

COTTON LOANS MACHINERY READY FOR BUSINESS. BEN BASKIN INFORMED BY AAA

Detailed Instructions To Be Followed Outlined By The Agent; Regulation Forms Not Received Here

Machinery for the payment of cotton loans to farmers of Mitchell county is ready for business and should swing into full force as soon as regulation blanks to be used in the deals are received, Ben J. Baskin, county farm agent, announced Tuesday.

"All farmers of the county who have sold cotton prior to September 15 should secure a sales receipt from the purchaser of the cotton and file same immediately in the county agent's office," Baskin stated. "The subsidy payment will be made on 65 per cent or more of the producers' base acres times base yield per acre, and will be the difference between 12 cents per pound and the average of ten daily spot markets for middling 7/8 on the date each sale was made. The buyers' receipts should show the following:

1. Date of sale; 2. Name and address of farmer; 3. Number of bales sold on stated date; 4. Gross weight of bale sold; 5. Signature and address of buyer.

On all cotton sold after September 15, 1937, sales certificates must be filed in the county agent's office within fifteen days after such sale. For example, if the producer sells a bale of cotton on September 25 then he should file copies in triplicate of the sales receipt on or before Monday, October 11. The price per pound that the producer receives for his cotton as sold locally has nothing to do with determining what the subsidy payment will be. The date of the sale determines the amount of the subsidy payment, and for that reason it is most important that the producer is certain that the date of sale is shown on his sales certificate.

At the present time this office has not received any government forms for this subsidy work, and it is acceptable for a farmer to file the original sales receipts that he has received from the cotton buyer. In other words, farmers are urged to bring in to the county agent's office those sales receipts that they now have in their possession on or before September 30, 1937. On all cotton sold thereafter sales receipts must be filed within fifteen days.

DRUNK NEGRO WITH FIGHTING COMPLEX CAUSES EXCITEMENT

A drunk Louisiana negro with a fighting complex caused considerable excitement among the crowds which thronged Colorado streets last Saturday afternoon.

The negro, who had been in this county only two or three days picking cotton on the Ben Henson farm, first caused trouble in a local grocery store. After doing some damage by throwing things, he was evicted from the store with the help of a blow from a knife-sharpener wielded by one of the store employes.

Bloody and mad, he went seeking more trouble until arrested by Dick Hickman, chief of police, and C. O. Harper at the I. Tucker corner.

He was still in the Mitchell county jail Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Mahon's talk was based on the text, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." He was introduced by John E. Watson, who presided at the 11 o'clock hour.

Football Fans Get Surprise Thrill As Wolves Win Opener

Stanton Downed By Score Of 38 To Nothing As 1937 Season Gets Underway

A surprise thrill came to Colorado football fans at Cantrill field Friday night as they saw the 1937 Wolves exhibit almost unsuspected strength and playing ability to run wild over the Stanton Buffaloes, defeating them 38-0.

The game was the opener of the Wolves' season. Knowing the lightness and inexperience of this year's Wolf material, not many had predicted even a small victory for the home team. Only two of the three lone lettermen around whom Coaches Jack Christian and Newby Pratt have built this year's machine were able to be in the game, Van King being out with a leg injury suffered in scrimmage.

Touchdowns were made by Jackson, Carter, Chadwick, and Glover, three for Jackson and one for each of the others. Points after touchdowns were made by Simpson and Jackson.

Starting on the defense were Smallwood, Hodges, Wood, Simpson, Carter, and Jack Smith.

The game was fast and full of thrills, plays bringing fans to their feet time and again. It was witnessed by a large crowd.

SPECIAL WATER RATE IS EXTENDED FOR 15 DAYS

The special water rate offered Coloradoans for watering lawns and gardens has been extended to October 15, Mayor J. A. Soder announced Wednesday morning. The rate was scheduled to be taken off September 15.

Largest Band In Colorado School History Will Add Thrills To Activities Of Year

Stirring airs which will add thrills and color to Colorado High school football games and other activities throughout the year will be played by the largest band in the school's history.

Nearly 60 boys and girls are practicing regularly under direction of R. P. Rose, who has been school band director since Jan. 1, 1935, and municipal band director longer than that.

The band numbered only 12 when Rose took charge of it. At the end of six months there were 35 pieces. Now there are nearly 60. Roy Hester, who is now at Sherman, was school band director before Rose came, but there was a year between the two when Colorado had no school band.

Through their own efforts and those of H. F. Ward and other interested citizens, the band bought new scarlet and black uniforms last year. Thirty-eight band members are uniformed at present, and the remainder will be in the near future.

Nina Catherine Quinney is acting drum major at present. Others in the band are:

MITCHELL COUNTY COTTON RECEIPTS OF OVER 8,000 BALES TO THURSDAY NOON

Seasonal High Record Noted This Week With Excess Of 3,000 Bales Ginned; Prices Slightly Lower

Receipts at gin plants in Mitchell county Thursday noon had passed the 8,000-bale mark and indications were that the commodity would continue to move under major proportions during the next several days, governed under favorable weather conditions. Over 3,000 bales were ginned during the week, setting a new high for the season.

Reports from the Valley View and Hyman gins were not available. An estimated 400 bales had been received at those plants. The gins at Colorado, Loraine, Westbrook and Buford reported a total of 7,965 bales ginned. Total reported one week before was 4,954 bales.

Colorado has ginned 3,322 of the county total, or 41.70 per cent of the amount reported at the four receiving points. During the week ending Thursday noon 1,238 bales were received at local plants.

Loraine reported 2,597 bales for the season, 940 of the number having been received during the seven day period ending Thursday. High number at the Westbrook gins was 1,680. Buford reported 366 bales ginned.

Quotations on cotton have shown a slight depreciation during the week, dropping from nine cents to 8.60. Seed, posted at $20 a ton at the gin since opening of the season, continued to bring that figure.

PHONEY HALF DOLLARS LAND TEN MEXICANS IN JAIL BUT ALL RELEASED

Phoney half-dollars passed in a Mexican dice game in Loraine during the week-end resulted in the jailing of ten cotton picker Mexicans from San Antonio here early this week, but all were released Wednesday with no charges filed.

The counterfeit money came to light when a Loraine Mexican told Nick Narrell, deputy sheriff at Loraine, about receiving some of the coins during a dice game with the San Antonio Mexicans. The coins were crudely made and easily recognized as counterfeit by light of day.

A Federal man was here investigating the case early in the week. No merchants in the county have reported receiving any of the coins.

Fire Takes $1,500 Toll Friday Night In Theatre Booth

Projecting Room, Machines At The Gem Burned As 'Lion's Den' Showing

"The Lion's Den" might have been a hotter picture than Sherman Hart, manager for the Colorado Amusement company, might have anticipated, or, probably some other source occasioned development of fire that Friday night damaged projecting machines and the compartment in which they were enclosed at the Gem theatre $1,500.

At any rate flames burst into the projecting machines while the picture of that title was being run. The booth was practically burned up before the fire was brought under control. Hart stated that the loss was covered by insurance.

The projecting booth is being rebuilt and repairs to the damaged machines are well along to completion. Hart hopes to open the show Friday night.

DIAMOND LOST SINCE MAY FOUND TUESDAY

Last May, over four months ago, Hettie Adele Hutchinson lost something she prized very highly—the diamond from her mother's engagement ring, which was left to her after her mother's death several years ago.

She was quite sure she had lost it somewhere between her home and the office of B. J. Baskin, county agent, by whom she is employed. She long ago gave the stone up as lost for good.

Tuesday afternoon she was changing the arrangements in some filing cases in the county agent's office. The diamond winked up at her from a corner of one of the cases.

"I shouted," she admitted Wednesday.

ENGINEERS EXPECT START UPPER COLORADO SURVEYS WITHIN NEXT FEW WEEKS

Federal, State Chiefs Visit At Colorado, Other Points In Territory During This Week On Inspection Tour

Engineers representing the U. S. Army Engineers Corps at Galveston is to make an extensive field survey of the Upper Colorado Authority watershed within the near future, Federal and State officials representing the project indicated while in Colorado Tuesday. The officials expressed satisfaction in progress being attained in combination irrigation and water conservation objective.

In the group were G. W. Lenehan, assistant army engineer, and J. A. Cotton, junior engineer, both out of the Galveston office, and M. C. Nichols of the Hawley, Freeze and Nichols firm of engineers at Fort Worth, who is engineer for the project, and Culberson Deal of San Angelo, head of the Colorado Authority.

A precursory survey of the watershed of the territory was being made by the group. From Colorado they went to Snyder, Gail and Lamesa, returning to San Angelo by way of Big Spring.

The authority has been pending for several months and some engineering work has been done along the Colorado river between here and Robert Lee. A tentative dam site has been located a few miles up the river from Robert Lee.

The Colorado river project is proposed as an irrigation move and would place hundreds of acres of fertile valley lands southeast of Colorado into highly productive fields, orchards and gardens. The flood control objective is being centered about the Concho river to safeguard San Angelo and other communities from repetition of the destruction that was experienced last year when the river went on a rampage and swept thousands of dollars' worth of property downstream.

"We feel very much encouraged over progress of the work thus far," Deal said, "and because of the high rank of our survey hope to receive due consideration at the hands of governmental authorities."

CONVERTED PERSIAN TO FREACH SUNDAY NIGHT

MORE NAMES ADDED TO COLLEGE ROSTER

At least three names were unintentionally omitted from the list of college students from Colorado and vicinity as published in last week's paper.

One was that of W. R. (Potsy) Doss, son of Mrs. Henry Doss, Sr., who has enrolled again in A. & I. at Kingsville.

Another was the name of Minnie Lee Hood, who is beginning her third year at Texas Tech, Lubbock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hood of Route 2, Colorado.

It is understood that Billie Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Berry of Fairview, will leave soon for a college in Washington state.

Last week's story erroneously listed Annetta Lacey as attending business college in Dallas. Annetta is enrolled in Durham-Draughon Business college at Austin. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Lacey, spent Saturday and Sunday getting her settled in Austin.

SS OFFICIALS ELECTED BY METHODIST CHURCH

Trench Silo Demonstration Scheduled At Joe Mills Place Saturday Morning

A trench silo demonstration will be held on the Joe Mills farm near Horns Chapel at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, September 25, announced B. J. Baskin, county agent, this week. With most of the producers of Mitchell county making a fair feed and forage crop this year the necessity of storing this feed and forage is very important.

The trench silo will store any and all feed and forage crops safely, cheaply and indefinitely. Every farmer that has bundle crops harvested or to be harvested can store such feed in a trench silo at a very low cost and know that same will be free from damage by fire, water, weevils or thieves. We will be fortunate in having at this meeting Mr. E. R. Eudaly, Extension Service of A. & M. College, and Mr. E. C. Martin, District Agent of the Extension Service of A. & M. College. Mr. Eudaly is an authority upon the storing of feed in trench silos and his observations cover many years of service in this work. Farmers are urged to attend this meeting and ask any and all questions regarding the storing of feed in trench silos.

The trench silo is one of the greatest boons to the farmer and rancher yet developed, officials of the Extension Service of A. & M. College have declared after pointing to records of results obtained through use of these feed storing facilities over a period of years. The first failure of a trench silo to function as claimed remains to be recorded, according to representations by these authorities.

Mills, who for several years has devoted considerable attention to livestock along with his motor car business, is an enthusiast when he makes reference to the trench silo, as are several other citizens of the county who are making use of the earthen containers for storing feed. He joins with the county agent in extending invitation to all interested citizens to visit his farm during hours

NIX LEADS WITH 68 SCORE AS QUALIFYING ROUNDS AT COUNTRY CLUB ANNOUNCED

Opening Matches In Tourney To Open Sunday; Calcutta Pool Scheduled Saturday Afternoon At Sundown

E. C. Nix, Jr., Shell employee, turned in a 68 at the Colorado country club Sunday afternoon that up until Thursday noon had withstood the efforts of all golfers, both good and bad. Bob Scott with a 75 was in second place.

Qualifying play got under way at the Colorado country club last Friday morning when Lee Dorn, 77, and Luther Scarborough, 94, turned in their qualifying rounds. During Sunday 17 players paid their fee and played the required 18 holes. Play will continue through Saturday afternoon when the Calcutta pool will be held at the club at sundown. All players and Calcutta ticket holders are requested to be on hand.

Jake Merritt of the sports and greens committee of the local country club stated that he had hopes of three full flights of men players and another for the ladies. Ladies play will be for 9 holes.

Qualifying scores follow:

E. C. Nix, Jr.	34-34-63
Bob Scott	38-37-75
Jake Merritt	37-40-77

Leonard Alexander	53-53-106
Mack McSpadden	52-56-108
A. D. Kiker	53-56-109
Jack Helton	53-57-110

Big Jim Cantrill, after a lay-off of over a year, got his "Ross Dixon" slice to working last Sunday and had a qualifying round of 88.

Walter Whipkey tried to use his authority as president of the Country club to rule his 103 qualifying score out. . . . But the sports and greens committee said it must be posted.

A. L. McSpadden used a 2-iron off the tees in his qualifying round, but it didn't seem to improve his score and his 108 appears to be in the running for the "booby" prize.

With a 68 that could have been a 65 very easily E. C. Nix has the medalist prize almost within his grasp. E. C. is just back from his vacation and while away played in the Tri-State tournament in Kansas.

Jake Merritt qualified with a 77—a tie with "Deacon" Dorn. It was Jake's secret ambition to turn in a 76—just a little better than "Deacon."

Bob Scott's putter that has been educated for grass in the last year or more was one of the reasons for Bob needing a 75 in his qualifying test. Jack Helton states that he counted all his strokes in his round of 110. Most of the boys believe him.

No Arrests Made In P. O. Burglary Thursday At Noon

Thieves Taking Car Tuesday Night, Too, At Liberty, Local Officers Report

No arrests in the Loraine post-office burglary nor the motor car theft at Colorado had been reported at noon Thursday, local officers stated.

The burglars are believed to have been frightened away from the post-office building after blowing the safe. Outer door of the strong box was torn away by force of the explosion. The inside panel door, enclosing $80 in cash and a supply of postage stamps, was left intact.

Nick Narrell, night watchman, reported to Sheriff R. E. Gregory that he heard the explosion and chased car believed to have been used by the burglars out of town. They sped east toward Sweetwater. The burglary was at about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The motor car of P. K. Mackey, stolen from in front of First Christian church Tuesday evening, might or might not have been used by the burglary gang. The car was taken while Mackey was attending a church conference. It was recovered Wednesday morning in Sweetwater. Tracks made by the burglary car and that of the Mackey machine correspond, Gregory stated Wednesday after returning from Loraine.

Russell Cope, postmaster, recalled Wednesday morning that this was the second time within a year that safe in postoffice had been blown.

Local authorities were of the opinion the job was done by experts. Probably the same gang that a few days before had blown safes at other points in this section of the State was responsible, the sheriff suggested.

Fingerprints found on the safe and on the Mackey automobile were taken early Wednesday morning by chief of the bureau of identification, Sweetwater police department. Federal authorities out of Abilene were investigating the case.

WEST TEXAS CITIES TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES TO ABILENE FREE FAIR

ABILENE.—Sixteen cities have notified West Texas Free Fair officials that they will send representative Duchesses to the Texas Cotton Festival during the fair, October 4 to 9.

Post, Clyde, Monahans, Pecos, Winters, Merkel and Vernon are the more recent cities naming Duchesses to the Cotton Festival, October 5 and 6. Approximately 20 additional representatives are expected to be announced by cities and towns before the fair opens.

Mable Cduin has been selected Duchess of Pecos. Winters will send Margaret Duncan, and Clyde is to be represented by Kittie Gray Bentley. Merkel's representative is Clara Frances Largent. From Post and Vernon will come Marion Lee Mason and Mary Frances Johnson, respectively.

Previously acknowledged towns and their Duchesses include: Peggy Elliot, Stamford; Ella Ruth Myers, Sweetwater; Mary Dallam, Olney; Frances Walling, Haskell; Hazel Howell, Breckenridge; Melba Bestain, Rising Star; Empress Shelton, Rotan; Jean Spencer, Albany; and Helen Grace Gray, Cross Plains.

Each Duchess selects her escort. Duchesses will be entertained with two big balls and various other social affairs during their two day visit in Abilene.

Ned Bradley and his orchestra will furnish music for the Festival and Coronation Balls.

A. H. SHADDAY HERE
A. H. Shadday, who is employed by the Dolph-Bateson Construction company of Dallas in the erection of a new postoffice building in Ballinger, spent the week-end here with his wife and children, who are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Womack. Mrs. Shadday and the children plan to join him in Ballinger in the near future.

Why does Cary Grant tell Connie Bennett "I can see through you?" (and he actually can—and she doesn't blush a blush). See "Topper."

Southern Agriculture Employing Larger Quota Laborers Than Industrial Plants

DALLAS.—Demonstrating the larger per capita wealth production of industry compared to agriculture, a report of the All-South Development Council today revealed that, although more than half of all the employed persons in the 16 southern states are agricultural workers, the value of their farm products in 1936 was considerably less than half that of southern manufactures.

Quoting the Blue Book of Southern Progress, the report shows that in 1936 agricultural production of the South totaled $3,963,000,000 (40 per cent of the nation's total), while southern manufactures had an aggregate value of $9,500,000,000. Besides, the output of southern mines, quarries and wells was in excess of $1,600,000,000.

The large proportion of total southern goods production which these figures show being contributed by industries is the more notable, the report says, when it is noted that "industry" employs only 21.1 per cent of the 8,708,488 employed persons in the South. Farming employs 4,383,660, or 50.4 per cent of the total, while the other 28.5 per cent are employed in trade and commerce.

Despite the general impression that Texas is in the foreground of southern industrialization, figures on Texas currently show less proportionate industrial activity here than for the South as a whole, with 140,810, only 11.7 per cent, employed in industry as against the southern average of 21.1 per cent. Texas farms employ 622,609, or 53.1 per cent, and trade and commerce account for 417,519, or 35.2 per cent.

Illustrative of the wide disparity in individual goods productivity as between industry and agriculture, correlation of the South's wealth production figures with its employment figures shows an annual per capita production by the industrial worker, of $5,159 worth of goods, contrasted with an annual per capita production by the farm worker, of $905 worth.

The present ratio of total industrial to agricultural production—in dollars—contrasts sharply with the ratio obtaining 50 years ago, when southern farm products were valued at $750,000,000 and manufactures were less than $330,000,000.

That the ratio may be expected to continue a constantly accelerating trend toward larger industrial production and larger industrial employment is seen in current decentralization moves, the tendency in some sections to cease relying on cotton as a basic income source, and the vigorous efforts many southern states are making to attract industries to take advantage of their resources, growing markets, cheap fuel and lower living costs.

Resources of petroleum, gas, coal and iron ores for basic industries are ample. Great areas are underlaid with limestone and there are vast deposits of marble and granite. Immense resources of calcium carbonate for agricultural lime, material for cement, as well as feldspar, fuller's earth, clays and phosphates afford opportunities for new industries.

While this description, from the Blue Book, is applied to the South generally, Texas itself encompasses virtually all these natural advantages, the report points out. The continued threat of new or increased taxes on the industries converting this native material into tangible wealth—as for example a new threat to put a production tax on fuller's earth—cannot help but discourage enterprise which is eager to add new

BIRTHDAY BALL NETS

$1,090,779.23 FOR CRIPPLED
NEW YORK.—A total of $1,090,779.23 was raised by the 1937 National Birthday Balls for the President, Colonel Henry L. Doherty, national chairman of the movement since its inception, announced today in making public the report of the treasurer, Keith Morgan.

Of this amount $952,293.89 was represented by the more than 3,800 parties held in cities and towns throughout the United States, Colonel Doherty said. Telegraphic birthday greetings to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, organized by Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies, accounted for another $80,106.19 and the remaining $59,379.15 represented private contributions.

Under the plan of distribution local committees were permitted to retain 70 per cent of the amount raised for their work in the fight against infantile paralysis, while 30 per cent was sent to the national committee for presentation to President Roosevelt for the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation.

According to the seventy-third per cent distribution, the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation thus would receive $327,223.70, Colonel Doherty continued. However, he said, this amount may run a little more due to the fact that in some instances communities having no infantile paralysis problem remitted 100 per cent of the fund to the national committee. However, in other instances local committees remitted less than 30 per cent and in some cases none of the fund, where the entire total was used for sufferers in the Ohio valley and other flood regions last winter, this action being with the full consent of the national committee.

Colonel Doherty said that Colonel Carl Boyer, national general director of the celebrations for the past four years, had reported to him that the 1937 fund is the largest amount ever raised.

"YOU CAN'T BEAT LOVE"

Palace and Ritz, Thursday, Sept. 23
Deft direction has made this slight story piece thoroughly amusing and amiable fare which will meet all requirements as a quality programmer. Well-mounted and full of bright situations and brisk dialogue, its chief asset is Preston Foster. He is completely at ease in a romantic-comedy role which is a radical departure from his recent portrayals, and again demonstrates his versatility as a Thespian. Foster is a wealthy play-boy whose chief peculiarity is his inability to refuse a dare. Around this trait is built a rapid-fire yarn of political intrigue in which he is persuaded to enter the mayoralty elections, running against the father of his heart interest, Joan Fontaine. After ridding the town of its political bosses, he retires from the race. Christy Cabanne directed. Players are Preston Foster, Joan Fontaine, Herbert Mundin, Paul Hurst, Harold Huber, Bradley Page, Barbara Pepper.

Roach, in his first "A" picture, takes a dive into the realm of sophistication and emerges with the smartest, brightest funfest of many months. A riot of laugh-laden entertainment that will please all. Catching the spirit of Thorne Smith's book, which endows ghosts with humor, was no mean cinematic task, one freighted with the constant danger of introducing bizarre and unacceptable situations. But, through the aid of unprecedented trick photography, a thoroughly splendid cast, a glittering screen play and smart direction, these pitfalls are adroitly avoided. The total result is a refreshingly different picture. Roland Young steals top honors, while Constance Bennett, Cary Grant and Billie Burke all contribute stellar performances. Directed by Norman Z. McLeod. Players are Constance Bennett, Cary Grant, Roland Young, Billie Burke, Alan Mowbray, Eugene Pallette, Arthur Lake, Hedda Hopper.

"LOVE UNDER FIRE"

Palace—Saturday Midnite, Sept 25
Sunday and Monday, Sept. 26 and 27
Here is the time-tried cops-and-robbers plot laid in a new and novel setting—the Spanish civil war—with a strong cast, smooth direction and capable production, all of which point toward enthusiastic reception by theatre audiences in any spot. Loretta Young and Don Ameche score heavily in action-packed romantic roles, and sterling support is rendered by Harold Huber, Walter Catlett and E. E. Clive. Young, Ameche and Huber conduct a merry chase across the war-torn country, with Ameche, an insurance company detective, attempting to capture Miss Young, whom he mistakenly thinks has purloined the famous Peralta

"BORDER CAFE"

Ritz—Sunday and Monday
September 26 and 27

This is a difficult picture to classify, being a variation on the old western theme, but smartened up with a modern setting and a highly competent cast and production staff. It will appeal to the lovers of western drama and the more sophisticated audiences. John Beal and Harry Carey give fine, honest performances, while Armida dances, sings and acts in a delightful manner. Among the supporting players, J. Carrol Naish and George Irving are outstanding. Beal, a spoiled drunken son of an illustrious family, lands at a small border town after a quarrel with his father. Carey, quick to see the boy's finer points, straightens him out, gives him an interest in a ranch and modernized cattle rustlers provides the inevitable chase. Lew Landers directed. Players are John Beal, Harry Carey, Armida, J. Carrol Naish, George Irving, Leona Roberts, Marjorie Lord.

The Gem will reopen Friday, Sept. 24th with a real western "Galloping Dynamite" starring Kermit Maynard. Also chapter No. 2 of the serial "Jungle Jim" with Grant Withers and Betty Jane Rhodes. FORD CRAFTSMEN WORK IN CONVERTED COUNTRY GRIST MILL

A group of skilled engravers and die cutters, recently established miles from the city in a converted grist mill of pioneer days, already has an important part in the complex operations of the Ford Motor Company. The men are employed in Nankin Mills, sunny little factory 20 miles up the River Rouge from the great Ford plant at Dearborn, Mich. They produce a wide variety of articles used in the industry.

Precision machinery of the latest type has been placed in the old building. Like the crude millstones to which the early settlers brought their grain for grinding, it is operated by water power. In the modern plant however, the power is converted into electric current by a turbine-drive generator instead of being taken directly from a mill wheel.

Henry Ford bought and remodeled the old building in 1918 as the first of the 12 "village industries" he has established in rural Michigan to bring about a closer union of agriculture and industry.

Until this year a few men made machine screws in the plant, but recently this operation was transferred to another of the little plants. The engraving and small die cutting equipment then was moved to Nankin Mills from the main Ford plant. More than 50 men now are employed in Nankin Mills, and many of them live on small farms nearby. The eight-hour-day and five-day week, which have been observed for many years throughout the Ford organization, give them ample time to look after their farms. Those who own the larger tracts may obtain leaves of absence during the harvest season.

"In the other 'little factories' the men were hired from the surrounding countryside for the most part," the Nankin Mills superintendent said recently, "but the majority of our men, being skilled craftsmen, were transferred here from the Rouge plant.

"Without exception, they are enthusiastic about living and working in the country. Mr. Ford is building a school for their children and other children of the neighborhood, and we expect it to become the nucleus of a colony of craftsmen.

"Some of men haven't gone in much yet for farming or gardening, and, of course, they don't have to, since almost all of them get far more than the Ford minimum of $6 a day. But lots of them enjoy seeing the things they have planted grow, and the spare-time work is helping to cut down their living expenses."

There is a well kept lawn under the trees around the plant building. It is of colonial style, and its great, hand-hewn frame is covered with white clapboards.

Dies, stencils, identification badges, gauge dials, name plates and scores of other small articles, all of them destined for use in the huge Ford industry, are made at Nankin Mills and taken to the main plants by trucks, which return later with supplies of raw materials.

To Boom Business Gings Here On Saturday

"General business conditions in Colorado are better than they have been in many years," said T. W. Stoneroad, Jr., president of the City National bank. "Our loan collections are fine, and will be even better later on, I'm sure."

Most of Mitchell county's cotton is good staple, Mr. Stoneroad pointed out, and he does not expect the county's cotton income to be greatly injured by the tightening of the market against short staple cotton.

Farmers in the Carr section of the county are admitting with sheepish but pleased smiles that the terrific rain and hailstorm which they thought had ruined them back in July has, on the contrary, made them their best crop in years. Bronson Gregory expects to harvest a bale to an acre on some of his land.

Fine crops have been made over in the Cuthbert section by the Strain brothers, Ed, Lee, and Lon, by Chester and W. C. Berry, W. H. Badgett and others. Buford and Lone Wolf valley crops are also good, some of the more successful farmers in these two sections being Jim Bodine, the Feasters, and others at Buford, Dan Beeman and W. A. Dulin in the Lone Wolf valley. The C. H. Lasky farms, totaling around 2,200 acres in the Lone Wolf valley, have a much better crop than last year, and last year was considered good.

Conservative J. W. Watson admits that he has a "good" crop on his 750 acres in southwestern Mitchell county, while his banker reverses the usual order by insisting that his crop is "fine."

In most parts of Mitchell county the feed harvest is only "fair." Late rains did much to boost the harvest in northern Mitchell county.

E. Barber of Spade confidently expects to harvest 150 bales of cotton. Jim Latty, farming southwest of Westbrook, will average half a bale to the acre on much of his land. Other good crops in that vicinity are to be found on the W. E. McKinney and T. L. McKenney farms. Good crops extend nearly throughout the Conaway section.

Maturing early because of the mid-summer drouth and heat, Mitchell county's cotton crop will be harvested completely by Christmas, many authorities believe. At present there is an acute shortage of pickers in the county.

TEAMROLLER' TACTICS EMPLOYED BY AGGIES AS WEAK PLACES DETECTED

COLLEGE STATION.—The Texas Aggies began applying steamroller tactics this week as Coach Homer Norton sought to iron out offensive weaknesses that cropped out in their active scrimmage with the Trinity University Tigers, of Waxahachie, Tex., last Saturday.

The Aggies showed rugged line play on defense that failed to give an inch, but their offensive work caused Coach Norton to moan: "We were good, but, boy were we bad."

Defective timing and spotty blocking teamed to jam the Aggies' attack repeatedly, despite the fact they drove for touchdowns five of the 11 times they were given the ball in mid-field.

When their timing did work, however, the Aggies drove forward effectively, and they uncovered a goal line punch almost unknown to them the past year.

All-American Joe Routh and Virgil Jones at guard, and Sophomore-Joe Boyd at tackle stood out in the Aggies' defensive line play.

The Aggies will have another opportunity at dress rehearsal before entraining Sept. 29 for their Oct. 2 opening date with the Manhattan College Jaspers on the Polo Grounds in New York City.

A Chewy New Nut Brown Custard

With Brazil Nuts As a Basic Ingredient, Four Variations of Flavor Are Possible.

THOSE who tire of preparing the same popular desserts in the same old way will welcome this custard innovation. Chopped Brazil nuts are included in the batter. So are stiffly beaten egg whites which rise during baking to form a delicious chewy brown topping.

Four tested and distinct variations in flavor are achieved by simple substitution of ingredients as indicated in the recipes.

Brazil Nut Spongettes may be served in the custard cups in which they are baked or turned out on serving dishes. Custard made as directed is firm enough to hold its mold.

Three Simple Variations

Butterscotch Brazil Nut Spongettes: One cup of brown sugar and two extra tablespoons of milk may replace the granulated sugar, lemon juice and rind.

Sherry Brazil Nut Spongettes: Two tablespoons of sherry may replace the lemon juice and rind.

Chocolate Brazil Nut Spongettes: One and a half ounces of chocolate may be heated with one and a quarter cups of milk to replace the lemon juice and rind.

- Brazil Nut Spongettes
- 2 tablespoons butter
 - 2-3 cup sugar
 - Salt
 - 2 eggs
 - 1-2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 - 1 cup milk
 - 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 3-4 cup chopped Brazil nuts
 - 1 cup milk
- Melt butter, stir in sugar and salt and the well beaten egg yolks. Add lemon juice and rind and stir in the flour mixed with the nuts. Add the milk and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into six greased custard cups and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., forty-five minutes.

BOB BURNS AND FRIENDS TO BE AT EXPOSITION

DALLAS.—Bob Burns, Arkansas' first citizen by way of Hollywood and the radio, will make two free personal appearances in the Cotton Bowl at the Pan American Exposition in Dallas, Saturday and Sunday, September 25 and 26.

'WILD WEST' TACTICS
OF SEYMOUR COWBOYS
CAUSE ARRESTS HERE

"Wild west" tactics that went considerably too far resulted in the arrest of a group of Seymour cowpunchers here Sunday afternoon.

The cowpunchers, four or five in number, were traveling by pickup to Pecos, where they were to receive some cattle from the William Randolph Hearst ranch in New Mexico. Along the highway they'd been amusing themselves—and probably practicing for their next rodeo—by standing up in the back of the car and throwing their lariats at people walking along the highway.

Their aim got too good for their own good near Colorado. The daughter of Dick Jackson was walking along the side of the highway on the east hill when the larial caught her, throwing her to the pavement and dragging her a short distance. The man who tossed the rope turned it loose quickly, but the pickup kept traveling without stopping to render aid.

A motorist behind the pickup

ped into town, passing the cowboys on the way. He reported the happening to Dick Hickman, chief of police, who was waiting for the pickup as it came through town. The cowpunchers were fined $28 for assault.

DR. SANDEFER IN 29TH YEAR
AS PRESIDENT OF UNIVERSITY

ABILENE.—Dr. Jefferson D. Sandefer, president of Hardin-Simmons University, is beginning his twenty-ninth year as head of the leading West Texas denominational institution, established as a pioneer in the field of Christian education by a group of Abilene Baptist leaders, in 1891.

Hardin-Simmons University is beginning its forty-sixth annual session, with an increased enrollment over that of any recent year, that may set an all-time high mark, on final figures.

Dr. Sandefer, president of Hardin-Simmons since 1909, became the dean of all Texas senior college and university presidents, in point of continuous service as a college head, with the recent resignation of Dr. H. F. Estill, president of the Sam Houston State Teachers College, of Huntsville.

The veteran Texas educator, who is nationally known in his field, has directed the growth of Hardin-Simmons from modest early beginnings to its present modern plant valued at more than $1,500,000. He came to the school from the presidency of John Tarleton College, of Stephenville, upon the resignation of Dr. Oscar H. Cooper, former Texas superintendent of public instruction, twenty-eight years ago.

Dr. R. A. Collins, dean of students, predicts that the total registration will be the largest since 1929. The university's largest previous annual enrollment was 1429 young men and women, in 1928-1929. Instruction is offered this fall in more than 500 courses.

Black promises to be the favorite color for the 1937-38 winter season.

LARGER FRONTIER ROUNDUP ANOTHER YEAR IS PLAN OF MUNY AND C-C EXECUTIVES

Recently Acquired Site East Of Park Will Be Scene Of Activities Soon; Project Be Studied At Meeting

The Colorado City Frontier Roundup of 1938 is to be larger and more definitely reflect the traditions it was founded to sustain than did the initial of these celebrations held recently, according to tentative plans already mapped by executives of the municipality and chamber of commerce.

The city will start permanent improvement of the 27-acre site east of Ruddick Park within the next few weeks, or as soon as crops on the property may be harvested, the CC stated Wednesday morning. A fence will be built around the land and considerable work in the way of leveling uneven places done. Mayor Sadler was quoted as having announced.

Just how far the city and chamber of commerce plans going in making improvements to the property before date for staging second annual celebration cannot be determined now. Tentative program looking to this objective will be considered at an executive meeting of the CC on Tuesday evening, October 11, Carl Blasig, manager, outlined Wednesday.

"The site adjoining Ruddick Park on the east, donated by the city for home of this celebration, is ideally situated and possesses every requisite for improvement into a property of which every citizen of this county might well be proud," Blasig declared. The tract overlooks Ruddick Park and Colorado, is conveniently situated as to utilities, with water and gas mains and electric power lines passing near-by, and located only a short distance from a paved highway, he pointed out.

A. C. TAYLOR, RESIDENT OF LORAIN SECTION, IS BURIED THERE THURSDAY

A. C. Taylor, who had acquired extensive land holdings since he came to Mitchell county 30 years ago, died early Wednesday afternoon. He was 71 years old.

Mr. Taylor succumbed about 1 o'clock at his home six miles north of Loraine. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis about a week ago, after several previous attacks.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Loraine tabernacle, conducted by the Rev. M. F. Richardson of Abilene and the Rev. Mr. McGahey.

A. C. Taylor was born Dec. 31, 1865, in Jefferson county, Tenn. He was accompanied by his wife and seven sons and three daughters when he came to Loraine in January, 1907.

Mr. Taylor was known as one of the most successful farmers of this section. He was a member of the Baptist church. Friends said he was related to Governors Bob and Alf Taylor of Tennessee.

Survivors are his wife; seven sons, George of Victoria, Tom of Andrews, and Cline, Gray, Dexter, Henry and Will, all of Loraine; three daughters, Mrs. H. G. Tidwell, Mrs. Homer Meare and Mrs. Herman Miles, all of Loraine; three brothers and a sister.

Wolves Will Battle Hamlin Pied Pipers Here Friday Night

Team Be Backed By Sharper Public Interest As Result Victory Over Stanton

Backed by a much sharper public interest as a result of their surprisingly good showing against the Stanton Buffaloes last Friday night, the Colorado Wolves will meet the Hamlin Pied Pipers in their second game of the season on Cantrill Field Friday night at 8 o'clock.

In battling the Pied Pipers the Wolves will encounter a real test of their true strength in the opinion of local football fans.

The Pied Pipers played Winters last Friday night, and Winters, winner of the district championship last year, won over them only 7-0. A Dallas News sports commentator this week designated Winters again as the strongest team in its district. The Wolves defeated Hamlin last year 12-6.

Van King, one of the Wolves' three lettermen, is expected to be back in the game Friday night. A leg injury suffered in scrimmage kept him out last Friday night.

Coach Jack Christian has been training his boys hard this week, working especially to eliminate some of the faults which brought about penalties in last Friday night's game.

Baskin Lists Information Dealing With 1937 Loan-Subsidy Plan For Farmers

Much interest is being manifested by the cotton producers of Mitchell county in regards to the 1937 Loan-Subsidy Plan as has been announced by the Secretary of Agriculture, stated B. J. Baskin, county agent, and many producers are anxious to get some information regarding these. For the benefit of the farmers that are wanting to know something about this a series of questions and answers is given below in the hopes that such questions and answers will clear up the situation:

1. Who is eligible to borrow? Any farmer who produced cotton in 1937 and who will obligate himself to comply with the 1938 Adjustment Program, which is yet to be enacted by Congress.

2. What cotton is eligible for the loan? Any cotton produced from the 1937 crop BY or FOR the applicant. Such cotton which classes 13/16 inch in staple and middling or better in grade, or which classes 7/8 inch or better in staple and low middling or better in grade is eligible for a loan.

3. At what rate per pound will loans be made? Middling or better in grade, 7/8 or better in staple—5c; Middling or better in grade, 13/16 in staple—8c; Under middling, not below low middling, 7/8 inch or better in staple—7 1/2c.

4. By whom will the class of the cotton, upon which loans are to be made, be determined? The applicant for the loan will state in his loan papers that the cotton is equal to or better than the class required to justify the loan at the rate per pound shown therein. The warehouseman with whom the cotton is stored will furnish a certificate guaranteeing the class of the cotton to be as represented in the loan papers.

5. What rate of interest will be charged and when the notes mature? The rate of interest will be four per cent per annum and the notes will mature July 31, 1938.

6. How are these loans made? The procedure for obtaining such loans will be the same as in obtaining loans in 1935.

7. May a producer place his cotton in the loan and thereafter receive the benefit of the adjustment payment to be made by the Secretary of Agriculture? A producer may place his cotton in the loan and thereafter withdraw his cotton by PAYING OFF THE LOAN, and may then sell his cotton and, if otherwise eligible, receive the benefit of the AAA payment provided the cotton is withdrawn and actually sold prior to July 1, 1938.

Cotton Pickers Are Placed On Farms Of County, Blasig Says

Texas Reemployment Service Has Routed Many Pickers To County

Hundreds of cotton pickers have, during the past weeks, been placed on Mitchell county farms, according to Carl A. Blasig, manager of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, who has kept in close touch with this situation.

Upon request of the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Reemployment Service has routed many pickers to Mitchell county. R. L. Lewis, an official of the Texas Reemployment Service, has spent several days at Colorado and Loraine in an effort to route cotton pickers to Mitchell county fields.

The Texas Reemployment Service has promised to assist local farmers until they are fully supplied with labor for their harvest.

All farmers who have been unable to secure pickers should immediately report to the Colorado Chamber of Commerce office. A special effort will be made by this organization, in cooperation with the Texas Reemployment Service, to immediately procure the necessary labor.

"We are making every effort to stop the long caravans of pickers in this section, but in spite of our efforts, many of them insist on going on to sections where the cotton crop has not as yet opened," Mr. Lewis stated. "We predict that many of them will return here after discovering their mistake."

SURPLUS SCHOOL FUNDS EXPECTED IN SPIE OF INCREASED PER CAPITA

AUSTIN.—In the face of the highest per capita apportionment in history and a reduction in the ad valorem tax rate, the Texas available school fund should show a cash surplus at the end of the present fiscal year, according to a report today by State Auditor King.

King estimated the surplus would be $884,325. This surplus, however, would include $463,025 due the school fund as interest on State of Texas bonds which the permanent school fund holds but upon which the State has paid no interest for many years.

The present per capita rate of $22 can not be maintained, King warned, through the 1938-39 fiscal year without increased income. The amount of the anticipated deficit two years hence was not estimated.

The per capita rate was the subject of a wordy battle between the State Tax Board and the State Board of Education when the tax board cut the school tax to 7 cents and the board of education anticipated the low rate would not be sufficient to meet the $22 apportionment they already had voted.

Close cooperation between the members of a famous infield made that phrase possible—the sort of cooperation that exists between the different departments of the Humble Company. But it's not a double play Humble departments are seeking; it's a way to improve Humble products, to better Humble service. They all work to that end—production men, pipeliners, refiners, technicians, station men and dealers. Because they do, more and more Texas motorists each year acquire the Humble habit—more and more make it a regular practice to stop for service where they see the Humble sign!

HAPPENINGS AROUND W. H. S.

Lena Lee Bird

The Seniors had their ice cream supper Friday night and all were pleased with the outcome. "Someone always has to take the joy out of life" is the old saying and the Seniors got their when they got the bawling out Monday for leaving the cafeteria dirty.

The Juniors gave a skating party Tuesday night. They reported a grand time, including skinned knees and elbows.

Bookkeeping is everything that the '36 class said it was. The class works and worries until we girls are scared we are going to be gray headed before our time. Mr. Lauderdale seems to be enjoying the fun very much.

The first demerits were given this week. Shame on you, Miss McMurry. I hope the other teachers don't follow your example.

SOPHOMORE REPORT

Ruby Joe Fortune

The Sophomore class has been studying very hard, this past week. We are very glad to have Jennie Lee White, who started back here last Monday. She has been attending Odessa High school for the past three weeks.

Some of the Sophomores were guests of the Juniors Tuesday night to a Roller Rink party.

The class seems to be doing alright in all their subjects except Algebra. They can't seem to get the value of "x."

Scandal: Miss Speights told us of her Freshman year in college, but she doesn't want to say much about the red headed boy. How about it, Miss Speights, did he desert you?

SENIOR NEWS

The Senior ice cream supper was a great success. We made $15.70. The class wishes to thank each and everyone of you who cooperated so well and helped them. Especially do we thank the mothers who helped.

We are also proud of our class because each person did his part.

The Seniors are talking of a carnival that they are to give in the near future. Watch for the date!

M. L. Cope, our class president, has been ill. We are all glad to see that he is now back in school.

The Seniors felt little the other day in assembly when Mr. Lauderdale accused them of throwing paper at other classmates. Won't they ever grow up?

Elizabeth is limping this week. Just ask her why!

Some of the Seniors were invited to the Junior skating party. You should have seen them fall. Oh, those poor knees! But I've heard some of them say it was worth it!

JUNIOR NEWS

Iris Costin

The Juniors are starting the year off right. (For the pupils). We had a skating party Tuesday night which was very successful. Some of us did more scooting than skating, but I'm sure we enjoyed it as much as those who had no trouble in keeping their

Public Interest In National Affairs Is Stability Assurance

George Mahon Tells Citizens Of Big Spring That U. S. Is Inviting Peace

BIG SPRING.—Rep. George Mahon of the 19th congressional district, addressing a joint meeting of the four Big Spring service clubs, Tuesday commended a growing interest in governmental affairs and said that because of it, "the only dictatorship you fear is a dictatorship of the people."

Despite party loyalty, Mahon reminded that the congress has and is still attempting to "represent the people, not a president, nor a party."

In answering "rubber stamp" charges against the congress, he said it was his belief that that body was seeking to marshal the forces of democracy that it might "be put to work for the common good."

The broad program of social security legislation, he said, was a step in this direction.

"While we may find fault with the means," declared the congressman, "we ought not to find fault with the objectives. It is unfair to impugn the motives of those who have 'greater Americanism' at heart."

Turning to criticism that congress had become a puppet in the hands of a chief executive for the sake of patronage, Mahon asserted that "congressional patronage is no more" an indispensable congressional boon.

"I submit that the representative of the people who does not vote to profit his people, his district will not long endure as a member of congress," he said.

Mahon took cognizance of the furor surrounding judicial changes proposed by the president and regarded it as "not such an unhealthy sign." In fact, he saw in this manifestation of a real safeguard of democracy for the common good.

He did suggest to his audience however, that the "judicial is on a parity with other branches of government."

What some regard as departure from an existing type of government, Mahon regarded as legislation designed to correct a system of exploitation which had flourished in past years. Social legislation, he said, was "not for exploitation but for conservation of our natural and human resources."

Mounting appropriations have become necessary because the people have demanded more and more services. The congress, he recalled, set aside fifteen millions of dollars for vocational education. The congress is called upon to provide for the army and navy in greater amounts, Mahon said, and in many other avenues.

"Yet it is a source of embarrassment," he said in his discussion of appropriations for military affairs, "that our own ambassador is forced to forsake his embassy and take refuge in a U. S. boat."

Mahon made a staunch plea for peace, saying that he detected a "dominant note of peace" and pleaded that "we keep this dominant note one of domestic concern that the red

122 SCHOOL FLANTS ARE BUILT IN TEXAS BY WPA

One hundred and twenty-two school buildings accommodating 30,000 students, have been constructed by WPA workers in Texas, E. A. Baugh, state director of operations for the federal agency, reported.

Operated at a federal cost of $973,227 to which local governmental agencies have added $664,710, the WPA school building program includes 99 buildings ready for occupancy and 23 which are nearing completion.

Among the newly constructed buildings are 47 class room structures, 21 additions to existing buildings, 49 gymnasiums and auditoriums, five home economics buildings, five stadiums and athletic plants, and six miscellaneous buildings.

Sponsors in the Dallas WPA district with 23 buildings which cost $304,615 lead other sections of the state in this type of construction. Other WPA districts include: Marshall, 17 buildings, $147,327; Houston, eight buildings, $125,749; Fort Worth, 17 buildings, $176,726; Waco, 12 buildings, $79,394; Austin, six buildings, $200,846; San Antonio, 14 buildings, $206,611; Laredo, three buildings, $24,267; Amarillo, five buildings, $84,253; Lubbock, four buildings, $16,671; San Angelo, seven buildings, $81,230; El Paso, six buildings, $70,105.

These figures involve only new construction and do not include the hundreds of school repair and landscaping projects undertaken by the WPA in Texas, Baugh said.

Fifty-Seventh Wedding Anniversary Sunday For Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Womack

Fifty-seven years of married life were rounded out Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Womack of Colorado, residents of Mitchell county since 1891.

Seven of their nine children surprised them with an anniversary dinner at their home. Those present were Mrs. J. Lee Strain and family, Mrs. Lon A. Strain and family, Mrs. C. C. Berry and husband, J. C. Womack and wife, W. E. Womack and family, Charley Womack and family, and Ray Womack and family, all of Fairview, Cuthbert, and Colorado. Two children, Mrs. T. B. Cowan of Lubbock and Frank Womack of La Mesa, were unable to be here.

Tears came into Mr. Womack's eyes as he told about getting his children to sing together Sunday afternoon as they used to sing around the old family organ when they were growing up out at Cuthbert. Singing has always been one of his favorite hobbies, and he brought his children up to love it, sending one son with a particularly promising voice to study in Weatherford. That son lost his ability to sing during the World War.

Mr. Womack was born in Tishomingo, Mississippi on June 1, 1859. Mrs. Womack, who was Ellen Elizabeth Wingo as a girl, was born near there in 1862. Their families lived neighbors as they were growing up, but the two "went together" only about two years before their marriage on Sept. 19, 1880. Their courtship was done on horseback and in wagons, mostly going to and coming from church. Mr. Womack was something of a singer in those days. His sweetheart didn't sing, but she listened well, he says.

They had one child when they came to Texas on Jan. 3, 1882. They settled in Hill county and lived there until November, 1891, when they came to Mitchell county. Mr. Womack had bought a quarter section of land near Cuthbert. In a few years he increased that to more than a section.

Those early years weren't easy, Mr. Womack recalls. A drought hit the county shortly after they settled at Cuthbert, and in 1893 things were so bad that Mr. Womack gave up farming for the time and went to work for the late C. H. Lasky. Part of his service to Lasky was on the Lasky ranch, part in the well-known old "Lasky orchard" north of Colorado.

After four years the Womacks went back to their Cuthbert farm, re-

Memorial Honoring Frank Norfleet Is Planned By Ass'n

Flowers For The Living' Is Slogan Coined By Former Coke County Citizen

Friends of J. Frank Norfleet, rancher-sleuth, who has been the nemesis of many confidence men, believe in flowers for the living. Plans for honoring Norfleet, a pioneer of Coke county and who frequented Colorado years ago before establishing his home in Hale county, have originated at Plainview.

Granting of a charter in Austin to the J. Frank Norfleet Memorial Association was another step in the plan to erect a building on the campus of the Cotton Center School to honor Norfleet, who for eighteen years has spent most of his time running down swindlers.

Purpose of the association is given as "A benevolent, charitable and educational society for memorializing Norfleet's enforcement of the laws of the land and stamping out leeches that prey on society."

Citizens of the Cotton Center community, once a part of Norfleet's ranch, hope to build a $40,000 gymnasium, vocational education and economics building.

It was in 1919 that Norfleet—now 70—was duped out of thousands of dollars in money and property in a confidence scheme. When he realized he had been made a sucker in a skin game, he resolved to track down the lunko game that mulcted him. On one occasion, he rounded up forty-one confidence men in Denver. He also operated in California, Florida and in Texas, co-operating with officers.

BAD TEETH FREQUENT IN YOUNG SCHOOLCHILDREN

AUSTIN. — Ninety-five out of every 100 school children have decayed teeth, estimates State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, and the average pre-school child of six years has three or four cavities.

Dr. Cox this week urged Texas parents to have their children's teeth examined now by the family dentist in order that mouth defects might be corrected early and with the least possible ill-health, pain and expense.

"It isn't possible to say definitely how much time is lost in school attendance through tooth troubles and neglected teeth," Dr. Cox said. "But it is an admitted fact that if every school child could start the school year with teeth free from defects and well cared for the attendance would be materially improved. At the same time, the child would be spared the unnecessary suffering that comes from neglected teeth."

"Individual care of the teeth is of special importance in maintaining mouth health—and incidentally in keeping up the general health. Eating proper food, and a thorough cleansing of the teeth, twice a day, plus gum massage are essential for the preservation of mouth health."

"As a matter of fact, more parents should see to it that their children use their tooth brushes properly," Dr. Cox stated. "The mere fact that a child goes through the motions of brushing his teeth does not mean that his teeth will not decay. Cleanliness, and not mere brushing, is the thing to be emphasized. The proper way to brush the teeth is to brush the upper teeth downward and the lower teeth upward, sweeping across the gum in between the teeth, thereby reaching the areas most susceptible to decay."

And finally, sensible people have formed the habit of going themselves and taking their children to the dentist every six months, whether or not they notice any evidence of trouble. Periodic inspections enable the dentist to detect the beginning of tooth decay, which may be repaired before extensive damage is done. He can forestall threatening gum infections by appropriate treatment, and also, he has an opportunity to give advice about special care which may be indicated.

BOOKS

A few weeks ago we urged our teachers to lecture on and teach the pupils to read good books and on that subject we write:

Books of the Long Ago

One can but feel amazed when he realizes the amount of labor required to produce a book in the old days—when they had to be written by hand on papyrus, for example, from which plant the word paper is derived. It is likely that Homer's great works were written on papyrus. The Iliad alone consisted of twenty-four volumes, but just how much a volume consisted of as compared with what we call volumes today one can only surmise.

Homer's magnificent work was great both as to quality and quantity. His Odyssey while not so valuable a work as the Iliad, was of itself a magnificent production.

Homer and Alexander the Great

It is to his credit that Alexander the Great carried about with him a copy of Homer's Iliad, and he is said to have remarked that he wished he could find a Nation to conquer that would make his victory worthy of being recorded by such a poet as Homer. Homer's work was worthier than Alexander's. It is possible that Alexander did carry a copy of Homer's works with him on his campaigns. If he did so it probably was because his famous teachers, especially Aristotle, had impressed him with the greatness and beauty of the poet's work.

Alexander probably inherited his military genius from his father, Philip of Macedonia, and supplemented that with instructions from him and other great soldiers of his day. Another thing to Alexander's credit is that he seems to have had respect for philosophers, for not only did he receive instructions from some of them, but the famous conversations between him and the sour old Diogenes adds to this probability.

One less respectful of the learning, if not the persons, of such men as these philosophers would probably have disposed of Diogenes in a way that would not have been at all pleasant. When Alexander asked him if there was anything he might do for him, the reply was, "You can stand out of my sunlight." When the great conqueror invited the philosopher to visit him at his palace Diogenes answered, "It is no farther from your palace to my tub than it is from my tub to your palace."

Conquerors and Literature

History makes record of few great conquerors who were as fond of literature as was Alexander. It may be that he had much to do with the establishment of the great Alexandrian library, since he it was that founded the city. We are told that Ptolemy the First had much to do with that splendid achievement and that his son continued the good work.

The Alexandrian Library was the largest of the ancient world, containing more than 700,000 volumes. Had it not been that Chosroes, King of Persia, and some others took Alexandria at different periods and, unlike Alexander, cared nothing about literature, it is probable the world would have been much enriched by the books that formed the great treasure of which the library consisted. Napoleon was a writer as well as a reader of books, as was also Julius Caesar.

It is not at all improbable that the Alexandrian Library contained books bearing on the Christian religion, if not manuscripts that should have had a place in the Bible itself. Since that time many fragments of ancient books have been discovered which have been asserted to be authenticated parts of the writings that should have gone into the Scriptures. A few months ago a manuscript was discovered in the British Museum that has been asserted to be a part of the New Testament—a fragment from the Book of John.

Another instance evidencing Alexander the Great's liking for literature is found in the fact that when he destroyed all of the city of Boeotia he excepted the house of Pindar, the Greek poet. When he got to Gordium, in Phrygia, he is said to have cut the Gordian knot, which according to a seer was to indicate that he would become the ruler of all Asia.

It would not do to fail to mention the story to the effect that when Anura, General under Osman the Mahometan, reached Alexandria and captured that famous city, he was about to destroy the great library, but for a time was dissuaded by some of its worthy inhabitants. He reported the matter to Osman, his superior, and received a reply to about this effect: "If the books in the library agree with the Koran they are useless; if they do not, they are pernicious, and in either case they should be destroyed."

Great is fanaticism—in its madness, fury, folly and destructiveness.

In no other art, trade, or profession is there demonstrated more impressively that with the beginning of the recording of man's activities, his discoveries, the results of his investigations and his hopes for continuing progress and still greater achievements, than does the art of printing. It is said that the Chinese began to print with engraved wooden blocks long before it was known in Europe. It now is said that the oldest known book made by printing came to light in China a few years ago. It was from solid wood blocks and was done in the year A.D. 868.

It now is claimed by some that a book was printed from movable types in the year 1041 by Pi Sheng, a Chinaman. Even if that be true it should not detract in the least from the glory of Gutenberg and his associates, who brought forth their first about 400 years later. They knew nothing of the Chinaman's work.

From Job to the present time men have exclaimed as did the Patient man, "O that my words were now written in a book." The difference between now and in Job's day makes it read, "O that my words were now printed in a book." Along with Job and others we add: "O that my enemies had written a book."

Advertising

Our advertising man was out the other day soliciting and a big store turned him down because he stated that every one knows his place of business and he does not need to advertise.

If this were true then we might say why print a newspaper because every one knows what is going on so what's the use of having a paper? If a community can get along without a newspaper it could get along without a number of other things which are of value.

For instance the adults are educated and they can teach the children so why have schools? The parents being religious can teach the children their creeds so why have ministers and churches? People can loan their money to one another so why have banks? All trade is based upon the desire for goods. Necessity is mostly an augmented desire. Advertising has the function of reminding people of their requirements. E. J. Mendel, in The Cherokee County Democrat, Tahlequah, Oklahoma.

Knowledge

The definition of knowledge given by Confucius, the Chinese sage, is this: "When you know, to know that you know; and when you do not know, to know that you do not know—that is true knowledge."

There are few things that one can know, but these two that Confucius mentions one can know. Yet there are few who will admit the last.

Getting Knowledge

Many of us who are not favored by funds, salaries and endowments so liberally extant for those who have the pull to get them, or who do not have access to great libraries, are dependent upon other means of getting knowledge. Of course, loneliness and solitude may have its advantages but they have disadvantages too. Several great men have lived in this world with none of these accompaniments of civilization. Plato, Socrates, Jesus, Mahatma Ghandi and several others of whom I have read or heard got along very well without picture shows, lager beer, automobiles, dog races and football excitement; country dances, card parties, poker games, strip dancers, roadside necking, etc.

Old Timers

Some of the old timers of today contend that people would be much happier and more prosperous if the automobile had never been invented. I can recall when in the horse and buggy days, old timers would argue that the new faugled horse and buggy was ruining the youth of the country. The great evangelist Sam Jones railed against the "Squeeze-me-up-tight-buggies." The ox team was considered the ideal mode of wheel locomotion. An ox could easily make 20 miles a day. Occasionally a pair of steers would run into the creek and capsize the wagon. This usually occurred when the driver went to sleep and failed to let his steers have water at the proper time. In those days, it was argued that walking was the safest mode of travel. I am glad that "them good old days are gone forever."

Old Timer

Allen Payne an old timer came down last week from Slaton to greet old friends. Allen was called on to make a speech. "In my childhood days I recall, down in a certain Happy Valley town like Colorado which I visited recently and found not so, no longer. Gone is the old gray stone courthouse on the square, replaced by what looks like a nightmare out of the Chicago World's Fair. All the trees have been chopped down to make way for traffic lights and double parking. Tourists tear down Main street at fifty miles an hour and the high school set honk at them for blocking traffic. Middle-aged folk rush around madly from work to play, wondering how they'll get in a round of golf before it's time to get to the Palace for the gala premiere of "Lost Souls." Grandpa and Grandma haven't any time left for bridge any more, what for showing their grandchildren how to dance the Big Apple at the country club. Even the old swimming pool has been turned into a lily pond by the Garden Club and you have to pay to see a ball game."

In Judge Mauzey's court the prosecuting attorney asked, "Are you acquainted with any members of the jury?"

"Yes sir, with more than half of them."

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them?"

"If it comes to that, Mr. Attorney, I'm willing to swear I know more than all of them put together."

Otto Jones down on the Spade ranch was talking while here at the Old Timers reunion. Among other things he said, "Once I visited the famous Goodnight ranch and the ranchman hospitably invited me to spend the night with him. He handed me a hard and bumpy cowhide and said, 'Here you sleep on this, I'll rough it.'"

Some of our Colorado boys say the girls of today are much more familiar with golf sticks than with a broomhandle and are afraid to soil their dainty hands in dishwater.

In Jady Foster's geography class a pupil asked, "Say teacher what keeps us from falling off the earth when we are upside down?"

"Why, the law of gravity, of course," said Foster.

"Well," said the pupil, "How did the folks stay on before the law was passed?"

If we would cease inquiring what the future has in store and take as a gift whatever the day brings forth we would probably have fewer gray hairs.

No wonder the Mississippi river meanders. When you come to think that its head is in the Kingdom of the radical Governor Olson of Minnesota and its feet in the hailwick of the once noisy Senator Huey Long of Louisiana.

The teacher in his geography class at the Hutchinson school asked Jimmie, "What's a peninsula." Answer, "A rubber neck."

"No, it's a neck running out to sea."

"Well that's a rubber neck isn't it? Running out to sea."

A mother asked, "Do you know what happens to little boys who tell lies?"

"Yes, they travel for half fare."

CROP CONTROL PLAN IS BEING SHAPED UP

WASHINGTON.—The Roosevelt administration set out today to hold next year's acreage of major crops below the 1928-37 average.

Officials announced limitations with which farmers will have to comply to obtain federal benefit payments under the existing soil conservation act.

At the same time, they declared congress must enact new crop control legislation to insure effectiveness of the program.

"In the absence of other legislation," said Secretary Wallace, "normal weather conditions over several seasons again will result in the accumulation of burdensome surpluses."

H. R. Tolley, chief of the agricultural adjustment administration, added that any large group of farmers might upset the goal of the conservation program if they decided they could make more money by spurning government payments and planting all the acreage they pleased.

Congress already has agreed to give new farm legislation right-of-way at its next meeting, which may be a special session called by President Roosevelt this fall, or the regular session starting next January.

Wallace and other administration leaders believe the law-makers could back up the present program with some marking quota system or tax, to establish positive production control.

W. corner of said Lot No. 2, which is to the place of beginning.

That on such day, also, he was in possession of such premises, and on the same date the defendant unlawfully entered upon and dispossessed him of such premises and withheld from the possession thereof, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $100.00, that the defendants, and each of them, are asserting and claiming some right, title, or interest in and to the above described property, or parts thereof, the exact nature of such claim or interest being unknown to this plaintiff, but plaintiff alleges that he, and those whose title he holds, have, claiming the same under a deed duly registered, had peaceable, continuous, and adverse possession of the lands and tenements hereinbefore described, cultivating, using, and enjoying the same, for more than ten years prior to January 1st, 1937, during which time they have had such lands and tenements actually enclosed under a fence, which has been kept in good repair.

Plaintiff alleges that a note described in a deed dated January 13, 1928, executed by William Smith and wife, Hattie Smith, to Bert Smith, and recorded in Vol. 04, page 384, deed records of Mitchell County, Texas, has been paid in full, but that no release has ever been executed.

Wherefore, Plaintiff prays that the defendants and each of them be cited to answer this petition, and that plaintiff have judgment for the title and possession of the above described premises, and that all claims of defendants be quieted and held for naught, and that Plaintiff's title to the above property be quieted, for damages, for cost of suit, and that all claims of defendants be quieted and held for naught, and for such other relief, general and special, in law and equity, to which he may show himself entitled, as in duty bound he will ever pray.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
