TEXAS WOOL GROWERS PLAN 2,000,000-LB. POOL

Dallas, Tex., March 10.—A comprehensive wool marketing system to pool 2,000,000 pounds of this year's clip is being organized by the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, C. O. Moser, executive secretary, has announced. Warehouse facilities for the concentration of the wool have been procured at Houston, and the 2,000,000 pound pool is an assured thing, in the opinion of J. E. Boog-Scott of Coleman, who is directing the organization of a wool growers' association in the Farm Bureau. Wool growers are interested in the co-operative plan because they are unable to operate as a factor in the market alone, nor to handle their production with the economy that the large pool can operate.

An organization committee has been appointed by Mr. Boog-Scott as vice president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, as follows: J. B. Murry, San Antonio; Fred Williams, Ballinger; James T. Mann, Brady; Ed Brewster, Temple; Ed Smoot, Denton, and Miss Dona Gardner, Bovina. Mr. Boog-Scott will be chairman of the committee.

THE DEATH ANGEL'S VISIT.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Hamilton and family of Star were deeply grieved and heart broken when the death angel made its appearance in the home and took with it their treasured little daughter.

The little one was taken ill with membranous croup on Thursday night and despite the loving care and faithful attendance of relatives, friends and a skilled physician, his pure spirit was wafted away.

On account of his short illness, very few friends and near relatives realized his condition was serious until a short time before his death. He was cheerful and played until Wednesday about noon.

The Lord planted the little flower on earth Feb. 14, 1920, to stay an indefinite length of time, but He knew best to call him to His Heavenly home Saturday morning, March 5, at 1:40.

The remains were laid to rest Saturday afternoon in the Hurst Ranch cemetery before a large crowd of sympathizing friends. Bro. Bynum made a beautiful talk in which he spoke words of comfort to the bereaved and presented them to a loving Father who can comfort and cheer the sad home.

Their many friends extend to the loved ones their sympathy in the loss of their precious darling for the Lord said: "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." X.

Hornsby Murder Trial Comes Up at Belton Monday; Eagle Bulletins

The trial of George H. Hornsby for the murder of J. N. Weatherby will begin Monday at the court house at Belton. It is reported that the defense lawyers appointed by the state include Kirkpatrick and McGee of Brownwood, the law firm which fought so hard and won a change of venue at Brownwood. In addition to these, Judge Mallory Blair has appointed prosecution lawyers. The prosecution will be ably helped with Judge Wilkerson of Brownwood, one of the former lawyers to prosecute Hornsby, the district attorney for this district, and two well known lawyers of Belton.

Indications are that there will be a royal battle fought during the next few days. The advantages at present seem to lie with the defense on account of the change of venue, but relatives and friends of the murdered man seem confident that justice will be done and the murderer made to pay the penalty he so richly deserves.

The first bulletin to be issued by the Eagle will be printed Monday night, giving the happenings of the first day, should they be of sufficient importance to warrant it. Otherwise, bulletins will be issued daily beginning with the happenings of Tuesday and Monday combined. Each day's bulletins will give all the happenings up to the close of the court of the previous day.

If you have ordered the bulletin and don't get one Wednesday morning, notify this office immediately.

In all probability Hornsby will be safely in the hands of officers when court opens Monday, due to the vigilance of the special guard which has guarded his cell night and day since he was taken to Belton, as told in the following news story.

Attempts Escape.

The dispatch from Belton is as follows:

Plans for a wholesale jail delivery were frustrated Saturday morning, March 5, by Deputy Constable Jack Bonds, who is a special guard of George F. Hornsby, held in jail here for the murder of J. N. Weatherby at Brownwood last fall.

Saturday morning about four o'clock the special guard was awakened by noise within the jail where prisoners are kept. Keeping close guard Mr. Bonds waited until day before he made a thorough examination, knowing that in the event any of the prisoners made it out of the inside pen they would still have another wall to go through before they could obtain their freedom. At day break he notified Sheriff Bonds and deputies and an examination was made inside the cells. They stated their investigation revealed that Luther Craddock and Hornsby had appropriated part of a cot to pry off an iron bar about four feet long which is a part of the lock system, and had concealed this in a bed and hung a pair of trousers over the place where the bar came from to hide their work.

The damage done in the work Saturday night by the prisoners was estimated to be about $500 by Judge Sutton.

About two weeks ago officers stated that an attempt was made by Craddock and Hornsby to saw through the cells and they had almost sawed through the steel when their plans were detected. Hornsby and Craddock have been placed in solitary confinement, officers state, and are no longer allowed the privileges of other prisoners. About one month ago Craddock made his escape from the basement of the jail but after a hot chase was captured by Sheriff Bonds about a mile west of town.

THE TEXAS MARKETING LAW IS NOTABLE ONE

Dallas, Texas, March 11.—The Co-operative Marketing Bill, known as house bill No. 227, written by Aaron Sapiro, California marketing expert, and signed by Governor Neff last week, is the most comprehensive marketing law ever passed in the Southern States, according to Walton Petet, director of marketing organizations in the Texas Farm Bureau, who was in Austin before its passage in interest of the bill. This bill makes possible the co-operative marketing of farm products under the California plan and was written by Mr. Sapiro for the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

"This law represents the last word in rural co-operative laws in the United States and leading members of the legislature told me that they regard it as the most important law passed by the present legislature," Mr. Petet said.

BREAD THAT'S REAL BREAD!

Many a woman knows how to make good bread, but she hasn't the scientific ovens that control the proper heat. She cannot bake as economically as we do because she cannot buy the good materials as cheaply.

Under those conditions does it pay you to labor over a heated oven? We want you to try our Bread. That will convince you of its superiority.

Stop by and get a loaf, or demand that your grocer supply you with our famous BLUE RIBBON BREAD. You'll like it.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN HELD AS VALID BENEFIT TO

Dallas, Texas, March 11.—The action of the Supreme Court holding the Federal Farm Loan Act as valid is a matter of great importance, according to the Texas Farm Bureau, which has been investigating federal action, who expressed as being very pleased at the decision.

The action against the Land Bank Act has drawn attention in a very strong manner to the entire matter of federal bonds. H. C. McKenzie, been investigating federal action, who expressed as being very pleased at the decision.

These bonds have been large numbers in recent years, and because they are tax exempt they were all placed in the hands of men with $100,000 up, none of these men would pay one cent of income tax.

During the delay of the Supreme Court in rendering its decision, President Hoover's Farm Bureau had several conferences with banks and men at which he pointed out the absurdity of attacking the Land Bank Act. These bonds are tax exempt, and it is to pass unchallenged. The amount of land tax exempt bonds, which served notice that if the Land Bank Act had been unconstitutional, the federal government would have on all other bonds being to taxation.

RAT ERADICATION DAY, TUESDAY, MARCH 15TH

By proclamation of Governor Neff, March 15th is designated Rat Eradication Day. For the last two weeks our citizens have generously supported a systematic rabbit extermination movement with gratifying results. But the damage inflicted by rats is vastly greater than that inflicted by rabbits. Many counties have had anti-rat campaigns in which the interest was sustained by bounties and prizes. However, public spirit should prompt us to respond to the governor's call next Tuesday. We suggest that the men, women, boys and girls in every school community make war on the rats, beginning next Tuesday and continuing throughout the week, and report the number killed to the teacher. Ask the teacher to report the total killed to the county agent that other counties may know that we are co-operating in this important work.

The Extension Service recommends the following methods:

For any method to be highly effective, food should be made unavailable as far as possible.

Trapping.

The guillotine trap, designed to choke to death, is best. At least twelve should be provided for an ordinary barn or dwelling. Steel traps are not strongly recommended. Set all traps lightly. Baits used should differ in nature, from any food otherwise available. For instance, meat or vegetables should be used in a grain warehouse. Fish and other meats including cheese, oatmeal and other grains and fruit and vegetables are suggestions. Broken fresh eggs are always good. Set traps in run ways or behind boards set against a wall. Bran may often be used to hide the trap. Avoid getting bran under the trigger.

several nights often makes a good catch when finally set with closed doors. A figure 4 trigger with box or with a deadfall of flat stone or heavy plank may be used to catch a wise old rat that avoids other traps.

Barrels may have a sheet of coarse brown paper tied over as a head. These set in a warehouse with proper bait on the paper for a few nights attract numbers of rats. A cross cut in the paper then will precipitate the rats into the barrel as they jump upon it. A barrel or tub filled almost full of water, on which floats a thin covering of rice hulls with here and there a bit of odorless bait, may be used to advantage, if sticks are leaned against the outside by which the rats may climb to the edge. Individual ingenuity will suggest other modifications of the barrel method.

Poisons.

(Fatal to animals and children. Label as poison and keep out of reach. It is against the law to distribute poison without issuing public warning.)

Barium carbonate is cheap and effective, and in small doses, is harmless to domestic animals. Mix one part with four parts meal or flour, or with eight parts oatmeal, and make into a stiff dough. The poison may also be sifted over sliced baits and rubbed into them with knife or fingers. Place these baits in runs or burrows.

Strychnine may be inserted in raw meats, Vienna sausage, or sliced vegetables, and these placed in runs or burrows. Moistened oatmeal with one-half ounce strychnine sulphate dissolved in a pint of boiling water to which is added a pint of thick sugar syrup. Stir the mixture thoroughly.

Powdered white arsenic is used like barium carbonate or strychnine. Rub into fresh fish. Twelve parts by weight of corn meal to one of arsenic made into a stiff dough with whites of eggs, is effective. An English formula: one pound oatmeal, one pound coarse brown sugar, one spoonful arsenic. Mix and place in runs.

Phosphorus baits are not recommended because of danger of fire. Lye scattered about pans of bait so the rats step into it in getting food has been reported efficient.

Baits suggested for traps or poison:

Vegetables and Fruit—Cantaloupe, apple, tomato, or cucumber in thin slices; green corn, cut from cob, banana, boiled carrot, or baked sweet potato mashed.

Domestic Animals.

Dogs are valuable if aided by a boy. Small dogs bred as ratters, are best.

The boy can move piles of lumber or fodder, the dog catching the rats. If a wire netting or other enclosure can first be put around the material, to form an enclosure, and the material then thrown out, the kill will be 100 per cent.

Cats are usually not very efficient.

Ferrets are valuable only when accompanied by man and dog. They should be sent into a burrow muzzled. Rats flee and are caught by the dog. If allowed to enter unmuzzled, they make a kill and then lie up after sucking the blood. They are thus often lost and may afterwards adopt a wild state and become a menace to poultry and birds.

The Pneumonia Month.

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ-laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly. On Monday evening, March the 1st, at eight-thirty, the T. E. L. School class of the Baptist Church gave an oyster banquet and all the accompanying that go with a supper, their husbands at the Saylor dining room was tastefully decorated in the class colors—pink and white.

Mr. J. Harrison was toastmaster of the occasion.

Words of welcome spoken by class president, Mrs. Mark Darby, after-dinner speeches by several. The address was in accord with the theme of the social—to advance Sunday school work. Several prizes were given and responses were given for the words of gratitude and honor bestowed upon our Sunday school and our beloved pastor, our class presidents.

Present to partake of the feast as follows: Mrs. Darby, Bynum, Frizby, E. B. Anderson, Herby, L. Ashley, H. Bowman, D. L. Lanford, Priddy, Chas. Rudd, E. D. Kemper, R. Wilcox, Davis Sparkman, W. L. Strickland, Langlitz, and Mrs. W. B. Jack.

CLASS REPORTER.

Study Course week, will be observed Goldthwaite. Each evening, study The two ABY.

MASQUERADE PARTY.

Mrs. E. B. Anderson entertained the members of her Sunday school class and a large crowd of boys and girls at her beautiful home Saturday evening, March 5. The home was wonderfully decorated in pink and lavender, the class colors, and kewpies in pink and lavender sashes occupied the top of the piano. The guests were met at the door by charming Miss Anderson, and dainty favors of violets presented to each. We were then led into the reception room, where gaiety was the order of the day, and "guessing" and "shy peeking" behind masks was carried on by the guests.

At an early hour masks were "dropped" and we stood revealed in our true colors. Of course, there were lads and lassies from every corner of the earth, but the angels of heaven and the clowns of the earth ranked highest—at least in numbers. The fun then began in real earnest. "Snap" and numerous other games were played, while the pleasant strum of Miss Archer's ukelele put everyone in the best of humors. Several of the boys and girls favored us with readings and musical selections, which were greatly appreciated.

We were then shown into the dining room, where we were served with banana and nut cake and marshmallow whip, and soon each couple was wandering through the house at will and choosing their own particular nook. Afterwards we gathered in the dining room doors while six or eight boys and girls went through the "Virginia reel" and other dances of olden days. Time flew and we were much surprised when the hour for departure drew near. We bade our hostess "good-bye" reluctantly, and were quite ready to vote it the most delightful evening we had spent in ever so long.

"I CAN" CLUB.

The junior department of Mrs. Gillespie's class met at the home of the teacher and organized the "I Can" Club, on Feb. 23. Their ideal was not to use the words "I can't." These words were written on a piece of paper and burned. Therefore if a member of the club uses these words he is fined one cent. The following officers were elected:

Doris Thompson, president; Alma Locklear, vice president; Pauline Dalton, secretary; Oleta Daniel, reporter; Mary Florence McCullough, treasurer.

The club will meet at the home of the president, with Doris Thompson and Alma Locklear as hostesses.

FOR EX-SOLDIERS.

Soldier Bonus.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Use of the interest on the $10,000,000,000 of American war loans to the allies in financing adjusted compensation for former service men is one of the plans under consideration by congress. This was disclosed today when the soldier bonus bill was favorably reported by the Senate Finance Committee.

The bill had passed the house last fall. Senator McCumber of North Dakota, who will have charge of the bill in the senate, explained to the committee that by postponing the effective date of all provisions of the bill until Jan. 1, 1923, the accumulated interest on the foreign loans probably would be sufficient to bear the cost of the compensation.

Senators Gerry of Rhode Island and Jones of New Mexico were said to have been joined by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in an effort to make the bill effective next July, but their motion was defeated.

The committee retained the five options of a cash bonus based on length of service, deferred certificates, farm and home aid and vocational training. Senator McCumber plans to call it up in the Senate at the first opportunity.

Tubercular Sanatorium.

Governor Pat M. Neff has signed the American Legion bill, which appropriated $1,500,000 for the building of a sanatorium for tubercular veterans of the World War.
