Missionary James White, of the Latter Day Saints, arrived in New York recently from Central Tennessee, on route to England. He has been laboring in the South for nearly two years, and now goes to Bristol to preach Mormonism there. He says he has converted over 300 persons during the past two years. Many have gone to Salt Lake, and the remainder, who will not leave their present homes, form circles of wor ship in their respective neighborhoods. Mr. White said he was not preaching polygamy; he was simply presenting the beauty and work of the Mormon faith to persons who felt that there was something more in religion than is offered by other sects. While abroad the Missionary will send converts to Utah in cases wherein they do not possess sufficient money to pay their own passage. He believes that he can accomplish a great deal among the English laboring classes.

Nathan S. Morse, business manager of the New York Daily News, shot himself through the head recently, in his office, and died instantly. His health had been impaired by overwork, and for some time he had been very sick. It was supposed his reason gave way and he was insane when he took his life.

The most liscouraging reports were from the South astern portion of the State. The counties lying within the great wheat belt report an acreage in wheat about equal to 1882, and a condition of about the same as this time last ear. If good weather obtains from now until barvest, the falling off in production in 1883 will not be nearly so much as has been-anticipated. The acreage of rye has increased over 1881 about sixteen per cent., and its condition is very similar to wheat. There are no epidemics among live stock. All farm animals came out of the winter in fine condition. The officers of the Wichita Land Office report 181,940 acres of public land still vacant. Of this amount Sedgwick County has 2,569 acres, Reno County has 133,240 acres, Butler County has 14,420 acres, and Harvey County has the same. These lands are subject to homestead entries. There still remains 617,-589acres of the Osage Trust lands, subject to pre-emption, at $1.25 per acre.

The Last Congress.

It has unhappily become customary to denounce Congress when it adjourns, and the organs of the party which has controlled Congress are in the habit of meeting the denunciation with feeble apologies and deprecations. But not even these will be brought forward in behalf of the Forty-seventh Congress. As Cromwell said of the Tory Parliament after he had dissolved it: "There was not a dog to bark at their going."
This Congress leaves no apologists and no friends. It is one of the anomalies of our system that a whole session of Congress may pass before the elected representatives of the people can come together to execute the will of the people. At this last session the first effort, we believe, has been made to remove this anomaly by legislation. It is natural that the that body. It is not worth while, perhaps, to attempt to apportion among measures or among men the exact share of discredit into which the first session brought this Congress. The acceptance public disgust which was deepened by Robeson's selections for committees. try. He put a colorless member, Mr. Hiscock, at the head of the Committee on Appropriations, and Mr. Hiscock soon acquired a color, and a very dark color, as a man who could be trusted not to scrutinize appropriations provided only they were lavish. He put Reed, of Maine, at the head of the Judiciary Committee, though Reed had no standing whatever as a jurist; and Reed speedily showed that it was not opportunities from what had always been thought a committee of much was bribed, we may see that Reed's re- Republican Presidential Electors. ports and Reed's action were worth an enormous sum of money to the corporation in question, and that any man, lawyer or layman, who would father those reports and take that action without being hired to take it would be a of the measure the measures jobbed and logrolled through the first session by these men the River and Harbor bill excited the most intense indignation. But it owed that distinction to chance rather than to any supremacy of demerit. It took a great amount of money out of the Treasury at a single haul, it was pushed through Congress in the face of outspoken public disapproval and it encountered the President's veto. But it was no worse or more profligate than the lavish appropriations for public buildings, or than a dozen other acts for which it became the scapegoat. In fact, the palm for impudent rascality probably belongs to the treatment of the Northern Pacific question by the majority of Reed's committee, who, with the help of Keifer, has prevented the question from coming before the House at all. The solemn sham of the Tariff Commission was also among the efficient causes of the public indignation, but for this the President must at least share the responsibility with Congress. He might have appointed a Commission which would not have been

Whatever the causes, the fact remains that the Forty-seventh Congress met for its second session under a burden of popular disgust such as no previous longress has ever had to carry, and which had already changed its efficient majority into a weak minority of the Forty-eighth Congress. The second session has done nothing whatever to relieve the odium the Republican party sustained from the acts of the first, and the last act of Congress was fitly enough the helpless adoption of a tariff of which not one of its advocates professed to be able to foretell the results either upon revenue or upon business. -N. Mahone's Political Status.

If Mr. Mahone were directly charged with being a Republican he would indignantly deny the accusation. Neither Mahone nor any one of his Democratic recruits will confess to Republicanism. He and they still claim to be Democrats and affect resentment of any imputa-Mahone is either a Republican outright or he is something that ought to be far more objectionable to the Democratic mind than any decent member of the Republican party. He is either a cow-ardly Republican who dares not own his party name, or he is a renegade Demo-crat selling his influence to the Republican party. If he does not hold the opinions of the Republican party he is like the Hessian ruler who sold battalions to the British a hundred years ago. If he does hold those opinions, he effort should now have been made, for is a pitiful specimen of abject moral the anomaly has never before been so glaring and so mischievous. It is a good time now, while there is no intense political excitement, for Democrats who have been with Mahone on the debt question, to calmly consider whether they can march with him into the Republican campaign of 1884 as a part of his stock in trade. If any of those Democrats have become converted to the Republican creed they will not be necessary to be a lawyer but only a man true Virginians if they are not brave of business in order to extract profitable enough to take their black Republican brethren by the hand and fully, openly, boldly avow their change of faith. Washington Post. No Further Use for the Negro.

It is very clear that the Republican party has no further use for the colored man-except in a menial capacity. When his vote was wanted he was "a man and a brother" to be honored, respected and protected at all hazards from the ravenous Democrats, to whom he might possibly give his vote if not sedulously watched. But now that the purchase of Mahone and Riddleberger has made his vote of less consequence, he has become, in the chaste language which the Post and Tribune once adopted in speaking of him, a "darkey" again. Nothing could better illustrate the colored man's present low condition, as compared with his former importance in the Republican estimate, than the case of Black, the laborer in the Naval Bureau of Construction and Repair at Washington. Black, who was very appropriately named, seems to have imbibed the notion that, being in Government employ and on the Government pay-roll, he was bound to do only Government work. When, therefore, the chief of the Bureau wanted him to do menial service in the former's household-to black the family boots and scour the knives and make himself generally useful-Black rebelled. Worm as he was, he turned and refused to do the work of a private servant. There-upon his chief ordered him to resign, and he did so.

Ten years ago such an instance of triffing with the black man would have excited more commotion in Washington than the marriage of a divorced Senator or one of Wiggins' storms. The Republican press would have blazed with headlines denouncing the outrage. The Civil Rights bill would have been printed in full with the Fourteenth Amendment in italics, and the party of great moral ideas would have been appealed to by all its memories of past greatness and all its hopes of future success to punish the man who had trampled on "the gentleman from Africa." And the Secretary of the Navy, in the name of an indignant party, would have reinstated the discarded black man, while he reprimanded or court-martialed or otherwise tortured his oppressor.

Now all this is changed. The colored man's resignation is approved by the Secretary of the Navy and the verdict of the Republican party is, in effect, that he had no business to be "a nigger" in the first place, and that, being such, he had no business in the second place to refuse to do any menial service that was asked at his hands by those in authority over him. The col-ored man has indeed fallen from his high estate when he can thus be treated by the party which has been so profuse heretofore in protestations of affection for him. - Detroit Free Press.

There is nothing mean about Illinois.

The spring number of Ehrichs' Fashion Quarterly more than fulfills the promise of its predecessors. Within the compass of its one hundred and twenty pages, it sets before its readers an absolutely complete epiteme of the fashions of the coming season, in ladier' wearing apparel and fabrics of every kind. It is published by Ehrich Bros., Eighth Avenue, New York, at 50 cents a year, or 15 cents a copy.

Marion county carries off the they think of the case.

Gov. Glick yesterday appointed Col. W. C. Jones, of Iola, Kansas, Warden of the Penitentiary, in place of Major Hopkins. Col. Jones is an old resident of Kansas. He was a gallant soldier during the war, sorving in the 10th Kansas Infantry, first as Captain and afterwards as Major. Maj. Jenes against the Indians in 1868, as Lieut.-Colonel. He has lived at Iola, Allen county, since the war. He was formerly a Republican, but for a number of years has been a Democrat. About the only appropriate reason we can see for selecting Col. Jones for this position, is the fact that he is a Democrat. Topeka Capital.

Now, would it not have sounded better if you had put it: "The only appropriate reason we can see why he should not have been selected for this position is, he was once a Republican?"

PECK'S BAD BOY AND HIS PA, Written by Geo. W. Peck, author of "Peck's Fun," "Peck's Sunshine," etc., ecc., is illustrated with twenty full-page illustrations by Gean Smith ; price, cloth, black and gold, $1; paper covers, 50 cents.

George W. Peck is admitted, by common consent, to be one of America's greatest humorists. His former books, "Fun" and "Sunshine," have won for him a continental reputation; but his last is, undoubtedly, his masterpiece. His which seems to have been deter-"Bad Boy" is a "holy terror." He mined on, it ought to be held early 18 fall, from top to toe, of pure, unadulterated cussedness. He hunlies awake of nights inventing schemes of develtry, and rise with the lark to put them into execution. The sight of him makes the grocery man tired every night. He leads his poor Pathe life of a dog, one day, and of amartyr, the next. because all the editors in this coun-He makes his Pa a nuisance in church, a fool at home, and a laughingstock to the world. Nothing is too commonplace and nothing too sacred for him to make the occasion of some diabolical joke.

whole legion of devils. Ho is, without doubt, the very worst boy born in a America; and yet he is the most popular boy in America, to-day. The boys read of his escapades and regard him as a greater hero than George Washington.

Has a good set of tools, and is prepared to do all kinds of buggy and wagon work, and all other kinds of blacksmithing at low figures. Work warranted. aug20-t The girls read this book and think the way the "Bad Boy" got even NOTICE OF SALE OF SCHOOL with his girl was just splendid. Fathers read it and sigh. Old bachelor read it and thank heaven they have no boys. Ministers smuggle it into their studies and nearly choke themselves with vain attempts to suppress their merriment. Aged spinsters read it and, unaccustomed to the laughter it compels, begin at once to grow fat.

Everybody reads it. It is the most smuggle it into their studies and nearly choke themselves with vain Everybody reads it. It is the most popular book of the age. The illustrations are most graphic and suggestive. The artist, who is one of the "Old Masters" of Chicago, has caught the authors humor, and his sketches greatly enhance the value of the book. The picture of the "Bad Boy's" Pa fighting the hornets, or descending by his patent fire esape, or receiving the salute of the "Royal Bumper," reveal the very heart of the author's humor. The book, which is just out, is for sale by all booksellers, or mailed, post-paid, on receipt of price, by Beltord, Clarke & Co.

W. A. Morgan, editor and preprietor of the Leader, and once a Representative of Chase county, in the Kansas Legislature, having, "like a little man," acknowledged that, while a member of the House, he voted for the submission of the proposition to amend the Constitution by striking out the $200 exemption from taxation, and that, palm for young prisoners. JOYFUL GREETING

Hello! How are you? I am glad at last your eyes have fallen upon me. Now that we have met, pray cultivate the acquaintance, for it is my purpose to interest and to serve you. Between you and I, though only a newspaper article, I am ambitious. Having a portentous message for all mankind, if it be cordially received, its import truly cealized and acted upon, I shall be considered a world's benefactor. Could have no nigher ambition, you will admit.

A misanthrope of ample means determined to end his life by drowning himself. Itoing to the banks of the canal, found the time not favorable for the purpose, a number of persons being in the vicinity, and daylight still present. He concluded to walk along the tow-path until it was dark. White doing so, he heard piteous cries issuing from the door of a hovel near by, and anconsciously walked over to the place, and found a poor family, consisting of a mother surrounded by several children, who told him of their sufferings for food. He took from his pocket his wallet and handed it to the woman, reasoning with himself that he would not need it. The grateful thanks and praises that he received from the recipients of his bounty awoke emotion within his breast of such a pleasurable character, that he changed his suicidal intent, and decided to live for others. His future life became replete with good deeds—many a dark home and heart were made bright by his presence. room, down which they all slid, a dis-his presence.

Well my appearance in these columns,
Well my appearance in these columns, springs simply from a desire on the part of those I represent to benefit your news-devouring race. My province is to help you, your friends, your relations, aye, even your mother-in-law, if that interesting lady be not already far beyond the pale of good inflaences.

I am sent among men to bear tidings of a discovery that marks an epoch as impor-tant to the health of mankind as Newton's apple and Franklin's kite were to natural science. The sick, the discouraged, the de-jected, the broken down, and the despair-jected, the broken down, and the despairing, may now, all find a cure, certain as the Jordan proved to the Syrian leper. It is only necessary, as in the case of that sufferer of old, to follow directions.

The weak and nervous woman, just able to drag herself, in "moping melancholy," through duties of the day, may steal the bloom from blush roses, and have eyes bright and sparkling as the dewdrops nestling in their leaves; and the poor little baby, now disfigured with pimples and scabby sores, may be made sweet, cool, and wholesome as—"that youngster of Mrs. Blank's, across the way, whose family is always in a glow of health." Don't you know the reason? "No." Then I will tell you. For years, your neighbor has never been without Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

This remedy is a medicine, not a beverage, and is to be taken according to full and perfectly plain directions accompanying each bottle. It is specific, but not a patent medicine, and contains no vile narcotics, or viler liquor. It is a prescription used for years by the well-known physician Dr. R. weak and nervous woman, just able viler liquor. It is a prescription used for years by the well-known physician Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose name is a household word in innumerable homes all over our own and foreign lands. The Golden Medical Discovery is prepared and offered to the public by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, a body corporate, existing by and under the laws of the State of New York; its President is Dr. Pierce, the great specialist in chronic disporate, existing by and under the laws of the State of New York; its President is Dr. Pierce, the great specialist in chronic diseases. The Doctor has devoted the best years of a very busy and wonderfully successful life to the relief and cure of his suffering fellow-men,—and at a time when high political honors lay brordly open before him, Dr. Pierce resigned his seat in the Congress of the United States, simply from a sense of duty towards others. His associates in the great sanitarium represented to the doctor that the immense business of their Association demanded that his personal attention should be paid to the great army of patients crowding upon them from every clime. Dr. Pierce is also the founder of the Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y. This establishment, possessing all the comforts and luxuries of a first-class American hotel, has in addition the daily attendance of a large faculty of eminent specialists, whose practice collectively cover the whole field of surgery and chronic diseases. The laboratory in which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is prepared is an object of interest and wonder. It has a frontage of one hundred feet, a depth of one hundred and twenty-fivefeet, and is six stories high. In this mammoth and palatial workshop two hundred persons are constantly employed in putcing up Dr. Pierce's Medicines.

While the Golden Medical Discovery's

While the Golden Medical Discovery's curative effects are almost immediately felt, it is not merely a temporary stimulant, but is as certainly a safe and complete cure, in all cases for which it is recommended, as it is that certain misery and death will follow their neglect. The Golden Medical Discovery is a prescription of a physician with a wide-awake reputation and an honorable position to maintain. It is far beneath the dignity of Dr. Pierce to lend his name to any vile nostrum, or catch-penny preparation, whereby the public may be deceived. Having used his Discovery for many years in his unprecedented private practice, he is convinced it is indeed a specific in diseases mentioned. is indeed a specific in diseases mentioned. Desiring this marvelous cure shall benefit, not only those with whom he comes per-sohally in contact, but that all mankind sonally in contact, but that all mankind may be embraced in his grand plan for the amelioration of human suffering, the Doc-tor, through the World's Dispensary Med-ical Association, earnestly and most con-fidently recommends his Golden Medical Discovery to the public at large, assured the most skeptical will be thoroughly con-vinced of its worth by a trial of a single bottle.

In stubborn, or long-seated affections, and where the bowels are very costive, the gentle, though certain action of the Discovery, will be more rapid and satisfactory by supplementing Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets in small daily doses of one or two. These pills (the original and only genuine Little Liver Pills) are purely regelable, sugar-coated and very small, yet by the peculiar process used in their preparation, they possess the strength and virtue the peculiar process used in their prepara-tion, they possess the strength and virtue of larger and unpalatable pills. Pleasant Purgative Pellets will speedily remove all ill and disagreeable effects arising from over-eating or drinking, and are recom-mended as a cathartic at all times, being perfectly safe, sure and unattended by the mended as a cathartic at all times, being perfectly safe, sure and unattended by the griping pains usually experienced in the use of purgatives less carefully prepared. Prompily resorted to, these little Pellets will radically cure indigestion, biliousness and sick-headache, thus saving the patient from serious and lingering disorders. Dr. Pierce, the President of the World's Dispensary, and his faculty of twelve skilled specialists, can be consulted by letter or in person in any case of chronic disease requiring either medical or surgical treatment free of charge. For those desiring more exhaustive information than can be imparted through correspondence, the Doctor has written a book, called "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified."

This work alone is a goodly harvest for an ordinary life, and stamps its author a profound scholar and a very remarkable man. The book contains nine hundred and twenty-two pages, illustrated with two hundred and eighty-six wood-cuts and colored plates, and makes plain as a, b, c, and the stamps in the color of the profound scholar and a service and colored plates, and makes plain as a, b, c, and the stamps in the colored plates, and makes plain as a, b, c, and the stamps in the color of the stamps and the stamps are profounded and eighty-six wood-cuts and colored plates, and makes plain as a, b, c, and the stamps are stamped to the stamps and the stamps are profounded to the stamps are stamped to the stamps and the stamps are stamped to the stamped t hundred and eighty-six wood-cuts and colored plates, and makes plain as a, b, c, anatomy, physiology, materia medica, practice of medicine, hygiene, temperaments, psychology, etc.—and answers in plain, easily-to-be-understood terms all questions that may arise within their range, especially those questions the would-be inquirer is deterred by fear or modesty from asking the family or other physician. That all may be enabled to acquaint themselves with matter so vital to health, happiness and success, the price of this great work has been fixed at one dollar and fifty cents, postpaid by mail to any address, while smaller and far inferior books, purporting to cover the same ground, have sold at five dollars a copy. It being the aim of the proprietors of the Common Sense Medical Adviser to reach not only the affluent, but also those in moderate, and even straightened, circumstances, the price of the work places it within the reach of all.

Those feeling only "out of sorts," with no predominant symptoms, and who, it asked, would find it difficult to explain their sensations, will find a sovereign remedy in the Golden Medical Discovery. Those who are irritable, petulant or fretful, ever seeing the gloomy side of life; who imagine "the time is out of joint;" to whom life is a heavy burden, not a blessing; who think the whole world is arrayed against them, and anticipate calamity at every turn; to all such let this message be full of encouragement and Joy—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will radically cure them, when it will be found, to their lesting benefit, that life and the world have not changed, but that disease had thrown clouds of misery and woe about them through which all things were seen, as "through a glass darkly."

Let no sufferer be discouraged because he or she has tried other medicines without benefit. In fact, these are the cases the World's Dispensary Medical Association particularly desire to reach through their cape the chimpanzees at Play.

The keeper of the chimpanzees at the Zoological garden placed a doll-baby in their cage the other day. The funny litite men are very fond of new play-litite men are very curious about strange objects, and are generally rather timid in approaching anything that has a semblance of the terrible in its make-up. The doll was placed on the floor of the age leaning against the wall. It was clothed in a red dress, that attracted the attention of the chimpanzees in a moment. At first they stood at a respectable distance and "hoo-hooed" at it to show that they had not fallen in love with it at first sight. Then they began to stamp on the floor to scare it away. Finding this unavailing, the big one dashed to within a foot or two of the passive baby, jumping and chattering, but, finding that the strange thing did not budge, she incontinently turned tail and fled. The little one was not to be outdone, although the proposed in the chimpanzees in a moment. The foot or two of the passive baby, jumping she was evidently greatly in fear of it. So she took her blanket and held it up before her while she approached; but she did not go far. After a little the big one got up courage enough to get quite near, so that, picking up a long straw, she could tickle the new-comer under her chin. The doll never stirred. The end of the straw was examined and smelt of by the two animals, and, nothing specially harmful being found, they ventured to touch it. This was too great a test of courage, and both scampered to the top of their cage. They could not, be induced to go back for some time, but after awhile curiosity got the better of fear, and they returned to the inspection, which was mostly confined to sitting in front of it and making faces at it.

Tom Manley, the keeper, tied the figure to a swinging rope. He had hardly left when they dashed to the top of the cage, and, perching on a beam, began to pull up the rope. They then shook the rope violently, and actually laughed to see the antics that the red-robed individual cut up in it. vidual cut up in its performance on the slack rope. It finally slipped out from the knot and fell to the floor, causing another stampede. By this time however, they had got somewhat familian with the stranger, and the big one dragged it by the hem of its garments to the box in which they sleep. They placed it inside and at once executed a wardance on the top. The little one stopped her noisy sister with a cuff and drew out the unfortunate. Then sitting on the floor, she help it in her arms as if it had been real baby of her own. After making evident fun of this soft-heartedness, the other pulled the doll away and deliberately sat upon its head, striking the body with the palms of her hands. While she was endeavoring to regain the plaything the dress did not long remain intact. After this they hauled the body about the cage, up the tree, and onto ground. One piece of the dress they used to make a necktie, and another was turned into a head-dress, which one of them adorned herself with before the mirror in the corner of the cage.

The chimpanzees are doing remarkably well, and have now been kept here for eight months, longer than these animals have ever been kept in this country before. - Philadelphia Press.

He therefore one day resorted to a trick to answer the great desire of his appetite. He took two case-bottles, put a quart of water in one of them, then put a bottle in each pocket, and started for the public house. "I'll take a quart of gin," said Uncie Eb as he placed the empty bottle on the counter. The gin was put in, and the bottle replaced in his pocket, when Uncle Eb pulled from his purse what at a distance might seem like a two-shilling piece. "This is nothing but tin, Uncle Eb," said the trader. "Eh, now, it's a two-shilling piece," said Uncle Eb. "It's tin" said the trader: "I shan't take it." "It's all I've got." "Very well, you can't have the gin." Uncle Eb, without much demurring, pulled from his pocket the quart of water. The trader took it, poured it into the gin barrel, and off went Uncle Eb, chuckling. "Exchange."

Our Reporter's Vacation Notes. DURING his rambles this season, our Mr. M. hadaken upon himself the task of satisfying our numer ous readers that whatever goods are manufactured it our goodly city of Roger Williams, are of as high s grade, and as fine in quality as can be produced in any anot on the globe. Especially is this so when the skilled grade, and as fine in quality as can be produced in any spot on the globe. Especially is this so when the skilled Pharmacist of many years experience resolves to extract from the finest botanical specimens of the vegetable world the most potent cure for some special disease. In proof of his assertion that Providence, R. L., affords the best, he relates an interview with an acquaintance, given him while sojourning temporarily aber residence. She says: "About a year I suffered severely from Rheumatism in my limbs, and Neuralgie in the head, which I endured two or three months with as much patience as possible, being under the treatment of an excellent doctor, and trying many kinds of medicine without any markedeffect. At last a medicafricad advised me to try Hunt's Remedy, because he attributed my severe suffering to the bad condition of my kidneys, which were not performing their proper functions, and I commenced taking it, and in a few days the neuralgia had departed, my headache had chettirely disappe ared, the swelling in my limbs and joint had gone, and I have not had a touch of it since. More recently I was troubled with impurity of the blood, which showed itself in severe eruptions on my face. I again resorted to Hunt's Remedy, and after taking it a short time was completely cured of that complaint. Flunt's Remedy has proved very beneficial to me in attacks of sick headache, which it always alleviates, and I notice the improvement as soon as I take it. Hunt's Remedy has strengthening elements, for it has made me feel much stronger, and has been very beneficial to my general heath. I most heartily see has made me feel much stronger, and has been very beneficial to my general heaith. I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers like myself. Mrs. L. G.
