In keeping with an agreement based on the outcome of the Rotan-Roby game last Friday, the Colorado-Roby game will be played Friday night on Cantrill field in Colorado.

The game was originally scheduled to be played in Roby, but officials of the two schools agreed that if Rotan defeated Roby in last week's game the match would be moved to Colorado. Rotan downed Roby 51-0.

CONSCIENCE MUFFLED AS THIEF GETS CHANGE FROM CHURCH OFFICE

It must have been with a closely muffled conscience that a certain petty thief worked in Colorado some time Tuesday.

The thief was committed in the office of First Baptist church, and the loot was $3.75 in small change. The money was taken from a metal change box in a wall locker after the door of the locker had been torn away.

Those who are ordinarily in the church office were out Tuesday, attending the all-day workers conference at Fairview.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL OVER TOP IN AN HOUR'S TIME

DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIPS IS STILL ON; OVER $600 REPORTED

Roll call drive for Red Cross memberships went "over the top" in Mitchell county in an hour's concerted, county-wide drive last Thursday morning, and $600 was already on hand Wednesday with 20 communities still unreported.

R. H. Barber, county roll call chairman, reported Colorado High school 100% in memberships before the drive began at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. Quota for the county was $550, but a precedent of several years standing is to oversubscribe the quota by several hundred dollars.

An appeal to all community chairmen to turn in their reports before the end of next week was issued Wednesday by Barber. The drive closes officially on Thanksgiving.

Archdeacon J. W. Heyes was drive chairman in Colorado. He had scores of helpers in covering the town.

BASKIN RESIGNS AS SECRETARY OF COUNTY AAA COMMITTEE TO DEVOTE TIME TO WORK IN EDUCATIONAL AND ADVISORY CAPACITY

Resignation of B. J. Baskin, Mitchell county farm agent, as secretary of the Mitchell county agricultural conservation association has been accepted by the county AAA committee, according to an announcement made this week.

Baskin's resignation is in line with the state-wide move to relieve county agents of active administrative duties in connection with the AAA programs, giving them more time for work in advisory and educational fields. Baskin remains an ex-officio member of the county committee.

John Mogford, who has been agricultural adjustment assistant in Baskin's office for over a year, will succeed him as secretary of the AAA committee. The office set-up and location will remain the same, according to Baskin.

The following explanation of the changes being made in county AAA set-ups in regard to county agents has been issued from AAA headquarters at College Station:

County agricultural agents in many counties are relinquishing active administrative duties in connection with the AAA programs and are becoming members of the county AAA committee without vote.

It is believed that the change will occur in about two-thirds of 254 Texas counties by the first of the year. H. H. Williamson, director of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, has said.

After deliberating nearly 11 hours, a jury in 32nd district court here late Friday night awarded judgment of $15,125 to R. B. Lovejoy of San Angelo in his long-tried suit for damages against the Texas Coca-Cola Bottling company.

The suit, asking $20,000 damages, grew out of alleged impairment of health sustained by Mrs. Lovejoy when she allegedly drank particles of glass in a bottled Coca-Cola while living at Colorado in October, 1934.

Lovejoy got a judgment for $8,000 in a previous trial, but this decision was reversed by a higher court on a technicality.

The bottling company has filed motion for a new trial, but the motion has not yet been acted on by the court.

Counsel for Lovejoy is C. C. Thompson of Colorado with Beall, Beall, Yonge & Nebbett of Sweetwater, the latter firm being represented by Jas. H. Beall and Nebbett. The bottling company is represented by Thos. R. Smith of Colorado with Wagstaff, Harwell, Wagstaff & Douthit of Abilene, the firm being represented by Harwell and Douthit.

After flag-raising ceremonies at the hut, the men went into march formation and marched downtown to breakfast at the Colorado hotel. Members of the Colorado school band played martial airs as the ex-soldiers marched.

Captain of the group on the trip downtown was John E. Watson, who held that commission in World War service. H. P. Slagel served as top sergeant on the downtown march, but went into his war-time place as captain when the men marched back to the hut after breakfast. Bun

Pritchett was top sergeant for the return march.

The breakfast program included vocal solos by Mrs. C. A. Wilkins with Mrs. E. L. Latham accompanying and a sing-song led by Harry Ratliff.

A booklet, "Over There Twenty Years Ago," was presented to each veteran by Colorado High school students whose fathers are World War veterans. The booklet was compiled by the boys and girls from old files of "The Stars and Stripes." Catherine Slagel read the dedication. She was assisted in distributing the booklets by Alice Womack and Virginia Whipkey.

After breakfast the men had their pictures taken, then marched back to the hut. Arrangements for the breakfast and for the Legion bean feed later in the day were directed by Howard Rogers, post commander.

SET-UP FOR WATER FACILITIES PROGRAM NEARING COMPLETION

Twenty-four land-owners attended the Loraine meeting. Thirty-eight were present at a Lone Star meeting last Thursday night.

Farmers and land-owners living on the watersheds of Lone Wolf, North Champion, and South Champion creeks are eligible for the program, which will be carried out by the government's soil conservation service with the cooperation of the Farm Security Administration and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

An explanatory meeting for farmers living in the Inadale section of Scurry county is to be held at Inadale on Monday night, Nov. 28, and some meetings will probably be held in Nolan county later on.

NEARLY 20,000 POUNDS OF TURKEYS FOR THANKSGIVING SHIPPED OUT OF COLORADO

Nearly 20,000 pounds of turkeys raised in Colorado's trade territory will grace the nation's Thanksgiving tables next week, a check-up of Colorado produce houses revealed this week.

This amount does not include those Mitchell county turkeys which will be consumed at home or change hands locally. Colorado's three produce houses are still buying birds for local consumption after having shipped out over 19,500 pounds of turkeys during the open market season which closed Saturday. The market opened Nov. 1.

Produce men report that a large percentage of Mitchell county turkeys are being held for the Christmas market. Prices paid during the Thanksgiving open market ranged from a 12-cent low to a 15-cent high. Birds were selling locally this week for around 15 cents.

Over 10,000 pounds of turkeys were bought at the Mitchell County Produce house on Third Street during the market season, according to S. K. Hardge, owner and manager. This poundage represented about 800 birds.

Western Produce, operated by Bob Edgerton on West Second street, bought between 3,500 and 4,000 pounds for shipping out, Edgerton says.

Neiman McMichael, who bought the Colorado Produce from Jack Abbott about three months ago, says that he handled between 5,000 and 6,000 pounds during the market season.

Counting the price brought by the turkeys at an average of about 14 cents per pound, the Thanksgiving market brought turkey raisers of Colorado and vicinity nearly $3,000, not counting birds being sold locally.

SON AND BROTHER OF COLORADOANS IS DEAD OF GUNSHOT WOUNDS

Word of the death of Byron Killian, 25, at Three Rivers, Texas, about 1 o'clock Thursday morning was received here by his mother, Mrs. J. L. Killian, and other relatives early Thursday.

A native of Mitchell county, Killian had been working in the valley for about five years. He had been in Three Rivers only about a week. He lived away from Colorado during much of his boyhood, but was a student in Colorado High school one year.

The body is to be received in Colorado on the Friday afternoon train, and funeral services will be held here shortly afterward. Definite plans had not been completed at noon Thursday.

WESTBROOK WILDCATS LOSE TO FORSAN; TEAMS TO MEET AGAIN THIS FRIDAY P. M.

R. G. Crouch's Westbrook Wildcats lost to Forsan's mighty Buffs 54-6 in a six-man grid tussle at Forsan last Thursday. The teams are to meet for their second game at Westbrook this Friday afternoon.

Outcome of the Forsan games does not affect the PSAA championship because Forsan is ineligible for the championship, it is reported.

An account of the game last Thursday was sent out of Forsan as follows:

The Buffs rolled up nine first downs to six for the opposition, completed eight of 14 passes. Westbrook attempted 40 passes, completed 13.

Westbrook opened on the offensive, taking the ball on their own 30 yard line but failed to gain and Claxton punted to the Buff 27. Hollis Parker fumbled on the first try, Asbury recovering. After an incomplete pass thrown by Lonsford and meant for Asbury, Benny grabbed the oval and raced 50 yards for a six-pointer. Lonsford then drop kicked the goal, which accounted for two points.

A flip from Jones to Claxton picked up 13 yards after the Wildcats had again gained possession of the ball and Redwine added the two necessary for a first down and Lonsford intercepted a Redwine pass on the next series of downs and Forsan started another touchdown drive.

Parker went 14 yards, then picked up a couple for a first down. A gain of 25 yards resulted in a pass from Lonsford to Parker. Then LaBeff scrambled to a touchdown.

Forsan was again in possession of the ball as the quarter ended but Lonsford was forced to kick and the Wildcats started driving in earnest. All the way down to the Forsan five they went before Redwine fumbled.

LaBeff recovered. Lonsford kicked out of danger and the Wildcats quieted down. Nix fired a complete new team into the fray and Theo Willis immediately contributed with a 58 yard dash to a touchdown, running the tally to 20-0.

That was all the talking for the first half but Clinton Sterling stepped out to add the fourth touchdown a few moments after the rest period was over, running 32 yards into the end zones. Willis added the extra point on a thrust at the line, making the score 27-0.

Westbrook started a determined drive after taking the kickoff, taking to the air for some long shots but one of Redwine's flips was grabbed by Neely who broke into the open and raced 40 yards for a score. Willis passed to Sterling for the point to push the tally to 34-0.

Redwine's successful toss to Jones was good for 29 yards soon thereafter and Westbrook was again knocking at the gates. All the way to the Forsan two yard line they went from where Redwine immediately crashed over just before the period ended.

But the Buffs rebounded magnificently and Parker's pass to Asbury proved good for 25 yards and a touchdown. Parker took the extra point toss and the score stood at 41-6.

Westbrook was chilled in their efforts at the Forsan line after the kickoff and Forsan took over on their own 30. It was J. B. White this time who cashed in for the tally, running 15 yards for the counter. Lonsford again drop kicked the point and the tally went to 49-6.

The last six-pointer came when Lonsford intercepted Redwine's pass and dashed 38 yards into the end zone.

With the four leading teams meeting each other in two of the most crucial Southwest Conference football games of the season, Saturday afternoon will be packed with gridiron thrills and drama for radio followers of the game, for the Humble Oil & Refining Company will broadcast both games between Texas Christian University and Rice Institute in Houston, and between Southern Methodist and Baylor Universities in Waco.

The eyes of the nation will be on the game at Houston, for the T.C.U. Horned Frogs remain to date on top of the nation's few unbeaten, untied teams and the Rice Owls will bring to the contest a more complete roster of their strength than they have presented at any time during the past three weeks. The Humble Company's broadcast will begin at 2:20 p.m., with Kern Tips handling the play-by-play description of the game and Hal Thompson the color. Tune in on KPRC, Houston; WBAP-WFAA, Fort Worth-Dallas; WOAI, San Antonio.

Southern Methodist University, tied with T.C.U. for the conference lead, travels to Waco for its annual game with Baylor, just back from the Pacific Coast and a victorious rout of Loyola of Los Angeles. The Humble Company's broadcast of this game also begins at 2:20 p.m., with Cy Leland handling play-by-play and Eddie Dunn, color. The game can be heard over Stations WACO, Waco; KRLD, Dallas; KTRH, Houston; and KTSA, San Antonio.

AUTO CLINICS—Austin—Auto clinics conducted by state police are testing 2,000 cars daily for mechanical defects which might contribute to traffic accidents.

Homer Garrison, Jr., assistant state police director, said modern equipment is being used by two units of state patrolmen in searching for defective horns, brakes, lights, wheels and windshield wipers.

He explained that the intent of the officers is to have the faults corrected rather than bring charges against drivers. The clinics, in cooperation with local officers, operate on schedules of from two to five days in Texas towns and cities.

have already gone to the coast states may be expected to improve in time. Nevertheless, as long as there is a surplus of laborers in that region as is found at the present time, California is not a refuge for financially distressed farmers of this state, it was pointed out.

CROP INSURANCE FOR COTTON IS PROMISED

WASHINGTON.—The administration intends to recommend that Congress broaden its farm program, officials disclosed this week, by making crop insurance available to the nation's 2,500,000 cotton growers.

Wheat growers, under a law passed last winter, are protected against loss from drought, flood, storms, hail, insects and other natural hazards.

Agriculture department experts are working at top speed to prepare premium rates and other data on cotton. They said it would be possible to offer growers insurance on the 1940 crop if Congress agrees.

Officials said there was a possibility the administration also might recommend insurance for corn growers. Whether it does, they said, will depend on the progress the experts make in preparation of premium rates.

The cotton insurance program would provide a means, officials estimated, for removal of probably 1,000,000 bales of surplus, government-owned, cotton from market channels to be held by the federal crop insurance corporation as a reserve.

Meanwhile, with operation of the existing farm program upset by other crop surpluses and low prices, administration leaders are launching an intensive campaign to line farmers up against congressional proposals to substitute price-fixing and unrestricted production.

FARM INCOME THIS YEAR TO BE OFF 13 PERCENT

American farmers will receive approximately $7,500,000,000 (billions) from the sale of their products this year, 13 per cent below the 1937 total, the annual agricultural review prepared by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and released in Dallas by Roger Miller, manager of the Southwest division, disclosed recently.

The decline is due, for the most part, to lower prices for farm products which in turn have caused some farmer resentment toward the current federal farm program.

Concerning farmers' attitudes on the AAA, the chamber's review states that demand is growing for a program that will assure a higher price for products without the production control features.

The proposal attracting most attention now, the review continues, is the price-fixing plan based on average cost of production and sponsored by the National Farmers' Union. This plan is contained in the McAdoo-Eicher bill which nearly passed the Senate last session.

"Development of price-depressing surpluses of wheat, corn and cotton has created a situation which is working distinct hardships on many farmers," the agricultural review states. "Needed purchases of farm machinery and equipment were made last spring before the price of wheat and corn began to decline."

"Now as payments become due, a larger volume of products is required to meet obligations than would have been the case had prices remained at higher levels. The AAA was designed to prevent such conditions, but the surpluses arose before the program got under way."

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas farmers can raise better quality wheat and other small grains and produce more bushels to the acre if they treat their seed to prevent losses from smut, according to E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Smut not only reduces yields, sometimes as much as a fourth of the crop, but also damages the grain for milling and feeding purposes. As a result of a seed treating campaign conducted by county agricultural agents in 1937, the value of the practice was clearly demonstrated by many farmers.

All smuts of wheat, barley, and oats, except loose smut of wheat and brown loose smut of barley, may now be treated with one poison, ethyl mercury phosphate, known to the trade as "new improved ceresan," in dust form.

This treatment is now recommended by Miller in preference to copper carbonate for wheat or formaldehyde for barley and oats. The dust treatment is inexpensive—two and one-fourth cents a bushel or less—and its efficiency is assured.

"No growers of wheat, barley, or oats should hesitate to treat all of his seed each year," Miller stated. "Tests by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have shown that the return is many times the cost of the treatment, and these tests have been borne out by the experience of farmers in every section of the state."

SPECIAL NEWS

Anyone particularly interested in acrobatic acting should have been around the schoolhouse Saturday evening. Mr. Hood (accidentally) performed an act for no audience. He was painting the new laboratory when (while up on a ladder) he became unbalanced and down went Mr. Hood, paint and all. He was able to stop rolling on the landing of the stairs. This explains the paint which was splashed all over the white side-walls of the stairs.

SENIOR NEWS

Here comes the news for the Seniors who have entertainments individually. Winton Coleman went practically "goofy" last week when we put something about him and Hazel in the paper. He tried to buy it out of the news box; however we all think that deep down in his heart he was glad to have been of interest to us as well as Hazel.

Everyone was wondering this morning why Lola has her hair piled high. Could it be to make the boys fall low? We saw Whippy's Ford out at Shell camp at the home of Miss June Shelton Sunday afternoon. Hazel you had better watch out because June may like Fords and blondes too. On second thought, maybe there was someone with Whip that June was interested in!

Ray Moody was rather forlorn this week-end because Helen Moon was up on the plains. However she did try to stop him Sunday night, but he was going home! Better luck next time!

Marjorie Hardcastle JUNIOR NEWS

Juniors get ready for six-weeks exams, because we will want to enjoy the Thanksgiving holidays. The basketball girls are really getting hungry for candy, but there is no hope of getting any before Christmas.

James, what kind of club is it that you are President of? The Junior class is going to sponsor an amateur program after Thanksgiving, so be sure and watch for date.

If you hear Mr. Hood complaining about being sore, don't laugh, ask him the reason and you will have to laugh.

Ruth Smith SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophs enjoyed the Armistice holiday but we are glad to be back in the school room again. Miss Spight is having a very difficult time teaching the Algebra class how to do the problems correctly. Ansel says, "Why subtract when you are supposed to be adding?" Ansel that is just one of the little mysteries of Algebra.

Junita Cline was ill Thursday. We missed you very much Junita. Mr. Hood says, "He really enjoys giving tests," and he gives the World History class one quite often.

The Home Ec. class are making housecoats, but really they look like Martha Washingtons Sunday dress to me!

Meiba Ruth FRESHMAN NEWS

We were glad to have Dick Wynne of Olden, Texas, visit with us Thursday. He seems to have brightened up some of our "shining" faces. Joan was anxious to throw down her red cap the other day in Science. Maybe it was because the wasp she was playing with stung her. She was doing a toe dance by the time she got rid of it.

We all enjoyed the holiday and the good times that went with it. Why was Ruby so anxious to come to school Friday.

Ruby and Joan. SEVENTH GRADE NEWS

The seventh grade girls made Uncle Sam hats for the P.-T. A. meeting last week. The Seventh grade has been giving oral reports in History. Our library club received two new books "Grimm's Fairy Tales" and "Toby Tyler."

We had a class meeting today and elected a vice-president because Wanda Nell is going to move to Chalk. Junior Smith was elected. Marnell Terry becomes president. Harold Gainey.

SIXTH GRADE NEWS

The fifth and sixth grade put on a program for the P.-T. A. last Thursday. There are ten more school days till Thanksgiving! We have a new pupil Henry Revere. We welcome him to our class. Joy Davis.

FIFTH GRADE NEWS

One of the fifth grade boys wrote this poem:

Aunt Susan I have a swell Aunt Susan She's especially good to me. She bakes me good old pies and cakes. They are as good as good can be. And when I go and eat them. They taste so good to me. I got a swell Aunt Susan. She's sweet as sweet can be. Lauri Kite.

FOOTBALL NEWS

The Westbrook football team played Forsan last Thursday and were beaten by the wide score of 31-6 in spite of the fact that Westbrook excelled in punting and passing. The boys also led the more experienced Forsan boys in first downs. Forsan is not a member of the P.S.A. as that school did not choose to follow the U. I. L. rules of eligibility, so this game has no effect on the Westbrook standing in the league.

Forsan returns the game this Friday so we are looking forward to a good game. Don't forget that this will be the game where the Queen kicks off, so let's all be there to back our boys. This will be the last game of the present season.

TERRACES DOUBLE WHEAT YIELD ON HALE CO. FARM

"Terraces exactly" doubled my wheat yield this year," says C. J. Sturdivant, who came to Hale County in 1906 and located on a 624-acre ranch two miles west of what is now called Cotton Center. "My terraced land produced 20 bushels of wheat to the acre, while the straight-row land yielded only 10 bushels to the acre."

For the first three years after coming to Hale County, Sturdivant confined his activities to raising cattle. Then, he figured that his profits would be increased by farming his land rather than using it for livestock, and started breaking out his ranch for cultivation.

"I was a straight-row farmer until 1937, when I observed the practices of soil and moisture conservation being used by my neighbors," Sturdivant recalls. "I observed that the use of conservation practices was giving my neighbors better yields than I was getting and that erosion was being checked on their land. I figured that what was good for my neighbor's land ought to be good for mine, so in September, 1937, I became a co-operator of the Soil Conservation Service CCC demonstration camp and adopted a program of terracing, contour tilling and strip cropping."

In co-operation with the Soil Conservation Service camp at Littlefield, Sturdivant terraced 80 acres of his 211-acre wheat field. With the same amount of rainfall and from the same soil type, Sturdivant harvested 20 bushels of wheat to the acre from his 80 acres of terraced land and only 10 bushels to the acre from the untreated portion of the field.

"I have found that the terraces and contour tillage operations hold the water where it falls on my land and allows it to soak into the soil to benefit crops and that strip cropping prevents my land from blowing during the period of high winds," Sturdivant says.

"True, it took me a few days longer to farm the terraces and the short rows, but it also took several additional days to harvest the crop because of heavier yield."

SMALL FARMER TO GET SPECIAL CONSIDERATION

COLLEGE STATION.—The small farmer gets special consideration in the AAA's 1939 program. The consideration comes in the shape of a "25-acre exemption" clause. AAA workers at the state office at Texas A. and M. College estimated it would affect more than 60,000 farmers. The majority of the small farms are located in East Texas. Under the 1939 program any farmer receiving a total soil-depleting acre-

J. RIORDAN COMPANY

CALL OF THE DEER COUNTY ANSWERED BY MITCHELL COUNTIANS THIS WEEK

Lure of the deer country claimed its usual "victims" from Colorado and vicinity this week as another deer season opened Wednesday morning.

Pre-season reports from the big deer hunting country that deer are more plentiful this year than in any year since 1931 swelled the exodus from this vicinity.

Heading for his usual hunting grounds in the Davis mountains south of Kent, Sheriff Dick Gregory left Tuesday to be ready for the season's opening Wednesday morning.

In Sheriff Gregory's group were Mrs. Gregory and two of the Gregory children, Clarence and Mary Jo; the Kay Morris family and Wilson Gregory.

Jack DeLaney and Swede McGill headed south.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mogford, Howard Rogers, and Tom Burrus headed for a point some 30 miles south of Marfa.

A ranch south of Balmorhea was the goal of E. B. Ellis and Monty Montgomery. Bert Ross of Midland went with them.

Henry Vaught, R. R. Lacey, and Aubrey Herrington left at noon Wednesday for the Fredericksburg country.

Will and Chester Berry of Fairview headed for their usual hunting grounds near Junction.

Joined here by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whisnant of Odessa, C. B. Jordan left Tuesday for Rock Springs.

The Virgil Mosers and son Bobby plan to leave Saturday for a hunt near Kent. They will be joined by Mrs. Moser's uncle from Pecos.

Deer hunting plans are being talked in the L. C. Scarborough household. If they go, it will probably be Friday.

R. P. Rose is said to have deer-hunting plans for Thanksgiving time.

Although duty kept him from opening with the season this week, Dick Hickman, chief of police, hopes to do some hunting before the season closes. He hasn't missed a season in 14 years.

VALLEY PUBLICITY IS BOOSTING GRAPEFRUIT

Because citrus groves in the Lower Rio Grande valley are owned by S. R. Venable of Colorado, Mrs. W. W. Jenkins of Fairview, and other Mitchell county citizens, the following publicity sent out from the valley may prove of interest locally:

"Word comes from the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas telling the many wonderful advantages to humanity in the consumption of grapefruit. Among things beneficial to those using fresh or canned grapefruit is that it will clear up a muddy complexion, it is a good laxative, it is an aid in relieving indigestion and diabetes. It contains the elements necessary and needed in growing children to give them a good strong set of teeth and bone structure that is highly resistant to disease and decay. The use of grapefruit juice will keep off colds and influenza.

"If you are suffering from a cold or flu the following will work four cases out of five. The last thing before going to bed squeeze out about six ounces of juice (or pour out of can) into a large glass. Drop a teaspoonful of common baking soda into the juice and drink quickly while it is bubbling. This should be repeated for two or more nights."

WORLD WAR FATHERS OF COLORADO HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HONORED IN BOOKLET

As an Armistice day honor to their fathers and others who fought in the World War, Colorado High school students whose fathers are World War veterans compiled a 10-page booklet, "Over There Twenty Years Ago," and mimeographed it for distribution at the Armistice breakfast of ex-service men Friday morning.

Catherine Slagel, a junior whose father, H. P. Slagel, was a captain in the war, read the dedication to the assembled veterans. It went thus:

"To my doughboy dad who, in the 20 years of peace since the signing of the Armistice, has never talked at any length of the War or of his wartime experiences, who has instead sought to shield me from its horrors, I today dedicate this booklet in my appreciation of his part in 'making the world safe for democracy' and in first voicing, on that eleventh day of the eleventh month, the world cry for Peace."

The booklet was compiled from old files of "The Stars and Stripes," War headlines, war poems, and brief skits of life at the front during the war are included.

Work of arranging the book was done by Virginia Whipkey, Harriet Ann Pritchett, Harry Etta Landers, Alice Womack, Theda Howell, Freddie Watson, and Catherine Slagel.

Names of all high school students whose fathers are veterans are listed in the front of the booklet as follows: Theda Howell, Virginia Whipkey, Catherine Slagel, Freddie Watson, Alice Womack, Harry Etta Landers, Ruth Elliott, Louise Phillips, Lizza Bell Bassinger, Elnora Webber, John Latham, Bruce Nuckolls, L. A. Strain, Harold Berman, Jimmy Barnes, John DeGarmo, Dwane Feaster, Douglas E. Bibby, Clarence Cook, Charles Vardy, Harriet Pritchett, Willie Nell Tilley, Ruth Woodell, Hazel Parris, Lillie Busbee, Agnes Thompson, Helen Farris, Richard Thomas, Charles Nuckolls, Charles Stevens, Edna Wheeler, Emma Lena Tilley, Joe Henry Smoot, Nina K. Quinney.

SAFETY LANE HELD HERE BY HIGHWAY PATROL OFFICERS

More than 200 World War veterans of Mitchell county and their families gathered at the Legion hut Friday night for a bean feed which climaxed the biggest Armistice observance in the recent history of the Oran C. Hooker Legion post.

Thos. R. Smith was master of ceremonies. Invocation was by Rev. A. L. Haley of First Christian church. Dr. Harry A. Logsdon and his orchestra, including Chester Jones, Mrs. James Payne, Harry Ratliff, L. B. Elliott, Paul Knieff and Boyd Dozier, played musical numbers during the evening.

Main speaker of the evening was John E. Watson, superintendent of Colorado schools. Watson told of the quietness with which the boys in the trenches received the Armistice as compared with the noisiness of the world in general, but he emphasized the fact that the quieter emotion went deeper and was more lasting.

Watson described the ex-soldier and his family as the biggest influence for peace in the nation today. "We needn't worry about war as long as we have so many fellows who have experienced real war," he said.

A musical reading was given by Corley Rogers. An original war-time skit by Dr. H. A. Logsdon was presented with Judge A. F. King as reader, Jesse Jones and Wilson Wyatt as soldiers, Dorothy Carter as a Red Cross nurse, and James Herrington as reading assistant.

Songs of war time were led by Mrs. W. R. Martin in a sing-song near the close of the evening. Miss Gladys Miller sang taps as the meeting ended.

Dinner was arranged for Harley Sadler. Benton Templeton, local attorney, arranged an informal dinner for Harley Sadler of Sweetwater while the latter was in town last week.

The dinner was given at the Colorado hotel with places laid for the following: Mayor J. A. Sadler; Dr. W. S. Rhoads, president of the Colorado chamber of commerce; H. B. Spence, chamber of commerce manager; Walter Whipkey, publisher of the Colorado Record; Harley Sadler and Templeton.

COLLEGE HOMECOMINGS CLAIMED COLORADOANS DURING THE WEEK-END

The homecoming at McMurry probably claimed the largest number from here. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kiker were guests of their daughter, Shirley, a member of the McMurry drum corps.

Ed Grubbs and her children, Walter, John, Gilbert, and Betty, went down to visit Hazel Grubbs, a McMurry freshman. They were accompanied by Doris Flo Doss and Ruth Elliott. Newby Pratt, assistant coach of Colorado High school, also attended the homecoming and the McMurry-Southwestern game on Saturday afternoon, being accompanied by Duff Chesney and Thos. Chadwick of the Wolf squad.

ROGERS ISSUES THANKS FOR LEGION ARMISTICE

All those persons or business firms who contributed in any way to the successful Armistice celebration of the local American Legion post were publicly thanked in a statement issued this week by Howard Rogers, post commander.

"We especially want to thank the managers and employees of the Colorado hotel for the excellent and extra service given us at our Armistice breakfast," Rogers said.

Rogers also made special mention of workers who helped in putting over the veterans' bean feed at the hut Friday evening.

AN EDITORIAL

What is Wrong with Popular Education?
 What's the matter with its important policy of popular, public education? Democracy is based on the belief that the individual is capable of knowing what he wants—evidently not what is best for him—and governing himself with better results than can be had by autocratic, militaristic government. Of course, this is taking for granted the individual's knowledge, ability, education. So, education for everybody is guaranteed. It is really and truly intended to be the best for everybody. I think there are a little too many "Suggestions for Study," Helpful Outlines, Keys, etc. Students don't think enough for themselves.

 The recent Orson Welles hoax is a brilliant cruel proof that not only the students, but the rest of the people as well, cannot think for themselves. Nothing about the broadcast was in the last credible, yet thousands were scared into complete loss of self control. Upon discovering the truth, their reaction was significant. They were extremely indignant and demanded their government's protection; indicating that they were unable to think for themselves, that they had to be protected from their own gullibility. It can readily be seen that at least one of the failings of popular education is its failure to train reason, discernment, logic. Fascism says that people don't know what is best for them; the state does. They need to be told and made to do what is best for them, so the state does their thinking for them. And it works! Italy is a most efficient state. Everything runs like clockwork. The people seem happy and unquestioning—like robots. They hold in extreme ridicule our Congress, which may haggle for months over a bill to pass it—only to have the Supreme Court declare it unconstitutional.

 This is a government by the people. If we have so little logic—if we make only a farce of thinking for ourselves, it would seem that correction should be started from the ground up—from the home up—from the schools up. We should think more.
 Louise Dockery

WOLVES TRAMPLE PIPERS 29-6
 The Colorado Wolves led by Tommy Chadwick Friday overpowered the Hamlin's Pied Pipers 29-6 in a game so one-sided that few persons other than a high-score hog could enjoy.
 In just one minute after the kickoff, the Wolves had their first tally. Taking the ball and marching down the field in five downs to the Piper's 23 yard line, Chadwick broke off tackle and raced over the goal line for the tally. "Squirt" Woods with his magic toe added the extra point. Late in the first period Chadwick set the ball up in scoring position and then carried it across and again Wood's try was good. In the second quarter Clifton Caffey rushed through the Piper's line blocked a punt which rolled into the end zone and off the playing field before it could be covered giving the Wolves two extra points and putting the game on ice.
 The Pied Pipers got going in the third quarter on a series of passes by Carlton who attempted 18 passes and completed 12 for a total of 160 yards. A twenty yard pass from Carlton to Burton who shook off three Wolf tacklers and raced forty yards for the visitors' only touchdown. Burton tips the scales at 120 pounds but he would look good on anybody's football team.
 Chadwick came back into the game and found pay dirt again for the Wolves but was not satisfied with this and climaxed a perfect day by racing 68 yards for his fourth touchdown.
 Final score Colorado Wolves 29, Hamlin Pied Pipers 6.
WHO'S WHO ON THE CAMPUS
 Miss Yates
 In continuing the Howl's policy of writing a brief biography of one faculty member in each issue, this week we have chosen our Geometry teacher, Miss Cal Yates.

 Miss Yates was born in Grapevine, Texas. She attended public and high school there. She furthered her education at Baylor University, Waco, receiving her B. A. degree there in 1935 and later attended T.S.C.W. and the University of Texas.
 Miss Yates began her teaching career at Minter's Chapel, Tarrant county. After spending one year there, she came to Colorado, first teaching in Hutchinson and Jr. High and at present teaching mathematics in Colorado High school.
 Miss Yates likes to hike and play ping-pong; likes to sew and cook, especially candy and in her own words, she likes anything that's food! She likes to teach math as much as anything else; likes to watch all sports but doesn't care much for animals and pets and last but not least (according to some poor befuddled students) she knows nothing at all about history.
 Ross Glover
 This is Ross Glover's first year to win recognition as a football player. Those of you who saw the Rotan game also saw Ross streak through Rotan's line eighty yards for a touchdown. Ross weighs about 132 pounds (I once heard someone say that he wouldn't weigh but one hundred if it were not for his freckles) and he plays left halfback.
 Not long ago Ross went to Kansas as president of the Colorado FFA. He spends quite a bit of his time with his sheep, cows, or what have you. Anyway, I happened to peek into his locker one day and saw two gadgets that looked like lawn mowers (small ones, of course) but it turned out that they were curry combs—or something.

HARD WINTER AHEAD!

Scientists predict this from studies of long range weather forecasting so give heating equipment some extra attention

you've SAVED

This predicted hard winter is late in getting started. With October one of the warmest on record, you've saved enough in gas service charges to make a substantial payment on improved gas heating equipment. Why not see the new circulators and room heaters today and be prepared for the treacherous months ahead?

Cold weather predictions warn us to shake the moth balls from our long underwear and give heating equipment some extra attention.

- Employees of your gas company worked all year in preparing for your comfort this winter. They recognize their responsibility to you in providing dependable service under every possible condition. By checking now the working efficiency of your own appliances you complete this field work in making your gas service the helpful, comforting, economical servant you desire.

BOOK IN BRIEF
 "Behold Our Land" by Russell Lord is a book which shows the vast topographical differences of the various regions of the United States. This story of our soil begins long before there was life on this planet. In dramatic retrospect we see how the land was formed, how it developed, and finally how it appeared to the settlers who first trod the virgin continent. Throughout the story emerges more and more sharply the fact that our continent is all one body, that plant, animal, human, social economic growths are products of the same soil.

A BOUQUET
 Members of The Sage staff felt honored (this last week to receive a letter from Ruth G. Robinson, associate editor of The Texas Outlook. It was written by Nancy Price, editor, and complimented her and her co-workers on the first issue of The Sage. Among other things, the letter stated: "Keep the good work up!"

BLACK CAT CROSSES JACK RABBITS' TRAIL
 Hard luck seems to belong to the second string Wolves. The "Sooners" traveled to Jayton Wednesday to play a ball game in a hard wind. Even though the second-string lost it was a real ball game from the beginning to the end as the 6-0 score shows.
 Downhearted the promising Wolves started home when some distance out of Jayton their bus capsized and the Wolves piled out and set it back on its four wheels. There was no damage done except that James Paul Cooper swallowed a good french harp and Coach Christian disposed of a good nickel cigar the same way. If anyone knows where we can get an X-ray machine we would like to try and locate these two objects. And by the way if you can get Coach Christian to say anything about this you're a better man than I am.
 The Wolves again started home but before they had gone the bus stopped with gas trouble and for the third time that day the "Sooners" got a workout when they pushed the bus seven miles.
 But laying all joking aside the second-string did get home.

HOME ECONOMICS II TO SAN ANGELO
 The Home Ec. Club is to be represented at the area meeting, which is to be held at San Angelo Saturday, Nov. 19, by approximately ten girls. They will leave Colorado at 7:30 a.m. to attend the meeting. The purpose of this meeting is to elect the area officers and district sponsors.

OH! MAMMA
 Yes, we believe it will be best to tell you now 'cause we might not want to later. To be able to have our report cards in and forgotten before the holidays begin, it becomes necessary to issue them one day early. Contrary to tradition we get them Tuesday, Nov. 22, instead of Wednesday.
 Ask us Tuesday, Mamma!

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM VOICES PEACE PLEA
 The students of Colorado High school presented their plea for peace in an effective and interesting Armistice Day program given Thursday in assembly. Honor guests were Legionnaires, to whom the program was dedicated.
 The High school band opened the program by playing "The Stars and Stripes Forever," next swinging into a medley of popular war-time tunes. Charles Nuckolls, Willie Grace Doss, Thomas Chadwick, and Ruth Elliott gave short talks on "The Attitude of CHS Students Toward War and Peace." Captain John E. Watson omore—Joyce Campbell, Junior—then commended the students of Colorado High for their fervent wish that peace might continue, and cited this universal hatred of war, by young people, especially, as one reason the United States will stay out of armed conflict for some time to come.

 The student body stood for a moment of silence and remained in reverence as Miss Miller sang "Taps." Miss Cook directed the program.

ONLY FOUR SCHOOL DAYS LEFT!
 Only four more school days left to struggle through without your second issue of "The Sage" to guide you. On Wednesday 23, "The Sage" comes out, report cards come in, and we leave school for four days. Knowledge and growth increase with age and "The Sage" will be six weeks older on Wednesday than it was on its last appearance.
 Never a dull moment during the holidays if you bring a nickel Wednesday.
 Ye Anxious Admirers

OVER THERE—20 YEARS AGO
 All that noise and bustle heard in the Annual room last Wednesday was only a group of girls working on an idea Mr. Watson had given them—an Armistice Day booklet. The result of their labors was the booklet "Over There—20 Years Ago," which was completed and printed Thursday, and presented to the "doughboy dads" during their breakfast and bean feed Friday.
 The little booklets caused some favorable comment from different members of the Legion, as well as from members of our faculty, and we hope that it served its purpose—to be a reminder of the peace that our soldiers fought for and won—on November 11, twenty years ago.

THE AGGIE SELECTIONS
 The second year Aggies have decided upon the teams which they hope to have this year. Unless other plans interfere they hope to have teams for Meat Identification, Livestock, Dairy, Terracing and Chapter Conducting.
 Last year the Chapter Conducting team won the honor of representing this district in the Area contest at McCamey but won only fourth place there. The Meat Identification team won third in the State contest at Fort Worth. The Livestock team did not place in the Area contest at San Angelo. There were no Dairy nor Terracing teams.
 The two agriculture classes have selected from each of the four classes in school a girl whom they wish to run in the Aggie Sweetheart contest. The following girls were selected: Freshman—Verna Campbell, Sophomore—Joyce Campbell, Junior—

Doris Flo Doss, Senior—Fannie Fae Porter.
 The contest will be run on the same principal as the Home Ec. contest and if satisfactory results are obtained, the lucky girl will be presented with a sweater signifying her honor and a trip to the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

FACULTY HOLIDAY PLANS
 Teachers on the CHS faculty have varied and interesting plans for the Thanksgiving holidays next week. On the whole, they anticipate a good time and a rest from usual activities. Mr. Baron Smith will visit in his home town—Richland Springs. Other teachers who are also going to home towns are: Mr. Shillingburg to Dublin, Mr. Wheeler to Santa Anna, and

VAGABOND ROLE RECALLS BOB BURNS' HOBO DAYS

"The more you keep changin' folks, the more they end up by bein' the same thing!"

That's the view held by America's ranking "homespun philosopher," Bob Burns, in reference to his latest role in "The Arkansas Traveler," which Paramount will present Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21 at the Palace theatre.

"It took Hollywood four years and a ton of effort to get me back to the same place I was ten years ago!" says the "sage of Van Buren," who is cast as a "nobleman of the road"—high-class hobo to you—in his new picture.

"I've been nearly every kind of a person you can think of," Burns continues, "from a cowpuncher in 'Rhythm on the Range' and a backwoodsman in 'Wells Fargo' to a senator in 'Tropic Holiday.' And now in "The Arkansas Traveler" I'm the kind of fellow I used to be before these picture people decided I'd had better quit loafin' and go to work—an Arkansas hobo!"

"I've ridden the rails of every road from the Union Pacific to the Boston and Maine. I've had my knuckles rapped by railroad cops in yards all the way from Olympia, Washington, to St. Pete, Florida. I guess if all the rails I rode was laid end to end they'd go around the world a dozen times and make my friend Howard Hughes look like an awful piker. Only it took me longer to get places, that's all. But I never thought they'd make me a hobo in the pictures."

"But let me tell you something now. Ridin' the rails isn't such a tough spot as you might think. The air down there near the wheels is pretty good and you can't kick that you don't get plenty of it. And that's more than I can say for some of these swell trains I've been ridin' in lately. If I was the President I'd stop kickin' about the businessmen bein' too obstinate and do something about these stubborn train windows!"

"The road's the place for me I guess," concludes Burns. "Hollywood can dress me up, put me in a swell shack with ladders in the library and pay me fancy money, but a train whistle to me is still like a red flag to a bull—or the smell of pork to a politician. Can't hold myself in when it comes near."

Burns' role of vagabond who turns into the crusading editor of a country newspaper marks a turning-point in his spectacular screen career. His bazooka and musical comedy days are gone once and for all, and he now takes his place among the great portrayers of typical American characters.

its attendant heartaches is a triumph for Darryl F. Zanuck and his entire staff. Photographed in sepia, there is a lavish display of scenery, particularly the desert shots showing construction of the waterway. Great care has been exercised in handling the historic scenes. The production is a panorama of beauty enhanced by a romantic touch, the love of Ferdinand de Lesseps for Countess Eugenie de Montijo, who deserts him to become the wife of Louis Napoleon. The love of Toni Pellerin, granddaughter of the sergeant, for de Lesseps is his only hope until she dies after saving his life. Allan Dwan directed.

Players are Tyrone Power, Annabella, Loretta Young, J. Edward Bromberg, Leon Ames, Joseph Schildkraut, Miles Mander.

Players are Randolph Scott, Hope Hampton, Helen Broderick, Alan Marshall, Glenda Farrell, David Oliver.

"MOVIES OWN MOVIE" TO BE SHOWN HERE
World Is Ours' Is Miniature Cavaleade of Film Capitol

It is particularly fitting that the only time in history that all of Hollywood's studios have ever collaborated on anything 100 per cent, it was to produce a two-reel short subject, "The World Is Ours," which is devoted to the interests of the entire industry.

It tells the story, briefly, of why "motion pictures are your best entertainment," and includes many fascinating glimpses behind the scenes of just how pictures are prepared for general distribution. Also included are "shots" of all the principal film stars.

The "family" chosen to present the story part of the short feature, showing at the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18 and 19, is made up of Anne Shirley, Dorothy Peterson, Samuel S. Hinds, Charlie Grapevin and Johnny Walsh. Basil Wrangell directed from the script by Herman Hoffman and Lou Harris. Frank Whitbeck was the producer and Nat Finston was responsible for the musical score.

Harry Sherman, ad producer of westerns has endowed this latest in the popular Hopalong Cassidy series with richer production values than any of its predecessors, permitting the virile hero of the sagebrush to be surrounded with such flourishes as musical interludes, fancy sets and suchlike. Results: The picture will quite probably have a wider appeal among those who can take their westerns or leave them alone, but may suffer correspondingly among the out-and-out Cassidy fans who like their action, riding and gunplay in large, unadulterated doses. However, Hoppy and his two stalwart buddies, Windy and Lucky, are in there pitching with their usual acceptable performances, which will most likely save the day for all concerned. Directed by Edward D. Venturini.

Players are William Boyd, George Hayes, Russell Hayden, Paul Sutton, Allan Garcia, Jane Clayton, Trevor Bardette.

EDITORIAL

The writer is a student of Ancient and Modern history both sacred and profane. We read from Caesar, Socrates, Brutus, Napoleon, Anthony, Shakespeare and on down to Columbus' discovery of America and the Revolutionary War, then Washington, Lincoln, Woodrow Wilson and Roosevelt. We are writing this week especially for the History class in the high school, that it may help.

ANCIENT AND MODERN HISTORY

Out, out, brief candle—
Life, but a walking shadow, a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage
And then is heard no more; it is a tale
Told by an idiot, full of blood and fury,
Satisfying nothing.—Macbeth, Shakespeare.

Macbeth's conception of life was influenced largely by his experience, as is that of every other man. His murder of Duncan besides other episodes in his career, was not calculated to make life as desirable to him as it would have been had there been fewer incidents in it to make it unattractive. He doubtless became reckless in battle, which may account for his death in the battle of Lumphanan. No doubt the murder of Duncan added to his other woes until his death.

Like many other men, he had a wife that, judging by her insistence upon the murder of Duncan, was one not to be expected to promote the felicity of her husband. Socrates' Xantippe tormented the philosopher terribly, but she probably did not insist on his committing murder. He was too kind and gracious to have done so under any circumstances.

Unholy ambition on the part of both Macbeth and his wife had much to do with the murder of Duncan. It has been the impelling urge of thousands of other men who had more egotism than principle. Especially is this true in the cases of so-called conquerors. Had Macbeth had a Cardinal Wolsey to advise him it might have helped some. Wolsey's admonition to Cromwell was an impressive expression as to ambition: "I charge thee fling away ambition; by that sin fell the angels." There have been many men who had the same feeling as did Wolsey toward the end of their earthly days. He said to Cromwell:

Had I served my God with half the zeal
I served my King, he would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies.

This feeling naturally distresses men when contemplating their demise, and causes them to conclude as did Hamlet when he voiced the opinion that one had better "bear those ills we have than fly to others that we know not of." Notwithstanding this, many of them have been so overwrought when they lost the cause for which they contended that they became like King Saul, for we are told that "Saul took a sword and fell upon it." Those who are closely associated with men who attain great fame become as if hypnotized by their chiefs and seem to find little in life after they are gone. For example, we are told that "when his armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise upon his sword, and died with him."

Another renowned example of this desperation that leads to suicide by defeat was the case of Marcus Junius Brutus, who persuaded Strato, his manservant, to hold his sword while he ran upon it. That in many instances suicide is preferred to life under unbearable conditions is expressed by Brutus as he ran upon his sword, "Caesar, I killed not thee with half so good a will" (as he killed himself). And Antony, notwithstanding the participation by Brutus in the murder of Caesar, said of him, "This was the noblest Roman of them all." However, he attributed to Brutus honest and patriotic purpose in what he did. "He only in a general honest thought and common good to all, made one of them."

Another well-known example of a great man's hypnotic influence over his subordinates who are closely associated with him is that of Napoleon and General Bertrand. Bertrand and one or two others remained on St. Helena with their adored chief in his banishment. It is not exaggerative to say "adored chief," for their devotion to him was little less. The word "chauvinism" is said to have been derived from the name of Nicolas Chauvin, one of Napoleon's soldiers, who was so extreme in his attachment to Napoleon that his comrades derided him for it.

To those who remember school history, perhaps the story of Caligula (Tiberius Caesar) may have been revived by some things that have been happening recently, both in Europe and in America.

Caligula, a pupil of the great teacher, Seneca, was one of the most profound scholars and accomplished diplomats of his day and was Emperor of Rome from 37 A.D. to 41 A.D. His reign is particularly interesting, because it was during the early years of Christianity and some of its events are recorded in sacred history. But the feature of chief interest now is the fact that, while proclaiming himself a democrat and professing to be working for relief of his people, he proved one of the worst tyrants the world has ever known. And he began his tyranny, first by squandering twenty-five billion dollars of government revenue, throwing the Roman nation overwhelmingly into debt, and reducing its people to industrial slavery by imposition of ruinous taxes. Thus tyrannies, whatever their profession, always have begun.

And while viewing, perhaps with some alarm, the marked similarities between the tyranny of those ancient times and the trend of modern events, it may interest still further to recall a few things to which that ancient tyranny led, even after the brief period of four years!

Skipping profligacy so heastly as to be unfit for print, the reign of Caligula culminated in two acts which now would appear humorous, if it were not for their tragedy. First, he had the chief University of Rome confer upon his horse its highest academic degree, decorated the brute with the cap and gown of that day, made him dean of the college, and rode him in upon the public rostrum! Second, he proclaimed himself god throughout all Roman dominions and, upon pain of death, ordered all his subjects to pray to himself instead of the Deity. This blasphemy was enacted throughout every province of Rome, except Palestine, the reason for this exception and the part it played in the life of Saint Paul, the Apostle, may be found in Scripture.

But, can these things happen now? Or, really, are not some of them already happening? Do not like causes always produce like results? Can free democracy survive in debt now any more than in the days of Caligula? And maybe some day we shall have a horse as dean of an American college!

HALLOWEEN

It is the belief of many that at midnight on Halloween dumb animals can speak, but what poor husband, after a hard day's work, is able and willing to stay up that late just for the opportunity of trying it out when he knows it ain't so now.

ARMISTICE DAYS

"Keeping Faith"

To those who gave their life, their all
That Democracy might come through,
On this great day, we keep the faith,
We pledge our loyalty anew.

"Standing Between"

1918-1938—Two decades—And another Armistice Day has dawned. Twenty years since the armistice of November the Eleventh 1918, which suspended World War hostilities, was concluded by Marshall Foch and Admiral Wemyss representing the Allied forces, with the civil and military authorities of the opposing nations.

It was the end of the war to end all wars. Peace, everlasting peace, what a reward for the years spent 'mid shot and shell and War's dark hell.

Twenty years ago today the gallant pulsing youth that had poured out of our nation, with all the patriotic fervor that only American youth is capable of, to help make the world safe for Democracy, laid down their arms and joined in the cheers that went 'round the world—Armistice, Armistice!

Twenty years, and the spring of youth in the step of those now graying lack is tempered by middle age, and the unshamed prayer in their hearts is that their boys, now men, may be spared the grim experience that they, the fathers, encountered in the flower of their young manhood.

Twenty years, and today, as the world "STANDS BETWEEN" the threatening god of war and the beckoning goddess of hope, the ravenous vulture of conflict and the timid dove of peace, let not us, as a great nation, break faith with those who "STAYED BEHIND IN FLANDER'S FIELDS."

We get the word armistice from the Latin, a combination composed of "arms" plus "to stand still." Its accepted meaning is "a temporary cessation of hostilities, by convention," and the last twenty years have reminded us at every turning how pat and how pathetic that literal meaning is. The armistice of Nov. 11, 1918, has been quite literally a "temporary cessation of hostilities, by convention."

Today, twenty years after, the world is arming as never before for a conflict that will dwarf the one to which the armistice put an evanescent period.

PENSION GRABBERS

The oldest, who expects Lee O' to get that $30 per month for him, is of the same mentality as the man who lobs his finger in a tub of water and puts in good time looking for the hole he made. "Uncle Bill" says it can't be done. Lee just told that story to get elected. Surely no one expects him to do it, and they ought not to make him feel bad by throwing it up to him. And they will keep right on paying poll taxes long after Lee O' has retired.

This writer was invited out to dine in one of Colorado's best families. During the meal excellent steak was served. One of the kiddos said, "Daddy, this is steak and you told mamma that you were going to bring home for dinner an old mutton head." And the mother replied, "He did."

Dick O'Brien at Stamford in his "Rambling Remarks" says: "You know one of the members at Stamford kept telling me that my sermons were not long enough. He insisted that that was the only fault he found with my preaching. My vanity was considerably inflated until I found out the reason. He never got his morning nap out because of the short sermons and the moving around incident to the benediction would arouse him prematurely."

"Put away all sarcasm from your speech. Never complain. Do not prophesy evil. Have a good word for everyone, or else keep silent!"—Becher.

TUNE OF PIED PIPERS UNHEEDED BY WOLVES AS THEY DEFEAT HAMLIN 29-6

The tune which Hamlin's Pied Pipers played at Cantrill field Friday afternoon fell on deaf ears as far as the Colorado Wolves were concerned, and the Wolves walked off with a 29-6 victory in a non-conference game which headlined the local Armistice program.

The first half of the game featured powerful drives by the Wolves, who made two touchdowns in the first period, a safety in the second period, and a touchdown in each of the other periods.

Hamlin's aerial antics went to clicking in the third period. Hamlin's only tally and all its first downs were made in the second half.

The Wolves' first score came early in the first period when the ball was marched down the field in eight consecutive plays from Colorado's 20-yard line. Tommy Chadwick and Jack Smith, the latter playing with a face guard to protect a broken nose, alternated as ball carriers. Chadwick went over the line and Curtis Wood kicked the point. Elkins and Carlton did Hamlin's tackling.

Later in the same period Chadwick ran 40 yards to Hamlin's one yard line, was held there one play, then scored with a long run around end in the next. Again Wood's kick was good.

Duff Chesney took Chadwick's place at safety shortly before the quarter ended, and made a beautiful first-down run. The quarter ended 14-0. Coffey scored a Wolf safety in the second period after blocking a Hamlin punt.

In Hamlin's second-half aerial show, Carlton and Russell tossed themselves into the spotlight. Although Ivy was usually on the receiving end of Carlton's passes, it was a 20-yard pass from Carlton to Burton that resulted in Burton's 30-yard run for Hamlin's lone touchdown. Try for the extra point failed. Russell completed passes to Walton and Ivy. All in all, Hamlin completed 12 passes out of 18 attempted for a total gain of 160 yards during the last half.

Chadwick maintained his scoring record for Colorado during the second half, making one tally in the third period and one in the fourth.

Wood's kick was blocked in the third period scoring.

The fourth period score for Colorado came after Chadwick had intercepted a Hamlin pass. He passed to Chesney for 15 yards in the next play, then galloped 65 yards in the next to Hamlin's goal line. Wood kicked the point, making the final score 29-6.

Colorado attempted three passes during the entire game, completing two for a total of 16 yards. First downs were 17 for Colorado and 9 for Hamlin. The Wolves drew five off-side penalties totaling 25 yards, while the Pied Pipers drew one for five yards.

Ross Glover was captain of the Wolves for the game. The starting line-up included Ballard and Cox, ends; Hodges and Hunter, tackles; D. Jones and Blasingame, guards; C. Wood, center; Chadwick, quarter; Glover and Chesney, halves; Smith, full. Substitutes were Coffey, Walter and John Grubbs, Sam Majors, O. B. Trulock, Jr., and Horace Wood.

SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils enjoyed a picnic Friday afternoon from 12:30 until 3:30 o'clock. We played games, climbed up hills, and coasted down hills until everyone was ready to eat the lunch which consisted of sandwiches and cold drinks. After lunch we explored the countryside until time to return home. Everyone had a very wonderful time.

This will be your last chance to read about the following so be sure and "pay close attention" as teacher would say. Wednesday night, the 23rd of November at 7:30 o'clock for 10c and 15c you may see a good play. Folks we won't advise you to see anything that would be a waste of your time, but when you have an opportunity to see a marionette show, then don't miss it! The Rogers art classes are presenting "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." These characters are dolls which are only from two to three feet high, and there is acting which is done by these dolls. Folks, we urge you to come on and see this great even. We guarantee that you see all seven of the dwarfs, they sing their song just as they did in the real "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," they are kissed by Snow White as they leave for work; they are seen as they push Grumpy into the water trough and as they seat themselves to their tiny table. Dopey has his high chair there and sits in it as he eats his meals. Yes, you see Snow White as she takes over the managing of the tiny dwarf home. You see the witch in her dark, underground laboratory as she pre-

White. You see the green apple go into the magic pot and come out a beautiful red. You see Snow White take the apple, bite it, and fall to the floor in a sleeping death. You see her afterwards in her coffin in the forest. You see the prince as he comes and finds Snow White in the forest. You see him as he kneels by Snow White and places love's "first kiss" upon her lips thus bringing her back to life. The seven beds bearing the names of each dwarf are seen in the interior of the dwarf's home.

Don't miss this great fantastic, breath-taking play. Everything to see and gain with nothing for you to lose. November 23, 7:30 p.m. Admission 10c and 15c. Don't miss it!

We had some new people in our Sunday school Sunday and we hope to see you there next Sunday. Come on and find a place among us. You're always welcome in our group. We urge you to come.

TO OUR FRIENDS

Does Sunday come and find you. With nothing much to do?

Does it come like other days. But it seems long and blue?

Then don't let it be that way. Because we don't think it's fun. Come out to Sunday School.

We need you everyone. Your life will be full of sunshine. Your thoughts will be more pure. Don't sit at home and "gripe" and fuss.

That's always hard to endure. We have a fire to keep you warm. A smile for everyone.

A word of cheer to keep you here. And welcome you each Sunday morn.

WANTED: A Woman with Strong Arms to Work for 1/4¢ an Hour. Apply

YOUR ELECTRIC FOOD MIXER USES ONLY 1/4¢ WORTH OF ELECTRICITY AN HOUR!

No woman would be willing to do hard work for only 1/4 cent an hour, yet that is all it costs to run an electric food mixer. If you use your mixer for a full hour to whip cream, mix a heavy batter or to do other kitchen tasks in preparing a Thanksgiving dinner, you can figure that the cost for electricity will be only 1/4 cent.

Isn't that a small price to pay for using a handy servant that saves your time and your strength?

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Our biggest Armistice thrill was watching more than 100 of Mitchell county's World War veterans march away from the Colorado hotel after their Armistice day breakfast Friday morning. . . . An hour earlier they had responded to reveille at the Legion hut, and had raised the flag before marching downtown to breakfast. . . . When we saw them they were coming out of the hotel and getting ready to get their picture "took." . . . Later they laughed at their own rusty attempts to obey the curt orders of "Captain" H. P. Slagel, "Captain" John E. Watson, and "Top Sergeant" Bun Pritchett. . . . They joked about their "day wind-downs." . . . Apparently everybody was happy. . . . They'd had a good breakfast, the sun was shining, the cloud-splashed sky was blue. . . . Here it was, twenty years after the war which once blotted out all their sight of the future, and they were still alive, still able to laugh. . . . Not much was said about those days when "the draft" reached out wider and wider until it got them all, nor about those dark night-time trains which took them away to training camps and whatever lay beyond, but we'll bet most of them remembered, just the same. . . .

There's a story about a Texas bluebonnet, one growing by the highway in Mitchell county, which started a friendship between a woman in the north and one in the southwest. . . . It goes like this: Two days before Easter in 1937, a Colorado woman was shopping in Piggly Wiggly when a Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Smith, tourists from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, stopped at the store for a purchase. . . . Mrs. Smith had picked one lone bluebonnet on the highway east of town, and she asked the local woman what the flower was. . . . The Colorado woman told her all there was to tell about the flower, then invited the couple to see Colorado in general and Ruidick park in particular. . . . Two weeks later the Colorado woman dispatched a box of bluebonnets grown in Colorado to the Wisconsin woman. . . . A friendly reply resulted. . . . Recently Mr. and Mrs. Smith returned to Colorado and visited the local woman. . . . Mr. Smith is a buyer of high-grade cattle for northern markets. . . . When he was here he had just purchased 17 carloads amounting to $150,000 for winter feeding. . . .

Kind-hearted deed of the week: Jack Helton offering to buy a T-bone steak for a starved-looking cat seen near the coffee shop. . . .

Who done it? That's what A. E. McClain of the R&R picture shows was wanting to know last week after he had received a certain mysterious letter. . . . In the letter was one of those ads showing a —er, well, a bald-headed man with a good-looking girl and bearing the simple caption: "They say she married him for his money." . . . To add insult to injury, Mac had to pay two cents to get the thing out of the postoffice. . . .

Over at McCall mission, maintained in East Colorado by the Daughters of the King class of First Methodist church, a 73-year-old woman is trying to establish a Sunday school attendance record so that she may secure a Bible as her reward. . . .

Don't forget the "canned goods" matinee at the Palace on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. . . . For a can of any kind of food you will be admitted without charge, and every can of food received will go to some needy family for Thanksgiving, distribution being in charge of the Lions club and the Boy Scouts. . . . Incidentally, this is just another instance of the way the local Robb & Rowley theaters, through their manager, A. E. McClain, cooperate in any and all worthy enterprises. . . .

Jottings from the Armistice ball game: Joe Pond and the wife, she who used to be Nelle Harper Greene, over from Big Spring, looking every inch the ideal young married couple. . . . Johnny Prude, squiring Frances Elaine Price and turning his candid camera here and yonder. . . . Mrs. Frank Kelley unusually pretty in a blue sheer wool dress with accents of black. . . . Blonde Judy Christian, center of the Jack Christian household, a diminutive style note with her brief princess-cut dress of wine velvet and a matching hair ribbon. . . . It was, by the way, two-year-old Judy's debut at football games, and she tremendously longed to "go with" her coaching father between halves. . . . Two dark and handsome, tho not yet so very tall, young football enthusiasts—little Dave Bridgford of the R. D. Bridgford household and his "pal," Bobby Richardson, son of the Jake Richardsons. . . . Somebody we'd like to look like—Mrs. J. D. Williams, wife of Dr. J. D. Williams. . . . Who has bluer eyes than Mrs. R. J. Wallace, especially when she's wearing blue? . . . Inseparables—Mary Ann Latham and Joan Mills. . . . Men in ex-service caps. . . . Poppies for sale. . . . How hot that sun is—but it's a swell day, just the same. . . .

If you noticed a rather downcast expression on the countenance of Police Chief Dick Hickman this week, it was probably due to the fact that the deer-hunting season was at hand and he wasn't on hand because he had to be on the job. . . . The chief hasn't missed a deer season in 14 years, and he's hoping to keep his record unbroken before the present season ends. . . .

A record of nearly six years' standing was broken by Judge A. F. King Monday when he missed his first commissioners' court session since being elected county judge. . . . He had to go to Ballinger for the golden wedding anniversary celebration of his parents that day, and that's the why of the broken record. . . .

Please bring back the Christmas lights! That's the appeal which H. B. Spence, chamber of commerce manager, made this week as plans were launched for Christmas decorations in downtown Colorado. . . . About 14 strings of the lights are missing, Spence says. . . . They have been borrowed by persons wanting to light up their yards for parties, and by others. . . . If you have any of the strings, won't you please return them to the chamber of commerce office as soon as possible? . . .

Those who attended the Baptist workers' conference at Fairview Tuesday had a rare treat at the lunch hour—venison by courtesy of B. W. Jackson, who had been deer hunting in New Mexico. . . .

An experience which will be sympathetically understood by all hunter-minded folks befell Dr. R. D. Bridgford over at Lake Sweetwater on Tuesday morning, just as the waterfowl season opened. . . . Waiting on the lake shore for the season's opening hour to strike, Dr. Bridgford spied two geese within easy shooting distance. . . . He held his breath and watched his clock. . . . Just before the hands reached 7 a.m., the long-awaited hour, a group of hunters came thundering up in a model-Ford. . . . The geese left, of course, and all the eight ducks which the doctor bagged in little more than an hour that morning can't quite make him forget the two geese that got away. . . .

There's stitching and planning afoot in the homes of Episcopal women herabouts these days as they prepare for their Christmas bazaar at the John L. Doss drug store the last three days of this month—Nov. 28, 29, 30. . . .

These new colors give us an awful lot of trouble. . . . We were practically color-blind back in the days when red was red and blue was blue, and we're worse than ever now. . . . Recently we jotted something in this column about admiring Mrs. C. C. Thompson in that "rich orchid shade she wears so well." . . . The other day she was lamenting—all in fun, of course—that she'd given "that orchid" dress away before she got the compliment. . . . We argued that she couldn't have done that because we saw her in it just about two weeks ago. . . . Come to find out, the dress and hat which we admired so much weren't a "rich orchid" at all, but aqua blue! We can almost work up an insulted feeling over her thinking we meant the real orchid dress, because she had that dress quite some time ago. . . . We admit that we run some mighty "old" news in these columns at times, but when we get two years behind we'll quit! It's a promise!

You'd expect to find dignity in a bank—now wouldn't you? Banking is supposed to be a dignified and ultra-respectable profession. . . . Yet this writer and a lot of other local suckers, including M. O. Chapman, Mrs. Grady Newman, Walter Whipkey, H. B. Spence, and who have you, got a squirt in the eye at Colorado's only, and therefore most respectable, bank this week. . . . Let us remind you, in case you don't already know it, that a squirt in the eye is definitely not dignified. . . . The perpetrator of all these indignities was Charles Moeser, whose honest, countenance and smooth manners make an ideal combination for putting over squirts in the eye and such things. . . . Mr. Moeser's method was to show you a five- or ten-spot, tell you it was counterfeit, and then offer to let you look at the "lines" through his little glass. . . . He always held the glass and urged you to "look close." . . . When you got to looking the closest, that was when you got it in the eye. . . . And you got it in the eye because Mr. Moeser pressed something that sent water flying up out of the hollow tube around the glass. . . . Considering the innocent expression and disarming "accommodation" with which Charles has been promoting such trickery, and considering the way the rest of the bank employes have been laughing at each new victim, and considering the fact that our mite of worldly wealth is all in that bank—well, frankly, we are beginning to wonder. . . .

Our face is red again. . . . We had Mrs. J. Ed Richardson listed in a Business & Professional Women's club story last week as "Miss Mozelle Richardson." . . . Reports of the BPW club are always turned in with the married members listed by their own first names rather than by their husbands' names. . . . We are well-enough acquainted with most of the women to substitute their married—and proper—names for their club titles, so to speak, in arranging news stories. . . . This error wasn't made because we don't know Mrs. Richardson as well as the next one, but the thing is that we didn't know her own private name is "Mozelle." . . . We wondered and wondered who "Mozelle Richardson" might be, and finally decided she must be a new girl come to town. . . .

Nearly 1/2 of telephone expenses in Texas goes for wages. . . .

Over more than 23 1/2 million dollars spent by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to provide telephone service in Texas last year, about 10 million dollars . . . nearly half . . . went for wages. Wages to 9,000 telephone people, who in turn spent most of that money in Texas.

Telephone wages play no small part in keeping the state's business moving. And by assuring telephone users of the services of skilled, efficient people, they play a large part in giving you good telephone service at reasonable cost. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.
