SEMI-PRO BASEBALL TOURNAMENT TO OPEN AT MUNS' PARK JULY 7

NEARLY SCORE OF TEAMS FROM ALL OVER WEST TEXAS ARE EXPECTED TO TAKE PART

Nearly a score of semi-professional baseball teams from all over West Texas are expected to arrive in Colorado this week for the West Texas tournament of the National Semi-Pro League. The tournament will be held at Muns' Park in Fort Collins, Colo. The tournament will easily be the largest thing in the way of sports that has ever come to Colorado.

Plans for the tournament were first set on foot by E. W. Anderson, manager of the Spring district contingent of the National Semi-Pro League, in a letter to the National Semi-Pro League, which was received in Fort Collins, Colo. Anderson, a competitor in the tournament, spent the last three days of this week in West Texas, to deliver personal invitations to semi-professional baseball teams to enter the tournament. They were met with enthusiastic responses everywhere they went.

The tournament is expected to attract several major league scouts, according to Anderson. A heavy attendance of baseball fans from all over the state is anticipated.

Money will be figured to all teams entering. The winning team will be eligible to enter the state tournament at Waco beginning August 1. Winner of the state will receive $1,500, and will be eligible to enter the national tournament at Wichita, Kansas. First prize there will be not less than $3,000.

The hopes which the National League will present to the winner of the state tournament here will be high, says Anderson.

SOMEBODY OUGHT TO DO SOMETHING!

AN EDITORIAL

Somebody ought to do something. Within the near future, some West Texas town or city is going to be named the site of a $1,435,000 veterans' hospital, allotment for which was approved Saturday by PWA in Washington.

Midland and possibly other West Texas towns have already started their campaigns to secure the hospital. Surely somebody or some organization will start the ball rolling for Colorado.

It ought to be soon, for work on this hospital and 21 others approved for 19 states is slated to be underway by August 15, according to officials of the Veterans' Administration.

Somebody ought to do something!

Symbol of American liberty is the American Flag—"Old Glory"—with its forty-eight white stars on a blue field—one star for each State in the Union—and its thirteen alternating red and white stripes, representing the thirteen original States. Colors of the flag signify: Red, valor; white, purity; blue, vigilance. Symbol of American justice is the United States Supreme Court building. Both are happily combined in this significant picture.

Lily Pons, comely Metropolitan Opera star, spoke those words as she christened the new Reading Railroad luxury streamliner in Philadelphia. Beside Miss Pons is E. W. Budd Manufacturing Company of Philadelphia and makes two round trips daily between Philadelphia and New York.

Symbols for available accommodations, as used on Japanese time tables, will come to life at the Golden Gate International Exposition in 1939, which will enlarge the San Francisco tradition of cosmopolitan eating. The Japanese railway schedule prints a crossed knife and fork to indicate American meals, a tiny teapot and rice bowl denote Japanese fare.

CIRCUS TRAINER TO MOVIE STAR

Wallace Beery, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, snapped in an informal moment at his home in Beverly Hills. Beery, whose life has always been a lusty, strenuous affair, rose to his present eminence on the screen through such outstanding pictures as "The Big House," "Alvin and the Chipmunks," "The Champ" and "Grand Hotel." His last appearance on the screen was in "The Bad Man of Brimstone."

Ancient architectural forms of colorful Pacific civilizations are blended in the structures of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on San Francisco Bay, while inside the buildings the latest developments in science and industry will be featured.

Translucent "ceremonial umbrellas" thirty feet high, similar to those used in colorful Siamese pageantry, will be used as lighting standards in the Court of Reflections at the Golden Gate International Exposition, on Treasure Island in 1939. Quiet pools will mirror each image.

"Visits" to the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition will be on sale at 17,000 railroad agencies next year, under an American Express Company plan that will include railway passage, sightseeing trips, hotel accommodations—everything but meals—in a single ticket.

In its official color palette of nineteen pastel shades, the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition follows the color range of California wildflowers. All buildings on Treasure Island must conform to this official palette.

A herd of Mexican longhorns is among the "props" sought by A. L. Vollman, who will produce the significant spectacle "Cavalcade of the Golden West" at the 1939 World's Fair of the West on Treasure Island.

Operation of the electric sign over the New York Times building costs $10,000 per month.

FACTS ON SCREWORM CONTROL RELEASED THROUGH OFFICE OF THE COUNTY AGENT

Valuable information on the control of screwworms is contained in the following article issued by John Mogford, county agricultural adjustment assistant, through the office of B. J. Baskin, county farm agent.

Information received from the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, United States Department of Agriculture, together with reports from stockmen, indicate an unusually early and heavy infestation of animals by screw worms is present and that unusually heavy damage will develop in 1938 throughout Texas as the season advances.

According to R. R. Reppert, Extension Entomologist for Texas, no Federal program of screw worm control is contemplated this year as was carried on in previous seasons and farmers and stockmen will be thrown entirely upon their own resources in the application of control measures where they are necessary.

Listed below is an outline to follow that has proven to be very successful among livestock men in West Texas and is recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine:

- I. PREVENT INJURIES
  1. Primary screw worms breed only in wounds of living animals. When wounds become old, secondary screw worms or ordinary blowfly maggots may feed on the dead tissues. Watch all livestock for injuries and infestations.
  2. During winter and early spring, brand, mark, castrate, dehorn and dock animals. Docking, dehorning, and castrating should be done while the animals are young.
  3. When necessary to castrate during the summer months, apply a thin, even coat of dehydrated pine tar oil (specific gravity 1.065) to all wounds every day or two until healed. Use pincer-type emasculators on young animals and scrubs except hogs and horses.
  4. Have young born before screw worms appear. During screw worm seasons apply pine tar oil freely and thinly about base of navels of young animals.

5. Eliminate nails, projecting boards, snags, and "catch" dogs.
6. Shear carefully, then apply pine tar oil thinly to cuts every day or two until healed.
7. Look for the Gulf Coast ticks on the ears and for the spirose ear ticks deep in the internal ears. Swab light applications of pine tar oil at intervals of two weeks.

II. TREAT CASES

1. Swab the wound with cotton to remove pus, blood and blood serum. Spray benzol (commercial 90 per cent) into the wound with a rubber bulb syringe to stop flow of serum and blood. Add more benzol and plug the opening of the wound with cotton. The excess benzol is absorbed by the cotton and fumes are confined to the cavity of the wound. The fumes of benzol kill screw worms when they are breathed by the worms. Do not remove worms or cotton as they will drop out naturally. Cover the cotton plug and wound with pine tar oil to keep flies away and to aid healing. Thin applications of pine tar oil should be made to the wounds every day or two until healing takes place.
2. Mistreatments with coal tar, creosote and strong stock dips delay healing and cause large wounds which furnish breeding places for screw worms for a long time.
3. Proper treatments kill screw worms without injuring the wounds.
4. When wounds are difficult to treat, or where they occur in valuable animals, the services of a competent veterinarian should be secured.
5. Provide
  - (a) a screened house for large numbers of sheep, goats or hogs,
  - (b) chutes for handling animals, and
  - (c) a small holding pasture.
6. Examine animals shipped from localities where screw worms occur and treat injuries to prevent spread of the pest.

CHARLES WIGLEY, VICTIM OF NITRO BLAST IN HOBBS, BURIED HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Victim of a premature nitroglycerin blast which claimed seven other lives near Hobbs, N. M., late Thursday, Charles Wigley, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wigley of Colorado, was given final rites and burial here Saturday afternoon.

The funeral was held at 4 o'clock at First Christian church with the Rev. A. L. Haley, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Colorado cemetery with the following acting as pallbearers: Dr. Oscar Rhode, Jim Cantrill, Tom Morrison, Red Moon Morrison, Sherrod Smith, and P. J. Burrus.

The explosion which snuffed out Wigley's life occurred at a well where he was employed as rigman. According to newspaper accounts, the nitroglycerin time bomb exploded while being carried to the well. All the dead were badly seared and mangled, and four others were seriously injured. Included in the seven killed with Wigley was George A. Kaseman, 65, Albuquerque financier who had an interest in the well and who had come to see a well "shot" for his first time.

Wigley had been employed in New Mexico oil fields for about two years. He had returned to Hobbs on Wednesday of the week preceding his death after a week's visit here while recovering from mumps. His mother and her three grandchildren from Dallas accompanied him as far as Balmorea, and were visiting relatives there when the tragedy occurred.

Word of Wigley's death in the blast reached here late Thursday night. R. L. Wigley, father of the blast victim, was taken to Hobbs that night by Joe Jackson, Jack Hicks, and E. B. Ellis. A Kiker & Son ambulance went to Hobbs and returned Wigley's body here Friday morning.

Charles Henry Wigley was born at Balmorea on Nov. 24, 1913. The Wigley family lived there and in Toyah before moving to Colorado 10 years ago, when Mr. Wigley was transferred here by the Texas & Pacific railroad. Wigley was graduated from Colorado High school in 1934. He attended Howard Payne college at Brownwood and the School of Mines at El Paso.

In addition to his parents Wigley is survived by one brother, R. D. Wigley of Monahans. A sister, Mrs. Charles Hicks, died in Dallas about three years ago. His paternal grandmother, Mrs. H. A. Wigley, lives in Wichita Falls.

Kiker & Son had charge of funeral arrangements.

YOUTH BREAKS SHOULDER IN FALLING FROM TRAIN NEAR THE STOCK PENS

A broken shoulder was the worst injury sustained by a 16-year-old boy who fell from the top of a box car on an eastbound freight train near the stock pens east of town Wednesday afternoon.

The boy, Joy B. Tongs of DeKalb, Texas, had gone to sleep on top of the car and rolled off, according to his 18-year-old brother, who saw him fall and jumped off the train to bring him to town for aid.

The shoulder was temporarily treated here, and the county bought the injured boy a ticket home. His brother started out to hitchhike his way.

BROTHER MRS. HENRY DOSS, JR., SUCCUMBS

Bloodstream poison resulting from a nasal infection claimed the life of Wallace Land, 28-year-old brother of Mrs. Henry Doss, Jr., in a Los Angeles hospital early this week.

The body was to be brought from Los Angeles on the midnight train Thursday. Interment is to be in the Loraine cemetery. Young Land was reared south of Loraine, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Land.

PICTURES OF DR. COLEMAN AND LATE HUSBAND OF COLORADO WOMAN IN MUSEUM AT TECH

Two pictures of great interest in Colorado are to hang in that portion of the West Texas Museum at Texas Tech, Lubbock, devoted to the history of the college.

One is that of the late Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado and the other that of Thos. F. Hodge, late husband of Mrs. Pink Wade Hodge of Colorado. Both men were early workers for the founding of the college which turned out to be Texas Tech, and as such will occupy a permanent place of honor in the college's history.

The part which Dr. Coleman played in securing the college is well-known to Coloradans because Dr. Coleman was an outstanding pioneer resident of Colorado. He has been paid tribute repeatedly for his untiring work.

The part played by Mr. Hodge had its beginning while he was secretary of the Sweetwater chamber of commerce and board of city development in 1916. It was he who called the first meeting of West Texas citizens interested in the founding of a state college in West Texas in the spring of that year.

Under the guidance of Mr. Hodge, organization of the West Texas A. & M. College Campaign association resulted from that meeting. Dr. Coleman was made president of this association, and Mr. Hodge was elected secretary-treasurer.

For over a year Mr. Hodge devoted the greater part of his time and efforts to arousing public sentiment for the establishment of such a college. In the course of the year he campaigned the entire state. After touring the state he went before the legislature and succeeded in getting that body to appropriate the first $500,000 for "establishment of a West Texas A. & M."

Then came the World war, and the work stood still for several years, only to be revived in the early twenties. By that time Mr. Hodge was living in Oklahoma. He lived just long enough to see the college of his dreams an accomplished fact, his death occurring in 1926.

Mrs. Hodge, who has been manager of the Colorado hotel here for the past seven years, has received a letter from J. Doyle Settle, secretary of the West Texas Museum association, reading, in part, as follows: "We, the people interested in the founding of Texas Technological college and its continued growth and progress, appreciate very deeply the good work done by your late husband and feel it an honor to have this picture of him to hang in the museum located on the campus of Texas Tech. . . . Through the years this picture will serve as a reminder of the splendid and successful campaign he waged for higher education in West Texas."

Marion Davies, movie star, is a member of the Fine Arts committee under the chairmanship of Herbert Fleischacker, San Francisco financier, in charge of assembling the $20,000,000 fine arts exhibit at the World's Fair of the West opening next February 18.

E. B. BARNES HERE IN INTEREST OF CAMPAIGN

Visiting with a former employe, John Baze, and other friends, E. B. Barnes, candidate for state treasurer, visited in Colorado Tuesday.

Barnes was in the newspaper business in Snyder for 20 years, and it was there that Baze, now shop foreman on The Record, worked for him.

EAST SIDE SINGERS TO MEET ON SUNDAY

Members of the East Side Singing association are to hold their quarterly convention at Pleasant Valley four miles north of Loraine Sunday, beginning at 10 o'clock.

TWO 4-H GIRLS, FOUR HD WOMEN GOING TO A. & M.

GIRLS AND SPONSOR ARE TO LEAVE ON TUESDAY; WOMEN GOING LATER

At least two 4-H club girls and four home demonstration women will represent Mitchell county at the A. & M. Short courses, according to Miss Vara Crippen, county home demonstration agent.

The girls, Dorene Adrian of Landers and Juanita Brown of Valley View, will leave Tuesday with Landers 4-H club sponsor, Miss Ethel Adrian, for the boys' and girls' division of the Short course. They will travel in a bus containing Scurry and Nolan county delegates, and will be at A. & M. through Friday. Miss Crippen is going to the course in her car, and will remain over for an agents' meeting which will last until July 12.

Dorene Adrian will attend the course as winner of the county clothing contest for 4-H girls. Juanita Brown will go as a poultry demonstrator who has done consistently good work.

Home demonstration club women attending the adult course beginning July 13 and closing July 16 will be Mrs. Frank Andrews of Hyman, Mrs. J. F. McCabe of McKenzie, Mrs. Tom Jackson of Iatan, and Mrs. W. W. Jenkins of Fairview.

PLAYTIME — Famed Bailey's Beach, exclusive play spot for society at Newport, R. L., is open again and neighboring villas and estates are being made ready for the summer colony. Among early arrivals was Mrs. Pierpont Johnston of Boston, shown above.

SIX THOUSAND POUNDS OF HOPPER POISON TO TWENTY-EIGHT FARMERS

Six thousand pounds of poison bran mash to be used in poisoning grasshoppers have been distributed to twenty-eight Mitchell county farmers in the week since distribution was begun here, according to J. V. Glover, who has charge of the mixing plant.

The plant is located in the seed house of Farmers' No. 3 gin. There is still plenty of poison for farmers desiring to use it, Glover says. The government furnishes all the poison and half of the bran. Each farmer furnishes half of the bran, or a substitute, and pays 25 cents per hundred pounds to cover mixing and distribution costs.

EGG COOKERY DISCUSSED AT HYMAN CLUB MEETING

By Mrs. Carl Lowry, Reporter "Egg Cookery" was discussed at the meeting of the Hyman Home Demonstration club with Mrs. Edgar Andrews on June 17.

A demonstration on the different ways of preparing eggs to make them appetizing and digestible was given by Mrs. Carl Lowry. She pointed out that eggs cooked at a high temperature lose their food value and become less tasty.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Frank Andrews, Mrs. Walter Averitt, Mrs. Otto Schuster, Mrs. Elnor Crenshaw, Mrs. Lowry, and the hostess.

TWO FROM HERE TO BOY SCOUT MEETING

Two local Boy Scout officials, W. W. Porter and J. A. Ferguson, were in Big Spring Monday night for the quarterly meeting of the executive board of the Buffalo Trails council, Boy Scouts of America.

Porter attended as chairman of the Colorado Scout district and Ferguson as finance chairman of the district.

BUICK MACHINES STILL ROAD-TESTED FOR FLAWS

FLINT, Mich.—In the early days of the industry, automobiles were road tested to see if they worked.

With the development of volume production, attended by steady improvement in manufacturing quality and the invention of almost miraculous machinery, equipment and methods that make volume production possible, the old principle of road testing sticks.

Obviously it is impossible to take every car off the assembly line for a jaunt through the country. And obviously, this sort of testing is unnecessary because of advanced methods of production.

But Buick, in effect, road tests every car that comes off its assembly line. It does this on the "rolls," an ingenious mechanical device located in the final assembly factory consisting of a pair of solid steel wheels three and a half feet in diameter and weighing several tons.

The wheels are mounted flush with the factory floor and the cars are driven on them in such a manner that the rear wheels of the automobile rest upon the steel testing wheels. Chucks hold the car stationary and the engine is started. Expert car testers then put the Buicks through their paces, testing the entire car for engine operation, all transmission speeds and rear axle ring and pinion and differential gears.

The transmission and rear axle gears are checked with extreme care for noise on this test. Should a transmission be found to be noisy on the rolls, the car is pulled off the line and turned over to transmission specialists who take the car out, road test it and perform other careful checks to determine the exact causes. If it is merely a matter of adjustment, the adjustment is made by these specialists. If it is a fault not remediable by adjustment, they pull the transmission out of the car and replace it. It is a tribute to Buick's transmission manufacture that rejections for noise and all other causes amount to only 2 to 4 of one per cent.

The same is true of the rear axle gears. Experts from the gear and axle department are assigned to the final assembly to shoot any possible trouble, with the result that Buick owners are never let down by these stout chassis units.

But, besides road testing every car, Buick also road tests cars from the line. The Buick inspection department as well as Buick's president, himself, and other engineering and manufacturing executives, make a practice of driving cars off the assembly line and road testing them personally.

Such executive tests are a super-inspection of the whole car and a constant executive check on manufacturing and design quality.

TO VISIT AMERICA—King Gustaf V of Sweden, who recently observed his 80th birthday, Crown Princess Louise and Crown Prince Adolf, are shown singing the Swedish national hymn, during a festival in Stockholm. The Crown Prince and his wife are to visit America about June 29, for the Delaware tercentenary observance at Wilmington.

That's the record of a bit of ingenuity and labor on the part of Ann Rutherford. Seeing the original in a store, Miss Rutherford copied and made it herself. It is a periwinkle blue organdy, with stiff matching taffeta petticoats. Full capped sleeves and neckline frills are caught with narrow blue velvet ribbon; cording is of taffeta.

DECLINE SHOWN IN TEXAS FARM NUMBERS

COLLEGE STATION.—The number of Texas farms declined by 20,000 the last year, Dr. C. Horace Hamilton, economist for the Texas Experiment Station, announced Friday. Texas farms on Jan. 1, 1938, totaled 478,000, compared with 498,000 the same date the year before.

Dr. Hamilton attributes the drop to an increase in farm tractors and consequent consolidation of farms into larger units.

However, Hamilton's figures show that the total farm population remained stable during the year, the result of displaced farm operators remaining in the country as farm laborers. Population Jan. 1, 1938, was 2,291,700, compared with 2,290,700 the same day a year before.

Continuing his discussion of the survey, Dr. Hamilton said: "During the last two years the number of tractors on Texas farms has increased approximately 75 per cent and during 1937 the number of farm tractors increased about 23 per cent. The number of tractors on Texas farms on Jan. 1, 1938, has recently been estimated by the Farm Implement News to be 98,966.

"During 1937 there were 59,000 births and 29,000 deaths on Texas farms, making a natural increase of 30,000. In addition to this natural increase there was a small farm population gain of about 8,000 due to interstate farm migration. These gains in Texas farm population, however, were approximately balanced by a net migration loss to towns, cities and villages of approximately 46,000. During 1937 the survey shows that 111,000 farm people migrated to towns, cities and villages; while 65,000 migrated from cities, towns and villages to Texas farms.

The number of births on farms increased from 53,000 in 1936 to 59,000 in 1937, largely because of increased marriage during 1935 and 1936. It is doubtful if the number of births per married farm woman increased any at all."

Brazil, with its population of 49,000,000 and its wide variety of scenic and industrial highlights, will bring a graphic display to Treasure Island for the Golden Gate International Exposition in 1939. This huge South American republic will be explained in terms of commerce, culture and tourist appeal as a part of the "Pageant of the Pacific."

FARM WORK REDUCED 20% IN PAST HUNDRED YEARS

WASHINGTON.—Farm production has been mechanized to a degree comparable with industry, according to the department of agriculture.

Power machinery has largely replaced horses and mules during the past 20 years in most sections of the country, W. M. Hurst, of the bureau of agriculture engineering, said.

Machinery development makes it possible for individual farmers to grow 100 acres of corn with the same amount of labor that his grandfather used in growing and harvesting five acres in 1838, R. B. Gray, of the same bureau, said.

Recent investigations, Gray said, show that the modern farmer spends no more time or labor in producing 5,000 bushels of corn than did the farmer 100 years ago in producing 250 bushels.

In 1855, Gray said, the corn farmer used a walking plow, and planted and harvested by hand. He needed 33.6 hours of labor to grow one acre of corn. The amount of labor per acre was cut to 15.1 hours in 1885 and 6.9 in 1930, he said.

"Further improvements in machinery within the past eight years—including four-row planters and cultivators and general purpose tractors—make it possible now to produce an acre of corn with five hours of labor," Gray said.

The development of the general purpose tractor, Hurst said, "probably has affected American agriculture as much as, if not more than, the development of the reaper and steel plow of a century ago."

Only during the past 10 or 12 years, he said, have tractors been developed suitable for planting and cultivating row crops, for plowing, disking and belt work. Use of pneumatic tires has greatly increased the practicability of tractors for both farm work and road hauling.

"Adapting of field machinery to use with tractors," Hurst said, "constitutes the major recent development in what is generally known as farm implements. New machinery permits higher speed and increases effectiveness in turning under cover crops."

TEXAS COUNTIES FACING INFESTATION OF HOPPERS

COLLEGE STATION.—Crops in 117 Texas counties are threatened with the most severe grasshopper infestation in the history of the state, R. R. Reppert, entomologist of the extension service of Texas A. and M. college and state grasshopper control leader, said.

"The Texas allotment of poison material from federal sources is exhausted, federal entomologists have advised Reppert.

The state allotment was 300 carloads of material with each car containing 40,000 pounds of bran and 400 gallons of sodium arsenite. Some 50 carloads were available from the 1937 allotment, and this, when matched by farmers, gave the state a supply of 700 carloads. Scattered at the usual rate of 10 pounds an acre, the supply was enough to cover almost 3 million acres.

"The infestation has developed almost exactly along the line forecast by us in early spring and the control campaign has been in the main very effective," Reppert said.

"Nevertheless, enough hoppers remain to do untold damage to crops unless control measures can be continued," he added. The state allotment was exhausted on June 18, although shipments of material made on that date are still on the way to Texas.

Meanwhile the state grasshopper control committee is receiving urgent request for additional shipments. The committee has presented the Texas needs to the federal agency and asked for additional allotment, but Reppert said other states also faced severe infestations.

"The migratory hopper, the most dangerous species, is centered around Dallas, Hartley, Sherman and Moore counties and surrounding areas. Heaviest shipments have been made to these counties and to Hardeman, Childress, Potter, Randall and Hansford.

The indications are that additional material may be allotted to counties where the migratory grasshopper is prevalent, Reppert said.

SKIDS AND BLOWOUTS REAL SAFETY MENACE

Only two dangerous things can happen to an automobile tire, a blow-out or a skid, according to Henry Vaught.

"Five years ago The B. F. Goodrich Company introduced a tire with a special ply built in the carcass to afford protection against blowouts and now offers the Silverstone safety tread for maximum resistance against skidding.

"More than 100 different tread designs and 380,000 miles of actual road testing during the past two years went into the development of this new tire.

"Incorporating revolutionary non-skid and braking effectiveness as well as the advantages of the special ply, the new tire will do much to make motoring safe under all conditions.

"Skidding accidents during 1936 again showed an increase over the preceding year. According to statistics compiled by insurance companies, approximately 40,000 people lost their lives in automobile accidents in 1937, an increase of 2,000 over figures for the preceding year," Mr. Vaught said.

WHEN IS A BAD DEBT NOT A BAD DEBT? BOB PRICE WANTS TO KNOW

When is a bad debt not a bad debt? That is what Bob Price, Colorado business man, would like to know after an experience of this week.

Thirty years ago a certain family moved away from Colorado owing Price's firm $90 for groceries—Price was in the grocery business here in those days, although he has been in the hardware and implement business during recent years.

Fifteen years ago the man who made the debt sent Price $50. As additional years passed Price almost forgot the $40 that remained on his books.

The other day a 36-year-old man walked into the Price office, asked for the balance on that old debt, and paid it in cash. He was the son of the man who made the debt, and, as a six-year-old youngster, no doubt helped eat the groceries.

He had come 160 miles to pay the debt that has worried his 77-year-old father so much. He's a man of moderate means, laboring to support his own family and his aged father and mother. And to him the fact that the debt went 30 years unpaid overshadows his own integrity in paying it after all these years—so much so that he refused to let his name be used in this story.

OPTIMISM COMES TO FARMERS WITH GENEROUS RAINS

SPECTRE OF SUMMER DROUGHT GROWS DIM; JUNE WETTEST SINCE 1935

Dimming the spectre of summer drought for hundreds of wind-harried Mitchell county farmers, and bringing optimism to farmers and ranchmen alike, slow generous rains blanketed the county Friday night, Saturday, and Sunday morning.

The rain gauge at Colorado showed .18 for Friday night, .65 inches for Saturday morning, and .48 inches from mid-afternoon Saturday to Monday morning. These brought the total for June to 3.29 inches, a figure larger than that for any June since 1935. The 4.21 inches which fell in June, 1935, was the largest for the county since 1926.

In June, 1937, the county got but .80 inches rain. This was balanced, however, by 3.38 inches in May, 1937, as compared with 1.23 inches for the May just past.

From the Renderbrook ranch came reports of a 7.50-inch fall over most of the ranch territory during the week-end. Otto Jones, ranch manager, said Monday that his cattle are now assured of good summer grazing.

Farmers were kept busy during the first part of the week replanting land which had been too dry for planting before the rain and scratching the soil around tender young cotton and feed before winds could get in their damage.

SHOWERS FAIL TO DAMPEN ENTHUSIASM OF RUDDICK PARK CROWD FOR PROGRAM
STAGED BY RANGER'S TICKVILLE BAND

Showers which sent them ducking at intervals under newspapers and raincoats failed to dampen the enthusiasm of nearly 3,000 Mitchell countians for a program staged by the American Legion Tickville band of Ranger and other Ranger talent on the weekly amateur hour program of the chamber of commerce at Ruddick park amphitheater Friday evening.

Heartiest applause went, naturally, to the Tickville band, whose hilarious, hillbilly-style entertainment was acclaimed at prominent state conventions all over Texas during the years of its activity, 1931-35.

First prize money was awarded, however, to Dorothy Henry, talented young tap-dancer. The xylophone ability of young Elsie Ellen Hummel was second, and the violin playing of Muri Dean Murrell was third. All three were accompanied by Mrs. Weldon Webb, pianist.

The program opened with the usual concert by the Colorado school band with R. P. Rose directing. H. B. Spence, chamber of commerce manager, then introduced Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, who moved to Colorado from Ranger a few months ago, as master of ceremonies for the Ranger portion of the show.

Dr. Logsdon was director of the Tickville band all during its nearly five years of activity. It disbanded in 1935 because it was no longer able to accept all the requests received for performances without seriously encroaching on the working time of its members, all business and professional men of Ranger. Until the band appeared at Ruddick park, it had not been assembled in two years.

The group was brought here by the local American Legion post at the suggestion of several members who had heard it during its active years. Two of the band members, Dr. Logsdon and Dr. Clyde C. Craig, no longer live in Ranger. Dr. Craig is now located in Lubbock.

The tap-dancing, violin, and xylophone numbers preceded the band's portion of the program. The band's portion was in reality a program within itself, including both vocal and instrumental specialties and a burlesque "Spanish" dance which was a laugh-spot of the evening. Members of the band were introduced as Harry Henry, Lonnie Herring, Johnnie Ducker, Dr. Craig, Clayton Hunt, C. J. Moore, Edwin George, Jr., and J. J. Kelley, in addition to Dr. Logsdon.

The entire program has been repeatedly described by those present as one of the best ever presented in the amphitheater, and the Tickville band has been invited to return here and appear at the Frontier Round-up in September. Visitors were present Friday night from Monahans, Lubbock, Odessa and other points. When asked once by Dr. Logsdon if they wanted "to stop the program and go home out of the rain," the entire audience answered from under folded newspapers and raincoats a decisive "No!"

YOUNG VIOLINIST FROM RANGER PRESENTED ON LIONS PROGRAM FRIDAY

Violin numbers by Muri Dean Murrell, young Ranger girl, were presented on the program of the Lions club luncheon Friday.

Miss Murrell was introduced by Oscar Majors, chairman of the program committee. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Weldon Webb, also of Ranger.

These two and Arthur Murrell, also of Ranger, were guests at the luncheon. Mr. Murrell being the special guest of Dr. Harry A. Logsdon.

Two new members, Ford Merritt and W. L. Doss, Jr., were presented to the club by Thos. R. Smith.

Jack Helton, club president, appointed Joe Earnest, C. M. Adams, and Thos. Daves on the entertainment committee for July. Installation of new officers, head by Jake Richardson as president, will be held at the meeting Friday.

BIG SPRING SAND
BELTERS WIN OVER
COLORADO 26 TO 14

Obie Bristow and Shirley Robbins played first and second places for Big Spring. Q. D. Shepperd and Ben Costin were the only Coloradoans winning their matches.

Playing for Colorado in addition to Shepperd and Costin were Lee Dorn, James Pritchett, Percy Bond, Jimmie Cook, Jake Merritt, and Joe Pritchett.

REV. W. D. GREEN TO HOLD TENTH REVIVAL
FOR LOONEY BAPTISTS

His tenth revival for a church which he founded 19 years ago will be opened Friday, July 8, at Looney Baptist church by the Rev. W. D. Green of Knox City.

The first service in the meeting will be held on Friday night, July 8, at 8:15. The meeting is to last 10 days with services held twice daily. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Miles are to be in charge of music and singing.

After organizing the Baptist church at Looney 19 years ago, the Rev. Mr. Green was its pastor for three years before going to San Angelo. From San Angelo he came to Colorado as associational missionary for the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist association. The Rev. Mr. Green was pastor at Sylvester before going to Knox City several years ago. He is well known all over Mitchell county having pastored a number of churches in this area.

Although he has held nine other revivals at Looney, the Rev. Mr. Green has not been in a meeting there for nearly eight years past. The church at Looney has been without a pastor for some time.

TETANUS CLAIMED LIFE
OF 14-YEAR-OLD MARIE
DANIEL LAST THURSDAY

Tetanus claimed the life of Marie Daniel, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Daniel of Hyman, in Root hospital shortly before 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. She was the last of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel's four children, two younger sisters and a younger brother having died several years ago.

The infection developed, it is thought, from a minor scalp wound which the child sustained when she fell from the back end of a pick-up on June 11. She was given the tetanus serum when the wound was treated at the hospital at the time of the accident. She returned to the hospital Saturday after having developed temperature and locked jaws.

The parents have lived at Hyman about 12 years. Funeral services were held at the graveside in the Iolanthe cemetery Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Jones & Russell had charge of arrangements.

ROBT. MOORE ACCEPTS TEACHING JOB AT WINK

Moore is now attending Duke university in Durham, N. C., studying graduate English. The latter part of the summer he is to study speech arts in Northwestern university at Chicago.

BACK ON JOB

EARLY MORNING BLAZE AT HAMBURGER STAND

An early-morning fire in the hamburger stand just north of the Alcove drug on Walnut street called out the fire department Monday about 5 a.m.

Interior of the stand, recently bought by Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Moore of Snyder, was damaged less than $50 worth, according to Firechief Ed Majors. The blaze was extinguished by the fire boys in a few minutes.

Mrs. Williams said that some trash under a counter became ignited when she accidentally swept the gas hose loose from a lighted stove.

ARCHDEACON HEYES AND YOUNG PEOPLE RETURN

Accompanied by two local young people, Frances McCordle and Earnest Porter, and Lucille Ayres of Coleman, Archdeacon J. W. Heyes of All Saints' Episcopal church returned Friday from the annual summer encampment of young North Texas Episcopalians at Ceta canyon near Amarillo.

Miss Ayres remained here to spend the week-end and early part of the week with Lou Heyes and Nina Laura Smith. Archdeacon Heyes was on the camp's teaching staff.

Despite a heavy rain, Thompson drew a crowd of several hundred. His talk here was a part of his swing into West Texas the last of the week after a heavy schedule in the Rio Grande Valley.

Mrs. Dean is also authorized to receive and receipt for subscriptions for the Colorado Record and to transact other business for Whipkey Printing Company. See her and take your county paper.

LOCAL CIRCLES

The Local Circle of M. E. W. M. S. met Monday, June 27, in the home of Mrs. O. E. Stevenson. Crystal vases of gorgeous dahlias and mari- golds were distributed throughout the living and dining rooms and added a note of beauty to the hospitality of the home.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Arlie Martin presided. The circle hymn "Work For The Night Is Coming" was led by Miss Jo Palmer. Prayer was offered by Mrs. O. E. Stevenson. Response to roll call was memory verses of scripture. A good social service report was made. All old and new business was transacted.

As devotional Miss Jo Palmer gave extracts from an article from "Pictorial Review," by Celia Carolyn Coll with special emphasis on vision. She said, "Your ability is always equal to your vision." Mrs. Ed Williams gave three of Dr. Frank Crane's four minute essays, one of which was especially impressive since we saw ourselves "written up" on one of "those days" which come to everyone at some time when "you hate everybody and they all hate you" when everything goes "topsy turvy." It's just you, he said.

Mrs. J. A. Scoggins led in prayer. The hostess assisted by Mrs. Hendricks served punch with pink and white angel food cake with favors of corsages of pink and white spring flowers and fern. The usual large attendance was somewhat cut by illness and rain.

Those present were Mesdames Scoggins, Ernest Meadows, John Mahon, C. W. Palmer, Ed Williams, Arlie Martin, W. S. Thomas, G. W. Hendricks, Roy Edwards and Miss Jo Palmer.

WALLACE LAND FORMER BOY DIED IN LOS ANGELES

Word was received here Tuesday of the passing of Wallace Land, 28-year-old single son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Land, who reside south from town. The body is to be brought here for burial and will be accompanied by his brother, Garland Land, and a sister Miss Lorene Land of Los Angeles.

Other survivors besides the parents are four sisters, Misses Lonice and Eunice Land, Mrs. Henry Doss of Colorado, Mrs. Vern Lish of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Deceased, born and reared here.

had resided in Los Angeles only a little over a year. He was manager of the shipping department of a wholesale drug company at the time of his illness. Prior to his going to California he was employed at Sweetwater. He had been a member of the Bethel Baptist church for several years.

Funeral arrangements not complete at present. It was learned Wednesday morning the body is to arrive in Loraine on the No. 2, 12:33 train Thursday night. Interment will be made in Loraine cemetery.

COUNCIL MEETING

The Young People's Department of the Loraine Methodist church met in their regular monthly council meeting Tuesday night, June 28, in the home of Duane Bruce.

The house was called to order by the president and an interesting devotional was given by Duane Bruce after which Rev. J. A. Scoggins offered prayer. During the business session plans were discussed for the union meeting which is to be held in Loraine July 7 and programs were made out for the month of July. The meeting then adjourned.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

It was rather fun—at least, the crowd seemed to feel that way—to duck under and then out from under newspapers, magazines, and coats as

Annie Jarratt, Mr. and Mrs. Edd E. Williams and their children were guests at Wayside Park Thursday evening, June 23rd, when the C. M. Thompson children, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. ### GAME CLUB MEETS WITH WILLING WORKERS

Bingo opened the playing. High score went to Mrs. William Martin. Contest winners in brain teasers were Mrs. Benton Templeton, Mrs. Charlie Thompson, Kirk Taylor, and Wylie Walker.

Refreshments were served to the twelve couples of the club.

showers passed over Ruddick park during the Ranger amateur program Friday night. . . . Every time it looked like the showers might become real downpours, and there's high compliment to those Ranger artists in the fact that the crowd stayed on, refusing to leave even when Dr. Harry Logsdon gave them the chance.

Big game hunters, those H. I. Ber-man twins, Stanley and Irwin. . . . They found a snake in the garage at their home the other day, and both let loose with their air guns. . . . The poor snake hadn't a chance—he was riddled.

"The water's fine—you ought to be here." . . . Thus wrote the Rev. C. E. Jameson and family from Galveston this week. . . . They are coming home Friday.

All the way from Lucerne, Switzerland, came a postcard which Mrs. J. W. Dorn received this week from her daughter, Gladys Dorn of Washington, who has been touring Europe and Mediterranean prints since May.

A wedding which this column fore-told for August some time ago will, it develops, take place in mid-July instead. . . .

If you wonder why The Record doesn't carry as much about your favorite candidates as you perhaps think it should, you might come down and look in our north front window (over there under the Windex bottle and see the stack of "free candidate publicity" which has come into this office in the past three weeks. . . . A lot more came before that, but the boss, Walter W. Whipkey, just started his collection recently. . . . From that stack you can readily see that if a weekly like The Record were to use all or even part of that publicity, there'd be little room left for what your neighbor's doing each week. . . . We shall try to carry short stories when prominent state candidates come here and make speeches, and that is about all a paper our size can afford to do. . . . And whatever favorite candidates we have of our own will receive the same treatment as yours and yours and yours. . . .

Stacked into Ted Morris' Ford sedan, four of Colorado's young men took off coastward Wednesday morning in hilarious spirits. . . . Sitting in the back seat with the coats and bags was Gene Soper. . . . Patsy Doss (grown surprisingly nice-looking and adult this past year), Wilson Wyatt, and Ted were in the front seat. . . . Their first destination was Corpus Christi. . . . Seeing them made me wish, momentarily, that I were a man so I could do my traveling in the carefree fashion which seems to be the exclusive privilege of men and boys. . . . We poor women have to go, we think, with more or less "trappings"—and the result is that most of us don't ever get to go. . . .

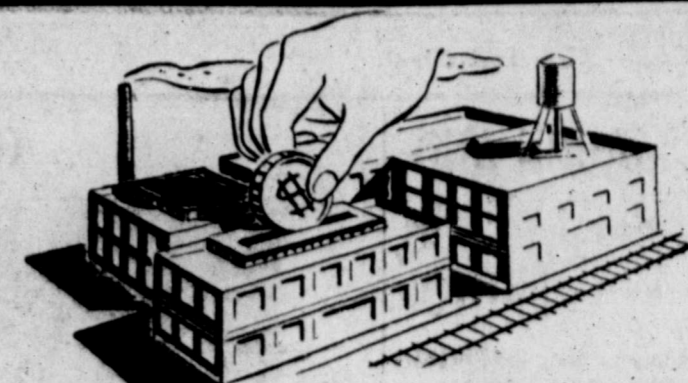

A major disappointment came to T. Y. Pool of Colorado, Mitchell county's one surviving Civil War veteran, last week when it was definitely decided that his health would not permit his attending the first and last Union-Confederate reunion on the field of the Battle of Gettysburg June 29-July 6. . . . Mr. Pool's transportation was received here last week by John T. Howell, T. & P. agent, but he didn't get to use it. . . . A son-in-law of Fort Worth was to have made the trip with Mr. Pool, since each veteran is permitted an escort. . . . All veterans attending the reunion are traveling in air-conditioned pullman comfort, their expenses and that of their escorts paid by the national government. . . . Mr. Pool is past 90 and recently has been having considerable trouble with his heart.

They told me to say in this column that Bob Fee spent two weeks in Mineral Wells getting in shape for the softball game between the Colorado Lions and the Abilene Lions on Wednesday, and then wouldn't play. . . . They told me to do that and then see if he'd break my neck like he said he would. . . . Brotherly love, I call it. . . .

Well, here comes The Glorious Fourth once more. . . . My most un-favorite holiday, thank you, and I make no secret of that. . . . In all my prying around this week I found very, very few who had definite plans for the double holiday week-end. . . . It's always possible to get up a fair story on what Coloradans plan doing Labor Day, Armistice, Thanksgiving, Christmas, but not so The Fourth. . . . Everybody seems to have plans about as definite as my own, and I've none at all, so that gives you an idea. . . .

Noted in a Presbyterian publication: That the Rev. John Elliott, who is pastoring the Presbyterian church at Goshen, Ky., during the summer, recently held a revival meeting which resulted in 15 church additions.

'You and Me' Is Powerful Drama Of City Streets

Sylvia Sidney, who proved herself filmdom's first tragedienne in "An American Tragedy," "Street Scene," "Fury" and "You Live Only Once," will come to the screen of the Ritz theatre Saturday midnight prevue, Sunday and Monday, July 2, 3, and 4 in her latest film success, "You and Me," in which she is co-starred with George Raft. The pair lead a brilliant cast of supporting players which include Warren Hymer, George E. Stone, Barton MacLane, Robert Cummings and Harry Carey.

Miss Sidney and Raft, last seen together in "Pick Up" several seasons ago, are together again in another drama of hounded humans, "You and Me." It is a powerful romance of the city streets, and Miss Sidney seen as a paroled ex-convict who keeps her past from Raft, also an ex-convict when they marry.

The pair live an ideally happy life, despite the fact that Miss Sidney must keep the knowledge of her wedding from the probation authorities, because of a law that paroled convicts must not marry. When Raft gets suspicious, because of her dodges to keep this secret, she confesses all—but reveals that she did not tell him of her parole because of her fear of losing him.

Bitterly disillusioned, Raft leaves his wife, despite all her pleadings to the contrary, and goes back to the only friends he knows, his former gangster pals. With them he plans a robbery of the department store where he is employed.

When Miss Sidney learns of this, she throws everything else overboard and goes to Harry Carey, Raft's employer, and reveals her knowledge of the coming crime. From this point, the drama moves with ever-increasing intensity to a powerful climax.

ROGERS RAMBLINGS

My high resolve—Anger versus kindness. I rise to my high privilege as a royal child and determine that I shall always carry above me the atmosphere of gentleness and kindness. I positively refuse to submit to the cruel stoop of a bad temper. I will not stoop to the brutal insane demands of anger. Its poison shall never be secreted in my body. Its pollution shall never corrupt my heart. Its sting shall never wound the heart of a friend or acquaintance. I refuse to give any place whatsoever to its cruelty.

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on thee because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the Lord forever for in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength."—Isa. 26:3-4.

I am determined to be quiet even under fire. If falsely accused I shall remain silent for the father's vindication. If imposed upon, my soul shall stay at peace knowing my father will take complete care of all my interests. I declare my freedom in my master's name. In Him I shall live the life of quietness and gentleness. Through Him I shall know the wealth of tenderness and the sweetness of kindness.

GERALD C. MANN IS SPEAKER HERE

Declaring his desire to give the people a constructive administration, Gerald C. Mann, Dallas attorney and a candidate for attorney general, told a crowd here Tuesday afternoon that "it is time we stopped playing at the game of politics and gave more attention to the business and science of government."

Mann reviewed his past service to the people as an assistant attorney general, secretary of state and Washington representative of the Texas Planning Board and he invited a comparison of his record as a lawyer with that of any of his opponents.

A VERSE BY R. D. NEEL Valley View

A contented mind is a continual feast
Some love the West, some love the East
One finds drawbacks in every clime,
This, that and the other to ninety and nine.
Out West we complain of the wind
and sand,
Yes, very annoying to both woman
and man,
But hold your hat on, do the best
you can,
For we have no malaria in this western
land,
If one lives back East, its rain and mud,
Malaria, seedtick, chiggers and flood,
We all find our drawbacks in every
land
So we choose the West with its wind
and sand,
We do not like malaria, swamps and floods
We'll remain in the West where our health is good.

EDITORIAL

We turn this column this week over to our friends W. M. Turner, Clarence Dossey and Harry Landers.

LIFE OF MAN

To the Columnist:

In studying the life of man and his relation to the universe we find one outstanding fact which should receive due respect. God creates and man discovers. People may wonder why man has required so much time for discovering a few laws of the creator. A brief perusal of history in reference to kings and other despots will give us valid reasons why man has been forced to oscillate and mark time in his determination to delve into the mysteries of nature.

In reviewing progress attained during the last thirteen hundred years, we find the last three hundred entitled to credit. The other one thousand years are only a rabble. Divine right of kings fell in disrepute about three hundred years ago when the English people removed a king's head from his body. After this incident we notice a progressive tendency (with an occasional jolt) to justice and freedom.

When people are allowed free expression they are sure to make worthwhile discoveries. According to American newspaper reports a recent statement appearing in a Spanish fascist newspaper about literacy is almost exactly what Governor Berkeley of Virginia said in 1670 about education for the American people in the days before the American revolution.

Here is what he said: "I thank God there is no free schools, nor printing, for learning has brought disobedience and heresy into the world, and printing has divulged them." Franco's newspaper Coreo de Espana of Bilbao, recently contained the following: "All of Spain's troubles originate from the stupid idea of the government in teaching Spaniards generally to read. To teach a man to read is nothing less than putting him in condition to assimilate poisons which will make the country miserable."

The opinions cited above should make us true to our free school system. A mental clamp placed by the government results in stagnation. Recently man, the discoverer, developed a machine which caused electricity to leap a space of sixteen feet. To do this required time and much study. God, the creator, made an immutable condition whereby lightning may leap several miles from cloud to cloud far above the earth, sending off vibrations which may frighten all earthly creatures.

Men and women who enjoy hard mental work will find plenty of room for their endeavors. The opportunity for new discoveries seems to be as limitless as space. I fail to see the impropriety in briefly presenting a comparison of man's accomplishment and God's wonderful creative power. The chronometer, an instrument for measuring time does not even approximate the accuracy of the earth in making its revolution around the sun. And at the same time maintaining a speed of about eighteen miles a second and being bombarded constantly by meteors and must look out occasionally for comets; this faithful and accurate bus comes in with us to any given station with an error of variation of less than one sixteenth of one second year after year! To descend to personal recollections, my first impression after learning to read directed me to study natural law. It is fascinating and will take care of many idle hours. The creation taken as a whole is as inconceivable as our national debt. We may learn enough to grasp its greatness.

Man of the future will no doubt consider the present generation quite dumb. We may boast that a Copernicus or a Galileo would not be persecuted during this age. Not only the celestial universe presents a problem for study—the human mind holds many secrets for the investigator. Man can do what the great ocean cannot weigh the stars.

War clouds are forming and man may once more be forced to mark time and wait for clear mental weather to pursue progress and wise living. Despotism may follow the next war.
Westbrook, Texas. W. M. TURNER

Dear Uncle Fred:

If I may trouble you once again, I am sending you another "what-cho-call-it," and honestly I don't know why. Nor why I write the darn things. I never was very much interested in poetry, although I am very fond of reading, and my name in print is of no special interest to me.

I have an old home-made desk full of curious rocks, old letters, and rejection slips, and a fountain pen and several note books I have thrown away several times to keep from writing punk verse. I thought I was cured but last night when I got in from the shop and was preparing for bed this thing-a-ma-et, sort of ran out on paper. Now honestly what would you do? Smash up the desk and writing tools, or have your head examined by a competent doctor, if you were like that.

Yours very truly,
CLARENCE DOSSEY.

R. F. D. 3, Colorado.

Has left a line of drift.
The high line marks,
The ceaseless ebb and flow
Torn and broken,
Fragments ride the crest
And wait above

Spirit hands are,
Reaching from the past,
To hold in solitude
A bonded slave.
Chains of memory,
Gold and rusty iron,
Hold fast within,
Some dungeon wall or cave.

And yet must leave,
No door lest freedom come.
Fresh winds today,
Sweep clear the upward slope.
The sun can
Penetrate a tiny crack
A piercing finger
Points the way of hope.

POLITICS AND PROMISES

At this particular time of the year in Texas people are forgetting the depression, recession, inflation, rubber stamp, dictators, wars, rumors of wars, floods, grasshoppers and other devastating calamities in the world.

The reason for this forgetfulness is that we are being thrilled, overjoyed and inspired by the fact that this is election year. The candidates for the governor's job and various other jobs are waxing hot in their oratory, promising if elected, to put more beans and salt pork in every pot.

With that promise of the more abundant life, the public pricks up his ears, lets his belt out a notch, and like Mr. McCawber, steps complacently along, expecting something to happen, in the way of pot filling.

After listening a few times to these orators, the public becomes intoxicated on the thought of the more abundant life, elects the candidate promising the fullest pot, then in misery, waits a couple of years for the promises to materialize, which they never do. Sooner or later these promises which have been forgotten, begin to weary the people, then suddenly they wake up, pull the bell and get off the train of promises, and start protesting weakly, then loudly, but by that time it is election time again, with the candidates with their rosy promises.

Something for the public to do is to keep his ears open to the candidate with the rosiest promises, even though they do not mean a thing, for there may be many empty bean pots to be filled later on.

We have had governors who promised all these good things, but as soon as they got enmity with the bigwigs up at Washington, and other bigwigs in divers places, they forgot all about their promises to fill the pots of the people who gave them the job—they were always too busy seeing that their own pots didn't get empty or not too empty for comfort.

So it goes on, and on, each election year brings new saviors to the cause of the downtrodden, oppressed, but they too fail to fill the empty pots. All they get is a taste of sweet flowery, sugar-coated promises, which soon turn into a very bitter taste.

It makes one sorrowful that Emerson did not mean this material life when he said, "There is a remedy for every wrong and a satisfaction for every soul."

So in the meantime we must carry on with courage and fortitude, and hope for the best, for we are told that this is the land of the free and the home of the brave, and the more abundant life is promised to us all in this coming election by these big kind-hearted candidates who are so concerned (before the election) about the ones who are lacking in the more abundant life.

Full hopeful, however, you who have been cast into the ocean of life, struggle and fight the cruel waves yet a while longer. For the good ship laden with the more abundant life will pass by, throw you a line, pull you to shore, and there you may partake of the good things of the ship as promised—maybe.

EDNA COE MAJORS HAS POETRY IN NEW BOOK

Among the more than six hundred poets included in "The Poetry House Anthology," published recently by Poetry House, of 96 Fifth Avenue, New York is Mrs. Edna Coe (Scam) Majors of Colorado.

The following sketch of Mrs. Majors appears in the book:

"Edna Coe Majors: In 1935 she compiled an anthology of verse. Its title 'Sheaves We Have Boun'. Her work appeared in Texas Writers (Barnes), Texas Poets (Harrison). She has told many poems, and her work has appeared in Texas Federation News, Denver Post, Oklahoma Stockman, Neophyte, El Paso Times, South-west, and others. She will have a poem in the Southwestern Anthology soon off the press, and her work will appear in four other books to be off the press by February 15. She has won many prizes: in poetry, and has won a prize with a one act play.

"For many years she has been active in the Texas Federation of Clubs and has held district office in the federation.

"Edna Coe Majors is the daughter of Judge A. J. Coe, a pioneer builder of West Texas. She is married to Sam L. Majors, jeweler of Colorado, Texas, and has three children, all grown. She has been invited to speak over radio and was asked to speak in Dallas during Book Parade week. Her own book of poems is ready for publication."

FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Chicago Daily News: This is a note of simple arithmetic for young people who are now being graduated from our schools.

Federal expenditures:

1930	$3,300,000,000	(billions)
1931	$3,600,000,000	(billions)
1932	$3,900,000,000	(billions)
1933	$3,400,000,000	(billions)
1934	$4,100,000,000	(billions)
1935	$6,400,000,000	(billions)
1936	$6,870,000,000	(billions)
1937	$7,400,000,000	(billions)
1938	$8,000,000,000	(billions)
1939	$11,500,000,000	(billions)

How the billions roll! Three, five, six, seven, eight, eleven! Year after year the deficits, the mounting debt, the mortgaged future! Who is going to pay for it all? It is these young people who are now being graduated from the schools. On them will fall the heavy burden of increased taxes and higher prices for all necessities which the constant new deal borrowing implies.

The new deal set out to make the rich poorer and the poor richer. It has indeed made the rich poorer, but it is far from having made the poor richer. It has succeeded only in making more people poor.

"A debt-ridden nation with constantly recurring deficits," says Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, "offers no hope to its underprivileged."

No, and little opportunity to its young people.

Fortunately, these young people are soon going to be able to speak for themselves. Hundreds of thousands will soon be able to vote for the first time. Sound finances, jobs, opportunity? Or debts, deficits and mounting relief rolls? Which shall it be?

CANDIDATES

Two years ago Judge B. L. Templeton ran for County Judge and when asked why he wasn't in politics again this year, gave as his reason his expense account which he had to file in compliance with the law. Here's what his expense accounting showed: Lost 1,349 hours sleep thinking about the election. Lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent. Donated a beef, four shoats and five sheep to a community barbecue. Gave away two pairs of suspenders, four calico dresses, $5 in cash and 13 baby rattlers. Chopped 132 acres of cotton. Kissed 126 babies. Kindled 14 kitchen fires. Put up two stoves. Walked 4,076 miles. Shook hands with 9,508 persons. Told 10,101 lies and talked enough to make in print 987 volumes. Attended 16 revival meetings and was baptized four different times by immersion and twice some other way. Contributed $50 to foreign missions and made love to nine grass widows. Spent $106 at box supper. Hugged 49 old maids. Got dog bit 39 times—and was defeated.

WESTBROOK M. E. CHURCH

What is the Church anyway? We want to say something about the church and what it is, the purpose of the church, and who constitutes the church. I would like to say first of all that the church is not just some house that has been built by some denomination; but will say that the church is the cause of the house. The house is only a place where the church meets to worship, and will say further that you do not have to have a house to worship in, but it is the better way. For under the last dispensation or our dispensation we may and can worship wherever we may be or go. We do not have to go to Jerusalem as did the people or children of Israel.

For the comforter that Jesus sent back after He went away is none other than the Holy Spirit, or the Holy Ghost, and He is everywhere and we may be in His presence at all times and in all places.

Wherever man is found He is our guide and leader. But there is great importance of our assembling ourselves together and there worship together. For in the Book of Hebrews the writer says for us not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together, Heb. 10:25. It is a place where we meet together to hear the Gospel or the good news proclaimed. Where we sing and make melody to our God, and where we may talk our trouble over together and it is a place of prayer. Yes, it is a bringing ourselves before God. It is the presentation of ourselves not only our souls but our bodies as well. Read Romans 12:1.

But of course it does not mean that we go from that place of worship just to live as men of the world do. But that we are to go making Christ manifest, keeping ourselves unspotted from the world, and we find that Paul goes so far as to say for us to abstain from the very appearance of evil. 1 Thessalonians 5:22. So we believe and teach that

Oh, if your Engine only could

OF COURSE, you can't leave your engine standing on its head every time you park, but you can have it OIL-PLATED. And OIL-PLATING not only goes clear up inside your engine, but stays there — for hours — weeks — months — even while the engine is right-side up at a standstill! Now why is that better?

Well, this exclusive OIL-PLATING — formed in your engine solely by patented Conoco Germ Processed oil — is always up there ready to lubricate before other oils could even begin to circulate. Therefore, every start you make finds cylinders, rings, bearings and other parts self-lubricated in advance. The action of the patented Germ Process has kept them continuously charged with oil, or OIL-PLATED.

They cannot "start dry," and thus you are rid of engine enemy No. 1. Good platings don't evaporate either, or lose their grip during Summer spurts. You can tell that about OIL-PLATING by noting how Conoco Germ Processed oil maintains the oil-level. Head in at Your Mileage Merchant's, Continental Oil Company

I'm Always Cheerful

By Irmengarde Eberle

As Dorothy was coming along the street, and even after she was in the apartment building where her Aunt Edna lived, she felt that it was quite useless to try to talk to anybody, tell anybody how she felt. And yet she wanted to be with someone. She wished that her mother had not gone off to Europe. She wanted her more than she had even been aware of wanting her since she had been a baby in kindergarten.

Leaving the elevator, she went toward her aunt's door. She had phoned that she was coming up. It would be some help just to sit in Aunt Edna's frowsy living room. The only thing she could not stand, it seemed to her, was to be alone. She would not tell her aunt anything—she would just sit there awhile.

But still, she felt hesitant about going into Aunt Edna's. She stood in front of the door a full minute. Finally, she knocked.

Heavy footsteps came hurriedly and vigorously. The door opened, and her aunt, large, ample and cheerful, drew her in, exclaiming with pleasure and kissing her.

"Well, well, Dot!" It was about time you came to see me. But you look peaked. What is the matter, dear child? Did somebody go and break your heart—your little nineteen-year-old heart?"

"Oh, no—I'm all right," laughed Dorothy, wishing now that she had not come.

"No, you're not," said Aunt Edna. "There's no use trying to hide anything from me. Out with it!"

"I can't—can't talk about it," said Dorothy, pulling off her hat and sinking to the davenport. "I've been so silly about him. I've been so happy. I . . . But even as she said this, she already felt the vast relief which comes from opening one's heart a little. Maybe she would tell Aunt Edna all about it, after all. Maybe she would feel better then."

"Come on and tell Auntie all about it," said Aunt Edna. "Weep on my shoulder and get it off your mind, dear. You'll feel grand after you do. Come on, get it off your chest, dear. That's the way I always do. That's why I'm always so cheerful."

"There really isn't anything to tell," said Dorothy, overwhelmed by her aunt's flood of words. "I can't talk about it. I—I can't understand it."

"Of course it's Dan Henderson you're letting yourself get all upset about again, isn't it? I knew it. But remember, everything seems so important at your age. It probably isn't as bad as it looks, dear. Buck up. Don't take things so seriously. Develop a sense of humor. Now tell me all about it, and then forget it."

The vast longing to share her misery with someone welled up in Dorothy's heart again.

She said, slowly, "I do wish I could finish this little tale about Mamie Wilkins and me. It's really unbelievable how little sense of humor Mamie has.

"We were having hot chocolate at Rawley's after the concert, and I just couldn't stand her seriousness another minute, so I had to make a little joke, bring a little more humor into the afternoon. You know how irrepressible I am. Everything is fun

"It's driving me mad. Only I feel—" "There you are!" said Aunt Edna. "You feel too much. Take things lightly!"

feel someone. It's driving me mad. I wish I could talk about it. Only I feel—

"There you are!" said Aunt Edna. "You mustn't feel so much. You're always feeling too much. You must learn to take things lightly, see the humorous side of life. When you learn to do that, nothing can upset you. Nothing! Look at me, dear. I'm always laughing, and I have my troubles, too."

"Here, just yesterday, I was out with that poor, solemn Mamie Wilkins. You know how I feel about Mamie. I'm fond of her, but it nearly kills me to spend an afternoon with her. Nearly kills me. Well, it could have been a terrible afternoon for me if it hadn't been for my sense of humor. I've trained myself to have a sense of humor, dear, and so can you. So, instead of being upset by Mamie's seriousness and gloom, I carried on like I always do, and made jokes and laughed until I was nearly in stitches. That saved the day for me."

"I know," said Dorothy. "That was fine. I hope you had a nice time."

"When I get through with this story," said Aunt Edna, "you must tell me, dear, what happened between you and Dan, and then you must put it out of mind. Dan is such a fine boy. These little upsets are never as serious as you think."

"But you see," said Dorothy, "Dan and I have been in love for so long. And we were so happy even last week. And then, today, at lunch—

"Yes, yes, happiness! You must learn to hold on to your feelings of happiness—hold them over during these little times of stress and strain. But don't worry so about this, dear. It will come out all right. Learn to laugh, dear. You must tell me all about it in a minute. I just want to

THE COLORADO THAT USED TO BE 25 Years Ago 15 Years Ago

25 YEARS AGO

From The Record for July 4, 1913

Fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg was to be celebrated with a reunion of Confederate and Union veterans at the battlefield, a front-page Record story indicated.

On the program of the Junior Intermediate league of the Methodist church were Claudia Smith, Frances Mitchell, Cecil Costin, Winnie Spalding, Etta Coughran, Bessie Stoneham, Lucille Hightower, Harry Ratliff, Joe Roodin, Lona Herrington, Vance Phenix, Anthony Lyon.

The Plainview points recorded that "Mr. Lark Costin's little daughter is visiting in our midst this week. May her visit be long and pleasant, for she is a perfect little lady, loved by all."

Heavy rains had put the Colorado river on what was described by many as the biggest rise in its history. The rise was started by a seven-inch rain in Lamesa and vicinity. Warned of this deep rise coming on top of a river already swollen bank-full, Coloradans watched the rising water all night. The water reached to within two feet of the flooring of the south bridge.

Rena Key was home from a visit in Comanche county. Mrs. J. L. Shepherd's brother, John Josey, had died in Denver. The well which M. C. Ratliff and Mr. Wyatt were drilling for Dr. W. H. Henthorn was down 75 feet and declared a success. "This," wrote The Record, "is most encouraging, and we believe it will prove the beginning of an epidemic of well-drilling in Mitchell county."

Garland Shepherd had been ill from eating too many peaches. Mrs. W. L. Doss, Sr., had entertained with 42 in honor of Mrs. C. C. Blandford of Arlington. Mrs. Ed Majors had entertained the Girls' club in honor of her cousin, Robbie Waters of Greenville.

J. R. Ledbetter was to build a 190-ton silo on his farm. Judge R. H. Looney was home from a trip to Roswell and the Pecos Valley. Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mitchell had returned to their home in Abilene after a visit with her parents and relatives here. Mrs. J. T. Davis had been called to Willis Point by the serious illness of her father. Ruth Hunt of Baird had been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Leslie Crowder.

Isla Smith was visiting on her father's ranch south of Westbrook. J. H. Greene was home from taking a post-graduate course in embalming at Dallas. J. L. Doss had joined Mrs. Doss in Corpus Christi for the summer months.

A race with death and a train had been won by Mrs. C. H. Earnest. While out at the Ledbetter farm with Judge Earnest one morning, she had received word that a nephew was dying in Dallas. The Earnests returned to town just as the east-bound train was leaving. After phoning ahead for the train to wait in Loraine, Mrs. Earnest had her son, Stewart, "a veritable Jehu at the steering wheel," drive her to Loraine, and there she caught the train after it had waited only two minutes. She got to Dallas shortly before her nephew died.

Mrs. C. H. Lasky was driving a new Overland car. W. R. Eudy and family were moving to Childress. Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Snyder had chaperoned the houseparty of Annie Beal to San Angelo for the Fourth.

The Tom Stonerods and daughter and Neil Ruth Arnett had gone to Cloudford, where the women and baby would remain for the summer. Mr. Stonerod for a month. Mrs. Arnett and Byrd Blandford were going up for a part of the summer. Mrs. Emmett Jeffress and daughter and the little daughter of Mrs. Ferguson of Fort Worth were visiting in the Capt. R. A. Jeffress home. Friends of Harry Ratliff had been entertained at the home of his sister, Mrs. Edgar Majors. Marguerite Looney was home from Baird, accompanied by Ruth Rowley. Mrs. R. N. Gary, Ewell Gary, and Minnie Davis Crockett had visited Frances Sanders and other relatives in Cisco.

Mary Arbutnot was home from a visit in Pilot Point, Amarillo, and Clarendon. Mrs. Y. D. McMurry was home after a visit with her parents in Seminole. Bill Broadus was visiting friends in Snyder.

15 YEARS AGO

From The Record for June 29, 1923.

An architect's drawing of Mitchell county's new $106,000 courthouse, for which contracts had just been let, appeared on the front page of The Record.

Contract for paving Second street had also been let. John L. Doss had let contract to J. E. Pond for construction of five new business buildings on Walnut street. Contracts had been let for new school buildings at Cuthbert and Silver. The new concrete and steel bridge spanning the Colorado river on West Second street had been opened on Monday morning. Three new gins, one belonging to O. Lambeth at Colorado, another to the Farmers Gin company at Buford, and the third in Westbrook were to be ready for operation in the fall.

S. A. Sloan's H. C. Miller No. 1 was reported to be gassing heavily. Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mhyre were home from a visit in Minnesota. Earl Morrison had donated a beef to be barbecued for the Colorado Booster band on July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whipkey and son, Robert, were visiting Mrs. T. R. Moody in Marshall. The Palace theatre advertised Jack Holt and Dorothy Dalton in "On High Seas." Billie Dove in "Youth to Youth," and Thos. Meighan in "The Man Who Saw Tomorrow."

A mutual insurance association had been organized here with J. H. Greene as president, J. A. Sadler as vice-president, and Mrs. Mable Sligh, recently of Big Spring, as secretary-treasurer.

The Stonerham Beals and children had spent Sunday with the Ralph Beals. Over in Loraine Sam Spikes had "quit the dray work and gone to work for the Loraine gin." Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Burns of Tulla and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Beal had gone fishing on the Concho. The marriage of Bufa Hawkins, who had previously taught school here, and Earnest Pritchett had taken place in Rice. They were to live here. Elizabeth Kirkpatrick and Ruth Dorn had entertained with a Seven Wells picnic honoring Myrtle Bell of Roby.

Irvin Terry and Erna Webb had been married on Wednesday evening by the Rev. J. P. Lawlis. Irvin Terry was sheriff at that time. Eleanor Thomas had given a dance honoring her guest, Miss Posey of Austin. The Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Jameson of Snyder had visited here, bringing Mrs. C. C. Higgins over to take the train for Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Price and children had left for Honey Grove, where Mrs. Price and the children were to spend most of the summer. Orlena Elliott was to go to summer school in the University of Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin, who had recently moved to the valley, were here visiting their children.

A junior band was to be organized with Raymond Jones as assistant director. W. S. Stoneham and family were home from a trip to Galveston and other points. Dresses advertised by F. M. Burns were ankle-length, tight at the bottom and full-skirted just above the knees.
