WASHINGTON NOTES.

A SPECIAL dispatch a few days ago to the Cleveland Herald stated that "Postmaster-General Gresham denies the published statement that he has decided to exclude 'patent insides' from the mails as secondclass matter." In view of the law of Congress passed in 1874, providing "that newspapers, one copy to each actual subscriber, residing in the county where the same are he should commit the deed. printed, in whole or in part, and published, shall go free through the mails," such a decision by the Post-office Department as that hinted at would be in violation of lawand of no binding force.

The incident created a sensation, and Judge Wylie remarked that he had a good deal of doubt in his mind in regard to the consequences of the occurrence, and that during the progress of the trial he had once to take the juror aside and sharply admonish him to abstain from drinking.

THE jury in the Star Route cases after a corporations. lengthy deliberation brought in a verdict of acquittal. The verdict was received with tremendous applause. Mrs. S. The jury was energy in suppressing lawlessness. The Governor wrote to the Cashier of the Cengreeted with applause as it left the court tral National Bank at Boonville, who isroom, and one of them when questioned said he thought if the Government, with all its power in six months' trial could not convict Chief Executive of the State, and he was a man, he ought to be acquitted. The Jury in the Celebrated Star-Route Trial Render a Verdict of Not Guilty-All the Defendants in the alleged Conspir-acy Declared to be Innocent. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14.

ACQUITTED.

"You can ask the jury whether they have any communication to make to the Court," said Judge Wylie to the crier when the Criminal Court hearing the star-route case reassembled this morning. Crier Donaldson soon returned with a message that the jury desired to communicate with the Court. They filed into the court-room, apparently none the worse for their confinement. When they were seated the Judge aid: "Gentlemen of the jury, the Court has sent for you for the purpose of inquiring whether you have any communication to make." The foreman stated that the jury had agreed upon a verdict, and a painful silence fell upon the court-room, ohly to be broken by wild shouts of ap-plause, when in a clear tone of voice the foreman stated the verdict was Dorsey sprang to her feet, chapping her hands, while tears streamed down her cheeks, and there were many la-lies in the Court who were silently weep-ing. Davidge quietly asked to have the verdict recorded, which was done, while the Deputy Marshals were vainly endeav-oring to quiet the tumult. S. W. Dorsey and Brady were the recipients of warm congratulations, and as they left the court-room they were greeted with renewed cheers by the crowd in front of the City Hall. When order had been somewhat re-stored by reason of the defendants and their friends leaving the room, Judge Wy-lie turned to Juror Vernon and asked: "Mr. Vernon: how are you this morn-ing." Juror Vernon: "First-rate, sir."

"Mr. Vernon: how are you this morn-ing?" Juror Vernon: "First-rate, sir." The Court: "I believe we have nothing further for the jury to do during the term, and the Court is prepared to discharge you finally. You have had a laborious task to perform in this case. You have been more than six months engaged in this trial. Many of you have been obliged to neg-lect during that period, and though your verdict of course will create dissatisfaction to many, yet having been selected accord-ing to the forms of law, and having sworn to perform your duties faithfully, the Court is bound to presume you have faith-performed your duty. If you have done so, each one according to the dictates of his conscience, that will be a satisfaction to you as long as you live. You are therefore discharged with the thanks of the Court." In the ante-room and the halls the jury was beset by a throng of interested per-sons, prominent among them being the de-fendants and Mrs. S. W. Dorsey and Mrs. Peck, who thanked them for the verdict with tears in their eyes. As the foreman reached the sidewalk the large crowd as-sembled there burst into tumultuous cheers, which was renewed as each juror made his evan out of the Court-house. Little more than two years have B. Hayes expired. Its termination produced a feeling of relief and gratifica-tion throughout the country, in which In this connection it should always be tion throughout the country, in which men of all political opinions shared. How thoroughly despised the Hayes Administration was is shown by the manner in which it is remembered by most representatives of the party that placed it in power. It is seldom men-tioned by them without a sneer. While all other Presidents have been honored all other Presidents have been honored origin of his power, but he failed to do by the naming of persons and localities this. after them, hardly any such tribute of respect and sympathy has ever been paid to Hayes. To appreciate the ex-tent of the contempt with which he is regarded by Republicans one need only a new National contest. — Buffalo watch for a short time the utterances Courier. made by Republican papers represent-ing different sections of the country and their party whenever they have occa-sion to refer to the defunct Administra-tribune, professes to be satisfied with

The feeling toward him undoubtedly is due to the fact that the existence of his Administration was a disgrace to the country, a reproach to our institutions. Those who, approved the fraud looked with contempt upon its creature. Yet it would be strange if the most despised President had not a few defenders. Indeed Hayes has such. We recently quoted a paper that at this late day spoke of his "clean, upright and able" Administration. Its editor has long been an enemy of Roscoe Conkling, and naturally became an admirer of the man who did his best to overthrow the power and influence of the former Senator and was cordially hated by the latter. There are other defenders who were connected, in one way or another, with the Hayes Administration or received favors from it, and still other Republicans who had to make up for their hos-tility toward the Grant Administration by professed loyalty toward its success-or, like the Republican journals which supported Greeley in 1872, and subse-quently felt obliged to surpass in party zeal the staunchest Republican organs which had never wavered in their political allegiance. Two New England papers which more or less openly fa-vored Tilden's election in 1876, endeavored to reconcile their Republican readers by the pretense of attachment to Hayes.

It said yesterday: "Having nothing to hide, it can nominate new men, or men who have been long identi-fied with its history, as circumstances in each case may dictate. At the Department of Justice.

The news of the verdict in the star-coute trial reached the Department of Justice shortly after ten o'clock this morning, by telephone. At the time the Attorney Geu-eral was in consultation with George Bliss. When the news was announced he said to Bliss: "What do you think of that?" "I am astonished," was the reply. "I thought some of the jurors might get mud-dled on the conspiracy question, but I did not anticipate acquital." "Well," said the Attorney-General, "that settles it. When twelve men agree the mat-ter is settled. I feel satisfied the Government has presented the case in the best possible manner."

WHAT JURORS SAY.

Juror Harrigan held alone for conviction for a long time. He says: "I finally came to the conclusion that eleven heads were better than one, especially when some of the others were educated and smart gentlemen. A few minutes before we came into court I went over because I didn't feel like opposing eleven men, so I gave defendants the benefit of the doubt, and voted for ac-mittal " uittal."

Foreman Crane says the jury voted first on the question as to whether there was conspiracy. It was then proposed after some discussion to vote upon the guilt or innocence of individuals, which of course would carry conspiracy with it. "John W. Dorsey," said Crane, "headed the list, and we acquitted him the first night. Then we came to Vaile and acquitted him. Then, I think, it stood ten to two on Stephen W. Dorsey, ten to two and nine to three on Miner. That is the way the jury stood up to this morning, though I believe there was a change of one vote on Stephen W. Dorsey last night, making it stand eleven to one in last night, making it stand eleven to one in his case."

Kellogg and Brady.

Ex-Senator Kellogg and Gen. Brady will Monday next be called upon to plead to Indictments in their cases. It is not probpatriotic men identified with it, but is any Administration of the United States wholly unsupported by such men imaginable? Of the many things which oc curred during the four years of the last Presidential term and reflected credit upon the country a few-very few indeed-were connected with its Government. But how could it be otherwise in a highly civilized and free country? The thing for which the Hayes Administration obtained most credit, at least from its political opponents, was its so-called Southern policy. This policy originated in a political bargain, but when it was bitterly denounced by the Stalwart Republicans Hayes' chief Secretary, John Sherman, effectually vindicated it by showing that the Administration had no choice in the matter and at no time had the power to treat the South as Grant had treated it. During chiefs who still has political life and is the term of Hayes' Administration the House of Representatives remained under Democratic control At the outset the Senate had an insignificant Republican majority which in the middle of the term gave way to a stronger Democratic majority. Aside from the fact that Hayes only performed a duty in not meddling with the local affairs of the Southern States he had no option in this respect. It would have been pos-vice. To its thorough and complete reform he committed himself during the canvass of 1876. But the use which he made of the appointing power to reward political crimes was more discreditable than the nepotism of General

Grant. Whatever may have been at-tempted or achieved in a few Governmental offices, the result of Hayes' Administration was to bring Civil-service fact that it could live and prosper after

Hayes had done everything to make it ridiculous. The Chicago Convention of Bristow once was the great "reform" candidate for the Presidency with serious prospects of success? Bristowwell, Bristow is pretty completely out of politics.

Conkling, the ablest and most daring leader of them all, has retired to practice law.

Hayes, who carried off the prize and served through his fraudulent term, has sunk into the obscurity to which he is so eminently fitted.

Who, then, is there left of the "old" Republican leaders?

Edmunds seems to be the last of chiefs who still has political life and is available.

But the Tribune speaks of "new men" the Republican party can nominate. Who are the "new" men who have taken the places of the old chiefs? - sible for him to reform the Civil Serv-. Or is it that extraordinary mediocrity, Keifer? Or is it ex-Secretary Robeson, the leader of the last Republican House? Or did possibly the Tribune mean Senator Tabor, of Colorado, the latest of the "new" Republican stars, Senators and leaders?

The decay of the Republican party is perfectly manifest and is owing to natural causes. Political parties pend upon leaders and issues. All the issues that have enabled the Republican party to remain in power for the last twenty-three years are practically settled. The Union is restored. The war is over and almost forgotten. Slavery is abolished. Reconstruction is a reminiscence. The greenback is as good as gold. For over nineteen years profound peace has now reigned throughout the land. Instead of political, physical o financial disorders we have a stronger, a better and a more powerful Union than Hayes Administration were great. Even this claim was unfounded. Hayes found ever before. Upon what issue, then, and under what leader can the Republican party the Resumption act on the statute book. All that his Administration did in the have the audacity to ask for a continuway of preparation was to issue bonds ance of that National power which it to the amount of some ninety millions has already held for over twenty-three at a time when the Government enjoyed years-almost invariably against the unlimited credit. KANSAS STATE NEWS.

WICHITA reports four hundred and fifty pupils attending the Methodist Sunday School.

THE body of Mrs. Harry Lee was found in the well at her residence in Fairmount, Leavenworth County, one day last week. She had been sick for some months, and was almost unable to walk, it requiring several efforts for her to get from her bed to the door of her room unaided. On the night of her disappearance when the family retired Mrs. Lee was feeling better. In the room adjoining the one which she occupied her husband and three children slept. At daylight the next morning Mr. Lee arose and went into his wife's room, but she was gone. Search was at once instituted which resulted in finding her body in the well. It is thought that, she may have committed suicide through mental derangement consequent upon her sickness. THE Governor is said to be receiving a

The total value of all the railroad property in the State is estimated at $27,280,219.91. averaging $7,048.62 per mile. The Assessors also reported a total of 3,861.06 miles of telegraph line. · "A LITTLE NONSENSE."

-A burst of confidence-failure of a savings bank.-Boston Commercial Bulletin.

By The Light of The Moon.

The statement that the moon affects the human body may at first sight seem nonsense, but the fact is, when we examine it a little, it does not appear so absurd after all. The moon certainly exercises an influence over all fluids on the earth, and the human body is about three-fourths water. It is said that if we put a human body into an oven and make it perfectly dry it will go down from one-hundred and fifty to about forty pounds.

People who are born when the moon is rising are more subject to her influence in after life than others. They frequently have the habit of walking in their sleep, and about the time of her fulling they are greatly subject to Another curious thing is that, dreams. if near-sighted, their eyes grow more dim at the opposition and the change. It is also well known that there are animals-horses, for instance-which are moon-eyed; that is, their sight is better or worse through the month, according to the condition of the moon. The same is said of some dogs. A whole volume might be filled with the literature of the moon-not only the astrological notions attached to her, but the curious myths and legends. Nothing is better known than that the insane are affected by her beams at certain seasons, and yet there are some doctors who izen.

The as the French psychologists thought than He is a tall, well-formed man, with the insane were observed to be more cause the light would naturally make them so, preventing them from sleeping. But this is a very poor explanation, for, although the moon is at her full every month, the nights are not always bright -there may be a week or month of cloudiness-but the restlessness and excitement among the lunatics is seen to be just the same, and to exist by day as well as after dark. Dr. Winslow's suggestion was as follows: "May not the alleged changes observed among the insane at certain phases of the moon arise, not from the direct but the indirect influence of the planet? It is well known that the rarity of the air, the electric conditions of the atmosphere, the degree of heat, dryness, moisture, and amount of wind prevailing, are all more or less modified -Miss Abbie Thompson, the "Cap-tain Abbie" and leader of the Salvation ality of bodily diseases what obvious

He had fallen when in the center of the bridge, and grasped the cable with one leg. Unable to raise himself, he hung between the sky and 260 feet of space below-in fact, between life and death. Two men happened to be passing over the top of the bridge at the time, and, finding Peer in his peculiarly dangerous situation, went to the rescue and restored him to his natural equilibrium. "Steve" seemed to be calm over the occurrence, and, picking up his pole, continued his trip to the top of the tower on the American side and down the cable, returning, however, by the foot bridge.
