FLIES FORERUNNERS OF PESTILENCE.

By Mrs. E. P. Turner, Chairman Rural Homes and Schools Farm Life Commission.

The fly is the undertaker's traveling salesman and it is an able servant of the grim monster, death. This is the fly season and eternal vigilance is the price of health. Every house should be well screened and a vigorous war of extermination should be waged on every fly that crosses the threshold. It has been estimated that if every person would kill ten flies per day for thirty days there would be no flies upon the face of the earth. A swarm of flies hovering over the table and contaminating the victuals with slime and filth is disease entering the home.

Flies are the forerunners of pestilence, and advance agents of the doctor and they make business for the undertaker. There are many ingenious devices for trapping the flies and for protection against their entering the house and all effective agencies should be employed in fighting this arch enemy of health. Every day should be fly day at the home. Kill the fly; remove all filth; destroy decaying vegetation and stamp out the breeding ground of the fly.

Jno. W. Holder returned to his home in Holder, Ark., the first of the week, after a visit to his daughter, Mrs. Joe Allen, and family in this city. He also stopped in Dallas to see his daughter, Mrs. Ed Dalton.

A very interesting talk was made to the Home Mission Society Monday afternoon by Mrs. Jno. J. Cox of San Angelo.—Killeen Herald.

Walter Henry of South Benett was among the visitors to Galveston on the excursion.

HARRIS-SWAYNE.

On Friday evening at 10 o'clock at the residence of Rev. E. V. Cox on the South Side Miss Carrie Swayne became the bride of Charles Harris of this city. None save the immediate family of the minister were present, relatives and friends of the young couple having been kept in ignorance of the step which they intended to take.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Swayne and having been reared in Temple, has very many good friends who will hear with keen interest of the step which means so much happiness in her life. She is attractive of person and personality and possessed of those womanly virtues which will be the foundation stone of the home which she will make in her new responsibilities as wife of the man she loves. Mr. Harris is cashier of the John Finnegan company at this point and since he came to reside in Temple has made many friends. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Harris of Goldthwaite, one of the oldest and prominent families financially and socially of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Harris will make their home with her parents for the present.—Temple Telegram.

Charley Harris was reared here and is one of the most popular, as well as most deserving young men that ever grew to manhood here. His bride has visited friends here often and has a large circle of admiring friends here as well as in her home community.

The Eagle joins the many friends of the popular young couple in extending good wishes and congratulations.

H. G. Bodkin was called to San Saba Monday morning to embalm the body of a young lady who died Sunday night. Mr. Bodkin is a licensed embalmer and has calls from different parts of the country for his professional services.

F. F. Henry and family were visitors to this city from Star Monday.

FARM FACTS.

(By Peter Radford, president Farmers' Union.)

Poverty and responsibility are great teachers.

Anything you are afraid of is going to get you.

Opportunity is the only knocker that is welcome.

The oil-can makes farm work easier—if you use it.

He who takes his own time generally takes other people's too.

The business of the rural borrower adds to the wealth of the nation.

Each year 2400 farmers are stricken by the bludgeon of a stupid market system.

The beauty of the products of the soil gives human life its first entertainment.

In all the farmer's operations the nick of time is the tick of accomplishment.

Don't kill it because it is a bug. That particular bug may be a very good friend.

Life, liberty and pursuit of happiness and health had their origin on the farm.

Farming for prizes is unprofitable farming and has no legitimate place in agriculture.

He that rises late must tread all day and shall scarce overtake his business at night.

The devastating forces of nature can not do more than affect the product of the farm for a single year.

The fair should be made to accurately reflect the agricultural achievements of the community and state.

When the farmer is only troubled with "Meeting the demand" instead of "Finding a market", prosperity is staring him in the face.

The solution of the problem of a better money return from the soil and of a fuller social return from the country life is one of the most pressing tasks before the country.

Lee H. Level of this city has quite a curiosity in a Jersey heifer 2-years old, which gives one gallon of milk per day, notwithstanding she has no calf and is scarcely more than a calf herself.

Alfred Schweining and wife returned to their home in Kimble county the first of the week, after a visit to relatives here and at Shive.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Harris made a visit to San Saba Tuesday.

R. Schuster and wife of Priddy boarded the train here Tuesday to go to Temple, where Mrs. Schuster was to receive treatment in the sanitarium.

Mrs. J. D. Priddy and daughter, Miss Blanche, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. I. H. Davis, of Priddy, boarded the train here Monday morning to go to Snider in response to a message announcing the serious illness of one of her brothers.

I have installed a McCray Refrigerator in my store and am now prepared to keep butter, eggs, cheese and other produce in cold storage, insuring it to be fresh and wholesome all the time.—W. E. Grisham.

The Eagle acknowledges with thanks the receipt of a season ticket to the San Saba Fair, which is one of the largest and best county fairs in the state and will continue to be among the best as long as they keep such men as Judge Smith and S. E. Kelley in charge of it.

A copy of the "Trail," the annual magazine issued by the Daniel Baker college of Brownwood has been received by the Eagle. This is one of the nicest college publications we have seen and is a credit to the college from which it is issued. Daniel Baker is one of the leading colleges of the state and is growing in usefulness as well as patronage.

SELECTING COTTON SEED.

The average farmer picks his cotton as it opens, gins it, sells lint and seed, and then, about the last of the season hauls home seed enough for the next year's planting. In this way as a rule he saves the latest and poorest seed.

If, when the cotton begins to open, the farmer, with as much intelligent help as the size of the crop will warrant, will go through the field and select the early big bolls that are grown on short-jointed, vigorous, well-fruited stalks until he has saved enough to furnish seed for next year's planting, and would have this seed ginned to itself and carefully store it where it will not heat, it is safe to say that the next season's crop would ripen ten or fifteen days earlier than the average of this year's crop, and that the yield would be practically doubled.

It would be just as reasonable to shake down the apples promiscuously from a tree and take them to the fair, hoping to win a premium in competition with a man who had selected only the choicest specimens, or to turn all of your stock loose to breed indiscriminately instead of forcing the survival of the fittest by the most rigid selection, and expect to improve your stock, as it is to plant seed of any kind without selecting with the greatest of care the most vigorous and the best, and hope for good results.

It is fair to say that ten per cent of the cotton seed selected as above suggested, is infinitely superior to the average of the other ninety per cent; therefore, if you want only the average of the whole you invite deterioration at nine to one.

Every cotton grower, from the man who raises one bale to the man who raises one hundred bales can very greatly increase his yield and his profit by this simple and inexpensive method.

This is something that you can do in your own field; try it!

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Thursday afternoon Judge Allen's family met with a serious accident when their automobile ran against a telephone post and several of the occupants of the car were bruised. The car was being driven by Miss Lois Allen and in some way she lost control of it while coming down Fisher street and it ran against the telephone post with great force. The young lady was thrown violently against the steering wheel and was bruised and injured to some extent, but it is hoped there will be no serious results. Mrs. Allen and the children were bruised slightly, but their injuries were not painful.

The car was damaged considerably, although the cost of repairing it will be small.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

“I was attacked with dysentery about July 15, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief,” writes B. W. Hill, of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by R.E. Clements. (Advertisement.)

TRADES DAY.

A Great Success From Every Standpoint—Everybody Pleased.

Trades Day in Goldthwaite was a great success and all interested appeared to be pleased with the result. There were horses and mules from every part of the county and from adjoining counties brought to this market on that day. In fact, it was much more of a success than was expected by the promoters.

So many animals were brought in that it was impossible to complete the sale until Tuesday noon.

Buyers were here from several different places and at times the bidding was spirited and the animals are all believed to have sold well and something more than $20,000 was paid out here on that day for live stock. Ross Bros. of Fort Worth shipped four cars, Frank Kring of San Antonio, two cars; Dave Berry of Lampasas, two cars; Boyd & Wolf of Alto, one car; Mr. Boykin of Evant, one car. Several other buyers from Brownwood, Lometa and elsewhere were here and purchased horses and mules which they drove through the country.

The buyers who have attended sales elsewhere stated that the Goldthwaite sale was one of the most successful they had ever attended and announced a determination of coming back to the next Trades Day, which will be the fourth Monday in August.

Those who have horses and mules to sell should remember the Goldthwaite Trades Day and bring in their stock on that day, for they will have the advantage of a large number of buyers who are anxious to make purchases and will pay the outside prices for stock.

TRANSFER OF SCHOLASTICS.

By act of the last legislature, the scholastic age in Texas was extended from 17 years to 21 years. No provision was made, however, for enrolling those above 17 years of age. This fact has brought numerous inquiries as to the transfer of children between the ages of 17 and 21. The department of education of this state has instructed when any school district has received its apportionment of the state school fund, which apportionment will be determined by the number of children in that district between the ages of 7 and 17 years, then this sum will be pro rated to all the children in the district between the ages of 7 and 21 years. For instance, suppose the census enumerator reports 30 children in his district under 17 years, and that the state apportionment is seven dollars per child. This would give to that district 30 times seven dollars, or two hundred and ten dollars of state school money. Then suppose there are five children in that district over 17 and under 21 years old. That would mean that there are really 35 scholastics in the district, who would share equally the two hundred and ten dollars—each child getting one thirty-fifth of the two hundred and ten dollars, or six dollars. Then should any child under 21 years of age and above seven years be transferred to another district than his own, he would be entitled to have transferred for his benefit six dollars. The transfer of children above the age of 17 years may be made at any time of the year there may appear a need for it. Very respectfully,

S. H. ALLEN.

Ex-Officio, Supt. Mills county.

HORSE DROWNED.

A dead horse with a saddle on has been seen floating down the river this week and has been reported from several points. The finding of the animal in the river started several rumors and also the number of animals drowned increased somewhat. The Eagle has investigated the matter as fully as possible and has been unable to learn of but one horse drowned and that was said to be the property of Mr. Joe Bollinger of the Regency country. According to information given the Eagle, Mr. Bollinger rode into the river at the ford at Regency, not knowing the stream was too deep to ford, and the animal became entangled in the bridle reins and was drowned. If there was more than one horse drowned the Eagle has been unable to learn about it.

CELEBRATION PROPOSED.

Some of the citizens of the county have proposed that we have a "Home Coming" at Goldthwaite on Sept. 12 to celebrate the completion of the new court house and the county's twenty-sixth birthday. The plan is a good one, the Eagle believes, and should have the hearty endorsement of all the people. Such a celebration would attract a great many of the former citizens of the county and would also be the occasion of the citizens of the county coming together.

The sale of town lots in Goldthwaite took place on Sept. 2, 1885, and the county was organized Sept. 12, 1887. The first regular term of district court was held in the old building on Fisher street known as Dillingham hall and the beautiful new court house that ornaments the square as well as the entire county makes quite a contrast which would be more appreciated, perhaps, by the former citizens of the county than those who have been residents in later years and have kept up with the advancement that has been made.

It is proposed to arrange for an entertainment of some character in the new court house on this home coming occasion at which time funds can be raised for building the monument over the old well to D.H. Mayar and B. F. Cox, who risked their lives in removing the body of Mr. Peyton from the well when he was overcome by damp when the well was being dug.

COMMISSIONERS COURT.

The court met in special session Monday and transacted some important business.

The returns from the constitutional amendment election were examined and found to be as published in the Eagle of last week.

A petition from a large number of citizens at Mullin asking for an election to determine whether or not a pool hall should be operated in that town was granted and the election ordered for Aug. 16.

Returns from the special school tax election in Ebony district were examined and the result found to be favorable to the special school tax of 45 cents on $100 valuation in that district, 28 voters favoring the tax and 10 opposing it.

The resignation of Seaborn Jones as constable at Mullin was received and L. W. Wigley was appointed to fill the unexpired term.

B. F. Lones was appointed overseer of the Goerhour and Rock Springs road.

SCHOLASTIC CENSUS.

The scholastic census of Mills county has been compiled and there are 1900 scholastics in the county outside of the independent districts of Goldthwaite, Mullin and Star. Of this number 973 are males and 927 females. In Goldthwaite independent district there are 352 scholastics, of which number 159 are male and 172 female. Mullin has a total of 181, of which 104 are male and 77 female. Star has 101, of which 53 are male and 48 female. The grand total of scholastics in the county reaches 2534 and of that number 1310 are male and 1224 female. All of these scholastics are Americans except 108 Germans and 15 Mexicans.

Last year there were 1999 scholastics in the county outside of Goldthwaite and Mullin. In Goldthwaite there were 342 scholastics and in Mullin 219.

SPECIAL TAX ELECTIONS.

The people of the various school districts of the county are vitally interested in educational matters and in most of the districts special tax levies have been voted to increase the school funds. Some will increase this levy and others where there is no special tax want one levied. Several elections on the subject have been ordered and others are to be ordered. Following districts are to vote on the special tax proposition:

Duren district votes on the matter of 25 cents special tax today; Meril Creek will vote on the matter of a 50 cent tax next Saturday. On Aug. 16 an election for a 25 cent special tax is to be held at Priddy, and on Aug. 23 the people of Moline will vote on the proposition to levy a 50 cent special tax. The people of Prairie district are arranging for an election for a special tax and the election will probably be held Aug. 23, although no order has yet been made.

The rupture between Governor Colquitt and Col. Jake Wolters may have some important political bearings in the next campaign. The trouble appears to have originated over the governor's discussion of the candidacy of a Fort Worth lawyer for governor.

State Senator Murray of Hallettsville has been appointed fiscal agent for the state penitentiaries and has entered upon his duties. It is understood that Governor Colquitt will appoint him manager of the penitentiaries if the present session of the legislature creates that office.

The Buffalo Bill show has gotten into financial difficulties and bankruptcy proceedings have been commenced. The Temple Telegram Publishing company has been incorporated for $50,000. A young lady stenographer in one of the prominent office buildings in Dallas was murdered Monday morning about 9 o'clock, while she was engaged with her duties, her head being almost severed from her body by a slash from some sharp instrument. Other occupants of the building did not hear a commotion of any kind in the office and the murder was not discovered for some time.

The shooting of an immigration inspector of the United States by Mexican federal soldiers at Jaurez last Saturday, lends a rather serious aspect to the situation along the border. As long as the greasers respect the flag and citizens of this government we have no interest in their internal difficulties, but if they want trouble from this side of the Rio Grande they can likely arrange for it.

State Press of the Dallas News puts his ideas regarding "woman's rights" pretty strong in the following: "Voting doesn't demoralize husbands, therefore, it seems unlikely that it will demoralize wives. Most men who oppose woman suffrage can not get it out of their heads that woman is still a bond servant. That it is her bounden duty to keep house for some man. It is merely a survival of the aboriginal social state, the time when brute man by reason of his superior strength forced brute woman into servitude. Fortunately—but not necessarily—woman wants to keep house. She is adapted to house-keeping, she is a success at it. But to say that she has sense enough to keep house and morals enough to raise children, but not sense enough to vote nor morals enough to keep herself uncontaminated in politics, is to insult her. And any man who insults woman as a sex insults his own mother and his own wife."

TEXAS FARM LIFE COMMISSION.

London, England, July 9—What has my investigation of rural conditions in Continental Europe taught me? I can speak for myself only for the Commission has made no verdict and will not until a careful study of all evidence gathered has been made. Answering the question asked above for the London correspondent of the Hearst papers in America, I replied:

First: Agricultural advance in the last dozen years is evident. This advance is due mainly to the following causes: Rise in price of farm products, better methods of production, which are the intelligent uses of fertilizers, the universal planting of carefully bred and selected seeds, and the raising of the best types of farm animals obtainable, co-operative preparation of farm products for market and co-operative selling in wholesale quantities, and to systems of finance and credit suited to agricultural needs. Thus agriculture in Continental Europe is not only an active industry, but a business as well, thoroughly efficient in production, marketing and finance.

Second: That prices of agricultural products in Continental Europe are higher than they are in the United States, and that this is due to ample home market protected in all instances from competition with American products by distance and transportation charges and in many instances by tariff laws, and the excellent and attractive condition farm products are put into for market.

Third: Agricultural prosperity stimulates all branches of industry and fills a nation with strength, contentment and general prosperity, with all the appearance of permanency.

Fourth: That co-operative preparation of farm products for market, co-operative marketing and co-operative agricultural financing and credit help industries and business of a nation, because these are but the complements of agriculture, without which it is inefficient, and by means of which the nation is fed more cheaply and at prices more uniform than in our own country, where agriculture receives smaller returns.

Fifth: The rural credits and rural finance are built upon the same principles as commercial credit and finance. That is, it is as feasible to construct a system of finance and credit for agriculture as it is for commerce, and that a system of finance and credits suited to the needs of agriculture are as helpful and stimulating to agriculture as they are to commerce and business. That commerce and agriculture are so unlike in their nature that it is quite improbable that one system of finance and credit can be constructed that will comprehend the needs of both. And lastly that rural banks and credit societies are not hurtful to commercial banks, but are helpful. I have seen many instances where commercial banks purchase the debentures of land mortgage institutions and discount the paper of rural banks and credit societies.

Sixth: The greatest good of co-operative preparation of farm products for market, co-operative selling and co-operative financing is that they educate the farmer in the school of business, build character by rewarding it, open his mind to the ways and needs of all business with which he becomes an ally and his heart to his fellowman whom he aids and from whom he has received aid, causing him to realize as only experience can teach, the value and strength of collective enterprise.

Seventh: That compulsory and vocational education gives to the citizens of Europe preparation for life and habits of thoroughness, which if our people possessed along with their initiative and resourcefulness, would make ours easily the strongest people of the world.

S. A. LINDSEY, Chairman.

EASY RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION.

The Remedy that Replaces Calomel Causes No Restriction of Habit or Diet.

It is a mistake to take calomel when your liver is lazy and needs toning up. Hundreds of people in this section have discovered that Dodson's Liver Tone is a thousand times better and safer and its action is just as sure. There are none of the bad after-effects of calomel to Dodson's Liver Tone and no danger of salivation.

For attacks of constipation or biliousness one or two spoonfuls of this mild, pleasant-tasting, vegetable liquid are enough and R. E. Clements gives a personal guarantee that every bottle will do all that is claimed for it. Money back in any case where it fails. Dodson's Liver Tone costs only 50c for a large bottle. Remember the name, because there are any number of remedies sold in imitation of Dodson's claims. Some of them have names very similar to Dodson's Liver Tone and are in same color package. These imitations are not guaranteed and may be very harmful. Go to R. E. Clements and you will surely get the genuine. (Adv.)

GOOD MEETINGS ELSEWHERE

No Fifth Sunday Meeting for Mills County.

In reading the papers we see where Coleman county, Brown county, Comanche county, Hamilton county, Erath county and Lampasas county all held their Fifth Sunday meetings in June. All report having a good meeting, but no meeting for Mills county. Oh, brethren and sisters, is it true that we, the Baptists of Mills county, are getting so busy with the cares and work of this world that we haven't time to work the works of God? for we are his workmanship, created in Jesus Christ, and if we fail in this we fail in the very purpose he created us for. Oh, that our hearts may be made to feel and our eyes to see how little we are doing for the cause and kingdom of our Blessed Savior here on earth. Whatsoever is gained on earth is gained in heaven and whatsoever is lost on earth shall be lost in heaven. Every true child of God has a work to do and Oh, the souls that we might point to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world. Oh that we may be up and about our Father's business. Is it nothing to us, Oh, we Christians! that so many precious souls in our own home land and country are living on in sin and darkness and each day brings them nearer a sinner's grave, without God or hope in His Son? How can we idly sit and slumber while our dear ones go on down to eternity, unprepared to meet their God? If their precious souls are lost on earth they will be lost in heaven. Lost, lost! Forever lost!

Is it nothing to us, Oh, we Christians, that all over our land precious souls are pleading for the touch of a Saviour's hand? They are seeking and trying to find Him, and although He is ready to save, yet they are dying without God and filling a sinner's grave.

Is it nothing to you, Oh you Christians! that in our foreign lands you have never trod, the heathen are dying every day and dying without God. They have never heard the story of the loving Lord who saves, yet they are sinking every day in the sinners' graves, and it is nothing to you, Oh you Christians!

Can you have naught to do, careless Christians. Oh, heed the voice of God and help lead lost sinners from darkness to eternal life and don't neglect another Fifth Sunday meeting. H. J. L.

BRIDGE NEEDS REPAIRS.

The bridge across the Colorado river at Regency is reported to be in a bad condition and a considerable amount will be necessary to make the repairs. Commissioner Haynes of this county and Commissioner Murray of San Saba county inspected the bridge Thursday and decided that an expenditure of something like $1000 would be necessary to place the bridge in a condition that would be safe for the travel. The bridge is the property of San Saba county, while it spans the river between the two counties. The matter of sharing the expense of the repairs has been referred to the Mills county court, but it is not known what action that body will take. If it is found that the funds of Mills county can be used for the purpose of making repairs on another county's property. The fact that the mail for Regency is carried from Richland Springs makes the bridge important to the people of that section when the river is too high for fording and it is also thought that the new gin being built at Regency will attract considerable cotton from San Saba side of the river, which adds to the importance of the bridge. The matter will likely be disposed of by the August term of commissioners court.

I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by R. E. Clements. (Ad)

THAT PRAIRIE SCHOOL.

The trustees of Prairie school district, No. 42, Messrs. Bailey, Hugh Henry and W. C. Johnston, and a number of other citizens of the school district were in Goldthwaite Wednesday on business pertaining to the school. Their bond issue of $31,500 has been sold to the state school fund and Judge Allen has already received and deposited warrants for $1,518.96 as the sale price.

This district has an unusual history. It was a part of a county line common school district being coupled with territory of Brown and Comanche counties, at the time, a few years ago, when the supreme court of the state held that there was no constitutional right vested in county commissioners courts to create county line districts. Soon after this opinion the commissioners court of this county created a school district of the Mills county territory involved. A little later a constitutional amendment was adopted, validating county line districts. Then it was that the right of Mills county's part of the old district to secede from Brown and Comanche counties was denied, and the most memorable fight in the school history of the county began. The matter got into district court and came to trial in Brownwood before Judge Jno. W. Goodwin in the spring of 1911. The plucky little district, fighting for separate, independent existence, was represented by Judge E. B. Anderson of Goldthwaite and T. C. Wilkerson of Brownwood. Judge Goodwin rendered judgment against the Mills county side. Nothing daunted, they appealed the case. The court of appeals reversed the case and rendered judgment in favor of the Mills county district.

Not alone for their long, brave fight should our people of that district be commended, but for the fact also, that though their public schools funds were tied up by the court and not a cent of it could be used by them for two years, they maintained by private subscription one of the best two-teacher schools in the county. "A fight is good for those strong enough to wage it," some one has said. When we see that society of the highest type and educational ideals rarely met with are possessions of the people who fought this continued battle, and that their educational spirit is equalled by very few communities anywhere, we are inclined to believe the statement. The new house will be completed by them in time for the fall opening of their school. It is a strictly modern building, planned and constructed throughout according to the most up-to-date government plans. The zeal of these people for the best in education has already had telling effect upon the aspirations of their children. It has impressed them that a country school is something worth while, and as a consequence, their progress in school is remarkable. Such zeal, such unflinching perseverance, such emphasis on education and higher things of How the Trouble Starts.

Constipation is the cause of many ailments and disorders that make life miserable. Take Chamberlain's tablets, keep you bowels regular and you will avoid these diseases. For sale by R. E. Clements.

The American people will not accept Ambassador Wilson's idea that the rule of Huerta in Mexico should be supported by this government. They can not forget the manner in which the big greaser secured the reins of government in his country, neither can they forgive Ambassador Wilson for his failure to protest when it was known that President Madero was to be murdered. If he did not know of the contemplated crime, then his ignorance of affairs around him was inexcusable.

A book recently published in London is a strong but temperately worded plea for a serious and combined attack upon that most potent source of disease, the domestic fly. As we read the indictment we feel that the Jews were not very far wrong when they made the devil "the lord of flies," for humanity has no more persistent, dangerous or universal enemies. Most especially is the common fly the foe of young children, for thousands upon thousands of fatal cases of infantile enteritis can be traced to the infection conveyed by the fly, while the stable fly, that beast which looks like a housefly and bites like a stoat, is largely responsible for infantile paralysis. For the fly there is nothing whatever to be said. Such work as it does in scavenging is much more than counteracted by the infection it conveys, and if we could get rid of the whole race, as they have got rid of the locusts in South Africa, the world would be a much cleaner and healthier place.—London Globe.

Young man, be a gentleman; it is as easy as being a rowdy and pays a whole lot better, observes Bert Walker. There is nothing smart in being "tough." The kids you see nowadays who are rowdies, who get drunk and swear and make all around asses of themselves, are the fellows who in later years fill poor houses and jails. They are the ones who have no home, no friends, no money—the ones the policemen tell to move on. If you play ball, be a gentleman. The crowd will applaud you a whole lot more when you make a good play and guy you less when you make an error. The gentleman has friends everywhere—the rowdy none. The rowdy and tough come to a premature old age and privation; the gentleman lives long and walks in green pastures with friends to help him over the rough spots. Be a gentleman because there is money in it. Be a gentleman, it will pay you dividends when everything else is below par. Be a gentleman and in the final wind up it will bring flowers to your bier and eulogies to your memory.—Clarendon News.

It has come to be quite the custom either from a lack of the requisite time or from a natural dislike for the work for men to slip the cares of shopping to feminine shoulders, and whether they acknowledge it or not they feel very sure that in the majority of cases it will be well done. There may be any number of humorous arrows aimed at the bargain hunters, but usually a woman does not purchase unsatisfactory merchandise. According to statements made by buyers in the stores, women are coming to know materials so thoroughly that they recognize very quickly whether they are all wool, cotton, silk or mercerized. The average man goes into a store to select a necktie and if the color suits his fancy he takes it and depends upon the price asked for the quality of the material, while a woman selecting the same tie will rub it between her fingers, pull out a thread or so and test in several ways. If the result is satisfactory she will ask the price and if she considers the tie is as good value for the money as she can get further up the street, she will make the purchase.—Exchange.

An old pioneer who was in this county when there were ten snakes to where there is one now, and who has seen hundreds of men bitten by all kinds of venomous snakes, and has been bitten twice himself and suffered no harm, asks that the following recipe be published, that people may preserve it and have it handy in case of a snake bite: Break an egg into a cup and beat it up just a little, then stir thick with gunpowder so it will spread on a cloth. Apply to the wound and change every hour for six hours. Give the patient a little whiskey, or some good stimulant that has whiskey in it. This prescription is highly recommended not only for the bite of poisonous snakes, but for the sting or bite of a spider, centipede, or other poisonous insects.—Robert Lee Observer.

Those European nations which have hinted and whispered dissatisfaction with Uncle Sam's policy as to Mexico, are noticeably refraining from taking an active part in the war of the Balkans. Of course, Uncle Sam, Monroe doctrine or no, would not permit Europe to come over here and shake up Mexico. No more would Europe permit Uncle Sam to go over there and yank the Bulgars or the Serbs around. This side of the ocean is his territory, you side theirs. And after they have succeeded in letting the Balkan warriors settle their own internal difficulties probably Uncle Sam will have succeeded in letting the Mexicans settle the Mexicans. There is a lot more to war than the hurrah business.—Dallas News.

YOU ARE THE JURY.

Hear the Testimony of Goldthwaite People and Decide the Case.

Doan's Kidney Pills are on trial—are being tried every day for weak kidneys—for exhausting kidney backaches. What is the verdict? Read Goldthwaite testimony—personal experiences of Goldthwaite witnesses. There can only be one verdict—a chorus of approval.

J. Taff, proprietor Taff hotel, Goldthwaite, Texas, says: "For two years I was subject to attacks of backache, often being unable to get about. When stooping, like a flash of lightning, a pain shot through my kidneys and I was unable to move. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Clements' Drug Store, relieved me and I have not been bothered for several months. Doan's Kidney Pills certainly live up to representations and should be in every home."

The above statement was given May 28, 1909, and when Mr. Taff was interviewed on October 24, 1911, he said: "Nothing has occurred to change my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. I willingly confirm the public statement I gave in their praise three years ago."

For Sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. (Adv.)

Good Reason For His Enthusiasm.

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea, or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and is this the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by R. E. Clements. (Adv)
