Full Attention Is Turned On Frontier Roundup Plans

This week marked the turning of full attention on plans for the fifth annual Colorado City Frontier Roundup, which will be at hand this time next week.

As in past years, the celebration will include a parade, rodeo performances, oldtimers' homecoming events, and an Indian pageant.

A series of motorcades to advertise the celebration was begun Tuesday and continued Thursday. Another motorcade will be held Monday.

Rodeo apparel was much in evidence this week, and streets are already gay with bunting.

The celebration will be opened at 1:30 Thursday, Sept. 7, with a colorful and picturesque parade which will form east of the courthouse. Every club and civic organization and every business firm in Mitchell county is urged to have a unit in the parade. Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be given by the Colorado City chamber of commerce.

Following the parade, beginning at 2:30, will come the first rodeo performance at the Colorado City Frontier Roundup grounds, where seating capacity has been practically doubled by construction which has taken place within the past few days.

Six rodeo performances will be given during the celebration, two each day. The afternoon rodeo will begin at 2:30, the evening rodeo at 8:30.

Events at each performance will include calf roping, wild cow milking, bronc riding, bulldogging, steer riding, Mitchell county calf roping, and wild mule racing, and cowgirl sponsor contests.

Prize lists and rules for the six rodeo performances of the Roundup were completed and mailed out several days ago. Cash prizes have been boosted to more than $2,500 this year, an increase of around $1,000 over the total for last year's show. Five saddles are to be given away in addition.

The parade will start from 5:00 p. m. and will be given in old-timers' homecoming style. Mitchell county calf roping, wild cow milking, cow girls roping, and wild mule racing will be featured.

Time for the annual Indian Pageant which is staged on the east bank of Lone Wolf creek opposite Ruddick park amphitheater as a part of the Colorado City Frontier Roundup has been set for approximately 6:30 o'clock Friday evening, Sept. 8, second day of the celebration.

In discussing plans for the pageant this week, Chas. C. Thompson, director of the pageant and chairman of the homecoming division of the celebration, said:

"It is the hope of the producers of the pageant to attempt to perpetuate in the minds of our people some of the hardships and romance of the Old West at the dawn of civilization."

Last year thousands of persons filled Ruddick park amphitheater to watch it. An effective natural background is provided by the mesquite-covered banks of Lone Wolf creek. The pageant ends just at sundown giving those attending ample time to attend the night performance of the Roundup rodeo.

Farmers Receive Over $52,000 On '39 AAA Program

Mitchell County Among First Ten To Receive Payment

Spirits of Mitchell county farmers were revived Saturday as $52,295.44 worth of 1939 parity payment checks were delivered by J. Wiley Holmes, county AAA administrator.

Mitchell county was among the first in West Texas to receive such checks. This is the first time since the farm program began that payment for a year has been made within that year, according to local AAA officials.

The amount was divided into 709 checks, representing only a portion of the total payment due each farmer. Final payment is to be made next spring.

Chas. C. Thompson, director of the pageant, requests that all those who will take part in the pageant submit their names to him not later than Monday. At least 40 men and boys with horses and five wagons with teams are needed.

"We particularly request all those who took part in last year's pageant to assist us again this year," Thompson said this week.

Senator Connally Flays 'Criminal Waste' Of Natural Resources As He Delivers Main Address Of Permian Basin Oil Celebration

Criminal Waste of natural resources was flayed by Senator Tom Connally when he delivered the main address of the Permian Basin Oil Discovery celebration before an audience of thousands at Ruddick park amphitheater last Thursday evening.

Senator Connally's talk was broadcast over a statewide radio network. He was introduced by Congressman Geo. Mahon. Men of note in both oil and legislative circles from all over the Southwest were in the audience.

An Associated Press story gave highlights of senator Connally's address as follows:

"This celebration," said Sen. Connally, "would indeed be one of short-sightedness and narrowness did it envisage only the discovery of oil and its purely selfish utilization for the enrichment of those who may use it for a season. The observance will not be complete unless we envisage the wisdom and the beauty of order, production and utilization and the real conservation of these resources of those who are to come after us."

"As I travel over the oil fields of Texas," he continued, "I am shocked at the criminal waste of natural gas that is being consumed in flares rather than being controlled and conserved."

Conservation he pointed out, continues right into conservation of "our institutions and our own concept of government and our own right to lead our lives in harmony with those concepts."

"The United States wants peace. It is against embroilment in any foreign war. But to conserve peace."

A visit to the Midland rodeo will feature the Colorado City Frontier Roundup goodwill trip Monday, according to H. B. Spence, chamber of commerce manager. The trip will be the third and last in a series to advertise the celebration, Sept. 7, 8, and 9.

Because of Labor Day, those in charge of the trip are expecting the best turnout of citizens and business men so far. Leaving here at 8 o'clock, the trippers will stop at Westbrook, Coahoma, Spring, Stanton, Midland, Odessa, Monahans, Kermit, and Wink, before heading back toward Midland for the night rodeo performance.

Midland rodeo officials have agreed to rope off a choice section of seats for the Colorado City group, Spence says.

Latham Piano Classes Offer New Courses

Offering two distinct courses in the most modern methods of piano instruction, Mrs. E. L. Latham will open her piano classes Monday, Sept. 4. She can be reached at her home, 416 East Ninth, or by telephoning 57-J.

One of these, known as the Aguado System of musical development, is for children from five to eight years of age. It is described as follows:

"The Aguado System provides interesting games and songs correlated with music notation, through which the inherent musical endowment of little children is developed. They are thus prepared to make rapid advancement when beginning the study of an instrument.

"As all class activities are combined with music, the children acquire the ability to read and perform musical notations and to respond to marks of expression. As this knowledge increases, they become keenly anxious to express themselves through playing some instrument.

"The musical development resulting from participation in this course makes for great improvement in and the enjoyment of school music.

Best approach to teaching the child is through his natural instinct to play. This instinct is utilized in this course to develop the child's ability to learn and his desire to learn. He acquires the ability to listen attentively and to respond quickly.

For intermediates and adults Mrs. Latham will offer the Progressive Plan of Music Education, and this plan is described as follows:

"The plan comprises two lessons each week with the teacher—one group piano lesson.

"Individual lessons provide for special development of the hands and muscles, and for the problems encountered in learning the keyboard.

"Group lessons are conducted with the aid of an individual text as a basis of study. In classes, the child is stimulated by the presence of other children, with whom he studies and plays.

"He advances more rapidly.

"He acquires poise in public appearance.

"His music study is like his school study—requiring written and practical work.

"His increased understanding adds to his ease of playing.

"The result is rapid advancement, and—he likes to take music lessons.

"A full explanation and demonstration of the plan will gladly be given, without any obligation, if you will get in touch with the authorized teacher whose name appears above."

Felix Boyd Dozier Succumbs To Infantile Paralysis As He Is Raced To Iron Lung

His throat and chest wall muscles paralyzed by a swift and violent attack of what was diagnosed as infantile paralysis, Felix Boyd Dozier, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Dozier, died in a Pylant ambulance Sunday morning about 10:30 as he was being rushed to an Abilene hospital where an iron lung awaited him.

The child died when the ambulance was little more than five miles east of Colorado City. He was under an inhalator supplied by the Col-Tex refinery at Colorado City and operated by two Col-Tex employees, Hank Bryant and Red Black. Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, attending physician, and the parents were also in the ambulance with the driver, Eddie Fyland.

It was the first case of infantile paralysis reported in Colorado City this summer. Although slightly ill Friday, the child did not become violently ill until early Saturday night.

Efforts to locate iron lungs nearer than Abilene were unavailing. Big Spring's lung being in El Paso and Sweetwater's in Lubbock.

Felix Boyd was an only child. He was born here on April 13, 1930, and would have been in the fourth grade this year. His parents have lived here for years. Survivors in addition to the parents include Mrs. Sallie Dozier of Colorado City, paternal grandmother, and Mrs. Alice Peebles of Lancaster, Ohio, maternal grandmother. Mrs. Peebles left last Wednesday to return to Lancaster after her first visit in the Dozier home in several years.

Simple funeral rites were held at 6 o'clock Sunday evening at the graveside in the Colorado City cemetery. Rev. C. M. Epps of First Methodist church officiated. Burial was beside an infant brother who died several years ago.

Palbearers were W. H. Turner, Lucian Maddin, L. B. Elliott, Houston Hill of Midland, J. M. Doss, and Burt Smith. All friends were honorary palbearers.

Pylant Funeral home had charge of arrangements.

to secure peace, to conserve our institutions and prevent insidious and dangerous assault from without, the United States congress, at its last session, enacted legislation providing for national defense, both upon land and sea.

"The most outstanding act of congress at the last session was the national defense act. We want the world to know that the United States, while earnestly devoted to peace, will be prepared to defend its territory, the lives of its citizens and our governmental institutions from the assault of any foreign military master or ambitious ruler—whether it comes from the Orient or Europe."

First Permian Basin Oil Discovery Celebration Held Here With Scores Of Notables Among 450 Registrants

With more than a score of notable oil, legislative, and business leaders of West Texas, the Southwest, and the nation among the nearly 450 registered guests, Colorado City played host last Thursday and Friday to the first Permian Basin Oil Discovery celebration, an event arranged and sponsored by the Colorado City chamber of commerce.

Five congressmen were registered in addition to Senator Tom Connally, main speaker. These included Congressman Geo. H. Mahon of Colorado City, Paul Kilday of San Antonio, W. R. Poage of Waco, Clyde Garrett of Eastland, and Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls.

Among oil leaders registered were Judge J. C. Hunter of Abilene, president of the General Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association; Russell Brown of Washington, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum association of America; W. R. Boyd of New York, executive vice-president of the American Petroleum Institute; Clarel B. Mapes of Tulsa, general secretary of the General Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association; Art Frazier, president, and J. C. Watson, secretary, of the West Central Texas Oil & Gas association with headquarters in Abilene; Harry Adams of Midland, vice-president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association; Geo. Gibbons, Dallas, executive vice-president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association; L. H. Prichard, Oklahoma City, president of the Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation which built the first refinery in West Texas, the Col-Tex at Colorado City; Walter B. Pyron, Houston, executive vice-president of the Gulf Oil Corp.

The celebration opened with a congressmen's luncheon at the Colorado hotel. Congressman Mahon presided. Senator Connally and President Cliff for B. Jones of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, were the main luncheon speakers, being introduced during a 30-minute radio broadcast sponsored by the Col-Tex refinery.

Chas. C. Thompson delivered the welcome as the luncheon opened. J. H. Greene of Big Spring said the invocation. Ned Bradley and his band furnished music.

Special entertainment numbers were given by professional talent, including Reed & Ray, billed as the "female Ritz Brothers," and a chorus from the Casa Manana line. The Colorado City Cowhand band, directed by Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, was especially well-received.

Recognized at the luncheon were four men who were instrumental in the drilling and development of the first Permian Basin well, Underwriters' No. 1 T. & P. near Westbrook. These four were L. W. Sandusky, attorney who blocked the land and closed the deal for the well; Earl Morrison, who owned the land on which the well was drilled; Watt Collier, who drove the stake for the well and hauled the rig through deep mud; H. L. Lockhart, now a Colorado City independent operator and then owner of a refinery at El Paso, who laid the first pipeline to the discovery field and bought the first oil for refining purposes.

L. H. Prichard, president of the Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation of Oklahoma City, was also present at the luncheon. Prichard and J. Steve Anderson, vice-president of the company, are due credit for being the first men to fully recognize the refining possibilities of Mitchell county oil.

They built the Col-Tex refinery here in 1924, and today, operating at a capacity 12 times greater than in the beginning, the Col-Tex is recognized as the pioneer in the refining industry of West Texas.

Missing from among the men due recognition in connection with the early development of the field were Dan Lewis and W. J. Bill Thompson, who actually drilled the well, and S. S. Owen, who was manager for the Underwriters company which owned the well.

Afternoon program of the celebration included a stag party and floor show at the American Legion hut, a horse show at the Colorado City Frontier Roundup grounds, and a barbecue supper and entertainment program at Ruddick park.

W. T. "Tanlac" Strange of Lubbock was master of ceremonies for the floor show at the Legion hut. Included on the program were numbers by Ned Bradley and his band, the Colorado City Cowhand band, Reed & Ray, Casa Manana chorus line, trick and fancy roping by Billie Lewis of Sweetwater, and the Chicago Nightingale quartet of Colorado City.

Especially successful was the horse show, arranged by Frank Kelley and P. K. Mackey with the help of E. A. May and others. A full account of the show is given elsewhere.

Program which accompanied the barbecue supper was in charge of "Tanlac" Strange of Lubbock. It included a specialty number by Billy Jean Wilsford, Elwanda Spears, Frances Stavelly, and Patsy Snodgrass of Snyder; music by Harrison's Texans and the Colorado City Cowhand band; an accordion solo by Mrs. James Payne; song and dance by Paula Hazel of Abilene.

Climax of the celebration program came at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at Ruddick park amphitheater. Congressman Mahon was master of ceremonies. Music was furnished by

Organization Of Permian Body Is Accomplished Here

Major Aim Of Celebration Realized In Meeting Which Closed Conclude Friday Morning

Major aim of the first Permian Basin Oil Discovery celebration here last Thursday and Friday was accomplished Friday morning when oil, land, and business interests of the Permian Basin oil territory were welded into a common organization to be known as the Permian Basin association.

Chas. C. Thompson presided at the organization meeting, which was held in the Palace theater at 10 o'clock, at the request of Frank Kelley. Kelley was temporary chairman of the tentative organization ever since a preliminary meeting of Permian Basin representatives was held on July 26.

Constitution and by-laws as drafted by a committee headed by A. B. Davis of Lubbock were read by Davis and adopted by the body without dissent.

Purpose of the organization as set forth in the adopted constitution is "the scientific study of problems incident to the legitimate conduct of the oil producing business, and to disseminate legitimate information beneficial to citizens of the Permian Basin, and to carry on a program of education and such other activities as may be beneficial to all those directly or indirectly interested in the oil business."

Harry Adams of Midland was elected president. Adams, a former resident of San Angelo, is also vice-president of the Texas Midcontinent Oil and Gas association. H. B. Spence, who has been temporary secretary since the preliminary organization was set up, was continued as acting secretary-treasurer.

Four vice-presidents were elected to represent the interests and sections of the Permian Basin. Chas. C. Thompson, banker and landowner, was elected for the east section; M. D. Bryant of San Angelo, ranchman and independent operator, for the south section; Geo. W. Elliott of Odessa, hotel and business man, for the west section; and Ralph Oberholzer of Seagraves, independent operator and president of the recently formed North Permian Basin Oil and Gas Development association, for the north section.

Serving on the nominating committee were A. B. Davis, Lubbock; P. K. Mackey, Colorado City; Ben LeFevre, Big Spring; Allen J. Watts, Midland; and Deen Nowlin, Tahoka.

It was voted to incorporate the association as soon as possible, with Colorado City named as corporate headquarters but with the business headquarters to be designated later by the board of directors.

Until the first annual meeting is held next June, the board of directors will include three men named by each Permian Basin town to represent its oil, land, and business interests. After the first meeting the board will include one director from each county having as many as 10 members. A director will be added for each 100 members above the first 100, but no county can have over three directors.

The next meeting place and other matters are to be discussed at a directors meeting called by President Adams in Midland at the Schabarber hotel on Sept. 14 at 2 p.m. The next convention for the Permian Basin is scheduled for Friday morning. Annual meetings will be held each year in June.

Colorado City's directors are P. K. Mackey, R. J. Wallace, and Chas. C. Thompson.

A membership drive for the association was planned during the coming months. President Adams was authorized to name a committee to represent the association at the Interstate Oil Compact meeting and the state-wide oil proration session in Austin Monday.

The association drafted resolutions of thanks and praise to the Colorado City chamber of commerce, congressmen, oil officials, and all others connected with the staging of the first Permian Basin Oil Discovery celebration.

Robert Coffman, former member of the Colorado City high school faculty, received his master of arts degree from George Peabody college for Teachers in Nashville, Tenn., on August 22. Coffman resigned here last year to accept a teaching position in a school near Houston.

Standing Room Only At Park As Fourth Amateur Hour Series Is Closed

A standing-room-only audience crowded into Ruddick park amphitheater Friday night for the closing program in the fourth summer series of chamber of commerce amateur hours.

An all-star program, including winners from previous programs, was presented with H. B. Spence, manager of the chamber of commerce, as master of ceremonies. The program followed the usual opening concert by the Colorado high school band with R. P. Rose directing.

First prize went to Porter Richardson and the Bodvitson brothers for a tumbling act. A colorful Spanish street scene featuring song and dance pupils of Mrs. W. R. Martin, plus a trained monkey which nearly stole the entire show, was in second place. Mrs. N. H. White assisted Mrs. Martin in arranging the number. Impersonations by Eugene Haley won third money.

Other numbers on the program were vocal solos by Barbara Barber, a song by Billie Shasta Ward, a negro dance by the Business & Professional Women's club, a reading by Wanda Bea Vowell, a song and dance by Vivian Giddens, and a song and dance by Willie Sue Nall.

Farmall Family Now Complete, Price Says

The Farmall tractor family is now complete. "Little brother" Farmall-A arrived a few weeks ago, and now comes the middle size, Farmall-H, and the big Farmall-M.

Such is the report of R. P. Price, dealer in International Harvester tractors and machines. He is quite proud of the new "Family" of Farmalls, and he has every right to be.

The new tractors are not only new in appearance, but new in design and performance as well. Growers in this vicinity already are coming in to ask about the samples on display.

International Harvester engineers have been testing the new models at the factory and on farms in all parts of the country for many months. Every feature of design and construction has been proved in the fire of actual work under tougher conditions than will be encountered on the farm.

Motion pictures taken of the new Farmalls on the factory testing ground fairly take one's breath away. The wonder is that men and mechanical construction can take it. But it's facts the engineers want. They make sure the product will do what is claimed for it before it is offered to the user.

The new family of Farmall tractors, including the small Farmall-A with the exclusive "Culti-Vision" feature, may be seen at the store of Price Bros. These tractors will be demonstrated in field north of Ruddick Park swimming pool Saturday, Sept. 2.

First Permian

Ned Bradley and his orchestra, Chas. C. Thompson gave the welcome. Two speakers were presented on the first portion of the program. They were Wm. R. Boyd, Jr., of New York, executive vice-president of the American Petroleum institute, and Judge J. C. Hunter of Abilene, president of the General Midcontinent Oil & Gas association.

Boyd made a plea for cooperation in the solution of problems which he described as vital to the oil industry of West Texas. He made the first public announcement of his notification that Illinois overproduction, long a major worry to oil men of the Southwest, would soon be remedied.

Judge Hunter said that three kinds of pioneers helped develop West Texas, naming the cowmen as first, farmers as second, and oil men as third. "The cattlemen set a pattern for cooperation," he pointed out. "The agriculturists followed, and now it's the oil man who needs the cooperation of everyone in West Texas to help him up again."

He described the organization of the Permian Basin association as "timely," and added, "You need to get together and form an organization to work toward stability of the oil business, a business that contributes 63 per cent of all the new wealth produced annually in West Texas, one that spends $91,000,000 a year and turns out a payroll of $15,000,000."

Senator Connally's address, which is outlined elsewhere, was made during a half-hour state network broadcast from 9 until 9:30.

The entertainment program which came after the main address was also broadcast, but only over West Texas stations. Talent from Permian Basin towns furnished most of the program, which opened with music by Ned Bradley and his band and included music by the Colorado City Cowhand band.

Numbers were: Song by Barbara Barber of Colorado City; "gay ninety" quartet by the Chicago Nightingales, Harry Ratliff, L. B. Elliott, Elmer Pickens, and Everett Stagner; range song by Rebecca Bird of Midland; vocal duet by James Underwood and Raymond Lee Williams of Big Spring; trick roping number by four Snyder girls who appeared on barbecue program; acrobatic dance by Dorothy Riley of Snyder; song and dance by Paula Hazel of Abilene.

Two dances, one at the Legion hut and one at the Colorado hotel, closed the day's activities.

'Susannah of the Mounties' Ablaze With Adventure of the Old Northwest

Shirley Temple Starred in Dramatic Role With Great Cast

A thousand savage redmen sweep town on the Mounties' lonely outpost! A gallant garrison fights against overwhelming odds! A lone woman finds love amid peril on a primitive frontier!

Believe it or not—this is what happens in Shirley Temple's latest 20th Century-Fox picture, "Susannah of the Mounties". The famous story of the old Northwest is a thrilling vehicle for the Number One star and was selected by Production Chief Jarryl F. Zukuck as a counterpoint to the fantasy of her last hit, "The little Princess."

the lovely star of "The Lady Vanishes," are featured in the romantic leads, while others in the large cast are Martin Good Rider, 13-year-old Blackfeet discovery who makes his debut in the film, J. Farrell MacDonald, Maurice Moscovitch, Moroni Olsen, Victor Jory and Lester Matthews.

William A. Seiter directed "Susannah of the Mounties," which comes to the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday. Shirley, the sole survivor of an Indian massacre, is adopted by Randolph Scott of the Mounties. The famous Police are trying to protect the construction of the great new railway from interference by the Indians.

Scott teaches the child a wonderful lesson in courage which bears her bravely through days of terrible danger.

Kenneth Macgowan served as associate producer for the screen play written by Robert Ellis and Helen Logan, from the story by Fidel La Barba and Walter Ferris, based on the book by Muriel Denison.

engages in a retaliatory flirtation that involves her in a blackmail plot and finally in a sensational murder trial. Miss Bruce plays the wife and Walter Pidgeon the husband who extricates her from her maze of troubles in a sensational court trial.

Eyeball Used As Mirror In Strange Camera Trick

Reflection of Virginia Bruce in Lee Bowman's Eyes Serves as Ingenious Clue in Tracking Down Murderer in "Stronger Than Desire"

Photographing the reflection of another person in the eyeball of one facing that person was the delicate feat of photography accomplished by studio cameramen. Virginia Bruce, holding a small camera, faced Lee Bowman, actor. Cameras directly behind her were focused on Bowman's eyes, and Miss Bruce angled until her actual reflection appeared on Bowman's eyeballs. These were then photographed.

The negatives of the eyes were enlarged through a microscope objective lens, resulting in pictures eleven by fourteen inches in dimension in which the reflection of the actress in the eyes was clearly recognizable.

The eyeball photograph is one of the salient clues in a murder mystery in "Stronger Than Desire," society melodrama coming Sunday and Monday to the Ritz theatre. Miss Bruce and Walter Pidgeon head a cast that includes Lee Bowman, Ann Dvorak, Ilka Chase, Rita Johnson, Richard Lane, Ann Todd, Paul Stanton and Ferike Boros.

In the action Miss Bruce photographs Bowman who is later slain, and the reflection of the actress in the eyes of his photograph become an important clue in a sensational trial.

The method of making the photographs was worked out by John Nickolaus, superintendent of photography at the M-G-M studio and photographer Eddie Crownwith. A perfect photo was obtained after but four "takes."

"Stronger Than Desire" is a society melodrama laid in New York, and tells the story of a wife who, becoming suspicious of her husband,

Cagney and George Raft Pack Dynamite In 'Each Dawn I Die'

James Cagney and George Raft, the two champion tough guys of filmdom, are co-starred in "Each Dawn I Die," a stark, cruel, grim and tremendously exciting picture of life behind prison bars, produced by Warner Bros., which comes to the Palace theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

Both Cagney and Raft, as interesting a starring team as has ever been put together in Hollywood, won their initial pre-eminence on the screen as delineators of modern gangsters. Raft is a gangster again in "Each Dawn I Die," while Cagney is an honest and upright citizen, but before the end of the picture there is little to choose between the two chief characters on the score of toughness.

The metamorphosis in the character of the decent young fellow played by Jimmy comes about under the brutalizing influence of first being railroaded to prison for a crime of which he is innocent and then being treated cruelly at the prison. On the other hand, Raft is on the wrong side of the law right from the beginning, but as the picture comes to a close, he finds a way to wipe his slate clean and vindicate his life as a gangster. The interdependence of these two characters give "Each Dawn I Die" a novel and tremendously thrilling theme that sets it quite apart from any prison picture that has ever before been made.

Congressman Mahon Is Tech Speaker

LUBBOCK.—Congressman George Mahon of Colorado City addressed 206 graduates of Texas Technological college who received their degrees Friday night. Fifty-two of the graduates received master's degrees.

Mr. Mahon stressed the privileges of American citizenship in an "age of pessimism and despair." In the midst of world confusion, Americans might stop to consider what is right with America instead of studying so much about what is wrong, he said.

Summing up the blessings of the American citizen, Congressman Mahon said:

"In a world of scarcity, America is blessed with abundance. Abundance is one of the great things that is right with America.

"In a world of dictatorships, America stands fast in her allegiance to the constitution and to the principles of democratic government.

"In a world of war-mindedness, America is devoted to peace. We of America are contributing what we can to the stability of the world.

"Another thing that is right with America is that the Bible is still the best seller.

"One of the major things that is right with America is that we are dissatisfied with things as they are.

"I like to recall there is still plenty of fresh air in America and there still are plenty of chemicals and chemical skill to put the color in our flag—and we have the strength to sustain it against all comers if the need arise."

Former Resident, Cousin Of Mrs. Adams, Succumbs

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Adams and Mrs. R. D. Buchanan were in Big Spring on Saturday morning for the funeral of Mrs. Adams' cousin, Harvey L. Rix, 59, pioneer Big Spring business man who lived here in the early days.

Born in Cedar Creek, Wis., on Jan. 30, 1880, he migrated with his family to Colorado City in 1937. As a lad, he often accompanied his father and uncles on long trips over this area with their sheep herds.

In 1890 the family moved to Big Spring and soon thereafter his father, B. C. Rix, acquired one of the first hardware stores in the city. Although only 12 years old at the time, Harvey Rix assisted his father in the venture by keeping books.

Later he became associated with the old J. & W. Fisher Co., and for years was an employee of the concern. In 1905, however, he decided to go into business for himself and founded the Rix Furniture company.

Subsequently his father bought an interest in the business and his two brothers joined the concern. Over a 15-year period the business expanded rapidly and branch houses were opened in Lamesa, Tehoka and Lubbock.

Surviving are the widow; two sons, Lewis Rix, Big Spring, Paul A. Rix, Odessa, three daughters, Mrs. H. R. Pickle, Mrs. Chester Matheny and Mrs. Joe Pickle, Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Carl Svensen, Lubbock; and two brothers, Wallace W. Rix, Lubbock, and Jed A. Rix, Fort Worth, assistant manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce.

SPADE YOUTH GRADUATES

LUBBOCK.—Clifton Patterson of Spade received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education at the Texas Technological college commencement exercises Friday, August 25, at 8 p.m. Congressman George Mahon of Colorado City addressed the 206 graduates. Fifty-two of the graduates received master's degrees.

If you haven't, by all means drain your crankcase and refill with Humble's Balanced 997 Motor Oil today. We're not exaggerating when we say that you'll find it the motor oil for perfect performance in your car. Continuous improvement over a period of years, further definite improvements in 997 have been made possible by recent additions to our manufacturing facilities at Baytown refinery, so that now you get—in 997—all the desirable qualities of a motor oil in perfect balance. . . . We haven't space enough here to go into a highly technical discussion of those qualities, but we can tell you what they mean in performance. BALANCED 997 will give you: a clean motor, low oil consumption, safe service, great stability at high and low temperatures, minimum engine wear, freedom from sticky gum and varnish-like formations on pistons and piston rings, easy starting in winter, instant lubrication, a perfect seal between piston rings and cylinder walls, low carbon, easy pumpability and circulation. . . . We know you're interested in a motor oil which will give you that kind of performance, because your friends and neighbors have already shown that they are—they're asking for Balanced 997 when they change oil. . . . Follow their lead. . . . Stop at the nearest Humble sign, and let a Humble salesman drain your crankcase and refill it with BALANCED 997 Motor Oil.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY. A TEXAS INSTITUTION MANAGED BY TEXANS.

to go that way, but we don't have to know much to be quite sure that the Permian Basin horse show last Thursday evening was definitely in the "success" classification. . . . Out at the show we were surrounded by visiting people who unmistakably knew all the things about fine horses and horse shows that we'd like to know, and those people were constantly remarking on the quality and size of the show and on the way it was being handled. . . . We were told by one man that the field included a conservative $20,000 worth of horse flesh. . . . Here are some other things we learned: The gaited horse is said to be strictly an American product, and a top show horse is usually the result of three or four years intensive training. . . . Until a horse has been thoroughly trained, he should not be ridden by anyone but his trainer or someone thoroughly familiar with his training. . . . They are controlled by the slightest touch of the rein, and they are just as high-strung as they appear—they wouldn't be trainable or worth training if they weren't. . . . Frank Kelley, P. K. Mackey, and Bob May deserve credit for arranging the show. . . . And no small praise should go, according to the horse-wise, to Francis Walters, the trainer who has been working with the horses kept by Kelley, Mackey, May and others at the Colorado City Frontier Roundup barn. . . . Walters rode P. K. Mackey's beautiful stallion, Mackey's Mack, in a one-horse show that brought many bursts of applause. . . . He also rode several other Colorado City and Diamond M horses in the show. . . .

This week brought the passing of Mrs. Earl Morrison, whom most of us called Zilpha. . . . While she lived she fulfilled a colossal purpose—that of mothering seven of her husband's nieces and nephews who were left without parents fourteen years ago. . . . Because she had been ill so long and so hopelessly, friends cannot be sorry that she has died, but she shall be missed exceedingly. . . .

The death of a child is always a thing of grief far too deep for words, but the death of Felix Boyd Dozier on Sunday morning was even more heart-wrenching than such deaths usually are. . . .

He died so swiftly—at sundown Saturday evening he was just a little boy who didn't feel well and wasn't responding to treatment exactly as he should. . . . At sundown Sunday evening he was buried. . . . It's rare for a single death to throw over a town Colorado City's size the pall that this town wore all day Sunday. . . . This writer felt a particular loss, because it was through Felix Boyd nine years ago that we got our adult conception of what precious beings babies can be. . . . Why he had to live so briefly is beyond understanding and beyond our right to question, but had he lived only one short year instead of nine he would still have filled a definite niche all his own in our life. . . .

This was a barbecue-and-cherry-pie-conscious settlement last Friday. Earl Hammond, who pinch hit as dispenser for the Permian Basin barbecue Thursday evening, found himself the unwilling custodian of several hundred pounds-of-left-over barbecue and several hundred surplus cherry pies when the affair was over. . . . It's the usual thing to be sorry for the fellow who hasn't enough to eat, but Friday was one time when folks found themselves feeling a little sorry for a fellow with too much to eat. . . . Cherry pie a la mode was much in evidence about town Friday afternoon. . . . Pies were given away for the asking and barbecue was sold for a song. . . . With the help of Bonnie Burt of the county welfare office, 150 pounds of meat and 125 cherry pies were given to the needy. . . .

This time next week Colorado City will be launching its fifth annual Frontier Roundup. . . . It has all the material requirements for being the biggest and best celebration which our town has ever staged. . . . The homecoming events are established, the parade formation familiar, the rodeo plant enlarged and improved, and the rodeo prizes have been boosted to more than $2,500, which should attract some of the best rodeo talent in Texas. Last year's prize list of $1,500 was sufficiently attractive to give us what was conceded to be one of West Texas' fastest and most entertaining shows. . . . The horses and cattle for this year's show are "big time" stuff. . . . All that the Roundup needs now to be the success it promises to be is everybody's enthusiasm. . . .

The business face of Colorado City will be improved no end by the new Max Berman building. . . . It's been news to us that a building could be so completely rebuilt from the ground up, with business going on inside as usual. . . . The store hasn't been closed a single day, and won't be. . . . There may be times when you'll have to duck or even climb a little, but the store's always open for business, Max Berman assures you, and nothing's going to fall on you. . . .

The pioneer homecoming spirit got going down at The Record office this week and we've started displaying what old-timer pictures we have on hand. . . . The deed was done with just a touch of fear and trembling, because we fully expect to have some accusing fingers waved in our direction with the remark: "So that's where my picture's been all this time!" We here-with apologize beforehand, and we would point out that our displaying the picture proves at least that we're just absent-minded, not kleptomaniacs. . . .

SMATTERINGS: Mrs. Paul Teas is all absorbed these days in working out plans for the new home the family is planning on building at Lubbock soon. . . . Dan Beeman says he had something worse than wrens nesting under his tractor seat. . . . They were yellow-jackets, and their nest was "big as a man's hat" before he found it—but he would point out that this happened after his crop was laid by, not before. . . . Some of these recent mornings have had the haze and almost the nip of autumn—and we are quite eager for both the haze and the nip. . . . The clock above the door of the beautiful new junior high school building is now regulating the lives of practically all the northeastern part of town. . . .

The work done by the Col-Tex refinery's first-aid crew in trying to keep Felix Boyd Dozier, infantile paralysis victim, alive Sunday morning until he could be placed in an iron lung has been praised all over town this week. . . . And the staff of Root hospital has shared in that praise, along with Eddie Pylant and all others connected with the case, although Felix was never in the hospital. . . . Special credit seems due Hank Bryant and Red Black for the way they worked, with the help of the Col-Tex inhalator, to keep life in the child. . . . It is conceded, however, that even an iron lung in Colorado City couldn't have changed the ultimate outcome. . . .

How about a twin section in the Frontier Roundup parade next Thursday? Mrs. H. I. Berman thinks it would be a good idea, and if there are any other mothers of twins who'd like to see the idea put into effect, they might contact Mrs. Berman. . . .

The old-timer pictures in The Record office are rapidly giving us a crick in the neck. . . . Usually a tap on the office window means that somebody passing by is trying to get the attention of the editorial department to look- ing around when such tapping takes place. . . . Well, the tapping has really been going on since the pictures were put up—this fellow pointing something out to that fellow, you know. . . . We expect to be permanently twisted to one side before the Roundup homecoming is over if this keeps up. . . .

It seems that Bob Battle, who turns in a pretty swell golfing score himself, used to be a golfing partner of Betty Jameson, top flight woman golfer in the nation. . . . They were in the University of Texas together. . . .

Not many Colorado City high school graduating classes can match the marrying record of the Class of '39. . . . Five girls who were in the class have married already, and two boys. . . . Girls who have married include Doris Richardson, Freddie Blackwell, Marie Wallace, Malie Lou Rice, and Evelyn Moore. . . . The boys are James Wulfjen and Douglas Richardson. . . .

The special gossip wires which serve this column yield this: Blonde Margaret McWilliams, who'll be a sophomore in Colorado City high school this year and who sings in the high school sextette, has received a letter from Pat O'Daniel saying that her name has been filed as a singer with his Hillbilly band. . . . It's said that Margaret doesn't know the why or the how of the matter. . . .

A parody written by Harry Ratliff, general counsel of the Promising Oil company, was sung by the Colorado City Cowhand band during the Permian Basin Oil Discovery celebration and got a big hand. . . . Rendered to the tune of "The Merry-Go-Round Broke Down," the parody went like this:

Oh, the price of crude went down As the oil wells all shut down; The Sinclair stumbled, so did the Humble, While the price of crude went Up and down—up and down. The price of crude went down; It made the damndest sound. Operators said, Oh Commission said, No— And the price of crude went Up and down—up and down. What, no oil for 15 full days. Hoping the price will surely be raised. The price of crude went down But you don't see the producers frown. Every well's shut tight and that's the flight, Cause the price of crude went Up and down—up and down.
