Boys, we are still of the same opinion in regard to our Clothing. If there was a better line made for the money, we would certainly have it. We are not tied to any clothing concern, but when we get hold of a line of anything that's good and gives satisfaction we are slow to change. Nevertheless, we are always on the lookout for something better and when it's made we'll have it, but until then, THE GOOD OLD RELIABLE BRAND OF CLOTHES—SPERO, MICHAEL & SON, OF NEW YORK. is what we want to supply you with—the old-time, dyed-in-the-wool kind, that's made up right, that fits right, that wears right and is priced right. THE HOUSE THAT SATISFIES

Texas

THINGS IN GENERAL.

Deaths from heat have been reported in some of the cities of the north. It was claimed that Monday was the hottest June day in Chicago for several years.

Pulling the trigger of an automatic shotgun with his toe, W. C. Mass, a prosperous farmer of Add-Hall community, Milam county, suicided Monday. No reason was known for his self-destruction.

The oil trust investigation has been moved from Corsicana to Dallas and it is probable several other cities will be visited. It has developed a close affiliation of the Standard and Magnolia companies.

The senate committee on territories has agreed upon a bill for the government construction of a railroad in Alaska. It is said the plan is to issue forty million dollars worth of bonds to finance the enterprise and the road is to be under the control of the United States government.

The good news has come to the American users of gasoline and other oil that the Rothschilds interests are preparing to contest with the Standard oil company in this country. These companies have been strong competitors in foreign countries for years, but this country has been left largely to the Standard people, but a line of oil carrying vessels has been put into service by the Rothschilds concern and we may yet see the old mother of trusts forced to fight for business.

An applicant for the appointment as postmaster of Santa Barbara, Cal., wrote to one of the senators from that state offering to give him $1,000 to secure the appointment. When arrested on a charge of attempting to bribe an officer the man claimed he meant no wrong, that he was a carpenter and that men in his profession frequently paid boss carpenters to secure places and he did not recognize a difference between paying to get a government job or one from a private individual. He was bound over to the federal court.

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Arrangements for Fair—Road Work Planned—Trade Excursion.

The meeting of the Commercial club Monday night was well attended and considerable business was transacted. President L. E. Miller being absent, Vice President J. C. Street conducted the meeting.

The fair committee reported progress in the work. Plans were outlined for arranging the displays of products and apportioning the premiums.

The road committee reported sufficient funds on hand to pay the supervisor's salary and leave a balance in the treasury. The contemplated work on some roads had been delayed on account of Mr. Berry having to devote some of his time to harvesting his grain crop, but the committee expected to have the work resumed in about two weeks.

The committee to secure a premium list for the fair was instructed to prepare the list at once and employ some one to solicit the premiums.

The president and secretary were instructed to make a note for $100 to pay a part of the lease on the union grounds and meet other expenses in preparing for the fair and reunion.

The committee to arrange for the trade excursion reported having secured the services of the band to accompany the excursion and announced that other arrangements were under way.

It is to the interest of all the business men to attend the club meetings.

MEETING POSTPONED.

Owing to the fact that so many of the pastors of the Association will be otherwise engaged the Fifth Sunday meeting of Mills county Baptist Association, which was announced to meet at Priddy in this month, has been called off. The churches are requested to take notice and send all money collected for associational missions to Brother G. W. Jackson, Goldthwaite. L. A. BAGLEY, County Missionary.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Floyd Kirby entertained a number of friends with a miscellaneous shower at her home, honoring the approaching marriage of Miss Nina Page.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with hearts and cupid, in colors of white and pink. A particular pretty feature was the dining table with its adornment of arrows and cupid suspended in playful attitude.

Mrs. Kirby, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Williams, received the guests and conducted them to the register, presided over by Mrs. W. T. Fisher.

The grocery contest proved most amusing, guessing the contents of small white and pink bags, some of which were most deceiving. Miss Martha Buttrill received the prize, a bottle of toilet water. Then the honoree was blindfolded and asked to find her way to the portiered door, upon which was pinned a likeness of the bridegroom elect. With this attraction as a drawing card there was no difficulty in finding the right door. The portiers were drawn, the blindfold removed, and there was revealed a table laden with gifts.

After they had been unwrapped and admired the hostess passed the daintiest of refreshment plates, consisting of Angel's breath and Angel food cake.

The out of town guests were Messrs. W. T. Fisher and Guy Paul of Brownwood, C. M. Russell of Lampasas, M. Calloway and Miss Carrie Swayne of Temple, and Miss Page of Goldthwaite.—Lometa Reporter.

Prominent physicians in hospitals in Philadelphia and New York have been arrested charged with cruelty to animals, because of the manner in which they injured and maimed dogs and other animals in making investigations under the claim of scientific operations.

Mrs. McCullough left for her home in Leander the first of the week, after a visit to her son, W. P. McCullough, and his family in this city. Mrs. A. V. Lane left for San Saba Wednesday to visit relatives.

New and modern dwellings are being erected in almost every part of this city, which is a sure indication of the prosperity of the people.

Mrs. Glascock of Alvin arrived in the city Monday night for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Chas. Rudd, and her brother, E. L. Martin.

T. H. Brown was here from Center City the first of the week, looking after business matters.

W. H. Walton and family have returned from a visit to relatives in Austin.

Wilbur Fairman has been in San Saba a part of this week.

Judge E. B. Anderson left Tuesday for Hereford, to look after legal business.

Mrs. C. Dickerson left the first of the week for a visit to relatives at Lometa and San Saba.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis arrived from Leon county Wednesday for a visit to G. R. Ross and family.

W. E. Egger made a visit to Star the first of the week, to look after his business interests at that place.

OUR SCHOOLS.

In such times as we now have of hopeful agitation I am offering a word of caution. About building up high schools in the country districts, there is much talk. There is every reason for such a move, but many are not ready and there is in some parts sharp criticism. It is not wise or best to urge a matter even so worthy and so much needed upon people until they become in mind ready.

Sympathy and co-operation must be had if we ever reach the end for which our public schools have been established. Our schools are institutions looking to a great and noble end and it is belittling to such a great cause to indulge in bickering, unfriendly contention and littleness. Let us keep cool and kind if we would help anyone in anything.

I believe mightily in the people of Mills county. When we have had time to think and sufficiently talk, talk with our neighbors sufficiently—sometimes insufficiently—we shall have worked out the problem and come out on the right side.

For most of my days I have lived in the country—my interests are especially identical with the country citizen, and I have long felt the need of a bettered condition of our schools. We can never do better than we are doing until, in some way we get larger districts and more people and money enlisted in the same school. The energy and money spent now is not vain, but much efficiency and force is lost for lack of concentration. Scattered effort is comparatively weak effort.

All of our successful school men and scholars in the state offer the one plan in order to making the country school its best—that is, unite small districts until strength is had sufficient to educate in the country.

I remember in childhood when the thought of the world being round was a novel idea. As I gazed upon the horizon in every direction I saw nothing that indicated a round world. I observed that all my teachers and geographies declared the same thing and then history cited me to many voyagers who had gone around the world demonstrating the teaching of the geography and it has been a long time since I doubted my early teachers. When all best educators and all reason and more still when the voice of duty is loud and clear and when the needs of these times come charging upon us at every turn of life, what shall we do?

It goes without saying that some few will have to send to school some little distance if we have what we really need. This will be much better than fail to educate. I have note that some are eager to form a union and build a high school when it puts the school near by, but if the making of a fine school throws the house some distance away that same some have what is called a change of heart. This disposition is too narrow. We must get above selfishness. Depending on little nearby schools has cheated more children than all the financial monopolies and trusts in the world of which you hear so much. For once think of the pesky life that enjoys the blessings of our institutions, but is unwilling to aid in establishing and maintaining the institutions which make life and property valuable.

You can find some who boast of the rights granted them by the laws of the land. They sleep at night in peace under the strong protection of the state, but when the day comes to pay the state a financial tax in order that it may continue its protection to life and property, there is complaint and growling. The only trouble is that person don't think or he don't know. When we comprehend assuredly that the world is round we are not so seriously flat ourselves.

When such schools as we need are established and the interest which naturally follows get over the people there will not be found a family too poor to arrange to send to school. Even if there could be found one here and there as it is sometimes claimed should that hold the entire country back in ignorance? I try to have a profound and helpful sympathy for the poor, but I have more than that for the child being robbed out of life's opportunity.

If we ever get to our best we must think above self. We must live largely for others—for the good of the world and our posterity. Too many of us are like the German convert. The missionary was teaching the new German convert to be charitable and helpful to others and referred him to the scripture which says, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The German said, "Yes, sar, but to receive is good enough for me."

Let us think wisely, talk kindly, and lay ourselves out for better and greater things. Sure, brother, the world is round. SAM SAY.

Take Plenty of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and salivated. Then when you have a fullness in the stomach and feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by R. E. Clements. (Adv)

Your confidence is what Studebaker seeks to keep

Possessing this confidence, we have never tried to produce a cheap wagon. We could, but we don't dare try the experiment. Our constant aim has been to produce the best wagon.

And in living up to this highest standard, we have won and hold—the confidence and good-will of hundreds of thousands of farmers all over the world.

Studebaker wagons are built to last, to do a day's work every day, to stand up under stress and strain and to make the name Studebaker stand for all that is best in vehicles.

Don't accept any other wagon represented to be just as good as a Studebaker. The substitute may be cheaper, but it isn't up to Studebaker standards, and you can't afford to buy it.

For business or pleasure, there is a Studebaker vehicle suited to your requirements. Farm wagons, trucks, business wagons, surreys, buggies, runabouts, pony carriages—each the best of its kind. Harness also—of the same high Studebaker standard.

A new ten-story hotel building is being erected in Waco by ex-Mayor Riggins and his associates.

A test well is being sunk near Rowena, Runnels county, in search of oil or gas. Indications are said to be good.

An automobile occupied by F. A. Ryan and wife of Dallas was struck by a passenger train on the M. K. & T. railroad near Waxahachie last Saturday and both occupants of the car were instantly killed.

A new organization is the Anti-Chicken Thief Association of Fort Worth. The membership of the association is expected to reach 300 and each pays dues of $1. A standing reward of $200 is offered for the arrest and conviction of a chicken thief.

An attempt was made to wreck an International and Great Northern passenger train near Taylor by placing a rock as large as a tub on the track. The engine was injured by striking and passing over the rock, but none of the coaches were derailed.

The reckless driver of an automobile in Dallas last Saturday night ran over and killed J. T. Smith of Farmersville. The force of the car against the man threw him 25 feet and crushed his skull against the pavement.

While taking oil in the railroad yards at Palestine Saturday night a locomotive became ignited and the engineer attempted to run it away from the tank, but lost control and it ran amuck, colliding with another locomotive and doing great damage. One man was slightly injured.

The mothers clubs of Houston are circulating petitions in that city asking that women be elected members of the school board. The plan is a good one and bound to work advantageous to the schools. It is a good plan for Houston and good for any other community.

The efforts of the friends of F. E. Pye of Houston to have him pardoned or released under the suspended sentence law after he was convicted at Bryan of forgery have proved futile. Pye's case was transferred from Houston to Bryan for trial and he was found guilty and given five years in the pen.

The circular letter of Comptroller Lane to saloon men all over the state charging that they are violating the liquor law and warning them that they must disprove the charges if they expect a renewal of their license has created consternation and alarm in many quarters. The comptroller refuses to "wink" at violations and announces a determination to continue to make trouble for the law violators.

The gentlemen who are looking into the management of the state's penal affairs seem to have found a clew to prosperity on the Harlem farm. The prisoners there have been growing vegetables and have been canning enough for their own needs; and furthermore, they have been making brick and tile that withstand the test of competition. Which circumstance raised before their minds the question, why could not the prisoners be made to grow and can all the vegetables that the state's institutions might need, and also make what brick and tile the state should need? The question leads into a rather wide field of speculation. Why, for example, should not other institutions make all the socks needed in the penitentiaries, and why, indeed, should not a regular commerce be organized as among the various state institutions, by which the products of one might be exchanged for the products of another, and make it unnecessary to make appropriations for many purchases that are now made in the open market. We should say, at first glance, that the possibilities are much larger and more inviting than they are generally supposed to be.—Dallas News.

In time of kidney dangers Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of evidence of their worth. Mrs. Mollie Pierce, Brownwood, Texas, says: "For nearly a year I was in misery and physicians did not know what ailed me. They said I would have to undergo an operation. I came to Brownwood for that purpose, but the change made me feel better and I put off the operation. Finally I got to feeling bad again and suffered with intense pains across my back. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and sent for a box. The third day after I began using them I passed three gravel stones with great agony. I have had no sign of the trouble since. I am very willing to confirm my former public endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

TEXAS FARM LIFE COMMISSION

Naples, June 15.—Immediately upon the arrival of the American Commission on Agricultural Co-operation in Italy, it was found that on account of the short time allotted to the Commission's stay in that country that it would be necessary to divide into four divisions, which was done and every section of Italy visited.

The farmers of Italy produce silk, wine, corn, hay oats, rye, wheat, hemp potatoes, vegetables, milk, butter, cheese, eggs, poultry, goats, sheep, hogs, cattle and horses. At this time farm products here sell for the following prices:

Cows $150.00 per head; horses about the same as in Texas; hogs 10 cents on foot; corn $1.80 per bushel; potatoes $2.40 per bushel; eggs 18 cents per dozen; butter 35 cents per pound; cheese 30 cents per pound; wheat $1.20 per bushel; and hay $18.00 per ton.

The market is close at hand. There are no commission men, no long hauls. The roads are macadam, built and maintained by the State, so that with a cart and one horse the farmer can convey two tons to market, and he seldom uses two horses to one vehicle. The parcels post is a great boon to the farmer in this country, as it is much cheaper and more serviceable because it will take articles of larger size and weights than ours.

One farmer who cultivated sixteen acres of land stated that he made an average of $1,000.00 a year, his part being $500.00, and the land owner getting the other half.

These farm operators require financing. Cows and horses are high, so is farm machinery. Most of the farm machinery sold here is made in the United States, and is sold about 40 per cent higher than in our state—instances: A self binder that would cost about $130.00 in Texas, sells here for $194.00; a wheat driller that costs $45.00 in Texas, sells for $68; and these things are bought by cooperative purchasing agencies for cash.

So it is that the Italian farmer needs money the same as does the Texas farmer. The question now is how does he obtain his needed finances? This I will have to tell later, because it is a story within itself, worth careful consideration.

One of the Commissions made a careful examination of a so-called rural bank at a farm village in northern Italy, near Padu, and reported as follows:

Bank organized 28 years ago by forty tenants, who combined and borrowed $100.00 to start with. The bank now has 300 members, twenty-five of whom own their farms. Deposits amount to $12,507.70, with a surplus of $4,000.00, which it deposits in a savings bank at 4 per cent interest. In other words the savings of the community finance the community. The bank has no capital stock nor shares, but inasmuch as its deposits and surplus are sufficient to finance the needs of the members, it has not borrowed any money in five years.

It pays its cashier $40.00 a year. House rent is $10.00. Taxes and stationery $86.00 a year, a total operating expense of $136.00 a year. The banking house furniture and fixtures consist of a room over the Association's store, a rough table, a small case in which stationery, such as notes, etc., are kept and a few chairs for the directors, the total being valued at $30.00

Unpretentious as this little rural bank is, it teaches its members business frugality, morals, punctuality, honesty, industry and sobriety, for this one had as one of its by-laws the wine drinker cannot become a member. Small as this bank is, there are in Italy 816 such banks, which dispensed loans to 571,200 members last year, aggregating $65,000,000.00. Their savings deposits are $10,000,000.00. There are two other types of people's banks in Italy, one being a state institution and the other is banks of shares and stocks. I will discuss these in a later article.

S. A. LINDSEY, Chairman.

MULLIN.

Editor Eagle:

The wind bloweth where it listeth and the sound thereof is sometimes startling, and we go like prairie dogs to our holes in the ground to come forth again to see the rain descending.

The threshers, mowers, and reapers all standing, the oats going to the bad, but corn, cotton, cane and "sich like" putting on appearance of a non-drouthy country, thereby cheering the hearts of the way-worn travellers who have for the past five years been pulling against the current to see their little bark further down the stream with this, that and the other seemingly lodging against it to make life's journey harder to travel; yet amid all these, we look up, imagine we see a silver lining to the cloud, threaten the stubble fields with another crop of cane, maize and cotton, count our prospective dollars somewhere out in the future and finally decide that it is not such a bad thing after all to try to live by farming in Mills county.

If one horse may eat a whole crop of oats at one sitting and still thrive, (Farmer says that fool horse is infested with tape worms) it is useless to try to calculate what would be an over-production of provender for the stock of Mills county. Burkett says he is satisfied his horse is not an exception, but the fault is in the way Farmer farms.

The great overflow filled the deep well with mud and it is fearful. Unless a gas escape can be affected there will be a fearful explosion. Let 'er bust, Bill, we can't afford to stop the rain on account of a gas well.

The oats are making from 7 to 16 bushels per acre; only a few crops threshed before the rain. Corn is looking fine, but the bud worms are playing havoc with it.

Mr. Samuel Burks of Goldthwaite spent last Tuesday in Mullin, feeling of the pulse of life insurance prospects.

Fred Rice compromised with the railroad and received $2,000 for injuries sustained on the section. Mr. Cal Summy received $1,250 from the same source for injuries. Others to hear from.

Quite a few here planted their stubble land in cotton, and if the weeds and grass don't crowd them too close much more of the stubble land will be planted in feed stuff.

Mr. Schultz on the Bayou received a new 20-horse engine last Monday, which he unloaded Tuesday and started for home.

Messrs. Leineweber and Harris made a trade last week dividing their ranch, stock, farm implements, etc. Mr. Leineweber got the irrigation part of the farm and unless he sells will go into the swine business on a paying scale. Mr. Harris will improve the other part of the ranch and will likely move out himself.

George Collenback has traded his residence and blacksmith shop for a farm near Uvalde, Texas, and will likely move in the near future.

Uncle Henry Cobb and Carrie Kirkpatrick attended Children's Day exercises at North Brown last Sunday, coming home delighted with having been permitted to enjoy the day with these good people.

The Children's Day services were held at the Baptist church in Mullin last Sunday night, a large crowd present and an excellent program well rendered by the little folk.

Perhaps I had better ring off. I saw Smiling Billie claimed five pages last week, so I guess as I only have four you will not cut me out. Thanking you in advance, I make my bow and retire by wishing you and your readers great success.

Yours truly, HAL.

WEST SIDE OF SQUARE—TWO DOORS FROM POSTOFFICE

There is a redhot prohibition campaign in Anderson county. The election has been ordered for July 3 and both sides are said to be making a determined fight.

Four editors were arrested in Seattle, Wash., this week, charged with criminal libel. Two of them are accused of libeling a Socialist speaker, one must answer to the charge of libeling county officers, while the fourth one is charged with having attacked the characters of judges of the superior courts.

The court of criminal appeals has held that the governor can not revoke a conditional pardon except where the conditions are violated by the person so released. The case went up from Fort Worth where a man who was recently released on a conditional pardon was re-arrested and ordered returned to the prison because of a protest having been made to the governor against his release.

"They Say" is the monumental liar of the ages. No other source is so prolific of the normal poison that blasts reputation, dethrones character, undermines good names and sows the seed of evil and ruin. It is at once both the source and the scapegoat of the scoundmonger. It furnishes the food upon which these human vultures thrive and fatten. Its supply is unlimited and never falling, and the variety complete. When setting out to blacken the reputation of anyone the character assassin simply uses as authority for his assertions "They Say" and by simply repeating it to his fellow-assassins the poison is soon scattered broadcast, for he knows that, as the wise man says, "A liar giveth ear to a naughty tongue." It is not always the lie that is most dangerous, for the most mischievous and destructive reports are those given force by being only half lie and half truth. Those bastard statements of the scoundmonger which resemble the truth just enough to cause those who are the least predisposed to circulate slanderous stories to give them more life and stimulus. He knows full well that if the calumny he starts is untrue on the face of it, its life will not be of long duration, for the effectiveness and power of a lie depend altogether upon the closeness with which it resembles truth. A lie known to be such has no power, because no one believes it. It must at least be cloaked with truth, else it would be recognized as a lie when it is seen coming. Whosoever keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles.—Dallas News.
