WITH ANCESTRY THAT CAN BE TRACED BACK TO ROYALTY, MRS. HYMAN STILL PREFERS BEING 'MOTHER OF HYMAN'

Her ancestry can be traced back to English royalty via Virginia aristocracy, and her array of titles and medals is little short of be-dazzling, but the favorite title of Mrs. Harry Hyman, widely-known Mitchell countess, is "Mother of Hyman."

It's a title which she has earned herself through her efforts for and her loyalty to the progressive, community-conscious little townsite of Hyman in southern Mitchell county. Hyman was born in 1922 under the guidance of Mrs. Hyman and her late husband on land carved from the old HS ranch.

Mrs. Hyman was the little town's first postmistress—she was, indeed, instrumental in making it a postoffice to begin with. She gave nine acres for its school, built its church, gave land for its cemetery. After 17 years her loyalty to the little town which she calls home is still undiminished.

Hyman is more to Mrs. Hyman than just her town and home, however. It stands on the land where she first found romance and complete happiness a half-century ago, and it bears the aura of many

The girl to whom these memories were to come was born Sarah Minna Chalk in Elk Falls, Kansas, on March 29, 1871, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Chalk. The father, a lawyer, came from a family which claimed descent from Anne Asque, who was burned at the stake during the time of Henry VIII of England for her religious beliefs.

Robert L. Chalk, father of Mrs. Hyman, had first come to Texas in 1851 with his parents. He was one of the first to enlist in the Confederate army from Bell county and was taken prisoner by the Union troops at Arkansas Post, now Little Rock, Arkansas. He and another Bell county boy escaped and took refuge in a Camanche, Iowa, home. In that home Chalk met the girl whom he was later to marry. Their marriage took place after the war was over and Robert Chalk had his law degree from Lebanon, Tennessee.

After a short time in Iowa, the Chalks moved to Kansas, where Mrs. Hyman and her brother, Otis Chalk, were born. Otis Chalk, who died in December, 1938, was the man for whom the Chalk oil field in southern Howard county is named. From Kansas the Chalks moved on to Bell county where Mr. Chalk opened a Bell county law office.

Sarah Minna Chalk was educated in public and private schools in Belton and Camanche, Iowa. In the latter place she lived with her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Butcher. There she enjoyed ice skating, sleigh riding, and was once chosen queen of her school.

In August, 1890, Sara Minna Chalk came to Mitchell county for the first time to visit an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. E. Gilliland, who then operated the HS ranch, property of W. T. Scott of Colorado City.

Scott was at that time one of Colorado City's so-called "Big Four," the other three being A. P. Bush, Harry Cattlett, John McWilliams.

Texas history was involved in Scott's being here at all. His father, Col. W. T. Scott, Sr., known throughout Texas in the early days as "Buck" Scott, had supplied negro slaves to help complete the railroad. In return for his help the railroad gave him the West Texas land which his son, W. T. Scott, Jr., later drew for his portion of the inheritance.

Col. W. T. Scott, Sr., incidentally, was in the senate of the Republic of Texas, and for a time was vice-president of the forerunner of the T. & P. railroad. He was once offered the nomination for governor of Texas but refused. The town of Scottville is named for him, and a monument to his memory was dedicated there in May, 1937.

When Sarah Minna Chalk arrived in Colorado City on the 2:30 A.M. train that August night, it was W. T. Scott, Jr., who met her at the station, substituting for the Gillilands who hadn't come in from the ranch. He took her to the old St. James hotel, then one of West Texas' outstanding hostels, and in later years Mrs. Emma Nolan, who was then proprietor of the hotel, always claimed that she "made the match" between had its first wedding Mrs. Hyman was happier than any of the main characters could have been. She decorated the church, helped make all the wedding plans, invited everybody in Hyman, and then threw her big white home open for a reception following the ceremony.

She is like that about everything which concerns Hyman in any way. She knows, and has known all along, that it will probably never be anything like a metropolis, but she takes pride in the fact that it's clean, attractive, and surrounded by desirable, civic-minded people.

Pages could be written about her affiliations and her medals. She belongs to the Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Confederacy, Daughters of 1812, Colonial Dames, Founders and Patriots, Colonial Governors, Royal Descent, Barons of Runnemeade, Knights of the Garter, Huguenot society, Order of First Crusade, First Families of Virginia, Signers of the Declaration, and the Plantagenet family.

Mrs. Hyman is an ex-State Regent of the D.A.R., and while holding that office in 1914 she was instrumental in organizing the John Davis D.A.R. chapter in Abilene. She organized the Nancy Stout chapter, Children of the American Revolution, in Fort Worth, naming it after an ancestress of hers. She was second regent of the Mary Isham Keith chapter of the D.A.R. at Fort Worth, and was at one time regent of the San Antonio de Bezar chapter in San Antonio. She is said to hold the first Bexar county poll tax receipt issued to a woman in 1918. She helped to organize the Wm. Halbert chapter of the D.A.R. at Colorado City and is the chapter's god-mother.

During the war, with all three of her sons in service and with the memory of her soldier father in mind, Mrs. Hyman went in for Red Cross work on a large scale and qualified as an instructor at San Antonio.

Her medals almost defy listing. She wears, on appropriate occasions, 14 D.A.R. bars, and from each of these dangle medals and pins signifying membership in 16 other patriotic organizations.

With all her activities as mother, wife, organizer, church worker, and builder, Mrs. Hyman has found time to travel extensively. She has spent two summers in Europe, two in Canada, several in California and the state of Colorado. She drives about the country at will in her own car, often alone. Mr. Hyman died about five years ago.

Genealogy is one of her most absorbing hobbies. She has a chart showing her line of descent from King Edward III of England, founder and first sovereign of the Most Noble Order of the Garter. This gives her membership in The Plantagenets. One of The Scott home was completely happy except for one thing—they wanted a daughter. In April, 1901, Scott was suddenly stricken with appendicitis. Three days later, on April 22, 1901, he died. After his death a daughter was born to his widow. She was named Ann Rose, for both grandmothers, and today she is Mrs. W. A. Heusinger of San Antonio. Scott was first buried in Fort Worth, but was later moved to Scottville, where five or six generations of his family had been buried before him.

Five years later, on March 22, 1906, Mrs. Scott was married to Harry Hyman of Washington, D. C. Hyman's people were neighbors of the Scotts in Fort Worth and his friendship with Mrs. Scott began during his visits home. Starting as a mail carrier in Stephenville, Hyman had been promoted by the postoffice department, first to Fort Worth, and then to Washington. Like Mrs. Scott, he could also boast family lineage. His grandmother, Mrs. Kenneth Rayner of Fort Worth, was a real D.A.R., her father having been Col. Wm. Polk of North Carolina.

For a year or two the Hymans lived in Washington, then he resigned his position and they moved to San Antonio, where Hyman and his brother-in-law, Judge A. L. Matlock, formed a law partnership.

The Hymans first became interested in colonizing ranch land when they carved the Kentuck ranch of South Texas into farms and community plots and sold it out. Prior to colonizing it he had helped open the Highland park addition in San Antonio. One of the little towns formed in colonizing the Kentuck ranch was named Anne Rose for Mrs. Hyman's daughter.

In 1922 the Hymans decided to colonize 106 sections of the HS ranch in Mitchell county. Mrs. Hyman still owned the ranch. The land was carved into farms and sold by Mr. Hyman while Mrs. Hyman devoted herself to making a little town to serve the new farming country as a community center. The church which she gave was dedicated in 1927, and in it a stained glass window to the memory of W. T. Scott, Jr. Last year when the little church

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT IATAN-CARR CLEAN-UP ON MEMORIAL DAY

The "clean-up" held at the Iatan-Carr cemetery to mark Memorial day was well attended by citizens of the Carr community, Iatan, and Westbrook, according to F. L. Eikenberg, president of the cemetery association.

Men of the community met at the cemetery at 9 o'clock that morning and worked until noon, when the women brought lunch and spread it. Work was completed in the afternoon, after which a memorial service was held.

George Swartz led in the singing of "Rock of Ages." Carr-Girl Scouts sang two hymns. Rev. R. B. Walden of the Westbrook Methodist church, read scripture passages and Rev. Forrest Huffman, Westbrook Baptist pastor, brought the memorial address.

Eikenberg was re-elected president of the annual clean-up day. He named committees as follows: Program, Mrs. Lynn Halbert and Mrs. Eikenberg; tools, Tom Jackson; dinner, Selma Jones.

"I want to express my thanks to all who were cooperative in making this event a success," Eikenberg said after the meeting was over.

MADDENED MILCH COW INFLECTS BAD WOUNDS

Painful and numerous wounds, some of which may yet prove serious, were inflicted on Mrs. J. E. Hall, of near Snyder, a former resident of near Loraine, by her family milch cow Saturday.

Mrs. Hall's brother, J. W. Walker of near Colorado City, went to see her Saturday and said this week that she is not yet entirely out of danger.

The cow had always been docile enough and had been cared for and milked by Mrs. Hall for years, Walker says. She has a small calf and Mrs. Hall went to the lot to milk her a little Saturday noon, a procedure which she had followed many times before.

But this time the cow whirled and knocked Mrs. Hall down and began attacking her fiercely with horns and hoofs. One of Mrs. Hall's ears was torn off and her body sustained many abrasions, requiring several stitches. She was bruised and battered from head to foot. She finally managed to crawl through a hole in the fence and escape from the strangely enraged animal. Her husband was in the field at the time and the children in the house had the radio going, and hence her cries went unheard during the attack.

No explanation for the cow's actions could be advanced. Walker maintains that she is "just plain mean" and after he had seen his sister he went promptly to the Hall home and dehorned the cow very thoroughly. He says that if the horns had been straight instead of crooked, his sister would have been killed outright.

MAP MAKERS TAKE NOTE OF TOWN'S CHANGE OF NAME

Even the mapmakers are now taking note of this town's recent name change from Colorado to Colorado City.

Joe Y. Fraser, postmaster, has received a letter from the geography department of Ginn and Company, Publishers, requesting his verification of the change.

The letter explained that the change had been noted in postal guide reports but that the mapmakers wanted to be sure that the change applies to the town itself as well as the postoffice, since postoffice names are sometimes changed while the town doesn't change.

LORAIN FARMERS PLANT 2ND TIME

PARK IS 'WONDERFUL' SIGHT TO MRS. Q. D. HALL, WHO HAD FIRST OUTING FRIDAY NIGHT

"It was wonderful—when I got home I felt like I'd been to Fort Worth or Dallas or some such place."

That was the way Mrs. Q. D. Hall, 79, reacted to her visit at Ruddick park amateur hour last Friday night. It was her first outing since her vision miraculously returned three weeks ago after she had been virtually blind for nearly 25 years.

It was, in truth, her first time to go outside her home in nearly ten years. She made the trip with her grandson, J. W. Shepperd, Jr., and his family who were here from Alpine.

She can't quite get over the way Colorado City has grown since she last saw it. So many new homes and such smooth paved streets bewildered her, she says. She was driven through town on the way to the park.

"I could even see the decorations in the store windows," she said later. In the course of a brief conversation she said three or four times, "And I could see the lights."

But the most wonderful thing she saw, she says, was Ruddick park and its amphitheater, filled to the highest terrace with people. The car she was in was parked down near the band shell so that she wouldn't have to get out. Her grandson had to lift her in the car at the home. "I just can't imagine Colorado having anything like that park," she said later.

Now that she is inching away from the fear that her restored vision will disappear as suddenly as it came, Mrs. Hall is enjoying it more and more. She especially likes "getting acquainted" with her grandchildren and their families and the friends she has known all these years by everything except sight.

GRAVESIDE RITES FOR MRS. BADGETT MONDAY AFTERNOON

Graveside rites were held in the Teaville (Rogers) cemetery at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon for Mrs. W. H. Badgett, 76, of near Cuthbert. Mrs. Badgett succumbed at a local hospital shortly after noon Sunday. She had been in ill health for three years and was admitted to the hospital for medical treatment Friday night.

Born Nancy Eleanor Leard in Arkansas on December 12, 1862, Mrs. Badgett was married to Mr. Badgett, Mitchell county pioneer, in November, 1925, at DeQueen, Arkansas, and came to this county to live at that time.

In addition to Mr. Badgett and two step-sons, Jim Badgett of Cuthbert and John Badgett of near Stanton, Mrs. Badgett is survived by seven children by former marriages: D. P. Brown and Mrs. Gertrude Lease, both of Kermit; Mrs. Myrtle Martin of DeQueen, Ark.; Mrs. Lily Rush of Sawyers, Okla.; Everett Robertson, Henderson; Mrs. Opal Vaught of Wichita, Kansas; Albert Brown of Cuthbert. There are 24 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Denton. Pallbearers were Lon and Lee Strain, El Womack, W. C. Berry, Ward Jenkins, in Ernest Uzzle. Flower girls were Mrs. Doris Leard, Allene Brown, Theima Brown, and Dorothy Mae Brown, all granddaughters.

Kiker and son had charge of arrangements.

BIG SPRING HOSPITAL GETS FIRST PATIENT

(From Big Spring Herald)

The Big Spring State Hospital received its first patient at 11 a. m. Monday following a week-end of "open house" which attracted thousands of visitors from this city and surrounding territory.

Other patients were expected soon from overcrowded institutions at San Antonio and Wichita Falls.

Amazed by the number of people who visited the state's newest eilemmentary institution on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, Dr. George T. McMahan, superintendent, indicated satisfaction with the public response to the new hospital for the mentally ill.

He could not estimate the number of those inspecting the eight buildings of the hospital unit, but remarked that it was the "most people" he had ever seen at a similar function.

The driveways at the hospital, located one mile north of town, were lined solidly Saturday afternoon when doors were thrown open to visitors. From the time first visitors were admitted at 1 p. m. Sunday until 5 p. m., several hundred cars were packed and jammed on the hospital properties.

Each of the seven major buildings was acutely crowded during the entire afternoon. Staff members were on duty at all places to inform visitors about various phases of the million dollar plant.

DESTRUCTION OF FAMILY SIZED FARMS SERIOUS

COLLEGE STATION.—Destruction of the family sized farm, resulting from an increased mechanization of farm activities is responsible for a large part of the recent increases in governmental activities, quotes the Farm Security administration from a Texas experiment station bulletin prepared by Dr. Horace Hamilton, economist in rural life.

Dr. Hamilton asserts that social disintegration is brought on by an increase in use of tractors upon the farm "beyond the imagination and comprehension of the average man." Some areas of Texas have become completely mechanized, with one tractor replacing from five to nine human families.

Evidence of a "very critical" social problem is presented, he said, in the fact that the Works Progress administration and the Farm Security administration in Texas are trying to take care of 76,000 families who have been thrown out of employment on the farm. Expansion of governmental functions he declared to be "the fruit of poorly controlled mechanization." Under our old rural culture, Dr. Hamilton said, "we had developed the family farm institution in such a way that our social needs such as education, care of the aged, the dependent, and the unemployed were made without any elaborate political organization or expense. The fact that we are now spending billions of dollars to do things which were once done by the family farmers for themselves demonstrates in a dramatic manner just how valuable the family was to society."

The number of tractors on Texas farms has increased from 9,000 in 1920 to 99,000 this year, and in the same period the number of horses and mules decreased from 2,300,000 to 1,454,000. Taking the figure on tractors from the farm equipment institute, which estimates an increase of 34 per cent in the number of tractors on Texas farms during this period gasoline tax refund to farmers using tractors increased 57 per cent.

Areas in Texas almost completely mechanized, Hamilton's report said, include the high and low plains and the Corpus Christi area. Out of 141 farms in the high plains 79 per cent were depending upon the tractor proper and multi-row equipment in 1937 as compared with 26 per cent in 1931. Dr. Hamilton quotes a survey of 43 farmers in Lubbock county last summer which showed only two not using tractors. The average tractor cultivated 423 acres.

Pointing out the extent to which the present social structure will be upset by displacement of thousands of tenant farmers and farm laborers, Dr. Hamilton said that the use of tractors and four-row equipment

Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer Starred As Truant Mates In Intriguing 'Love Affair'

Exciting Romance of Continental Playboy and Lady of Leisure Consummated With Great Sacrifice and Heartbreak in Dramatic Entertainment; Outstanding Supporting Cast Guided by Leo McCarey

Making their first appearance together as a romantic team, Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer have stellar roles in "Love Affair," coming to the Palace theatre next Friday and Saturday. Produced and directed by Leo McCarey, who was responsible for the Academy prize-winning hit, "The Awful Truth," the current offering affords Miss Dunne her first straight dramatic role in several years.

Miss Dunne is cast as the luxury-loving fiancée of a wealthy business man who sends her on frequent trips to Europe to collect art objects for him. Returning from one of these missions, she meets Charles Boyer the notorious Continental playboy.

Although Boyer is also engaged, the shipboard acquaintance of the mundane couple quickly develops into a genuine romance that virtually sweeps them both off their feet. At a brief stopover on the Portuguese island of Madeira, the romantic influence of the picturesque background fuses their love into an almost invulnerable solidarity.

Boyer, who has known only a cavalier-and-champagne life, decides to prove himself worthy of this great love by a six-month romantic moratorium, during which he will work in New York as an artist. Similarly, Miss Dunne goes to work as a night club singer.

At the end of the period, they rush to the established meeting ground, the Empire State building. Boyer arrives first, but his sweetheart meets with an automobile accident and is taken to the hospital.

Believing that she is permanently lamed, Miss Dunne refrains from notifying Boyer. She prefers that he suffer this disappointment than marry her, who would be a burden.

The plot development mounts to an exciting, heart-gripping climax, after the principals endure an interlude of personal sacrifice.

As the title indicates, romance has its day in "Love Affair," even into the backgrounds. Seldom pictured Madeira island, Manhattan and all its smart social rendezvous, and a first-rate Atlantic liner are settings which are at once breath-takingly beautiful and exciting.

Miss Dunne sings two numbers in "Love Affair," "Sing My Heart" and "Wishing." Maria Ouspenskaya, as Boyer's grandmother, heads the featured cast of this RKO Radio picture which includes Lee Bowman and Astrid Allwyn, as the betrothed mates of Miss Dunne and Boyer, and Maurice Moscovitch, as an old art dealer.

MRYNA LOY, ROBERT TAYLOR TOGETHER FOR THE FIRST TIME IN "LUCKY NIGHT"

Bringing a sensational new romantic-comedy team to the screen, "Lucky Night," co-starring Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor, is the outstanding attraction coming Saturday, Sunday and Monday to the Palace theatre.

Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor in "Lucky Night"

Hitherto portraying straight dramatic roles in films such as "Camille," "Stand Up and Fight," and "The Crowd Roars," Robert Taylor, in this film presents himself for light comedy honors opposite the merry Myrna Loy who has already achieved distinction as a comedienne in such mirthful entertainments as the "Thin Man" series, "Labeled Lady" and "Double Wedding."

Taylor portrays the role of an out-of-luck playboy who meets Miss Loy on a park bench while both are looking for jobs. Myrna has fled from a fourth engagement to a man she didn't want to marry. The pair team forces, panhandle fifty cents, pyramid in into thousands by lucky playing, hit the night spots, get into tight spots and find, after their wild and "lucky night," that they have been married. Thereafter they face the serious business of life, leading to further hilarious complications, separation, and eventual reconciliation.

In the supporting cast is a picked list of funmakers, among whom are Joseph Allen, Henry O'Neill, Douglas Fowley, Bernard Nedell, Chas. Lane, Bernardine Hayes, Gladys Blake, Marjorie Main, Edwin Gargan, Irving Bacon and Oscar O'Shea.

PWA BENEFITS ARE LISTED IN LETTER FROM PWA ENGINEER

In a letter submitted to this newspaper by John McAlexander, engineer inspector for the PWA, benefits of the PWA are outlined as follows:

As we look about us we see construction going on everywhere, with many men at work, and the different newspapers from all over the Nation tell the same story.

Modern hospitals, approved water works, sanitary sewer systems, flood control, dams for the health and preservation of the people; schools, colleges, and libraries, with better facilities for the edification of the youth of our land.

Play grounds, swimming pools, etc. for the health, happiness and contentment of both young and old; all working together to make a more enlightened, healthier and happier nation.

This only a part of what the present administration is accomplishing by pulling stagnated money out of hiding and putting idle men to work.

Turn back the pages of a few short years, to when we were reading in some of our newspapers from different sections of the United States, where men were entering stores in some of our cities, and forcibly taking food from the shelves to keep their families from starving. Were we not then on the very verge of revolution?

But now, with the Public Works Administration in full swing, providing employment for millions of workmen at a living wage; families separated by hunger and want have been reunited, homes are being built, repaired and repainted; and nearly everybody has a car and a radio.

Picture what would happen if the PWA should suddenly cease to exist and these millions of men thrown out of employment.

The mighty Mexican Gulf stream surging forth from the tropics, circulating with its life-giving warmth through the Atlantic along our Eastern coastline and over by the British Isles, and back around again to the tropics; and the Japanese Gulf stream which warms the shores of California, making habitable these lands, flows on and on without ceasing.

President Roosevelt and Mr. Ickes realize that as the life-giving blood circulates through the body; as the food-giving sap nourishes the trees, and as the rain from Heaven feeds the mighty Mississippi, just so does the fruitful funds of the Public Works Administration circulating throughout our land, help provide work, health, recreation, education, contentment and happiness to all. It is not being spent. It is circulating.

Shall it stop? President Roosevelt says no; but that it shall be continued in some form to bless our Nation and our people.

FATHER EXPOSES SON AS HEAD OF TAXI BANDIT MOB

Columbia's "My Son is a Criminal" heralded as one of the most human and dramatic gangster films ever to reach the screen, comes to the Ritz theatre on Sunday and Monday with a cast which includes Alan Baxter, Jacqueline Wells, Gordon Oliver and Willard Robertson. Said to be one of the most "different" of recent crime stories, the new film has been hailed especially for its final-thrill-packed scenes.

Robertson is seen as a retired chief of police who vainly hopes that his son will also join the force. But the boy, played by Alan Baxter, pretends absorption in the garage he owns, although he actually in the "brains" of a vicious racket mob which has completely baffled the police by its mysterious escapes from the scenes of the crimes they commit.

Gordon Oliver, as a boyhood friend of the pseudo-garageman, is a scientist employed in the police laboratory and Jacqueline Wells divides her affection equally between the two.

When the retired officer finds his new leisure boring, he returns to the force to become an unofficial worker against the mob his own son heads. He tracks down one clue after another, unaware that he is actually pointing the finger of guilt directly at his boy. Meanwhile, the laboratory worker is also adding together the clues picked up, and comes to the right answer.

The vividly dramatic climax of "My Son is a Criminal" is reached when the father and son meet at the scene of a hold-up, the former there to prevent it and the latter, to make it his last before he flees the country.

HERE FROM ABILENE

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Haggard and daughter, Sue, returned to Abilene Monday afternoon after spending the week-end with Mr. Haggard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Haggard, near Westbrook. They were here for the wedding of Myrtle Eugenia Haggard on Sunday morning.

IMPROVING

According to the Monahans News, Mrs. Earl Vest, who sustained a serious knee injury in a highway crash east of here on May 17, continues to improve. She was moved from the local hospital to the Monahans hospital two weeks ago.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN TEXAS BUSINESS

DALLAS, TEXAS.—Considerable improvement, as a result of general rain, in the outlook for agricultural and livestock industries, and an increase of 13 per cent in the value of construction contracts over a year ago, are highlights in the Monthly Business Review of the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas.

Retail buying at department stores in principal cities of the Eleventh district, although showing slightly less than the usual seasonal expansion from March to April, was maintained at a comparatively high level, the review says. Daily average sales at reporting firms reflected an increase of 5.6 per cent over the preceding month and a gain of 3.1 per cent over the corresponding month last year. The Reserve bank's index of department store sales, adjusted for average seasonal changes and the variable date of Easter, declined from 105.3 per cent in the 1923-25 average in March to 103.6 per cent in April.

The latter figure is, however, 4.6 points higher than for April, 1938. In the first two weeks of April this year, the review says, daily average sales were approximately the same as in that period a year earlier, but in the next four weeks consumer demand held up better than it did in the same period of 1938, and preliminary reports indicate that department store business in the first half of May was about nine per cent greater than in the corresponding period last year.

Agricultural conditions May 1 in many sections of the district continued to reflect the adverse effects of unfavorable weather and inadequate rainfall. Since, however, general rain has fallen over most sections of Texas, relieving the critical situation prevailing in some areas and improving the agricultural outlook generally.

FLAG DAY

Where Do Flags Come From? Uncle Sam Stitches His Own

THE stars and stripes that fly from Army outposts and buildings everywhere on Flag Day, June 14, are all manufactured by the United States Army Quartermaster Corps in Philadelphia, Pa. All hunting, regimental colors and standards are manufactured there. Eighty-two seamstresses cut out the stars for official hunting flags to be sent to Army posts.

Next step in the manufacturing is the joining together of the stripes. After the 13 stripes have been gathered, it is sent to a second department, where the stars are sewed on. This completes the manufacturing process. Finished flags are then sent to be inspected and packed.

Each flag undergoes rigid examination by an experienced inspector. Some of the colors are valued up to $500, and should there be any fault the flag is returned to the sewing room. Inspection passed, it is sent to its final destination, the United States Army.

TUESDAY, JUNE 14TH IS FLAG DAY

ASK AND TELL UNCLE SAM

This column this week asks its many readers and says to them that if they come in contact with Uncle Sam to please tell him that if he really wishes to help keep down another war, to tell the aggressor nations that we have everything under the sun that is necessary to make all the people healthy, happy, and prosperous, but it only gives us the bellyache.

Tell them have fourteen billion dollars of gold buried in old Kentucky, lying there cankered and rusting, fulfilling the fifth chapter of St. James, while the people are crying for the filthy lucre to buy the necessities of life.

Yea, tell Uncle Sam to tell the aggressor nations that we have a surplus of everything and that instead of a blessing it has proven a curse, all because the money powers have control of our monetary system instead of the Congress of the United States.

Tell Uncle Sam to please remember twenty years ago when we fought with Europe to make the world safe for democracy that we lost thousands and thousands of our young manhood and billions and billions of dollars and all we got out of it was the name Uncle Shylock.

Furthermore, ask Uncle Sam why he does not take the 11,000,000 bales of his loan cotton and build a wall around the fourteen billion dollars of gold and issue about $500,000,000 in cotton certificates to use same as our gold and silver greenbacks, for it is obvious the government is not going to put out any new gold certificates, notwithstanding we have enough gold to put in circulation $16,000,000,000 (billions) of new currency backed by 40 per cent gold.

Moreover, tell Uncle Sam if he will not do as above suggested, to please take the 11,000,000 bales of cotton and build a monument to the horse and buggy days.

Tell Uncle Sam that we all know, except the experts and politicians that the more money there is in circulation the higher farm products will be and more jobs for the jobless.

Yea, tell Uncle Sam that perchance he should come out on the farm to get a better understanding of the farmers' problems, as it is, and not as it ain't. To be very careful how he prances around the gable end of our hives, for they are feeling their beans.

Yea, tell him he is going to have to give us a shot in the arm, if he expects us farmers to keep up with 'em.

BAPTIST MIXED UP

One Baptist will tell you that Jesus established the Baptist church during His personal ministry. Another Baptist tells you that the Baptist church was here before that time and John was grinding out Baptist, also made a Baptist out of Jesus. This shows the confusion that you get into by trying to find a Baptist church in the Bible. If there had been such a church, of course there was not, it would have been a bloodless institution. It was more than 1600 years from that time before any group of people was called Baptist. The Church of the Bible is cleansed by the blood of Christ. Many people will come into the Lord's presence in the great Judgment Day honestly thinking they have served the Lord in this life—only to learn that they had not done the Father's Will and turned away into everlasting punishment, Matt. 7:21-22. In Bible times nobody was ever told that they could join a church, or taught that they could be baptised or immersed into a church, but were taught there was one body, one spirit, one faith, one baptism, Eph. 4:4-5. If all unscriptural names and teachings were done away with and let unprejudiced minds study the Bible, the church question and what people should be called would be easy.

Your friend,
H. L. BAKER

Baptists are supposed to take the New Testament for their rule and guide, and in it we are told that Baptists of that period sold their possessions and pooled the proceeds in a common fund, and "distribution was made to every man according as they had need." The Apostle Paul, a Baptist, took up collections from all the Baptist churches he established for this same purpose. His admission to "let everyone of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him" was for the purpose of raising funds to aid the poor Baptists in the Jerusalem church, not to pay local church expenses, including a salary to Paul.

HOW ABOUT PENSIONS

The writer of this column is not a pension enthusiast. We contend that each community and county should take care of its own dependents. No one has a right to (tax) take my money and give it to someone over 65. We doubt if there is a single needy person in Mitchell county. Our forefather never thought of being supported by the government. It is our own duty to support the government, and not it support us.

The state owes the individual nothing, the Federal government owes the individual nothing, except to protect them in their rights of property and of working and earning on their own account, their livelihood, and neither have a dollar of their own, and no way of getting one, save by taxing those who have had the industry to work, earn and save something that could be taxed and that might be used as a basis of self-respect and self-support.

These men are now the victims of all the selfish schemes from the Townsenditis infection on down this way, for getting something not earned from those who have. Governments have no obligation to dispense charity, and unless you have done some praiseworthy public service, at your own cost, society or the common public has no obligations to give you of the taxpayers' money. The act of living beyond your ability or your desire to earn your own keep gives you no right to earnings of others. Governments handle the money of others, but earn none on their own account, and have none in their own right.

Having permitted dishonest politicians, seeking votes by demagogic appeals to indolence to commit governments to the dispensation of charity, we should at least insist that the earning capacity of the man who must work and pay it all, shall not be entirely overwhelmed by the load laid on him. So loaded down by illegitimate demands imposed, as well as that necessary for the conduct of honest government, as to be unable to make the home port of family necessity and that now unsurveyed piratical port of taxes.

NUDIST CAMPS

The attorney-general of North Carolina has announced that Nudist camps are unlawful and will not be tolerated in that state. No such camps should be allowed in any decent, self-respecting community. God made clothes of animal skins to cover the nakedness of Adam and Even before He put them out of the Garden of Eden into an evil world.

TAXES ON HOMESTEADS

Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, told a Senate judiciary subcommittee last week that exemption for homesteads of all taxes up to $5,000 would be the surest defense against the menace of dictatorship. He said, "home-owning citizenship is the best guarantee of the institutions of freedom." The writer has frequently said a man would fight for his home much quicker and harder than he would for a rented shelter. Senator Sheppard voices the same opinion, and goes a step further by urging that homesteads should be exempt from all taxes up to $5,000. The writer accepts the amendment. Every head of a family should have a reasonably comfortable home, free from all taxes.

EVIL RULERS AND WAR

If left to a world vote the people would overwhelmingly cast their ballots against war. The sordid ambitions of evil rulers and their selfish profiteers, are largely responsible for conflicts and wars. Like the servants of the evil priests three thousand years ago they have forks of three prongs that they jab into the sacrificial meat offered by the people and carry it to the tables of their masters. War makes millionaires out of a comparative few and makes millions of widows and orphans, out of those whose loved ones sacrificed their lives to the flesh hooks of evil doers. If you want to know what evil rulers will do for the people read First Samuel, 8th chapter, especially from the eleventh verse to the end of the chapter.

HITLER'S PEACE COVENANT

About three thousand years ago Nahash, the Ammonite King, encamped against Jabesh-Gilead, a prominent city of Israel. The rulers of the besieged city sent messengers to Nahash to ask favorable terms for capitulation. Nahash the Ammonite said to them he would make a covenant with them on the condition that he would punch out the right eyes of all of them. Nahash's unreasonable condition was rejected and a battle resulted, destroying Nahash's army. Hitler and Mussolini have been threatening factors to world peace for the past several years. They have been appealed to for peace parleys to avoid war. They reply, we will make a peace covenant with you provided you let us have what we want without war. Nahash went too far and got ficked. It looks like Hitler and Mussolini have about reached the point for a good "whopping" and they will get it sooner or later.

'STUDIO AUDIENCE' OKED WEEKLY AT McDONALD

AUSTIN.—A "studio audience" to watch the performance of the McDonald telescope, Texas's 82-inch Cyclops, will be admitted to the observatory the last Wednesday night of each month, Dr. Otto Struve, director, has announced. Daily and Sunday visitors, who in the past have shown an intense window-peeping curiosity about the observatory, will be shown the telescope between the hours of 1 and 3:30 p.m. on week days; 2 and 3 p.m. Sundays, Dr. Struve announced. These public inspections began May 15.

At the monthly night sessions, an hour-and-one-half demonstration, beginning at 8 p.m. will be conducted for a limited number of "star gazers" who have written and secured from the Observatory a time schedule for their look into the second largest telescope of the world. Original plans for the Observatory's routine reserved the plant exclusively to the astronomers, but the good roads leading to Mount Locke have drawn curious tourists to its summit in great numbers, staff members said.

CHEVROLET DEALERS GAIN

DETROIT.—Chevrolet sales achieved a 36.4 per cent gain, during the second 10 days of May, over their sales for the same period in 1938, selling 25,891 new cars and trucks at retail. The announcement was made at company headquarters here. In the same 10 days a year ago, Chevrolet delivered 18,963 units, figure comparisons show.

The second 10 days showed an 11.1 per cent increase over the first 10 days of the preceding period, which totaled 23,307 units. It was greater, by 695 units, than the second 10 days of April, the heaviest volume month thus far in the current model year. Truck sales increased from 4,673 to 5,165 units, as compared with the previous 10 days, and used car sales also registered a gain. Chevrolet's world sales of new cars and trucks for the 1939 model year to date, total more than 600,000 units, the figures reveal.

CHEVROLET WORLD'S LARGEST BUILDER OF CARS AND TRUCKS

DETROIT—Because Chevrolet is the world's largest builder of passenger cars and trucks, it must combine in its product those features which the greatest number of motorists demand in their automobiles. This explanation was a high-light of the graduation-week address made by M. E. Coyle, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, before the post-graduate school of Modern Merchandising and Management for Sons of Chevrolet dealers. Mr. Coyle's talk given at a luncheon in the Recess club, was preliminary to the commencement exercises held May 12.

Explaining the manufacturing policies of the manufacturer which has led the industry in sales for seven years, Mr. Coyle paid high tribute to the work of the past eight years. Mr. Coyle, Chevrolet dealer committees whose recommendations from the field play a vital role in determination of plans and programs. "Chevrolet must continually be alert to public preferences," he said. "I think our success, in large measure, has been directly due to the fact we have heeded the public's desires. Because we have such a large ownership to satisfy, we have made every effort to offer in our product those features with the widest appeal."

Mr. Coyle sketched to the students Proving Ground procedure, amplifying his remarks with reports of recent impartial tests which established Chevrolet dominance over other cars in its field, from the standpoint of economy, acceleration, riding comfort, safety, and dependability. He also took the group "behind the scenes" to explain the careful sampling of public opinion that precedes the designing and engineering of each new model Chevrolet.

The student group which heard Mr. Coyle are sons of Chevrolet dealers in this country and two foreign nations, enrolled in the unique industrial "college" founded by W. E. Holler, Chevrolet general sales manager, for the dealers of the future. The school has just concluded its eight-weeks' intensive course, and its graduates return to their homes to take an active part in the conduct of retail dealerships.

CHEVROLET SALES INCREASE

DETROIT.—Dealers' retail sales of new Chevrolet cars and trucks in the first 10 days of May totaled 23,307 units, an increase of 1,505 over the corresponding period in April, and of 6,142 units, or 35.9 per cent over the same 10 days last year. The announcement was made today at company headquarters here.

The period brought Chevrolet's sales for the year to date to 291,765 units, the records indicate. This is 70,212 units more than had been sold at this time in 1938, the percentage of used cars sales in the first 10 days increase being 31.7. Of May were 46,063 units, the report showed. This represents a gain of 5,172 units over the first 10 days of April, and of 10,483 units over the first 10 days of May a year ago. Chevrolet's truck sales, for the year to date, have gained 32.8 per cent. Chevrolet is leading the field with 64,322 sales, as compared with 46,409 at this time one year ago. Extension of the truck line, and addition of cab-over engine models, are credited as factors in the gain.

Telephone Teamwork in Texas

Some people are surprised to learn that there are 396 telephone companies serving Texas. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is the largest, it is true. But there are others—395 of them—which have the important job of providing telephone service in about 836 Texas towns and cities.

The Southwestern Bell is glad its lines connect with the lines of these other Texas telephone companies, blanketing the state with a vast network of wires—so that boundaries between companies are not barriers to quick, state-wide telephone service.

Through teamwork and friendly co-operation, 396 Texas telephone companies work together to furnish Texas with telephone service that is fast, accurate, and dependable.

Long Distance in Texas is cheap. You can telephone 100 miles for 60 cents (3 minute conversation, day rate, station-to-station).

Paso Herald these days to oil field sports meanderings of Johnny Smith of the Monahans News. . . . His picture on the double-column heading, and it's a right nice picture, too. . . . Smith, a Colorado City product, is doing a lot of flying these days on the side and has told his mother, Mrs. Frank Smith, that he'll fly down to see her some week-end if she'll find him a landing place. . . .

Just as we had written a lament over the lack of prospects for June brides, here came an invitation to the wedding of Sidney Thomas, who's still of Colorado City though she's been working in Dallas for some time. . . . The bridegroom-to-be is Daniel Barrett Martin of Dallas, and the wedding's to be June 21 at First Baptist church here. . . . So now we have at least one June bride, and our lament is in the wastebasket. . . .

SMATTERINGS: A truck bearing these words was noted passing through town the other day: "Riders—No, Sir—Yes, Ma'am." . . . There was talk of making a collect phone call to J. Edgar Hoover, the G-man, to tell him about the old counterfeit nickels found at Ruddick park and also who had them in their possession after the finding. . . . You don't need to be told that this idea came from one of two possible sources—J. Ralph Lee or Ford Merritt. . . . Appendicitis seems to be unanimous with chamber of commerce assistant secretaries. . . . Beh Smith, the hotel man, was going about Saturday afternoon smoking an enormous and beautiful pipe said to be around 100 years old. . . . It's an imported, hand-carved meerschaum and is on the valuable side, being worth about a dollar for every year of its age. . . . A. B. Blanks, former Colorado Citizen, gave it to Smith while they both lived at Pecos, and Smith says that it smokes cool and pleasing. . . . But its appearance really calls for a "kimona" and "queues." . . . Phoned the bank the other day to see why they were closing Saturday and they had to go find out. . . . see there! . . . It was, in case you are still in the dark, Jefferson Davis' birthday. . . .

A search is on for Texas' largest mesquite tree. . . . The idea originated with Frank Grimes, editorial writer for the Abilene Reporter-News. . . . San Antonio now claims the honor of having the state's largest mesquite, boasting a tree that is 49 feet high and has a spread of 54 feet. . . . If Mitchell county has one larger than that, we might manage to claim the honor of having the "Monarch of the Mesquites."

A personal discovery that it really is a small world, after all, even as the old saying goes, was made recently by I. O. Finley of the local postoffice staff. . . . A few years ago when Finley was waiting his turn in a lounge at the Scott & White clinic at Temple, he struck up a talking acquaintance with a fellow who was then employed with an ice concern in South America and who was at the clinic for a check-up. . . . The other day Finley walked into the lobby of the postoffice and there, taking his mail from a box near the door, was the clinic acquaintance from South America. . . . It was D. E. Harris, who is now living in Colorado City and drilling wells in the new Scurry county oil field. . . .

The century plant which has been threatening to bloom at the W. J. Pritchett home for several weeks now goes right ahead growing itself more and larger buds. . . . There are already fourteen. . . . If they all mature, it should be a gorgeous sight, and we're watching it with both eyes open. . . .

MORE SMATTERINGS: Add to our list of look-alikes—Don Wallace and Elliott Roosevelt. . . . For a beauty spot we refer you to the canna, phlox, and what have you grown in rock-lined, well-tended flower beds back of the filling station home of the M. A. Ganns on Highway One east of town. . . . George Lay Powell, sturdy little son of the Jenks Post-office, has a muchly-lugged-about and muchly-hugged pillow that he demands at go-to-sleep time, just like other children might demand a favorite doll or teddy bear. . . .

Once upon a time, back in her girlhood days in Clarksville, Mrs. Esther Grubbs, now our county treasurer, fixed an especially pretty and delectable box and betook herself to a box supper. . . . The buyer of her box was the editor of the Clarksville paper, and his name was Edgar A. Guest, the same man who later became nationally famous for his home-spun poetry. . . .

The mother of R. M. Julian, who is superintendent at the oil mill, was present at the birth of Helen Keller. . . . When Mr. Julian returned recently from a visit at his former home in Tusculumbia, Alabama, which is the birthplace of Helen Keller, he brought us a small rolling pin made of wood taken from the Keller homestead there in Tusculumbia. . . .

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

There's no doubt about it, Colorado City definitely has something in this amateur hour business at Ruddick park. . . . It has become, as one woman expressed it, an "institution." . . . Judging from the comments we heard and from our own reaction, this year's series got off to one of the best starts ever. . . . Nature did her part by giving one of her loveliest evenings in recent history, with stars coming out in gossamer clouds and a full moon staging a highly effective appearance beyond the band shell and its whispering cottonwood as dusk came. . . . Evening lay serene over the park's lush, well-kept greenness and the mesquite-covered rise of land beyond the creek. . . . The program was well-rendered and entertaining. . . . But the thing which we heard the crowd praise most was the BREVITY. . . . We herewith dare to dabble in somebody else's business and venture the hope that those in charge of the series continue to make brevity and snapness prime requirements on the amateur programs. . . . We believe, both from what we hear and from what we feel ourselves, that the continued success of these gatherings hinges largely on their being brief. . . . The amphitheater is a surpassingly beautiful place and the programs always offer their full quota of entertainment, but, after all, the amphitheater seats are far from being upholstered and they have no backs. . . . Nothing that we have ever encountered in the way of entertainment has been sufficiently absorbing to make us forget for much more than an hour at a time that rocks are hard, that stickers stick, and that backs really need somewhere to lean. . . .

Taking things for granted has gotten us into trouble again, and now we don't even trust Uncle Sam any more. . . . Uncle Sam had said that Colorado would become Colorado City as far as his postoffice was concerned on June 1, so last week we did a teaching little story on how the old Colorado postmark would be laid aside forever with the last batch of mail on Wednesday night and how the new Colorado City postmark would be on all outgoing mail after midnight Wednesday. . . . It was a dilly of a story, all dashed with drama 'n' everything. . . . But it was flat as flat by the time the public eye saw it, because the new postmark failed to arrive on time—and was still falling early this week. . . . It never occurred to us to check up on the matter Thursday morning because we believed without question that if Uncle Sam said there would be a change, there would definitely be a change. . . . especially with Joe Y. Fraser backing him up. . . .
