Reveille To Open Armistice Program For Local Legion

Breakfast At Hotel To Follow Bugle Call At 7 A.M.; Bean Feed To Close Day

Reveille, "the call sounded at break of day to give notice that it is time for soldiers to arise," will open the Armistice observance of Mitchell county World War veterans Saturday morning at 7 p.m. Breakfast at the Colorado hotel will follow reveille, which will be sounded at the American Legion hut. The post's annual bean feed and patriotic program will be held at the hut Saturday at 8 p.m. to close the day. Final plans for both events were made at a called meeting of the post Tuesday night, according to Howard Rogers, commander.

After standing to reveille, ex-soldiers will march in military formation through downtown Colorado City to the hotel, and after breakfast will march back to the hut. The Colorado City school band is to play.

Officers for the day will be: Capt. H. P. Slagel, commander; John E. Watson, first lieutenant; Lewis Latham, second lieutenant; James Herrington, second lieutenant.

An attempt has been made to mail invitations to all World War veterans of the county concerning the breakfast and bean feed, according to Albert Hiser, post adjutant, but some names have probably been overlooked since no accurate list of veterans is available. Officers of the post wish to emphasize that all veterans are invited to "reveille and breakfast, and that all veterans and their families are invited to the bean feed."

Members of the Legion auxiliary will assist in bean feed arrangements. There will be music by Dr. Harry A. Logsdon and his Colorado City Cowhand band. Commander Rogers will give the welcome. Mrs. W. R. Martin is to sing. The main address will be by Rev. H. H. Black of All Saints' Episcopal church on "Americanism Today." One minute will be devoted to silent tribute to deceased "buddies."

Program committee for the bean feed is Thos. R. Smith, Dr. Logsdon, and James Herrington. Reveille and breakfast arrangements are in charge of Roy Dozier, Van Boston, and T. J. O'Conner.

Zone Meeting Of Lions Scheduled Thursday Night

Lions from Midland, Big Spring, Anson, Snyder, and Hamlin are to gather in Colorado City Thursday night (tonight) for a zone meeting of district 2-T, Lions International, with the Colorado City club host.

Boyd McDaniel of Big Spring, zone chairman, will have charge. A dinner has been arranged for the occasion, taking the place of this week's luncheon.

A. E. McClain, A. L. McSpadden, and Frank Ramsdell are responsible for the entertainment portion of the program.

New Assistant Manager For The Colorado Drug

Jack Cathey, formerly of Sweetwater, went to work this week as assistant manager of the Colorado Drug, succeeding E. L. Foster who resigned to accept a job with the Geo. A. Breen Pharmaceutical company with headquarters at Houston. Mr. and Mrs. Cathey are at home in the apartment at the Ed Jones, Sr., home.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP—

Realizing the worthwhile things the American Red Cross does for humanity I would like to join for this year.

Enclosed please find $1.00 for each membership. (List names)

Mail to Joe W. Jackson, Roll Call Chairman, Mitchell County Chapter. Pin and stickers will be returned by mail to you.

Army of Workers to Cover County in Annual Red Cross Roll Call

With "Don't Let the Red Cross Down!" as their slogan and with the contacting of every adult in the county as their aim, an army of more than 100 workers will begin Friday on the task of covering Mitchell county in the annual Red Cross Roll Call membership drive.

The drive will last through Nov. 30, according to Joe Jackson, county Roll Call chairman. This year's quota is unlimited because the need for an enlarged membership is said to be greater than at any time since the World War.

Everything is set for the campaign. The county and its towns have been marked off into districts with each worker responsible for contacting each adult in his or her district. An effort has been made to have each worker responsible for no more than 20 adults, however.

Jack Helton will direct the campaign in downtown Colorado City, while Mrs. J. Lee Jones, Sr., has charge of the residential district.

Lauderdale are sub-chairmen at Westbrook, J. C. Hall and Mrs. W. L. Hester at Loraine, Lee Coleman at Iatan, Jack Richardson at the Col-Text refinery, A. W. Hubbard at the Texas & Pacific railroad, and Supt. John E. Watson in Colorado City schools. Sub-chairmen have also been named in each rural community. These will be listed later.

Supplies needed in making the drive are now ready for workers at the chamber of commerce office, according to Dr. W. B. May, chairman of the Mitchell county Red Cross chapter.

As in past years, one-half of each $1 membership will be retained for use by the local chapter.

It has been pointed out that Mitchell county should have a renewed interest in the success of the Red Cross membership drive this year because of the work done by the Red Cross after the destructive Colorado river flood of last June. Of $4,800 expended in Scurry and Mitchell counties at the time of that flood, $3,900 was national Red Cross funds.

That Texans in particular should be responsive to Red Cross appeals this year is indicated in a survey showing that the state received assistance from the organization last year after 15 disasters, more than any other state suffered. A record breaking total of 157 catastrophes was recorded during 1938. F. A. Winfrey, assistant manager in charge of disaster operations for the midwestern area, St. Louis, reported.

This Armistice Day Is Different But More Significant Than Ever

This year The Record is devoting more space and attention to Armistice Day than has ever been the case since the peace that followed the World War was new.

There are several things behind this rekindled interest. . . . And all these things are centered, in the final analysis, in those men who went to war—the men who are today the American Legion, of which Colorado City has an active post.

Many believe that Armistice Day has lost its real significance, or its purpose, because they think of it as commemorating the end of a war that was to end all wars, and yet there is war again. Perhaps they're right, if Armistice Day is always to mean just that and nothing more—the day when a single war ended.

But there are others who prefer to think of Armistice day in a different light. To these it is a day set aside for the men who fought in that war. Twenty-one years ago it was the day that lifted from them the shadow of battlefield deaths, and gave back to them their dreams and plans for the normal pursuits of making a living and building homes and communities.

The fact that these men did go to war is of more importance today than ever before, because what they learned about war is likely to be the big factor in holding the United States back from another such patriotic frenzy as the one which thrust it into the World War.

These men know that there is no glory in war, that martial music is unheard where shells whine and men die, and that no war but a defensive war, fought of necessity, solves anything or fulfills any worthy purpose. They are at once patriots and pacifists—pacifists who have proved beyond a doubt that their pacifism has no connection with a fear of fighting. . . .

And so, because the attitude of these men toward war is important to the peace of the nation today, and because that attitude is a result of the World War, the history of that war and the organizations which were born of it should be of increased interest.

At least, that is one of the theories on which The Record has gone in preparing the special war history, Armistice stories, and Legion articles which fill a large portion of this week's news columns.

Another theory on which we have worked is that memories of any era make interesting reading after more than two decades.

But the biggest theory of all has been that no more effective tribute can be paid to veterans of the World War than to recall, in some detail, the events and the times in which they achieved their much-deserved glory.

These writing efforts are, therefore, our Armistice Day salute to members of the Oran C. Hooker post, American Legion, and to all Legionnaires and ex-soldiers everywhere.

THREE PRISON SENTENCES HANDED DOWN DURING WEEK IN 32ND DISTRICT COURT

Santa Claus Will Come To Town 'In Style' This Year

Arrangements Made By CC Committee For Staging Of Parade December 11

Santa Claus will come to Colorado City "in style" this year.

Arrangements for a Santa Claus parade to be staged in Colorado City at 2:30 p.m. on December 11 were completed by members of the chamber of commerce small trade committee and Jack Helton, chamber manager, this week.

The parade will be nine blocks long and will contain such features as the Balloon Castle, the Three Wise Men, the Silver Jinnikisha, Military Girl, All Nations' Float, Little Boy Blue float, Old Mother Hubbard float, Story Book Land float, child fancy floats, a Jack and Jill float, Santa's own deer, ponies, Princess Mary Christmas and other colorful units.

Electric chimes will play familiar Christmas carols as the parade moves along. There will be a number of clowns.

Clarence Cook is chairman of the retail trade committee in charge of plans.

Judge And Mrs. Burney Giving New CC Furniture

Office To Be Modernly Equipped With Gift From Pioneers

New furniture for the Colorado City chamber of commerce office is soon to be installed because of the generosity of Judge and Mrs. I. H. Burney of Fort Worth, early-day residents of Colorado City.

Judge and Mrs. Burney have given the chamber of commerce $250 with which to purchase the furniture. A metal plate on the desk will be a permanent acknowledgment of the gift and its donors.

Jack Helton, chamber of commerce manager, says that the committee in charge of installing the furniture hopes to have the task completed and the office ready for open house on the night of the annual chamber of commerce banquet, which is to be held during the first two weeks of December.

The committee in charge includes A. E. McClain, W. R. Oswalt, and C. W. Cook.

BPW Will Sponsor Women's Play Night Beginning Nov. 20

Beginning November 20, a recreational night for clubwomen and business women of Colorado City will be sponsored at the new junior high school gymnasium by the Business & Professional Women's club.

Hours will be from 7 until 9 p.m. All types of gymnastics and indoor games will be offered. Truett Fulcher, recreational director for Colorado City, will be in charge. All women attending are requested to wear or bring tennis shoes.

Wolf-Yellowhammer Game Outstanding On Armistice Card

Rotan and Colorado City To Play On Conrill Field Saturday At 2:30 P.M.

Outstanding attraction for the general public in Colorado City on Armistice day will be the Rotan-Colorado City football game to be played on Conrill field Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Although they have been defeated twice in district play, the Yellowhammers are expected to give the Wolves a stiff fight. So far the Wolves are undefeated, although they have been victorious in only one conference game. The others have been ties. The Yellowhammers were 1938 champions of this district.

Snyder's Tigers still hold first place in the district with a clean record of four wins and no losses. They defeated Rotan 26-0 last week.

The Tigers will play the Roscoe Plovers in Snyder Friday night in a game that some dopsters believe will determine the 1939 championship of 6-A, since Roscoe has not been defeated so far and has a record that is blotched only by their tie with Colorado City.

Rotan was defeated 7-0 by Roscoe, whom Colorado City tied.

Geo. Mahon Expected Home Around Nov. 15

With adjournment of the special session of congress last week, friends of Congressman Geo. H. Mahon are expecting him home around Nov. 15.

Mrs. Mahon and Daphne will remain in Washington, since Daphne is in the midst of a school term there. Lloyd Croslin, Mahon's secretary, is still in Texas, awaiting orders to reopen Mr. Mahon's district office at Lubbock.

Armistice Brings 'Poppy Time' Again

It is "poppy time" in Colorado City.

Women of the Legion auxiliary began their annual Armistice poppy-selling campaign Thursday (today). It will continue through Friday and into Armistice day itself.

The red paper flowers, symbolizing the flowers that grow among the graves of America's war dead in France, are sold for a dime each. They were made by disabled veterans in Legion hospitals over the land, and all proceeds from their sale will go to benefit these veterans and their families.

Mrs. A. F. King, president of the auxiliary, is directing the selling campaign in Colorado City.

Sweetwater Lions To Give Minstrel, Revue Here Monday

Business Women To Sponsor Show At Junior High Auditorium; Tickets Now On Sale

Promising more in the way of hilarious entertainment than anything that has been offered in Colorado City in many months, the annual minstrel and revue of the Sweetwater Lions club will be presented at the junior high school auditorium Monday night at 8 o'clock under auspices of the Business & Professional Women's club.

Proceeds from the show will be added to the club's educational fund. Tickets have been on sale all this week.

The presentation here will precede the Sweetwater showing, which is scheduled for the following night. The show has been a great success each of the eight years it has been staged, according to reports.

Accompanying the Sweetwater Lions will be their own band. Other additional features of the evening will be between-act numbers by Dr. Harry A. Logsdon's Colorado City Cowhand band, Snyder talent, and Colorado City talent.

Something unusual in the way of negro minstrels is promised for the show, according to A. M. Armstrong and Chas. Green, directors. Instead of the usual routine to end men and interlocutor, the setting this year will be a cabaret scene.

Armstrong is in charge of the musical parts of the program and Green is in charge of the speaking parts.

Lions Plan To Have Another Food Matinee For Needy Families

Plans to sponsor a food matinee again this Thanksgiving to fill baskets for needy families were made at the Lions luncheon Friday. The matinee will be held at the Palace theater through courtesy of the Colorado Amusement company and A. E. McClain, manager. Food will be admission.

Mrs. Rees Jones, president of the Business & Professional Women's club, and Mrs. A. L. McSpadden, chairman of the ticket sale committee, announced the minstrel and revue to be given at the junior high school Monday night by the Sweetwater Lions club.

Other features on the program were a knot-tying demonstration by Earnest Porter, Boy Scout, and a discussion of the livestock auction ring now underway by Chas. C. Thompson. Final plans for the zone meeting here on Thursday night, replacing the regular Friday banquet, were discussed.

Guests introduced were Judge A. S. Mauley, H. L. Hull, and Red Allen of Austin.

City Paving Unit Due For Approval By WPA This Week

Completion and final approval of Colorado City's second WPA paving unit containing 47 blocks were due to be accomplished in San Antonio WPA headquarters this week.

Lamar Cunningham, city engineer, spent most of the week conferring with WPA officials in San Antonio in regard to the project. City officials hope to have the new project underway within a few days.

Postoffice To Open 8 Till 9 Saturday A.M.

All windows of the postoffice will be open from 8 until 9 o'clock Saturday morning, according to Joe Y. Fraser, postmaster.

Those needing postal service should keep these hours in mind, Fraser says.

Stores Will Observe Late Closing Friday

Late closing hours will be observed by practically all local business firms Friday night, since Saturday is to be a complete holiday in observance of Armistice.

SOCIETY

Buford Methodists Plead Rev. Damron

Members of the Buford Methodist church pleaded their pastor, Rev. C. D. Damron of Dunn, Tuesday night. It is a custom of the church to plead its pastors before each conference.

Families went in groups to the Damron home at Dunn. The occasion was a surprise. Thirty-two attended from the Buford church. Conversation was the order of the evening. Children of the group, assisted by two of the women, carried in the gifts, which were opened and admired.

Rev. Mr. Damron expressed his and Mrs. Damron's thanks for the gifts and their appreciation for the work of the Buford church in general.

Local Clubwomen Hope To Attend Convention

Although all plans were indefinite several local clubwomen were hoping this week to be able to attend the 42nd annual convention of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in Wichita Falls Nov. 13-16.

Mrs. H. B. Broadbent, who is a member of the state board, was not certain this week that she would be able to go.

Review By Mrs. Cantrill To Be Given Tuesday

Sponsored by the woman's council of First Christian church, a review of the novel, "Ararat," will be given by Mrs. R. H. Cantrill in the church parlor at 8 p.m. Tuesday evening.

"Ararat," written by Elgin Grose, has been described as "a novel that is epic in conception." Its action covers the years from the Turkish massacres of 1895 to the close of the Russian Revolution, centering in the cradle land of races lying between the Black and Caspian seas, with the great mountain, Ararat, as its focal point.

Its story is of a Texas cowboy turned missionary in this land, trying to shepherd its natives from "the storm of Turkish wrath."

The author is a native of Oklahoma who left for Persia in 1920 to teach in a mission school. He later traveled extensively in that country, being once arrested by the Russian government on suspicion of espionage.

He returned to the U. S. several years ago, took his Ph. D. from the American university in Washington, and is now an official of the U. S. Treasury department. He was formerly an editor of the magazine Fortune.

Tickets for the review are 25 cents each.

Autumn Colors And Thanksgiving Theme Used At Shower Honoring Miss Mackey

Autumn's flame and gold were combined with the motif of the Thanksgiving month to provide the setting for a reception shower arranged Tuesday evening at the Root home to honor Mary Frances Mackey, who is to be married Nov. 26 to Geo. Otis Witten of Washington, D. C. Hostesses were Mrs. C. L. Root, Mrs. J. L. Pidgeon, Mrs. Sam Majors, and Mrs. Sefton Picketts.

Roses were employed in profusion in the room where guests were received by Mrs. Malors, Mrs. Root, Miss Mackey, Mrs. P. K. Mackey, Mrs. Roxie Witten, and Mrs. Frank Mackey. Mrs. Chas. Root had charge of registering.

Miss Mackey wore a black taffeta dress with a black velvet bustle and black velvet bands around the full skirt. Black velvet bands also trimmed her bolero jacket. She wore a corsage of red carnations at the frock's V-neckline.

Mrs. Picketts directed guests to the dining room. The lace-covered dining table was centered with a huge mass of bronze mums, marigolds, autumn leaves, orange wheat stalks, yellow chrysanthemums, bittersweet berries, and yava grass. Turkeys, gold gourds, and gold acorns were placed around the centerpiece. Yellow chrysanthemums were arranged in a large crystal bowl on the buffet, with shallow crystal holders containing the flowers on either side. Corsages of Chinese firethorn were on the refreshment plates.

From the dining room guests were shown into an adjoining room where gifts were on display on card tables. Mrs. Bill Coffey gave an appropriate reading as guests assembled in the room.

Arranged on a low chest against windows at one end of the room was a bridal scene, with a miniature bride and groom standing under a vine-twined trellis on a reflector. The chest was carpeted with fern. Chrysanthemums were featured in this room.

The houseparty included the following in addition to those already mentioned: Mabel and Mary Frances Majors, Mrs. V. B. Haggard of Abilene, Beverly Lovelace, Myra Brown, Mrs. Monty Crawford, Pauline Jones, Margie Carlock, and Mrs. Chas. Root.

Susie Beal Snyder and Walter Rankin Married In Fort Worth On Saturday

The marriage of Susie Beal Snyder of Fort Worth and Colorado City to Walter Rankin of Colorado City was solemnized in Fort Worth Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

The ceremony was said by Dr. J. N. R. Score before a mantle banked with fern and white mums and chrysanthemums in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. D. H. Snyder, Sr. The Episcopal single ring ceremony was used.

John Shropshire of Colorado City attended Mr. Rankin. D. H. Snyder, Sr., of Colorado City, father of the bride, gave her away.

The bride wore a suit-dress of blue wool with a huge silver fur collar, a short fitted coat, and a flared skirt. Her hat and gloves were red, her bag and shoes of black suede. Her corsage was of gardenias.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Rankin and a group of friends went to Dallas, returning to Fort Worth for the wedding dinner at the Snyder home Saturday night. The dinner table was centered with white chrysanthemums.

Present for the wedding were D. H. Snyder, Sr., D. H. Snyder, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Shropshire, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cox, and Abe Dolman, all of Colorado City; Mrs. H. C. Beal, Mrs. John Arnett, Doris Moore, Helen Snyder, and Mrs. D. H. Snyder, Sr., all of Fort Worth.

Mrs. Rankin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Snyder, Sr., of Colorado City and Fort Worth. She was reared here and attended Southwestern university at Georgetown after graduation. Her grandfather, the late Capt. D. H. Snyder, who was a pioneer cattleman of Texas, was one of the university's founders.

Mr. Rankin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Rankin of near Colorado City. He attended Texas Technological college at Lubbock after graduation here and was an outstanding football player. He is now employed by the Magnolia company at Istan.

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin are at home here, occupying the D. H. Snyder home for the time being.

George Lay Powell Celebrates Birthday

Second birthday of George Lay Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jenks Powell, was marked recently with a Halloween party given by his mother and his aunt, Mrs. Curtis Erwin of Stanton, at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Lay Powell.

Pumpkins adorned the birthday cake, which was served with orange juice to the little host and these guests: Joan Green, Sherrie Ann Smith, Bill Oswald, Jr., Judy Christian, David Gary, Sandy McSpadden, Danny and Donna Lou Majors, and Bobby Richardson. Halloween noise-makers were favors.

McKenzie Club Elects Officers

By Mrs. R. E. Allen, Reporter
Officers for the McKenzie club were elected at the home of Mrs. J. B. Walker, Jr., as follows:

President, Mrs. Ed Snowden; vice-president, Mrs. Victor McCabe; secretary and council delegate, Mrs. Fred Stubblefield.

Vera Crippen, county home demonstration agent, showed hand-made articles suitable for gifts and hand-made boxes for Christmas wrapping.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Frank McCabe, Ed Snowden, Wornack Hipp, R. B. Allen, R. W. Odum, W. L. Carr, and J. B. Walker, Jr., all members; Miss Crippen; and two visitors, Mrs. Ross Dixon of Colorado City and Mrs. Jack Wimberly of San Angelo.

Miriam Club Meets With Mrs. Whipkey

The Miriam club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. B. Whipkey with Mrs. Whipkey and Mrs. Mary Lindley as hostesses.

After the business hour Mrs. Buster Baker brought a devotional and Mrs. Green DeLaney read a poem on Thanksgiving. Birthdays of Mrs. Jack DeLaney, Mrs. A. G. Ballard, and Mrs. E. B. Ellis were observed.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Green DeLaney, Lottie Wilson, Effie King, Tommie Graves, Homan Posey, Belle Vaughan, A. G. Ballard, Jack DeLaney, Buster Baker, E. B. Ellis, and Floyd Sheppard; Rhudean Ballard, and a guest, Mrs. Lillian Phenix.

The next meeting will be at the Graves home with Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Wilson, and Mrs. Graves as hostesses.

Mrs. Merritt Is Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for the Wednesday club in Roscoe on Wednesday afternoon was Mrs. J. G. Merritt.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. T. L. Young. Mrs. Merritt's subject was "Peace Training in the Home."

HERE FROM AUSTIN

Shirley Kiker of the University of Texas at Austin spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kiker.

Alfred E. Maddin Is Program Leader

With Alfred Edgar Maddin as leader, the Epworth League had a program on "When You Have Nothing To Do" Sunday evening. Forty members and two visitors were present.

New members reported were James Paul Cooper, Jerry Lockhart, Harvey Hicks, Lou Jean Shaw, Fannie Bell Martin.

Mary Dell Davis gave the scripture, and Wallace Kirby said a prayer. Special music was given by Walter Gilbert, and Johnny Grubbs with Mrs. Edd Grubbs accompanying.

Two Divisions For Stitch And Chatter

Two divisions of the Stitch and Chatter club were made when the club met Friday with Mrs. E. H. Henderson. The club will be limited to a total membership of 30. Half of the members will meet with one hostess, half with the other each time.

Seventeen members and three guests were present at the Friday meeting, the guests being Mrs. Tom Henderson, Mrs. Jeff Dobbs, and Mrs. Porter Richardson. Cookies and coffee were served.

Hostess to Group No. 1 this week will be Mrs. Alfred Cupp, to Group No. 2 Mrs. Harvey Cupp.

Fidelis Class Meets At Bruce Hart Home

Sixteen were present when the Fidelis class met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Bruce Hart, assistant hostesses being Mrs. J. C. Richardson, Mrs. E. V. Grantland, and Mrs. Edna DeLaney.

Mrs. Lewis Fitzgerald gave the opening prayer. Enlargement of the class was discussed. Mrs. Chas. T. Tiskey gave two readings, one of the Hundredth Psalm. Plans were made for the Christmas party.

Named on the yearbook committee were Mrs. Gracie Beach, Mrs. J. C. Richardson, and Mrs. E. B. Ellis. Pumpkin pie and coffee were served at the refreshment hour.

Colorado City Girls Honored At TSCW

SIXTY Colorado City girls have met the qualifications of the Advisory Council at Texas State College for Women and have been named advisors to new students this year.

Colorado City advisors include Nina Laura Smith, Elizabeth Taylor, Doris Wynne, Frances Louise Elliott, Virginia Gurney, Erna Merritt.

Besides a high scholastic standing, the position of advisor demands leadership, dependability, and an understanding of college problems. Each of these girls has been assigned a group of new students for special guidance on the campus.

Week Of Prayer For Methodists

In observance of their week of prayer for home and foreign missions, women of First Methodist church held an all-day meeting Monday at the church.

Mrs. W. W. Rhode, president, outlined objects of the week of prayer after responsive readings had opened the meeting. Mrs. C. M. Epps led the devotional on "Workers." In this connection pictures of The Angelus were passed around. Conditions among modern laborers were discussed. Mrs. N. H. White sang a solo.

After a period of silent prayer, Mrs. J. M. Doss discussed retirement and relief funds. Mrs. J. G. Merritt discussed the need of a community house at Amherstdale, W. Va. Mrs. Chas. C. Thompson described the Rankin community house to be built in West Dallas.

A prayer by Mrs. Epps closed the morning session. An offering of $14.50 was taken. A sandwich lunch was served at noon.

Foreign mission work was discussed in the afternoon, with Brazil in the limelight.

Business Meeting Held By Presbyterian Women

A business meeting was held Monday by women of First Presbyterian church in session at the church.

Mrs. A. E. Maddin said the opening prayer. Mrs. R. D. Coles led the devotional on the First Psalm. News letters were read by the secretary.

Christian Women In November Session

November meeting of the First Christian missionary society was held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ed Jones, Sr.

The president, Mrs. G. A. Horton, announced plans for a study course in December. Mrs. A. L. Haley said the opening prayer and Mrs. Clarence Nesbitt led the devotional on "Inner Church Life."

Topics were given by Mrs. S. R. Venable, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Pete Picketts, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Horton, and Mrs. W. C. Davis.

Present were Mesdames R. P. Price, Haley, Davis, O. L. Simpson, Nesbitt, Picketts, Horton, Bradley, Jones, Venable, and Porter. The December meeting will be in observance of woman's missionary day at the church.

Barbara Dell Barber Has 7th Birthday

Marking her seventh birthday, Barbara Dell Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dell Barber, was hostess Saturday afternoon.

Outdoor games were played. The birthday cake was served with hot chocolate. At the refreshment hour each little guest found a Mexican figure for his favor and a string leading from the favor to a bowl in the center of the table. Fortunes for each were at the ends of the strings.

Ronny Fee Entertains At Club On Birthday

Forty little friends were entertained by Ronny Fee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fee, at the country club Saturday afternoon to mark his ninth birthday.

Mrs. Fee was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Loyse Price, and by Mrs. Percy Bond, hostess at the club.

Flower-filled cornucopias adorned the white and pink birthday cake. It was served with ice cream.

Three From Here To Welfare Parley

Three local people attended the district welfare parley in Abilene last Friday and Saturday.

They were Mrs. Bonnie Burt of the Mitchell County Welfare office, Mrs. Boyd Dozier, and Mrs. J. A. Sadler.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Our newspaper soul is somewhat embarrassed over the length of the "war history" article included in this issue. . . . We were taught better and we really know better than to ever let supposed-to-be news stories run so long. . . . Besides, they don't promote friendly relations between the "make-up" man and the front desk, not at all. . . . But when we got started digging back in those old war files there didn't seem to be any place to stop—after all, one can't leave a war half-fought. . . . Try as we would to pick out just the more interesting and more characteristic highlights of those war months in Mitchell county and Colorado City, the story still grew—and grew. . . . By the time we finished we'd put so much time on it that we couldn't throw it away—think how The Record would look with four empty white columns! . . . Seriously, there may be plenty wrong with the story's length and its style, but we will venture this much in fairness to its subject matter (which isn't ours and if we want to): If you're over 25 and if you were living in or near Colorado City in 1917-18 and if you have time on your hands, you'll get something out of reading the story and reviewing those hazy, yet somehow vivid, war-time memories. . . .

From all we can read and hear, it appears that those who miss the minstrel which Sweetwater Lions are to stage at the junior high school auditorium Monday night will miss a real treat in the way of entertainment. . . . The minstrel is staged each year in Sweetwater and always goes over in a big way, according to reports. . . . It's being given here this year a day in advance of its presentation in Sweetwater. . . . The Business & Professional Women's club is sponsoring the show here to increase its educational fund. . . . Tickets are already on sale—but you probably know that by now, the way these business women get around. . . .

This column laid itself open to a lot of what's-wrong-with-my-name comments, indignant and otherwise, by its listing of "pleasing" names last week. . . . But the prize of the lot came from a certain little six-year-old favorite of ours who, on learning that her name wasn't listed (and it really is a lovely name, too) laboriously printed this note: "MRS. JEWEL (not, you will think, dear Jewel) 'I DON'T THINK YOUR NAME IS PRETTY EITHER.'"

That cut-up, M. O. Chapman of the gas company, thinks he has grounds for libel in the fact that this column listed gas bills along with sniffls, frozen water pipes, and other more or less unpleasant winter thoughts last week. . . . Having served our time at the chores of bringing in the kindling and filling the coal scuttles, we're duly ashamed. Chappie—gas is really a great institution. . . .

Of all the coaches who have served Colorado City high school, it seems that Hardy Pearce and Johnny Baker, who were here back in the early thirties, have gone on to the greatest gridiron achievements. . . . Pearce has been coaching at Central High in Washington, D. C., since 1935 and Baker, his brother-in-law, coaches at Washington-Lee high school in Washington. . . . The Washington Evening Star for November 1 devoted most of its sports page to Pearce, including its four-column eight-inch sports cartoon which was centered about a drawing of Pearce. . . . Pearce is credited, according to the Star, with "putting local high schools back on the football map." . . . His teams have played 40 games since he began coaching at Central High, winning 25, losing 10, and tying five against "the toughest opposition in this sector." . . . Strangely enough, three of his losses have been to Brother-in-law Johnny Baker—the two married sisters. . . . Pearce used to play for Hardin-Simmons university back when it was still Simmons university. . . . He was assistant coach here one year under Harry Taylor, now of San Angelo, and the next year was coach, with Johnny Baker as his assistant. . . . They resigned here to go to Washington and enter George Washington university, where both took their master's degrees. . . . Later Pearce was line coach for a time at the university, where he was at one time a star tackle. . . . A sports writer described Pearce as "the best thing that's happened to Central High school in years."

Unless our alarm clock fails, and the pesky thing almost never does, we hope her watch, the Legion "boys" stand to reveille at the hut at 7 a.m. Armistice morning. . . . Watching them march downtown last year was quite a thrill, and we've a notion that reveille itself is more than thrilling. . . .

The return of "Kit" Buchanan, which has become quite a "wonder when" proposition with her friends during recent weeks, is about to happen. . . . Kit, who is Katie and Katherine when dignity is required, is due home from her six-month visit in Baltimore and New York City the latter part of this week. . . . The Crawfords, Mrs. Carrie and daughter Betty, of Kansas City, who have been with her in New York, will accompany her home for a short visit with friends and on business. . . . Shortly after they will come Mr. and Mrs. Garner Hammock (Ruth Buchanan), who live in New Mexico but who have been staying in Baltimore, and their daughter, Mrs. Theodore Norris, and their young granddaughter, Ann. . . . Ann will be paying her first visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buchanan. . . . Ann's father won't be along, for he's attending Johns Hopkins university on a scholarship and won't receive his Ph.D. until June. . . . The Hammocks, Mrs. Norris and Ann will go on to Cedar Crest, N. M., after a few days' visit here. . . . They'll stop in Arkansas to visit Mr. Hammock's people enroute here. . . .

For its October cover THE OKLAHOMA TEACHER, a magazine which corresponds to our Texas Outlook, used a camera study of Dr. W. W. Reese of Sulphur, Oklahoma, who is a brother of Mrs. H. B. Derryberry of Loraine. . . . The picture shows Dr. Reese on his Arabian horse, Paint, at the edge of a stream, where Paint is drinking. . . . It was taken in Platt National park, which is adjacent to Sulphur. . . . Dr. Reese is a dentist in Sulphur and rides for recreation each day. . . . In addition to the picture, the magazine carried a short article on him, his horse, and Platt park. . . .

There aren't two more enthusiastic fishermen in the county than Mrs. Walter Whipkey and Mrs. A. L. McSpadden, and they staged a real fishing "scoop" Monday out at the country club lake. . . . Going to the lake at 10 a.m. they fished until about 2:30 and came in with around 20 pounds of large sun perch and bass. . . . It was the nicest catch of fish that's been brought in from the lake in a long time. . . . One bass measured around fourteen inches—and the "one that got away" was longer than that. . . .

The C. A. Simpson family has a sort of Butler-ish start in life, to make a pun. . . . All four of the Simpson children have started to school and had their first year's work under Miss Inez Butler. . . . Dale, who was graduated in 1938, was the first. . . . Pauline, who graduates this year, was next. . . . LaDell, the third, is to finish in 1945. . . . And now Miss Butler is starting her fourth Simpson—Vannabell. . . .

A successful business man who got his start in one of Colorado City's first stores died in Fort Worth Sunday. . . . He was Morton Wilson Potts, Sr., 84 veteran Fort Worth business man. . . . Old-timers recall that he was a clerk in the Burns, Walker & Company store here in the early eighties when Colorado City was the terminus of the T. & P. railroad and the shipping and supply center for all West Texas. . . . He moved away from here in the latter eighties. . . .

Something new in the way of drum majors is promised for between-halves activities of the Colorado City school band at the Rotan-Colorado City game Saturday afternoon on Cantrill field. . . .

An 18-year-old son of the William Talbots, who are new Colorado Citizens from San Antonio, is attending Central college at Fayette, Mo., representing the third generation of the Talbot family to attend that school. . . . Mr. Talbot is owner and manager of the new Western Auto Supply store. . . . He and Mrs. Talbot live on Hickory street in the home of Mrs. W. M. Moseley at present. . . . They are Episcopalians. . . .

ROGERS RAMBLINGS

Singing was well attended Sunday night and we had some real good singing. Mrs. A. B. Carlisle had charge of the singing program Sunday night. Singing every Sunday night at 7 o'clock. . . .

Sunday school each Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Each and everyone is welcome to come and join us each Sunday morning and Sunday night. . . . This community regrets very much that the Claude Barber family is moving this week to their new home in New Mexico. They will be greatly missed here. We wish for them much happiness and good luck in their new home. . . .

Cecil Byrd of Bryan, Texas, spent the week-end with his wife and home folks of Conaway and Westbrook. . . .

The young people of this community enjoyed a tacky party Friday night in the home of Mrs. A. B. Carlisle. Everyone reported a good time and lots of fun. Mrs. Myrtle Jameson and Mrs. Dave Everetts won the prize as being the tackiest ones there. . . . Mrs. Preston Wynne and little son Travis are spending a few days with Mrs. Wynne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ritchie of the Shepherd community. . . .

Evelyn Smith spent Sunday afternoon with Louise Strain. . . .

Membership Drive
Launched By Permian Basin Association

MIDLAND.—If you live in the Permian Basin, you are in the oil business. It is the basis of an appeal being made to the citizens of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico by the newly organized Permian Basin Association which launched its membership drive here early this week.

Permanent business offices of the association were last week established in Midland, at 303 Thomas building, with H. B. Spence, formerly manager of the Colorado City chamber of commerce and who was recently named executive secretary of the Permian group, in charge. J. L. Greene, Midland, is president of the association. The executives have inaugurated activities to put the organization into its first year's program without delay.

Purpose of the association, as set out in its constitution by which charter has been approved and granted, will be the scientific study of problems incident to the legitimate conduct of the oil business, the information beneficial to citizens of the Permian Basin, and the carrying on of a program of education and such other activities as may be beneficial to all interested, directly or indirectly in the oil business.

"All persons who sympathize with the purpose of the Permian Basin association are eligible for membership," the officials stated.

Pointing out that strength and success of the association depends on representative membership by a large number, the campaign to secure members throughout the area served will be started, with the first drive being made in Midland, where headquarters offices are located. Need of an organization where business men of all walks of life may band themselves together to protect and demand their just rights in furthering the development of the great Permian Basin territory was pointed out.

Such activities as equalization of taxes, proration and all legislative matters affecting business or homes of Permian Basin residents will come under work of the organization.

Armistice 21 Years Ago Was Signal
For 'The Boys' To Start Coming Home

When Armistice came 21 years ago to end the World War, its greatest significance to Colorado Citizens and Mitchell countians was that "the boys are coming home" and that other boys and men who had been numbered by the draft wouldn't have to "go."

Only those who are less than 25 can fall to remember how Colorado City received news of the Armistice: The downtown marching with schoolchildren bearing torches, the burning of the Kaiser in effigy, the firing of anvils, the ringing of the firebell, the thanksgiving services that were held.

Demobilization of U. S. troops in Europe was begun almost immediately. England was to be cleared first, some 18,000 troops being stationed there.

First boys to come home to Colorado City were Grady Newman and Donald Sheaf of the Marines, and Tom Nunn of the navy who arrived during the last two weeks of January, 1919. Both Newman and Sheaf had seen service overseas, both had been wounded, and both were on 20-day furloughs, being due to return at end of that time for further treatment. Jim Nunn, who had been with the U. S. fleet when the German navy surrendered, had come home with Tom, but only on furlough. Tom Nunn would therefore have been the first Colorado City boy to be discharged after the Armistice.

Sheaf, Newman, and Tom Nunn were treated royally by the town. They were heroes wherever they went, and they had to make many public appearances and many more speeches. The first party was given for them at the home of Mrs. H. C. Landers. Receiving guests at the door of the home was a woman whose son wasn't coming home—Mrs. J. G. Merritt.

There was much said and written about plans for the civilian future of the returning soldiers. Some suggested that each should be given a piece of land, others that they should be used to fill all available government jobs. The only thing the soldiers were sure of, however, was the $60 given to each on his discharge.

A lawn reception was held at the J. C. Prude home on the evening of May 23 to honor all returning soldiers. Flags, bunting, service flags, and a myriad of lights decorated the lawn. J. Lee Jones and his band played. J. H. Greene was master of ceremonies. One of the main speakers was a Capt. Brooks of Big Spring. Other speeches, songs, butterfly dances, and quartets made up the program.

But the biggest welcome of all came on July 4, 1919. It opened with a big parade that morning, returned soldiers marching in uniform while the band played.

Gaily draped with flags and the colors of patriotism, the tabernacle was the setting for the day's program, of which Dr. P. C. Coleman was master of ceremonies. Mayor C. M. Adams welcomed the boys home, and Chas. C. Thompson of Loraine, who had joined the army from Simmons college, responded.

A bounteous "Victory Dinner" was served on the courthouse lawn at noon. In the afternoon Joe Roddy, a returned soldier, led the singing of war songs. A historical pageant directed by Mrs. J. H. Guitler followed. Joe Earnest was Uncle Sam, Lorena Smith was Columbia.

Evening events were a band concert and a dance at the skating rink, located across the street south of where the postoffice now stands.

Shell Supervisors
Hold Area Meeting
At Colorado Hotel

W. H. Shelley Presides At Dinner Closing Conclave Wednesday Evening

Some 60 supervisors for the Shell Pipeline company in the West Texas-New Mexico area gathered at the Colorado hotel for one of their regular meetings Wednesday afternoon and night.

E. P. Sears, general superintendent from the St. Louis office which is general headquarters for this area, was one of the main speakers.

W. H. Shelley, superintendent of the area office here, presided at a dinner held in the evening. Feature of the dinner hour was a motion picture showing production activities in West Texas oil fields. The picture was shown through courtesy of Al Grobel, of Big Spring, president of the West-Tex Oil company which is the Shell's distributing agent in this area.

FAIRVIEW FACTS

The Cubs met Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. O. L. Simpson with seven members and several visitors present. The boys enjoyed games directed by their Den Chiefs, L. A. Strain and Wendell Willis. Refreshments of hot chocolate and marshmallows were served by their Den Mother, Mrs. Simpson. The Cubs will meet on Tuesday instead of Friday, Nov. 14, with Mrs. E. S. Fisher.

The attendance at Sunday school was on the increase Sunday. We had 76 present in comparison to 48 the Sunday before. We were glad to have some of our old members back with us.

The social given by the P.-T. A. at the schoolhouse Saturday night was well enjoyed by everyone. There were about 50 present. The adults enjoyed games of 42 while the children were entertained with Bingo and the young people enjoyed various games under the capable direction of Mrs. L. A. Strain. If you enjoy these entertainments tell your P.-T. A. program chairman about it. After the social the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Badgett to welcome Mrs. Badgett to our community. Oranges and candy were passed around to all the guests.

The Boy Scouts met in their regular meeting Tuesday night. Most of the Scouts were present and they are progressing nicely with their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hale and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Badgett and son were here Saturday from Stanton visiting in the W. H. Badgett home.

Mrs. Irvin Wright of Lamesa and Mrs. Dave Womack of Cuthbert spent Tuesday night in the H. A. Pond home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Womack, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Strain returned Saturday from a week's hunt in Weed, New Mexico.

W. C. Berry, C. C. Berry and B. W. Jackson returned Monday from a deer hunt in New Mexico. They were fortunate enough to bring back a deer each.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck McMillan spent the week-end here with relatives and friends of Midland.

Wibur Saunders of the Lowe community visited several of the boys in our community from Friday until Sunday.

Miss Floy West spent Sunday with her parents at Haskell.

KEEPING UP WITH COLORADO GIRLS AT TSCW

By Ruth Marian Elliott
A special bus to Dallas sponsored by Sanger Brothers carried Erna Lou Merrill, Lina Laura Smith, and Grace Doss shopping recently.

Erna Lou Merrill and Elizabeth Taylor were visited by Corinne Wilson of Stanton, formerly of Colorado, who is planning to attend TSCW next semester.

Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt spoke before a crowd of 4,000 at the dedication of the Chapel in the Woods Wednesday, November 1, Wednesday evening the first lady of the land described "A Typical Day at the White House" and completely captivated her audience with such a gracious manner.

Illustrating his observations of deep sea life near Bermuda with a series of animated cartoons, William Beebe, scientist, lectured Friday on "Five Hundred Fathoms Down."

Mrs. L. B. Elliott spent the week-end with Ruth and relatives in Denton while Frances witnessed the Texas-S.M.U. game in Dallas with Bob Battle Saturday.

The girls in Lowry Hall are having a time keeping ahead of one another in the number of telephone calls they have received. Grace Doss seems to be first at the present, but she has a close rival. Good luck, Graceful!

Mary Etta Motley and her roommate were given a Saturday night feast to celebrate their birthdays.

NOTES ON COLORADO
CITIANS AT H-SU

By the Snopper
"The snopper" didn't get the news in last week. I guess everyone knows by now H-S-U led the game to Loyola 6-0. We made it up Friday night at Odessa by defeating Arizona State 19-7.

Last week I had a little gossip from across town from McMurry. It seems that Clyde Gregory has been keeping company with Adeen Fry a lot lately—to a certain Sweetwater girl's disappointment. So last week during a party at McMurry, Adeen was "called" to the phone and the Sweetwater girl grabbed Clyde and disappeared, leaving her Sweetwater boy friend to escort Adeen home.

Getting back to H-S-U campus, Frances-Merie has the freshmen well trained; they seem to think she is an upper classman and she whistles and they jump. Good work Frances, keep it up. We want to extend our congratulations to Madrine Hammond (better known as Hamey) as a nominee for H-S-U Campus Queen. Marjorie Burgess is back on the campus and we are certainly glad to see her again. Take good care of yourself. See!

Last Monday morning a group of students and the Cowboy band met the Sunshine special to welcome the football boys home again. Monday night we had a big Halloween carnival which drew a big crowd and thrills and caused lots of excitement on the campus. Tuesday night Mary Frances Hall made history. Miss Head and her little prisoners chartered two special buses and attended the midnight show "The Man Who Couldn't Be Hanged."

Thursday the campus was thronged with about 1500 high school band members to hear the United States Navy band. The program was simply marvelous. It was really swell to see Colorado kids' bright and shiny faces and those new flashy uniforms.

Friday the B. S. U. or Baptist Student Union students from all over the state started coming in and making this their home for the three days during the State convention. Friday night they had a big chicken barbecue behind Mary Frances Hall. Students were here from T.S.C.W., Howard Payne, John Tarleton, State University, T. C. U. Mary Hard-Baylor, Baylor, Rice, N.T.S.T.C. and several other colleges, but the rage of all feminine hearts was the 35 uniformed boys from A. & M. Some of the interesting sights were the Cowgirls in uniform catching all the boys' eyes and the Cowgirl band in uniform being the object of their affection and posing for many pictures to carrying out the western idea. It was lots of fun having all these new students here visiting the campus.

We had as our main speaker Charles A. Wells who illustrated his talk as he went. It was really an opportunity of a lifetime to hear him. The program was one of inspiration to all who attended and many went home with the desire to live better Christian lives.

Funeral Today
For Young Son
Of T. E. Greens

Funeral for Bobby Earl Green, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Green who live on the Bill Cook farm east of Colorado City, is being held from Kiker & Son chapel at 4 p.m. Thursday (today). Burial is to be in the Colorado City cemetery.

The child had been ill for two months and had been in a local hospital for the past week. He died at 6:35 a.m. Thursday.

Survivors in addition to the parents are a brother, Roy Edward, eight months, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Green of near here and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Gefts of Colorado City.

Kiker & Son had charge of funeral arrangements.

MRS. ARNETT IMPROVED
Mrs. Sam C. Arnett, Sr., of Lubbock was reported Thursday morning to be somewhat improved in the Lubbock hospital where she has been receiving medical and surgical treatment. She has been critically ill.

Relative of Local Persons Killed

Lon C. Hoover, 60, Dallasite who was fatally injured when his car overturned south of Big Spring on the Garden City road Saturday night, was a nephew of J. T. Candier and a cousin of Lawrence Candier, both of Colorado City.

Death of Mr. Hoover occurred in a Big Spring hospital early Sunday morning. The body was carried overland in a Kiker & Son ambulance to Dallas, where funeral services were held Tuesday morning. Survivors include the wife, two sons, and a daughter. One of the sons, Winfield S. Hoover, has a traveling job and headquarters at Candler courts when working this area.

FIRE DESTROYS FRANK CROWNOVER'S PICKUP
The pickup of Frank Crownover was destroyed in a fire Tuesday night caused from a short in the wiring of the horn. The upholstering was burned and the glasses were cracked. The fire truck was called to the fire and their quick response extinguished the fire.

MOVEMENT TO CONSTRUCT CITY PLAYGROUND
The Loraine business men headed by Dr. Johnson made a drive last week for funds to fence the city park and turn it into a general playground and athletic field. Dr. Johnson says the campaign for funds is very satisfactory and a few more donations will be necessary to start the work. Anyone who has not contributed should see Dr. Johnson immediately.

SURPRISE BREAKFAST
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crownover honored her sisters, Miss Annie Jarratt and Mrs. Marian Mahon with a surprise breakfast last Tuesday morning. At sunrise a birthday breakfast was served for Miss Annie Jarratt, with Mrs. J. J. Land, Mrs. I. J. Pierce and Miss Billie Ruth Young as guests. The table appointments were candles and china.

At 8 o'clock a second breakfast was served honoring Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mahon's seventeenth wedding anniversary. Guests were Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Shewbert and Betty Anne. At this table the appointments were fiesta pottery and candles.

HIGHWAY WIDENING NEARS COMPLETION
According to the contractor in charge of construction in widening the highway through Loraine this section will be complete by the last of this week. Traffic was turned onto the east half Monday while the crew is nearing the finish line on the west end.

BLANCHE ROSE WALKER CIRCLE MEETS
The Blanche Rose Walker circle met in the home of Mrs. W. H. Riden Monday afternoon with eight present. Mrs. Thornhill brought the devotional. The group enjoyed an interesting lesson on "Soul Winning," led by Mrs. J. L. Jarratt.

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY NEWS

Two hundred sixteen students from 30 states other than Texas and six countries other than the United States are among the Baylor University student body of 2350 this fall, according to figures released recently from the registrar's office. Countries include China, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Brazil, Hawaii and Russia. The states are as far distant as Vermont, Florida and California.

Baylor University law school seniors have voted to do it again this year—dress in a black suit, white shirt and black string tie each Friday. The tradition began many years ago, back in the more aristocratic Harvard requirement of the gold tipped cane also.

Baylor University's Baptist Student Union became the first B. S. U. in Texas to gain Southside "First Magnitude" recognition this year when the final requirements were reached last week, Royce Thompson, president of the local union, announced. This is the third consecutive year, following a lapse of 10 years, that Baylor has merited the recognition. The information will be used in the first annual meeting for the development of technical-industrial teaching in Italy and the first exhibition of didactic motion pictures, the letter said.

Dean E. N. Jones of Baylor University revealed recently a letter received from Venice, Italy, asking for information on teaching procedure in the Baylor school of business. The information will be used in the first annual meeting for the development of technical-industrial teaching in Italy and the first exhibition of didactic motion pictures, the letter said. "We are given to understand," one paragraph read, "that you display a large action in preparing young people who intend devoting themselves to economic activities and to the organization of the production. We should like therefore to get a wider knowledge of your teaching activities."

Only law school in the southwest and one of three in the nation to offer its students a course in medical jurisprudence is the Baylor University law branch, Dean T. E. McDonald announced.

The course, taught by Dr. W. L. Crosthwait, Waco physician, is intended to help the legal and medical professions better understand each other, assist the lawyers in use of medical terms while handling a case, and in familiarizing the lawyer with public health problems to aid for the best legislation in the field.

At the conclusion of Dr. Crosthwait's series of lectures, a local judge will address the class on the lawyer's attitude toward the medical profession.

University of Michigan and Columbia University are the only other schools offering the course to Dr. McDonald's knowledge.

Valley View Visits

The P.T.A. will meet Friday night and we want everyone in the community to attend.

Mrs. J. I. Thomas and Mrs. B. B. Shelton were in Abilene Saturday.

Mrs. Ruby Conout of Snyder visited her sister Mrs. Bobbie Pope this week-end.

Miss Oultra Cross visited her father and mother in Big Spring over the week-end.

All ladies interested in basketball team come to the schoolhouse Friday afternoon. We will organize a team and get started practicing as we want to make our team one of the best in the county this year.

Mrs. Briggs Owens is on the sick list this week. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Poe Burleson and Miss Vera Burleson gave Mrs. R. E. Walker a shower Friday afternoon. A nice crowd attended and she received a number of nice useful gifts. Refreshments of cocoa and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Walker who live on the Hudson farm, entertained some of their friends Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Simmons, little Gaynell and Peggy, and Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Shelton were dinner guests of the Chester Harb's Sunday.

The boys at the schoolhouse have gone into the contracting business. Sealed bids for cleaning off the tennis courts have been turned in by different contracting teams.

W. A. Dulin was a dinner guest of the Jim Nunn's Sunday.

Our schoolhouse has been wired and will have meeting Wednesday night for the purpose of explaining the REA requirements.

Mrs. Benj. Scott and Helen Nunn attended church in Colorado Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillian Creghed were visitors in the Guy Lulin home Sunday.

Christine Thomas of McMurry spent Sunday with her parents. Chista and Kenneth Hoover and some friends attended the football game at Sweetwater Friday night. Mrs. Buster Jones had an opera-

Deer Hunters Bring Back Unusual Story And Three Bucks

Bringing back Mitchell county's first venison of the fall as well as a deer-hunting story unusual enough to make the front page of the Albuquerque Journal, Will Berry, Chester C. Berry, and B. W. Jackson of Riverview, N. M., returned Monday from a week's hunting in the mountains of New Mexico.

Each had a buck—one eight-point, one ten-point, and one twelve-point. The story they brought back was of a deer vanquished by a member of their party in a desperate "hand-to-hand struggle." The deer-conqueror was Siebert Bonner, former Mitchell countian now living in Riverview, N. M.

Bonner had started up a crest to bring back a buck which B. W. Jackson had killed when a deer which had been wounded by hunters farther up the hill appeared on the crest and attacked him. For more than 200 yards Bonner, holding onto the deer's antlers, wrestled with him. Members of the hunting party witnessed the struggle, but feared to shoot because of the danger of striking Bonner. Finally Bonner bulldogged the deer and brained him with a rock.

A leg wound had evidently maddened the deer so that he attacked Bonner ferociously, trying to gore him. Will Berry said Monday that only Bonner's heavy leather coat saved him from serious injury or perhaps death.

The sensational 18-year-old Davis twins in a revival. Now in progress at Assembly of God church Fifth and Cypress streets. Services each evening at 7:15. Special singing by twins will be a feature of each service. The twins are very popular over the state. They have traveled over 35,000 miles and have conducted 18 revivals since the first of the year. Darrell and Doyle have also appeared on neighboring radio broadcasts.

Lecher Appeals Court Injunction In Eastland Court

Injunction granted by Judge A. S. Matzney to close Harold Lecher's Rainbow Inn in west Colorado City several months ago is being appealed by Lecher and was presented before the 11th court of civil appeals at Eastland last week. No decision has yet been announced by the higher court.

Judge Matzney granted the injunction after a 32nd district court jury had rendered a verdict declaring that Lecher was operating a public nuisance because of his alleged sale of beer and whiskey in a dry territory. It was provided that Lecher could reopen after posting bond, but that bond would be forfeited if the sale of drinks continued.

Another similar injunction was granted in district court here last week in a charge naming a business operated by Mrs. Lucille Ledbetter in east Colorado City.

Truett Barber, district attorney, presented his brief and oral argument in Eastland last Friday. He points out that district court has only jurisdiction to grant injunctions on the public nuisance basis, but does not have authority to enforce liquor laws or prosecute for liquor violations, since these are now enforced by county court or the state liquor control board. Such violations are now classed as misdemeanors, whereas district court has criminal jurisdiction only in felonies.

Jeween dolls made with orange colored all-day suckers and black and orange crepe paper. Then games, suitable for the occasion were played and awards were given to the best player in several contests. Popcorn was served at a late hour and the game of "Shut-Eye" was next in order. But very little sleep was there for anyone as it seemed as if those ghosts were still present (for we had seen plenty). Everyone enjoyed this party very much and are looking forward to another such occasion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Orb Walker and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wiggins and son, Mavis Webb, Leta Yarbrough, Juanice Bruce, and the hostess.

Alma Ruth Collier entertained her Sunday school class with a Halloween party Tuesday night. Everyone reported a good time with plenty of ghosts present. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anders and daughters Louise and Eula Fay visited Mrs. Anders' father and mother at Camp Springs Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Orb Riechburg have moved to Segoville, Tex., near Dallas. We regret very much to lose them from our community. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bruce and daughters visited with J. H. Bealy and family Sunday afternoon. Both the Webb and Thompson families have been away the past week at the bedside of Mrs. Webb's and Mr. Thompson's father who was injured by his horse falling on him. We are glad to report that he is much improved this week. Mrs. Retha Honea of Lubbock visited her mother, Mrs. J. D. Yarbrough and family Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wiggins visited Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McKee Sunday. Alvie Redden visited his mother and father Mr. and Mrs. Jim Redden over the week-end. He is a senior in the Teachers' College at Canyon. Mr. Non Jarratt and children visited in the Luther Anders home Sunday night. Miss Lois Sisson visited her parents in Abilene over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anders entertained a number of their friends Friday night with a supper honoring Mr. and Mrs. Orb Riechburg who are moving. Chicken and dressing and all the trimmings were served and from all reports everyone enjoyed it very much. The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and pot plants. Various games and radioing were forms of entertainment. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Garland Cary and children, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cope and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Walker and daughters.

Henry, pictured above, world traveler, artist and magician, is the featured vaudeville act with Harley Sadler's tent theatre, coming to Colorado City for a one night engagement Thursday, Nov. 16th, under the auspices of the American Legion. Henry has been creating a sensation this season with his Hopi Indian sand paintings, said to rival masterpieces of art. With only a few bowls of brightly colored sands, under an inclined easel, Henry creates scenes of beauty in less than two minutes. In addition to being an artist, Henry is a magician of ability and his part of the program is said to be very amusing, entertaining and baffling. Other vaudeville acts this season with Harley Sadler are Jesse Rogers, well known radio entertainer from station XERA, Jeannie Layne, acrobatic dancer, Virginia Goodman, blues singer, Eddie LaVerne, accordionist, Billy Heath, singer, The Musical Battens, eccentric musicians, and a 10-piece band under the direction of Bob Siler. The play to be presented in Colorado City is "He Couldn't Take It," a story of father and son, with Harley Sadler as "Dad," said to be his favorite part.

Legion Auxiliary Has Stood Consistently Behind Legion Undertakings Since 1920

Behind the Oran C. Hooker post, American Legion, in every undertaking for the past 19 years has been its auxiliary, which was organized in 1920, a short time after the post was established. Joe Y. Fraser assisted in the formation of the auxiliary. Mrs. J. G. Merritt was the first president, Mrs. T. J. Ratliff the first secretary, and Mrs. Jim Dobbs (now Mrs. J. A. Ferguson of Sweetwater) the first treasurer.

Mrs. Tom Hughes and Mrs. Jim Dobbs attended the second state meeting in Galveston. Mrs. Dobbs was made a district committee-woman at that meeting, and she called the district, then known as the sixteenth, to meet here. Mrs. Tillman Jones of Post, a state organizer, came and helped the women to get started on their work. Mrs. Jones, now a past state president, has remained one of the auxiliary's best friends through the years.

For seven years after the auxiliary's organization Mrs. Merritt was president. During this time she was a district chairman for two years and a vice-president of the fifth division for two years. She attended state meetings, as well as the national convention in San Antonio, to which she was an accredited delegate.

Mrs. Merritt was one of the hardest workers for the Legion hut when the post undertook its construction in the early twenties. She assisted in the breaking of ground. When the hut was finished the auxiliary bought rugs and furniture for the library, and here they placed trophies and citations, among the latter being a recognition for having acquired 64 members one year. They also bought dishes, curtains and chairs. While the hut was yet new, federated clubs of the sixth district held their annual convention there with Colorado City clubs as hostesses.

Mrs. Chas. Farris became president in 1929. Under her administration furniture was added to the hut and a good membership was maintained. She, Mrs. Merritt, and Mrs. Gilbert Quinney attended the Fifth Division convention in Brownwood. Mrs. Chas. C. Thompson served in 1930. Mrs. Roscoe Dobbs in 1931. Mrs. J. A. Ferguson in 1932. After Mrs. Ferguson came Mrs. Merritt again. She served until 1936, when Mrs. Benton Templeton was president. Again in 1937, 1938 and 1939 Mrs. Merritt served. Mrs. A. F. King has just been installed as 1940 president.

In 1938-39 Mrs. Merritt was again fifth division vice-president, and at the Waco meeting in September she was made state chaplain. Each Armistice since its organiza-

Twenty-First Armistice Anniversary Finds Local Legion Post Ready For 20th Birthday

This Armistice, which marks the end of the twenty-first year since the World War ended, finds members of the Oran C. Hooker post, American Legion, at Colorado City making plans to mark the post's 20th anniversary with a colorful celebration on Dec. 15.

The celebration is expected to draw a large attendance of veterans, including officers of the state Legion and Legion auxiliary. Howard Rogers, who was recently re-elected for his third term as post commander, is directing plans. When the post was first organized it had a charter membership of 16. The 1939 membership reached 97. The drive for 1940 memberships now underway is expected to push the number well over 100. The post now owns a $15,000 hut set in attractive grounds. It was built in 1923-24 and was free of debt by 1923.

Oran C. Hooker post was begun on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 15, 1919, when 16 ex-service men met at the courthouse to form a temporary organization, of which G. R. Quinney was elected chairman. Thos. R. Smith was instructed to apply for a temporary charter. Other veterans taking part in that meeting were J. Y. Fraser, Joe W. Humphrey, Harry Landers, Jr., Grady Newman, C. C. Pritchett, E. F. McEntire, Jack Helton, Dean Phenix, J. F. Quinney, Joe Pond, Joe B. Roddy, C. C. Head, H. P. Slagel, and W. L. Doss, Jr.

The post was named in honor of the first Mitchell county youth to die in service during the World War. Organization of the post was completed on Jan. 20, at which time 25 other names were added to the charter list along with the original 16. G. R. Quinney was elected post commander. Other original officers included Joe Y. Fraser as adjutant; Harry Landers, Grady Newman, and Jack Helton as the executive committee.

Constitution and by-laws were drafted by Joe H. Smoot, Clarence Duhan, Floyd Quinney, and D. H. Donnell. Commanders of the post have been as follows: 1920, G. R. Quinney; 1921, Joe Y. Fraser; 1922, Thos. R. Smith (resigned during year and unexpired term filled out by Fraser); 1923, Jack Helton; 1924, H. P. Ragan; 1925, J. B. Pritchett; 1926, Chas. C. Thompson; 1927 and 1928, J. S. Williams; 1929 and 1930, Roy Warren; 1931, A. P. King; 1932, M. J. Bransfield; 1933 and 1934, Howard Rogers; 1935, John T. Howell; 1936, Floyd Quinney; 1937, Earl Ebby; 1938, 1939, and 1940, Howard Rogers.

Adjutants have been: J. Y. Fraser, W. H. Jeffress, L. B. Elliott, W. E. Shields, C. C. Pritchett, J. S. Williams (two years); Joe Y. Fraser, 1923-1930; B. L. Templeton, 1931-32; Albert Hiser, 1933-1935; James Herrington, Clarence Cook, and Albert Hiser, 1936-1940.

Present officers in addition to Rogers are: Vice-commanders, H. B. Derryberry of Loraine and L. E. Gressett of Westbrook; post finance officer, J. S. Williams; post chaplain, Lee Strain; post service officer, Joe Y. Fraser; child welfare chairman, Judge A. F. King; sergeant-at-arms, H. I. Berman.

Jim Cantrill's Sugarbeet Contest More Than Unusual

Growing sugarbeets in West Texas is in itself unusual, and growing them in flowerbeds is more unusual, so it appears that friends of Jim Cantrill, Colorado City oil man, have accomplished something or other in growing sufficient sugarbeets in their flower beds to make a 10-pound sack of sugar.

It all started when Cantrill and Frank Kelley, head of the Magnolia company's land and lease office here, visited Cantrill's early boyhood home at Lakin, Kansas, several months ago. Sugarbeets grow well around Lakin and there's a sugar refinery at Garden City nearby.

Now, Jim Cantrill usually looks at land with oil in mind, but this time he thought of sugarbeets. He decided that if sugarbeets would grow around Lakin, Kan., they ought to grow around Colorado City.

Consequently, several of Cantrill's friends received sugarbeet seed last spring and with them Cantrill's promise that they would be a prize for the best and biggest sugarbeet grown.

Sugarbeet seed forthwith went into flowerbeds belonging to Dick Billingsley, Bob May, P. K. Mackey, Jimmie Kelley, Mrs. Frank Kelley, Mrs. A. L. McSpadden, Mrs. Bill Oswalt, Jenks Powell, and Mrs. Neal Prichard. Cantrill planted some himself.

The contest is over. The sugarbeets grew, and Mrs. Neal Prichard came out winner. She has the prize. The whole group has equal interest in a 10-pound sack of sugar. And Jim Cantrill has the consolation of knowing that if there is a sugar shortage in the future, nobody can blame him.

Midland Airport To Be Dedicated Nov. 18

MIDLAND.—Plans and arrangements for the ceremony dedicating the new Midland Municipal Airport on Saturday afternoon, November 18, from two until four o'clock, are fast nearing completion, present indications being that one of the largest crowds ever assembled here will attend the program.

Dedicatory address to the airport will be made by the Hon. R. Ewing Thomason, U. S. Congressman, with other well known speakers also being scheduled to appear on the program. The Midland high school band possibly other musical organizations will be presented during the dedication program of which John W. House, Midland oil man, is in charge.

Numerous army and commercial planes of various types are expected here for the occasion, the planes to be on exhibition during the afternoon. Several planes will be piloted here from Houston by Texas National Guard officers on a cross country flight. Several commercial organizations have also announced that they will have ships at the airport that afternoon.

A free dance in one of the large hangars at the airport will feature the Saturday evening entertainment, arrangements for the dance, sponsored by the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce, having been completed last week. A banquet will be given the visiting pilots and army officers earlier that evening.

Man For Whom Legion Post Named Buried Here With Honors In 1921

One of the most impressive funeral services ever held in Colorado City was that which marked the re-burial of Oran C. Hooker, first Mitchell county boy to die in service during the World War, in the Colorado cemetery on June 9, 1921.

Because he was the first Mitchell county boy to die in service, Hooker's name was adopted by the local post of the American Legion when it was formed in 1919.

Hooker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hooker of Colorado City, was among the first American troops to cross the Atlantic for service in France. He was in Company A, 117th Supply Train. His death occurred on Dec. 11, 1917, at St. Blin, France, while his company was under marching orders from Vaucaliers to Ralamont. He was buried at St. Blin. Death was due to natural causes.

His body was brought back to the United States in 1921, arriving here on Wednesday night, June 8, 1921. The funeral was held from the residence of the parents with Oran C. Hooker post of the American Legion in charge. Rev. C. L. Browning of First Methodist church officiated. The procession was more than a mile in length, the longest ever seen in Colorado City at that time.

CUTHBERT NEWS

Doris June Hendricks of Hobbs, N. M., came Monday to spend the winter with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hendricks.

Mrs. D. M. Womack and Betty spent the week-end with Mrs. Ervin Wright at Lamesa.

Mrs. Alva Lewis who was seriously ill in a Big Spring hospital was able to come home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred York and children of Westbrook visited Mrs. Ada Edwards Sunday.

ATTEND MOSLEY FUNERAL

Here from out-of-town for the funeral of Porter Mosley last Thursday afternoon were the following: Mrs. C. A. Goldsmith, Mr. E. P. Cowden, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cowden, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith, Mrs. Frank Elkins, Mrs. Will Elkins, Mrs. Terry Elkins, Lula Mae Elkins, Mrs. John Haley, and Fannie Bess Taylor, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Marion, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. War-Time Issues Of The Record Show How Thrills And Glory Of War's Beginning Became Heart-Breaking Realism Before The First Armistice Was Achieved

How the thrilling glory and frenzied patriotism that marked the beginning months of the World War in Colorado City and Mitchell county became drab and heart-breaking realism during the long months before the first Armistice is recorded vividly in issues of The Colorado Record for that period.

Entrance of the United States into the World War on April 6, 1917, twenty-two years ago, startled The Record, then edited by the late A. H. Weston, into using its first two-column war story in many months.

"House Approves War Resolution" read the headline of that story on the front page of The Record dated April 6, 1917. The resolution had been passed by the senate two days before, after congress had been in special session only two days.

Except for that one story however, one could have read almost the entire remainder of that issue of The Record without knowing that there was a war.

Jesse Blair's comedians were here, and one of their offerings was "Lena Rivers." Mrs. Vernon Castle was playing at the opera house that week in part two of her movie serial, "Patria." There had been three weddings of interest—Rhoda Hastings and Clyde Wilson, Lona Herington and Ed Jackson, Bruce Aycock and Annie Humphrey. The Wes Allens had moved to Ochiltree county. Colorado Bargain House advertised Easter hats. Ethel and Olive Greenwood, Austin Roundtree, and Earl Price had attended the wedding of Cora Roundtree in Plainview. A Helen Holmes thriller was showing at the opera house.

Only a scattered few paragraphs, tucked away here and there, carried ominous meanings. W. O. Davis, R. R. Smith, and W. L. Alexander had joined the navy. A recruiting office for Citizens' Military training camp had been stationed at the chamber of commerce.

All this was very different from the way war news was handled in The Record when the war first broke out in Europe in 1914. For months after the war began the Record's entire front page was devoted to war news, with sometimes two or three two-column stories under black headlines.

SINGING CONVENTION POSTPONED

For the first time in its history, the county singing convention was "postponed." A statement made by W. L. Doss, president, and other officers including J. E. Stowe, Earl Jackson, A. J. Smith, H. A. Beights, Carlos Jenkins, and Geo. Goodwin explained that the postponement was due "to the general condition of our country and nation at large, incident to the state of war in which we are engaged, also the extreme high cost of living and the general disturbed unrest of our people."

It is significant that the convention was postponed only until September 2.

Bill Hastings, Jim Nunn, and Jim Williams had enlisted in the navy and were in training in Illinois. Grady Newman was at the Port Royal, S. C., barracks.

By May 11 the food conservation meeting had been held, with Mrs. J. R. Collier as president, Judge Bullock as first vice-president, W. A. Dulin and T. H. Roe as other vice-presidents, Nelle Riordan as secretary, Mrs. H. B. Broadus as treasurer. Included on the executive board were Mrs. J. G. Merritt and Mrs. A. L. Whipkey.

Clarence Pritchett was in training in Port Royal, S. C., by that time. Richard O. Williams was in the navy at Boston. Robert Shepherd, son of the J. L. Shepherds, was going into officers' training camp.

FIRST DRAFT

News of the first draft, with age limit from 21 to 30, was published on May 18.

The thought of sending American soldiers to France was not at all a bitter thing in those days. Judging from an editorial which The Record for May 18 reprinted from the Little Rock Gazette, "We could fill the ranks . . . with high-class recruits . . . who would enlist quickly if they knew they were soon to be in the thick of the war. The American flag on the front line in France would send a thrill throughout the world."

By May 25 registration centers for the first draft had been set for Mitchell county, with registration to take place on June 5.

Churches began having patriotic programs. . . . Flag emblems were carried by The Record on its front page and its editorial page.

DROUTH PINCHES DOWN

Drouth was pinching down and items telling of this or that father going off to "find work" until "unfortunate local conditions" had changed were increasingly frequent. . . . But to the drouth as such there seemed to be as little direct reference as possible. . . . Now and then there was a supposed-to-be funny story about somebody's rain predictions. . . . "There are but two leading topics of conversation," read a small editorial paragraph, hidden away among the ads. "The first word of morning salutation is, 'Well, no rain as yet,' and the next is likely to be, 'Well, what's the latest news from the seat of the war?' When these two banalities are passed, the conversation withers like a wet rag."

The first draft netted 743 names in the county. . . . Each name had a number, and in each of the nation's 4,557 registration districts numbers were similar.

In Washington blindfolded men drew capsule numbers from a huge glass bowl, and the men whose names corresponded to these numbers all over the nation were on the list from which the county's quota was to be secured. . . . Mitchell county had a list of about 216 names.

TROOP TRAIN PASSES

In late July the passing of a long troop train from the west took "practically the whole population of Colorado to the station on a dead run."

Colorado City was to furnish about 16 men in a motor trucks company being formed in Big Spring. . . . On a late July night the boys were sent to Big Spring with a stirring band concert for farewell. . . . They were returned home with orders to hold themselves in readiness for a "call to duty." . . . They were summoned in a short time to Fort Worth.

In August a Surgical Dressing Society was organized with Mrs. J. R. Collier as president, Mrs. Merritt as publicity chairman. . . .

WAGONS HAUL CAKE

Wagon for hauling cake to keep life in drouth-stricken cattle on Mitchell county ranges were drawn up to the platform of the freight depot every day, an editorial in the first August issue said. . . . It was admitted that the drouth of the past two years had been the "most serious" in the country's history.

New Western Auto Supply Store Will Open Here Monday

Official Opening Of New Enterprise Set For November 18

One of the outstanding events in Colorado City's recent business history will be the opening of the new Western Auto Associate Store, owned and operated by William Talbot north of the Pritchett grocery on Walnut street.

The new store will be open for business Monday, Nov. 13, but Saturday, Nov. 18, will be official opening day. A number of special prices are promised by Mr. Talbot for the opening.

Mr. Talbot is from San Antonio, where he lived for 24 years and where he was formerly associated with W. K. Ewing company in real estate and loans. He and his wife are located in the home of Mrs. W. M. Moseley on Hickory street. They have a son in Central college at Fayette, Mo.

Most car owners in this vicinity are familiar with the Western Auto Supply company of Kansas City, Mo., because this is the firm that used to send out so many of the little catalogs known as the "Auto Owners' Supply Book" offering attractive prices on practically everything needed for an automobile. It is the oldest and largest organization of its kind in the world, founded in 1909 and now operating more than 200 stores all over the United States, which were formerly the exclusive outlets for many of its well-known brands of merchandise.

Now, however, the company is wholesaling these products to more than 1200 individual merchants throughout the country, enabling them to offer the public this same merchandise with an established reputation for quality at money-saving prices.

The Western Auto Associate Store here in Colorado City will carry the same general line of supplies, accessories, and tools, including such well-known brands as Davis Deluxe tires, Wizard batteries, Bueltone radios, Rubber-Coat top dressing, etc., hitherto offered only at the big city stores.

It is stated that the new store offers the largest and most complete stocks of auto supplies and accessories in this city, also radios, bicycles, sporting goods and a varied line of hardware items, all at prices that compare favorably with those of the big company-owned stores. Every item is of selected quality and backed by Western Auto's guarantee of "Satisfaction or Money Back."

John Deere Mechanic Takes Special Course

Lawrence Long, service man for the Gracey Sisters John Deere agency, is spending this week in Stamford attending a special John Deere Mechanic school. Classes at the school are designed to refresh knowledge of older methods used in keeping John Deere implements and tractors in their best working order, and to present at the same time, the newer methods.

Loraine Boy Elected To Scholastic Society

ABILENE.—W. F. James, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. James, of Loraine has been elected to the Abilene Christian College chapter of Alpha Chi, national scholastic society. Good scholarship and character as well as scholarship are essential qualifications for membership. Initiation ceremonies were held Tuesday, Nov. 7, in the drawing rooms of Zellner hall on the A. C. C. campus.

SURVEY GROUP HERE

Eight men connected with an oil company core-drilling crew recently located in Loving, N. M., and Andrews moved into Colorado City last week to make headquarters while working in this area. Several of the men have families. The group includes Will Rider, Chas. Burkett, Will Elliott, Thos. Meadows, Jack Masters, Morell Beard, Will Dugan, and H. C. Shriner.

MOVE FROM UVALDE

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nagle, formerly of Uvalde, are now living in the Ben Cooper home on Hickory street. Mr. Nagle is tester for the highway department at the Col-Tex refinery.

VISITS AUNT

Little Jerry Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richardson, is spending this week with his aunt in Sweetwater.

VISIT IN HAMLIN

Mr. and Mrs. Boy May and Bobby spent Sunday with Mr. May's people at Hamlin.

LEES TO FORT WORTH

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Lee left Monday afternoon for Fort Worth, where Mrs. Lee was to receive medical attention. Her mother, Mrs. E. L. Biggerstaff of Childress, is here with the children.

COURTHOUSE TO CLOSE

All offices at the Mitchell county courthouse will be closed Saturday in observance of Armistice Day, it has been announced.

MOTHER DIES

Funeral was held at Prairie Grove, Ark., Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. J. E. Bristow, mother of Obie Bristow of Big Spring, who is well-known locally both as an oil operator and a sportsman.

HERE TUESDAY

Visitors in town Tuesday were Mrs. Delmar Korp of McAllen and her father, Tom Smartt of Baird. Mrs. Korp will be remembered here as Ruebelle Smartt.

PETE SMITHS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Smith of Royalty visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McKenney of Iatan from Tuesday until Thursday.

WAR-TIME ISSUES

Following the draft, the government launched a "roundup of slackers," with a view to prosecution.

In mid-August there was some optimism regarding the drought. Buford had had an inch rain. Cuthbert likewise. "Little by little, in increasing showers, the rains are returning," said The Record.

Dr. T. J. Ratliff and the exemption board were in almost continuous session after the draft.

John L. Quinney, son of G. F. Quinney of Colorado City, was with the first expedition to put the American flag on the battle line in France.

A second call had to be made by the county draft board in the latter third of August to fill the county quota.

By early September, 1917, the quota of 73 plus 10%, had been filled after 147 youths and men had appeared before the Mitchell County Exemption board.

FIRST CALL COMES The first call for 5% came that week. Unwilling to select the four men to fill this first call, the board asked for volunteers.

These men responded and encephalitis on Friday morning, September 7, for Camp Bowie at Fort Worth: Junius Merritt, Bill Williams, Roscoe Dobbs, and Andrew Wright.

Additional calls, increased to 30% were to be filled Sept. 19 and Oct. 3. Among volunteers who were in service from Mitchell county at the time of the first call were:

Marines—Gilbert Quinney, Grady Newman, Joe Roddy, Clarence Pritchett, Lloyd Quinney, Donald Sheaff, and John Worrell.

Navy—T. W. Nunn, Alfred Fuller, A. D. Smith, W. O. Jackson, Gardner Hargrove, Frank Pond, Peter Eudy, Jeff Smith, Roy Everett, Jim Nunn, William Hastings, Richard Williams, H. O. Smith, and Chris Boswell.

Army—Geo. Hunter, Harry Landers, Miller Mitchell, Stanley Van Tuij, Anthony Van Tuij, Shep Shelton, Frank Robinson, Aaron Hooker, Willie Key, J. B. Henley, Wayne Cook, J. R. Riley, C. H. Womack, E. S. Womack, D. M. Womack, and Homer Simpson.

Aviation—Carl Phenix, Vance Phenix.

Leon Springs Training Camp—Robert Shepherd.

Truck Company No. 4—Roy Dozier, Herman Griffith, J. B. Pritchett, Henry Enderly, John Majors, Dean Phenix, Chester Campbell, R. Powell, Cullen Powell, John Berry, John Brown, Ben T. Webb, Oran Hooker.

Willie Key, The Walters, Charlie White, Lister Ratliff, Floyd Quinney, and B. D. Lee.

Lists of volunteers from Westbrook and other points were not obtainable. The Record explained.

"We do not know whether any Mitchell county boys are in France yet or not," The Record said, "as such news as this is not given out. The Truck Company No. 4 is on its way to 'somewhere,' and it is supposed that they will be sent directly to France and put to training behind the lines. . . . May the God of war watch over these brave young men."

That same week The Record carried editorial comment on the suicide death of Dr. A. H. Weston, its editor for many years.

There was also an editorial on the caravan of east-bound wagons, drawn by underfed animals, which had been passing through Colorado for "the past 30 days." The drought was unabated, except for "light showers that have at least caused a few turnip patches to be planted."

FIRST SERVICE FLAG The town's first service flag was raised on the lawn of the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Ratliff. . . . It had two bars, one for the son, Lister, a volunteer, and another for Dr. Ratliff himself, who was "waiting for orders" as a lieutenant surgeon in the medical corps.

In mid-September 55 West Texas men went on trial in Abilene on charges of "conspiracy against the Federal government."

FIRST BIG CALL FILLED Twenty-nine Mitchell county men left on Friday night, Sept. 21, in response to the second call from draft headquarters. . . . On this list were: Jas. H. Wathen of Lorraine, Pinkie G. Fuller of Colorado, Will Watson of Lorraine, James H. Everts of Cuthbert, Allen G. Birmingham of Colorado, S. E. Hallmark of Lorraine, Alonzo Strain of Cuthbert, Albert E. Brooks of Cuthbert, John D. Estes of Westbrook, Luther E. Hagood and Russell E. Kidd of Lorraine, Clarence G. Wright of Colorado, Thos. H. Nunn of Lorraine, Roy Allmond of Colorado, Luther T. Reese and W. C. Davis of Colorado, Jack H. Cosper of Colorado, Willie B. Matthews of Westbrook, Jas. P. Felts and Charlie Horn of Colorado, Maurice G. Walkup of Colorado, N. B. Haggerton of Lorraine, Samuel E. Meadows of Lorraine, Chas. Sporer and Arthur L. Holder of Lorraine, James H. Finley and Hugh K. Saddler of Lorraine, James G. Waters of Colorado, R. E. Birmingham.

To "bid the boys Godspeed," citizens of Colorado gathered at the tabernacle on Friday evening before the boys left. . . . L. W. Sandusky made a speech, as did Dr. P. C. Coleman and others. . . . The women had prepared lunches, keep-sakes, and "comfort kits" for the boys. . . . "Prof." J. Lee Jones and the band played. . . . Boy Scouts and Campfire girls were conspicuous. . . . And at the close of the program the boys marched to the train, with the town literally behind them. . . .

The third group of Mitchell county boys left on Monday night, Oct. 9. . . . A program was held at the flag-decorated Christian church before their departure. . . . There were 33 of them, but The Record did not publish their names. . . .

FIRST SHOT FIRED On Nov. 2, 1917, The Record carried the news that American troops were "at last" in the front line trenches. . . . The artillery had fired its first shot at 6 a. m. on the morning of a recent day, and the shell from that shot was to be sent to President Wilson.

Gasoline went so high that many Coloradans put their cars "in cold storage." . . . Letters from boys in training camps were printed in nearly every issue. . . . The death of T. H. Roe, who had resigned as chamber of commerce secretary a short time before to be succeeded by J. H. Greene, was recorded. . . .

Although The Record stoutly maintained a "the worm will turn" attitude on its editorial page, the editor let himself go in one small paragraph in mid-November:

"The continued death and frequent sandstorms have almost knocked the staying qualities from under this journalist. . . . Bacon, that erstwhile plebeian diet of benighted Samba, has risen to fabulous prices and is now one of the epicurean delicacies. . . . Oh, if this cruel war would cease and the warring nations live in peace, and we could get rich enough to eat another slice of fried meat!"

RED CROSS WORK The Red Cross acknowledged receipt of the third box of supplies sent out by local workers. . . . Included in the box were gauze dressings, handkerchiefs, napkins, wash cloths, shoulder wraps, bed shoes, tray covers, pillow cases, knit mufflers, knit sponges, pajamas, and other articles. . . . Organization of the local Red Cross chapter was then in progress.

That organization was completed on Tuesday night, Nov. 20, 1917, at a meeting in the Methodist church. . . . Officers elected were: Judge J. H. Bullock, chairman; Dr. P. C. Coleman, vice-chairman; Mrs. M. K. Jackson, secretary; T. W. Stone-road, treasurer; Rev. W. P. Garvin, Mrs. F. M. Burns, and Mrs. V. W. Allen, executive board. . . .

Meanwhile, the War Relief Department of the Needlework Guild of America was doing good work, with Mrs. B. S. Van Tuij as president and Elsie Hooper as secretary. . . . Red Cross work rooms were secured over the F. M. Burns store by J. C. Prude. . . .

Gradually the society page of The Record had lost its party headlines and its study club headlines, these being relegated to a brief column. . . . Typical society headlines of early December, 1917, were: Red Cross Theatrical Party. . . . Red Cross Knitting. . . . Gauze Work. . . . Hospital Garments. . . . Offering for Armenian Sufferers. . . . A favorite game at children's parties was "Swatting the Kaiser."

LIBERTY LOAN CAMPAIGNS Campaigns to sell Liberty Loans and War Saving Stamps were getting underway. . . .

Thanksgiving passed, with a great scarcity of turkey and food-laden tables. . . . Christmas came—a Christmas, The Record admitted, of hard times, discouragement, war and worry. . . .

Most of The Record's social page that Christmas season was devoted to a copied editorial in which an able writer tried to reconcile the war as waged by America and the allies with the "Peace on earth, goodwill to men" of Christmastide. . . .

"It is Christ himself who, sword in hand, leads the Allied armies," read the editorial. "His spirit—the spirit of compassion, pity, unselfishness, and love—burns in the hearts of these troops that are holding back the Kaiser's hordes. . . . But in spite of hard times and the sadness of war, there were Christmas entertainments at all the churches and at the schools. . . .

GRIEF COMES AT CHRISTMAS In the grim irony of war and depression, Christmas week brought home to Mitchell county for the first time the deeper grief of war. . . .

News of the death of Oran C. Hooker in France from natural causes was received from Washington on Dec. 22, although his death had occurred on Dec. 11. . . . He had sailed for France in November. . . .

Death came on Christmas Eve at 8:30 to Junius Merritt, oldest son of the J. G. Merritts. . . . Ill of flu, he came home on Christmas leave from Camp Bowie. . . . Pneumonia developed and his death followed. . . .

And so, with editorials everywhere predicting an early end to the war "as soon as the Germans see the might of the American army," 1918 was born. . . . All the January issues of The Record that year devoted their entire front pages to the War Savings Stamps campaign. . . .

Early in February the town staged a womanless wedding Red Cross benefit at the opera house. . . . Eleanor Coleman was Joan of Arc. . . . Lois Prude and two soldiers home on furlough, Jim Smith and Harry Landers, did a tableau. . . . Another tableau was Mrs. J. L. Pidgeon as goddess of Liberty, Dr. T. J. Ratliff as Uncle Sam, Henry Doss, Earl Jackson, J. E. Stowe, H. E. Grantland, and Mrs. Van King as European countries. . . .

L. W. Sandusky was master of ceremonies. . . . Those taking part in the wedding were Allen Soper, Kirk Ratliff, Corley Bozeman, Roy Farmer, Tyos, Dewes, B. S. Van Tuij, Stansil Whipkey, J. E. Stowe, Judge J. H. Bullock, J. P. Ehrlich, Sam Majors, S. D. Vaughan, Sam Wulfen, Myrtle Vaughan, Guy B. Duff, J. A. Sadler, L. W. Haynes, J. C. Prude, Thos. R. Smith, E. Keathley, W. R. Charters, Jerold Riordan, H. L. Hutchinson, E. H. Winn, Earl Jackson, W. W. Porter, R. P. Price, J. H. Greene, Milburn Doss, Boyd Dozier, Edgar Majors, and E. F. King. . . .

MEATLESS, WHEATLESS DAYS The first week in March brought a boxed notice of "Food Regulations" on the front page of The Record. . . .

Mondays and Wednesdays were to be wheatless days. . . . Tuesdays were to be meatless days, with the exception of fish or fowl. . . . All supper were to be wheatless. . . . Sugar was limited to 1 1/2 pounds per person each 15 days. . . . Each town consumer "aid buy but 12 pounds of flour at a time, while but 24 pounds of rye could be had. . . . For every pound of flour one must also buy a pound of flour substitute. . . .

Four more Mitchell county volunteers were listed in March, these being Albert J. Hiser, Madison G. McCarty, Malon E. Compton, and Wyse D. Cooper. . . .

VOLUNTEERS DIE In mid-April it had been ascertained that three of the four drafted boys who volunteered to fill Mitchell county's first quota were dead. . . . Bill Williams had been lost when the transport Tuscania was torpedoed off the Irish coast. . . . Andy Wright had been killed in a motorcycle accident at camp leaving Roscoe Dobbs, who was then in the front line trenches, as the only survivor of the group. . . . Dobbs was later wounded in the arm. . . .

In latter April a war relic exhibit was brought to town on a special T. & P. train. . . . Showing at the opera house was the "Zeppelin's Last Raid."

DROUGHT IS BROKEN "West Texas Drought Broken" read four-column headlines on the front page of the May 10th issue. . . . It had commenced raining in Colorado City on Thursday night of the preceding week at 9 p. m., a slow drizzle. . . . The rain continued until Saturday. . . . Apparently, the moisture was general over West Texas. . . .

But caution demanded that The Record refer its readers to the fact that there had been a good rain over the county early in May of the preceding year, and it had come to naught. . . .

"Mitchell county will while the daylight's out of Bill Kaiser with a bumper crop yet," it was predicted. . . .

A list of those Mitchell countians who had bought bonds in the third Liberty Loan campaign was published. . . . The total was $42,000. . . .

RED CROSS ROLL On May 20 a big rally was held at the Courthouse to raise the county's Red Cross quota. . . . The rally followed a parade showing all phases of Red Cross work. . . . Total for the county was $6,315.20, over $4,500 of which was pledged in 30 minutes. . . .

Throughout these months The Record carried but little war news from the front, considering the fact that war was the biggest news. . . . But its columns were filled with War Savings Stamps and Liberty Loan propaganda, Red Cross work, timely editorials, with frequent printings of the list of Mitchell county boys in service. . . .

That the seriousness of the European conflict was being realized fully in mid-June was indicated in a front-page editorial which contained this paragraph: "Stern, terrible facts are driving us to action. . . . The greatest battle of the war is raging. . . . America is awakening; its heart is on fire. . . .

Three groups of Mitchell county boys were sent to camp during July, the groups totaling 55. . . . Crowds still followed them to the station and there were still speeches, but the celebrative spirit of earlier leavings was missing. . . .

As August began there were 293 Mitchell county boys in service. . . . NEW DRAFT ANNOUNCED The new draft ages of 18 to 45 were announced in mid-August. . . . In mid-August also the first U. S. war film came to town—"Pershing's Crusaders"—and showed at the opera house. . . . Brooks Bell, chairman of the Mitchell County Exemption board, died in a Dallas hospital in August. . . .

Registration for the second draft took place on Sept. 12. . . . All September issues of The Record were devoted to Liberty bond appeals—"To Arms, Citizens!" . . . Advertisements showed soldiers in France with the admonition, "Fight With Him!" . . . More than one space was devoted to "Remember the Tuscania" theme. . . .

ALLIES MAKE GAINS Stories of major gains made by the Allies took up the front page of the Oct. 4 issue. . . . "Americans Capture German Colonel—Illinois Troops Advance six miles in a Single Day," read one deck of the black headlines. . . . "French Get St. Quentin, Burning Cities Reveal Hun Intention to Start a General Retirement on the Western Front. . . . Bulgaria Quits the War on Terms From Allies. . . . Hindenburg Line in Picardy Wrecked—Allies Permitted Free Passage Through Bulgaria—German Communication With Turkey is Broken. . . .

It was reported that a peace demonstration had taken place in Berlin. . . . The enemy was said to be withdrawing from the Arzonne Forest on the Americans' left. . . .

Men and women of Colorado held separate Liberty Loan drive meetings that week, Mrs. J. G. Merritt being in charge of one, Dr. P. C. Coleman of the other. . . .

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC Everything halted in mid-October, however—schools, shows, churches, Liberty bond rallies, every kind of public gathering. . . . Spanish influenza had struck the town and had reached epidemic proportions. . . . There was illness in practically every family, and in some instances whole families were ill. . . .

The casualty list in Colorado became more alarming than any casualty list from the front had been locally. . . . Obituaries dotted the Record columns. . . .

In spite of all this, Mitchell county went "Over the Top" in the fourth Liberty Loan drive. . . .

A news item reported that Hall DeCarlo had been commissioned as a corporal before the age of 18. . . . Corporal R. H. Ratliff wrote to venture that the home town was probably a "dull place" but would "liven up" when the boys came home. . . .

The influenza quarantine was lifted the last week in October. . . . More rains fell that week, too, furthering the breaking up of the long drought. . . .

Corley Bozeman and William W. Moeser left the first week in November to enter training. . . .

Names of the following were called for November 11: Wilt Hines, Herman Elmes, Ollie T. Bird, Ed Zellner, Jas. T. Chambers, Gray R. Taylor, Mark Bynum, Ellis C. Grant, M. Lambeth Moody, Clarence R. Gross, James W. Webb, and John M. Payne. . . .

"Next week," The Record stated in its issue for Nov. 8, "we will print the full registration list." . . .

November 11 was set also as the beginning of the greatest "United War Work Campaign" in the nation's history. . . . And so Nov. 11 was a significant and much-emphasized date even before it came to pass. . . .

ARMISTICE The story of the Armistice was carried in The Record for Nov. 15, 1918. . . . "The World War," it said quite simply, "ended at 5 o'clock Monday morning Nov. 11 with revolution in Germany and with Wm. Hohenzollern a fugitive from his native land. . . .

Because of two false Armistice reports, received between Thursday, Nov. 7, and Monday, Nov. 11, Colorado City waited to make sure before celebrating the true report but when certainty had been established the town broke loose. . . .

Church bells and the old firebell rang. People sang and shouted as they marched in a torchlight procession down dusty main street. The kaiser was burned in effigy. Anvils were fired and speeches were made. People laughed and people cried. The flag waved high. . . .

The war was over, the drought was broken, "the boys" were coming home. . . .

Only 19 months had passed since war was declared, but in those 19 months something which was to endure for generations to come had happened to the "glory of war."

Cagney and Priscilla Lane Coming In "Roaring Twenties"

STORY BY MARK HELLINGER IS SAGA OF MOST FABULOUS ERA OF MODERN TIMES

The Palace theatre's parade of hits which began so auspiciously with such outstanding films as "The Old Maid," "Espionage Agent," "Dust Be My Destiny" and "On Your Toes," continues in full swing with "The Roaring Twenties," co-starring James Cagney and Priscilla Lane, which will show there Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

Based on an original story by Mark Hellinger, world-famous author and columnist, "The Roaring Twenties" deals with the exciting and incredible events of that fabulous period from the end of the World War to the stock market crash in 1929. During no other period in the history of the world was there such a revolutionary change in the manners and customs of the people, such a rising tide of prosperity, or such complete lawlessness. It was the decade of the gin-mill, the speakeasy, the flapper, flaming youth, bootleggers and gangsters. There could be no better authority for this story than Hellinger who was covering the news for his syndicated columns all during the period.

The film opens at the close of the war. Cagney, a returned veteran, finds that his job as a garage mechanic is no longer open. To make a living, he turns to taxi-driving, but when the Prohibition Act is passed he finds an easier way—making and selling bootleg liquor. The film depicts his rise from a small-time bootlegger to a big-time racketeer. Rising with him are his two wartime buddies, played by Jeffrey Lynn and Humphrey Bogart. Bogart is in the racket with him as a henchman, while Lynn handles the legal end. Also on the rise with him are Gladys George, as the night-club proprietor who first set him up in the bootlegging business, and Priscilla Lane, as a young singer with whom he is in love. Priscilla and Lynn fall in love, and Lynn breaks away from the unsavory connection with the bootleggers. The crash comes, and Cagney loses everything but the one taxicab that Bogart, now a big shot himself, has scornfully given him.

Prohibition is repealed and the bootleggers look for new rackets but Cagney still drives his cab. Meeting Priscilla again, he learns that Lynn, now in the district attorney's office, has had notes from Bogart threatening his life if he doesn't drop the racket investigation he is carrying on. She appeals to Cagney for help, and his answer to her plea forms the thrilling climax to the film story.

Authentic in every detail, "The Roaring Twenties" is essentially a true story of the era, for although the story it tells is fictional it has its parallels in the lives of hundreds who rose to the heights of power only to be smashed into oblivion in the great crash.

Besides the players already mentioned the cast includes Paul Kelly, Frank McHugh, Elizabeth Risdon, and many others. Raoul Walsh directed from the screen play by Jerry Wald, Richard Macaulay and Robert Rossen, based on the original story by columnist Mark Hellinger.

Raft In "Jekyll-Hyde" Role For "I Stole A Million"

Something quite akin to the role that won Fredric March his Academy award—his "Jekyll-Hyde" portrayal—is that enacted by George Raft in his co-starring Universal picture with Claire Trevor, at the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday.

At the peak of their careers, Raft and Trevor both were said to be intense in their desire to give to this picture their very "all" in performance. They said they believed in it because they foresaw a mass understanding of its theme.

"I Stole a Million" is based upon the fact that there is a little bit of Jekyll-Hyde in all of us and that it is possible for destiny to tangle the skeins sufficiently to give the Hyde influence a shade too much power.

As the man who stole the million, Joe Lourik—George Raft has the outstanding role of his career. There were really two Joe Louriks. Just one man, but two characters.

One was warped by fate. The other tried to hide him and live straight—that he might enjoy life, and love.

The compound interest that usually follows a debt we owe society, however, mounted in Joe Lourik's case to such huge proportions that he found the wrong side of him far outdoing his Jekyll nature.

The crash that was inevitable is the basic story of "I Stole a Million," directed by Frank Tuttle under Burt Kelly's production.

Dick Foran as the romantic third party, Henry Armetta as the comedy relief, and Victor Jory as the menace, head the superlative cast which Universal provided for this unique theme of a man's fight for love against society the wrong way.

It reaches its great heights, according to the critics, because of its simplicity of understanding and naturalness.

Great Public Demand For New Chevrolets

DETROIT.—Public demand for the new 1940 Chevrolets, introduced in the company's 8,600 dealerships throughout the country Oct. 14, has hit a record high for immediate post-announcement orders, it was announced here today by W. E. Holler, general sales manager.

Mr. Holler reported that the new cars have won instant approval of the car-buying public, interest being expressed not only in the offerings as a whole, but in individual models of the most comprehensive line ever introduced by Chevrolet.

"Never before in my experience have I seen such a heavy demand for all models of the new car," Mr. Holler said. "The unusually strong backlog of orders built up during the pre-announcement activities has been further bolstered by purchasers who were simply waiting to get a glimpse of the new car before selecting model and color."

"Ordinarily, of course, we expect liveliest demand for the two-door and four-door sedans. This year, not only are the sedans in great demand, but buyers are asking for many more of the other models than in previous years. Especially popular is the four-passenger coupé, introduced by Chevrolet last year and further refined and made roomier in 1940. Station wagons too have won widespread public approval and are in great demand."

Mr. Holler pointed out that "eye appeal" has had much to do with the acceptance of the new 1940 Chevrolet line. "The new cars," he said, "represent a greater improvement in styling and design than Chevrolet has ever previously attempted to make in one year. Numerous mechanical improvements, already acclaimed by drivers of the new Chevrolets, bear out the reports of the engineers that extensive refinements have been made in the 1940 chassis and power plant."

New car orders are being handled as rapidly as possible, Mr. Holler said.

REA Project Will Supply 41,000 Man Hours Of Labor

The $145,000 rural electrification project recently secured for Mitchell and Nolan counties by the Lone Wolf Cooperative Electric association will provide nearly 41,000 man hours of employment, according to information received from the rural electrification administration.

Provided for in the project are about 194 miles of lines to serve 494 members in the two counties. R. A. Brister is project superintendent. Crews are now busy staking the lines and securing wiring and meter location agreements. Bids on construction of the lines are to be opened here Nov. 24 at 10 a.m.

Cottontails Defeated By Westbrook Cubs

Handing out a defeat to make up for one which they had to take the week before, the Westbrook Cubs defeated the Colorado Cottontails 7-0 on Cantrill field Saturday morning in a game arranged by Truett Fulcher of the city recreational department.

Westbrook's tally was made in the first quarter after the ball had been carried to the 40-yard line by Mills, passed from Skelton to Bob Bassham for 30 yards, and again from Skelton to Bassham for the touchdown. Skelton made the extra point.

Roster for the cottontails included: Albert Dahlem, Harold Dillard, Hubert Bean, Charles Dillard, Billy Carter, Glen Womack, Cummings Wood, Jimmie Gain, Gene Parkham, Denmon Rhea, Robert Joe Womack, Bobby Royce Rhea, Don Keith Shepherd, Douglas Crout, Weidon Hardegree, Don Knapp, Bob Craig, Ocie Lambeth, Doyle House, Billy Gene Carter, and Herman Moon.

Roster for the Cubs was: James Lindsey, Jack Oliver, Travis Idlehart, Jess Mills, Tommie Taylor, Robert Methron, Jack McKenney, Laverl Kite, C. P. Carey, Thomas Conaway, Bobbie Gainey, Billie May, Robert Baskin, Herbert Hardcastle, Billie Cosby, and Lynn Doyle Boston. The teams will play again Saturday morning if the weather is favorable.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

Both love and brutality are world wide. From the time Cain asked the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" down to the present man has been and still is just that. He is his brother's keeper to the extent that he is able and has opportunity. He may deny it, but his denial in no way changes the truth that such is his duty—his God-commanded and love-demanded duty.

There is rebellion against God nowhere else in the universe than in the heart of man; and rebellion against Him means man's murder of his brother and his own suicide. So long as this rebellion lasts, just so long will man mistreat his brother and cause inhumanity and discord. And man knows nothing better than he knows this.

He knows absolutely that obedience to the Golden Rule would establish peace and harmony among men, inspire happiness and eliminate in large measure even disease and mental and physical suffering.

America was able to put an end to the World War, but how about putting an end to lawlessness in our own land? This can never be done by the use of police and constabulary, jails and penitentiaries, exclusively. Education, both as to moral, spiritual and material things, is absolutely essential. And the best and most effective work in the inculcation of the proper instruction is not in the schoolroom altogether, but in the home of the child, where he should receive most valuable instruction from his parents.

Differences of opinion, scientific, political, philosophical and religious, should in no case and in no way affect man's love for his neighbor.

Until men realize that righteousness is an economic principle, as well as a spiritual prerequisite, they had about as well forget that there can be hope for such a thing as the brotherhood of man.

God has bound men together with ties, social, fraternal, economic and spiritual. Thus men are no independent, but interdependent.

"Which now of these thickest thou was neighbor to him that fell among thieves?" and he said, "He that showed mercy on him. Then said Jesus, Go thou and do likewise."

ARMISTICE DAYS

"Keeping Faith"

To those who gave their life, their all—
That Democracy might come through,
On this great day, we keep the faith,
We pledge our loyalty anew.
"Standing Between"

1918-1939—And another Armistice Day has dawned. Twenty-one years since the armistice of November the Eleventh 1918, which suspended World War hostilities, was concluded by Marshall Foch and Admiral Weymss representing the Allied forces, with the civil and military authorities of the opposing nations.

It was the end of the war to end all wars. Peace, everlasting peace, what a reward for the years spent "mid shot and shell and War's dark hell."

Twenty-one years ago the gallant pulsing youth that had poured out of our nation, with all the patriotic fervor that only American youth is capable of, to help make the world safe for Democracy, laid down their arms and joined in the cheers that went "round the world—Armistice, Armistice!"

Twenty-one years, and the spring of youth in the step of those now graying lads is tempered by middle age, and the unshamed prayer in their hearts is that their boys, now men, may be spared the grim experience that they, the fathers, encountered in the flower of their young manhood.

Twenty-one years, and today, as the world "STANDS BETWEEN" the threatening god of war and the beckoning goddess of hope, the ravenous culture of conflict and the timid dove of peace, let not us, as a great nation, break faith with those who "STAYED BEHIND IN FLANDER'S FIELDS."

We get the word armistice from the Latin, a combination composed of "arms" plus "to stand still." Its accepted meaning is "a temporary cessation of hostilities, by convention," and the last twenty-one years have reminded us at every turning how pat and how pathetic that literal meaning is. The armistice of Nov. 11, 1918, has been shite literally a "temporary cessation of hostilities, by convention."

Today, twenty-one years after, the world is arming as never before for a conflict that will dwarf the one to which the armistice put an evanescent period.

RED RIVER DAM DUE TO ALTER SIX COUNTIES

The building of the Red River dam is the world's greatest project. Think of a 50 million dollar enterprise and as many of our readers do not realize its magnitude we reproduce E. M. Gray's article on its structure.

Construction of the $50,000,000 dam, which is well under way on Red River here, will work a great change in six Texas and Oklahoma counties. Employment for thousands will be provided for four to six years.

Clearing land for the damsite has been completed by the Schutt Construction Company, Genoa, Wis., employing 100 men and costing $18,327 for ninety days work. The Julian C. Field Company with two crews of men has completed a three-mile spur for the Katy Railroad from their main line to the damsite where they expect to haul 60,000 earloads of freight during construction of the dam. The Frisco Railroad will build a similar spur from Platter, Okla., to the site.

Work is under way on a contract for excavating 8,000,000 cubic yards of earth for the concrete conduits to divert the river while the dam is being built, later to be used for flood control and power. The Condon-Kerns Company has three shifts on the job, including night crews under floodlights, removing two thirds of the dirt. R. G. Aldridge, Kansas City, has his men and machinery on the other third. The Century Culvert Company, Denison, soon will begin construction of a temporary bridge across Red River, for use of contractors on the construction of the dam. This is a subcontract let by the Condon Company. Bids will be received Nov. 6 for constructing the reinforced concrete conduits that will cost several million dollars and will take two and one-half years.

There are 600 persons employed in the army engineer personnel and field units, headed by Capt. Lucius D. Clay, district engineer, and three other Army officers, Capt. James H. Stratton, Capt. Roland Brown and Lieut. John H. Anderson. Additional Army officers will be assigned to the Denison district as the dam project progresses.

INUNDATING FOUR TOWNS

Four towns will be inundated by the gigantic reservoir to be created by the dam. Aylesworth and Woodville, Okla., Hagerman and Preston, Texas, will be covered by water 130 feet deep. The government has appraised the land as they have needed it and little friction has arisen over legal and financial transactions.

The Denison dam will control floods from the Red River above Denison. The construction of the dam will provide benefits through the reduction of flood damages and generating hydroelectric power. Flood protection will accrue to lands in four states, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

Additional indirect benefits will accrue in the flooded areas as follows: Decreased losses due to elimination of evacuation and rehabilitation, together with a lessened disease rate, lessened interference with transportation and communication facilities, with the consequent interruption of orderly processes of business, and increased recreational facilities.

The Denison dam project will consist of a rolled earth embankment, outlet works, a concrete ogee spillway with a concrete-lined discharge channel and a power house. The relocation of railroads, highways and utilities within the reservoir will be necessary before the project is put into operation.

DAM TO BE 165 FEET HIGH

The main rolled earth embankment will be 14,000 feet in length and will have a maximum height of 165 feet. The crest of the embankment will be at elevation 670 mean sea level. The embankment will have a maximum base width of 1,150 feet and a crest width of forty feet. There will be 7,000 linear feet of dike with a maximum height of fifteen feet required to close a low saddle three miles north of the end of the main embankment.

A total of 15,500,000 cubic yards of earth fill and 810,000 cubic yards of protection stone and crushed rock will be required in the construction of the main embankment and dike extension.

The outlet works will be located within the embankment adjacent to the present river channel on the Texas abutment. It will consist of eight reinforced concrete conduits, with gate towers at the upstream end and a stilling basin, powerhouse and tailrace below the downstream ends of the conduits. Each conduit will be 1,000 feet long and will have an inside diameter of twenty feet. Excavation required for the conduits is estimated at 3,300,000 cubic yards; reinforcing steel, 24,000,000 pounds, and concrete 82,000 cubic yards.

TOWERS OF CONCRETE

The gate towers will be constructed of reinforced concrete and will enclose the gates and guides required to control the flow of water through the conduits. The operating equipment will be housed in the operating deck. Each conduit will be controlled by two 2x19-foot tractor type gates. Facilities including guides, emergency bulkheads and equipment for handling the bulkheads will be provided for emergency closure of the conduits. The stilling basin will be located below the downstream end of the flood control conduits, and will be separated from the powerhouse and tailrace by a concrete training wall.

The powerhouse will have an initial installation of two 33,000 k.w. units. It is estimated that the average annual stream flow has a volume of 4,300,000 acre feet, practically all of which would be available for the generation of power. The average net head on the turbine will be 104 feet. The upper limit of the power is filed at elevation 617. The estimated energy output with the initial installation of two units for an average year is 212,000,000 k.w. hours, while, the ultimate installation of four units, it is 274,000,000 k.w. hours. The power installation will be provided with surge tanks located between the conduit downstream head wall and the powerhouse.

2,000-FOOT SPILLWAY

A 2,000-foot concrete spillway will be constructed on the Texas abutment. The spillway crest will be at elevation 640. The discharge channel will be concrete-lined and will be contracted in plan from 2,000 feet in width to 700 feet as it approaches Shawnee Creek through which the discharge will be returned to the river 5,000 feet below the main dam embankment. The spillway channel will be paved for a length of 3,100 feet. The discharge of the spillway is 1,000,000 cubic feet per second. The concrete required in constructing the spillway will amount to 576,000 cubic yards.

The spillway will be ungated and entirely free of any constructions to flow. To replace the flow from the reservoir, the gated flood control outlets are planned. Normally, the flood control gates will be closed, utilizing all inflow for power production. During floods, all inflow in excess of that used for power production will be wasted through the outlets when the reservoir pool rises above elevation 617. The spillway crest elevation will be reached only when a repetition of a flood of the 1908 magnitude occurs which is the severest flood on record.

A system of flood warnings in the basin will be established for the purpose of furnishing information upon which the operation of flood control outlets will be based.

CAPACITY OF RESERVOIR

The total reservoir capacity will be 5,825,000 acre feet, which includes 1,020,000 acre feet for silt storage (river-bed to elevation 587), 2,060,000 acre feet for power storage (to elevation 617), and 2,745,000 acre feet for flood control (to elevation 640). With the outlets closed, an additional 758,000 acre feet are provided for flood control as five feet of surcharge over the spillway (elevation 640) will be required to discharge 75,000 cubic feet per second, which is the estimated bank-full capacity below the dam.

The reservoir formed by the Denison dam will, when filled to the elevation of the spillway crest, extend upstream along the main stem of Red River about eighty miles to the vicinity of Gainesville. A northern arm of the pool will extend about sixty miles up the tributary Washita River to the vicinity of Ravia, Okla. The greatest depth of this pool will be about 130 feet, and it will have a surface area of 127,000 acres. The maximum power pool at elevation 617 will inundate about 95,000 acres.

A considerable portion of the bottom lands within the reservoir limits is wooded. Present plans contemplate clearing approximately 37,700 acres to an elevation three feet above power pool, elevation 617.

MUST RELOCATE ROADS

Creation of the reservoir will necessitate the relocation of railroads, highways and utilities. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad will require 9.5 miles of new construction between Sadler and Pottsville. The St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad will require 18.5 miles of new construction between Denison and Ravia, Okla., and between Durant, Okla., and Madill, Okla. Highway 70 will require nine miles of new construction between Durant and Madill. Highway 90, Madill to Tishomingo, Okla., will require seven miles of new construction. The Madill and Kingston, Okla., to Marietta, Okla., road will require remedial work at four bridges located at House, Hauani, Wilson and Hickory Creeks.

In addition the reservoir will necessitate the relocation of some transmission lines of the Oklahoma Gas & Electric Company, telephone and telegraph lines of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, and pipe lines of the Standard Gas Company.

Construction of the Denison dam calls for such immense quantities of materials, that its magnitude can only be partially appreciated, even with the tabulated figures that read as follows: There will be 22,360 tons of reinforced steel, 3,600 tons of steel lining for power conduits, 485 tons of steel for conduit gates, 785,000 cubic yards of concrete, 22,830,000 cubic yards of earth excavation including borrow areas, 15,500,000 cubic yards earth for embankment, and 810,000 cubic yards rock and gravel for protection to embankment.

KEYNOTE TO IMPROVEMENT

The Denison dam is the keynote to the Red River Valley improvement. Smaller dams are planned for its tributaries, which in themselves will prevent minor floods and will increase evaluation of the lands they serve.

The dam at Denison will make possible the navigation of the Red River, providing a water freight route from the Middle West to the Atlantic Coast which would open the immensely rich iron ore field in the Jefferson area, which is said to be even greater than those around Birmingham, Ala., or in the great iron ranges of Michigan.

North Texas will be able to compete with its manufacturers in retail markets of the larger cities, through cheap water shipment that in turn will locate many factories along the river. It will move excessive products by means of cheap water rates.

The reservoir will create a sportsman's paradise through game and fish reservoirs along the tributaries to the Red River.

VISUALIZED FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The Denison dam for flood control and navigation was first visualized about fifteen years ago by George Moulton and the late Dr. A. W. Acheson of Denison, though power and irrigation and other benefits were subsequent benefits advocated.

In 1929 the Red River Flood Control and Navigation Association was organized at a meeting at Denison, when Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls was named president. Denison, Sherman and Durant carried on active organization work, however, and it was in the same year that O. N. Floyd and J. L. Loehridge of Dallas, private engineers, came to the support of the association by reason of an investigation they had made for private firms.

In the spring of 1931 R. B. Creager, Brownsville, Republican National Committeeman, was paid a fee of $1,000 to represent the organization in Washington but the project failed of advancement.

In April, 1933, Mr. Floyd, Mr. Moulton and others went to Washington to present the engineering viewpoint to Representative Sam Rayburn and Senator Morris Sheppard. Mr. Floyd prepared summaries and these were very useful to the Texas delegation in Congress in gaining attention for the project. Other trips to Washington were made by delegations from this area and in 1936 Congressman Rayburn secured an appropriation of $500,000 for the Army engineer survey which resulted in the congressional approval. Capt. Lester F. Rhodes conducted the survey and was sent to Denison early in the fall of 1938 to start a resurvey making the Denison dam a definite project which was taken over by Capt. Lucius D. Clay, later that fall, when Denison was made a district office with Captain Clay in charge of the territory from Fulton, Ark., to the New Mexico border, and from the Lugert project in Northern Oklahoma to the Denison dam in Texas.

DISTRICT OFFICE OPENED

Since Denison was made a district office $500,000 was appropriated for additional surveys; then in June, 1939, the government appropriated $5,600,000 for first year work on the Denison dam and reservoir, $500,000 for the Lugert-Albus reservoir in Oklahoma, and $75,000 for preliminary examinations and surveys on Red River and its tributaries. The last named covers projects now under advisement through studies of the Red River review report headquartered with the district office.

With the flood control and power dam under way at Denison, the next step being considered is navigation and already there is an adjunct to the Denison district office whose duty is to survey the upper reaches, making a complete review report of the Red River Valley. This survey embraces a number of previous reports and gives more detailed attention to the aspects favorable to navigation. A. M. Philleo of the Army engineers, is head of this department, working under Captain Clay.

SYSTEM OF DAMS

The history of Red River navigation claimed considerable attention of Captain Rhodes and his crew of engineers while they were making the survey of this region before submitting their recommendations to Congress concerning the dam for Denison. The Army engineers report as approved by Congress, recommended the feasibility of navigation for Red River, following the construction of the dam. Inasmuch as any new navigation system for the Red River would require flow regulation to furnish a dependable navigable improvement, the Denison reservoir would be of considerable benefit, the engineers said.

They suggested adequate depths for the year round modern barge navigation in the upper reaches of the river should have added facilities such as locks and dams. And the authorization of the bill covering the Red River system calls for smaller dams with the Denison project as the key.

● Thrifty housewives who keep a close check on expenses know that electricity is the biggest bargain of all household needs. They also know that the more electricity they use, the more they save in time, energy, add to the comfort of their home and protect the health of their family.

They know, for instance, that a penny's worth of electricity cleans the rugs in the entire house; that a few pennies a day is all it costs to keep food fresh and healthful in an electric refrigerator; that good light for reading costs only a penny or two an evening, and radio entertainment for a whole evening costs less than three cents.

When the end of a month comes around, they know that the cost of full use of electric service has averaged only a few cents a day, and is one of the smallest items of household expense . . . and the biggest bargain.

Here in America we are observing Armistice, a celebration feasting the end of the last World War. At present another World War is ravaging Europe. Will there be an Armistice observed there? More than likely not. Will there be an Armistice observed here a year from Saturday? That no one knows, but it is earnestly the hope and prayer of everyone that there will be. May this country forever hold its peace!

BOOK WEEK
 "Books Around the World" is the slogan for the 21st anniversary of Book Week which will be celebrated in more than 5,000 cities and towns, November 12-18. The purpose of the nation-wide observance of Book Week is to encourage the reading of good books.

The plans of our library include:
 1. An exhibit of teachers' pets—the favorite book of each teacher.
 2. A display of the most popular books in the library. Most popular books will be selected by student vote.
 3. Posters and bulletin boards will be arranged to give publicity to new books which have been purchased for the library this fall.

NO GAME FRIDAY

There was no football game last Friday and there is to be none this Friday. However, there is a football game this week, and it falls on Saturday afternoon. Yes, it is an Armistice observance. Everyone should be present as the game will be a good one. The Rotan Yellowhammers come down to combat the Colorado Wolves and may they help provide a fair and square game.

ARMISTICE PROGRAM

You were told that the seniors would hold a Thanksgiving program a few weeks from now. However, this seems to have been changed, and the program will be Friday the 10th with an Armistice theme. We hope it proves as entertaining as the Guy Lombardo half hour and the Tootsie Roll Quiz.

SPEECH PROGRAM

Now, it wasn't dry at all, was it? I'm sure you were sorry you couldn't skip assembly when you heard that the speech classes had the program. But really—it was very entertaining, intellectual, and amusing!
 Do I talk like that? I surely hope not. If you do, I hope you'll practice those exercises given. They will help you, honestly.

A few more programs of this type whether it be speech or physics would prove more profitable to all. More power and success to them.

FINAL FIGHTS

Last Thursday night the final fights sponsored by the junior class were held. Not only were the scheduled bouts run off, but a touch of comedy was added. At the end of the regular bouts, several boys entered the ring and to their surprise were blindfolded. If you can't imagine the confusion caused, just stop reading. This addition really gave the finishing touch of amusement, and everyone went home laughing. The proceeds of these fights went toward the 1940 Junior-Senior banquet. The entertainment derived from our money spent was honestly worth every cent of it.

FRIDAY ASSEMBLY

In our assembly Friday Mr. J. V. Glover made a few announcements. Then the sixth and seventh grades went to their home room, leaving the eighth grade to elect officers for the year. The president is Jack Reed; the vice-president is Betty White; the secretary is Ralph Mann; the treasurer is Betty Brown; the yell leaders are Dudley Bush and Betty Grubbs. We are very proud of our officers and hope they will be of some good to our school, and make our class an outstanding one.

WE SELL CANDY TOO

The fact that Mr. Lawrence Snively and his associates selling candy to the students of Junior High is a great help because it helps the school. The profit off the candy goes to buy books, balls and many other useful things. Mr. Snively always tries to have a variety of candy on hand, and if you buy your candy from the candy counter you will be benefiting the school as well as yourself.

WINTER DISARMED

90-hour threat ended by OIL-PLATING your engine today

You can probably agree that these are certainly conservative figures...
 — 4 or 5 months of nasty weather right ahead of you now
 — 8 or 10 daily cold starts for your car
 — 6 to 8 minutes per start, till your engine's near-warm

And yet even that can run up your engine's cold-weather "start-stretch" to right around 90 hours!... The foulest 90 hours that Gangster Winter could fire at your engine—your battery. And don't ever hope to halt him with motor oils whose biggest brag is "fast flow." That's not enough—and it's not your money's worth, considering that "fast flow" is mighty slow Winter lubrication compared to OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING in your engine will lubricate before any oil can circulate. That's because the minute you start up with patented Conoco Germ Processed oil it makes OIL-PLATING "magnetize" to all inner engine surfaces, so that it cannot drain down again. It cannot retire to the crankcase as you park the car. Like any other good plating, OIL-PLATING stays right where it's plated by Germ Process action—all over the working parts. They've "got on" their OIL-PLATING all the while you're indoors. They never "take off" their OIL-PLATING. When you come out to start then, your OIL-PLATING can't be delayed even 90 seconds—or one-ninth of a second! And away you go. The battery hardly knows it was working. And it's a good long while before the gauge-stick calls for an added quart of Germ Processed oil. Your Mileage Merchant has your right Winter grade. Change today—to that Conoco station of his. Continental Oil Company

Play, play, play, play alright; here comes the good news of another basketball game with Forsan Wednesday night at 7:30. This is our second game at home; so come all you people for our second home game. The football game sure turned out fine last Thursday evening with Coahoma. The score was 34-6 in Westbrook's favor. All the boys played a good game and we are very proud that the pep squad got to go along.

We are very sorry that one of our best players (Byrl Claxton) got his foot hurt in the game. He came to school Friday on crutches but is better now and can walk but still limps a little. Well, stay with them, Byrl, and be just as rough as they are.

Say, Rena, I surely think you have a good chauffeur! Why do you let other people drive your car to school? Is it because you can't drive any more?

Now Van just because your car starts that is no sign that there is not something wrong with it. Did you know that?

Halloween surely passed with a bang here at Westbrook. All the kids were nearly afraid to come back to school were they not, Gerald? Well I would not advise you to put a hen nest on Coach's front porch every night.

Now Jo Wynne you had better be very careful what you decorate because you might have to decorate something (a x-mas tree) you don't want to. You might have to wash a house instead of the person having it painted next time.

Some of the girls knowing what they think about them. I tell you boys now a lady is not what all of you think she might be. Now anyone might foul out when playing basketball, don't you agree with me, Smitty? Besides that, a girl has the same right to go spooking around in bushes as the boys do. Is that right Rena?

Some of the kids have been getting excited about the SEVEN D club. Well don't start that phoney stuff because you are not supposed to know that part of the business.

Virginia Beamon

JUNIOR NEWS

We wonder how Louise likes her new boy friend she found Halloween. We know how well she likes orange soda pop.

Did you see two Juniors crying in the hall Friday. Oh! Could it have been Chippy and Valerie? Say is it that serious Chippy? Or is it Men-tholatum?

Yes and we would like to know who scratched Joyce's nose.

In English class the short stories seem very bad because Mary and Myriene had to borrow someone's hankies. Do you suppose something else could have been wrong?

The Westbrook Wildcat's defeated the Coahoma Bulldogs last Thursday 34-6, and Verlynn was surely worried after the game. By the way, Byrl sprained his ankle could that be the reason?

A certain Junior girl and boy seem to have made a trade or rather a dare. Junior do you think you can manage, and Mary do you think you could go?

This is your Junior reporter signing off until next week at this same time.

SENIOR NEWS

Van Boston has really learned to use those big brown eyes of his. He can remember seeing people, but it takes him a long time to figure out where he saw them. Van if you're good at seeing, why do you come to school with your sock on wrong-side-out?

Now Georgia has the habit of turning up her nose when she sees a senior boy with some other girl. Now Georgia, I tell you for a fact, you can't court all the senior boys. I think Gerald made a real nice pick Saturday night, if it was a sophomore.

What I want to know is why everyone is asking Gennie and me (Skippy) if some certain guy found us Friday night—I'll tell you for sure, he found us—but he got the door slammed in his face a couple of times, but after all things turned out all O.K.

Now, Van do you reckon you saw Gennie Tuesday night, or just her feet?

Now someone is always talking about my driving (Skippy). Is it so unusual for me to drive a car? At least I've been driving for a year or so. I'll admit though I'm rather short for the job.

Van seems to be rather important in the news this week, but honest Van did you ever find out what caused your car not to run? When you started from the party? Well I know, they told me it was potatoes up the exhaust pipe.

Since our news didn't have a name for assistant editor has given it one, Virginia Beamon gave it the name of "Wildcat Scratch."

We hope that suits everyone. Howard Lee, how come you were absent from school the day after Halloween? I suppose it was the night of Halloween that caused it though. So as anyone doesn't know you, Van, and I won't tell anyone!

This is Skippy signing off till next week.

Roundup Directors Re-elected; Jones Is President Again

Financial Report Given As Annual Stockholders Meeting Held

All directors of the Colorado City Frontier Roundup association were re-elected at the annual stockholders' meeting Saturday night at the Colorado hotel and Otto F. Jones of the Randerbrook ranch was re-elected president for 1940.

Chas. C. Thompson, S. O. Wulfjen, and V. J. Richardson will be three-year directors, I. W. Terry and Jones two-year, P. K. Mackey and Earl Hammond one-year.

Wulfjen was re-elected vice-president. V. J. Richardson is replacing Hammond as secretary-treasurer. Harold Bennett will continue to be assistant secretary-treasurer.

Plans for the 1940 Roundup rodeo will be launched at a meeting of the directors in the near future.

Over 30 stockholders attended the meeting. Bennett gave a complete financial report. Thompson was chairman at the request of President Jones.

WOMEN IN THE STUDY CLUBS

Standard
Four examples of Dutch art were discussed at the Standard club's meeting with Mrs. L. W. Sandusky on Friday. Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson, Jr., was leader.

Refreshments were served at the social hour. The club will meet this week with Mrs. Hubert Smith.

Zetlagathian
"Art in the Home" was the program topic for the Zetlagathian club at the home of Mrs. Horace White on Friday.

Old masters were named during roll call to which 15 members responded. Two new members, Mrs. Turner Hibbets and Mrs. Brady Warren, were present.

Mrs. Sefton Pickens led the program, discussing pictures for the home. Mrs. Mary Lee Brown outlined the development of the art of painting. Modern art was discussed by Mrs. John Shropshire.

Mrs. Wm. Greene was a guest. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Mary Lee Brown.

Junior Self Culture
A program on American painters was given when the Junior Self Culture club met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Dell Barber with Mar-night. We learned very much. The meeting was very entertaining as well as educational.

Of Christ
To Open Morning

For Week Of
To Be Done
By D. Lee
Rotan

In readiness for the week's series of day meetings at the Church Sunday morning at the 11 a. m., according to L. C. Hester.

The meeting will be held at the Church of Christ, 11th and Commercial streets, from 11 a. m. to 12 p. m. on each day. Final services will be held on Sunday evening.

Members of the Colorado City Chapter of the Christian Endeavor Society, as a part of their program, will have a special service of Christ extend the invitation to attend any service.

Meeting Date
Dec. 6,
Announces

Members of State Commission to Meet

The annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday morning at the Chamber of Commerce, 11th and Commercial streets, at 10 o'clock, according to A. E. Brown, member of the state commission, is to be held on that date. The date was set by the commission, Helton states.

Matinee
November 24

The matinee being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at the Palace theater, Thanksgiving baskets for the needy will be distributed according to A. E. Brown, in "Fit For a King" at 2 o'clock.

LEE HOME
returned home Friday morning, where he had been since early in the month when he underwent surgery. He returned home the latter part of the week.

Will 'Last Thursday' To Be As Thanksgiving Locally

The traditional last Thursday in November will be observed as Thanksgiving by Colorado Citizens, a check-up made this week shows.

John E. Watson, superintendent of schools, announced some time ago that the school Thanksgiving holiday will be given over Nov. 30.

Business firms, the local bank, and other institutions have indicated to the Retail Merchants association that they will also observe Nov. 30, according to Mrs. Clarence Cook of the Retail Merchants office.

Joe Y. Fraser, postmaster, states that the postoffice will remain open on November 23 and close on November 30, since the latter date is the local choice for Thanksgiving.

Texas is one of the two states in the union where both dates will be observed, each taking its choice.

The other state is Colorado. Outside of these two "fence riders," the states are evenly divided between the traditional last-Thursday date and the November 23rd proclaimed this year by President Roosevelt.

Twenty-three states will observe Nov. 23, and an equal number will hold to the old date, with Texas and Colorado listed on both sides.

Softball Trophy
Given To Col-Tex

The softball trophy of the Lions club became the permanent property of the Col-Tex refinery at a recent meeting of the Lions club. Col-Tex won the trophy in 1938. When the league was not continued in 1939, the cup automatically became the permanent property of Col-Tex. It was won in 1937 by the Standard Oil Company.

Luther Scarborough received the award on behalf of the Col-Tex team, the presentation being made by Jack Christian, chairman of the Lions club softball committee.

To Hold Revival

D. Lee Hukel, of Rotan, who will preach for the Church of Christ revival which opens Sunday.

Birthday Brings
1,000 'Thin Dimes'
To Mrs. Thompson

Since her 64th birthday recently Mrs. John A. Thompson hasn't a thing in common with the fellow who hasn't "a thin dime," because she got a thousand of them, all of the thin variety, as a birthday gift.

The dimes were saved by two daughters, Mrs. Faye Sweatt and Mae Thompson, who own and operate a grocery store at Dimmitt. All the coins are over 30 years old and a majority of them bear the same date.

In counting out the thousand coins at the local bank, Gus Chesney, bank employe, found that they are about two-thirds the thickness of modern dimes.

Seven From Here To AAA Meeting

Seven Mitchell countians were among representatives from 39 West Texas counties attending an educational parley of the AAA in Big Spring last Thursday and Friday.

The seven included County Agent and Mrs. Joe C. Williams; Vara Crippen, county home demonstration agent; S. E. Meadows, W. T. Brooks, and A. K. McCarley, members of the county AAA committee; J. W. Holmes, county AAA administrator.

Wolves' Home Card
To Close With Roby
Game Here Friday

Game To Be Played At 3
O'Clock On Cantrill
Field; Wolves Now In Second 6-A Place

Closing their home football schedule, the Colorado City Wolves will play the Roby Lions on Cantrill field at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The Wolves are now tied with Snyder in second place in district 6-A. Snyder's one defeat at the hands of Roscoe last week being equal to the undefeated Wolves' two conference ties of the season with Roscoe and Loraine. Roscoe has a half-game margin, having the tie with the Wolves to mar its record.

Final game of the season for the Wolves will come when they play Snyder's Tigers at Snyder on Thanksgiving, Nov. 30.

Approval Given Soil Conservation District
For Mitchell County

Approval of a soil conservation district including all of Mitchell county and the watersheds of creeks crossing the county has been announced by the Texas Soil Conservation board at Temple.

This approval is tentative, however, pending the outcome of an election which must be held for landowners in the affected area. The election may be held up for some time due to a recent ruling by the attorney general that soil conservation elections must follow the pattern of other general elections, which would result in the incurring of expenses not yet provided for by legislative appropriation.

Cotton Loans Not Being Made Here Yet

Government cotton loans were not being made by Colorado City cotton buyers late Wednesday due to the fact that necessary forms and instructions were lacking.

Based on the location differential which is to be applied in this year's loan, the loan rate for Mitchell county will be 8.8 for 7/8 inch middling.

The loan will not apply to much of Mitchell county's 1939 cotton in the estimation of local cotton men. The cotton harvest is nearing completion and most of the cotton already harvested has been sold on the open market. One cotton buyer estimated that only about 2,000 Mitchell county bales will go into the loan.

Dr. Logsdon Attends Reunion Of Company

Dr. HARRY A. Logsdon was in Fort Worth Sunday to attend a reunion of the 90th division ambulance company with which he served overseas during the World War and of which he was captain at the close of the war.

The company gathered in Fort Worth Sunday following the close of the 90th division's reunion in Oklahoma over Armistice.

Armistice Crowd Huddles Through Steady
Drizzle To See Wolves Defeat Rotan

Huddling through two hours of steady drizzle, an Armistice day crowd saw Jack Christian's Colorado City Wolves defeat the Rotan Yellowhammers 6-0 on the slippery sod of Cantrill field.

The victory left the Wolves sharing with Roscoe the undefeated berth in district 6-A since Snyder bowed to Roscoe Friday night at Snyder. The Wolves' have tied two conference games, however, and have won only two, whereas Roscoe has won all its 6-A games except for one tie with Colorado City. Snyder and Colorado City are now tied in second place in the district.

First downs were 10 to 7 in favor of the Wolves. The game was scoreless at the half, the Wolf tally coming late in the third quarter after a long around-end run by Ross Glover. Wolf halfback, had placed the ball within scoring territory. A plunge and a short run by Jack Smith, fullback, put the ball over. Try for the extra point failed.

The Wolves lost two scoring chances in the first period, one when they lost the ball on downs on the Rotan 10-yard line, another when a pass from Quarterback Junior Cox to Burl Ballard, left end, slipped through Ballard's hands as he stood in the end zone. The wet ball made passing difficult.

Harold Bentley's shifty swiftness in the Rotan backfield was perhaps the Wolves' greatest worry. Flores Underhill, back, and Walter Fleming, end, also starred for Rotan.

Starting lineup: Colorado City: Ballard and Wood, e; Bodzin and Majors (capt.), g; Caffey and Hunter, t; Coker, c; Grubbs, qb; Glover and Neal, h; Smith, fb.

Rotan: House and Fleming, e; Durham and Day, g; Wortham and Ramby, t; Bentley, Hargrove, Underhill, and Smith, b; Curles, c.

Substitutes were Cox at quarterback for the Wolves, Nash and Kilgore at guard for Rotan.

Duck stamps are required of all waterfowl hunters over 15 years old. The duck season ends Dec. 29.

R. R. Lacey's
Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Lacey were in Dallas Sunday to attend the golden anniversary wedding celebration of Mr. Lacey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Lacey.

Open house was held at the home of Mr. Lacey's brother, D. E. Lacey, Sunday afternoon.

Activity In Sharon Pool Continues To Attract Oil Interest Of West Texas

Activity in the Sharon ridge oil field northwest of Colorado City in Seurry county continued this week to hold the interest of West Texas oil men.

Of special interest was the F. W. Merrick No. 1 McClure, which is proving to be the bigger air well in the history of the field, already famous for its "air-drilled" wells.

Air pressure developed in Merrick's well so rapidly and so violently that the tools were blown out of the well and then fell back in the hole. A fishing job is now on. The well is down to 1,375 feet.

Preparations were being made to shoot D. & R. Oil company's No. 3 McClure some time Thursday (today). It is located 660 feet due west of the firm's No. 2 McClure.

Whicats vs. the Brady Tigers. Admission will be 35 and 50 cents.

Criminal Cases In Limelight As Court
Term Completes First Half of Third Week

Criminal cases had claimed major attention as the fall term of 32nd district court in Mitchell county completed the early half of its third week Thursday morning.

Joe Hodges, charged with burglary as a result of his entry into the H. B. Spence home here a month ago, pleaded guilty before Judge A. S. Mauzey and was given two years imprisonment. Hodges was on parole from Huntsville when the offense occurred, local officers said.

Guilty pleas were also entered by W. H. LeMay and O. H. Mize, each charged twice with felony theft and the transportation of stolen property into the county. Their cases were heard by a jury and sentences set at two years imprisonment on each of the two charges for each defendant. Mize and LeMay, both said to be ex-convicts, were arrested here some time ago by local officers after radios and other items missing from a Tahoka firm were found here and traced to their possession. They are also wanted in Odessa, Waco, and Oklahoma points, officers say. They have been returned to Tahoka.

B. C. Murphy was given five days in jail and a fine of $50 on a guilty plea to driving while intoxicated. Victor Ortiz, Mexican, received a five year penitentiary term on a charge of rape.

Trials of L. M. Lennox, charged with robbery, by assault, and Haskell Miles, charged with theft from the person, are set for November 24.

The grand jury is to reconvene Monday morning as court goes into its fourth and last week.

conference play. Riggs Shepperd, formerly of Colorado City, is superintendent at Courtney.

FFA Greenhands
Are Initiated
At Barbecue

Twenty-seven Greenhands were initiated by the Colorado City chapter, Future Farmers of America, at an FFA barbecue held last Friday evening at Ruddick park, according to F. C. Shillingburg, FFA sponsor.

J. F. McCabe, president of the FFA chapter, presided for the initiation ceremonies. Approximately 80 attended the barbecue, several fathers being present.

Red Cross Roll
Call Still In Progress Here

Annual Red Cross roll call in Mitchell county is meeting with encouraging results, it was reported Thursday morning.

Reports from the various sub-chairmen over the county are still incomplete, according to Joe Jackson, roll call chairman. The roll call opened Friday and will last through November 30.

First group to report 100% enrollment was Colorado City high school, where every teacher and every pupil joined early in the campaign.

Admission to the game will be 15 and 35 cents.
