The People Who Sell It For Less

Texas

FARM FACTS.

(By Peted Radford, president Farmers Union.)

Kicks don't spell failure. The farmer still rocks the cradle of our country. Prophecy is safe business provided you don't invest in it. The products of the soil are teachers and preachers as well. With a horse as with a man, 'tis not work but worry that kills. There must be co-ordination between production and distribution. The farmer fixes the price of either the things he sells nor buys. The farmer is more or less outside the bulwarks arranged for finance. Big business must be run by big men, and farming is our biggest business. The farmer is the nation's jurymen and must settle all disputes in court. Plow deep while sluggards sleep and you will have corn to sell and to keep. Farming embraces both production and marketing and they cannot be segregated. Science in farming is useful insofar as it contributes toward successful farming.

No American farmer will wear a bridle—Independence of spirit is his chief asset.

Farm peasantry is the most alarming spectre that confronts the public of Texas today.

If a man look sharply and attentively he shall see fortune; for though she is blind she is not invisible.

The Texas farmer is operating under financial conditions which if applied to other lines of industry would wipe every railroad off the map, close every factory and paralyze every other branch of commerce.

R. Sliger, a stockman and farmer of Comanche county, was among the visitors to the metropolis the first of the week.

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

There was a fairly good attendance of Club members and several visitors at the meeting Monday night.

The committees from the fair and reunion reported and the success of the undertaking was discussed at some length. The financial returns were decidedly satisfactory, although the exact amount received or paid out can not be given at this time.

J. S. Sealy was present and spoke on the advantages of organizing a fair association and his remarks were endorsed by several members present. After the plans for such association were discussed, Mr. Sealy was appointed by the chairman to solicit subscriptions for stock in the association. On motion the chairman, Mr. Street, was named to assist in the organization and he was authorized to select such assistants as he deemed advisable.

The secretary was authorized to issue warrants for all outstanding accounts made by the fair and reunion committees.

The road committee reported work in prospect and the matter of road work was left to the discretion of the committee.

The farmer occupies the vantage ground in strong competition of the world. He has no master except his conscience, no dictator except his skill. He has a job that does not depend upon the caprice of men nor the drift of public opinion. He sits uprests upon rocks. He wears a crown on a pedestal whose foundation envied by kings and monarchs. As he simply and sublimely waves the scepter of power crownheads tremble and kings of finance bow. When famine threatens he supplies the world's needs. He gives security to bonds, stability to business, commerce to trade and trade to commerce. He is the backbone of the nation. Nothing succeeds when he fails.—Houston Post.

THINGS IN GENERAL.

Judge Lindsey, chairman of the Farm Life Commission is giving the Texas press an interesting and instructive account of his European trip with the American Commission now studying the industrial life of the east. Our civilization is scarcely in its teens and these grown-ups have passed many mile-posts in human affairs that we must plod slowly by and Judge Lindsey and the Commission are reading the signboards they have left behind. There is much to learn from the experience of nations, and it sometimes takes Mother Earth centuries to tell the story of her abundance and to give up the secrets of her hidden wealth.

Farmer Radford has directed attention in a very vivid manner to the need of cheap money on the farm. The statistics which he presents show the farms having a net earning power of four per cent and the farmer paying an average interest rate of 9.97. The farmer is not the only one who needs cheap money. It is badly needed in all other lines of industry, although many of the trades can come nearer shifting the burden than can the farmer. The high interest rate is undoubtedly contributing toward farm peasantry, which is a most alarming specter wherever it occurs. No civilization can better serve its citizens than by placing a home within reach of all.—Commercial Secretaries.

Mrs. S. P. McPherson of Big Valley left Tuesday for Hart to visit her daughter, Miss Bonnie, who is teaching a summer school there. Her mother, Mrs. Johnson, who has been visiting her, left on the same train for her home in Goldsboro.

J. F. Howington of Lowell, Ala., is visiting his brother, B. A. Howington, of the Indian Gap country. This is his first visit to this section and he is of necessity much pleased with this country.

Next Monday will be Trades Day in this city and the stock dealers are making preparations to offer a great many horses and mules for sale and also to buy such animals as are offered.

Mrs. G. B. Brown and children were here from Killeen Saturday and Sunday visiting relatives. Accompanied by Miss Clyde Lowrie, they went to the Driskill ranch the first of the week for a visit to relatives.

Good rains fell in the neighborhoods of Caradan, Star and other points in the county last Sunday.

Mrs. L. T. Brashear has been quite sick for some time and her condition was reported to be quite serious the first of the week, but later reports give hope that she will recover soon. Her son T.P. The burning of 240 feet of trestle on the Santa Fe railroad in the Bayou valley near Brownwood Wednesday night prevented the passage of trains for the west over this route until Thursday night. The west bound passenger train Thursday morning was detoured via San Saba, Brady and over the Frisco to Brownwood, when it again took its way west. The fire was caused by burning grass. It is supposed, and was discovered by a farmer in the neighborhood, who phoned the information to the Brownwood agent.

Dr. Em. Wilson and his wife and two daughters, Misses Annie and Hattie, were called to Lometa the first of the week on account of a distressing accident at that place which caused the death of Mr. J. S. Lowe's little daughter, aged about 12-years-old. The child was at the home of a neighbor playing with other children Tuesday afternoon when a gun that was being handled by one of the children was accidentally discharged, the load taking effect in the little girl's side, making a ghastly and terrible wound. She lived only a few minutes after the accident. The family has the sincere sympathy of all who know of their bereavement.

EMBROIDERY CLUB PICNIC.

On Tuesday morning the telephone was quite busy bearing messages from the Embroidery Club to their friends and visitors, bidding them come to a picnic to be given at the Confederate park on Wednesday afternoon. The hours named were from four to six.

As is well known, an invitation from the charming coterie of women composing this club always presages a most delightful time, and on this occasion our fondest expectations were abundantly realized.

The appointed hour found ten of the club members acting as hostesses to the remainder of the club and special guests, and so warm and cordial were the greetings exchanged between residents and visitors that for a time it seemed as if a reunion of some large family connection must be taking place.

Soon the crowd became thoroughly imbued with the genuine picnic spirit and for the rest of the afternoon King Carnival held full sway. Among the features which had been provided for the entertainment was a giggling contest. Miss Olga Harris and Mrs. William McCall were asked to be the captains and chose sides for this strenuous conflict. Each side took turns laughing for intervals of two minutes each, the object being to make the opponents burst into laughter, and if caught so doing they were added to the ranks of the opposing side.

At first there were merely smiles and smoles and more smiles. Then there were tried and tested in turn the merits of the beatific smile, the benignant smile, the pitying smile, the adoring smile, the aesthetic smile, the bewitching smile, the cherubic smile, the ingratiating smile, the condescending smile, the alluring smile, the seductive smile, the political smile, the esoteric smile, the sagacious smile, the squealing smile, the artistic smile, the neoplastic smile, the withering smile, the satirical smile, the sardonic smile, the cynical smile, the diabolical smile; also were tried the "holier than thou" smile, the haunting smile of the ill fated Mona Lisa, the Teddy grin, the Taft smirk, Bryan's beam, Woodrow's "Tut! Tut!" and the smile of the husband who says to his wife, "I forgive you. Go!"—all these and then some until the ultimate of the absolute had been reached in smile-edom. These were succeeded by giggles, more giggles and most giggles until it was demonstrated that everyone present had laughed most uproariously at nothing whatever.

Next followed a series of old fashioned mirth producing games in which both old and young joined until our attention was called to the arrival of a number of large baskets which contained "the eats." Plates were passed around and as the little boy said, "the party began right then." Delicious sandwiches and their accompaniments, luscious grapes and ice cold watermelon constituted this feast.

In behalf of the visitors, I wish to express my loving appreciation and thanks for such an enjoyable outing, which is already numbered as one of the happy memories which I shall cherish through life.

In addition to the regular club members, the following list of out of town visitors were present: Mrs. J. D. Harris, Plano; Mrs. Simmie Tolard Harris and daughters, Temple; Mrs. William McCall, Waco; Misses Gertrude, Kopperl; Mrs. Waddy Ross and daughter, Fort Worth; Miss Louise Osbourn, Hempstead; Mrs. Patton, Sweetwater; Mrs. Henry Taylor and daughter, San Saba. VISITOR.

If you intend to sell land get your abstract of the title thereto prepared first, otherwise the delay in perfecting your title may cause you to miss a sale.—E. B. ANDERSON, Abstractor.

AMENDMENTS DEFEATED.

The proposed amendments to the state constitution, which were voted on last Saturday, were defeated by a overwhelming majority. In only a few counties did they receive a majority vote and in nearly every county they were disapproved by the voters.

Mills county probably has the honor of giving the largest vote against the amendments of any county in the state, population considered, but the correct state vote has not been made public. In the following table showing the vote on the different amendments they are given as No. 1, 2 and 3, in the order which they appeared on the ticket, the bond amendment being the last on the ticket and given here as No. 3, No. 2 referred to salaries of officers and No. 1 referred to the judiciary.

The secretary of war has been in Texas this week inspecting the troops garrisoned at Texas City.

The prohibition election in Williamson county is to take place next Tuesday and there is much interest in the outcome.

The special session of the legislature convened at noon Monday and was soon organized and at work on matters submitted by the governor.

The Baptist encampment at Lampasas springs commenced this week and will continue until Aug. 3. The attendance is said to be large and represents all sections of the state.

The Standard Oil Co. compromised the penalty suit with the state by paying a half million dollars and placing the affairs of the Magnolia company in the hands of a trustee. The suit was for $102,000,000.

The boiler of a locomotive on the Texas and New Orleans railroad exploded at Kauna, near Houston, last Friday, killing the engineer and fireman and injuring the mail clerks. Low water in the boiler is supposed to have caused the explosion.

Announcement has been made by W. A. Hanger, an attorney of Fort Worth, that he will be a candidate for governor in the next campaign. It is too early to speculate as to the probable winner in the next gubernatorial campaign as some of the avowed candidates of the present will run themselves down before the race starts and there is no telling who will be in the race at the finish.

A number of prohibitionists of Bell county met at Belton last Friday and decided to ask for a prohibition election in the precincts Nos. 1, 2, 5 and 7, of that county and petitions are being circulated to secure the necessary signatures. These precincts include Temple, Belton and Killeen, the three biggest towns of the county. In the Belton meeting some one produced statistics showing that in the four precincts in the last prohibition election there were 149 more pro. votes than anti votes, although the Temple precinct went "wet" in that election.

A 17-year-old delivery driver for the express company was arrested at Lake Charles, La., this week and confessed to having stolen $22,000 from the company last November. He secured a key to the safe and when the other employees were busy with their duties he extracted a package of money consigned to a bank and substituted a package of plain paper. He continued his service with the company and gave no indication of having possession of the money. He led the officers to a chicken house at his home where something near $7,000 was unearthed. A part of the money was found secreted in his uncle's garage and the uncle was also arrested and confessed to having received a part of the stolen money. About $8,000 is still missing.

As an illustration of the lack of faith the American people have in the Mexicans, the provisional president of that country has appointed Felix Diaz a special ambassador to Japan to convey to that country the thanks of his government for the part taken by the Japanese in the Mexican centennial celebration, according to the statements of the Mexican authorities. The press and public of this country are now speculating as to the real mission of the former president's nephew. Some believe the mission is to offer Japan special concessions in Mexico, others think it is to get Diaz out of the way as a possible presidential candidate or to stir up trouble for the United States. Other reasons may have been suggested for his visit, but nobody believes the claim of the ambassador or his people.

LAMPASAS

The parks are filling up with campers and there are new arrivals every day.

News comes from the Atherton neighborhood that the place known as the former Nelson home was burned Sunday afternoon, but it is not known how the fire started or what was saved from the building.

Mrs. T. S. Alexander died about 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, July 16, aged about 40 years. She had been ill for some three months with inflammatory rheumatism and her death was not unexpected.

Mrs. E. Brooks, aged 74 years, met with an accident at Brooks crossing on the Lampasas river Friday by which her arm was broken and her leg was broken just below the knee. She and her husband were on their way to Copperas Cove to visit a son, and stopping at the Lampasas river to allow the horse to drink, the animal became frightened and threw the buggy around in such a way as to cause the accident.

W. H. Simmons has planned to leave Lampasas Monday morning of next week with a large part of his family for a visit, or rather a journey, of some weeks, having in mind to visit with relatives in Williamson county, thence to Austin and San Antonio, thence to Goliad, and on by way of Galveston to Port Arthur Jefferson county and thence by way of Houston and other points to return home.—Leader.

LOMETA

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Russell were in Lometa this week, visiting in the home of Dick Page.

The wool stored in Lometa was sold last week to Mr. Reiner of Llano, the price ranging around 15 cents. There were about 70,000 pounds in this lot.

Mrs. F. M. Henderson, who was taken seriously ill here last week, was taken to Temple Saturday and is being treated at the Santa Fe hospital. The case has developed into typhoid fever. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson had married recently and had made their home in Lometa only a short time.

The home of J. Bryant on Sims creek, ten miles east of Lometa, was destroyed by fire late Sunday afternoon, nothing being saved except a few pieces of bed clothing. It seems the family were all in the yard when the fire started, and the walls were ready to fall before it was discovered. Where or how the fire started is not known.—Reporter.

The most reckless, extravagant woman has a vein of economy somewhere in her composition. Economy is born in a woman. It may not develop in a manner to prove beneficial either to herself or her husband. Yet there will always be some point at which she will look well to the pennies and think and calculate with the ablest financier. She may be willing to pay $100 for a gown, but will shop all over town to save ten cents a yard on the lining. She may spend $5 for a ride in the park, but she will begrudge five cents in car fare when out shopping. She may stint the table at one time and be widely extravagant at another. Or ruin a whole garment by the desire to finish it cheaply, when desire has remorsefully seized her at the last moment, but there is one thing in which she never economizes. When she loves she loves with her whole heart. There is no stint—only a giving of all the wealth of her affection. Therefore, do not laugh at her little economies; simply remember that a woman must be just made up of those conditions that seem so ridiculous to the average masculine mind.—Temple Mirror.

INTENSE CULTIVATION

Cologne, July 5—I wish not to be understood at this time as favoring the same kind of intense cultivation as is seen here. I will explain why. Intense cultivation here is the result of, First: cheap labor; second, high rents; and third, high prices of farm lands. The whole of Europe, so far as we have gone, is not a farm, but a garden in which every inch of soil is cultivated and most frequently with the spade, the rake, and the hoe. Nothing is wasted. All the straw is made into manure, whether eaten by cattle first or trodden under foot. Grass by the road side is cut and carted in and fed to the cattle and then gathered as barnyard manure and put on the plots of ground called farms. Every farmer's wife and daughter make a hand in the field. The hard work of these women make them short, stocky, coarse of features, with hands, feet and muscles similar in size to those of men. But the children are not seen in the fields—they are in school—the law compels attendance of children at school between the ages of 6 and 14 in most European countries.

Back to the question of intense cultivation of farms. One looking at the farms from a car window will no doubt become enthusiastic for intense culture methods. There is no division fence between farms. The whole area presents an appearance of a big farm. There will be a strip of oats, a strip of wheat, another of rye, another of barley, another of hemp, another of hops, another of sugar beets, another of beans, etc. These strips vary in width from 30 to 100 feet, and there is nothing between them except a narrow furrow. I was much puzzled to know why these little strips of land varying in width and in length should be planted in different kind of products. Maybe one strip will be in wheat, the next in hemp, then wheat again. I wondered why they did not put all the wheat together, and all the hemp and all the corn on the same farm together. Why put them in several little plots. I asked members of our Commission who traveled in Europe, and was told that such methods were adopted in order to secure proper rotation of crops and conservation of soil. I doubted this statement, so I went into the country and talked with the farmers. I learned that each of these little strips was a separate farm. A farmer might own several of these farms scattered widely in a community.

If a farmer owns say five of these plots varying in size to half an acre to an acre and a half, and he should have five children, he will bequeath one plot to each child. If he has more children than farms, I presume he divides the strips into smaller strips so as to give each a farm.

These lands sell here in Germany at from $200 to $1200 per acre, according to location and productivity. They rent for from $20 to $90 per acre, but no houses are furnished to the tenants. But there are no tenants such as we have. All farmers own their own homes or rent one in the village. Such as do not own as many little plots of ground as he and his women folks can cultivate, rent other plots of those who may have more than they wish to cultivate. A farm laborer, if a man, receives 50 cents and meals and 75 cents without meals per day; if a woman, 35 cents with meals and 50 cents without meals per day, and by the year a man receives about $100 while a woman gets from $40 to $60 per annum.

So I am forced to the conclusion that intense culture is the result of cheap labor, high prices of land and high rents.

You may not feel interested in these details which I have mentioned, but if you are going to understand the rural banks and rural finances of Europe you must wade through these little details. Whoever thinks he can understand the principles of rural credit here and undertakes to adapt them to American conditions will be an unsafe leader and instructor unless he also understands the farming conditions which gave rise to and developed these rural banks.

 S. A. LINDSEY, Chairman.

A number of girls lost their lives in a fire which destroyed an overall factory where they worked in Binghampton, N. Y., Tuesday afternoon. More than 100 girls were employed in the place and the fire spread so rapidly that many could not escape. The entire building was consumed in 20 minutes.

A recent statement to the effect that English may within a few years become the language of Japan makes interesting some late statistics with regard to the use of leading languages of the world. From these it would appear that English is spoken by 130,000,000 persons, German by 100,000,000 persons, Russian 7,000,000, French by 45,000,000, Spanish by 40,000,000 and Italian by 30,000,000. For obvious reasons the use of the Spanish language is growing very rapidly among people of commercial countries, especially those of Germany, England and the United States.—Christian Science Monitor.

It is very hard to imagine a woman's leaving her sewing machine in the weather. A woman has so much more sense than that. She would not leave even her coffee mill or her meat chopper to be rained on and shined on alternately by the out-of-door elements. It takes a man to be guilty of such folly as is compatible with refusing shelter to the implements of his trade. A man will sometimes whip his boy for losing a dime on the way to the store but the old reprobate would consider it all-fired hard to be himself walloped for having permitted a hundred-dollar mowing machine to rust and rot through a long summer on a weed-grown turnrow. There are in Texas this very minute ten thousand costly pieces of farm equipment, mowers, wheeled rakes, cultivators, planters, wagons and buggies, and one hundred thousand hoes, spades, plows and pitch forks, unused and unsheltered, going rapidly to decay. Implements that ought to last ten years are permitted to become useless in two years solely for the lack of a little care.—Dallas News.

If you are buying land require the seller to furnish you an abstract of his title, so you may know you are getting a good title. If you contemplate selling your land, have an abstract thereto prepared first, so you will know what kind of title you can make to it, as the purchaser is almost sure to want to know. I have the only complete set of abstracts of the land titles of Mills county and will make your abstracts for a reasonable charge and will help you cure your titles if defective.—E. B. Anderson.

FINANCING THE COTON CROP.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 19—I have just closed a canvass for cheap money to finance distress cotton this season and I want to publicly thank the many bankers for their liberal response. We now have in sight sufficient funds to finance interior points and we have provided for unlimited finances at Houston for cotton stored there. We have some 350 warehouses in the interior, and where local banks do not care for the business application should be made through the local union to the headquarters at Fort Worth or the cotton can be sent down to Houston where B. P. Shropshire, our general sales agent, will handle it on a six per cent basis. I estimate that it will require approximately $40,000,000 to finance distress cotton, and I consider that we have approximately this amount available.

The volume of money required will be small, as the farmer will immediately pay off his debts or spend the money he borrows in his home town and the most of it returns to the bank vault before night.

There is no reason why a farmer in Texas should dispose of a single bale of cotton at an unsatisfactory price for the purpose of meeting maturing obligations. The facilities are afforded for borrowing the money at six per cent and the producer can hold the cotton as long as he pleases on those terms.

Many bankers in Texas have, for several years, been lending money to farmers without compensation, or at a very low rate of interest, to buy blooded livestock, build silos, etc., and no usurer whatever bowed at the shrine of a dollar received as large returns on the investment as those bankers who made loans without interest to uplift productive industry. The spirit of the builder which actuated the bankers in these smaller transactions is now extended into the financing of the cotton crop on a mammoth scale and the returns will be correspondingly increased.

The work has had its hardships and has met with such obstacles as all progressive movements invariably encounter. It will have to break the shackles of shiftless habits of many farmers, melt the adamant heart of many bankers and it has become the target of ridicule and suspicion of the near-sighted. I want to here name a few of God Almighty's noblemen, who have co-operated in working out the plans and who have given their time, influence and loaned their money under this arrangement to finance warehouses throughout the entire state: W. H. Eddleman, Ben O. Smith, Fort Worth; B. B. Crain, D. E. Waggoner, Dallas; Joe Hirsch, Corpus Christi; I. H. Kempner, Galveston; James Garrity, Corsicana; Edwin Chamberlain, San Antonio; W. H. Fugua, Amarillo, and hundreds of other bankers who are financing cotton in local warehouses. The parties whose names I have mentioned have loaned money on cotton throughout the entire state.

It is the custom in Texas and other Southern states to market sixty-five per cent of the crop the first three months of harvest season, which results in weakening and oftentimes glutting the market. At least two-thirds of the cotton farmers are tenants, and there is approximately an eighty million dollar mortgage against their crop each year due when the cotton is picked and the farmer is forced to sell to meet his obligations. The bankers will now advance him as much as $35 per bale on his cotton at six per cent interest, payable at his option, which will take the cotton out of distress and enable the farmer to hold it until the price is satisfactory and make a glut easily avoidable. The consumption of cotton is distributed evenly throughout the year and it should be marketed as the spinners demand it. There are so many factories that enter into fixing the price that no one influence can be satisfactorily segregated and reduced to a cash basis, but in my estimation the slow marketing of cotton will increase the farm price at least 2 and one-half to 6 cents per pound net over the price obtained under present methods, making a minimum net saving to the farmer of $50,000,000. It is now up to the farmer to take advantage of the facilities offered. PETER RADFORD, Pres. Farmers' Union.

Leading Drug Store Will Give Money Back Should There Ever Be a Case Where Dodson's Liver Tonic Fails.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a mild, vegetable Liver Tonic which operates so successfully in cases of constipation, torpid liver or biliousness that it has practically taken the place of calomel—the drug which is so often dangerous. R. E. Clements, who sells Dodson's Liver Tonic, recommends it as a relief of constipation, sour stomach, biliousness and sluggish liver. It works gently, surely and harmlessly. If a bottle should ever fail to give satisfaction, R. E. Clements will refund the money paid without question. The price of Dodson's Liver Tonic is 50 cents per bottle. Be sure you get Dodson's Liver Tonic and not some medicine put up in imitation that is not backed up by a guarantee and that may contain harmful drugs.

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Lou Jackson Curtis.

The above named most excellent Christian lady died on June 24, 1913, on the north Llano, at the residence of her son, Mr. T. N. Curtis, with whom she had made her home during the last fifteen years of her life.

She was born January 15, 1836, and as Miss Lou Jackson was married April 12, 1853, to Mr. Curtis at Bentonville, Ark., whom she outlived 17 years. They had born to them thirteen children, eight of whom she outlived; three of the living ones were present at her death.

As far back as the oldest living children can remember their mother was a devout Christian, and she died in the fellowship of the Baptist church. For fifteen years previous to her death she had been sadly afflicted with a trouble for which she was successfully operated upon just previous to her death, and the success of which greatly pleased her, for she said, "I am glad it is all over with at last,"—after she had recovered from the operation.

She frequently talked of heaven and gloryland, and among her last sayings was this one: "I can see the Holy City and I want you all to meet me there."

Her burial took place at the Junction cemetery, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. N. H. Skags, assisted by the pastor of the Junction Baptist church. The thought of the scripture and of the formal discourse was "The blessedness of those who die in the Lord and who have long lived in his service." A large congregation of her relatives and friends attended her burial, and all that medical skill and love of children could do for her while she lived was done.

She took her bed her last birthday, Jan. 15, 1913, and she "pillowed her head upon her Savior's breast and breathed her life out sweetly there," on the 24th day of June, 1913. She had lived in Texas since 1875. She lived a good life, she died a glorious death. Her hoary head did not sink in death beneath a cloud of doubt and fear. But as sweetly as a child whom never thought disturbs nor care encumbers—"Who tired of long play at close of summer's day," lies down and slumbers; so sleeps this child of God, after years of useful life; and sleep she will, without one disturbing dream, until she is awakened on resurrection morn to come back again with her Savior in the clouds.

"Asleep in Jesus! Blessed sleep,
From which none ever wake to weep,
A calm and undisturbed repose,
Unbroken by the last of foes."

FAIR ASSOCIATION.

The Eagle is in hearty sympathy with the proposed plan to organize a county fair association and make the affair one of the permanent enterprises of the county—one that displays the products of the county and at the same time affords entertainment for the people and ultimately pays a dividend for its promoters. Such an enterprise could not be made to pay dividends the first few years, but after securing the grounds, buildings and everything else necessary for the fair and providing for ample premiums for exhibitors there is no reason to believe that the stockholders could not realize at least a reasonable interest on their investment, as well as promote an enterprise that would be beneficial to the whole county and to this part of Texas.

The efforts the Commercial club and the business men of the town have put forth in that direction have shown the plan to be feasible and with careful management and business judgment the fair could soon be put on a basis for doing great good and the Eagle hopes the committee from the Commercial club will have substantial support in the effort to organize a fair association.

When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Sengle, Plainfield, N. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by R. E. Clements. (Advertisement)

SUNRISE BREAKFAST.

It is a well understood fact that the Bachelor Maids of this city always enjoy life, and especially when there is a change from the regular routine of meetings.

The last regular meeting of the club was to have been with Miss Hortense Power, but Miss Power suggested that the meeting be held on top of Cedar Knob before sunrise. This suggestion met with almost unanimous approval, so on Tuesday morning at 4:30 the girls began to make ready for the two and one-half mile trip. After reaching the summit of the knob, it was unanimously voted to build an "elevator" on the site before many more breakfasts would be partaken of there.

The delightful early morning drive and the exercise of climbing the hill had given all such appetites that all thought of a business meeting was forced into the background, and soon a camp fire was blazing and the delicious odor of broiling bacon and boiling coffee wafted down the hillside on the morning breeze.

Quite a number of the club members are spending the summer away from Goldthwaite, but two or three guests were present and when all were seated around the spread the number was exactly thirteen—a lucky thirteen.

The first course was iced canteloupe and this was followed by a breakfast fit for a princess. The sun was high up in the eastern sky before the happy-hearted bevy of "Bachelor Maids" started homeward after such a pleasant morning. XX.

TRANSFER OF SCHOLASTICS.

By act of the last legislature, the scholastic age in Texas was extended from 17 years to 21 years. No provision was made, however, for enrolling those above 17 years of age. This fact has brought numerous inquiries as to the transfer of children between the ages of 17 and 21. The department of education of this state has instructed when any school district has received its apportionment of the state school fund, which apportionment will be determined by the number of children in that district between the ages of 7 and 17 years, then this sum will be pro rated to all the children in the district between the ages of 7 and 21 years. For instance, suppose the census enumerator reports 30 children in his district under 17 years, and that the state apportionment is seven dollars per child. This would give to that district 210 times seven dollars, or two hundred and ten dollars of state school money. Then suppose there are five children in that district over 17 and under 21 years old. That would mean that there are really 35 scholastics in the district, who would share equally the two hundred and ten dollars—each child getting one thirty-fifth of the two hundred and ten dollars, or six dollars. Then should any child under 21 years of age and above seven years be transferred to another district than his own, he would be entitled to have transferred for his benefit six dollars. The transfer of children above the age of 17 years may be made at any time of the year there may appear a need for it.

Very respectfully,

S. H. ALLEN.

Ex-Officio, Supt. Mills county.

The happiest man in the world is the common, every day chap, who makes his own living, pays his own bills and has the respect of his neighbors. He saves a little money as he goes along, but he doesn't try to get a corner on his local output and he is not a slave to ambition or society. He never expects to wear out his trousers in the senate and when he glides out of bed in the morning he never wastes any time trying to pick out the right tint of socks, suspenders and necktie that will blend with the general effect. He only wears a high collar—when he feels like it and when his pet corns begin to jump he jerks out his knife and cuts out a four-inch gash in the side of his shoe and nothing is said about it in the local paper. He never has to sit up at night to poultice his conscience. He believes in the doctrine of live and let live. When he encounters one of the needy he doesn't stutter with his pocket-book. The plain plug of a man is happy because he is satisfied and he doesn't spend half of his time yearning for something which his salary will not permit him to buy. Give us more plain men and the world will be better.—Lubbock Avalanche.

A communication to the daily papers from Philadelphia, Pa., says that what is said to be an archeological discovery of great interest to scholars the world over is announced by the museum of the University of Pennsylvania. It is a shattered tablet, upon particles of which, pieced together, are inscribed many of the missing laws from the code of King Hamurabi, who ruled Babylonia at a period estimated at about 2,300 B. C. Most of the laws, as deciphered, refer to financial transactions, and one contains the germ from which, perhaps, sprang all bankrupt laws of the last 4,000 years. No criminal statutes are expounded.

There is a great deal of criticism of Secretary Bryan for engaging in chatauqua work while holding a responsible position in the cabinet. It would seem that his time would be pretty well taken up with his official duties, but then he says the $12,000 salary allowed by the government for the secretary of state is not enough to pay his living expenses.

Waddy Ross and his wife and daughter arrived last Saturday for a visit to relatives. They made the trip from Fort Worth in their automobile.

YOU ARE THE JURY.

Hear the Testimony of Goldthwaite People and Decide the Case.

Doan's Kidney Pills are on trial—are being tried every day for weak kidneys—for exhausting kidney backaches. What is the verdict? Read Goldthwaite testimony—personal experiences of Goldthwaite witnesses. There can only be one verdict—a chorus of approval.

J. Taff, proprietor Taff hotel, Goldthwaite, Texas, says: "For two years I was subject to attacks of backache, often being unable to get about. When stooping, like a flash of lightning, a pain shot through my kidneys and I was unable to move. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Clements' Drug Store, relieved me and I have not been bothered for several months. Doan's Kidney Pills certainly live up to representations and should be in every home."

The above statement was given May 28, 1909, and when Mr. Taff was interviewed on October 24, 1911, he said: "Nothing has occurred to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I willingly confirm the public statement I gave in their praise three years ago."

For Sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A Good Investment.

W. D. Magli, a well known merchant of Whitewater, Wis., bought a stock of Chamberlain's medicine so as to be able to supply them to his customers. After receiving them he was himself taken sick and says that one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was worth more to him than the cost of his entire stock of these medicines. For sale by R. E. Clements. (Adv.)
