An exchange very rightly says: Every farmer should be impressed with the importance of saving the crops at the earliest possible moment and with the least possible waste. This is a time to save that which our farms have produced with a desire to use these products in an economical manner. Food and feed should have first consideration, then the surplus should be marketed to the best advantage.

S. T. Weathers and C. E. Strickland were business visitors to Hamilton the first of the week.

Joseph W. Allen was here from Waco early in the week, looking after business matters.

PLAN TO ENTERTAIN

The Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church will entertain the ladies of the Methodist church, together with the ladies who are strangers in the city and teachers in the public schools, next Monday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock in the parsonage. Mrs. J. W. Allen has been in Temple and Waco this week visiting relatives.

One of the pleasant callers at the Eagle office Tuesday was Mr. Gid Watson of Mol'ne,

Preventable fire is more than a private misfortune. It is a public dereliction. At a time like this of emergency and of manifest necessity for the conservation of national resources, it is more than ever a matter of deep and pressing consequence that every means should be taken to prevent this evil—Woodrow Wilson

Again has the presence of a German submarine been reported off the Atlantic coast of America. It is believed that some of these undersea craft are in operation in the Pacific.

The young men were called to assemble in Goldthwaite on Wednesday for arrangements for the trip to the training camp and many of their relatives and friends came with them to bid them good-bye and God-speed.

At 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Rev. W. R. White delivered a most appropriate and appreciated address in the court house to the soldier boys on the subject of the soldier and the man. His advice to the boys was most helpful and timely and was apparently appreciated by all of them.

Reception

W. C. Dew of the Trent State Bank prepared a reception for the young men on the court house lawn Wednesday night, at which time an immense congregation was present to do honor to the soldier boys. Music was furnished by the Goldthwaite band and ice cream and cold drinks were served. Mr. Dew acted as master of ceremonies and after the call of the roll by the military board appropriate and well-worded addresses were delivered by Judge E. B. Anderson, Mr. J. C. Darroch and Judge L. E. Patterson. Rev. I. T. Morris was last on the program and after a few remarks he offered a prayer for the well-fare and Divine care of the soldier boys who were leaving their homes to do military duty. The sentiment of his prayer was a reflection of the wishes of all the vast assembly.

At the close of the reception the young soldiers were called into line by the military board and marched to the railroad station, preceded by the band and procession of Loyal Girls and accompanied by a throng of people, variously estimated at from 1000 to 2000, many of whom were from a distance and some from other counties.

A Pretty Courtesy

The Loyal Girls of America prepared comfort bags, filled with many little necessities for the boys, such as needles, thread, combs, brushes, etc., and also a box of candy for each. These splendid girls worked hard and unselfishly to provide the remembrances for the boys and the pretty courtesy and thoughtfulness was appreciated not only by the soldier boys, but by the entire citizenship.

A Fast Train

The soldiers left at 9:53 on a special train which was to carry them to the training camp on a schedule of 50 miles per hour and it was only 3 minutes late when it reached this station.

Third Detachment

The third list of soldiers will leave here on the night of Oct. 3, if there is no change in the order. They will be entertained on the night of their departure by Mr. Dew in the same way he entertained the young men Wednesday night and the citizens have a pressing invitation to participate.

Thanks By Board

The military board requests the Eagle to extend thanks to the public and the soldiers for the good order maintained and the hearty co-operation.

R. M. THOMPSON, Editor

The I W W organization has succeeded in bringing on several strikes in the northwest and western states. Ship builders, miners, workers at lumber mills and other lines of industry have been seriously disturbed by the "I Won't Work" crowd.

President Wilson this week issued a proclamation calling upon school children to co-operate in the Red Cross work by joining the Junior department of that organization and assisting in sewing as well as preparing supplies for the needy and those on the battle field.

It is the duty of every citizen to assist in the conservation of the nation's food supply, not that we as a nation are facing a shortage that may mean starvation, but in order that those of the countries where a sufficient food supply is not produced may have a source of supply that will not fail them.

Military authorities have announced that the trial by court martial of the negroes implicated in the riot and murders at Houston will begin at El Paso in about another week and that the trial will be public. Judging from the reports of the court and the preparation for the trial the case who went on the rampage are going to get what is coming to them.

So persistent has been the rumor that the government contemplated commandeering all canned and dried food products from homes of the citizens that a denial by the commissioner at Washington has been necessary. No such plan has ever been even thought of by the department and the circulation of such reports is detrimental to the best interest of the country.

A resolution introduced in congress this week by Representative McLemore of Texas, providing that each state shall train its own negro soldiers within its own borders is good and should certainly receive favorable action from the national legislators. The practice of sending northern negroes into southern states for training has proven disastrous in many cases and the policy should be abolished by law, in order that no department chief may hereafter arbitrarily disregard it.

The ignorance displayed by some of the members of the organization known as the Farmers and Laborers Protective association is indeed pitiful. In the trial of some of the members of the organization at Abilene this week on a charge of conspiracy against the government it was testified that plans were proposed for a provisional government of the United States with a Jones county man as provisional president. The facts brought out in trial are far more ludicrous than would have been imagined by those not identified with the organization.

The legislature has arranged for a sweeping investigation of all of the state departments at Austin. This is a wise and timely plan, for the revelations made in the investigation now in progress prove at least that very loose business methods are in vogue in the conduct of the state's affairs in some of the departments. One of the suggestions offered for reform is the reduction of the number of "commissions" and the combination of several of the "departments." One legislator announced that a million dollars a year can be saved to the tax payers by the reductions proposed in commissions and other dignitaries and their departments.

TRIP TO ARIZONA

Light, Arizona.
Sept. 10, 1917.

Editor Eagle:

Again I am a long way from home and dear friends at Goldthwaite. I should like to write each of my friends and tell you of my interesting journey from Texas to Arizona, but that would take too long, so I will write you all one letter and our good Eagle will carry my message to you.

My journey from Goldthwaite to Sweetwater was made at night, was uneventful, except in the meeting of a fine young lady who was returning to Big Spring for her fourth term as teacher in the schools there. Upon getting acquainted, this young lady proved to be one of the same little girls whom I had taught in the primary department of the Santa Anna school several years ago. It did my heart good to think that I had had a part in the formation of such a fine character. Such pupils as she are our best rewards for teaching.

The long continued drought has made the country from Sweetwater to El Paso look very desolate indeed. For miles and miles nothing but the boundless prairies could be seen, with not a vestige of anything growing under cultivation. The grass in most places looked as dead as if it could never grow again. I saw one irrigated farm near Lordsburg where a farmer and his boys were gathering a beautiful field of cotton. The farmer looked very happy and independent as if to say, "Look at me, what do I care if it never rains?" A few other irrigated farms along the way looked very refreshing like oases in a desert.

Arriving in El Paso at 2 o'clock Friday night I spent the remainder of the night there and took the Southern Pacific about 8 o'clock Saturday morning for Cochise, Arizona. Before crossing the Rio Grande we could look across the river into Mexico and see the mountains, which looked very bare and desolate, yet very wild and beautiful.

Upon crossing the river we were in New Mexico, which looked considerably rougher than the country between Sweetwater and El Paso. The mountains all along the way also added much variety to the scenery. A few small irrigated farms were to be seen here and there. The towns were very few and far between, Deming and Lordsburg being the only towns of any size in the whole of New Mexico thru which we traveled. At Deming quite a number of young men got off to work for Uncle Sam on some of his war arrangements there.

In passing out of New Mexico into Arizona the country looked little different, the farms occurring a little more frequently and the soil looked some little richer and more tillable. The towns were closer together, but very small.

To a stranger this country would seem very poor and one would wonder how in the world the people lived, but in reality it is a very rich country—rich in mining and stock raising.

I changed cars at Cochise and took the Arizona Eastern for Pearce. My brother-in-law met me at Pearce, which is a mining town sixteen miles from where my sister lives.

When I get better acquainted with the country and the people I will write again.

TICK FEVER IS RAGING!

Lots of cattle are dying every day. Most people wait till they lose one or two head of good cattle before they have them vaccinated. My advice is to have them vaccinated before you lose any. That is the most economical way—not to lose any cattle are too high for a man to take any chance on them getting Tick Fever. I have vaccinated 1500 or 2000 head in the last 8 months and none of them have taken tick fever yet, so I think that is mighty good proof that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." The thing to do is to vaccinate your cattle against this dreadful disease. I can vaccinate them and render them immune for 6 months. If one takes tick fever within 6 months after being vaccinated, I will furnish the medicine free with which to treat it.

Health in our community is very good with the exception of Miss Cloe Stark and Grandpa Lonis. Both have been real sick but are reported better.

There was a singing at Mr. Park McWhorters last Friday night.

Last Saturday and Sunday were our regular preaching days. A good crowd was present at each service.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison of Goldthwaite were visitors at church last Saturday morning. We appreciated their visit very much and ask that they come again.

Mrs. T. Roberts and Mrs. T. Warburton and little daughter are visiting in the Chas. Stark home this week.

Eugene Cannon and wife and Hugh Stark and family left the first of the week for Fort Worth.

Most every one in the community went to Goldthwaite Wednesday evening for the purpose of bidding God-speed to Mr. Geo. Bohannon of this place and the other young men who were selected to go to the training camps. Mr. George's help given our community, especially as choister can never be forgotten and it is a sad thought to think of his leaving; but how proud we feel to know we are sending out such a noble hearted young man to do his duty for dear old Uncle Sam.

BENEFIT CONCERT FOR THE METHODIST PARSONAGE

The ladies of the Methodist church, realizing the seriousness of the crisis that our country is passing thru in the struggle for the triumph of democracy, have selected a very appropriate program for their entertainment Friday evening, Sept. 28, at the Methodist tabernacle. The program will be semi-sacred, the repertoire being from the Bible, the mother of the world's greatest literature also the teachings on which the democracy of the world is founded, and poems from our American poets and the music will be from some of the greatest composers. This will be of great educational value to both young and old. The main feature of the program will be the dramatic rendition of the entire book of Esther from the Bible. Esther is one of the prominent characters of the Bible as well as being one of the personages about which the order of the Eastern Star is founded. The music will be under the direction of Miss Nora Hooks, an experienced pianist and choir director. The readings will be given by Mrs. J. S. Bowles of Brownsville. Mrs. Bowles was reared in Mills county and is well known, being the daughter of the late A. J. Gatlin, deceased, a pioneer merchant of Goldthwaite. Every number of the program will be of the highest class and the ladies have made the admission very small so as to be in reach of all.

Some things that have been said about Mrs. Bowles' dramatic rendition of the Book of Esther: Mrs. J. S. Bowles, wife of the pastor at Brownsville, at the Sunday night's service recently, gave the congregation a reading of the Book of Esther. The Brownsville Daily Herald says of the service: "The reader told this, one of the most dramatic and one of the most beautiful stories in the Bible, in a manner that visibly affected her audience. This is the second Bible reading in which Mrs. Bowles has appeared and in which she has scored success. The first of these, the Book of Ruth, was given several months ago. Because of its more dramatic nature, however, the reading given last night demanded and received a stronger and more difficult interpretation than did the first reading, a more simple story."—Texas Christian Advocate

The sacred concert and dramatic reading by Mrs. J. S. Bowles at the Methodist church Sunday evening was one of the most artistic and successful events of its kind ever enjoyed by the lovers of dramatic art in this city. The house was filled with a sympathetic and highly pleased audience.

Mrs. Bowles who has been heard as a favorite reader here and the neighboring towns for the past four years, achieved perhaps the most notable success of her career as a dramatic reader in her interpretation of the Book of Esther from the Bible, the most beautiful and dramatic of Bible stories.

Mrs. Bowles, who gave the entire book with very little cutting, preserved throughout the wonderful imagery and ornamental setting and magnificent proportions of the book, which has been the subject of poets and painters and dramatists since the world of letters and art came into being. The niceties of the intrigues of the Oriental court, the devouring passion of the mighty king for the Hebrew maid, the putting away of his wife Vashti, the final heroism of Esther and her devotion to the people, resulting in her victory over the enemies of her race and the execution of Haman with the final result of bringing her husband into a nearer and more eventful relation with all visualized in the reading as it was given to the audience by Mrs. Bowles and was a real pleasure and treat to her hearers.—Brownsville Daily Sentinel.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.
