In the Senate on the 19th, the bill establishing a Soldiers' Home in Kansas was reported ing a Soldiers' Home in Kansas was reported adversely. The Postoffice Appropriation bill was then debated until the close of the morning hour, when the Tariff bill was taken up. During the debate Mr. Morgan sent up to be read by the Secretary the statement of a Connecticut farmer before the Tariff Commission as an argument against high tariff. Mr. Morrill suggested that the reading be discontinued and the matter printed, but Mr. Morgan insisted, as it was an able argument. Mr. Williams said, "As a farmer myself I insist upon the reading, because it is mighty fine reading; my own sentiments are much better expressed than I could express them," and at the close heartily approved the sentiment expressed by remarking, that was the only farmer examined by the Tariff Commission, and said if it were proper in the Senate of the United States, he would propose three cheers for the farmer from Connecticut..... In the House, Mr. Bingham, Chairman of the Postoffice and Post Roads Committee, reported back the bill providing that whenever it shall become necessary to increase the speed with which mail is carried on any post route the service shall be re-advertised for the reduced time required; also, the Postal Route bill, which was passed.

The Southern Express train which left San Francisco, on the 19th was wrecked near Tehachape, Cal., about midnight. An extra en gine was taken on at Sumner to assist in pulling up the Tehachapa grade. While making a change, the train got away from the engine and started back northward down the grade of 120 feet to the mile. The train consisted of two engines, express, mail and baggage cars, two sleepers, one coach and a smoker. It went down grade at a frightful speed for about four miles, when the hindermost sleeper jumped the track and went over the embankment, about fifteen feet high, carrying with it the other, sleeper, the mail and the baggage and express cars, which were piled in a battered heap, which took fire and was consumed. The coach and smoker kept on down grade and were stopped without leaving the track about two miles further on. All on board were uninjured. The scene following the wreck was terrible, and a number of persons were jammed amid the ruins of the train and roasted to death before the eyes of those helpless to save them. Committee on Judicary reported several bills for indefinite postponement. Upon a motion to adopt the report of the committee a spirited discussion on a point of order took place. The point of order raised was that the motion to adopt such a report was out of order. The Speaker decided the point of order not well taken, upon which an appeal from the decision of the Chair was taken by the member from Labette. Mr. Elder spoke at some length, and sad that such a decision was unwarranted by the rules and established a most dangerous precedent. If the House could adopt the recommendation of a committee for indefinite postponement of any bill, before it was read to the House, many of the most meritorious bills might be consigned to oblivion without ever having been placed upon the calendar. #### A Decade's Record.

General Grant's Administration became so intolerable as to threaten the overthrow, if not the destruction, of the Republican party. Its chief leaders and friends demanded reform, but their demand was treated with contempt by the mercenaries who represented the President, and Charles Sumner and the galaxy of men who joined him were obliged to prosecute the raim from a position outside the party they had so long served and honored. The revolt was a formidable one, and the move-ment inaugurated at Cincinnati, with Charles Francis Adams as its standardbearer, might have averted the dispensation of organized plunder and their which have since so woefully afflicted every branch of the Civil Service. But this was not to be. George William Curtis and the Republican reformers of his type demanded reform within the the official equipment of the Union army, the official equipment of the Union army. party." and could not tolerate the idea of bolting. They said the way to reform the party was to stay in it, and that to join the Democrats, or unite in forming a new party, would only open the way for the return of the rebels to power. The Republicans had put down the rebellion and emancipated the slaves, and it was better to endure the slaves, and it was better to endure the maladministration of the Government country to the enemy. The same cry was raised in 1876. The work of "reform within the party" had not reform the country to the enemy. The same cry the countenance of their superiors. The title "Political Generals" form within the party" had made no Sherman and applied to those who had headway, and Crantism, with all that not enjoyed the advantages of a "millheadway, and Crantism, with all that that word implied, had more completely than ever secured the control of the party; but the same policy of reforming from within was still insisted upon, and the same reprobation of bolting everywhere pronounced. The organs and the leaders played the same old tune in 1830, and the Republican hosts kept step to the same music. It looked as if this deplorable party infatuation would be able to perpetuate itself indefinitely, and by the power of the spoils and the skillful use of the machine, esta I sha political serfdom over the people from which there could be no peaceable escape.

But a great light has finally dawned upon the land, and 1882 sends its greeting to 1872. "Reform within the party" is as "a tale that is told." Mr. Cut's gives it up, and his fellow laborers and fellow-bolters are now numbered by thousands and even hundreds of thousands. The lenders of these independent masses tell us that their act on is like that of the "Conscience Whigs" and Free Soilers thirty-four years ago, and that "re'o m within the party" can hest be ac omplished by its overthrow.

They say that as long as a party succeeds by corrupt methods and unprincipled leaders, it will continue and wax officers it was otherwise. Aspirations stronger in its evil ways, and that the of a political future, the source of the first thing to be done is to crush it. This is exactly what the Republican bolters of 1872 told their political brethren, and it was just as true then as is to day. But "time makes more converts than reason." It took the old Whigs a long while to find out that the Free Soilers were right; but at last they made the discovery, and were glad to be admitted into the new communion. So it has taken the Republican bolters of 1882 ten years to find out that the men they so bitterly denounced in 1872 were right, and that bolting is a divine prerogative, but they have at last been enlightened, while they have abundant reason for following in the footsteps of their Whig predecessors in their future political action. The change is wonderful. The elections of this year will be remembered as a great epoch in American politics. They show that the sober second thought of the people can be trusted, and strengthen the faith of good men in popular institutions. What a pity it is that Greeley and Sumner could not have lived to witness their splendid vindication in the political revolution of 1882! It is almost enough o make them turn over in their graves. They were hunted to death because they at the party helm. They were in-solently reminded that "the Republican party is stronger than any man in the

The Kansas City Price Current is out in its eighth annual review of the trade and commerce of Kansas City, being for the year 1882. I is handsome and up to, if not bet ter than former reviews of this excellent paper.

The second number of the Oklahoma War Chief, published at Wi chita, by Harris, Watson & Co., and edited by A. W. Harris, Eaq., of Strong City, is on our table. It is the official organ of Capt. D. L | ing a hundred head of cattle on his Payne's Oklahoma Colony. It is a place on Diamond creek. very neatly printed seven-column, quarto paper; and it is well filled with sprightly reading matter, telling of such things as are of inter est to the Colony, or to such persen's as may contemplate becom ing members of the Colony; and, better will for its publishers, it contains a goodly quantity of paying advertisements. The War Chief is doing excellent work for the colopublishers, is our kindest wish.

Independent, Jan. 19:-Morgan's story of his difficulty with W. "ennique" in its "make up," and so "eunningly cute," and so utterly unreasonable that we give it in full, not that we feel it due to Mor gan for us to furnish him a me-dium through which to conduct his defense, but rather as a literary curiosity for our readers to paste in their scrap-books:

"PERSONAL. "I shall ask the indulgence of the renders of the Leader, this week, lishing Company, Esston, Penn. for making a statement of a per sonal character, which is a depart ure from my regular rule. W. E. Timmons, of this city, having taken occosion, at several times, to speak disrespectfully of my family, for the purpose (as he informed me in a personal interview, a few months ago,) of injuring me, and having borne the provocation in times past, believing that a healthy public sentiment would make him stop, I concluded, last week, that a change would be for the best and punished him soundly, not, however, with a "deadly weapon," as he attempts to give out. Of course, he made complaint; I waived examication, and gave bail to appear at the next term of the District Court, J. W. Ferry's. when the matter will be thoroughly investigated. Respectfully, "W. A. Morgan."

MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL.-We have made special personal inquiry in regard to the merits of this celebrated remedy, and find it a genuine article of rare value. It is by no means a new remedy. The establishment which produces it dates its manufacture as far back as 1833, since which time it has been steadily growing in public favor. The patentees are among the foremost business men of the city of Lockport. They are every way reliable.

From the Tolcdo (Ohio) Blade, July 6, 1871. MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL.—This Old MERCHANT'S GARGLING OIL.—This Old standard article, under the admirable management of John Hodge, Esq., has reached an enormous sale. It is an honestly compounded article; it has merit, and now that the best business talent of the country is handling it, there is no reason why it should not double its present usefulness. Doctors were summoned, and an investigation showed the following casualties:

Meantime the fire alarm had been sounded.
The entire city is in a state of uneasiness, resulting from the Newhall-Honse fire. As soon as it was known that the slarm came from the Grand Opera-House thousands upon thousands of people rushed to the building, and the wi'dest excitement prevailed. It was re-ported that the house was on fire inside, and this report increased the alarm and excitement. As soon as it became apparent that the play c uld not go on the audience was dismissed. Most of those present were ignorant of the terrible work on the stage, and, as they passed out into the street, stated to the crowd uniside that nobody was hurt, so that the excitement was s on quelled.

The accident was caused by the careless ignorance of the man managing the apparatus. Most of Collier's scenery and that belonging to the house is completely spoiled. The force of the explosion is shown by the fact that a joist, two by ten inches, was riddled to kindlingwood. Several people were thrown clear across the stage, and one of the injured was thrown into the flies. No members of the company were injured.

The story of the cause of the explosion is thus told: One of the cylinders had been leaking, and was taken away for repairs. On refilling the cylinders Earrington, for some reason, concluded to put the oxygen gas in the cylinder which had been used for hydrogen, and vice versa. It is stated, however, that he other force or was a mindful of the fact that either forgot or was unmindful of the fact that there still remained a quantity of hydrogen in the cylinder into which he had put the oxygen. The result of th's mixture was that when the light was applied the explosion occurred. The cylinder was made of malleable fron, about three-sixteenths of an inch in thickness, and app ared to possess great strength. The fragments were sent in all directions, riddling the so nery, the floor and the walls.

A horrible accident took place at the Grand Opera House to-night during the performance of the "Lights o' London." The orchestra had just finished the interlude between the first and second acts, and the stage-manager was watting for a few minutes for the calcium lights to be arranged, when an awful explosion took place. The lights on the stage were put out, the scenery was blown into fragments, and the utmost terror prevailed among the members of the company, who were all ready for their work in the scoond act. In a few minutes the gas-jets on the stage were lighted, and the full nature and result of the accident learned. One of the cylinders of the calcium brought before the Anthropological between, say, numbers one and five. Mr Galton mentioned some general results of this system which are interesting. Men were found, for instance, to discriminate better than women, and men of intellectual attainments better than those not in the habit of employing their brains much. Again, women of morbid sensitiveness were found by this apparatus to be by no means remarkable for their success in discrimination. This curious system of comparison of weights appears therefore to be a test, to some extent, of intellectual capacity, and in its results is somewhat similar to a clever apparatus shown some few years back at the South James Foster, assistant and the state of the of a passage from one language to another, whether the person tested was familiar with the original tongue, or had merely a school knowledge of it. In the first case the mental effort would be small, but in the latter very much the reverse. Another method of dealing with mental impressions was experimentally dem-onstrated some time ago by Dr. Burdon Sanderson, who was able to measure the fraction of time occupied in the transmission of a thought to the brain, excited by some external influence of the car, sight, or touch. It would therfore seem probable that at some future time a complete set of tests may be devised by which the mental capacity of an individual can be accurately gauged. The mere circumstance of successful cramming for a competitive examination will then no longer be considered a testimonial to a man's brain power.—London Graphic.

"I see," she observed, as she looked up from her paper, "that another woman who was perfectly sane all the time has just been released from a lunatic asylum after a detention of three years."
"Yes, briefly replied the husband.

he might marry another woman.' "In case you desired to dispose of me you would probably have me shut up in a lunatic asylum."

"No, ma'am; I should poison you. That's the cheaper and better way. As a man of business, and as an advocate of financial economy, I have thought this matter over time and again, and I should certainly prefer to spend fifteen cents for arsenic to paying out $10 to $15 per week for goodness knows how long." She looked at him for a long time with a whole iceberg in each eye, and then turned to her paper with the remark: "Just like your stingy ways; you never want me to have anything like

During the year ended on June 3, 1881, the number of books, newspapers, and letters transmitted was upward of 83,000,000— an increase of nearly 20 per cent as compared with the previous year, and 49.3 as against 1879. The aggregate length of all the mail routes in operation was 48,475 English miles—an increase since the previous report of 5,180 miles, and since 1879 of 12,422 miles. During the year there had been established 442 new postoffices, as well as 10 receiving agencies, 2,878 stamp agencies, and 2,765 street-letter-boxes. CAUSE FOR APPREHENSION. Why Mysterious Physical Troubles Arouse

Special Dread-A Professional Experience. Few things give more pain thandread or apprehension. Most people are able to face apparent danger heroically, but the sudden and unexpected coming of some indefinite calamity very naturally stikes terror to even the bravest. For this reason lightning and tornadoes are considered terrible; their coming and going are so sudden, unannounced and unknown. For this same reason an unknown disease, some poison in the blood, some malady that is gradually undermining the life, is specially dreaded by all thinking people. And, indeed, there are good reasons for such fread, for modern science has discovered that some virulent disorders show the least-signs in their beginnings, while they have the worst possible symptoms. We know of many persons who have dull and uncertain pains in various portions of the boly; who are unnaturally tired one day and apparently well the next; who have an enormous appetite at times and a loathing of food soon thereafter. Such persons are really in a dangerous condition, even though they may not realize it. The following statement of a most prominent physician, who has had unusual opportunities for investigation, is of so striking and important a nature that it will be read with interest by all: inexpected coming of some indefinite calami-

Messrs. Editors:

I have, during my professional career of many years' practice, treated a large number of various discretes, of which, rerhaps, none have given me more trouble than the mysterious disease known as acute nephrit's; and while it may seem strange, it is, nevertheless, true that the obscious is generally greatly have given me more trouble than the mysterious disease known as acute nephrit's; and while it may seem strange, it is, nevertheless, true, that the physician is generally greatly annoyed by this mysterious trouble, especially when the case is of hereditary origin. It is, doubtless, the first stage of the well-known, but terrible Bright's disease, as the kidneys contain large quantities of albumen; and while children and young people are es ecially liable to its attacks, it is prevalent with all classes, and usually continues untill te in life. One obstinate case which came under my observation, was that of a fireman of this city who applied to me for treatment. The case was diagnosed parenchymatous nephritis. The man was twenty-frue years of age; plethoric and light complected. He stated that he had suffere I from urinary troubles from childhood, and that he had octored' a hundred times, each time improving some; after which, in a short while, he would relapset to his farmer state of misery. I prescribed the usual therapeutics known to the profession with the same result that my colleagues had obtained. He got better for a while and then worse again; in fet, so bad that he had to lay off for some time. He suffered intense pain; so much so that I confess I had to resort to hypoderaic injections of morphia. My druggist, who knew how disgusted I was with the case, although not willing to desert the man, relyised me to try a remedy from which he (the druggist) hinself had derived great benefit. As a drowning man catches at a straw, I prescribed this remedy, not letting my patient, however, know what I was giving him; and, although not a be iever in nor a patron of "patent medicines," I nust confess that after my fireman had teken one bott'e he grew much better. I made him continue its use for a period of two months, with the most gratifying results; it really worked wonders, and he owes his cure and present perfect health solely to the remarkable power of W. rner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, tie remedy which I pre plaints to numerous to mention. Indeed, thousands of people are suffering from the first stages of Bright's disease to-day, and they do not know it.

In conclusion, I would like to state that I

In conclusion, I would like to state that I have, since my success with the fiveman, repeatedly prescribed Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if my professional brethren could only be brought so far as to overcome their prejudice against proprietary medicines they would undoubtedly, find themselves recompensed for their supposed a crifice of liberty, as we las by the great benefits that would accrue to the world. Most sincerely, O. ANDERSON, M. D., Superintendent.

A FASHIONABLE "GOAT."—Jim Callender, being very much in need of a new overcoal, visited the ready-made clothing arena of Mose Schaumburz for the purpose of purchasing the desired raiment. As if by magic, Mossoon had Jim eneased in a garment that fitted him "choost like de baber once vall." "But, Mr. Schaumburg," remarked Jim, examining the coat, "this sewing is very bal. Just see how it is coming to pieces," "Dot gooms Mishter Callender, from de stylishness of dot goat." "Who are you calling a goat?" replied Jim, feeling in h s hip pocket. "I mean dot overgoat." "Thu's all right, but what has the style of the coat to do with it coming all to pieces?" "Choost because there vash has the style of the coat to do with it coming all to pieces!" "Choost because there wash such a rush for dot style of overgoat dot the tailor had no time to sew it up broperly." As Jim goes in for style, he insisted on purchasing the fashionable garment on the sp.t.—Texas Siftings.

Among the professional reminiscences of Dani: O'Connell when at the Irish Bar was the following unique instance of a client's gratitude. He had obtained an acquitti, and the follow, in the ecatasy of his joy, exclaimed: "Och, Counsellor! I've no way here to show your honor my gratitude, but I wisht I saw you knocked down in my own parish, and may be I wouldn't bring a faction to the rescue!"—London Society.

To Consumptives. "Golden Medical Discovery" is a concentrated, potent alterative, or blood-cleansing remedy, that wins golden opinions from all who use it for any humor, from the common pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the formidable pimple, blotch, or eruption, to the formidable scrofulous swelling, or ulcer. Internal fever, soreness and alceration, yield to its benign influences. Consumption, which is but a scrofulous affection of the lungs, may, in its early stages, be cured by a iree use of this God-given remedy.
