

TELL IT TO THE EAGLE—THE EAGLE WILL TELL IT TO THE WORLD.

LET 'EM KNOW WE ARE NOT DEAD—LET'S HAVE A FAT STOCK SHOW.

Shall Mills County Have A Fat Stock Show This Fall?

It has been suggested that a Fat Stock Show, trades day and rodeo be held at Goldthwaite some time in the latter part of October. This is a timely suggestion and we believe that enough interest is being shown to justify an effort to have such an exhibit.

The first and most necessary step is to secure a prize list that will induce owners to bring in their stock. The business men of the town will be expected to put up funds for these prizes. Live stock and poultry will be in fine condition and the date mentioned will be a good time for an exhibit.

We suggest that prizes be offered for beef cattle, dairy cattle, horses, mules, hogs, sheep, goats, and poultry. Now that the suggestion has been made, let us give the matter consideration, and if we decide to have an exhibit get busy and make it a success.

W. P. WEAVER,
County Agent.

REV. BYNUM CLOSES MEETING AT LONG COVE SUNDAY NIGHT

Rev. R. W. Bynum closed a good revival meeting at Long Cove last Sunday night. During the meeting he baptized one and greatly revived the interest in the church. This church had been without a pastor for a year, but Rev. J. R. Davis is now pastor.

EVERYBODY SHOULD VOTE FOR BETTER SCHOOLS AMENDMENT

The school amendment to be voted on in November does not necessarily mean voting higher taxes for school purposes. It allows each school district to vote any local tax it sees proper, with the sky the limit, taking the matter of local tax out of the hands of the state and putting it into the hands of the patrons of the districts—where it properly belongs. If a certain school district is prosperous and desires to give its pupils the best there is to be had in education, there should be no state law—as at present—to put a limit on the tax. Most of the schools in Mills county have already voted the State limit in taxes for school purposes. The amendment is not a political issue and should be supported by Democratic, Republican and American party voters.

WORLD'S NEWS IN BRIEF.

Rains Damage Cotton.—Dispatches to daily papers say heavy rains of the past two weeks have seriously damaged cotton in various parts of Texas.

Denver Wreck.—Two persons were killed and between fifty and sixty were injured when two trains crashed together head on just outside the city limits of Denver Monday.

Cotton Price.—The Alabama division of the American Cotton Association at its convention in Montgomery last Friday, voted to fix 40c, middling basis, as the price for the current cotton crop.

High Stakes.—Press dispatches tell of the robbery of a poker game in a Dallas hotel the first of the week in which $15,000 in cash and $25,000 in diamonds was secured by the robbers.

Killed in Fire.—Nine lives were lost, five persons missing, and twelve were seriously injured in a fire which swept the apartment house and hotel district of Klamath Falls, Ore., Monday morning.

New Crisis.—The clash between Lithuanian and Polish troops has brought about a new crisis in Eastern Europe, says a dispatch from Paris. France had forewarned the Poles not to attack the Lithuanians.

Submarine.—The crew of the United States submarine S-5 were rescued last Friday, after they had spent nearly two days locked in a disabled vessel beneath the Atlantic ocean. The submarine foundered after a large air valve failed to close as it was submerging.

Poland Refuses.—The Polish government will under no circumstances permit the United States or the allied governments to fix a boundary line between Poland and Russia, according to a high official close to Polish interests, says a dispatch from Washington Saturday.

Woman Suffrage.—A dispatch from Washington says lines are being drawn for a long and bitter battle to block the vote for women. The fight of the validity of the nineteenth amendment is expected to start on Sept. 20, when the Tennessee supreme court meets.

Teachers Needed.—More than 30,000 teachers will be needed in Texas public schools during the coming term, according to the state superintendent of public instruction who says the teacher situation is no better than it was last year when two thousand schools closed because of lack of teachers.

Bolshevik Revolution.—Italy is on the verge of a Bolshevik revolution, according to comment of an Italian newspaper on the seizures of government arsenals and military stations and factories in Italian cities. Reports of the action in Italy, together with the danger of impending strikes in Great Britain, have added fuel to the German unrest, says a dispatch from Berlin.

Running Fight.—A man climbed upon the seat with an express driver in Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon and the two became engaged in a fight, the driver releasing the lines and the team running away through several crowded streets. The driver was thrown from the wagon with his throat slashed and a knife wound over his heart, the other man walking away with no attempt being made to stop him.

ESTIMATED COTTON WILL MAKE BALE TO FIVE OR SIX ACRES AVERAGE IN COUNTY

The extremely wet conditions of the atmosphere and the cool days for the last two or three weeks have damaged the cotton crop of the county to the extent of possibly seventy-five per cent.

The excessive rains have caused the cotton to throw off a big portion of the bolls and practically all the squares and blooms, while the cool weather has given the boll weevil exactly the right weather in which to do the most damage. Also, in portions of the county the farmers are bothered with boll rot and boll worms.

According to the best information we can get, it will take from five to six and possibly more acres on the average to produce a bale of cotton. A month ago it seemed a bale per acre would not be an extravagant estimate.

Cotton is beginning to come in and in a few more days picking will be in full swing. Most all the cotton, however, is late, and two pickings will be necessary if it is picked this early. Due to the heavy foliage on the stalks, cotton is in need of a frost or much sunshine to speed opening of the bolls.

The boll weevil is bothering some in most every portion of the county, and in some parts it has practically gotten the crop, while in others the producers think they will make from a third to three-fourths of a bale to the acre.

Even though the cotton crop has been cut short, the people of old Mills cannot be worried, for about sixty per cent of the county is in stock farms and these rains are putting the grass in fine shape. Corn over most all the county is fine and made—and other fall grain and feed crops are good.

PROF. HUGHES TO OCCUPY PULPIT AT CHURCH HERE SUNDAY

In the absence of Rev. M. F. Daniel the pulpit at the Methodist church will be occupied Sunday (tomorrow) morning at 11 o'clock by Prof. I. H. Hughes, superintendent of Goldthwaite schools. His address will be along educational lines and will without doubt be most interesting, especially to all patrons of the school—and the children, too. A cordial invitation is extended to every one to come and hear the message Prof. Hughes will deliver.

This week has been one of continual bliss for the young men of the city. There were girls and girls and girls.

The teachers' institute for Mills, Lampasas and Burnet counties began here Monday and ended Friday.

All arrangements for the care of the visiting teachers had been efficiently performed by the ladies club of the city, and when the teachers began to arrive Sunday night everything was in readiness for their reception.

Most all the people with cars in the city met the Sunday night and Monday morning trains in order to receive the teachers and transfer them to the homes of the city which had been thrown open to them. The arrangements for rooms and board were handled by committees furnished by the ladies clubs.

The ease and dispatch with which the instructors were transferred from the train, through the station, and into the waiting cars reminded the ex-service men of the efficiency used when they were first ushered into the army—speed and efficiency.

The program for the first day follows:

Monday.

Present at the institute Monday morning were about 200 teachers and many visitors, who had come to instruct and be instructed by the excellent program promised for the week.

The welcome address was delivered by W. L. Jones, mayor of the city, and everything went off smoothly according to schedule, but the get-together program arranged for the court house lawn for Monday night had to be postponed on account of the slight dampness—about three inches—which was present in the atmosphere Monday afternoon.

Tuesday.

Tuesday was a fine day and the spirits of the instructors were exalted by the beautiful programs and lecture courses furnished.

Tuesday night the get-together reception which had been planned for Monday was held on the court house lawn. The lawn had been well lighted for the occasion and the various ladies' clubs of the city had made all necessary preparations for the event. The crowd began to collect about dark and soon merriment was in full swing. Each person was required to register and a tag with his name on it was pinned on a conspicuous place on his personage in order that those who had not been introduced might be able to walk up and talk to one another like they were old friends.

The register, which had been beautifully hand-painted by Miss Mary Evans, was presented to Judge Robert Weaver in honor of his efforts in getting the institute here and his unceasing work in making it a pronounced success.

Fruit punch was served in honor of every one who cared to partake. From every point of view the get-together fete was a great success.

Wednesday.

Wednesday morning the program was as promised, the event of the morning being an address by Judge C. H. Jenkins, judge of the court of civil appeals, on the League of Nations. This address was listened to by a packed courtroom, every one desiring to become better informed on this important question. His address was repeatedly cheered by the crowd. A synopsis of the address appears elsewhere in this issue of the Eagle.

WORLD'S NEWS IN BRIEF.

War to Death.—"War to death" has been declared by anti-Japanese leaders in California against any effort to compromise the Japanese immigration question, says a dispatch.

Revolution.—Revolutionary activities by followers of Felix Diaz have begun in the vicinity of Misantla, state of Vera Cruz, according to press dispatches received in Mexico City.

Lithuania.—Lithuania will defend herself with all means at her disposal against invasion by Polish troops and will prevent any further violations of her territory, says a dispatch the first of the week.

Corncobs.—Department of Agriculture scientists are experimenting with the manufacture of a gas obtained from corn cobs which they say may soon light the homes, cook the food and run the engines of American farmers.

Betting.—Some of the English newspapers lament that the English women and girls have gone "betting mad" and that it is a common thing for girls in offices, on the stage, married women and even school girls to lay wagers varying from six pence to a pound.

Increased Production.—Representatives of the Chicago packers have sent letters to stock raisers, railroad officials and bankers of the Middle West asking them to attend a conference in Chicago on Sept. 19 to discuss plans for financing increased production of live stock.

Governor Cox.—Governor James M. Cox, in a speech in Milwaukee last Saturday, charged that Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman, had deliberately perpetrated a falsehood under oath in Chicago in the senate committee's investigation of Republican campaign contributions.

Strike.—Fresh instances of sabotage and violence marked the progress of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit strike the first of the week, say newspapers. Surface cars were destroyed by fire and several attempts were made to wreck trains. The blame was placed to the "bolshhevik element" among the strikers.

Workmen Soviets.—That an organized conspiracy exists in the United States to install workmen's soviets in large factories was charged in the United States district court in St. Louis, the accusation coming from a St. Louis clothing manufacturing concern, in obtaining a restraining order against interference with its business by strikers.

OBITUARY.

In loving remembrance of Sister Ruth Smith.

When hearts whose truth is proven like thine are laid on earth There should a wreath be woven to tell the world their worth.

The home-going of this good woman brings sorrow and sadness to her loved ones and a wide circle of friends. All deeply deplore the great loss sustained in her death. She was a true friend, loving and kind mother and wife, charitable and sympathetic to all in manner and disposition. Mrs. Ruth Smith (nee Weems) was born Feb. 2, 1894, professed religion and joined the missionary Baptist church in 1912. Died in Fluvanna, Texas, Aug. 27, 1920, at 4 a. m.

God, in wisdom and love, hath taken her to Himself, and we, knowing from whence all blessings come, can only rest our aching, sorrowing hearts on the bosom of the great Physician—the great Burden-bearer—for healing and comfort. A woman of great heart, splendid ability, untiring zeal, deep consecration, unwavering faith and has for years been a shining light of influence and power for righteousness and truth in the work of her church and community. Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth, yea, saith the spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them; Rev. 14:13.

Our deepest sympathy is with her nearest, dearest, in this time of greatest trial, this darkness of the valley and the shadows, this trying loneliness, and tears. Our fervent prayer, the Lord bless thee and keep thee, the Lord make his face to shine upon thee and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up his countenance unto thee, and give thee peace; Numbers 6:24, 25, 26.

The example of her ever flowing expressions of mercy and loving kindness, her ever faithful, cheerfully rendered service for the King will ever be an inspiration to us for greater usefulness. With our beloved one life's race is won, life's work is done, life's crown is won, and now comes rest.

How sweet, how comforting to think her glorified spirit rejoicing forevermore in the presence of the King, happy in His sweet "well done," joyful in the songs of the redeemed, charmed with the beauty and glory of heaven, sweet heaven. The loving mother will never be forgotten by her little daughter, Emily Alleen. To the husband the departed will be a blessed memory, a patient long suffering, kind-hearted, forbearing companion and helpmeet. She stands before the throne, the mystery solved. May she rest in peace, perfect peace.

We think we hear her whisper, meet me in heaven, No night, no pain is here. Along heaven's sky so fair floats deathless morning free from care, To her beloved these words; Then hearts, the sorrowing, be strong; These glooms are deep but last not long, Meet me there.

A vacant chair at the fire-side, Some one is absent today; No wife nor mother on life's wayside, Some one has gone away. A vacant chair at the table, No welcoming face at the door; The death angel in garments so sable Came, our loved one is no more. Our home is darkened with sorrow, Our hearts broken with grief; Oh the agony of soul, the horror Of the grim monster who comes as a thief. The Lord giveth and taketh away; Blessed be the name of the Lord; He giveth grace to the hearts torn in twain, He giveth comfort in his blessed word. MRS. J. R. DAVIS. Goldthwaite, Texas.

A Grateful Letter.
It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. Geo. L. North of Naples, N. Y. that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago last summer," she says, "our little boy had dysentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for a doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger. Sold by L. E. Miller & Son—Adv.

TEACHERS OF THREE COUNTIES
SPEND WEEK IN GOLDTHWAITE

Thursday and Friday.

Thursday and Friday the sessions were as scheduled. The weather was fine and all the teachers enjoyed themselves immensely besides learning many useful things in their lines.

Thursday afternoon the teachers were loaded into cars and taken to Lake Merritt on a swimming and fishing party. Something near one hundred car loads of them and townspeople made the trip. Supper was taken and served on the grounds. A big time was had by all.

After a hard fought battle between those in favor of Goldthwaite and of those in favor of Lampasas for the next institute, Goldthwaite won by a big majority. The teachers could not but express themselves as in favor of a town and a citizenship who had done everything possible for their entertainment and comfort during their stay here.

The institute adjourned at about four o'clock Friday afternoon, after a business session. The resolutions committee made its report, and the resolutions and the action which was taken will appear in this paper next week.

Notable Speakers.

Among the speakers who made the most notable addresses during the week were:

Dr. C. T. Gray, of the University of Texas, delivered addresses every day on subjects of real interest to the teachers and his clearness and concise manner of delivery was greatly enjoyed by them and numbers of the citizens of the town.

Mrs. Lee B. Cross of Brownwood had charge of the primary instruction in the institute. She led discussions concerning the primary grades in teaching and gave the young instructors many valuable hints on the correct way to introduce a youngster into the school system.

Judge E. B. Anderson Thursday gave a much-appreciated address to the institute on the subject, "Teaching as a Profession."

Mrs. J. L. Landrum of the State Department of Agriculture, arrived the latter part of the week and addressed the institute on club work. The remaining time she spent working with the teachers.

Goldthwaite Indebted.

Goldthwaite is greatly indebted to the ladies clubs of the city, led by Mrs. T. A. Lampton, and to Judge Weaver Supt. Price and others for getting the institute for this place and so royally entertaining them during the week. This will be of great benefit to the town, as every pleased teacher will be a walking advertisement for Goldthwaite.

IRISH POTATOES—HOW TO SAVE SEED FROM FIRST CROP.

Dig the first crop when the vines become golden and before they die. Dig late in the day or on a cloudy day. Pick up the potatoes as fast as dug so that direct sunlight will not strike them. Select potatoes the size of a hen's egg or smaller for seed. Put the seed potatoes the first night where they will become well cooled. The next morning spread them out in a layer six inches deep on a cool, dry surface where they will not be exposed to direct sunlight and where the ventilation is good. If they can be stored where a breeze will blow over them it will help. A ventilated cellar, a dry space under a house, a well-ventilated loft or gangway are good places. Some of the largest growers plow the ground under low spreading trees and spread the potatoes on the cleared places.

The potatoes should be barely covered with clean dry soil, free from grass or trash, or lightly with straw or similar material. Where potatoes are spread on the ground they must be thoroughly protected with ditches as no water should run over them. Keep potatoes dry first two weeks they are curing, last two weeks keep moist to promote sprouting.

It requires about 30 days of this treatment to cure potatoes for planting. In many towns are small cold storage plants and fresh dug potatoes may be put in cold storage 30 days to cure them for planting.—H. M. Cottrell in The Progressive Farmer.

A TALK WITH A GOLDTHWAITE MAN.

Mr. D. Y. Fox of Goldthwaite Tells His Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Goldthwaite man:

"My kidneys first bothered me by causing me to suffer with my back," says Mr. Fox. "Then I had rheumatic pains in my limbs and arms. My kidneys at times acted irregularly. As these ailments came on me I used Doan's Kidney Pills, getting them at Clements' Drug Store, and they always relieved the rheumatic pains and backache and corrected the kidney action. As a rule, I have Doan's in my house, for I know I can depend on them."

Relies on Doan's.

Mr. Cox gave the above statement April 26, 1915, and on May 20, 1919, he added: "I am a strong believer in Doan's Kidney Pills and am never without a box. When my kidneys feel a little sluggish, I always take a few with fine results. I feel the same about Doan's now as I did when I gave my previous statement."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Fox had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv. 9-11

ELDER-HARTMAN.

The following is from the Belton Evening News:

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jackson there was solemnized the marriage of Clifford C. Elder of Dallas and Miss Maude Hartman of Goldthwaite, Rev. B. W. Vinning officiating.

The bride came to this city as a student in Baylor and after completing special work there accepted a position in the office of the Texas State Mutual Fire Insurance Company and for the past seven months has been in charge of the Bell county demonstration office work. She is a young lady of attractive personality and nobility of character.

The bridegroom is an employe of the Santa Fe and is a young man of sterling worth.

The romance which culminated in the marriage this afternoon was begun in boy and girlhood at Goldthwaite, which was then the home of both.

Mr. and Mrs. Elder left immediately after the ceremony to visit in Goldthwaite before going to their home in Dallas.

Just arrived another shipment of Packard Shoes.—Yarborough's.

MOLINE

By E. M. A.

There was a double wedding that took place at Lampasas court house September 1 at 3 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Josephine Wilkey and Anderson Arrowood and Miss Gracie Duncan and J. Dorrans Cook. They all live at Moline and have many friends here who wish them much happiness. The two young couples will make Moline their home.

The Baptist meeting closed Tuesday night, with much interest throughout. Bro. Bostie of Brownwood did the preaching. He will preach here every first Sunday.

Six teachers from Moline attended the institute at Goldthwaite this week. They were M. L. Garrett, Arthur Adams, Miss Vallie Lee, Miss Edda May Arrowood, Miss Dona Fox, and Miss Vima Fox.

Little J. B. Barrett is on the sick list this week. We hope him a speedy recovery.

The Parent-Teachers Association Club will meet Friday night to discuss some important subjects.

The president of the Home Economics Club received a letter from Mrs. J. L. Landrum stating she would not send out any more club letters until school term opened again. The girls are looking forward for the time to come.

Although we know the readers are not interested in the price of print paper, in order to show the constant increase in prices we call attention to a card received by the publishers of this paper from a jobbing house this week, which canceled their price list received a few days before which contained in itself an advance in prices of all kinds of paper. Regularly each month print paper advances. The Eagle does not contemplate an advance in the subscription price of the paper, but requests all persons interested in the building of a representative newspaper in Mills county to continue to read the advertisements carefully each week, thereby making the Eagle an advertisement medium second to none. The people can rest assured that if any merchant in Goldthwaite has anything really worth while, he will call their attention to the fact in advertisements. The readers of newspapers are now realizing the value of reading advertisements, as an organized attempt has been carried on to reduce legitimate advertisements in newspapers for several years which has succeeded in reducing such advertisements at least seventy-five per cent. This goes to show the difference in advertisements appearing in newspapers now and those of the past.

At the meeting of representatives of cotton growers and business men's organization in Dallas last week, the organization of a Texas division of the American Cotton Association was unanimously endorsed. A state-wide drive will probably be started soon to obtain members in the association. The association will be charged with seeing that the cotton growers of the state adopt a gradual and rational selling plan which will market the present crop in a businesslike way over a period of not less than nine months and, in amounts not to exceed fifteen per cent of the total amount in any one month. The cost of producing the present crop has been estimated at over forty cents per pound; successful experiments have been made in selling cotton to Germany and taking manufactured goods in payment; freight rates have increased, express and passenger rates have increased; the labor world has a strong organization, and labor has resolved never to return to mere subsistence wages; the producer now pays the freight—two ways. The Southern farmer should resolve never to return to cotton serfdom; remember 1914. The Southern cotton farmer should have an organization which will compare with the organizations of every other class that in any way handles the Southern farmers' cotton.

ADDRESS OF JUDGE C. H. JENKINS ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS QUESTION HERE WEDNESDAY

The following is a synopsis of the address delivered by Judge C. H. Jenkins on "The League of Nations" to the teachers at the institute Wednesday morning, Sept. 8. This address was listened to by a packed district court room at the court house.

Judge Jenkins said in part: "To derive benefit from the discussion of any question we should realize that the subject is of sufficient importance to deserve investigation, and there should be a clear definition of the subject under discussion. We should ascertain first how far we are agreed and approach with an open mind the matters upon which we disagree, desiring to know the truth and with a purpose to follow our convictions thus formed.

"I trust that you are in this frame of mind and that you realize the importance of the subject that I have been asked to discuss; namely, the League of Nations.

"What is a League of Nations? It is an agreement between nations having for its purpose the prevention of war—simply this and nothing more. I am sure that we are agreed that war, the curse of the ages, should be prevented if such a thing is possible. Is it possible?

Before discussing the League of Nations, let us consider a league of nations—any league of nations that would be formed; what would be its essentials and how, if at all, it would prevent war.

If all of the nations of the earth should agree that they would not go to war with each other in the future and would keep the agreement, of course there would be no wars. If a means could be provided where the right of all nations could be protected without going to war, why should any nation that desired only justice for itself refuse to enter into a covenant not to go to war?

How could nations secure justice to themselves without going to war? How is justice secured among the citizens of a country without resorting to force? By the establishment of courts with power to render judgment after having the evidence and the argument of the respective parties, and the power to enforce such judgment. Could the nations of the earth, in view of their conflicting interests and ideals, agree upon the establishment of such a tribunal, and the details as to the manner in which it should function? The answer is the representatives of all of the self-governing nations of the world, including our own, have done so.

The question for the United States to decide is, are the details of the covenant so detrimental to us as to overbalance the benefits that we would receive from the adoption of the League? Are these details sufficiently objectionable to relieve us from the duty which we owe to our people and to the people of the world to make every reasonable effort to establish peace upon earth and good will toward men?

If there are any such objections we must rest assured that they have been discovered by the able senators who have thus far prevented the ratification of the League of Nations by the United States. These objections have been stated in concrete form in fourteen resolutions known as the Lodge reservations. Let us examine them and see what if any merit they have.

Two of them do not deal with any article in the covenant of the League of Nations, but to an article of the treaty of peace, of so little importance that not one person ever heard of it.

Another refers also to the treaty and not to the League. This is in reference to Shantung. We are told that the treaty took Shantung away from the Chinese and gave it to Japan. This is not true. Fourteen years before the European war began China ceded Shantung to Germany, and thereafter never claimed it. Under the law of nations China had no more title to Shantung than Mexico has to Texas since signing the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo. Soon after the European war began Japan declared war upon Germany and in a hard fought campaign captured Shantung and under the law of nations owns that territory. President Wilson suggested to the representatives of Japan that as a matter of generosity it give Shantung to China. This Japan refused to do. She did, however, promise that when the affairs of Europe were sufficiently settled to enable her to do with safety to herself she would return Shantung to China. This promise Japan was under no legal obligations to make.

There is no reason to suppose that she will not keep it. This, in brief, is the story of Shantung."

Judge Jenkins discussed in detail each of the Lodge reservations. We have space to report only the substance of what he said in referring to Articles X and XVI, as follows:

"Objection is made that the covenant gives Great Britain six votes to our one. There is just enough truth in this statement to make it a grossly misleading falsehood. The League of Nations functions through two bodies—one known as the Assembly and one as the Council. In the Assembly we have one representative, Great Britain one and each of her five self-governing colonies one. The Assembly is a court of reconciliation whose function is to try to get nations to voluntarily adjust any difference that may arise between them. Failing in this its function is at an end. Thereafter the matter goes to the Council, which alone has power to enter judgment. In the Council the United States has one representative, Great Britain has one, France has one, Italy has one, Japan has one and the other twenty nations that are parties to the League have all together four. Thus it will be seen that in the only body that has any power to determine any matter, the United States has the same representation as Great Britain; not only so, our rights are further sub-equalled by a provision of the covenant that the Council can determine nothing without unanimous consent, which means that it can do nothing without our consent.

Article X declares that the parties to the covenant will respect and undertake to preserve the territorial integrity and political independence of the members of the League from foreign aggression, not from internal troubles that may arise from insurrection, rebellion or revolution in any country, but from foreign aggression.

Of course no decent person would object to the promise of the members of the League to respect each others rights. But the objection is made that if its members undertake to preserve such rights they may be drawn into foreign wars. Such a thing is possible, but not probable, for the reason that if the United States joins the League with the other self-governing nations, it is not probable that there will be any attempt on the part of any nation to conquer any other nation and overthrow its government. If article ten means, as the opponents of the League would have us believe, that in the event of the invasion of the territory of any of its members, each of the other members would be bound to furnish its quota of men and ships to repel such invasion, the fact that any recalcitrant nation would be confronted with the combined military power of all the other members of the League would be sufficient to deter it from such a foolish undertaking.

So far as our being drawn into a foreign war by the provisions of Article X is concerned, we should not forget that we were drawn into a foreign war when there was no League of Nations—a war that would never have been begun if there had been such a league—and it is highly probable if there is another world-wide war we will be drawn into it again. Yes, say the writers on Article X, but we went into the late war of our own accord. True, and if as a member of the League of Nations we go into another war it will be of our own accord. Article X says that if any nation refuses to abide by the decree of the Council, the Council shall advise upon the means of enforcing this article. Advice when given may be accepted or rejected. The advice of the Council that the members of the League declare war against the offending nation could not be given without our consent. That advice could be accepted on our part only by Congress—which alone under our constitution has the power to declare war. So you see, if as a member of the League of Nations we entered into the foreign war, we would do so just as we entered the late war of our own accord, by act of Congress.

In my judgment the provisions of Article XVI, which provides for an international boycott against any member of the League that refuses to keep its agreement as provided for in Article X would of itself be sufficient to prevent war.

Thus it appears reasonably certain that the provisions of Article X and XVI would be sufficient to prevent any future war by dooming such a war to failure before it began. This is answer to the questions will the nations abide by their agreement not to go to war?—they will because they can not afford to do otherwise."

Although we know the readers are not interested in the price of print paper, in order to show the constant increase in prices we call attention to a card received by the publishers of this paper from a jobbing house this week, which canceled their price list received a few days before which contained in itself an advance in prices of all kinds of paper. Regularly each month print paper advances. The Eagle does not contemplate an advance in the subscription price of the paper, but requests all persons interested in the building of a representative newspaper in Mills county to continue to read the advertisements carefully each week, thereby making the Eagle an advertisement medium second to none. The people can rest assured that if any merchant in Goldthwaite has anything really worth while, he will call their attention to the fact in advertisements. The readers of newspapers are now realizing the value of reading advertisements, as an organized attempt has been carried on to reduce illegitimate advertisements in newspapers for several years which has succeeded in reducing such advertisements at least seventy-five per cent. This goes to show the difference in advertisements appearing in newspapers now and those of the past.

At the meeting of representatives of cotton growers' and business men's organization in Dallas last week, the organization of a Texas division of the American Cotton Association was unanimously endorsed. A state-wide drive will probably be started soon to obtain members in the association. The association will be charged with seeing that the cotton growers of the state adopt a gradual and rational selling plan which will market the present crop in a businesslike way over a period of not less than nine months and in amounts not to exceed fifteen per cent of the total amount in any one month. The cost of producing the present crop has been estimated at over forty cents per pound; successful experiments have been made in selling cotton to Germany and taking manufactured goods in payment; freight rates have increased, express and passenger rates have increased; the labor world has a strong organization, and labor has resolved never to return to mere subsistence wages; the producer now pays the freight—two ways. The Southern farmer should resolve never to return to cotton serfdom, remember 1914. The Southern cotton farmer should have an organization which will compare with the organizations of every other class that in any way handles the Southern farmers' cotton.

ADDRESS OF JUDGE C. H. JENKINS ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS QUESTION HERE WEDNESDAY

The following is a synopsis of the address delivered by Judge C. H. Jenkins on "The League of Nations" to the teachers at the institute Wednesday morning, Sept. 8. This address was listened to by a packed district court room at the court house.

Judge Jenkins said in part: "To derive benefit from the discussion of any question we should realize that the subject is of sufficient importance to deserve investigation, and there should be a clear definition of the subject under discussion. We should ascertain first how far we are agreed and approach with an open mind the matters upon which we disagree, desiring to know the truth and with a purpose to follow our convictions thus formed.

"I trust that you are in this frame of mind and that you realize the importance of the subject that I have been asked to discuss; namely, the League of Nations.

"What is a League of Nations? It is an agreement between nations having for its purpose the prevention of war—simply this and nothing more. I am sure that we are agreed that war, the curse of the ages, should be prevented if such a thing is possible. Is it possible?

Before discussing the League of Nations, let us consider a league of nations—any league of nations that would be formed; what would be its essentials and how, if at all, it would prevent war.

If all of the nations of the earth should agree that they would not go to war with each other in the future and would keep the agreement, of course there would be no wars. If a means could be provided where the right of nations could be protected without going to war, why should any nation that desired only justice for itself refuse to enter into a covenant not to go to war?

How could nations secure justice to themselves without going to war? How is justice secured among the citizens of a country without resorting to force? By the establishment of courts with power to render judgment after having the evidence and the argument of the respective parties, and the power to enforce such judgment. Could the nations of the earth, in view of their conflicting interests and ideals, agree upon the establishment of such a tribunal, and the details as to the manner in which it should function? The answer is the representatives of all of the self-governing nations of the world, including our own, have done so.

The question for the United States to decide is, are the details of the covenant so detrimental to us as to overbalance the benefits that we would receive from the adoption of the League? Are these details sufficiently objectionable to relieve us from the duty which we owe to our people and to the people of the world to make every reasonable effort to establish peace upon earth and good will toward men?

If there are any such objections we must rest assured that they have been discovered by the able senators who have thus far prevented the ratification of the League of Nations by the United States. These objections have been stated in concrete form in fourteen resolutions known as the Lodge reservations. Let us examine them and see what if any merit they have.

Two of them do not deal with any article in the covenant of the League of Nations, but to an article of the treaty of peace, or so little importance that not one person ever heard of it.

Another refers also to the treaty and not to the League. This is in reference to Shantung. We are told that the treaty took Shantung away from the Chinese and gave it to Japan. This is not true. This promise Japan was under no legal obligations to make.

R. F. McDERMOTT WRITES INTERESTING LETTER FROM NORTH.

North Easton, Mass., Aug. 28, 1920.
Mr. Editor:—
Some of my friends requested me to write a descriptive letter of my trip to this far "North-land" and I will endeavor to do so today.

We came through eight states on our journey here; viz.: Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New York and Massachusetts. There is a great diversity of industries in these various states. Throughout Oklahoma and Missouri the oil industry is of the greater importance, and milling may be considered as second in importance in these states; while the other Middle West states rank highest in grain production. There were many fields of wheat, oats, millet and barley to be thrashed in these states when we passed through.

If fine crops may be considered as evidence of prosperity, the entire country is in a very prosperous condition. The corn acreage is quite extensive in the Northern states, and is about half matured. We do not grow corn in Texas equal to that grown in Missouri and Illinois.

There are numerous points of interest to one coming from the South. The agricultural methods are a great improvement over those in Texas. No farm in the North is considered complete without first-class barns, implement sheds and stock sheds. These are more necessary in this part of the country on account of the very cold winter and snow storms, but we could save many dollars if we in the South would build more farm sheds.

The most important feature in these great agricultural states is the fine system of public highways. No state can expect to rank high as an agricultural or manufacturing center without a first-class system of public roads. You do not see the sides of the highways overgrown with weeds and underbrush, but just the opposite. In some of the Northern states, the farmers keep the roads clean, while others have a system of state highways; hence all road work is done by the state and paid for out of a special tax levied for that purpose.

At each cross road, neat sign posts are placed, giving the distance, direction and number of miles to the next town.

Practically all railroad crossings are either above or below the street crossings, thereby eliminating most of the accidents due to grade crossings.

We passed through the great corn and grain states of the Middle West and entered the Eastern states, noted for scenic beauty; we passed along the shores of Lake Michigan and over the greater part of Lake Erie. To those of us who see so little water around Texas this is a great sight.

The most beautiful part of our journey was through the Berkshire Hills of Western Massachusetts, which are about two thousand feet above sea level. There are many beautiful lakes and rivers as well as mountains and forests. Numerous villages are situated on the sides of mountains, beautiful in the summer, but cold and bleak in the winter.

We arrived at our destination after a five days' journey, very tired because of the crowded condition of trains. Never in the history of the country has the passenger traffic been so great. We are now staying at the home of my wife's mother, Mrs. Mary McDermott, whose house is more than a hundred and fifty years old and has many historic and interesting surroundings, some of which I will describe in my next installment. R. F. McDERMOTT.

RATIONAL SELLING OF COTTON DECIDED ON AT DALLAS MEET

The following resolutions were adopted at the meeting in Dallas last Wednesday of 800 to 1,000 farmers, bankers and merchants, who met to consider the present economic distress in the cotton growing countries:

"Whereas, The cotton growers, bankers, merchants and business men of the state of Texas, after careful investigation and experience, know that the present price offered for cotton is below its economic value, below its cost of production when the present price of labor and materials are considered, and comparatively below the selling price of other commodities; and,

"Whereas, this condition is not only a great hurt to the farmers of Texas, but the whole system of agricultural production, which is now discouraging the farmers in the production of needed food and clothing, this convention of farmers and business men of Texas, assembled today, therefore

"Resolve and demand of the manufacturing and consuming public a price for the present and future cotton crops which will cover the cost of production and a fair return on the labor expended and the capital involved, and to bring about this condition we urge the farmers of this state to adopt a gradual and rational selling plan which will market this crop in a businesslike way over a period of not less than nine months and in amounts not to exceed 15 per cent of the total crop in any one month.

"We further urge that the gathering of 'bollies' be discontinued.

"That the above plan may be carried out, we further pledge our support to the state-wide campaign for reducing next year's cotton acreage fully one-third and an increase in the planting of food and feed crops.

"To carry out the program above outlined, we indorse the organization of the American Cotton Association, Texas division, and charge that association with the responsibility of executing this plan and to this end pledge ourselves as farmers and business men of the state to its support, morally and financially, and further request every business or farmers' organization in the state to co-operate with the American Cotton Association in making a success of the work above outlined."

The meeting held in Dallas Wednesday was similar to meetings held all over the cotton producing sections of the country. There were present representatives of sixteen agricultural, commercial and industrial organizations in the state, says the Dallas News. Three hundred and sixty three men registered with the secretary and gave an estimate of the cotton crop condition in their immediate locality, the estimates averaging between 67 and 70 per cent, which is a slump from the government estimate of Aug. 25.

ANOTHER WORLD WAR BREW.
FOR THIS GENERATION?

Warning that war between the United States and an alliance of Japan, Germany and Russia was imminent and that partisanship would interfere with America's proper prosecution of it, was made by former United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, in an address recently at the close of a convention of the American Bar Association.

Lewis declared the next president should command this nation through a period of conflict. "The revenge of Germany, the vengeance of Russia and the oriental hatred of Japan will assail the supremacy of the United States and destroy it and the people of our nation are blinded to the approach of this calamity and are making no proper preparations to avoid it," he said.

Wars In Central Europe.

Budapest, Sept. 5.—Central Europe and Germany will surely be war and political storm centers soon, in the opinion of Victor Dvorcak, who was president of the Slovakian republic for a period of a few weeks previous to the annexation of Slovakia by the Czechs in November, 1918.

"I have just completed a tour of all Europe," said Mr. Dvorcak, "and these storms are in the air. Germany will break up into the small states of a hundred years ago. The 3,000,000 Germans now held by the Czechs will join the Saxons, while the Austrians will join the Bavarians, perhaps.

"There will be a war between the Poles and the Czechs, as the latter have an understanding with the Moscow government. In this war Hungary will help the Poles, in order to get back Slovakia, once her province. Should the Rumanians have difficulties with the Russian Bolsheviki over the old province of Bessarabia, this will be a signal for the Hungarians to get back Transylvania. The Hungarians know well that the allies can't help the Czechs in a military way, and perhaps wouldn't if they could.

"The point that troubles the Hungarians most is the possible attitude of the Serbs, should the Hungarians engage in a new war. They hope that Italy in such case would threaten the Serbs. Should the Hungarians first strengthen themselves by helping the monarchists in Austria to overthrow that republic, and then both be joined new under Emperor Charles, the case with Serbia might be helped.

"Hungary is in such a condition at present that she can't abide by the frontiers of the peace treaty. Two-thirds of her territory has been taken by the Czechs, Serbs and Rumanians, the latter getting nearly one-third. Her population has been cut from 20,000,000 to 8,000,000. These 12,000,000 under new domination are being robbed and mistreated by their new masters, until many flee to Hungary proper.

"This has made a big, dissatisfied population, which has no money or work, or any future, unless they win back their homes.

"So a new war will inevitably come

Black-Draught Is The Best Medicine This Lady Ever Used. Says It Is Only Medicine She Gives Her Children.

Cherry Village, Ark.—In telling of her experience with Thedford's Black-Draught, Mrs. Lottie Ellis, R. F. D. No. 1, this place, said: "I used Black-Draught as a laxative, also for headache, torpid liver and indigestion. It is the best liver medicine I have ever used and is the only medicine I give my children.

"I feel like it has saved me a lot in doctors' bills, for when the children complain of feeling bad or have a cold, I just give them a good dose of Black-Draught and they soon get all right. It certainly cleans the liver and clears up the skin and they are soon out, well again. I wouldn't be without it for anything."

Seventy years of successful use has made Thedford's Black-Draught a standard, household remedy. Every member of every family, needs, at times, the benefit that Black-Draught gives in helping to cleanse the system and to prevent or relieve the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, and a lazy liver.

To keep well, your stomach, liver and bowels must be in good working order. To help keep them that way, take occasional doses of Thedford's Black-Draught. Thousands of homes have never without it.

For sale by all druggists. The genuine has the name, Thedford's, on the label. Insist on getting what you ask for.

of this homelessness and hatred and poverty. In Slovakia the Czechs have tried to rule by arms, but the locally enrolled soldiers are fleeing to the forests. TENANTS BUYING HOMES.

There has never been a better time to buy and pay for homes than the present. It is quite true that land is higher now than it has ever been. Will it ever be cheaper? That question cannot be answered. It is safe to say that it is worth more now than it ever has been. What will cause cheaper farm land? Cheaper farm products would probably reduce the demand for farm land. But who knows that farm products are to be cheaper? There is certainly no evidence that the demand for farms is to be much less, at least until other things are reduced.

Suffice it to say that tenants have nothing to gain in waiting for cheaper farms. While everything is proportionately higher than prices farmers get for their products, it is a fact, nevertheless, that crops and animals are bringing higher prices than when lands were cheaper. Now while it is easier to earn than formerly will be a good time to buy. There is no better way to save and invest than to buy a home and begin paying for it. There are many farms for sale with very small initial payments and with easy payments thereafter. Many good tenants have paid for farms and become prosperous citizens. What some have done others may do.

There is much satisfaction in farming our own land. There is much pleasure in beautifying the home grounds, planting orchards and making substantial improvements. This is worth more than the hardships and difficulties one may have in paying for a farm.—Farm & Ranch.

ORGANIZED LABOR IN TEXAS POLITICS.

Editor Eagle:
Sir:—In a Temple daily of last week I noted quite a lengthy epistle from Mr. McKinley, secretary-treasurer of the Texas Federation of Labor, lambasting Governor Hobby and Col. Jake Wolters for interfering with the strike at Galveston.

The secretary of the Texas Federation of labor said "that after no more heinous crimes had been committed than shooting into a trolley car, stoning some seven automobile loads of strikers, breakers and punching the head of a jitney driver and then ducking him in a bucket of water, Governor Hobby had placed state troops in Galveston and had put the city under martial law."

This disorder, we all remember, was the result of a strike of the longshoremen working on the coastwise piers in the harbor of Galveston.

Mr. McKinley, secretary Texas Federation of Labor, recites the fact of the strike resulting from coastwise ship owners refusing to grant to coastwise shermen the same pay per hour that the deep sea longshoremen were getting (80 cents per hour). He said that "when the coastwise longshoremen could get no hearing on their demands, they quit in a body and immediately secured work on the deep-sea piers." But he adds: "However, we picketed the works and stationed men at the coastwise piers to 'explain' to those who applied why we had quit our jobs."

Now, there is one thing that all reasonable men would like to know and that is: Why did the coastwise longshoremen "picket the works" of the coastwise shipping if they "at once secured employment at the deep-sea piers at 80 cents per hour," as Mr. McKinley alleges? Reasonable men are generally satisfied if they get their price, whether they get it from an old employer or a new one. Hence, they had no grievance, but a grudge.

Now, there are two sides to the picketing:

If the coastwise longshoremen had the right to picket the piers of coastwise shipping to keep labor away from them, then the coastwise ship owners had a right to picket the cottages of the coastwise longshoremen to keep employment away from them. But did they? No; none of us will agree that they did try to picket them, and if they had tried we would all be united in the opinion that the coastwise shipowners were exceeding their authority.

Then we must reach the conclusion that neither party had the right to picket the property of the other, and the longshoremen who acknowledge the picketing have also acknowledged a wrong.

Mr. McKinley says he wants the taxpayers of the state to know where their tax money is going. That it is costing the taxpayers $50,000 per month to maintain the state troops in Galveston and intimates very strongly that this $50,000 per month should be charged up to the very inefficient administration of Governor Hobby and Col. Jake Wolters.

Now, from Mr. McKinley's standpoint this would be the thing to do, but unhappily for Mr. McKinley, the taxpayers of our vicinity don't think so. I have heard among the taxpayers with whom I have talked not a word of condemnation for either Governor Hobby or Col. Wolters, but I have heard many words of commendation for both of them. Nor are these taxpayers charging up the item of $50,000 per month to either Governor Hobby or Col. Wolters, but they are charging it up to the Texas Federation of Labor.

Now, the fact of the matter is that Governor Hobby is doing just about as decent a thing as any Governor of the state could be expected to do, and I am quite sure that fully 90 per cent of the taxpayers of this community, yes, I might say 100 per cent, join me in the hope that our next governor will protect life and property and the rights of the public just like Governor Hobby is doing today. If I could only know of an aspirant to the office of Governor who would do as well by the people for the next term, I would most certainly support him, and, too, without asking what party's nominee he was.

Free men should not be branded like sheep by political shepherds, for sometimes those shepherds are wolves in sheep's clothing and lead us into undesirable pastures. Political collars should go to the trash heap if we would preserve our liberties. Honesty in men and common sense in measures should be our political slogan instead of Democrat or Republican.

Organized labor, while it contains many good men, is digging a grave and

THE STATE OF TEXAS. TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF MILLS COUNTY—GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to summon Thomas W. Howell, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 27th judicial district; but if there be no newspaper published in the said 27th judicial district, then in a newspaper published in the nearest district to said 27th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular Term of the District Court of Mills County, Texas, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Goldthwaite, on the fourth Monday in September, A. D. 1920, the same being the 27th day of September, A. D. 1920, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 26th day of August, A. D. 1920, in a suit, numbered on the Docket of said Court, No. 1919, wherein Bulah Howell is plaintiff, and Thomas W. Howell is defendant, and said petition alleging that Bulah Howell, who resides in Mills County, Texas, is plaintiff, complaining of Thomas W. Howell, whose residence is unknown, hereinafter called defendant, and for cause of action, plaintiff represents to the Court that she is an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in said county of Mills for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit, that on or about the 17th day of August, 1916, plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant, then a single man by the name of Thomas W. Howell, that they continued to live together as husband and wife until August 20th, 1918, when by reason of the cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct of the defendant towards plaintiff, she was forced and compelled to permanently abandon him, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife.

Plaintiff alleges that during the time she and defendant lived together as husband and wife as aforesaid, that she was kind and affectionate to her husband and managed her household affairs with prudence and economy and at all times treated her said husband with kindness and forbearance.

That plaintiff and defendant lived together about 12 months, peaceably and agreeably, but defendant on or about March 10th, A. D. 1918, began a course of abuses towards this defendant and cursed and abused her and called her vile names and made an effort to whip this plaintiff. That the defendant refused to provide food and raiment for Plaintiff and their child, or contribute in any way to their support, and that the residence of the defendant is unknown, that plaintiff has not heard of his whereabouts for more than one year.

Plaintiff alleges that defendant's action and conduct towards her generally are of such nature as to render their future living together as husband and wife insupportable.

Wherefore, premises considered, plaintiff prays the Court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and for judgment dissolving said marriage relation, for the care and custody of the child Winfred H. Howell, and that her maiden name be restored to her, for the cost of suit and for such other and further relief, special and general, in-law and in equity, that she may be justly entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Goldthwaite, this the 26th day of August, A. D. 1920.
