VOLUME THIRTY-FIVE.

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1929.

NUMBER TWENTY-SIX

Prospects Fine for County Fair

EVERY SECTION BENEFITTED BY EXHIBITS

One of the most universally beneficial organizations or enterprises in Mills county is the Fair association, reaching and influencing as it does every line of business and industry in the county. There is no line of endeavor that is more helpful to every interest than a fair and Mills county has a good one and its influence has been beneficial for several years and is felt more generally and over a larger territory each succeeding year.

It would be hard indeed to over estimate the benefits and advantages of a county fair, for the effects are so numerous and its helpful influence so great that almost every line of industry is advanced by it.

The friendly competition engendered among the people of the various communities is one advantage, to be sure, but it is not the main benefit. The demonstration made, of the possibilities on the farms, in the gardens, in stock raising and poultry all have their beneficial effects, while the annual gathering together of the people of the various sections is no inconsiderable matter. The fact is, there is no disadvantage or drawback to a fair, while every reason imaginable can be advanced.

Mills county has one of the best county fairs in Texas and those in charge of the enterprise promise even better preparation and a more interesting list and program than heretofore. People in all parts of the county and even some of our neighbors are already planning for exhibits and the outlook for the fair this year is most encouraging.

AN AUTO ACCIDENT

In a collision between Tax Assessor E. A. Tyson's new Dodge car and Long & Berry's delivery truck, at the corner of Parker and Third streets last Saturday morning resulted in Mr. Tyson's car being badly damaged and some injury being done to the delivery truck. Mr. Tyson was driving down Parker street and the delivery truck was crossing the street and the Tyson car was struck in the side, the doors and fenders being bent and twisted and the windshield broken, while the front end of the delivery truck was injured. Mr. Tyson was pretty badly shaken up, although he was not seriously injured and the driver of the truck escaped injury, but it was a pretty close call for both of them.

GOOD ROADS

The roads over the county are reported to be in better condition than they have been in years. The commissioners look after all local roads and have them dragged after each rain as well as making constant improvements on them, while the Highway Commission has a lot of work done on the designated highways throughout the county. These designated highways lead into and out of Goldthwaite in five different directions and they mean a lot to the commercial interests of the town, as well as to the benefit of the citizens of every part of the county and the traveling public in general. Nothing is more important to a community, county or town than good roads.

CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. John A. Hester was hostess to the Self Culture Club and its associate members for their regular meeting on the afternoon of February 14th.

An interesting program on "Culture in the Home" with Mrs. J. H. Randolph as leader was enjoyed.

A delicious salad course was served. As a surprise feature honoring her mother, Mrs. L. B. Walters, one of the oldest and best loved members, Mrs. Hester invited us to the dining room where a beautifully decorated birthday cake glowed with its candles around the dining table.

Punch was served with the cake and a toast was given to Mrs. Walters by another of our charter members, Mrs. Eli Fairman, and all joined in drinking to the health and happiness of Mrs. Walters, wishing her many more happy birthdays.

Another surprise, to Mrs. Hester as well as Mrs. Walters, was a shower and handkerchiefs and valentines from the club and presented in a lovely decorated basket by Mrs. J. H. Randolph to the honoree.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Every Baptist in town is urged by the pastor to be present next Sunday for the 11:00 o'clock service. The roll will be called and the church covenant will be read; also the date for our annual revival meeting will be decided, and the help for this meeting will be selected. For the above reasons it is important that you be present. The pastor will preach at Scallorn Sunday afternoon. As many as can are urged to attend this service.

The Baptist Workers' Conference of this county will meet at Scallorn Monday, March 4, at 10:00 a. m. A good program has been prepared and all Baptists are invited to this meeting. G. C. IVINS, Pastor.

FIELD NOTES BY THE MISSIONARY

I have been on the field long enough to discover that there are great possibilities in Mills county. The Baptist of this association have the money and the intellect with which they should accomplish great things. I feel that it is time for us to lift up our eyes and look upon the field which is white unto the harvest.

We will have a workers conference at the Scallorn Baptist church Monday, March 4. We want representatives of every church and community to be present. I will bring some important matters before you. Mission money, for which we are thankful, is coming in nicely. Respectively,
W. A. THORNTON.

PREPARING FOR MEET

A committee of teachers of Goldthwaite Public Schools has been at work this week raising funds to defray the expenses of the Interscholastic meet, to be held in this city March 29-30. The business men responded readily and liberally to the call for expense money and the success of the meet is assured. It is possible that some who would have liked to have a part in helping with the expenses did not meet with the teachers committee, but they still have the privilege of making a contribution, if they will see Supt. Newton or any of his assistants.

She has the ability and experience to make a real newspaper.

SCHOOL APPORTIONMENT

Supt. Marrs, of the State Department of Education, has sent out the following letter to all county superintendents:

I am very glad to inform you that the Legislature has passed the emergency appropriation requested to take care of the deficiency in the high school tuition, transportation, and bonus claims for the year 1927-1928 amounting to $175,000; deficiency for the same items in the appropriation for 1928-1929 in the sum of $260,000; deficiency in amount of money necessary to pay teachers' salaries under the provision of the Rural Aid Law to support the schools qualifying for rural aid for a term of six months during the year 1928-1929, $300,000. I wish to assure you that the remaining 20 per cent due the rural aid schools whose grants have been approved will be paid prior to March 15th.

The Rural Aid Law for the next biennium has not been passed by the Legislature, and, therefore, it is impossible to forecast the restrictions which may be made upon the schools receiving such aid. I feel sure that some changes will be made affecting certification of the teachers and teachers' contracts, and I am, therefore, warning you not to approve any contract made between the trustees and the teacher in a rural aid school until you have received the new rural aid school law. Any agreement between the trustees and teacher is not binding until it receives your approval, and it cannot receive this approval legally until it is reduced to writing and the state and county apportionment is ascertained and all other factors relative to the disbursement of the rural aid are known.

APPRECIATED WELCOME

None of the welcomes extended the Eagle man has been more appreciated than that of the San Saba Star, edited by our good friend Bill Cowan, politician, farmer and first-class newspaper man. However, he wasted some ink and valuable space when he issued the warning about the Eagle man staying at home, for he is not intending to do anything about it. The Star says:

Bob Thompson, like the proverbial cat—came back. He established the Goldthwaite Eagle and for many years made it one of the best county newspapers in the state, when hand-picked eight point made the neat paper a man could get out, and it was chock full of live local matter every week. Then he took the wanderlust and mosed around for nine years, and now he is back home with the Eagle where he had better stay or the next time he leaves he may be like the prodigal son, get hungry. It is useless to say we welcome Bob back, for every one who knows him likes him and enjoys his association both socially and in a business way.

Pure-bred baby chicks; Reds, White Leghorns, Barred Rocks, Brown Leghorns.—Mrs. C. M. Burch's Hatchery.

Logan Pitts and family of Brownwood spent Sunday with friends in this city.

CENTER CITY SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The teachers of the school arranged a program on Friday, Washington's birthday. This program of songs, readings and drills that should be a credit to any school.

After the program, the Parent-Teachers Association met for their monthly meeting. The main topic of discussion was the county meet. It was decided that the winning students should be given prizes, and a special prize of $10 would be given the person who went to the district meet in the declamation contest from our school.

Come on all you fathers and mothers and help in this association. The teachers and the president cannot please everybody in the community if you are not at the meetings to express your wishes. For the past two months little interest has been shown in the association. We should never allow such a condition to exist. So come to the Center City P. T. A., the outstanding organization of the community.

WHAT IS AN EXPERIMENT FARM?

An experiment farm is an outdoor laboratory used for the purpose of solving problems of agriculture and in animal husbandry. It is a place where men of scientific ability and education do research work for the benefit of all those engaged in agriculture as an industry. In the work they have to try out theories. Sometimes it takes many years to clearly demonstrate the value or the worthlessness of certain methods and practices. This is due, in a measure, to different seasonal conditions. Sometimes they work carefully and painstakingly in the improvement of some important grain crop; to develop new and more productive strains; to make crops mature at a uniform time or change the physical characteristics of a plant in order that harvesting maybe easier and less costly.

No individual farmer could do this work. He cannot afford to experiment and so the government does it for him, and these men of science, as we have heretofore stated in these columns, have made discoveries and brought about improvements in crops that are worth hundreds of millions of dollars annually to agriculture.

Yet, we have men credited with average intelligence, and some of them in the Legislature, who think that an experiment farm is nothing more than a demonstration farm for particular sections of the State where they are located. They also believe that these farms should be self-supporting and even make money for the State—millions of dollars by developing and promoting the agricultural and livestock industries, thus increasing taxable values both in rural sections and urban centers. They make money for the State just as the laboratories of the manufacturer, make money for the stockholders through the discovery of means to reduce production costs or by improving the quality of product. No laboratory of this character ever paid a direct return to the manufacturer except in the form just stated, nor should we expect our experiment farms to be placed on a commercial basis.

In looking around for new sources of revenue, Farm & Ranch suggests more liberal consideration of both the experiment and extension services of the State. Make the country prosperous and new industry is created in the cities. More money will be available at a lower rate of tax under such conditions than ever will be if our Legislature continues to consider agricultural schools the extension service, and experiment stations expensive luxuries instead of permanent investments.—Farm & Ranch.

SCATTER SUNSHINE

Do you endeavor to scatter a little sunshine every day? It is so helpful and welcome to the friend who is sick, the brother in trouble, and it means so much to you, and me, and all of us. Sunshine in the form of a cheerful word, a friendly deed, or a kindly act helps your brother on his rough and rugged journey through life and gives him courage to fight manfully onward. The sunshine you spread removes the obstacles from the pathway of the weary and oppressed, lightens the load of care, and worry and sorrow and brightens the life of those who grope in doubt and darkness. There is need for sunshine in your daily life. You have it within you, so let it out. Let it penetrate and bring cheer to those about you. Be a lighthouse on the sea of life to direct a mariner—your brother—on his way. Help him avoid the rocks and shoals. Do it with that which you have in abundance.—Sunshine.

PEACE PACTS AND WAR

The nations of the world are now probably better prepared for war, in the way of armament than they were for many years prior to the great war and the preparations are going on steadily. One writer says of the condition:

"In spite of all the talk about Peace Pacts and universal peace, the nations are still arming against each other. The Alpine passes on the frontier between France and Italy are to bristle with cannon when France's great scheme of frontier fortification is completed. M. Painleve, the French Minister of War, has declared that France will match Italy's fortifications "gun for gun." "Our only ambition is to remain master of our Alpine valleys, for this frontier is far easier to defend than the eastern borders with Germany. Our Italian neighbors have hurried on the building of fortifications on our frontier, and it is only common sense that we keep up with them. Certain works have already been started to protect the region of Nice, which is one of the nerve centers."

See how much difference between the two prices, and ask why. You will discover this: That Nash "400" delivered prices are closer to the factory prices than competitive cars. Because Nash cars are factory equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers, bumpers, tire lock—every necessary accessory. All these are bought in tremendous volume, and all are included in the factory price, instead of being added as "extras," at retail figures, by the dealer. By W. P. Weaver

Spray Now.
Now is the time to spray orchard trees for San Jose Scale. This must be done before the leaves put forth. Several dependable remedies are now on the market, but we have available the lime-sulphur with directions for application. Small trees may be treated with a hand sprayer. The cost of a small sprayer and materials for treating the average home orchard is but a trifle. Spray now.

Supplementary Pastures.
Everyone interested in producing milk should plant a summer pasture of sudan or sorghum. Secure good seed and scatter some barnyard manure on the pasture plot. This will mean dollars to dairymen. Don't neglect it.

Poultry Parasites.
Don't neglect the poultry flocks. Last year losses from worms and lice mounted to thousands of dollars. Many effective remedies are offered for worms, mites and lice. Turkeys should be wormed and rid of lice before the laying season. Prevention is much cheaper than cures. Why let last year's history repeat this year?

Terracing.
The winter has been so unfavorable for terracing that the County Agent has not been able to meet all groups to give instruction in the use of the level. Preference will be given to farmers or groups of farmers that secure a level and desire training that they may do their own work. The County Agent will not be able to do individual work. The Federal Land Bank requires the land they hold as collateral to be terraced. The County Agent will assist groups to secure an instrument and give instruction in its use. This terracing problem is up to the land owner.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION MEETING
It is announced by Mrs. E. B. Anderson, president of the Goldthwaite Cemetery Association that a meeting of the association will be held in the court house next Monday afternoon, March 4. The members and all others feeling interest in this important work are invited to be present.

ROOT ROT CURBED BY CROP ROTATION

Crop rotation and clean cultural methods offer the most practical and feasible course so far discovered for dealing with cotton root rot. Dr. J. J. Taubenhaus, chief of the Division of the Agricultural Experiment Station, A. & M. College of Texas, announced following a two-day conference on the results of researches into the nature of this fungus disease and ways and means to control it. The conference was attended by scientists of the A. & M. College and the United States department of Agriculture, which are co-operating in a fight on root rot.

Experimental data presented showed great progress in study of root rot and its tendencies. Discussion brought out that the vital problem is that of destroying the native weed host plants, roots and all, as well as the cotton roots affected so as to prevent carrying over the disease from season to season. Reports showed recent work has brought out that the acidity of the soil is of great importance in this problem. In a field survey, root rot was found to be destructive only where the soil was neutral or slightly acid.

Cotton root rot is prevalent in 179 Texas counties and in the southern part of Arizona. It has been reported in Oklahoma, California and Mexico.

MORE NEWS

The Fidelis Class is the live wire class of the Baptist church. The pastor has commissioned us to a very important duty.

This class has a momentous question up for discussion next Sunday. We thought of asking the superintendent for the answer, but he said for us to please not bother him with any more unnecessary questions. Ye little old writer has been asking everybody, and if we do not find the answer soon we are going to Austin and ask the governor!

It was suggested that the class meet a little early on Sunday morning, possibly at about 9:30, but one of the members said it was entirely out of the question as she was engaged in her household duties at hour. We have our doubts!

We were indeed glad to have one of our former members with us last Sunday, and we are glad that she will remain with us.

It is the plan of this class for an interesting social calendar during the summer season. If you are not lined up with a Sunday School class now is your opportunity to join. Come to the Fidelis class where every one has a chance to talk and ask questions!

We are signing off. Our next oration will be given over station F.U.T.-U.R.E.

THE FIDELIS S. S. CLASS.

We hatch every hatchable egg. No chance for chicks to get mixed. Every customer will have an individual tray.—Mrs. C. M. Burch's Hatchery.

KEEPING FARMERS IN THE DARK

In the summary of the report on the agricultural outlook for 1929, issue by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Department of Agriculture, we find these statements:

Since a provision of the appropriation act for the United States Department of Agriculture prohibits the making of any statement regarding the future prices of cotton or the trend of the same, no report on the outlook for cotton has been prepared.

The report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics just issued provides reliable information on present supplies, the past year's price trend and the probable demand, both domestic and foreign, of all crops except cotton. Producers can use this information advantageously in planning the season's operations. The Bureau does not predict positive price trends, but analyzes the situation from every available angle and draws conclusions in a logical manner. This is something that the individual producer cannot do, and therefore the Bureau is rendering a valuable service to those who read and take advantage of it—all except the Southern cotton grower.

And why are cotton growers deprived of this information? Because we have a class of politicians who think it to their advantage to appeal to the prejudice of their farmer constituents instead of telling them the truth; because we have a number of would-be leaders who are looking for a soft job in some co-operative organization who seek to appear as friends of agriculture by charging government agencies with every decline in the price of cotton. These politicians, taking advantage of the unusual circumstances in the fall of 1927, wrote into the laws of the land a prohibitive measure which deprives cotton growers, not only the full number of condition reports during the growing season, but takes away from them other information which would be of value in making their plans for another crop.

These same politicians raise a howl every time a condition report is issued during the summer, but when the final count comes it is found that the Government was approximately correct. Of course we hear nothing from them regarding the errors they were guilty of earlier in the season. They are of the same class of men who jeer at the weather bureau prediction which, through unforeseen conditions, proved incorrect, but who never say anything about the other nine times the weather predicted came along on schedule time.

We have heard of people crying out to be saved from their fool friends. The Southern farmer needs to be rescued from the fool politicians whose main objective in life is to curry favor and secure votes at the next primary election.

Mrs. W. H. Walton and son of Lampasas were week-end visitors to relatives in this city.

POULTRY PAYS

No crop the farmer can grow pays better than poultry, as many Mills county farmers can verify. Poultry raising is becoming one of the leading industries of Central Texas. Farmers are taking cognizance of the fact that it costs little to raise turkeys and chickens each year, flocks of this section are increasing.

Thousands of dollars are being reaped every year by farmers and city raisers of poultry. Last fall, hundreds of cars of dressed turkeys and poultry moved out of various parts of Central Texas.

The turkey and chicken crop of 1929 is now in the incubators. Practically every community of any size has one or more incubators of around 10,000 to 30,000 egg capacity running for spring hatches. It is estimated by leading poultrymen of Central Texas that the crop of chickens and poultry will be 20 per cent larger than in 1928.

SINGING CONVENTION

The Mills County Singing convention will convene at Liberty school house, four miles east of Goldthwaite, Saturday night, March 2, and Sunday, March 3. It is hoped to have a full attendance at this convention and some mighty good singing is promised. It is hoped to have the Vaughn Quartette present at this time. L. B. Forbes is president of the convention and R. E. Head is secretary.

BABY BURKS DEAD

The little 18-months-old baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burks died at the family home on Parker street, in this city, Sunday night at 9:30, after suffering a few hours with bronchial pneumonia. The little fellow was perfectly well Saturday night, but Sunday morning he became ill and continued to grow worse until he died, notwithstanding he was given every attention possible and the best of medical aid. He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Burks and their many friends everywhere join in deep sympathy for them.

The funeral Monday afternoon in the Odd Fellows cemetery was attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the bereaved family.

Conoco Ethyl Gasoline performs at its best twelve months out of every year. It knows no seasons. It gives the same quick start in February as it does in May—and it follows through by delivering steady, sustained, "knockless" power against the piston heads. That's important! It's not hard to find a motor fuel that will start easily. Your chief concern should be in what it does after starting. Being a combination of Conoco, the Triple-Test Gasoline, and Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound developed by General Motors, Conoco Ethyl is the ideal motor fuel. You'll feel the difference in the operation of your car the very second you switch to Conoco Ethyl. So why not join the thousands of contented Conoco Ethyl users? Why not get out of your car all of the power which its designers put into it? Start the habit today by drawing up to a Conoco Ethyl Pump—at service stations and garages.

The trial of Judge McClosky of San Antonio, charged with conspiracy in changing election returns in his race for congress, is in progress at Austin. A prediction as to the outcome of the trial would be hazardous, but it is safe to predict that McClosky will never warm a seat in the federal congress.

Burglars did a big business in Brownwood Sunday night when the safe in a grocery store was blown open and more than $5000 secured. Most of the amount was checks, but it is reported that more than $2000 was in money. The officers have not been able to get a clue that has enabled them to make an arrest.

A petition has been filed with the city council in Brownwood asking for the resignation of Mayor Palmer McGinnis, but he says he will not comply with the request. The trouble is the outgrowth of the shooting of an automobile salesman last November, when a difficulty occurred on the highway near Blanket.

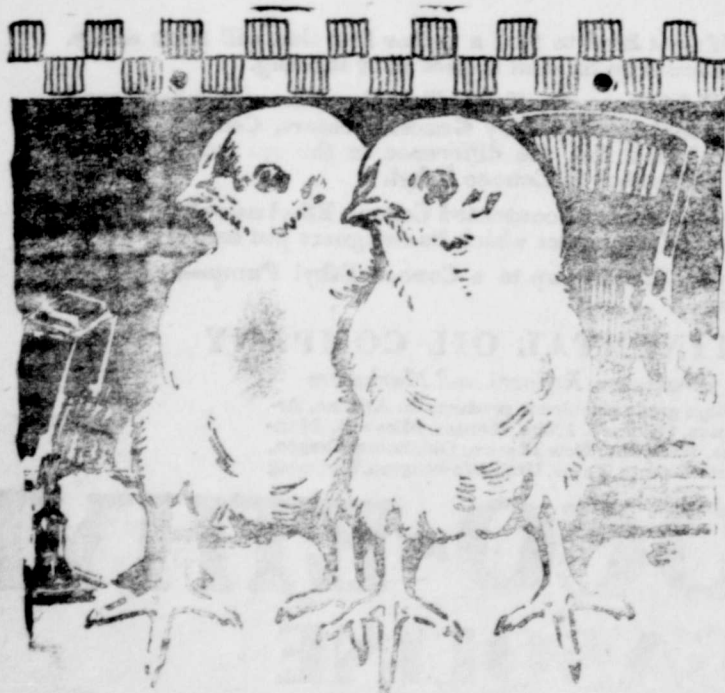

The Bank of Mercury, a privately owned bank that has been in operation many years, has gone into liquidation, caused principally by the death of Mr. T. J. Beasley, cashier and manager of the bank, who died in a sanitarium in Brady Saturday night. Mr. Beasley was at one time representative in the legislature from his district and had a wide acquaintance.

The legislature enacted a statute requiring the filing of notice of intention to wed three days before marriage license can be issued by a county clerk. The requirement is for women under 20 and men under 25, the older ones being supposed to have more mature discretion than to rush hurriedly into marriage, and they are not likely to stage a "run-away." It is also one of the requirements of the new law that the man in the case must present a certificate of health before securing license.

The dividing line between Oklahoma and Texas is hard to settle to the satisfaction of everybody. A report from Washington this week says that a senate measure to provide a conference of the Governors of Oklahoma and Texas with the President with a view of working out an agreement to protect the rights of persons living on land involved in a boundary dispute between those states was passed Monday by the House and now goes to the President for approval.

Wind, rain and hail hurtled down on Northeast Texas Sunday night and early Monday, leaving in their wake four dead, six seriously injured and property losses estimated at more than $250,000. The storm was the first seasonal disturbance of any consequence in Texas this Spring. Grand Prairie in Dallas county and Cooper in Delta county were the heaviest sufferers. There was also great damage in other states by storms at the same time as that occurring in Texas.

Governor Moody is persistent in his demand for a civil service statute, but he has not many supporters in his demand. Just why he should desire to open the departments to all races and political parties is not easy to understand, for the provision that an applicant must have recommendation from the commissioners court of his or her county moots nothing and there are counties in Texas where negroes can get these recommendations equally as easy as whites. The legislature is not likely to allow the governor's plan to become a law, altho he is quoted as saying he will submit the plan again at the special session of that body.

MR. J. C. BAYLEY PASSED AWAY

Mr. J. C. Bayley died last Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the sanitarium at Temple, where he had been a patient for two weeks or more. He had undergone an operation and was apparently recovering nicely when pneumonia developed and the end came in a short time.

Mr. Bayley was a pioneer citizen of this county, having located in the Pleasant Grove section in 1880, which was several years before the formation of this county and he was universally recognized as one of the most honorable men to be found, carrying with him the respect and esteem of all who knew him. He was a native of New York state, but moved with his parents to Wisconsin when he was a small boy. The family moved further south in later years and after the war he came to Texas and remained the balance of his life.

He leaves a wife and two sons, W. A. Bayley of this city and C. E. Bayley of Pleasant Grove. These are his only relatives in Texas, altho he has some other relatives in other states.

His remains were brought to Goldthwaite on Saturday morning's train and conveyed to the cemetery in his home community, where burial services were held Saturday afternoon, attended by a large number of friends from all parts of this county, all of whom join in sympathy for the bereaved family.

Smiling is an Art—not difficult to master, and soon becomes a habit.

BEN JOHNSON DEAD

Ben H. Johnson died at Center City last Saturday, after a long illness, and his remains were interred in the cemetery at that place Sunday with Masonic honors. He had been making his home in Uvalde for several years, but when his condition became critical he came back to Mills county, to be among his loved ones and friends. He was reared in this county and had the friendship and esteem of all who knew him.

He leaves a wife and two small sons, together with a number of other relatives to mourn his loss, and they have the sympathy of all who know of their bereavement.

AT REST

Mrs. W. H. Thompson, aged 71 years and 11 months, died at the sanitarium in this city last Thursday evening, after suffering several days with a broken hip and other injuries, the result of a fall on the ice at her home at Caradan. Her remains were conveyed to Pilgrim's Rest cemetery, in the Fairview community, Lampasas county, Friday morning and the burial was attended by many relatives, friends and neighbors of this and Lampasas county.

Mrs. Thompson and family have made their home in Caradan community a long time and have many friends there and elsewhere who deeply sympathize with the bereaved family.

Charley Bayley was a visitor from the Pleasant Grove community the early part of the week.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

Fuel system of the new Ford has been designed for reliability and long service

The practical value of Ford simplicity of design is especially apparent in the fuel system.

The gasoline tank is built integral with the cowl and is unusually sturdy because it is made of heavy sheet steel, tinned to prevent rust or corrosion. An additional factor of strength is the fact that it is composed of only two pieces, instead of three or four, and is electrically welded—not soldered.

Because of the location of the tank, the entire flow of gasoline is an even, natural flow—following the natural law of gravity. This is the simplest and most direct way of supplying gasoline to the carburetor without variations in pressure. The gasoline feed pipe of the new Ford is only 18 inches long and is easily accessible all the way.

The gasoline passes from the tank to the carburetor through a filter or sediment bulb mounted on the steel dash which separates the gasoline tank from the engine.

The carburetor is specially designed and has been built to deliver many thousands of miles of good service.

Since all adjustments are fixed except the needle valve and idler, there is practically nothing to get out of order.

The choke rod on the dash acts as a primer and also as a regulator of your gasoline mixture. The new hot spot manifold insures complete vaporization of the gasoline before it enters the combustion chamber of the engine.

As a matter of fact the fuel system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little service attention.

The filter or sediment bulb should be cleaned at regular intervals and the carburetor screen removed and washed in gasoline. Occasionally the drain plug at the bottom of the carburetor should be removed and the carburetor drained for a few seconds.

Have your Ford dealer look after these important little details for you when you have the car oiled and greased. A thorough, periodic checking-up costs little, but it has a great deal to do with long life and continuously good performance.

Their chauffeurs are the smartest, their motors the finest. Experience . . . the world they live in . . . has taught them to demand the best . . . instinctively.

It is significant that at almost every favored resort there has developed an overwhelming preference for Texaco Motor Oil.

But this tendency, however marked, is not surprising. It merely serves to indicate a growing realization that no engine, regardless of price, is ever superior to its motor oil; that no motor oil is really fine unless it can insure constant, trouble-free service. And this golden Texaco can, and does.

SURVEY TO EQUALIZE THE TAXES

Plenty of work will be on hand for a special session or possibly two special sessions of the Legislature, according to a report from Austin when Gov. Dan Moody said he will tender the report of the Tax Survey Committee and open the general subject of taxation.

Recently the Tax Survey Committee, created by resolution of the Fortieth Legislature, made an elaborate report of findings and recommendations for legislation to equalize taxes. It pointed the way for equalization which would reduce the burden on some forms of property and levy taxes for the first time on others, which are escaping or not paying a full share, according to the claim of the committee.

Taxation covers so large a field and the Tax Survey Committee's report is so voluminous that the subject has not yet been given consideration at the regular session except as to motor vehicle fees. When the bills are offered at the special session, which may start about April 15, there will probably be many committee hearings for business men and others whose property would be reached under the measures.

Farm Pays Too Much
There has been a constant claim in Texas that the homes and farm lands have been paying more than their share of taxes. The same claim has been made in behalf of large city business property. Real wealth has been escaping, is the charge, and new legislation would seek to reach it.

For many years the Tax League has been conducting a systematic campaign attacking the wide variance in assessments over the State, charging that some counties purposefully pull down the ratio to reduce the amount of the State Tax and make it up by levying high taxes for local purposes. The total to the taxpayer is the same and he does not complain. The Tax League insists it is unjust to other counties which render for taxes at a much higher percentage of the property. The league insists that the taxation be equal and uniform and that a central agency be created so it could impose the same ratio over the State, that is, the property would be rendered for taxation in every county at the same percentage of its actual value.

Seek New Sources
Efforts in previous legislative sessions to bring about an equal assessment in the counties of Texas proved futile. It would have much opposition in this Legislature if presented under the general subject of taxation. The counties insist on retaining the right to fix the ratio of assessments as they please.

The Tax Survey Committee's report dwelt at length on property escaping taxation and new sources of revenue will be sought under the several bills to be introduced. These bills will attempt to carry out the committee's recommendations. All such measures must originate.

W. H. Thompson and wife, W. T. Thompson and Mrs. W. H. Trent came over from Brownwood Sunday for a short visit with relatives.

WEST TEXAS AND COTTON

The Wall Street Journal, pointing out that farmers themselves cannot avoid responsibility for the unsatisfactory condition of the cotton market from their own standpoint, insofar as this unsatisfactory condition is due to overproduction, says that the average price this year means a profit for cotton farmers only if it can be grown cheaply.

Here is a direct warning to the older cotton growing regions which should not go unheeded. Continued overproduction, or at best the kind of production control which looks back upon the record of the last year rather than upon the probable demands for cotton for the coming year, must inevitably increase the economic pressure against all cotton growers. But the point is that this pressure will be felt more keenly and will become unbearable sooner in the less favored regions of the cotton belt where production costs are high.

This year, in all likelihood, more acres of virgin land will be put to cotton and be raised and sold at prices that mean bankruptcy for the farmer in the older cotton regions. It is useless to talk of restricting the cotton production of West Texas. New lands are not susceptible to restriction. West Texas farmers are learning, and will learn faster in the future, the advantages of balanced farming as contrasted to single crop cotton production. They will raise more food and feed, but they will also raise more and more cotton each year.

The older cotton regions might as well accept this as a fact that can not be talked away. West Texas is the future home of King Cotton because the crop can be produced at less cost there than anywhere else. The urgency of diversification is more pressing on the older cotton regions. If the farmers there simply must raise cotton they had better move to West Texas.—Star-Telegram.

Got Up In The Morning Feeling DIZZY

"I BEGAN to suffer with headache and biliousness," says Mr. John C. Melrose, of Buena Vista, Ohio. "I had a burning through the middle part of my body which seemed to come from indigestion. I would get constipated, and then feel all out of sorts. I would get up in the morning feeling dizzy, and everything I ate would disagree with me. Someone asked me why I did not try Black-Draught. I found it to be just the medicine I needed. When I had a spell coming on, I took a dose of Black-Draught, dry, at night. I continue to take it for several days, and in a short while I am feeling fine. It is all the medicine I need." Costs only 1 cent a dose.

THE FARM CENSUS

The annual livestock estimate of the department of agriculture of January 1 discloses an increase in the number of cattle and sheep on American farms, and a decrease in the number of hogs, horses and mules, as compared with January a year ago.

The continuing reduction in the horse and mule population of the farming districts is in direct ratio to the continuing increase in the popularity of machinery. There were 5 million fewer swine on the farms of this country this year than there were last year, the total being only 91 per cent of the 1928 figures. A 5 per cent reduction in the fall pig crop was reported last winter and fewer sows this year are being bred for spring farrowing. On the other hand, the figures show a slight increase over a year ago, and the sheep population has gone up considerably.

The explanation lies in the satisfactory condition of the cattle, dairy and sheep market and the unsatisfactory condition of the hog market hit by a large increase in the number of swine raised abroad and a corresponding reduction in the export demand. A similar adjustment of economic conditions by the farmer himself is seen in the sowing of 4 million acres last fall to winter wheat. Except in those sections that are of necessity 1-crop regions, agriculture can do much to solve market problems by shifting the use of its acreage.—Kansas City Star.
