Nobody was deceived, everybody was informed before the election as to the enormous size of the pension debt if it were voted. This same bunch of political sap-heads, that are now waiting for enough hard liquor to be drunk with which to pay the tax, and which would keep everybody drunk for a hundred years, shouted loud and long about how anxious they were for the pension. The people took them at their word and walked to the polls and voted for the pension and it is now the law of the land. This same crowd that shouted so loud for the pension are now trying to dodge the issue and they secretly are trying to devise ways and means to keep from paying the pension. By the Eternal, I don't intend that they shall escape. I am going to put the monkey on their backs. They gave me the devil before the election about opposing the pension and in my humble way, I am going to give them hell after the election and make them pay for their contemptible political hypocrisy which has been to me all along too plain.

CRAZY OR DRUNK?

Joseph B. Kincer, an expert in the Weather Bureau at Washington, is quoted as saying that "The American Continent has been passing through the longest and wildest meteorological rampage of climate" on record. This, he asserts, is the best explanation "for the unpredictable mixture of foods, droughts, cyclones and dust storms during the last few weeks." Worse still, he says that as a rule "the drier it is the drier it can be expected to be and vice versa. Betting would be in favor of a dry summer in the West."

Mr. Kincer admits that the weather was fairly normal in 1932 but not since. He assumes that Jupiter Pluvius has gone woozy, not being willing to assert that mixed up weather conditions may be due to the incoming of the Democratic administration in 1933 and the passing of prohibition. It seems more likely that old Jupiter got drunk in 1933 and ever since has gone on sprees at irregular intervals. Then, too, the administration in featuring the new deal made no provision for the continuance of normal weather, putting it probably in charge of politicians who encouraged Jupiter Pluvius to drink strong liquors in excess, so as to increase the returns from internal revenue.

These Republican candidates for the presidency from the West could do better than to emphasize a weather plank in their platforms, pledging the return of normal weather to the West and to the East. Jupiter Pluvius is not crazy; he is drunk. Texas wants rains and plenty of them. —Editorial in Dallas News.

LETTER FROM INGERSOLL

The scrapbook must wait for another time. Much history is there especially about the moving tides of politics and the economic growth of the State. The Senator's love for the masterful and beautiful in literature and his rare sense of humor are shown over and over again. For example, I ran across this letter from Bob Ingersoll to the Rev. Mr. Buckley, editor of the religious organ of the Northern Methodist Church: "I send you some of the most wonderful liquor that ever drove the skeleton from the feast or painted landscapes on the brain of man. It is the mingled souls of wheat and corn. "In it you will find the sunshine and the shadow that chase each other over the billowing field; the breath of June; the dew of the night; the carol of the lark; the wealth of summer and autumn's rich content, all golden with imprisoned light. "Drink it and you will hear the voices of men and maidens singing the harvest song mingled with the laughter of children. Drink it and you will feel within your blood the dreamy, tawny dusk of many perfect days. For forty years this liquid joy

WILL 'MISS COLORADO' BE ELECTED QUEEN OF REGIONAL ORGANIZATION

Who is the most beautiful girl in West Texas? That question is to be decided at Amarillo May 12. The young lady to represent Colorado in pageantry of the West Texas chamber of commerce annual convective may attain that distinction.

One of the biggest beauty contests in Texas at which the flower of young womanhood will go on parade has been held within staves of oak, longing to touch the lips of man.

And a few pages further on, as if in contrast, a description of a Texas drought by the eminent Dr. B. H. Carroll, Sr., long a powerful influence in Texas:

"I have witnessed a drought in Texas. The earth was iron and the heavens brass. Dust crowded thoroughfares and choked the travelers. Water courses ran dry and grass scorched and cracked, corn became twisted and wilted, stock died around the lost water holes, the ground cracked in fissures and the songs of birds died out in parched throats. Men despairing. The whole earth prayed: Rain, rain, rain! O Heaven send rain! Suddenly a cloud rises above the horizon and floats into vision like an angel of hope: It spreads a cool shade over the burning and glowing earth. Expectation gives life to desire. The loving herds look up. The shriveled flowers open their tiny cups. The corn leaves untwist and rustle with gladness. And just when all trusting, suffering life opens her confiding heart to the promise of relief, the cloud, the cheating cloud, like a heartless coquette, gathers her drapery about her and floats scornfully away, leaving the angry sun free to dart his fires of death into the open heart of all suffering life. Such a cloud without rain is any form of infidelity to the soul in its hour of need."

for two days has been arranged.

These beauties will be presented in a pageant, which will be one of many features at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Practically every one of the 195 towns affiliated with the large regional organization will send a sponsor.

The convention will be held three days, beginning Monday, May 11, but the pageant, "West Texas Cavalcade," will be presented only the first two nights.

The sponsors will be introduced in an elaborate stage setting, arranged by Oma Link Rowley, experienced theater technician.

Admission to the pageant will be free to all delegates and visitors who register and they, by popular vote, will select the sponsor to be crowned "Miss West Texas" at the convention coronation.

Based on the stage play of the same name, this is grand entertainment for any audience. Edward Everett Horton is a panic as the civic-pride fellow, acting on every combination, and gaining nothing but love eggs. Horton hopes for his niece to win a spring contest which will take her to Europe for lessons, accompanied by her mother, who is opposed to the girl of Horton's choice, leaving the way clear for Horton to marry his secretary. The girl wins the prize through trickery; which is discovered by the committee and the prize is withheld. Hilarious situations begin to pile up and just when everything looks dark for Horton the sun begins to shine and all ends well. The vehicle is a natural for Horton and he acts everything possible out of it. Directed by Eugene Forde.

EDITORIAL—KNOWING YOURSELF

Do you really know the person you see when you look into a mirror? Do you know your short-comings as well as your good point? Or do you choose to overlook them? Then do you see the same faults in others that you overlook in yourself? If your answer to the first question is no, you should look, at yourself, trying to see yourself, as others see you. Put yourself in the place of your classmates—are you a person you (or they) would like to have as a friend? If you aren't, do something about it!

STUDENTS INTERVIEW CLYDE BROADDUS

At the present time the seventh grade arithmetic class is studying taxes and taxation. Wishing to gain first-hand information on the assessment and collection of income taxes, the seventh grade took advantage of the fact that Clyde Broaddus, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue, Second District of Texas, was in Colorado and sent representatives from each room to interview him. Sara Ann Pond, 7A, Catherine Slagel, 7B, and Billie True Templeton, 7C, were the representatives sent by each class. They received very interesting facts from Mr. Broaddus which they presented Tuesday to their respective classes.

We wish to thank Mr. Broaddus for making our arithmetic class so much more interesting during the study of taxes.

Friday afternoon in assembly period Miss Yates taught the group several Texas Centennial songs which are to be used later in massed singing. Some of the songs are: "Texas, Our Texas," "Beautiful Texas," "Texas Over All," "The Bird and the Lea," and others.

TUESDAY

Tuesday's chapel period was one of the most unique, as well as humorous programs ever presented. Extemporaneous speeches were made. Certain students were asked to come to the stage and draw a subject. The speakers were Billie Chaney, who spoke on "Hey Hey," Beulah Robinson whose subject was "How To Study," Bobby Dockrey, who spoke on "What I Think of Ethiopia," Freddie Watson, who explained "What Has More Nothing Than a Hole in a Doughnut?," Nat Mann had an interesting subject of "Rats," J. E. Renfro spoke on "Ice Is Not What It's Cracked Up To Be," Junior Sadler had "Men, Women, and Children" as a subject, Betty Cook whose speech was "The Funniest Thing I Ever Saw," Marion Carroll spoke on the "Battle of San Jacinto," Imogene Duffer's speech was "Cabbages and Kings," T. A. Tolson spoke on "Nuts," and Bruce Nuckolls spoke on "Characteristics of a Popular Student."

The speakers were applauded by the students. The winners were Nat Mann, Billie Chaney, and J. E. Renfro.

CHOOSING A VOCATION

The seventh grade Social Science class is now studying the long-awaited unit, "Choosing a Vocation." Preliminary studies and discussions show that this course is one of the most unique educational units that has ever been presented to seventh grade students of Colorado Junior High school.

The fact that one should choose a career early in life and thereafter work toward success in the chosen field is being stressed in all activities of this work. The work includes classroom discussions on questions pertaining to the choice of a vocation and the making of a "Career Book" by each student. It inspired the editorial!

PLAYS

The characters in the play "Dear Lady, Be Brave" are:

Fungus, Ross Glover, Dr. Clark, Junior Cox, Mr. Tandy, Leroy Myers, Nell Sweet, Miss Montgomery, Bobbie Lou Cooper, Miss McLendon, Helen Snyder

ATTENDS BATTLE OF FLOWERS

Freddie Watson, a member of the Board of Editors, acted as special correspondent for the Tattler in San Antonio during the Flower Festival. This is her report:

"The Battle of Flowers organization was founded 45 years ago by the women of South Texas who wanted to pay tribute to the heroes in the Battle of San Jacinto.

The parade, which was presented on Friday, April 24, was estimated to be seven miles long. Each school of San Antonio had a float commemorating some interesting event of the aforementioned battle. On the rearing floats, artificial Texas wild flowers were bright and decorative. The old-timers' have proclaimed the parade to be the most beautiful that they have ever seen."

7A PICNIC

For having the most mothers as guests in the recent display program 7A was awarded a picnic. We took advantage of this award last Friday afternoon and went to Seven Wells. We "explored" everything (I mean almost everything) and then—we ate!

This picnic could be called a "howling" good time—emphasizing the howling!

RACKET CLUB

The "Racket Club" is the recently organized tennis club. It is composed of about forty Jr. Hi students who have passed the required mental and physical tests. Of this number, there are four girls doubles teams, ten girls singles, fourteen boys doubles, and five boys singles.

The members are now playing a tournament for places on the tennis ladder. After the ladder is formed, anyone may challenge the person above him. If the challenger wins, he advances to the loser's place. Thus the numbers on the tennis ladder are always changing.

The Racket Club hopes soon to sponsor an all day tournament to arouse more interest in tennis as a science.

"The club is to be active throughout the summer," states Miss Bradford, club sponsor.

CHATTER

Billie True Templeton is the first girl to be on active patrol duty. Junior Cox and Wendell Duncan can be dubbed the most polite doubles team (tennis, you know) on the Jr. Hi campus. Each one waits for the other to hit the ball—while it skims merrily down the court—untouched! . . . The new pupil in 7B is making some of the better students in the seventh grade look to their laurels with her excellent papers in Social Science and other subjects. . . Her name is Mary Beth Gilpin. . . We have heard that the TATTLER is widely read in the big and beautiful city of San Antonio. . . According to the reports of several 7A-ites, their picnic Friday was a huge success. . . For once, they got plenty to eat. . . We are still waiting for GA's widely advertised chapel program. . . There has been a slight delay in the publication of the Jr. Hi book of poems. . . It was just like the Eds to pick the cover that the manufacturers were temporarily out of. . . The library was slightly damaged over the week-end. . . Mr. Glover's total cash account on Monday was seventeen cents. . . The two plays that are to be given soon promise to be good. . . One is "Luncheon For Six" and the other "Dear Lady, Be Brave". . . The casts are composed of seventh grade students. . . There was much favorable comment during the recent display of our little museum and its many interesting old articles. . . For the past week the seventh grades have been studying the Social Science unit on "Choosing a Vocation". . . We have already learned many facts that are quite unbelievable. . . The different rooms have been learning, under the direction of Miss Yates, several Texas Centennial songs for use in mass singing. . . The Jr. Hi students are advertising the Centennial in a big way. . . Almost everyone is wearing either a ring, bracelet, a ten gallon hat, or some real western boots. . . In seventh grade arithmetic we are studying the income tax. . . Mr. Mason was active with his camera at the 7A picnic last week. . . We shall have to hire him as staff photographer. . . he is so good at catching people in awkward poses. . . M. L. E., the mysterious, writes: "I want to die with my boots on so I won't hurt my toes when I kick the bucket. . . The "Big Chief" seems to be indifferent to whether the girls work on the Patrol or not. . . Just what DO you think Leroy? . . . Weldon Hunt has a burning desire to be President. . . Ruth Newton, a new pupil in 7C was one of the first students to hand in her Social Science notebook on "Texas Today". . . Mr. Mason holds open house almost every afternoon. . . The chapel program Tuesday presented an interesting picture of the different countries overseas. . . The scene showing the "battling Turks" stopped rather abruptly. . .

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

"Why do Banks make charges on some checking accounts?"

Banks make service charges on checking accounts when the balances are not sufficient to enable them "to pay their own way." This is done to prevent such accounts being handled at an operating loss. Banks seek to earn their operating expenses by loaning and investing the funds entrusted with them. When a service charge is made it is usually dependent on the balance and relative activity of the account.

In other words if an adequate balance is kept in proportion to the number of checks written or deposits made its earnings may cover the cost of servicing the account. The money which your account earns for the bank is applied on the cost of check books, signature cards, deposit slips, other supplies and necessary time and expense of handling your account. If your balance does not earn enough to pay the actual cost of handling, a moderate service charge may be required.
